Cedar Lake ruled off-limits to swimmers

By Steve Hahn
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Aided by a persistent mother of four children at a heated town meeting, it happened: Swimming at Cedar Lake, Carbondale's water supply, is now officially prohibited.

After heated questioning and argument at Monday's town meeting, Mayor Neal Eckert ordered the city's Public Works Department to post no-swimming signs at all entrances to the lake. The city council did not act on the order because the move was purely administrative.

Sue Hardwig, a homeowner who lives off Cedar Creek Road, told the council she objected to both the nude swimming which has become vogue at the lake, and the mass of swimmers' cars that she said block her driveway. "I believe nudity is more of a private rather than public thing," she said. "There were two girls going down the road (near her home) with no clothes on and my 10-year-old came to me and said, 'I think I'll stay in the house.'" Mrs. Hardwig is the mother of four children, ages 10, 8, 7, and 3.

"I guess we made some enemies," she said. "I'm not a crusader, but this has gone far enough."

Eckert responded to Mrs. Hardwig's complaint saying, "I see no harm in putting up no-swimming signs." But City Manager Carroll Fry said the city could do nothing about the cars blocking her driveway.

"That's Louis Herter's problem, it's a township road (Cedar Creek Road), you're beating on the wrong horse," Fry said. Herter is the Makanda Township supervisor of streets and roads.

Eckert said nothing about enforcing the new rule, and Fry said the city couldn't afford to pay additional employes for law enforcement. The city now employs three men for maintenance and minimum security at the lake.

Tom Harris, supervisor of the lake employes said, "It's going to be impossible to enforce. We've got 1,750 acres of lake and two men. But we'll give it the old college try." Swimmers refusing to leave the lake will be ticketed.

Last Thursday, Harris and a group of five city planners got together to make proposals for governing the use of the reservoir, but according to James Rayfield, chairman of that group, they have proposed no rules banning swimming. Rayfield would not release the proposals to the press, but they are expected to come before the City Council July 12.

The council cannot approve or deny the proposals at that meeting because it will be informal, but it may take action at a formal meeting scheduled for July 19.

Das Fass limits use of live music

Das Fass will not feature live music in its beer garden until the city of Carbondale passes a noise ordinance that will give the bar "something definite to go on" regarding an acceptable noise level, said owner Herb Vogel.

Richard Fischer, assistant manager of Das Fass, was arrested June 24 and charged with disorderly conduct as a result of complaints about loud music coming from the bar, located at 517 S. Illinois Ave.

"We don't want an opinion of what is constituted as 'too loud,'" said Vogel. "We want an ordinance with acceptable noise levels written in black and white."

Vogel said he is turning the matter over to an attorney. "We feel that the disorderly conduct ordinance as applied to us cannot be enforced."

City Manager Carroll Fry said he saw no reason why Das Fass could not continue live music, "as long as they keep it down."

"As long as they keep it (noise) downtown, they'll have no problem. But when the noise bothers area residents, it's an invasion of privacy," Fry said.

Class films segments of student's script

By Diane Pintozi
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"Monody" is a film script about a small-town drifter who runs into trouble with the local aristocracy. His wife divorces him and starts going out with six other men. He loses countless jobs and finally becomes involved in a slot machine racket.

But this potential classic of the silver screen will never be completed because the class which is filming it only runs for three weeks.

Film production 497, "Feature Film Workshop," is a three-credit hour course. The class is filming segments of a script written by a student in a script-writing class.

The students perform all the jobs that a real film crew would be required to do. Every few days the students switch jobs so they get experience in all the positions.

The 15-person crew films on location at various off-campus locations. Instructors Don Zirpola and Mike Covell are there to advise and offer assistance to the young directors, lighting, sound, and camera technicians.

Ron Raleigh, student cameraman, said the class is difficult, but exciting. "We go on location, something no other film class has done before. We learn how to get along with each other and how to work as a team," said Raleigh. Each student contributed $15 to fund the project.

In a scene shot Thursday at 511 S. Forest St., the home of assistant director Sue Estabrook, a small room made to look like an apartment was loaded with blue-jean clad students.

A camera sat on a tripod on one side of the room, while a blonde actress in a negligee and an actor in violin-print boxer shorts sat together on a couch across from it. Blinding white lights dominated the scene.

A second actor entered the scene, and the two men fought over the girl. One man was thrown into a coffee table, and the man in the boxer shorts grabbed his clothes and exited stage right.

The class has run into problems because none of the students has ever shot on location. Student director Bob O'Connell said production has taken longer than they thought it would. He said the students learned to work together though there were "too many cooks" in the production.

Another problem has been the equipment. The class is using school equipment designed for feature film production which has never been used on location.

Finding locations with enough electrical power to accommodate all the equipment has also been a problem.

Instructor Mike Covell said the production is a good experience for the class. "People can realize how difficult it is to shoot a production. It's phenomenal!"

Covell said there is a possibility the course will be repeated once a year. He said summer would be the best time because of the lighter class load. "Even though this is a mini-course, it takes a lot of time," commented Covell.

Juniors, seniors and a graduate student are enrolled in the course. Covell said he is not sure about the grading procedure yet, but said his ideal for the course is for his students to become motivated and interested, to "do something on their own."

Agencies considering dispatch merger

By Tom Chesser
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

An plan designed to centralize the dispatching of emergency police, fire and medical services on a countywide level is now being considered by the various county and local emergency agencies involved.

At a meeting of the Jackson County Board's Health and Safety Committee, Robert Motti, trauma coordinator of the Illinois Department of Public Health, introduced a proposal to merge the funding and coordinate the services of two separate plans originally designed to centralize the dispatching of county police and ambulance service at separate facilities.

Motti said the county can qualify for a $43,000 grant to purchase and implement an emergency medical dispatch system. He said the grant would be split, with the federal government paying 70 per cent and the county and state paying the remaining 30 per cent.

James Rush, criminal justice director for the Greater Egypt

Regional Planning Commission, said the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (ILEC) has grants available to law enforcement agencies wishing to centralize dispatch and records systems between local city and county police departments. He said that grants of approximately $100,000 were available for the installation of such a centralized dispatch system.

Rush said a St. Louis consultant has been studying a way to centralize a law enforcement dispatch network for two months but that only recently have the consultants been asked to consider the possibility of combining all county emergency services under one centralized dispatch network.

Rush said that if a dispatch communications facility is built, "there is a good possibility" it will be housed in the Carbondale Police Department because they have space available.

The agencies considering the centralized emergency dispatch network include Carbondale and Murphysboro police and fire departments, the Jackson County Sheriff's office and the SIU health service emergency ambulance service which contracts its services with both cities and county.

Rush said the agencies have met regularly with the consultants and expects some sort of feasibility study to be presented to both city councils and the county board by August 1.

Dennis Morgan SIU ambulance service coordinator, said there are three other agencies competing for the central emergency dispatch grant and warned members of the Health and Safety committee to speed up their decision making before they lose the grant.

Rush said a state law requiring all counties to have a centralized emergency services dispatch systems sparked plans by Jackson County administrators to begin organizing.

The law requires that all counties have feasible plans for the dispatch systems by 1984 and have them in operation by 1984.

Eventually a person in need of police, fire or emergency medical service anywhere in the United States will just have to dial a three digit phone number—911—for assistance, Motti said.

Brandt encourages staff appeal channel

By Matt Coulter
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

President Warren Brandt stressed the need for a grievance document while addressing the first meeting of the 1976-77 Faculty Senate held Tuesday in the Student Center.

A grievance document would establish procedure for appeal of grievances filed by faculty or administrative staff. A grievance would be a complaint filed by a faculty member because of distress caused by a decision or action of a University administrator.

"We need a grievance document and we need it badly," Brandt said. "It is a very difficult document to form and certainly a very significant one."

The Faculty Senate has been working on a grievance document during the past year. A motion to accept the document in its present form was not acted upon at the meeting.

Instead, the document has been referred to the Faculty Status and Welfare committee for further consideration.

The grievance document as now worded would allow outside arbitration between faculty members and the University. Outside arbitration would be allowed if a grievance were appealed to the Board of Trustees.

John Jackson, Faculty Senate president, said state law and Board of Trustees rules may not permit such arbitration.

Arbitration involves bringing in a "disinterested third party" to resolve the grievance, Jackson said. If the document were accepted in its present form, the arbitration problem would have to be resolved with the University, Jackson said.

President Brandt also discussed the 1976-77 SIU budget now being considered by Gov. Daniel Walker.

Brandt said the budget passed by the legislature would allow for faculty salary increases of 4.5 per cent, and 6.5 per cent increases for University civil service employees.

Exactly how the salary funds will be distributed will not be decided until Walker has signed the budget, Brandt said. Walker could reduce the amount of funding for faculty salary increases.

Libya may intervene in Lebanon

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Libya threatened on Tuesday to intervene in the Lebanese civil war on the side of leftist Lebanese Moslems and their Palestinian guerrilla allies against right-wing Christians, a leftist broadcast reported.

Libyan Prime Minister Abdel Salem Jalloud reportedly told a news conference his country would "fight alongside the Palestinian and Lebanese nationalists against anyone contemplating hurting the Palestinian resistance or trying to partition Lebanon."

His remarks were reported by the leftist-controlled Beirut Radio, monitored here. Telephone and telex communications with Lebanon remained severed as a result of eight days of heavy fighting in Beirut.

Despite Libya's distant geographic location, we will wage a suicidal battle to protect the Palestinian revolution, avert the partition of Lebanon and foil attempts to internationalize the Lebanese conflict," the radio quoted Jalloud.

In Damascus, a Syrian government spokesman called on all parties "involved in the crazy fighting in Lebanon to lay down their arms immediately and stop the bloodshed."

Heavy fighting continued Tuesday in Beirut and at scattered locations elsewhere in Lebanon. The worst battles continued around two besieged Palestinian refugee camps, Tal Zaater and Jisr el-Basha. They form a leftist enclave in the Christian-controlled sector of eastern Beirut.

Hijackers demand prisoner release

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—Palestinian extremists demanded on Tuesday the release of 53 imprisoned "freedom fighters" in Israel and four other countries in exchange for 256 hostages and a hijacked French airliner. France immediately said it would not give in to the guerrillas who commandeered the Air France Airbus Sunday over Greece during a flight from Tel Aviv to Paris. Israel, with 40 prisoners on the list and an estimated 80 to 100 citizens held hostage, said it had to consult.

Iran agents kill leftist guerrillas

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Security agents raided what they said was a leftist terrorist hideout near the Tehran airport Tuesday and reported killing 10 guerrillas as part of their crackdown on antigovernment activity. Authorities said the four-hour shootout erupted after government agents surrounded an apartment building that was being used as a guerrilla headquarters.

Index signals economic expansion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government index which foreshadows future developments in the economy climbed by the biggest margin in 10 months during May, signaling steady expansion of economic activity in the months ahead. The Commerce Department said Tuesday the composite index of leading indicators rose 1.4 per cent in May. It was the biggest increase since July's 2.8 per cent.

Walker receives school aid bill

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Despite warnings that many school districts will suffer, the General Assembly sent a "Christmas tree" full of changes in the school aid formula and a $1.287 billion appropriation to help pay for them to Gov. Daniel Walker Tuesday for his signature. Final selection on the formula changes, designed to distribute more equitably state money to local school districts, came as the House approved a controversial Senate amendment.

Press dangers include murder

Reprinted from the Washington Post

IT HAS BEEN a long time since a reporter was murdered in this country as a direct consequence of the information his reporting turned up. But that is what happened to reporter Don Bolles of the Arizona Republic of Phoenix who was fatally injured by a remote control bomb placed under his car. Mr. Bolles was reporting on the connections of organized crime to the land sale business when he apparently got close to some sensitive truth. He paid for his resolute devotion to his job with his life, and today we would like to salute him as a colleague, to deplore the brutal act by which he died, and to say a few words about the line of work that lead to his killing.

Don Bolles was an investigative reporter—by all accounts, an extremely good one—and this is the highest form of journalism in the sense that, when it is well done, it is capable of producing the greatest public good. And that is why it is also the riskiest, toughest form of journalism; because it usually addresses itself to wrong-doing of one kind or another, the subject matter is almost always controversial, and the objects of such inquiries are inclined to be somewhat more than usually sensitive.

Assassination, of course, is not the usual resort of those under investigation by the press. And we would not wish even to suggest that this criminal act might mark the beginning of some sort of pattern of violent reprisal. But the fact remains that there has developed in recent years an ugly intolerance of the concept, so basic to the First Amendment, of a free-functioning, adversary press. So that while nobody, of course, is actually advocating violence, we do not believe it is too far-fetched to relate the murder of Mr. Bolles in a very particular way to the general atmosphere of hostility now confronting the news media. To those who are concerned about the difficulties already standing in the way of investigative journalism, and the danger of more being imposed, this tragic act, coming at a time when it is fashionable to inveigh against the press and to call, unthinkingly, for new restrictions on its freedom, serves as a grim reminder that the investigative press, for all of its supposed great power and unfettered freedom, already is operating in an area of high risk, and against heavy odds.

We are not talking now about the Spiro Agnew's of the world, although the former Vice President did his reckless bit to create an atmosphere in which others have been encouraged to bring forth a variety of measures to curb the media. There has, for example, been a rash of gag orders against publication of information that developed in public trials. Reporters have been exposed increasingly to the threat of jail for refusing to reveal their sources. The press has lost court cases that limited its access to prisons and it has had to fight back attempts by government in such legislation as S. 1 to keep the reporters away from certain kinds of secrets, many of them very much the people's business.

We are well aware, when we express our opposition to such measures, that we have a vested interest in this matter—a vested interest, you might say, in the inviolability of the press freedoms that we think the First Amendment quite properly guarantees. Nevertheless, the case of Mr. Bolles strikes us as a perfect example of why these First Amendment protections should not be tampered with. He was one of many reporters working on various aspects of very serious social and legal problem in the United States. The problem is that organized crime, once a separate segment of our society, has crept into so-called legitimate activities, using its enormous excess capital and well-known muscle to buy into businesses which then become fronts for crime of all sorts. Arizona, a place where excess capital is more abundant than in many other parts of the country, was particularly vulnerable to organized crime. Mr. Bolles had proved that point in his reporting before his latest inquiry began.

His newspaper has declared its intention to finish the work its slain staffer began. Other newspapers around the country have sent reporters into Arizona to work on the story. In the end, that is exactly the right response of a free press to a brutal attempt at intimidation. And the best response of a free people, in turn, is to give reporters like Don Bolles and those who will come after him their encouragement and support. To impose new burdens on the investigative reporter is simply to play into the hands of those who felt sufficiently threatened by Mr. Bolles' investigations to take his life.

'Logan's Run' review considered tripe

To the Daily Egyptian:

It has always amazed me why the Daily Egyptian feels the necessity to fill their pages with so-called "reviews." Invariably such studies are little more than vehicles for uninformed novices to reveal their ignorance and prejudices. One prime example of this brand of ego-boosting is Keith Tuxhorn's biased view of "Logan's Run."

Tuxhorn reveals his complete ignorance of speculative literature in the following statement: "And anyone who reads the tiniest amount of s-f literature knows that Utopian dreamworlds were largely given up as a topic many years ago." Anyone who has read the tiniest amount of science fiction knows how wrong Tuxhorn is. Utopian and dystopian futures have been and will continue to be a main classification of s-f.

But little of this is about the film "Logan's Run," which is the problem one runs into in trying to respond to Tuxhorn's account. Basically, he objects to the film because it is not "Citizen Kane." It does not contain a strong moralistic message that will change our lives forever because it wasn't meant to. It is entertainment and adventure, pure and simple, and Tuxhorn's rejection of this basis is the root of his trouble.

Sexism lives on

To the Daily Egyptian:

The photo of the DeSoto homecoming princess contestants, which appeared on June 24th in the D.E., proved only one thing: the surface has barely been scratched with respect to the eradication of sexism in our society. How long will it be before children are no longer shoved into traditional sexual roles that continually hinder their total human capacities?

Celebrity Series plans eleventh season

Celebrity Series, the professional and cultural entertainment series at SIU, has a projected season that tentatively includes the Chicago Symphony, the musical "A Little Night Music" and the Pennsylvania Ballet.

Beginning its 11th season in 1976-77, the Celebrity Series features a blend of both popular and fine arts attractions. Still in the process of negotiation, the events are tentative choices and should not be considered as definite or binding.

After the disappointment of not being able to secure the Chicago Symphony last season, Celebrity Series officials say there is the strong possibility that this prestigious orchestra will perform here on Sept. 14. It has not been decided whether this would be part of the Celebrity Series or a special event outside the series.

The award-laden drama "Equus" is pending for early October. This British import by Peter Shaffer probes a young man's adoration of a horse and the reason he puts its eyes out.

The rock opera "Jesus Christ, Superstar," fully costumed and dramatized, is an alternate choice for early October. The concert version was performed in the Celebrity Series in 1971.

The opera "Naughty Marietta" is a possibility for Oct. 22. This special concert version will contain all the glorious Victor Herbert music, such as "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Italian Street Music" and "I'm Falling in Love with Someone." It will be narrated by the inimitable Cyril Ritchard, sung by the City Center Opera Company and feature the Pickwick Puppet Theater.

"A Little Night Music" is tentatively scheduled for Oct. 30. A winner of Broadway's "Best Musical" award, it features music by Stephen Sondheim.

The currently running Broadway show "Shenandoah" is available for the series on Feb. 8, if Shryock can be scheduled. This musical is based on the James Stewart movie of the same name and is set during the civil war.

For contrasting musical tastes, the Czech Philharmonic Orchestra and the Preservation Hall Jazz Band are being considered for the spring of 1977.

Other possible events are a return engagement of the Pennsylvania

Ballet. An ethnic variety show is also likely for the new season. Dora Straton's Greek Dancers, the National Dance Company of Senegal and the Chinese Acrobats of Taiwan are being considered. Those interested in further information are invited to send their names and addresses to Special Meetings and Speakers, SIU Shryock Auditorium.

ASSETS INCREASE

NEW YORK (AP)—The assets of U.S. life insurance companies rose 5.8 per cent between year-end 1974 and year-end 1975, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Campus Briefs

A Black Affairs Council Meeting will be held at 4 p. m. in the Mississippi River Room of the Student Center. Council officials asked that all 18 member organizations have at least one representative at the meeting.

Richard Millman, associate professor of Mathematics, has been named a visiting scholar at Massachusetts Institute of Technology for the academic year 1976-77.

Steven Tietz, a teaching assistant in the Department of English, has published three poems in literary journals. "Love 40" and "Casey" were published in "The Wabash Review" and "Storm" was published in "The Windless Orchard".

Enrollment dip sliced by undergraduate total

Undergraduate enrollment at SIU-C is up over last summer despite a decrease in total enrollment.

Peter B. Brown, director of the University news service, said Monday that the tenth-day undergraduate enrollment figure for this summer is 6,988 compared to 6,859 last summer, an increase of 129.

Brown said total enrollment is 10,116 this summer, down 273 from last year.

Tenth-day figures are based on enrollment on the tenth day of the semester. Brown said final figures will not be available until near the end of the semester.

Part of the decrease is accounted for by a decrease of 87 among professional students, many of whom will not register until July 1. Brown said. Last year, they were required to register by this time in the semester.

Brown also said a decline of 315 in the graduate school can be partially accounted for by the fact that no workshops were held between spring and summer this year. Last year enrollment in these workshops, many of which carried graduate credit, was included in the tenth-day figures.

Brown cited an increase in enrollment at the School of Technical Careers (STC) as a factor in the undergraduate enrollment increase. Enrollment in the associate degree program increased by 108, while enrollment in the baccalaureate program increased 173.

Brown said he had no explanation for the increase at STC.

PIPER PRODUCTION

NEW HAVEN, Pa. (AP)—The 100,000th Piper airplane, a twin-engine business turboprop, rolled off the assembly line here recently. Piper Aircraft Corp. says one out of every 10 airplanes ever built in the world has been a Piper and one of every three civil aviation aircraft flying today is a Piper.

Volunteers needed to work with student grant committee

The student-to-student (STS) grant committee is looking for volunteers to help plan and execute the program for the summer semester.

Eddie Gardner, a member of the committee, said they are especially interested in hearing from those who were dissatisfied with the way STS was handled in the fall.

Gardner said the volunteers would be expected to handle paperwork and grievances from applicants. He said that anyone interested in helping with STS during the summer should call Gardner at 457-5465 or Vincent Sykes at 549-3493.

"The sooner we get volunteers the sooner we will be getting the money out," said Gardner.

Police receive noisy music gripes during concert behind Woody Hall

The Carbondale Police Department and the SIU Security Police received "innumerable" complaints of loud noise from area residents Friday night as a result of the Highway concert behind Woody Hall, according to an SIU Security incident report.

Three area residents signed complaints at the Carbondale Police Department, according to the report.

The report did not designate who would be notified about the complaints.

According to the report, Bruce Swinburne, dean of student affairs, was present at the concert and was advised of the complaint. Swinburne reportedly convinced the band to lower the volume. Eventually the show ended early. Swinburne could not be reached for comment.

Carbondale ordinances concerning noise and disorderly conduct cannot be enforced on state property such as SIU, but City Manager Carroll Fry said. "As a matter of equity, the University should be expected to keep the noise down."

Toby Peters, chairman of the Student Government Activities Council, said he does not see that the outdoor concerts were jeopardized because of the complaints. "We're going to try to tone it down," he said.

Peters said he discussed the situation briefly with Swinburne, but no conclusion was reached. At least three more outdoor concerts are scheduled behind Woody Hall, Peters said.

GTE to use lower rate for Independence Day

Businessmen and residential customers can realize substantial savings on long distance calls made on Monday, July 5, according to John Youngblood, Service Manager for General Telephone.

He said the evening rate will apply all day Monday, July 5, since Independence Day, the normal holiday recognized by the telephone industry, falls on a Sunday this year.

"The lower rates apply on long distance calls, including those within the State and to other states," Youngblood continued. "Persons dialing direct will, of course, realize greatest savings."

On operated-assisted calls made on July 5, the initial three-minute charge will be the same as the day rate, but a savings will be realized for the additional minutes."

According to Youngblood, the General Telephone business office will be closed on Monday, July 5, in observance of Independence Day, but emergency repair service will be available.

He concluded by saying the telephone industry recognizes five holidays where the lower rate applies. These are New Year's Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas and are listed in the front pages of telephone directories.

Council wants impact report before granting zone change

By Steve Hahn
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Acting at a formal meeting Monday, the City Council further requested a Carbondale land developer to prepare an environmental impact statement before the council grants a zoning change for the proposed North Murdale Development Project.

The council struck down three previous requests they had made for approval of the project, saying they were either invalid or impossible to obtain. The three requests questioned the validity of a Floodplain Occupancy Permit, required traffic flow studies and sought information on the location of the proposed Interstate 51 bypass.

City attorney John Womick said the city has no authority to require an environmental impact statement simply because of the size of the proposed project, unless they would make similar statements mandatory for all future projects, large or small.

City councilman Hans Fischer said, "I have no desire to pick on anyone, but before I vote on the project I want an impact statement." Fischer was the council member who originally requested the statement at an informal meeting June 14.

The Murdale project, being developed by Gordon Parrish of Carbondale, will include a shopping center, parking lots and other stores. Opposition to the project has developed because area residents and the Carbondale League of Women Voters say the parking lots will increase water run-off into the Little Crab Orchard Creek, adjacent to the project, flooding down-stream homes.

In other action at the formal meeting, the council voted to oppose the gas and electric rate increase proposed by Central Illinois Public Service Company which would boost electric rates and additional $4 and gas rates an additional $2.

The Illinois Commerce Commission is holding hearings at the request of CIPS for the rate increases, but before a final ruling is made, the commission is required to notify municipalities which may be affected.

CIPS was granted a $10.7 million electric and gas increase on March 24, or about 30 per cent of what it requested. The rate change now asked for would be an increase of $42 million annually from its 288,000 electric customers and $5 million annually for its 140,000 gas customers.

The council endorsed two bills pending in the Illinois Legislature, one on the postponement of the Alcoholism and Intoxication Treatment Act from July 1, 1976 to July 1, 1977 and the other a statute that would provide immunity from civil liability to police and firemen for acts of ordinary negligence when giving emergency care without a fee to accident victims.

The council approved Mayor Neal Eckert's nomination of Dennis Adams, 40, 1414 E. Dogwood Road, to the Community Development Loan and Grant Review Board for a three-year term extending through July 31, 1978.

In an informal meeting after the formal session, the council asked to take formal action on a contract with the Jackson County Humane Society, a contract for custodial service with the Attucks Community Services Board, a proposed site plan for the Memorial Hospital parking lot project and an ordinance draft to change the speed limit on East College, adjacent to City Hall, from 30 miles per hour to 20 m.p.h.

WAITS FOR MASTER

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Duke, an aging mix-breed dog, is maintaining a long vigil at an animal hospital here, apparently awaiting the return of his master.

In recent months, four persons from different parts of the city adopted Duke but each time the dog has found his way back, according to Dr. Hiram Pritchett, a veterinarian and the owner of the establishment.

Dr. Pritchett said Duke's owner began boarding the dog at his place two years ago. He came regularly every week. One day, however, he stopped coming and Duke was put up for adoption.

"This time I'll keep him until he dies," said Dr. Pritchett when the dog came back from his fourth adopter. "He's a fixture around here, and he likes it."

Zoning laws to be topic at public hearing

The Carbondale Planning Commission will hold public hearings July 7, to discuss commission proposals to change the city's existing zoning regulations. Kermit Robinson, a city planner, said the proposals may slow down business encroachment onto residential areas.

Under the city's present zoning laws, some new businesses are forced to buy residential land and then seek a zoning change for their type of operation. Robinson said one of the main reasons for this is the high cost of commercial land compared to residential. He said the city has land open for new businesses, but it remains vacant because of the strict zoning regulations.

Program provides services for area migrant workers

By Tim Powers
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Shawnee Migrant Health Program expects to provide health care for between 1,500 and 2,000 summer migrant workers in the Southern Illinois area and is recovering from a rumor that the figures might have been considerably higher.

recreational program for children aged 7-12.

Ray Lindsey, coordinator of the program, said a nurse is also available to provide immunization tests and hearing and visual examinations.

"We've got about 60 kids right now but we're expecting well over 100 kids by mid July or early August," Lindsey said.

educational programs.

Though the Ananda Marga program has helped relieve some of the pressure on the Shawnee program, Dix said they are still in need of volunteers with expertise in nutritional education and hygiene education. Toys, books, cribs and other infant care materials are also needed.

'We find a migrant in need, we see what they're eligible for, we find the government agency to help them'

The rumor, since discounted, had it that damage to fruit crops in northern states would result in an upsurge of job-seeking migrants in the Southern Illinois area and the folks at Shawnee were concerned that the additional migrants would exhaust the resources of their already limited budget.

The Shawnee program, a subsidiary of the Shawnee Health Service and Development Corporation, operates on a $25,000 grant from the Housing, Education and Welfare Department through its Rural Health Initiative Program.

The program provides a doctor, who twice weekly gives physical examinations, all the drugs and materials the doctor uses in his examinations, a part-time nurse and out-reach workers who help locate the migrants in need of medical care.

Maria Dix, coordinator of the migrant program, said the service provides only general health care. Migrants with more severe problems are referred to hospitals in the area.

Because the Shawnee program has neither the staff nor the money to provide more elaborate services, Dix said their main job is to act as intermediaries between government agencies.

"We find a migrant in need, we see what they're eligible for, we find the government agency to help them," Dix said.

Dix said the main health problems are related to lack of proper nutrition, lack of proper hygiene, alcoholism and inadequate maternity care.

The Ananda Marga Yoga Child Development Program is attempting to distribute the pressures of migrant health care. Through a $40,000 grant from the Department of Children and Family Services, the Ananda Marga program provides an infant care center, the Sunrise Pre-School, for children ages three to six and a

Bag containing $335 taken, stolen automobile recovered

A University Bank money bag containing $335.24 in cash was taken from the Student Center Food Service Monday afternoon. The bag was apparently removed from a table in the kitchen area, according to SIU Security. A consent search was made of employees, lockers but no evidence was discovered, security police said.

Ronald A. Debelas, 509 S. Ash St., reported his apartment broken into Monday. Items taken included record albums and a small black and white television.

An automobile reported stolen Sunday was recovered Monday. The vehicle was reported stolen by Michelle Edwards of Carterville and was recovered as a result of a routine check of an abandoned vehicle on Hill Avenue by Carbondale Police.

Degree rejected by IBHE, program revision called for

The staff of the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) has rejected the Black American Studies Baccalaureate program, according to Stanley Smith, dean of the college of human resources.

According to sources, the program was rejected because it was too narrow and needed re-examination and revision in order to cover a broader base of ethnic studies. This would include other minorities as well as blacks.

The baccalaureate program was passed by the SIU Board of Trustees in June and the proposal was forwarded to the IBHE's staff for their consideration. The staff rejected the proposal and sent it back to SIU for revision.

The program is designed to educate students to the black experience and to better equip them to relate with blacks, said Smith.

Currently there is a special major and two minors offered in black american studies.

According to Smith, although the course is not officially offered as a baccalaureate program, students who wish to get a degree in black studies can do so by using the special majors option which allows students to design their own majors with the counseling of faculty and approval of the student's dean.

Students wanting information regarding the courses should contact the Black American Studies office, said Smith.

New officers to lead political club of county women

The Jackson County Democratic Women's Organization elected new officers at their regular monthly meeting Monday.

Elected were chairwoman Rose Mary Bastein of Murphysboro, vice-chairwoman Bonnie Copland of DeSoto, secretary Janice Priddy of Carbondale and treasurer Lornie Hallman of Jacob.

The newly elected officers will take office July 26 at a meeting chaired by the present chairwoman Kay Gurley of Carbondale.

Coast Guard to hold safety course

The Crab Orchard Lake Flotilla of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, will be presenting "Skipper Outdoor Special," a boating laws and safety course Wednesday at the Gateway Marina, and Thursday at the Playport Marina at Crab Orchard Lake. Both demonstrations are to start at 8:30 p.m.

In addition, WSIU-TV, Channel 8 at Carbondale and Channel 16 at Olney will present a special 30 minute boating safety program, which includes the Crab Orchard Lake Flotilla, at 6:30 p.m., Friday, July 2.

The demonstrations are a part of National Safe Boating Week which President Ford proclaimed for July 4 through July 10.

William E. Eaton, Crab Orchard

Lake Flotilla Commander, said the purpose of safe boating week is to keep millions of boaters safety-conscious throughout the year.

In case you can't make it out to the marinas for the demonstrations, here are some simple rules you should know about safe boating.

There should be a life preserver or flotation device for everyone on board, as well as proper navigation lights, fire extinguishers and a horn. Other necessary items are extra fuel, anchor, line, fenders, flashlight and distress flares.

Boats can be overloaded. Check the boat's weight capacity and never exceed it. If a boat capsizes, or swamps, don't attempt to swim to shore—stay with the boat; the shore is probably further than it looks.

Remain ashore when small craft warnings are posted. But head for the nearest sheltered shore if caught on the water in a storm. Reduce speed and instruct passengers to sit in the lowest part of the boat's centerline. And keep the boat headed into the wind as much as possible.

Every boater should know the rules of the road on the waterways. The rules are to insure safe, enjoyable boating. To help insure that safety, the Coast Guard Auxiliary is offering free courtesy motorboat examinations. For information, call 457-6473 or 457-5919.

Effects of military move termed 'insignificant'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force study has concluded that "socio-economic effects would be insignificant" in the Kansas City area if headquarters of its communications service moves from Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base, Mo., to Scott Air Force Base, Ill.

A draft impact statement filed with the Council on Environmental Quality also said that "slightly greater effects would occur in Belton and Grandview, Mo., adjacent to Richards-Gebaur, particularly on home sales and rental vacancy rates, school enrollment and church membership.

As for the area near Scott Air Force Base, the statement said air pollution in St. Clair County will increase but will not result in a violation of national air standards.

"Compared to the current situation, housing demands will increase, causing greater driving times and per capita fuel consumption," the statement said.

"However, personnel should not have to live outside of the acceptable...one hour commuting time.

Local interests have been fighting the proposed move of the communications service headquarters and some other activities to Scott, an action that the Air Force said would result in a total military and civilian employe reduction of about 3,920.

The Air Force claims that it would save about $24.4 million a year after one-time costs of nearly $41 million in completing the proposed move.

Schedule conflicts change cager's slate

By Scott Burnside
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

Saluki basketball fans are going to be a little baffled at next season's schedule, especially the home portion of it.

Teams scheduled into the Arena vary from the traditionally-tough Missouri Valley schools to virtual unknowns such as California Polytechnic State and Benedictine College.

During an early four game home stand, which starts Nov. 29 and ends Dec. 8, SIU meets teams like William Jewell, University of Missouri-Kansas City, Northeast Oklahoma State, and Millikin University.

Before fans start tearing up their maroon banners, there's a good reason for this influx of smaller schools on the SIU schedule.

Actually, according to head coach Paul Lambert, there are two or three good reasons for this year's scheduling.

Lambert said the major scheduling problem was the inclusion of Indiana State and Creighton University into the Valley conference.

According to Lambert, the Valley asked the schools to freeze their schedules early in the year. This freeze was put on, Lambert said, in order that the Valley schools could try and schedule the new teams.

Unfortunately SIU and several of the Valley teams couldn't work out schedule changes.

"The big problem was getting schedules to correspond, not only with the two teams coming in, but with the other teams in the league," Lambert explained. "We held off scheduling four games until May so we could have a home-and-home setup with the two schools, but it didn't work out."

To further compound Southern's difficulties, both Detroit and Oral Roberts University dropped their games with SIU from their schedules, which opened up two other dates. In addition, the Salukis won't be playing Louisville University.

Lambert said since Louisville is in a new league, they had their own scheduling bug-a-boos. However, in two years both schools will be playing each other again.

With the addition of these new, but smaller schools on the schedule, Lambert still doesn't think Saluki fans will be forced to watch boring basketball games this winter.

"William Jewell (Lambert's old college alma mater) has made it to the district playoffs for the past two years. The University of Missouri-Kansas City is in the same stage that SIU was in ten years ago, and Benedictine against Memphis State last year was only 8 or 9 points down late in the game," Lambert pointed out.

In addition, Lambert said the Valley will begin a more stable state of operations this year. He said Valley schedules will be established three years ahead instead of one, and there is no further plans for expansion in the works.

None of the Valley teams achieved national recognition last year, but conference officials have taken steps to rectify the situation.

At the last conference meeting, a committee was set up to publicize the league and its teams. Lambert was put on the committee with three athletic directors and Bob Ortegale, Drake's head basketball coach.

During the next two months, the committee will be traveling throughout the country, talking to tournament officials, press media and just about anybody of basketball importance to promote the Valley.

One of the items Lambert will be talking about is Southern's chances of winning the conference title next season.

"I think we've got a good shot as anybody in the league," Lambert said. "We played well last year and if you look at all the games decided by only one or two points, you can see what the league will be like this year."

Last year Southern finished second in the league with a 9-3 mark in its first year of conference play. Overall the Salukis were 16-10.

This year Lambert feels the team will even be stronger especially with the signing of some key high school players.

The biggest key, no matter how you look at it, was the successful signing of 6-foot-10, 220 pound center Al Grant of Cedertown, Georgia. Cedertown is a short hook shot from guard Mike Glenn's hometown of Rome, Ga., thus maintaining the Georgia pipeline to SIU.

"Naturally we wanted to find a kid who could play with his back to the basket, which Al can do, plus he has quickness and speed," Lambert said. "At this point Al is bigger than Joe (Meriweather) and he's probably a better shooter facing the basket, although Al's not as quick."

Lambert said he also wanted to find some wingmen for the Saluki offense. Figuring to fit into this role are 6-5 Wayne Abrams (starter Corky Abrams' brother) of Atlanta Ga., and 6-6 Barry Smith of Eldorado.

Signed as a point guard is another Southern Illinois player, Mike Vosbein of West Frankfort.

Lambert feels that Grant, Abrams and Smith have a chance of playing quite a bit next year, depending of how each fits in the SIU offense.

Lambert's plans may go by the boards if he gets the SIU athletic director's job. In that case he will probably have to give up his coach's position, since school officials have indicated the new director can't have a coaching position at the same time.

"I like coaching college athletes I have been actively coaching for 20 years now and I want to spend the rest of my productive life involved in athletics, but there's some time in your life when you have to change."

According to Lambert there are changes in the SIU program that he would like to bring about. He said these changes in philosophy could only be done at an administrative position.

For example, in the basketball portion of Saluki sports, Lambert said he would change the methods of promotion. "I would like to put more life into the Arena, especially entertainment, not the basketball games aren't entertainment in themselves. We just have not progressed as far along these lines as I would like," Lambert said.

Whatever changes come about, what won't change is the Saluki schedule.

The teams scheduled for 1976-77 Arena dates are: William Jewell, Nov. 29; Missouri-Kansas City, Dec. 4; Northeast Oklahoma St., Dec. 6; Millikin University, Dec. 8; California Polytechnic State, Dec. 15; Benedictine College Jan. 3; Bradley, Jan. 8; Wichita State, Jan. 13; Tulsa, Jan. 29; Roosevelt University, Feb. 7; West Texas St., Feb. 10; Evansville, Feb. 14; New Mexico St., Feb. 17 and Drake; Drake, Feb. 26.

Away games next season are: St. Louis Classic, Nov. 26; Steel Bowl Tourney, Dec. 10-11; Georgia Southern University, Dec. 20; Evansville, Jan. 10; Jan. 10; West Texas St., Jan. 20; New Mexico St., Jan. 22; St. Louis, Jan. 31; Wichita State, Feb. 5; Bradley University, Feb. 12; Drake, Feb. 19; and Tulsa University, Feb. 24.

Southern will also participate in the first Missouri Valley tournament, scheduled for Feb. 28-March 5 at Wichita.

Got'cha!

Faced with an opening day rain-out, two 16-inch slow pitch teams in the women's coed intramural league baffled it out in a fun game. Part of the fun was Sharlene Steinberg's tag of David Klein at second base. Steinberg, a junior in clothing and textiles, plays for Merlin's Eager Beavers and Klein, a senior in history, is a member of the Diamond Dogs. (Staff photo by Daryl D. Littlefield)

U.S. wrestlers face stiff test

BROCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Olympic freestyle wrestling team for the Montreal Games has three Olympic veterans, two of them medalists, as members. But its medal prospects aren't as sound as they were four years ago.

"We don't have a Dan Gable or a Wayne Wells that's a sure medal winner," said Coach Wayne Baughman, a U.S. Olympic wrestler in 1964-68-72.

The 1972 team had three other medalists—the late Richard Sanders, Ben Peterson and his brother, John—and the Petersons will try again at Montreal.

But Ben, a gold medalist at 198, and John, a silver winner at 180.5, are expected to have more difficulty this year because of the caliber of the competition and because their styles are better known than they were four years ago.

"Our best medal chances are from 125.5 to 222," said Baughman. "In any one of those classes we have potential gold medal winners. But it will take the athlete's wrestling to maximum potential and some breaks such as the draw and officiating."

At 220 will be Russ Hellickson of Cottage Grove, Wis., a Pan American Games gold medal winner in 1971-75. "I would think he is one of our best medal contenders," said Baughman. "He has strength, experience and maturity." He also will have opposition from the Soviet Union and East Germany, which have top men at this weight.

Ben Peterson of Comstock, Wis., also a double Pan American gold medalist, again will wrestle at 198, a class which has Russian and East German conquerors of Peterson as competition. "Ben is a tremendous scramble wrestler," said Baughman. "He can wrestle longer and harder than anyone since Dan Gable or brother John."

"John is a very good scrambler and a superior conditioned athlete," said Baughman of the other Peterson, who is involved in wrestling year round as coach of Athletes in Action. "He is more aggressive than Ben."

The U.S. representative at 163, the class in which Wells won his 1972 gold, will be Stan Dziedzic, a former national collegiate champion at Slippery Rock State. Dziedzic, now an assistant coach at Michigan State, is a man Baughman considers "strategically, the soundest wrestler on the team."
