Minor flu epidemic hits; Russian virus uncertain

A "minor epidemic" of flu appears to have erupted at SIU, says Dr. Don Knapp, Health Service medical director.

A business at the campus clinic "popped up considerably" during Valentine week and many of the suffering patients complain about fevers, body aches and pains—all signs of flu, Knapp said. "We’ve had a dramatic increase in the number of people with complaints about flu," he said. "It’s certainly a minor epidemic.

Russian flu, which swept through Central and Northern Illinois, has not been confirmed.

Health Service Administrator Sam McVay says the flu-type illness is taking "three to five days to run its course" and that people usually feel quite bad for two of those days. Knapp said the virus symptoms generally disappear in five days, but complete recovery might not come for a week to 10 days.

The SIU Health Service treated 346 students Wednesday, nearly a hundred more than the same day a week earlier. The three-day flu figure for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday was 916 students compared to 790 for the same period a week before.

Just a lot of people are sick and the virus analysis process takes at least three weeks. In that length of time, students who are affected should be back at their books.

Shorter periodical loan period might begin for faculty, staff

By Ed Langlau

The loan period on periodicals at Morris Library for faculty and staff may be cut to five days under a plan approved by the Library Affairs Advisory Committee.

Fines of up to 26 cents a day will also be charged for overdue periodicals if the provision is not obeyed by Kenneth Peterson, dean of libraries, and Frank Horton, vice president for academic affairs and research.

Under the current policy, faculty and staff members may borrow periodicals for one week, but no fines are charged.

Committee member Stanley Harris predicted that the five-day loan period recommendation was a compromise between the three-day-seven-day check-out times advocated by faculty members.

Recommendations for a shorter loan period are part of a report by the Morris Library Committee on Circulation Policies last September called the "report to the faculty 1979-80 on policy for periodicals.

Nixon blamed for Watergate

Haldeman: Soviets planned nuclear strike on China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union once moved a massive arsenal of nuclear missiles near its border with China and offered to join the United States in a pre-emptive nuclear strike against the Chinese, according to H.R. Haldeman, former White House chief of staff.

Haldeman’s new book, "The Ends of Power," claims that U.S. reconnaissance photos showed 1,800 Russian nuclear missiles grouped within two miles of the Ussuri River on the Chinese border during the 1969 Soviet-Chinese confrontation, according to ABC News, which said it had obtained galley proofs of the book.

The report said further that Haldeman, once President Richard M. Nixon’s chief aide, had logged a prediction by Henry A. Kissinger on Dec. 19, 1969, that the Soviets would attack China by the following April 15. Kissinger was then national security adviser at the White House.

According to the book, Nixon subsequently ordered ambassador to Poland Walter Stosnec to publicly contact China’s ambassador to Washington in order to signal, in ABC’s words, "in unmistakable terms, American approval of the proposed nuclear strike.

The report added that the Soviet nuclear forces were within range of Chinese targets on a "daily basis" and that Kissinger was "adamant" about the strike.

In an interview with ABC News, Kissinger denied Haldeman’s version of the Soviet-made nuclear plan. He said the diplomatic issue was the latest in a series of revelations based on the Haldeman book, scheduled for publication Feb. 27. ABC said its report was directly from galley proofs.

Earlier, the Washington Post reported that a section of the book reflected Haldeman’s belief that Nixon "caused those burglars to break into" the Democratic Party’s Watergate offices, and later personally erased incriminating material from secret White House tapes.

The material obtained by the Post was obtained from Nixon, who requested, with only partial success, to blank out the famous 18 1/2-minute section of an Oval Office recording, leaving it to someone else to finish the erase. The gap, to which Nixon’s personal secretary has said she may have been involved, was "an unfortunate business, a major lapse."
Student thefts of dairy crates cause woes for milk company

By Lew Annem
Staff Writer

Milk crates are a natural, according to the American Dairy Association's ad campaign, as they have also become a natural, much to the dismay of Prairie Farms Dairy executives.

During 1976, Prairie Farm's 15 divisions lost 100,000 milk crates, many of which were collected daily by Hinchcliff, general sales manager for Prairie Farms' New Era Division.

"I am not sure how many. There are so many," Hinchcliff said, adding that the company may charge a deposit for the crates, but Hinchcliff would resist the charge because of the bookkeeping costs.

"I have a temporary measure," Hinchcliff said. "I have asked University Housing to help Prairie Farms recover the 10,000 crates from dorm residents.

Sam Rinaldi, housing director, said his department will be asked to turn in the crates to food service loading docks on a daily basis. Any crates remaining in dorm rooms during spring break will be confiscated and then turned over to Resident Assistant Rina for disposition.

"I've seen a lot of them leaving in the station wagons at the end of semesters," Hinchcliff said. "And I didn't know it was this much of a problem.

Rinaldi said cooperative experiments are now kept inside food service areas, rather than in the open, to prevent theft.

Steve Kirk, coordinator of resident life at University Park, said a campaign to inform students should begin within two weeks.

U of I teacher: Sex education urgently needed

URBANA (AP) -There is an urgent need for sex education in schools and the need is underscored by the recent increase in teenage sexual activity, a University of Illinois teacher says, Laura Ronson, assistant professor of health and safety education, said a recent study shows a 25 percent increase in both sexual activity and pregnancy in unmarried teenagers between 13 and 19 years of age. The increase was recorded between 1971 and 1976. "Pregnancy is not a game," Ronson said. "It can be fatal.

"Also, the girls are less inhibited: they're curious about sex and they want to experiment."

Acting presidents named for NIU, Sangamon

SPRINGFIELD (AP) -The Illinois Board of Regents named acting presidents for Illinois University at Macomb and Sangamon State University. William Monat, Northern's provost and vice president since 1976, was named acting president of the university. John Kainer, vice president for academic affairs at Sangamon, was named acting president there. The board accepted the resignation of Richard Nelson as president of NIU. He was appointed as a result of a head-on auto accident in DeKalb last May. The board said Nelson is being retained at the same salary for two months to help in the transition of a new administration.

Transexual teacher fired, to receive pension

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) -Paula Grossman, a transsexual teacher fired because school officials felt her presence in a classroom would have an unhealthy effect on students, should receive a disability pension, a New Jersey Appeals Court ruled Thursday. The Appellate Division of Superior Court, which in 1974 upheld the woman's dismissal from the Bernards Township School System, made a 90-day ruling in a civil court hearing.

Transsexualism is a mental and physical incapacity to teach. The teacher, who now works at an office job with the city of Plainfield, should receive the pension despite being mentally and physically fit to perform her duties as a teacher, the court said.

Committee reviewing proposals to expand overcrowded library

By Jean Nuss
Staff Writer

A planning and committee is exploring options for the expansion of the Library Morris Library, which is cramped for space.

Kenneth Peterson, dean of libraries, said Thursday that the Library Affairs Building and Planning Steering Committee has begun discussing methods of enlarging the library facilities.

Expansion of the library is needed because of the growth in student population and materials crowding the book shelves. A report on Morris Library progress during 1977-78 showed increases of 47,680 volumes and 102,000 microforms. Seating capacity for students in Morris Library has already been surpassed, Peterson, who heads the committee, said. The committee should be expanded to provide room for 15,000 students.

SU already has admitted 22,000 students this semester. "It is com-

Considered that library buildings should seat 25 percent of a student body," Peterson said. "At present, we seat 10 percent or 2.5,000 seats."

Because the library's capacity to seat students has already been surpassed and because book stacks will reach their working capacity by 1979, the library committee is considering such options as:

A separate building joined to Morris Library;

A building to be used as a warehouse and located on campus but not connected to Morris.

Peterson said that the planning is in too early a stage to project what type of additions the committee will recommend.

However, Peterson said, "An addition of one or two stories on the present building is possible."

Thompson call for cutback of electric power use

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gov. James R. Thompson of Illinois Thursday will appeal to the people of Illinois for a voluntary cutback in the use of electric power pending a settlement in the 72-day strike that has shut down many of the state's coal fields.

Emerging from a two-hour emergency meeting with President Carter and coal state governors, Thompson said he would make his appeal Saturday or Sunday... Thompson said that, even though Illinois has no severe coal shortage at the moment, cooperation between states to save energy is necessary to prevent economic disaster. He said no request was made at the meeting for reallocation of Illinois coal to such states as Ohio and West Virginia.

But Thompson said that, if such a request were made, Illinois would share its supplies.

"We'll share." Thompson told reporters as he drove out of the White House driveway after a light dinner at the White House. "If Illinois don't share, we're going to get hurt."

"Illinois is relatively well off, but if Ohio or West Virginia go down for lack of power, we'll share. Illinois will go down for lack of power," he said. Said that he could cause more employment.

Thompson praised President Carter and his aids to him to the late Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago his efforts to bring about an end to the strike.

"The President has done exactly the right thing now by moving the bargaining process into the White House," Thompson said. "He has taken the first step. The moral authority of his office and his person must be injected into the problem."

Thompson said Carter must now follow up by pushing the parties toward accord, even if "they have to lock the gates until they reach a settlement, as our old mayor used to do back in Chicago."

He said the President indicated, if "enough progress was not being made, they would saddle them with the back door."

The governor also said he has the right of the state, by bringing into the negotiations dissidents who were not previously at the bargaining table.

Thompson was one of the last one of the governors at the meeting "who were very firm in their insistence that Carter should not order coal idle or coal idle."

He said, "I was not impressed by the makeup of the Taft-Hartley Act. The coal strikes are bad, but I was, Gov. Ollie B. of Indiana."

...to the committee are only portions of a broader library circulation policy for faculty that has not yet been fully approved.

According to Carl Harris, coordinator of student services, the committee believed that the actual amount of the fine imposed "should be a discretionary matter decided by the dean of the library affairs." The proposals must now be sent to the Committee on Circulation Policies for final approval. The full document for library circulation policy must then be approved by Peterson.

Larry Taylor, president of the Faculty Senate, said he wasn't surprised at the compromise position taken by the Library Affairs Advisory Committee. "I think we will probably get an additional faculty slot when the Senate meets on March 14. Proposals to revise faculty library privileges began over two years ago."

In January, the Faculty Senate passed a resolution continuing the deadline until the end of the fall semester at which time it was indicated a majority of faculty members felt the seven-day limit should be retained. The resolution also called for suspension of library privileges for faculty members who do not return materials on time, but it recommended that no fines be charged for overdue

Rental of camping gear starts after spring break

By Michele Ranum
Staff Writer

Although 14 tents, 48 sleeping bags, 16 cook sets, 20 Army mess kits and 14 camp axes might look like a supply list for the National Guard, it's actually a partial list of equipment that will be available for students to borrow.

The camping equipment may be available after spring break, says William Beyer, Recreational Facilities director.

Beyer said the rental program was started to provide students equipment at low costs.

"Our main goal was to take advantage of the many outdoor recreation facilities in Southern Illinois and surrounding states, but the cost of the necessary equipment may deny them the opportunity. We can give them that opportunity by providing that equipment on a low fee rental basis," Beyer said.

Money for the equipment was made available from the Student Welfare and Recreation Fee (SWRF), according to Bruce Gwinn, vice president for student affairs.

Of the $11,75 fee, $10 is earmarked for recreation programs, Swinburne said. For the purchase of equipment, $5,600 has been provided, he said.

In addition to tents and sleeping bags, portable stoves, lanterns, canisters, grills and canoes will be available. Some problems involved in collecting equipment will be minimal, according to Beyer. A drive that leads to the west end of the Recreation Building will be completely "without traffic breaks," Beyer said.

It will encircle the stude at to drive up to a door, ring a bell for service and check out equipment. Students will be able to carry heavy items a long distance, Beyer said.

Beyer said the equipment will be ordered within the next few weeks. The date equipment will be available for rental depends on delivery.

Council to review 7 candidates to fill Dakin's vacant position

By Steve Lambert
Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council has several candidates seeking to fill the vacant seat of former councilmen Jack Dakin.

And Mayor Neal Eckert says he hopes the vacancy can be filled during the council meeting Monday.

Eckert said Thursday he has received the names of the seven candidates, but he is not ready to fill that position.

The council will choose those names and appoint a replacement. Eckert has said he will choose the council make a unanimous choice.

Dakin resigned Jan. 21 to accept an appointment to the state's Prisoner Review Board. The appointment was made by Gov. James Thompson.

The Prisoner Review Board replaces the Illinois Parole and Parole Board.

The name of Thompson's Chm X

The career package recently passed by the legislature.

The newly announced candidate is Dennis Admecy, student president, who is entering his early February term. He was nominated in the position.

Admecy, who was defeated in primaries Hans Fischer and Archie Jones in the City Council elections last April, and earlier this year he has not received any response from Eckert or council members about his candidacy.

He would not resign his position as student president if he is appointed to the council. His one-year term, he said, would be nearly expired by the time the council fills the vacancy.

Bottles, cans win 1st in litter sweepstakes

The Feb. 18 D.E. carried an editorial by Hal Powers which argues that U.S. industry must be made to pay for returnable beverage containers. This is a noble idea, but it is based on a misconception.

Mr. Powers states that bottles are a major industry, and they cost consumers a huge amount of money. He says that it is unfair for consumers to be responsible for the cost of returnable containers.

However, this is not the case. The real cost of returnable containers is borne by the manufacturer, not the consumer. The manufacturer is responsible for the cost of the container and the cost of its return.

Mr. Powers also argues that returnable containers are not environmentally friendly. This is not true. Returnable containers are reusable and can be recycled, while disposable containers are not.

In conclusion, I believe that Mr. Powers is mistaken in his arguments. Returnable containers are a better option than disposable ones, and it is unfair to blame consumers for the cost of returnable containers.

Promotion guidelines not applied fairly

I would like to congratulate William Norwood on his recent election for the vice-chairmanship of the SIU Board of Trustees. I am sure that SIU will gain greatly from his leadership.

As a new administrator, Norwood will be in a position to make decisions that will affect the university. His experience will be valuable to the future of SIU.

Why duplicate area's recycling efforts?

We have read the article on recycling in the Feb. 3 Daily Egyptian with concern. We would like to encourage the university to use its resources efficiently and to reduce waste wherever possible.

The university has programs in place to reduce waste. These programs include recycling efforts and energy conservation measures.

Returnable bottle bill would help solve litter and conserve energy

In response to Hal Powers' editorial on the campaign to get the bottle bill, a "cleaned-up, white-\-collared environmentalist" would like to speak up.

I do not believe that a returnable bottle bill is a way to solve Illinois' litter problem. However, I do believe that the bottle bill is a step in the right direction. The bottle bill would help reduce litter and conserve energy.

Something should also be said for the amount of energy saved by recycling cans and bottles instead of mining the minerals from the ground.

A bill of this kind would not, I think, affect the majority of consumers, or large industries. It would, in the long run, help save our natural resources.

Congo; not Carter, is to be blamed for many of America's social ills

In regard to Mark Peterson's article in the D.E. on Feb. 8 portraying President Carter as an 'ugly monster' and a "sociopathic man" who has been "forced with his friends," let me say that I am extremely surprised.

The American economy has been experiencing a severe recession in recent years, and most of the blame for the current situation rests with the federal government. The administration's economic goals for 1977 were largely realized. We are at peace and, in short, these are better times.

Congress, not the president, is mostly to blame for our current economic problem. And I do not believe that the president has the necessary will to solve the problem.

As the years went on, the country grew more polarized. The many self-serving acts of Congress have combined to form a governmental bureaucracy of unendurable size. Every year in office and prospects are bleak for the continuation of the administration's economic goals for 1977.

Afraid? Security-box yourself in

By Arthur Hopper

During the 1970s life in the United States underwent a major change. Shocked successively by the sexual revolution, Watergate, the soaring rates of inflation and crime, Americans for the first time in history became aware of the dangers that lurked everywhere.

The public was now taking a very serious view of security. They became more aware of the dangers of burglary and theft. Burglar alarms became a part of every household. The result was, of course, The Security Box.

The sad fact is that in Los Angeles every day in the past week a robbery has occurred. A Security Box for life. Not the Security Box, my friend. For only $2,000 a year, you can have a Security Box, and not a shadow security box. And not a stock security box. That would be too moral.

Snow removal equipment scarce due to severe weather conditions

By Kristie Gaff
AP Business Writer

If you’re weary of shoveling snow this winter, look on the bright side. You may be lucky just to own a snow shovel.

A run on snow equipment has created a snow shortage in some areas of the country hit hard by severe winter weather. Mechanical snow shovels are now even more scarce.

The leading producers are sold out and there are reports of a sharp increase in thefts in a number of states, creating something of a “white market” in stolen snow removal equipment.

The D. Ames Co., the largest and oldest snowman maker in the country, says it is completely out of snow shovels and recently had fielding orders from snow-bound New England and Florida states for dirt shovels and scoops.

“People have been desperate for anything they can move snow with,” said William Peabody, a sales executive for the Rockingham, W.Va., company. “We sold everything we were able to build, and we’re unable to produce more now because of our production schedule,” which calls for making various garden tools at this time of the year.

The Timper Co., a shovelled and garden tool subsidiary of Allegheny Ludlum in Cleveland, has extended its snow tool production schedule, which normally ends in mid-December and starts again for the next season in May.

The situation is worse for mechanical snow blowers.

'La Ronde' a delightful love comedy though surface relationships boring

By Carlos Clarke

La Ronde, the round, is a delightful love comedy though surface relationships are boring.

The play is a collection of stories of ten characters, and makes a complete circle amid the confusing charge of partners, to begin and end with Lecacia, the whore.

This example of Viennese parlor comedy, written by Arthur Schnitzler in the 1890s, portrays the game of love, from first flirt to conquest that is ever-present between men and women.

The ten sketches that make up the action of the play are performed with a somewhat circular rhythm which is enhanced by the arrangement of the scenes. Each character finds his or her way to another affair, another bed, the scenery is shifted in a meticulous fashion around the centre stage. To further add to the circular motion, there is a large, round rose that grows during the blazed-out blossoming scene.

The action is quick, though not fast enough to take away from the extremely funny dialogue. Not even can the marotte job done by the scenery.

As the whore is the first sketch, and the last, Barbara Rat's comes off shockingly best by one of the instructive selection of her voice, her not so proper language, and body language that 'nice young ladies' just don't use.

Sweeney Bold is a great job as a frightened-yet-wanning-it-dilettante, and same as the 'good little wife' sheltered by a worldly husband (Cheek Piece).

Of all the parts played by the women, Gretchen Geis - a very bright, new scene-went the best. Her scene-went the best (Rick Plummer) - a masterpiece of expression, made the audience gasp. Gretchen tries to reduce an older, clumsy count with blatant expression, the best of which is the exposed leg the life seductively off the bed.

But perhaps, the bored feeling is an end product of the play. Surface relationships, affairs, do after awhile get boring, for it is human nature to seek a deeper meaning as almost anything.

Maybe Schnitzler's 'light comedy' is more of a social commentary for all of us, as we are, and what we'd like to be.

In either case, comedy or commentary, the play is a delightful way to spend an evening - and even if it's not, you can get a few good ideas on how to spend your nights.

Theater group brings drama to area schools
By Gary Shepherd
Student Writer
Many area schools received visits from flying squirrels, hamsters, Santa’s elves and the Queen of Hearts last year. This spring they may be visited by impressionists and the Wizard of Oz.
It’s all part of the Bubble Factory, an enterprise in creative drama run by the Speech and Communications Department. The idea is to bring improvisational drama to grade school youngsters and let them participate in the plays.
The Bubble Factory takes its name from large inflatable plastic bubbles that are used as sets or “recreators” for each drama. The students create a basic forum, decorate the bubble and let the children write the story.
“I think drama is as important as any other form of art,” said Janet McLugan, assistant professor of speech, who is in charge of the Factory. “It is a way to expand the student’s experience.”
Parents who take the creative drama for children class are eligible to join the factory, which is a travelling company
“It gives the students a chance to apply the theories they get in the classroom,” said McLugan.
The idea for the Bubble Factory is excellent a year, came from students who found they were spending too much time honing routines for performances at schools instead of class work.
Last year, the factory entertained about four thousand students. The factory has played at Menard Frequent Flyer and at the prison.
In March, the group will tour for two days at Chicago schools. Schools as far away as South Carolina have requested a visit. Every year the group invents two new dramas to take on tour.

Public forum features human rights activists

By Dan Considine
Assistant Writer

The Committee for Artistic and Intellectual Freedom in Iran (CAIFI) has received $25,000 from the student government to hold a free public forum scheduled for the first two weeks of April. It will feature human rights activist Florence Kennedy, Ali Shari and Kebek Vahidfar.

Kennedy, a black feminist, will speak about women's roles in the United States and the impact of U.S. foreign policy on human rights around the world.

Shari, a former Iranian air force pilot who defected to the United States in 1973, now faces deportation to Iran. Shari will speak on his fight against deportation and remain in the United States.

Valasters, the national secretary of CAIFI, is a member of the "CAIFI 5," which includes five other CAIFI members were arrested on Jan. 9 on the campus of Jersey City State College for "disrupting the normal academic proceedings of the college." The six face a maximum three-year prison term, a $5,000 fine and possible deportation if convicted.

Valasters will speak about the case and her role as national secretary of CAIFI.

David Murrell, president of the SU chapter of CAIFI, said, "CAIFI is a worldwide organization assembled for the purpose of working for artistic and intellectual freedom in Iran."

Murrell also said that CAIFI is opposed to the war of violence in the Middle East.

In addition to the forum, CAIFI will be starting a petition campaign urging the acquittal of the "CAIFI 5." Valasters said, "CAIFI received the funds for the forum from the Student Senate ($1,000), the Graduate Students Council ($500) and the Student Government Activities Council ($700)."

Staff handbook in the making

A handbook that will include everything employees need to know about work policies at SIU will be available in September.

Personnel Services is preparing the handbook, which will contain an exciting publication, "Personnel Services Handbook for Employees and Supervisors." The book will provide a handy guide for civil service workers, according to Deborah A. Landrul, personnel officer.

Landrul said the new publication will describe the policies.

Jury: Hughes legal Texas resident

HOUSTON (AP) — A probate court jury has ruled that Howard Hughes was a legal resident of Texas at the time of his death and that the so-called Mormon will purportedly written by the eccentric multimillionaire industrialist is a fake.

The three men and three women deliberated about 90 minutes before delivering their verdict, based on testimony during a four-week trial and more than 1,000 documents introduced as evidence.

The state attorney general's office had asked the jury to decide whether Hughes was a legal resident of Texas when he died, which would enable the state to collect inheritance taxes on his vast fortune.

The temporary administrators of the estate argued that Hughes was a resident of Nevada, which has no inheritance tax.

Another trial is under way in Las Vegas, Nev., to determine the validity of a purported Hughes will found at the headquarters of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) in Salt Lake City shortly after his death. It names former Hughes aide Noah Dietrich as executor but does not name Hughes as a beneficiary and leaves most of the estate in the Mormon church and various charities and educational and scientific foundations. Hughes' relatives are arguing in the Nevada court that the three-page, hand-written document is a forgery, while lawyers for Dietrich, 90, are trying to prove its validity.

The size of Hughes' estate has not been determined, but a summary of assets compiled for the Seneca Corp., the overseer of Hughes' holdings, placed the value at $1.1 billion.

Talk to stars by phone; tele-lectures proposed

By James Delaplay
Student Writer
Here would you like to talk to Gov. James Thompson or comedian Red Skelton over the telephone? Or how about Neil Diamond, Ralph Nader or Joan Jett? Greg Johnson, chairman of the Student Government Activities Council (SGAC) Lecture Committee, says the idea soon may become a reality. Called tele-lectures, the phone calls would enable students and faculty to ask questions and talk to people, such as Skelton, he said. The lecture committee could not afford to sponsor the lectures because the students were not interested.

The tele-lectures, which would probably be scheduled as money was available, could be heard throughout the Student Center with the aid of an amplified sound system.

No speaker would be given a few minutes to make an opening statement, then answer questions by members of the lecture committee could not afford to sponsor the lectures because the students were not interested.

The tele-lectures, which would probably be scheduled as money was available, could be heard throughout the Student Center with the aid of an amplified sound system.

No speaker would be given a few minutes to make an opening statement, then answer questions by various students and faculty for 30 to 60 minutes.

Johnson said he got the idea from an article he heard about at a national entertainment convention, where a speaker who was unable to make a lecture engagement because of a sudden emergency, gave a lecture over the telephone instead.

The lecture will begin sometime in March if confirmations from speakers are received by the committee.

Aid checks being distributed

Basic Educational Opportunity Program checks, which were being distributed this week by the Bureau of Education, Gordon White, director of Student Financial Assistance, said the checks were scheduled to be distributed Feb. 14 but were delayed until Monday because of problems in the computer.

White said processing of the BEOP checks usually takes at least two or three weeks. The checks can be distributed earlier, however, if the students' registrations must first be verified, he said.

Students, teachers kill bats in classes

SAVANNAH—(AP) — Students and teachers at High School in Savannah, Ga., have killed hundreds of bats in the classroom to fend off hundreds of the furry flying mammals that have invaded the building.

The school had a bat problem almost since it opened in 1966, but when the bat problem recently reached proportions in the attic, the bats usually stayed, the bat congressed at the top two floors and inside the attic."

Turbulence may have caused Evansville crash, pilot says

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Wake turbulence caused by a jet aircraft could have affected the chartered DC-3 that crashed in December, killing all 29 persons aboard, a pilot said Thursday.

Malcolm K. Olesen, a pilot with 5,600 hours of flying experience in DC-3s, said, "If wake turbulence can be quite violent. It's a possibility" that it could have caused the crash.

The National Transportation Safety Board is winding up hearings into the crash, which killed among others, the coach and players of the Evansville University basketball team.

Olesen, a retired aviation engineer for Douglas Aircraft, was senior project engineer in the development of the DC-3. Much of his testimony was speculative since there were no survivors of the crash and since the aircraft is not equipped with an automatic flight recorder.

"Norman, we don't allow speculative testimony at the hearings," explained NTSB commissioner Francis McAdams. "However, due to the circumstances and Mr. Olesen's obvious background in the DC-3, we are allowing this testimony.

Wake turbulence is the phenomenon of unstable air created by large jets. A Delta DC-8 jetliner left Chicago's Regional Airport about 90 seconds before the ill-fated DC-3 took off Dec. 13.

"The turbulence would have been around," said Olesen. "It might not be as strong.

"We've said all along. was unlikely a cause would be determined during the public hearing. What we're receiving here is facts, opinions and evaluations. These things need to be re-evaluated." McAdams said

SIU has chance to get $14 million for coal lab

By Brenda Hood
Staff Writer

As much as $14 million in federal funds could come to SIU if one of 10 proposed university coal laboratories is centered here, according to a director of SIU's Coal Extraction and Utilization Research Center.

A bill has been passed providing for establishment of the labs to coordinate research in each coal-producing area and to provide training for young scientists. Sendlein said.

The bill, passed in August, 1977, provides for a 14 million dollar building to be constructed to house the lab, and $1.5 million worth of monitoring equipment. $500,000 would be allowed for the first year's operation expenses. For each of the following five years, the school would have to raise $1.5 million to be matched by a maximum of $5 million in federal funds for operating money.

SIU has a good chance of getting a university coal lab, Sendlein said. "One criterion is that the state that gets the lab has abundant coal resources Illinois meets that requirement. About 10 percent of the country's coal comes from Illinois."

"If all the schools in the state, this is the only one that deals in mining," he asked.

The lab would probably be awarded on a competitive plan, Sendlein said. SIU, if the lab were located here, would probably include other universities and share the money.

"The easiest that the University of Illinois could become reality is February, 1979," he said. "Although the labs have been authorized, the money has not yet been appropriated.

Daily News unions agree: No alternative to folding

(Chicago) AP - Eight of the Daily News' 1,064 union members have agreed in no viable alternative to ceasing publication, publisher Marshall Field announced Thursday.

Field announced on Feb. 3 that union negotiations were found to reverse the Daily News' massive losses, the afternoon paper would cease publication March 6 if he said the paper had 13 million last year and has been steadily losing circulation for more than a decade.

Field said negotiations agreed to continued severance in addition to contractual severance of up to four weeks for the 955 employees represented by the eight unions.

Negotiations were continuing with the Chicago Newspaper Guild and the Chicago Typographical Union.

Field added in a news release:

In addition to the increased severance pay, Field said his company would provide for up to six months of medical insurance after the newspaper folds. He also said the company would operate a placement office to help employees find new jobs.

The festival will begin with a reception in honor of the international students from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom B. Following the reception an international film festival will be presented from 8 to 10:30 p.m. in the Illinois, Ohio, Kansas and Missouri River Rooms.

A cultural exhibit, featuring displays of silver, pottery and fabrics from around the world, is scheduled from 1 to 9 p.m. Saturday and noon to 2 p.m. Sunday in Ballrooms A, B and C. Songs and dances from Japan, Korea, Columbia, Venezuela, India and Africa will be featured in a music and folk dance demonstration from 4 to 5 p.m. Saturday in the second floor lounge.

Dishes from a variety of countries will be served at an international buffet from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Renaissance Room.

A talent show, which will include a self-defense demonstration and a mock Macau wedding ceremony with a candle dance, will be presented from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday in Ballroom D.

Law student yields Graduate Student Council position

By Ray Valek

A law student has resigned from the Graduate Student Council (GSC) because the Graduate Council, a policy-making board for the Graduate school, does not recognize law students as graduate students.

Don Beller resigned at a recent GSC meeting to allow another graduate student to be elected GSC president, according to J. Worley, graduate student in chemistry and biochemistry and vice president of the Graduate Council.

Beller and Anthony Abate, graduate students in law, were unseated from the Graduate Council because they did not fulfill the requirements of the council. Law students do not technically qualify as graduate students according to the Graduate Council guidelines.

Abate was not present at the meeting. Beller said he contacted Abate about the possibility of resigning also, but Abate said he would not resign and announced his decision at a later date.

Pat Stoddard, graduate student in chemistry and biochemistry, and Lewis William Herndon, graduate student in higher education, were elected to fill Beller's seat and another seat vacant since April.

A motion to confirm the two law students as elected GSC representatives to the Graduate Council but to designate temporary representatives until the council is filled down to the resignation of Beller failed.

In other GSC action, Lloyd W. Ward was elected Graduate Student in English. The Traffic and Parking Committee is studying the possibility of collecting student and faculty parking fines.

Worley said faculty and staff owe more than $25,000 while students owe $16,000.

Worley reported that a contract between the University and the tuning company has been agreed upon. Tuning will begin this fall with rooms from 1 to 3 p.m. 4:30 from 2 p.m. to midnight, and $5 from midnight to 8 a.m.

George Mac, vice president for university relations, is scheduled to speak at the 22 meeting State Sen. Ken Buzbee. D. Carbondale, is scheduled to speak at the March 9 meeting.

The conference is balanced this year and it help keep everybody involved," Jones said. "You always have to play hard or you know that you'll get beat."

"I got the name Slab a long time ago in our neighborhood when everyone had a nickname," he said.

"My cousin called me Slab because of the way I blocked shots. Then it went from Slab to Slab, but either name is okay with me."

Jones says he is confident SIU will have a tough time defeating the Aggies in Saturday's game.

"Everybody in the Valley needs to win third games at home because a team can win the conference if they win their games...I bine and split on the road."

Take command of your future as an officer in the U.S. Navy.

There aren't many men in this world who can qualify for command of a ship. Fewer positions of responsibility are harder won... earn more respect... and offer a greater sense of personal accomplishment.

Think you've got that something special it takes to work toward this kind of position... and to master the rigorous training and discipline that will be required of you? If you can honestly answer "yes" to this question... and can back up your "yes" with a good solid educational background... and meet the other qualifications demanded of a Naval officer, then the Navy will give you every opportunity to work your way up to a position of command.

There's no better time than now to find out if this is the kind of future you're looking for. And if you're the kind of man the Navy is looking for. Stop in and have a talk with your Navy recruiter.

Roundball line-

Our latest winner is Paul Watson of Town and Country Mobile Home Park. Watson and 12 others went 19-0, but everybody incorrectly chose Notre Dame to beat DePaul in the tie-breaker. Watson's score of 73-69 was closest to the actual score of 67-68.

One regler sues a 100-plate, excluding the tie-breaker, improving their overall record to 20-10. Mitch Parkinson, women's sports information director, went 10-0 as guest predictor who upset the nationals' mark to 12.

Anyone who goes 19-0 deserves another shot, so we asked Parkinson to return to the guest predictor's chair this week.

Jim Musunas and Bud Vanderson both went 8-2, so Musunas kept his lead in the staff battle with a 24-4 record compared to 20-9 for Vanderson. Musunas also picked DePaul in the tie-breaker.

The winner each week receives a choice of a large pizza with one ingredient or a medium with two ingredients at Quatro's.

Entries dropped this week from 119 to 53 entries. May the readers look at the list of games and decided it was too tough, and that is understandable.

Matmen to battle Indiana, Cal Poly

By Jim Minniss
Staff Writer

The SLU wrestling team, 5-12, will have two chances to break the losing streak this weekend.

The Bruins meet South Dakota State on Saturday.

South Dakota State is rated even with SIU.

Indiana will host the Salukis in a 7:30 p.m. Friday match and the Salukis will battle Cal Poly San Luis Obispo (SLO) 2-1 at noon Saturday.

Both matches will be held at the Arena.

SLU’s wrestlers will be Mike Helslark, 3-1 at 118 pounds; John Gross, 18-8 at 126; Bill Ramsey, 13-16 at 134; Paul Hicks, 36-4 at 142; Jon Sturr, 9-14-2 at 150; Dale Eagger, 11-11 at 158; Mark Mitchell, 11-22 at 167; Eric Jones, 4-14 at 177; Tom Vinn, 14-10 at 180; Ken Karwaski, 7-10 at heavyweight.

Coach Linn Long feels both teams will test the Salukis’ wrestling capabilities.

“Indiana is super from 128 pounds through 165 pounds,” Long noted.

The best wrestler in Sam Komar, a 143-pound grapplego who placed second in the NCAA’s last year and dropped a decision to Ramsey two years ago. Last year the NCAA meet was moved out as well was the Jan. 28 match scheduled at Bloomington.

“He feels the Komar-Kibles match should be a good one. Paul can win if he wrestles the way he did when he won,” Long said. “He can’t sit around and see if Komar is going to do this or don’t do that.”

Other top wrestlers are Dan Cieswski, 13-6 at 142; Dave Welch.

Steele anticipates close home meet

"Sometimes being sick can help a guy in that he can get some rest that he might not get ordinarily. But he will have strenuous work in order for me to see." Steele added.

Steele said that Steve Shepherd and Bob Kretmblint will also be "tor" for the Bears. Shepherd will swim the 200 breaststroke and Kretmblint is one of three fine backstrokers.

Cincy backstroker Bob Kloss will also give Ral Roscoe a run for his money in both the 100 and 200 back.

"Kloss is three seconds ahead of our guys, but he hasn’t done it yet this year," Steele said.

The Bears have had four meets postponed this season due to poor weather conditions, but have a 3-1 dual meet record.

Steele said that there will be a T-shirt contest following the meet.

The purpose of the contest is to get people to wear T-shirts in the heated Natatorium so that they will be comfortable.

"We’ll divide the competition into two divisions," he said. "Division I will be a wet shirt contest to see who looks best in a soggy shirt. Division II will be judged by the220 South Illinois Ave. Carbondale

Women gymnasts look to upset Lions

By Steve Corcoran

Staff Writer

The men's and women's gymnastics teams should get an excellent idea of their team strength Saturday when they host their respective teams from Penn State at 7:30 p.m. in the Arena.

While SIU's seventh-ranked men's gymnastics team goes up against the Nittany Lions (currently No. 6 in the country), the No. 1 ranked women's gymnastics team from Penn State will face the Salukis women gymnasts, who have moved up to fourth place in the country.

Admission is 30 cents for students, with a free statement and $1 for adults.

"If we win or lose," said women gymnastics Coach Herb Vogel, "this meet will just wrap up our dual meet season. The results of the meet will be a guide as to how we must train to qualify for the season with the qualification meets."

Despite Penn State's impressive 148.50 score earlier this season, SIU's top score is 143.50. Vogel doesn't believe that the Lions are that much stronger than the Salukis.

"The East Coast Conference scoring is based on what's in the Midwest Conference," Vogel said.

Vogel also feels that the home crowd will help Penn State to build up its impressive score thus far.

"When you get the crowds like they have here, you feel the judges. They are only human," he said. "If our fans don't like a certain score, they should cheer too."

Salukis defeat West Texas as Wilson, Huggins lead win

By Jim Munnas

Sports Writer

One road victory down and one to go.

Winning games on the road in the Valley can be a tough chore, but the Salukis disproved that theory at least for one game as they took a 6-7-1 victory over the West Texas State Valley Conference basketball victory over the West Texas State Buffaloes Thursday night at Amarillo.

The win improved the Salukis' Valley mark to 9-4, 13-4 overall. SIU still trails MVF leader Creighton by 1.5 games.

The key part of West Texas State to 3-10. The Valley, 7-16 overall.

SIU's second road test will come at 2:30 p.m. Saturday against the New Mexico State Aggies, who are 6-8 in the Valley. The Aggies defeated SIU 72-48 in the first meeting of the year in Carbondale.

Saturday Wilson scored 22 points and Milton Huggins added 20 points to lead the win. Barry Smith scored 12 points, but the Aggies were never able to pull away. The Aggies' scattering of points, left George McVei into ninth place on the all-time Saluki scoring list.

Maurice Cheeks scored a game-high 26 points to lead the Buffaloes. No other Buffaloes scored in double figures. Rees scored 12 points, but the Buffaloes were never able to pull away.

Coach Paul Lambert said, "We were pleased with tonight's game and had control of the game. We maintained our composure, we shut well and took good shots."

Steele sees relays as crucial events at swim meet

By George Coakley

Staff Writer

When the Cincinnati swim team makes its appearance at the Recreational Building pool at 1 p.m. Saturday, the pool will get hotter than the 85-degree atmosphere that surrounds the facility.

The action that will take place between the Bearcats and Salus will swim something of a heat to take care of the entire building, maybe, half of it.

The Bears have a new coach, Terry Carroll, and according to Salus Coach Bob Steele, Carls, has really done a great job with the program.

The meet should be similar to the shootout between the Salukis and Wisconsin earlier this year. SIU won that one 65-50.

"They are really getting ready for us," Steele said. "We have beaten them 11 times in a row. But we lost only twice.

We have won the last two, but they were really close.

We won last year's meet in the last relay.

The Salukis won that one 118-113.

"The key events will be the relays. If we swim them well, we can win," Steele said.

Steele has expressed concern in the medley relay event. Backstroke swimmer John Nierenberg and his performance may influence the relay team. He has to go 15 or better for the team to have a chance.

The free relay team should do better than the NCAA standard time of 3:06. Steele confirmed. But he added that it will be a close race, too.

The Lions are led by four All-American, one of the Olympic Milkwei names of Ann Carr. Carr's 37.90 in all-around competition last season earned national set an Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) record. Carr has bettered that mark this season and has came up with a 38.35 (1.7 average) performance.

The Salukis, who will be looking to reverse last season's 146-64-141 15 loss at "West state, have two All-Americans of their own in sophomore Cindy Muran and junior Linda Nelson.

Morgan and Nelson will need a lot of scoring help from the new-comers to the team this season. Freshman Sue Barrett, (vaulting) Chris Wnuesch, (beam) and Sue Perini of Patty Tiernay. SIU's highest-scoring floor exercise worker should help boost the team score. Maureen Hennessey and Pam Chokline will be counted on for some help. New commuter在网上 and Linda Piet will also need to come through if the Salukis are to upset the Lions.

Vogel thinks that the meet should be an excellent chance for his young team (five freshmen and no seniors) to build itself a name. Vogel doesn't want to consider his team perfect any longer.

"You never know," Vogel said. "If you can beat a solid team performance will be enough to turn hard Penn State until the results are in. I wish the team have become and how good we really are have become unknown. The fans should see quite a contest."
