Cedar Lake ruled off-limits to swimmers

By Steve Haha
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Aided by a persistent mother of four children at a heated town meeting, it happened. Swimming at Cedar Lake, Carbondale’s water supply, is now officially prohibited.

After heated questioning and argument at Monday’s town meeting, Mayor Nestor Eckert ordered the city’s Public Works Department to post no-swimming signs at all entrances to the lake. The city council did not act on the order because the move was purely administrative.

Sue Hardwig, a homeowner who lives off Cedar Creek Road, told the council she objected to both the nude swimming which has become popular at the lake, and the mass of swimmers’ cars that she said block her driveway. “I believe nudity is more of a private rather than public thing,” she said. “There were two girls going down the road (near her home) with no clothes on and my 18-year-old came to me and said, ‘I think I’ll stay in the house.’”

Mrs. Hardwig is the mother of four children, ages 10, 8, 7, and 3.

“I guess we made some enemies,” she said. “I’m not a crusader, but this has gone far enough.”

Eckert responded to Mrs. Hardwig’s complaint saying, “I see no harm in putting up no-swimming signs.” But City Manager Carroll Fry said the city could do nothing about the cars blocking her driveway. “That’s Louis Hetter’s problem, it’s a township road (Cedar Creek Road).”

you’re beating on the wrong horse,” Fry said. Hetter is the Makanda Township supervisor of streets and roads.

Eckert said nothing about enforcing the new rule, and Fry said the city couldn’t afford to pay additional employees for law enforcement. The city now employs three men for maintenance and minimum security at the lake.

Tom Harris, supervisor of the lake employees said, “It’s going to be impossible to enforce. We’ve got 1,750 acres of lake and two men. But we’ll give it the old college try. Swimmers refusing to leave the lake will be ticketed.

Last Thursday, Harris and a group of five city planners got together to make proposals for governing the use of the reservoir, but according to James Rayfield, chairman of that group, they have proposed no rules banning swimming. Rayfield would not release the proposals to the press, but they are expected to come before the City Council July 12.

Fry says he cannot approve or deny the proposals at that meeting because it will be informal, but it may take action at a formal meeting scheduled for July 19.

limits use of live music

Das Fass will not feature live music in its beer garden until the city of Carbondale passes a noise ordinance that will give the bar “something definite to go on” regarding an acceptable noise level, said owner Herb Vogel.

Richard Fischer, assistant manager of Das Fass, was arrested June 24 and charged with disorderly conduct as a result of complaints about loud music coming from the bar, located at 517 S. Illinois Ave.

“We don’t want an opinion of what is constituted as ‘too loud’,” said Vogel. “We want an ordinance with acceptable noise levels written in black and white.”

Vogel said he is turning the matter over to an attorney. “We feel that the disorderly conduct ordinance as applied to us cannot be enforced.”

City Manager Carroll Fry said he saw no reason why Das Fass could not continue live music. “As long as they keep it down.”

“As long as they keep it (noise) downtown, they’ll have no problem. But when the noise bothers area residents, it’s an invasion of privacy,” Fry said.

Class films segments of student’s script

By Diane Pintorri
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

“Monody,” a film script about a small-town drifter who runs into trouble with the local aristocracy. His wife divorces him and starts going out with six other men. He loses countless jobs and finally becomes involved in a slot machine racket.

But this potential classic of the silver screen will never be completed because the class which is filming it runs only for three weeks.

Film production 497, “Feature Film Workshop,” is a three-credit hour course. The class is filming segments of a script written by a student in a script-writing class.

The students perform all the jobs that a real film crew would be required to do. Every few days the students switch jobs so they get, experience in all the positions.

The 15-person crew films on location at various off-campus locations. Instructors Don Zirpola and Mike Covell are there to advise and offer assistance to the young directors, lighting, sound, and camera technicians. Ron Raleigh, student cameraman, said the class is difficult, but exciting. “We go on location, something no other film class has done before. We learn how to get along with each other and how to work as a team,” said Raleigh. But student contributed $15 to fund the project.

In a scene shot Thursday at 511 S. Forest St., the home of assistant director Sue Estabrook, a small room made to look like an apartment was loaded with blue-jean clad students. A camera sat on a tripod on one side of the room, while a blonde actress in a negligee and an actor in violin-print boxer shorts sat together on a couch across from it. Blinding white lights dominated the scene.

A second actor entered the scene. The two men fought over the girl. One man was thrown into a coffee table, and the man in the boxer shorts grabbed his clothes and exited stage right.

The class has run into problems because none of the students has ever shot on location. Student director Bob O’Connell said production has taken longer than they thought it would. He said the students learned to work together though there were “too many cooks” in the production.

Another problem has been the equipment. The class is using school equipment designed for feature film production which has never been used on location.

Finding locations with enough electrical power to accommodate all the equipment has also been a problem. Instructor Mike Covell said the production is a good experience for the class. “People can realize how difficult it is to shoot a production. It’s phenominal.”

Covell said there is a possibility the course will be repeated once a year. He said summer would be the best time because of the lighter class load. “Even though this is a mini-course, it takes a lot of time.” commented Covell.

Juniors, seniors and a graduate student are enrolled in the course. Covell said he is not sure about the grading procedure yet, but “said his ideal for the class is for the students to become motivated and interested, to “do something on their own.”
Agencies considering dispatch merger

By Tom Chesser
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

An plan designed to centralize the dispatching of emergency police, fire, and medical services on a countywide level is now being considered by the various county and local emergency agencies involved.

At a meeting of the Jackson County Board's Health and Safety Committee, Robert Motti, trauma coordinator of the Illinois Department of Public Health, introduced a proposal to get state funding and coordinate the services of two separate plans designed to centralize the dispatching of emergency medical and ambulance service at separate facilities.

Motti said the county can qualify for a $43,000 grant to purchase and implement an emergency medical dispatch system. He said the grant would be split, with the federal government paying 70 per cent and the county and state paying the remaining 30 per cent.

James Rush, criminal justice director for the Greater Egypt Regional Planning Commission, said the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (ICLE) has grants available to law enforcement agencies wishing to centralize dispatch and records systems between local city and county police departments. He said he grants of approximately $100,000 were available for the purpose of such a centralized dispatch system.

Rush said the agencies have met regularly with the consultants and expects some sort of feasibility study to be presented to both city councils and the county board by August 1.

Dennis Morgan SUU ambulance service coordinator, said there are three other agencies competing for the central emergency dispatch grant and warned members of the health and Safety Committee to speed up their decision making before they lose the grant.

Rush said a state law requiring all counties to have a centralized emergency services dispatch systems sparked plans by Jackson County administrators to begin negotiating.

The law requires that all counties have feasible plans for the dispatch systems by 1984 and have them in operation by 1986.

Eventually a person in need of police, fire or emergency medical service anywhere in the United States will just have to dial a three digit phone number—911—for assistance. Motti said.

Brandt encourages staff appeal channel

By Matt Culler
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

President Warner Brandt stressed the need for a grievance document while addressing the 1976-77 Faculty Senate held Tuesday in the Student Center.

A grievance document would establish procedures for appeal of grievances filed by faculty or administrative staff. A grievance would be a complaint filed by a faculty member because of distress caused by a decision or action of a University administrator.

"We need a grievance document and we need it badly," Brandt said. "It is a very difficult document to form, certainly a very significant one.

"The time sequence has been working on a grievance document during the past year. A motion to accept the document in its present form was not acted upon at the meeting.

"Instead, the document has been referred to the Faculty Status and Welfare committee for further consideration.

"The grievance document as now worded would allow outside arbitration between faculty members and the University. Outside arbitration would be allowed if a grievance was appealed to the Board of Trustees.

"John Jackson, Faculty Senate president, said state law and Board of Trustees rules may not permit such arbitration.

"Arbitration involves bringing in a "disinterested third party to resolve the grievance," Jackson said.

"If the document were accepted in its present form, the arbitration problem would have to be resolved with the University, Jackson said.

"President Brandt also discussed the 1976-77 SUU budget now being considered by Gov. Fred Neil Walker.

"Brandt said the budget passed by the legislature would allow for faculty salary increases of 4.5 per cent, and 6.3 per cent increases for University civil service employees.

"Exactly how the salary funds will be distributed is still being decided until Walker has signed the budget. Brandt said Walker could reduce the amount of funding for faculty salary increases.

Libya may intervene in Lebanon

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Libya threatened Friday to intervene in the Lebanese civil war on the side of leftist Lebanese Muslims and their Palestinian guerrilla allies against right-wing Christians, a leftist broadcast reported.

Libyan Prime Minister Abdel Salem Jalloud reportedly told a news conference his country would "fight alongside the Palestinian and Lebanese nationalists against anyone contemplating hurting the Palestinian resistance or trying to partition Lebanon."

His remarks were reported by a leftist-controlled Beirut radio monitored here. Telephone and telegraph communications with Lebanon remained severed as a result of eight days of heavy fighting in Beirut.

Despite Libya's distant geographic location, we will wage a suicidal battle to protect the Palestinian revolution, avert the partition of Lebanon and fail attempts to internationalize the Lebanese conflict," the radio quoted Jalloud.

In Damascus, a Syrian government spokesman called on all parties "involved in the crazy fighting on Lebanon to lay down their arms immediately and stop the bloodshed."

Heavy fighting continued Tuesday in Beirut and scattered locations elsewhere in Lebanon. The worst battles concentrated around two besieged Palestinian refugee camps, Tal Zaatari and Jur el-Babi. They form a leftist enclave in the Christian-controlled sector of eastern Beirut.

Hijackers demand prisoner release

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Palestinian extremists demanded on Tuesday the release of 58 imprisoned "freedom fighters" in Israel and four other countries in exchange for 256 hostages and a hijacked French airliner. France immediately said it would not give in to the guerrillas who commandeered the Air France Airbus Sunday over Greece during a flight from Tel Aviv to Paris. Israel, with 40 prisoners on the list and an estimated 80 to 100 citizens held hostage, said it had to consult.

Iran agents kill leftist guerrillas

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Security agents raided what they said was a leftist terrorist hideout near the Tehran airport Tuesday and reported killing 10 guerrillas as part of their crackdown on antigovernment activity. Authorities said the four-hour shootout erupted after government agents surrounded an apartment building that was being used as a guerrilla headquarters.

Index signals economic expansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government index which foreshadows future developments in the economy climbed by the biggest margin in 10 months during May, signaling steady expansion of economic activity in the months ahead. The Commerce Department said Tuesday the composite index of leading indicators rose 1.4 percent in May. It was the biggest increase since July's 2.8 percent.

Walker receives school aid bill

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Despite warnings that many school districts will suffer, the General Assembly sent a "Christmas tree" full of changes in the school aid formula and a $1.2 billion appropriation to help pay for them to Gov. Daniel Walker Tuesday for his signature. Final selection on the formula changes, designed to distribute more equitably state money to local school districts, came as the House approved a controversial Senate amendment.

Press dangers include murder
Reprinted from the Washington Post

IT HAS BEEN a long time since a reporter was murdered in this country. One of the direct consequences of the information he was reporting turned up. But that is what happened to reporter Don Bolles of the Arizona Republic of Phoenix who was fatally injured by a remote control bomb placed under his car. Mr. Bolles was reporting on the connections of organized crime to the land sale business when he apparently got close to some sensitive truth. He paid for his resolute devotion to his job with his life, and today we would like to salute him as a colleague, to deplore the brutal act by which he died, and to say a few words about the line of work that led to his killing.

Don Bolles was an investigative reporter—by all accounts, an extremely good one—and this is the highest form of journalism in the sense that, when it is well done, it is capable of producing the greatest public good. And that is why it is also the riskiest, toughest form of journalism, because it usually addresses itself to wrongdoing of one kind or another, the subject matter is almost always controversial, and the objects of such inquiries are inclined to be somewhat more than usually sensitive. Assassination, of course, is not the usual result of those under investigation by the press. And we would not wish even to suggest that this criminal act might mark the beginning of some sort of pattern of violent reprisal. But the fact remains that there has developed in recent years an ugly intolerance of the concept, so basic to the First Amendment, of a free, functioning, adversary press. So that while, of course, is actually advocating violence, we do not believe it is too far-fetched to relate the murder of Mr. Bolles in a very particular way to the general atmosphere of hostility now confronting the news media. We are concerned about the difficulties already standing in the way of investigative journalism, and the danger of more being imposed, this tragic act, coming at a time when it is fashionable to inveigh against the press and to close ranks, unhappily, for new restrictions on its freedom, serves as a grim reminder that the investigative press, for all of its supposed great power and unfettered freedom, already is operating in an area of high risk, and against heavy odds.

We are convinced that the murder of the Sputnik Ambassador of the world, although the former Vice President died his reckless hit to create an atmosphere in which others have a better chance to make a stand forth a whole series of measures to curb the media. There has, for example, been an increasing number of orders against publication of information that developed in public trials. Reporters have been exposed increasingly to the threat of jail for refusing to reveal their sources. The press has lost court cases that limited its access to pretrial information, and blown back attempts by government in such legislation as S. 1 to keep the reporters away from certain kinds of secrets, many of them very much the people's business.

We as journalists express our opposition to such measures, that we have a vested interest in this matter—a vested interest, you might say. The invisibility of our freedoms is an article of faith. We think the First Amendment quite properly guarantees to us the right of access to all information, but strikes us as a perfect example of why these First Amendment protections should not be tampered with. He was one of many reporters working on various aspects of very serious social and legal problems in the city. The problem is that while organized crime, once a separate segment of our society, has crept into so-called legitimate activities, using its enormous excess capital and well-known muscle to buy into businesses which then become fronts for crime of all sorts. Arizona, a place where excess capital is more abundant than in many other parts of the country, was particularly vulnerable to organized crime. Mr. Bolles had proved that point in his reporting before his latest inquiry began.

His newspaper has declared its intention to finish the work his tragic life began. Other newspapers around the country have sent reporters into Arizona to work on his story. That is why we feel the right response of a free press to a brutal attempt at intimidation. And the best response of a free people, in this case, to give reporters like Don Bolles and those who will come after him their encouragement and support. To impose new burdens on the investigative reporter is simply to play into the hands of those who felt sufficiently threatened by Mr. Bolles' investigation to take his life.

One need only read the asinine conclusion to Tuxhorn's review to see the typical tone of his entire report: "The biggest question is why people will go see this tripe. Use your bucks to buy a good s-f novel. Besides, the popcorn's cheaper at home." The biggest question is why the DE would publish such tripe as Tuxhorn's form of self-therapy.

Cafeteria needs art

As a regular patron of Woody Hall cafeteria, I have become quite acquainted with the bland interior design of the dining area. Day after day, I gazed at the green tiled walls in bewildermend wondering why a dining area can be so bland as to destroy the enjoyment of a meal.

Friday, all of that changed. The bicentennial has hit Woody Hall cafeteria! Five- and ten-cent posters, flags, and mobiles are scattered all about. The garbage area is designated by a red, white, and blue flag. A colorful poster with the word "Liberty" is ironically placed beneath the ice tea machine. As a result of the new atmosphere, I have not observed an increase of bicentennial spirit in the cafeteria. Perhaps, the bicentennial spirit is as bland as the cafeteria walls originally were.

The University has plenty of resources to bring "spirit" to the green tiled walls of the cafeteria. There are alternatives to this eyesore. One possibility would be to have students from the School of Art display their work in the cafeteria.

"Logan's Run" review considered tripe

To the Daily Egyptian: It has always amazed me why the Daily Egyptian feels the necessity to fill their pages with so-called "reviews." Invariably such studies are little more than vehicles for uninformed novices to reveal their ignorance and prejudices. One prime example of this brand of ego-boosting is Keith Tuxhorn's biased view of "Logan's Run."

Tuxhorn reveals his complete ignorance of speculative literature in the following statement: "And anyone who reads the tiniest amount of science fiction knows how wrong Tuxhorn is. Utopian and dystopian futures have been and will continue to be a main classification of s-f."

But little of this is about the film "Logan's Run," which is the problem. Oh, runs into in trying to respond to Tuxhorn's account. Basically, he objects to the film because it is not "Citizen Kane." It does not contain a strong moralistic view of the subject matter is almost always

Sexism lives on

To the Daily Egyptian: The photo of the DeSoto homecoming princess contestants, which appears on June 26, is not sexist, proved only one thing: the surface has barely been scratched with respect to the eradication of sexism in our society. I have had the problem of being in a situation where once a separate segment of our society, has crept into so-called legitimate activities, using its enormous excess capital and well-known muscle to buy into businesses which then become fronts for crime of all sorts. Arizona, a place where excess capital is more abundant than in many other parts of the country, was particularly vulnerable to organized crime. Celebrity Series plans eleventh season

Celebrity Series, the professional music-making organization at SIU, has a projected season that features concerts by the Chicago Symphony, the musical "A Little Night Music" and the Pennsylvania Ballet.

Beginning its 11th season in 1976-77, the Celebrity Series features a blend of both popular and fine arts attractions. Still in the process of negotiations, the events are tentative choices and should not be considered as definite or binding. After the disappointment of not being able to secure the Chicago Symphony last season, Celebrity Series officials say there is the strong possibility of a successful run. Prestigious orchestras will perform here on Sept. 14. It has not been decided whether this will be part of the Celebrity Series or a special presentation.

The award-winning drama "Equus" is pending for early October. The British import by Peter Shaffer tells of a young man's adoration of a horse and the reason he puts his eyes out.

The rock opera "Jesus Christ, Superstar," fully costumed and dramatized, is an alternate choice for early October. The concert version was performed in the Celebrity Series in 1971.

The opera " Naughty Marjorie " is a possibility for Oct. 22. This musical that opens the season will contain all the glorious Victor Herbert music, such as "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Italian Street Music" and "I'M Falling in Love with Someone." It will be narrated by the irresistible Cyril Ritchard, sung by the City Center Opera Company and feature the Pickwick Puppet Theater.

"A Little Night Music" is tentatively scheduled for Oct. 30. A winter of Broadway's "Best Musical" award, it features music by Stephen Sondheim.

The currently running Broadway show "Shenandoah" is a possibility for Nov. 14. This musical that opens the season will contain all the glorious Victor Herbert music, such as "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Italian Street Music" and "I'M Falling in Love with Someone." It will be narrated by the irresistible Cyril Ritchard, sung by the City Center Opera Company and feature the Pickwick Puppet Theater.

Enrollment dip sliced by undergraduate total

Undergraduate enrollment at SIU dropped last summer despite a decrease in total enrollment.

Peter B. Brown, director of the University news service, said Monday that the tenth-day undergraduate enrollment figures for this summer is 6,988 compared to 7,000 the same time a year ago.

Brown said total enrollment is 10,118 this summer, down 273 from last year.

Tenth-day figures are based on enrollment on the tenth day of the semester. Brown said final figures will not be available until near the end of the semester.

Part of the decrease is accounted for by the decrease in the total number of academic professional students, many of whom will not return to SIU next year, according to L Brown said. Last year they were reported to be 875 by this time in the semester.

Students who are taking a course in the graduate school can be partially

Volunteers needed to work with student grant committee

The student-to-student (STS) grant committee is looking for volunteers to help plan and execute the program for the summer semester.

Eddie Gardner, a member of the committee, said they are especially interested in hearing from those who are interested in participating in this year's STS is handled in the fall. Gardner said the volunteers would be expected to handle paperwork and grievances from applicants. He said that anyone interested in helping with STS during the summer should call Gardner at 457-4945 or Vincent Syken at 549-3843.

"The sooner we get volunteers the sooner we will be getting the money out," said Gardner.
Police receive noisy music gripes during concert behind Woody Hall

The Carbondale Police Department and the SIU Security Police received "immumerable" complaints of loud noise from area residents Friday night as a result of the Highways concert behind Woody Hall, according to an SIU Security incident report.

Three area residents signed complaints at the Carbondale Police Department, according to the report. The report did not designate who would be notified about the complaint.

Carbondale ordinances concerning noise and disorderly conduct cannot be enforced on state property such as SIU, but City Manager Carroll Fry said, "As a matter of equity the University should be expected to keep the noise down.

GTE to lower rate for Independence Day

Businessmen and residential customers can realize substantial savings on long distance calls made on Monday, July 5, according to John Youngblood, Service Manager for General Telephone.

He said the evening rate will apply all day Monday, July 5, since Independence Day, the normal holiday recognized by the telephone industry, falls on a Sunday this year.

"The lower rates apply on long distance calls, including those within the same and to other states," Youngblood continued. "Persons dialing direct will, of course, realize greatest savings on operator-assisted calls made on July 5, the initial three-minute charge will be the same as the day rate, but a savings will be realized for the additional minutes."

According to Youngblood, the General Telephone business office will be closed on Monday, July 5, in observance of Independence Day, but emergency repair service will be available.

He concluded by saying the telephone industry recognizes five holidays where the lower rate applies. These are New Year's Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas and are listed in the front pages of telephone directories.

Marion sets summer season with theatrical entertainment

A full season of theatrical entertainment will be presented in "A Summer Explosion of the Lively Arts" at the Marion Cultural and Civic Center through the month of July.

The season opens July 9 and 10 with "The Incredible Jungle Journey of Fenda Maria," written by Illinois playwright Jack Stoken and presented by SIU-C. On the 16th and 17th, Illinois State University will perform "The World of Carl Sandburg," a collection of Sandburg's works adapted by Norman Corwin.

The Marion area Barbershop Quartet Chorus will appear on the 18th with a salute to America's best loved songs. On the 23rd and 24th, Northern Illinois University will offer "Story Theater," a collection of stories based upon the fables of Aesop and the Brothers Grimm. Dexter USA will present "Happy Birthday America," an original Playhouse gives jungle trek show

Summer Playhouse '76 will present "The Incredible Jungle Journey of Fenda Maria" at 8:30 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 3 to 5, in the Laboratory Theater, Communications Building.

Directed by Kim Quigley, graduate student in the Theater Department, the story concerns a girls trek through the jungle to rescue the chimp. During her journey she is confronted by a Leopard Man, a Jelly-Fire, and several other obstacles.

The cast includes Gary Wilson and Jane Voice, both students in the Theater Department, and Maureen McCarthy, student in the Speech Department.

Admission is 75 cents. Tickets may be purchased from 9 to 9 at the University Theater Box Office, Communications Building. Reservations phone 453-7741.

Bicentennial musical on the 25th.

"Sweet Betsy from Pike," a comic horse opera done by the Golden Plume Opera Company, will close out the season on the 26th.

Starting times and ticket prices vary, and package ticket rates are available. If interested, information can be obtained by calling 997-4030.

The Civic Center is being aided in its presentations by the Illinois State Theater Company, a newly organized cooperative project of the theater departments of Illinois colleges and universities.

Council wants impact report before granting zone change

By Steve Hahn

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Acting at a formal meeting Monday, the City Council further requested a Carbondale land developer to prepare an environmental impact statement before the council grants a zoning change for the proposed North Murdale Development Project.

The council struck down three previous requests they had made for approval of the project, saying they were either invalid or impossible to obtain. The three requests questioned the validity of a Firstprint Occupancy Permit, required traffic flow studies and sought information on the location of the proposed Interstate 51 bypass.

City attorney John Warnick said the city has no authority to require an environmental impact statement simply because of the size of the proposed project, unless they would make similar statements mandatory for all future projects, large or small.

City councilman Hans Fischer said, "I have no desire to pick on anyone, but before I vote on the project I want an impact statement." Fischer was the council member who originally requested the statement at an informal meeting June 14.

The Murdale project, being developed by Gordon Parrish of Carbondale, will include a shopping center, parking lots and other stores. Opposition to the project has developed because area residents and the Carbondale League of Women Voters say the parking lots will increase water runoff into the Little Crab Orchard Creek, adjacent to the project, flooding down-stream homes.

In other action at the formal meeting, the council voted to oppose the gas and electric rate increase proposed by Central Illinois Public Service Company which would boost electric rates and additional $4 and gas rates an additional $2.

The Illinois Commerce Commission is holding hearings at the request of CIS for the rate increases, but before a final ruling is made, the commission is required to notify municipalities which may be affected.

CIS was granted a $307,174,707 million electric and gas increase on March 31, or about 10 per cent of what it requested. The rate change now asked for would be an increase of $27 million annually from its 298,000 electric customers and $5 million annually for its 14,400 gas customers.

The council endorsed two bills pending in the Illinois Legislature, one on the postponement of the Alcoholic and Intoxication Treatment Act from July 1, 1976 to July 1, 1977 and the other a statute that would provide immunity from civil liability to police and firemen for acts of ordinary negligence when giving emergency care without a fee to accident victims.

The council approved Mayor Neal Eckert's nomination of Dennis Adams, 40, 144 E. Dogwood Road, to the Community Development Loan and Grant Review Board for a three-year term extending through July 31, 1978.

In an informal meeting after the formal session, the council asked to take formal action on a contract to hold public hearings for the Memorial Hospital parking lot project and an ordinance draft to change the speed limit on East College, adjacent to City Hall, from 30 miles per hour to 20 m.p.h.

WAITS FOR MASTER

RICHMIND, Va. (AP)—Duke, an aging mixed-breed dog, is maintaining a long vigil at an animal hospital—well here, apparently awaiting the return of his master.

In recent months, four persons from different parts of the city adopted Duke but each time the dog found his way back, according to Dr. Hiram Pritchett, a veterinarian and the owner of the establishment.

Dr. Pritchett said Duke's owner began boating the dog at his place two years ago. He came regularly every week. One day, however, he stopped coming and Duke was put up for adoption.

"This time I'll keep him until he dies," said Dr. Pritchett when the dog came back from his fourth adoptor. "He's a fixture around here, and he like it."

Zoning laws to be topic at public hearing

The Carbondale Planning Commission will hold public hearings July 7 to discuss commission proposals to change the city's existing zoning regulations. Kerroll Robinson, a city planner, said the proposals may slow down business encroachment onto residential areas.

Under the city's present zoning laws, some new businesses are forced to buy residential land and then seek a zoning change for their type of operation. Robinson said one of the main reasons for this is the high cost of commercial land compared to residential. He said the city has land open for new legislations, but it remains vacant because of the strict zoning regulations.

The rumor, since discounted, had it that damage to fruit crops in northern Illinois would result in an upsurge of job-seeking migrants in the Southern Illinois area and the folks at Shawnee were concerned that the additional migrants would exhaust the resources of their already limited budget.

The Shawnee program, a subsidiary of the Shawnee Health Services and Environment Corporation, operates on a $22,000 grant from the Housing, Health, and Welfare Department through its Rural Initiative Program.

The program provides a doctor, who twice weekly gives physical examinations, all the drugs and materials the doctor uses in his examinations, a part-time nurse and outreach workers who help locate migrants in need of medical care.

Maria Dix, coordinator of the migrant program, said the service provides only general health care. Migrants with more severe problems are referred to hospitals in the area.

Because the Shawnee program has no money to pay the staff or to provide more elaborate services, Dix said that their main job is to act as intermediaries between government agencies.

"We find a migrant in need, we see what we can do, and if we can't find the government agency to help them, that's our job," Dix said.

Dix said the main health problems are related to lack of proper nutrition, lack of proper care, alcoholism and inadequate maternity care.

The Ananda Marga Yoga Child Development Program is attempting to distribute the premises' general health care. Through a $40,000 grant from the Department of Children and Family Services, the Ananda Marga program provides an infant care center, the Sunrise Pre-School, for children ages three in six and a half.

NYE YORK (AP) — The American Taxpayer's Union, headed by Thomas Fleming of "Liberty Tavern" (DoubleJay), is proposing a universal health care program. The proposal would provide universal health care to all Americans, regardless of age, income or employment status.

The proposal would cost $400 billion per year and would be paid for by a new payroll tax. The tax would be 2.5 percent of earnings for individuals, and 5.0 percent for employers. The tax would be levied on all wages, including tips, commissions and bonuses.

The proposal would provide a comprehensive package of health care benefits, including medical, dental, vision and prescription drug coverage. It would also provide for preventive care and wellness programs.

"The time is ripe for a universal health care program," said Fleming. "We must end medical neglect and make health care a basic right for all Americans."

The proposal has been endorsed by a number of national organizations, including the American Medical Association, the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Federation of Independent Business.
Coast Guard to hold safety course

- The Crab Orchard Lake Flotilla of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, will be presenting "Skipper Outboard Special," a boating laws and safety course Wednesday at the Gateway Marina, and Thursday at the Playport Marina at Crab Orchard Lake. Both demonstrations are to start at 8:30 p.m.

In addition, WSIU-TV, Channel 1 at Carbondale and Channel 16 at OEB will present a special 30-minute boating safety program, which includes the Crab Orchard Lake Flotilla at 11 a.m., Friday, July 1.

The demonstrations are a part of National Safe Boating Week which President Ford proclaimed for July through July 15.

William E. Eaten, Crab Orchard Lake Flotilla Commander, said the purpose of safe boating week is to "keep millions of boaters safety-conscious throughout the year."

In case you can't make it out to the marinas for the demonstrations, here are some simple rules you should know about safe boating.

There should be a life preserver or location device for everyone on board, as well as proper navigational lights, fire extinguishers and a horn. Other necessary items are extra fuel, anchor, line, fenders, flashlight and distress flares.

Boats can be overloaded. Check the boat's weight capacity and never exceed it. If a boat capsize, or swamp, don't attempt to swim it—stay with the boat; the shore is probably further than it looks.

Remain ashore when small craft warnings are posted. But head for the nearest sheltered shore if caught on the water in a storm. Reduce speed and instruct passengers to sit in the lowest part of the boat's centerline. And keep the boat headed into the wind as much as possible.

Every boater should know the rules of the road on the waterways. The rules are to insure safe, enjoyable boating. To help insure that safety, the Coast Guard Auxiliary is offering free courtesy motorboat examinations. For information, call 457-6473 or 457-3502.

Effects of military move termed 'insignificant'

WASHINGTON (AP) - An Air Force study has concluded that "so-called socio-economic effects would be insignificant" in the Kansas City area if headquarters of its communications service moves from Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base, Mo., to Scott Air Force Base, Ill.

As a draft impact statement filed with the Council on Environmental Quality also said that "slightly greater effects would occur in Belton and Grandview, Mo., adjacent to Richards Gebaur, particularly on home sales and rental vacancy rates, school enrollment and church membership.

As for the area near Scott Air Force Base, the statement said air pollution in St. Clair County will increase but will not result in a violation of national air standards. "Compared to the current situation, housing demands will increase, causing greater driving times and per capita fuel consumption," the statement said. "However, personnel should not have to live outside of the acceptable one hour commuting time."

Local interests have been fighting the proposed move of the communications service headquarters and some other activities to Scott, an action that the Air Force said would result in a total military and civilian employee reduction of about 3,900.

The Air Force claims that it would save about $284 million a year after one-time costs of nearly $41 million in completing the proposed move.

The BEERGARDEN is coming!
Schedule conflicts change cager's slate

By Scott Burnside

Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

Saluki basketball fans are going to be a little baffled at next season's schedule, especially the home portion of it.

Teams scheduled into the Arena vary from the traditionally-tough Missouri Valley schools to virtual unknowns such as the new Polytechnic State and Benedicine College.

During an early four game home stand, which starts Nov. 29 and ends Dec. 8, SIU meets teams like William Jewell, University of Missouri-Kansas City, Northeast Oklahoma State, and Millikin University.

Before fans start tearing up their marquees, there's a good reason for this influx of smaller schools on the SIU schedule.

Actually, according to head coach Paul Lambert, there are two or three good reasons for this year's scheduling.

Lambert said the major scheduling problem was the inclusion of Indiana State and Creighton University into the Valley conference.

According to Lambert, the Valley asked the schools to freeze their schedules early in the year. This freeze was put on, Lambert said, in order that the Valley schools could try and schedule the new teams.

Unfortunately SIU and several of the Valley teams couldn't work out a schedule.

"The big problem was getting schedules to come together, not the Valley getting the two teams coming in, but with the other teams in the league," Lambert said.

"We feel scheduling was going to happen until May so we could have a pretty good idea of who the two schools, but it didn't work out."

To further compound Southern's dilemma, Lambert said that sports promoters and others at Roberts University dropped their expectations of meeting their teams due to financial troubles which opened up two other dates.

In addition, the Salukis won't be playing Lamont, University of Arkansas in 1977.

Lambert said since Louisville is in a new league, it had their scheduling bug-a-boo. However, in two years both schools will be playing each other again.

With the addition of these new, but smaller schools on the schedule, Lambert still doesn't think Saluki fans will be forced to watch boring basketball games this winter.

"William Jewell (Lambert's old college alma mater) has made it through the district playoffs for the past two years. The University of Missouri-Kansas City is in the same stage that SIU was in ten years ago, and Benedicine against Missouri State last year was only 8 or 9 points late in the game," Lambert pointed out.

In addition, Lambert said the Valley will begin a more stable state of order and quality rate. He said Valley schedules will be established three years in advance, instead of one, and then no further plans for expansion in the works.

Several of the Valley teams achieved national recognition last year, but conference officials have taken steps to rectify the situation.

At the last conference meeting, a commission was set up to publish a college league and it's teams. Lambert was put on the committee with three athletic directors and Bob Ortegal, Drake's head basketball coach.

According to Lambert there has been no plans this year to change the conference title next season. Lambert said he thought the conference title next season will be like the previous year's.

"I think we've got a good shot as anybody in the league," Lambert said.

"I think they are no more than a year and a half away and if we look at all the games decided by only one or two points we can see what the league will be like this year."

Lambert said that Southern finished second in the league with a 9-4 mark in its first year of conference play. Overall the Salukis were 16-16.

This year Lambert feels the team will even stronger. Especially, with the signing of some key high school players.

The biggest key, no matter how you look at it, was the successful signing of transfer Bill 220 at 6'3" to enter Al Gates, a junior in clothing and textiles, plays for fbr the skiing team, and Klein, a senior in history, is a member of the Dismounts. (Staff photo by Gary D. Littlefield)

U.S. wrestlers face stiff test

BROCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Olympic freestyle wrestling team for the Montreal Games has three Olympic veterans, two of them medalists, as members. But its medal prospects aren't as sound as they were four years ago.

"We don't have a Dan Gable or a Wayne Wells that's a sure medal winner," said Coach Wayne Baughman, a U.S. Olympic wrestler in 1964-68-72.

The 1972 team had three medalists-the late Richard Sanders, Ben Peterson and his brother, John-and the Petersons will try again at Montreal.

But Ben, a gold medalist at 196, and John, a silver winner at 186.5, are expected to have more difficulty this year because they are older and because their styles are better known than they were four years ago.

The U.S. men's wrestling team is also expected to have more difficulty because we have a lot of potential gold medal winners. But it will take the athlete's wrestling to maximum potential and some breaks such as the draw and officiating.

At 220 will be Russ Hellickson of Cottage Grove, Wis., a Pan American Games gold medal winner in 1971-75. "I would think he is one of our best medal contenders," said Baughman. "He has strength, experience and maturity."

He will have opposition from the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, and so will have opposition from the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, and so will have opposition at top men in this weight class.

Ben Peterson of Comstock, Wis., also a Pan American gold medalist will wrestle at 198, a class which has Russian and East German competitors.

Another strong American gold medalist Ben is a tremendous scramble wrestler," said Baughman. "He can wrestle longer and harder than anyone since Dan Gable or brother John.

At 177, there is a superior conditioned athlete, said Baughman. "He can wrestle longer and harder than anyone since Dan Gable or brother John."

"His experience is involved in wrestling year round as coach of Athletes in Action. He is more aggressive than Ben."

The U.S. representative at 163, the class in which Wells won his 1972 gold, will be Stan Dziadzic, a former national collegiate champion at Slippery-Rock State. Dziadzic, now an assistant coach at Michigan State, is a man Baughman considers "strategically, the soundest wrestler on the team."

Gotcha! Faced with an opening day rainout, two 16-inch slow pitch teams in the women's coed intramural league battled it out in a fun game. Part of the fun was Shorterine Steinberg's tag of David Klein at second base.
