DOG DAYS AT SIU—The humid weather on campus Tuesday brought a hint of dog days to come, but they caught up early with this canine who plunked himself on the floor in Parkinson Laboratory and gazed appropriately at the assembled students.

Planning Termed Flexible

Continuing Construction at SIU Swings Between 'Finished,' 'Unfinished' Stages

By Richard Livert

"I think it's a good idea. They take 29 years to finish a building so when a visitor comes to campus he's impressed by how much construction is going on."

That is how one student described the effect of SIU's expansion program on the appearance of the campus. Unfinished libraries, half-completed student unions. Is it really planned that way?

Not really. The library, for instance, is "finished." It was finished in 1956 when the state appropriated enough money for a building with four floors; two to be completed and two to remain for future use.

The library was finished again in 1963 when the second and third floors were completed. But the "shell" of four additional floors were added on for future use, so the building again became "unfinished."

In 1966 the University requested funds for the completion of those floors, after which the building will really be finished. That is, unless the student body expands to such a size that more library space is required, during the construction of which, the building will once again be "unfinished."

The library, which was planned and built in three stages, is typical of many structures that are built on the "shell principle." Using this principle, a building may be planned with three floors to be completed at the time of construction, and the shell of four additional floors to be completed at a later date.

This saves time, because the new floors will not have to be built, just finished; and it saves money, making renovation of the new floors unnecessary since the interior will be new rather than obsolete when it is put into use.

The shell principle adds flexibility to the planning of the University. SIU has been following a University Master Plan for about 20 years.

The plan, which is projected through 1980, is described by Rino Bianchi, assistant to the vice president for business affairs, as a "soft-plan." Priorities can often change in a hurry, so any long-range plans must be flexible.

The renovation of Shryock Auditorium, for instance, had been in the budget request for about four years. As the budget request stated it: "The 50 years of continuous use have taken their toll."

Yet the Physical Science Building is almost completed before the work on Shryock is even started. Why? The facilities at Parkinson Laboratory had become obsolete, that the department "... stood in danger of losing its accreditation if something wasn't done about it," according to Bianchi.

For most people, there's usually not enough money to go around. The University has the same problem.

In the budget request for the biennium beginning July 1, 1967, the University asked for appropriations for a Humanities and Social Studies Building, a General Classroom and Office Building, a Clinical and Health Center Building, a Natural Resources Building, a Fine Arts Building and a Student Services Building. Of these, only the Humanities and Social Studies Building has been approved, Bianchi said.

Naturally as the situation changes the placement of items on the priority list changes. Now the library is considered, "... a top priority capital request for the 1967-69 biennium." The others will just have to wait.

Those improvements that are approved come from a list that is submitted by the

Senate Expected To Discuss Date Of SIU Election

A date for the spring quarter student government elections has not yet been set, but the question is expected to be discussed by the Campus Senate at its first meeting this quarter, tentatively scheduled for April 5.

The terms of student government president Bob Drinan and Vice president, Ann Bosworth will expire at the end of this quarter. Out of a total of 31 senators 16 are to be elected in the spring, in addition to any possible vacancies.

The setting of election dates has posed problems in the past, according to student government members.

One of the problems has been the lame duck Senate created by the long period of time between the annual election and the time that the elected officers took over.

The beginning of the new term of officers is the first day of the summer quarter. If the elections are held too early, the period the newly elected senators must wait before taking office is too long.

Registration Dates Given for Beard Growing Contest

SIU men may now have an excuse for missing their morning shaves. They can let their beards grow and enter them in the Steagall Hall Beard Growing contest.

Entrants may register on April 3 and 4 in Lentz Hall or the University Center. The registration fee is 75 cents. Judging will be May 6.

Beards entered in the contest may be of three types, according to Gail Fisher of Steagall Hall. Entries may be of the Van Dyke, Lincoln or full beard style.

The first prize in each category will be five dollars.

Book Wins Award

A book published by the SIU Press has won for its author the 1966 Terrestrial Wildlife Publications Award of The Wildlife Society. Harold C. Hanson, a wildlife specialist with the Illinois Natural History Survey, accepted the award for his book, "The Giant Canada Goose," at a meeting of the Wildlife Society March 13 in San Francisco. It was held in conjunction with the 32nd North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference.

Two years ago the elections were held in June but the conflict with final examination week required that they be moved back.

This year elections are planned for sometime during the middle of May, possibly around the second Tuesday. This would give the new officers a short wait for their office and eliminate the confusion entailed in the transfer of offices, by a smooth turnover and no lame duck Senate.

Agriculture School Sets Guest Day

Opportunities in agriculture will highlight activities at the annual High School Guest Day of the School of Agriculture April 8.

Students, sponsors, and parents can learn about a wide variety of career opportunities, tour departmental facilities in the School, and see the campus.

Registration will be from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. in the Agriculture Building foyer.

Following programs, tours, and a barbecue luncheon, a one-year tuition scholarship will be presented to the top applicant at a concluding general session in Muckelroy Auditorium.

The School of Home Economics will observe its annual guest day the same day to allow high schools to arrange joint transportation for the visiting groups.

Gus Bode

Gus, hitting the books early this quarter, fractured his left big toe on one when he tip-toed in at 3:30 a.m. today.

University Architect to Review Overpass Plans With Builder

John Lonergan, associate University architect, will meet with officials of the Simons Construction Co. in Chicago Friday to review structural drawings for the Illinois Central overpass project.

The overpass, to be constructed over U.S. 51 and the Illinois Central railroad tracks near University Park, was originally scheduled to be completed last summer. Construction was delayed until now.

The company, which is also constructing Brush Towers dormitories, was given the go-ahead on the project Jan. 27.

The only work that has been done on the project so far has been surveying work, Lonergan said.

The $120,000 structure will be 25.5 feet at its highest point. It will be 850 feet long and 18 feet wide.

"I will not know until I return from my meeting with the company when the actual construction will begin," Lonergan said.

May 15 Deadline Set for Entering Scripts in Contest

The deadline for submitting scripts for competition in the annual Southern Players One-Act Playwriting Contest is May 15, according to Christian H. Moe, associate professor of theater.

Entries will be judged by a panel of two SIU faculty members and one student representing the Southern Players.

Writers of the first and second prize entries will receive cash awards of $25 and $15.

The first-prize script will be presented in the Southern Players Original First-Nighters program. The second place play will be considered by the Southern Players for production in the same program.

Moe said all playscripts should be submitted to the Southern Players Play Contest, in care of the Department of Theater. He also said questions concerning entry requirements should be directed to the department.

The 1966 first place winner was "Everything's George," by Louis Catron. The second place winner was "Strife Within Thy House" by Susanne Nelson.

University Begins Demolition Of 25 Buildings Near Campus

Demolition of 25 structures owned by the University near the campus has begun, according to Neal Spillman, assistant purchasing agent.

The buildings, most of them

Only one temporary barracks near the Communications Building is among the structures to be razed, Spillman said.

The company in charge of the razing is W.G. Wheatly of Carbondale, whose bid on the project was accepted last quarter.

DISSENT OVER VIETNAM

President Johnson has said that the war in Vietnam is a test of endurance; and at least at home, his war is being won in these terms. Two years of persistent escalation and innumerable have left his critics frustrated and despairing. They have told the President that the war is immoral and irrational, but the response has been hostile indifference. Their final arguments have been offered in vain; and no new course of action seems open but bitter acquiescence and silence—the total victory the President envisions in his battle for consensus.

We feel that dissent also must endure. We maintain that the war is immoral and irrational, and that no man who believes that it is should allow himself to be silenced. Dissent must persist, just as Johnson has, because it is based on moral and rational grounds that outweigh the professed goals for which the President makes war. KA has agreed to give us weekly space in which to offer our views, and we invite other interested members of the university to join us in putting together our weekly article.

The U. S. as Self-Appointed International Policeman

by Lon R. Shelby

Associate Professor of History

Of the many unexpected and ironic twists and turns which the war in Vietnam has taken, perhaps the most disheartening is the recognition by friends and foes alike that the United States is one of the most belligerent and peace-disturbing nations on earth. In the light of post-World War II international relations, what could be more ironic than the recent melodramatic scene in London, with the British Prime Minister scurrying to a midnight rendezvous with the Soviet Premier, in the desperate hope that the two of them might patch up the differences between Lyndon Baines Johnson and Ho Chi Minh, and thereby bring to an end an absurd war between the most powerful nation that has ever existed and a tiny nation that came into existence less than fifteen years ago?

It is an immensely tangled web of assumptions, actions, and errors which has produced the seemingly insoluble dilemma of a military-industrial giant squared-off against an utterly outsized foe in the jungles of Vietnam—a war that cannot but appear ludicrous even when it is shot through with so much tragedy. But I wish to discuss only one of the strands in this skein—the publicly-asserted proposition by President Johnson that our government is willing to step into the affairs of any nation on earth to prevent a communist take-over of its government.

On what grounds, one might ask, does the President claim the right of unilateral policing of the affairs of other countries? Whatever may be the public answer, it appears that his position is fundamentally based on two assumptions: 1) that the U.S. government is on the side of good, and that communists are on the side of evil; therefore a communist take-over in a foreign country (or any kind of social revolution in it that might lead to a communist take-over) is to be opposed for the good of that nation; 2) that a communist regime is by definition the enemy of the U.S. government and a threat to its security; therefore a communist insurrection in a foreign country (or any kind of social revolution that leans towards the left) is to be put down with the assistance of the U.S. government, for the good of this nation.

The majority of Americans have implicitly believed in the first assumption, and have willingly allowed billions of dollars to be spent in foreign aid to and in military support of anti-communist or anti-revolutionary regimes, in the conviction that if the U.S. government is for it, it has got to be good. Other governments and peoples have long recognized the hypocrisy and cant that is often involved in American military and economic support, but only recently have many Americans begun to doubt the self-righteous posture which the U.S. often takes in its foreign policy.

This is another irony of Vietnam—that the contrast between our deeds and our purported intentions is so gross that even our own people can see the inconsistencies, fallacies, and sometimes sheer viciousness of the rationale for what we are doing in that helpless country.

To be sure, the polls show that there is bewilderment and unrest because of our government's inability to win or even to end the war; but surely much of the uneasiness arises out of the growing suspicion that we are involved in an unholy war, in which we are as guilty as the enemy for the senseless slaughter and destruction that are taking place. If the war brings about a critical examination of the assumption that the U.S. has some inherent right to go around setting everybody else's house in order, it will have served some good purpose, although at a too great a cost.

Yet it is doubtful that even the debacle in Vietnam, however it comes to an end, will seriously undermine the acceptance of the second assumption that a communist or left-wing revolution anywhere in the world constitutes a threat to the security of the U.S. government. This morbid fear for national security continues to feed on the old propaganda of the Cold War and on whatever new propaganda is necessary to keep the taxpayers in a state of unknowing fear, lest the vast wealth of this country be turned from the production of guns, bombs, and missiles to more peaceful projects of social rehabilitation.

So strong is the grip of this mentality on the American people that another ironic twist from the war may be in the making: faced with the cant of do-goodism, but unable to revamp our military and economic commitment to anti-communism, we may be led to espouse blatant militarism with no pious platitudes or altruistic assertions thrown in to cover it up.

Is this hardening of the military suggested in President Johnson's recent remark? "I think that the American people should know that this (the war in Vietnam) is a question between their President, their country, their troops and Mr. Ho Chi Minh and the troops that he is sending in from the north. Everyone can take whatever side of the matter he wants to."

Free Education for Inmates Draws Reader's Criticism

Boys and girls, moms and dads, are you as tired as I? Tired of pinching pennies, working, denying yourself and struggling for that College Degree?

Well for you, boys, there's a brighter hope which maybe you were unaware of. Is the Draft Board breathing down your neck? Why, fellas, don't be a fool any longer. Don't you know that, practically on your very own campus, SIU has a very fine affiliate? So elite and up-lifting, such a very fine association for SIU's professors. For it is these very professors who teach and lecture on the SIU campus who are the very same ones who give the very same lectures and courses at this affiliate and for the very same degrees. Ever hear of "Menard (University)"?

Except, and get this fellas, it is all FREE. Tuition free, room and board free, clothing free. Why you don't even have to buy a razor because you even get your shaves and hair-cuts free. There you've saved between 5 or 6 bucks already!

The food is the best the state of Illinois can buy and portions so large that one can't even eat it all. Much better than at the Mental Hospital. It had better be because riots are very effectual and reap great rewards.

The rooms are rather small, but tidy and clean—even your own individual plumbing—and it is quiet so you can study.

You don't have to support the local Haberdashery or worry about the latest fashions—you are given warm, well-made clothing—maybe not fashionable, but practical, and you don't have to worry about Joe being better dressed. If your tailoring does not suit you, all you have to do is tear it up and turn in for a new one.

And the Draft Board won't bother you there either. You can finish your education without that worry.

There, when you're ready, you can graduate with an SIU diploma. Perhaps you have been a first class newspaperman, or an artist while you were "going" to school at Menard. Well, you may now become a Hero with a Medal for "Good Behavior and Good Conduct" and twice off for this reason. Does Uncle Sam give twice off for them? You may become a radio, TV or newspaper celebrity. They'll probably be at the gate to greet you. Remember Mr. Hodges?

And you will have a priority for jobs, with lots of help from your alma mater, because once you were a poor, misfortunate, misguided lad, but now, here you are—Rejuvenated, Rehabilitated, Reborn—starting out new with strings from your alma mater pulling for you to further your Rehabilitation.

Gals, maybe your future mate will be graduating too. Maybe he is that blond one there with the pale purple manners and grace. At this SIU affiliate he has perhaps learned a whole new way of life. So check with the IBM's for your mate here. At any rate you're doing a fine job helping to educate the Menard boys.

So between us: mom, pop, girls and boys, with the help of the state of Illinois, we'll have some fine future citizens whom we're educating.

Much cleaner and safer than Vietnam, too, fellas, and I'll bet, before long, the Menard boys will be getting weekend passes and nights out for good behavior. But if you decide to change schools, don't do like some of the Menard pros. Don't go back for more, because you can't get your Doctorate degree there yet, maybe next year you can! Some of those fellas just get tired of being rehabilitated or working for an honest living and go back to Mother Menard for you and me and the good old state of Illinois to support some more.

Name withheld by request.

we fight because we are 'our brother's keeper'

In reply to "The Draft and Freedom Fighting" by C. B. as published in the March 8 edition of the Daily Egyptian, I have read no better admission to gutless draft dodging in any article of magazine or newspaper.

C.B. calls himself a conscientious objector, yet says nothing of religion; he never mentions God. Instead his reason for being a conscientious objector, he states, is because "the war in Vietnam is unjust, illegal, and as with all wars, immoral." This, Mr. C.B., is nothing but the same old line used as a front for the greatest coward in the history of the United States and by far the most shameful—the draft dodger.

You're right. The war we're fighting in Vietnam is unjust, illegal, and immoral; this is what we are fighting. The injustice of Communism, the legality of Vietnam rights, the immoralities of a people to die by machine gun fire and bombs. We're fighting for ourselves to arrest the spread of communism. We're fighting to gain freedom for all mankind, to give people the right to govern themselves; we're fighting because we are

"our brother's keeper." But if we give up, if we fail by pulling out or by defeat, then we'll fight this bloody war on the green grass of America.

American soldiers who died in all previous wars died for this same cause; their lives had a purpose. If these soldiers could be brought back to life, if they could see some gutless draft dodger burn his draft card, I have little doubt but what these same men would fight and die all over again. These soldiers would die a second death for a country too great to let fall by cowards.

So perhaps while you're reading this, a soldier in Vietnam is dying for this same cause—so that you, mister, can sleep on clean white sheets tonight, that you can wash those soft white hands in warm water, that you can get a higher education, that you can still laugh and that you can live. So the man in Vietnam dies in a muddy swamp with bullets ripping his insides, but he dies with the satisfaction that at least he died a free man fighting to free a nation and fighting to keep one free—even for guys like you.

KA And Its Critics

I have followed with a touch of interest a few letters that have been highly critical of KA. These letters charged that only a select few contribute to KA. Being an avid fan of KA, I decided to check the last four issues of KA during the break and send my findings to you.

I found that the allegations of critic Cosme—that you have a few special writers—are completely false. I wonder if these falsehoods are known to Cosme and he is trying to put us on or if he is just ill-informed.

In the last four issues of KA there was a total of 38 articles. They were submitted by 31 different people. So Mr. Cosme is absolutely incorrect.

One of the Editors of KA also told me of a complaint

he had from a student senator—Sam Baker of University Park. Mr. Baker agreed with Cosme generally but asserted that the students at University Park were generally down on KA, one of the reasons being that KA hardly ever printed anything about campus affairs. While I doubt that Mr. Baker's representation of student opinion is correct, I have no way of proving it here. Upon checking the last four issues of KA again, I found that 20 of the 38 articles concerned campus activities.

It would seem to me that KA need not defend itself against inaccurate accusations. A mere presentation of facts would suffice.

G.P.

REP. L. MENDEL RIVERS, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said recently, "If college demonstrations against the draft continue, college deferments may become a thing of the past. This is fair warning to every college student." To which KA replies, "If such inanities continue to spew forth from the halls of Congress, Congressional deferments may become a thing of the past. This is fair warning to every Congressman."

'SO, THAT'S WHAT YOU CALL YOUR BOOK, HUH?'

CRITICISM OF A CRITIC

With amusement and occasional nausea I read last quarter an article by one Richard Cosme. Because of the content of the article I felt that it deserved a reply. With humility then, I would like to offer the following observations.

Mr. Cosme's article concerns another article—by a Mr. Atwood — which he thoroughly castigates. Mr. Cosme begins by telling us all that he would not and could not consider the ideas presented in Atwood's article because of the style of writing employed. Cosme then goes on to consider those ideas.

First Mr. Cosme uses a personal attack on Atwood, with a fair sample of name calling. Cosme charges that Atwood has a "truly remarkable ego" (sounds like the new Chesterfield ad). The method Cosme uses makes the saying "turn about is fair play" appear valid. Cosme vaults up his own ego ladder and says that it is absurd that Atwood could even address Mr. Cosme. After all Mr. Cosme tartly reminds Atwood, "I am a college senior."

Then Cosme condescendingly charges that Atwood used a condescending tone, and this makes Atwood's letter impossible to read (after he read it naturally).

Now comes the heart of Cosme's article and here I will depart from observations of methods and deal with the ideas that Cosme urges us to consider.

Cosme says "my reasons for entering SIU were to obtain a degree and in the process hopefully gain some knowledge." This immediately separates my goals from Cosme's. I came to SIU to gain some knowledge and hopefully obtain a degree. I actually believe that this is both the purpose and the goal of SIU.

Cosme then states that he has no complaints, that he relies solely upon himself to accomplish his goals, and equates pride in SIU with support and/or acquiescence with everything that the university does.

Such exclusiveness I not only find amazing but it seems to be contrary to the minimal level of understanding of groups, if groups are considered politically, economically, sociologically, or historically.

When one follows a leader, unquestioningly and without complaint, he deserves to be called a sheep. There are numerous examples in history of what happens when a group or a nation follows their leaders in this manner, a recent example being Germany.

It seems that Mr. Cosme is an example of what our present educational system is producing in an ever increasing quantity. He is the result of an increasing emphasis on conformity in our society, where individualism and differences are discouraged and the flag of consensus is flown high.

Mr. Cosme brilliantly illustrates this point by attacking Atwood's article. He does not criticize the content of the ideas. He criticizes the form used in presentation and the fact that they vary from Cosme's self established norms.

The SIU Machine:

Model No. GS1966-67

There are many various models of IBM Machines in every department at SIU, but to many students their conception of the SIU Machine resembles the shape of a giant pressure cooker in which some 18,000 students are boiled and simmered each quarter. The Machine is the hottest during the hours of eight to five, Monday through Friday; but it is kept simmering through the long hours of the night. By Friday afternoon, the Machine reaches the boiling point; the lid pops open and smoke and steam flow over the sides in search of an escape. During the weekend, however, the smoke is condensed, and the drip cleaned up and reluctantly strained back into the cooker. Sunday night the lid is bolted once more, and the heat is turned up again.

Unfortunately, only a few goodies at the top come out with any lasting flavor. The rest of the ingredients are usually charred or burned in many spots.

Egyptian Temple May Be Moved to Area

By Bob Allen

"Little Egypt" may be the site of a temple from ancient Egypt in the near future. Southern Illinois Incorporated has made formal application to the Department of State to obtain the 2,000-year-old sandstone Temple of Dendur for this area.

The temple is describes as a rectangular structure 50 feet long, 20 feet wide and about 30 feet high. The 633-ton structure is reportedly disassembled and ready for shipment to this country. It will then be rebuilt on its future site stone by stone.

President Lyndon B. Johnson, the government of the United Arab Republic and a panel of scholars will decide this April whether "Little Egypt" will be the future resting place, according to a wire

'Casino Night' Slated April 1

A touch of Las Vegas will be seen during Casino Night from 8 until 11:30 p.m., Saturday, April 1, in the University Center Ballrooms.

Dice games, blackjack, roulette, Las Vegas solitaire, and bingo will be played with the paper casino money furnished to the "gamblers" at the door, according to Ronald W. Lasch, in charge of the arrangements.

Live entertainment and soft drinks will be provided. The affair will be sponsored by the Recreation Committee of the Activities Programming Board.

service story from Washington, D.C.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and U.S. Rep. Kenneth J. Gray are among those attempting to have the temple relocated in this area.

The whole idea started when the government of the U.A.R. offered to donate the Temple of Dendur, which stood about 50 miles from Aswan, to the United States. This was done in appreciation of the U.S. donations to rescue a number of major ancient landmarks from the rising waters of the Nile River created by the Aswan Dam project.

Mrs. William T. Frazier of West Frankfort wrote to various government officials in order to procure the edifice for this area. Southern Illinois Inc. then began to help her in her effort.

In order to conform to "The Guidelines for Making Application for the Temple of Dendur" issued by a special advisory committee to the President, certain conditions must be met. These include furnishing the transportation expenses, a suitable site "available to scholars," advantages to the public, and conditions for the preservation of the temple. According to Hughes, all these requirements can be met.

Hughes said in a letter to Sen. Percy that the transportation expenses, estimated to be at least $150,000, can be raised. He also said that SIU would have much to offer.

He pointed out that the facilities of the university could be implemented to furnish a temperature and humidity controlled environment to protect it inside an exhibit hall. This would have to be done because the humid climate in Southern Illinois would be harmful to the desert sandstone structure.

He added that Southern Illinois is located near the center of the nation's population.

Hughes stated further that this site would be an advantage to the general public due to the existing tourist attractions such as the state parks, national forests and historic and scenic places.

John B. Gardner, special assistant to the chairman of National Endowment of the Humanities in Washington, offered the services of his organization in the attempt to procure the large geodesic domed structure housing the United States exhibit at Expo 67 to house the temple. Expo 67 is opening in Montreal this April. The geodesic dome was designed by SIU's R. Buckminster Fuller, internationally known research professor in design.

Gardner lauded the idea of using a building of the most modern design known to house one of the oldest structures in the world.

Occupancy was completed with the move of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences offices from Mill Street. Other offices in the building include the Departments of Sociology and Government, the Public Affairs Research Bureau, Small Business Institute and all units of the School of Business except the Business Research Bureau.

Other completed moves, dictated by construction plans and removal of temporary houses from the campus:

Business Affairs - Purchasing, payroll, disbursements, university graphics and the offices of service and fiscal division executives to the Park Place dormitories, 611 E. Park. Accounting, the auditor's offices and research and projects fiscal management will move in later.

Center For The Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections-From Mill St. to the College Square dormitories, 500 block S. Graham.

Rino Bianchi, administrative assistant to business affairs vice president John Rendleman, said various offices in student affairs will be moved within five or six weeks to the Washington Square dormitories at 701 S. Washington. They are housing counseling and testing, student work and financial assistance, and the student affairs administration.

He said the surplus property office will be moved within a month from the Home Economics Building to the Good Luck Glove plant on S. Washington. Printing service and textbook storage will go into the same building later in the spring.

The graduate school, Plan A house, research and projects headquarters and two English department annexes will remain on Mill St., for the time being, Bianchi said.

Arrest of Area Men Results In Drug Investigation Here

The arrest of two southern Illinois men March 11 and seizure of $3,000 in drugs have led officials of the Illinois Division of Narcotic Control to believe the drugs may have been headed for southern Illinois, Capt. Carl Kirk of the Security Office said Tuesday.

Kirk received word of the arrest from Charles Moore of the Division of Narcotic Control. Possible connection with the presence of marijuana and LSD in the Carbondale area and the arrested men is being investigated, Moore said.

Arrested were James P. Kennedy, 22, a native of Oklahoma who had lived in the Carbondale area, Charles Prickette, 23, of De Soto. Kirk said the two were not SIU students.

The type of drugs confiscated by the state has not been announced, Kirk said.

U THANT
...U.S. Accepts His Proposal

Ky Has Own Ideas

Thant's Proposal Accepted

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant unveiled a new Vietnam peace proposal Tuesday. The United States quickly accepted it but President Johnson said he has "learned regretfully" of an apparent turnaround by Hanoi.

Although Thant said he had received no "categorical rejection" of his plan, Washington strategists reported no signs that the North Vietnamese are moving any closer to the conference table.

Johnson nonetheless praised Thant's "constructive and positive" effort and declared "this nation will continue to persist" in a search for peace.

Thant, at a United Nations news conference in New York, disclosed he had communicated his proposals to the governments involved on March 14 following his return from a Burma visit during which he met with North Vietnamese representatives.

He called for 1, a general stand-still truce, 2, preliminary talks, 3, reconvening of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina's peace and independence.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky offered his own three-part peace plan and said negotiations should be limited to Saigon and Hanoi.

"Too many points of view and proposals are confusing things," the premier told newsmen who accompanied him in his private plane on a flight to the northern border.

"We are always hearing that the United States is starting talks with Moscow, or Hanoi, or somebody. Why? Why don't they stay in the background and let us deal with Hanoi and negotiate when the time is right?"

Thant's new plan was modified from his earlier Vietnam peace proposal which had listed a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam as the first step. U.S. officials welcomed his later version as providing for a reciprocal military halt by both sides, both in North and South Vietnam, as the opening step.

The American reaction to the U.N. leader's proposition, on the other hand, was immediately favorable. The State Department reported that on March 15, one day after receiving Thant's communication, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg gave Thant "an interim reply" foreshadowing U.S. acceptance.

The full U.S. reply went to Thant on March 18 and was discussed by Johnson on Tuesday during a toast to the visiting Afghan Prime Minister, Mahammad Hasim Mawlawal, and by Secretary of State Dean Rusk at a specially called news conference.

House May Get Another Chance At Powell Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although a preliminary federal court hearing in the Adam Clayton Powell case is scheduled for next Tuesday, the House seems likely to get another chance to resolve the matter before any court rulings are issued.

Whether it will actually be able to do so is clouded by the legal and parliamentary complications about which many members warned before the House voted on March 1 to exclude the Harlem Democrat.

Tuesday's hearing before U.S. Dist. Judge George L. Hart Jr. is to consider motions by Powell's attorney in Powell's suit for a court order directing the House to seat him and asking that a three-judge federal court be convened to hear constitutional arguments.

But Bruce Bromley, the former New York judge hired by the House as its lawyer, plans to move for dismissal of Powell's suit on grounds that the court has no jurisdiction over an action by a house of Congress.

This motion would have to be decided by Judge Hart before he considers the two motions by Powell's attorneys. If Hart rejects it and says the court has jurisdiction, he faces the possibility of an effort by aroused House members to state by resolution that the court has no such jurisdiction.

What is more likely to happen, sources said, is that the judge will take the matter under advisement, thus delaying any ruling on the jurisdictional question until after a special election in Powell's district set for April 11 and any subsequent House action.

Manchesters Book

Mrs. Kennedy Had Hoped Killer Did Not Act Alone

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy sought solace in the hope that her husband had been the victim of a conspiracy when he was assassinated in Dallas, William Manchester says in his book, "The Death of a President."

"She considered Lee Harvey Oswald and hoped he had been part of a conspiracy," the book says, "for then there would be air of inevitability about the tragedy; then she could persuade herself that if the plotters had missed on Elm Street they would have eventually succeeded elsewhere."

This is Manchester's statement. The passage does not quote Mrs. Kennedy in support of it.

The Warren Commission concluded that Oswald, acting alone, killed Kennedy, Friday, Nov. 22, 1963.

Manchester's book, priced at $10, goes on sale Friday. The publishers, Harper & Row, said the first printing ran to 600,000 copies. They declined to specify the advance sale. The 35,000-word text fills 647 pages, plus charts, diagrams, and a list of sources.

Literary agents estimate the book may earn close to $3 million.

A gigantic publicity buildup, probably the biggest in literary history, preceded publication of the book. It stemmed largely from the long-drawn dispute between the Kennedys and Manchester after he finished his manuscript and the contents became known.

Mrs. Kennedy called the book "tasteless and distorted." She demanded—and obtained—revisions and deletions of certain passages. Manchester retorted that her motivations were political and an "attempt to suppress vital facts."

As a result of the row, the Kennedys have disavowed the book, although they had selected Manchester to write a "definitive" history of the assassination.

British Planes Bomb Tanker

LAND'S END, England (AP) — British warplanes blasted the shattered supertanker Torrey Canyon on Tuesday with tons of high explosives and then rained incendiary bombs on the ship in an effort to burn her leaking cargo of crude oil from the sea.

The first strikes, by eight Royal Navy Buccaneer bombers, sent smoke and flames flaring up to 8,000 feet above the wrecked ship, which ran aground on the Seven Stones reef March 18 and broke into three parts Sunday night while Dutch tugs were trying to pull her free.

Behind the bomber strike, 20 Hawker Hunter fighter-bombers dropped tank loads of gasoline and potassium chlorate incendiaries.

Home Secretary Roy Jenkins told a news conference in London the planes would continue to pour down incendiaries throughout the night and Wednesday in an effort to keep the oil burning.

At one point, two hours after the initial attack, the flames died down and the fire appeared out. But another attack by air set the smoky fire going again.

Jenkins said the surface oil was burning well at the time of the news conference, but he was not sure how the fire inside the ship was going.

29 Turned Down At Speck Trial

PEORIA, (AP) — Twenty-nine persons were shuffled in and out of the courtroom Tuesday in the Richard Speck murder trial but efforts to find the final four jurors were stymied by the pre-fixed opinion of the veniremen.

One man and one woman were picked from the 29 as tentative jurors. They replaced a man and a woman chosen Monday, but excused Tuesday because of illness. A high school teacher selected Monday also remained as a possible member of the third jury panel.

More than 20 of the prospects questioned Tuesday were excused by Judge Herbert C. Paschen after they admitted they had firm opinions that the 25-year-old defendant is guilty of the charges, murdering eight student nurses in Chicago.

Pope Paul Lends Support To Birth Control Education

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI gave the support of the Roman Catholic Church on Tuesday to civic birth control education to check the population explosion so long as this education does not violate "moral law."

The papal statement, in an 8,000-word encyclical on social and economic problems, did not relax the Church's long-standing ban on artificial birth control.

"The temptation is great to check the demographic population increase by radical measures," the Pope said.

"Public authorities can intervene, within the limit of their competence, by favoring the availability of appropriate information and adopting suitable measures."

Any governmental measures on birth control, the Pope said, must "be in conformity with the moral law" and "respect the rightful freedom of married couples."

The encyclical's wording was regarded as the strongest statement by any Pope on the question of birth control outside the Church's own realm.

Vatican experts said the new approach toward family planning would likely end organized resistance by Catholics in some nations to birth control legislation.

Some sources said it might even permit Catholics to accept laws that would permit distribution of contraceptive pills in welfare and public aid programs.

Moral law is defined by Webster's International Dictionary as a specific or general rule of right living, especially such a rule when conceived as having the sanction of God's will, of conscience or the moral nature, or of natural justice as revealed to reason.

Job Corp Helping 70% of Applicants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Statistics of the Job Corps showed Tuesday it has a 70 per cent efficiency rating on its job getting school dropouts off the dole.

The figures: As of the end of February, 64,878 young men and women had been in the Job Corps for varying lengths of time, some only for a week or so, since it began in January 1965.

Of the total, 45,415, or some 70 per cent, were doing something. Some 76 per cent of these had a job, 14 per cent had returned to school and 10 per cent had joined the military service.

Some 33,000 new are enrolled in 115 Job Corps centers. They are 16 to 22 years of age, are free to leave when they wish but may stay as long as two years. Most of them finish a skill training program in about nine months.

Behind the statistics there are individuals with success stories and there are disappointments, boys who expect a job at $2.50 an hour and had to settle for $1.25. There are some who haven't found a job.

"We're making a concerted effort, every effort to place them," Job Corps Director William Kelly said in an interview.

Seek Shelter

Leaflet Gives Safety Rules For Escaping Tornadoes

Safety rules designed to save lives in tornadoes have been prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau and distributed on campus.

According to the instructional leaflet, a person's immediate action may mean the difference between life and death. Shelter should be found.

In cities or towns, persons are advised to seek inside shelter such as a cellar, excavation or concrete building, and to stay away from windows. If one is in a house, the corner of a basement or the center of a room offer the greatest protection. A window should be left open.

In schools, avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large poorly supported roofs, the leaflet advises. The best protection is in a storm cellar or the interior hallway on the lowest floor.

In open country, the publication continues, move at a right angle to the tornado's path. If there is not enough time, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

Radio and television stations will broadcast tornado information and persons are asked to call the Weather Bureau only to report a tornado.

Tornadoes are dangerous, violent winds which uproot trees, destroy buildings, and if safety rules are not followed may cause death. Wind speeds of more than 300 miles per hour within the tornado have been recorded. They usually travel 25-40 m.p.h. in a westerly direction, the leaflet pointed out.

Tornado "weather" is usually hot and sticky, and thunderstorm clouds are present; an hour before a tornado, clouds bulging down instead of up can be seen, the leaflet stated. They often have a greenish-black color.

Any place in the United States at any time of the year may have tornadoes.

Building at SIU Goes On and On

Building and Grounds Committee. The committee, headed by William J. McKeefery, Dean of Academic Affairs, is made up of 12 staff and faculty members.

The purpose of this committee is to act as a liaison between the administration and the University community and to "feel out faculty sentiment" on questions concerning the expansion program.

The group, according to McKeefery, has a "pool of possibilities" from which to choose. "Right now, there are about 40 structures that we would like to see built," McKeefery said. Of course, not all are feasible at the present time.

A suggestion for a building usually goes from the committee to the office of the vice-president for business affairs. From there it goes to the president's office and then to the Board of Trustees with modifications from each group.

The Board of Trustees will then forward the request to the state legislature which ultimately determines what SIU will look like in the future.

several rare weapons, Colbin and his partner demonstrate skill in the art of dueling.

Wearing costumes from the different periods portrayed, Colbin shows and explains how an actor creates a realistic duel for the stage or films.

Colbin has worked with numerous actors including Jose Ferrer, Maurice Evans, Rex Harrison and even Jimmy Durante, in order to help them recreate a dueling scene.

His ability to convey to actors what he wants stems from the fact that Colbin himself is an actor and has appeared in such shows as the Broadway production of "West Side Story" and "King John" at the American Shakespeare Festival.

Following the 10 a.m. convocations there will be a coffee hour for Colbin in the River Rooms of the University Center.

County Rates 2nd In Easter Drive

Jackson County has collected the second highest amount of contributions of 33 southern Illinois counties reporting in the current Easter Seal Fund Drive.

Herbert Koepf-Baker, general fund drive chairman, announced that the Jackson County contributions total $1,364.58, an amount second only to that for St. Clair County. The combined collection for southern Illinois, excluding school coin and Lily Day Parade contributions, is $18,354.82.

Mrs. Mildred L. Holland, executive director of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, said that the full county and area totals will not be known for some time, due to the delay in reporting by some of the counties.

She said, however, that it seems safe to assume that Jackson County will still have the second highest amount of contributions.

IN NEPAL—SIU Vice President Robert W. MacVicar left March 18 to inspect SIU teams in Vietnam, Nepal, Afghanistan, Mali and Nigeria. The missions operated by SIU are under contract with the Agency for International Development. He will later tour India, Hong Kong, Tokyo and Saigon. He will stop in Honolulu before his return to SIU April 17.

Home Economics Guest Day To Include Survey of 'Love'

An opinion survey on "what is love" will be one of the demonstrations when high school and junior college students visit SIU April 8 for the annual Home Economics Guest Day.

George Carpenter, associate professor, will conduct a demonstration in which the visitors will be invited to "measure your knowledge" on the subject of love. Carpenter is engaged in research for a book.

Each of the four departments in the School of Home Economics will have exhibits and demonstrations, starting at 1 p.m.

The day's program will open at 9 a.m. in Shryock Auditorium. Keynote speaker will be Grace M. Henderson, former dean of the College of Home Economics at Pennsylvania State University and now acting dean of the School of Home Economics. Her subject will be "World Wide Significance of Home Economics."

Baseball Team to Host Winona State This Afternoon

The Saluki baseball team, following an eight-game sweep in the Southern tour, opens the home season today against Winona State beginning at 2 p.m. at the Saluki field south of the Arena.

The Winona State game today will open a five game homestand which will end April 2 against Tennessee Tech. The Salukis will play five home games in five days.

Joe Lutz, Saluki baseball coach, believes that this type of start won't hurt the team because they have the proper momentum after the spring tour.

On the spring tour, Southern opened with a two game series against Tulane and won 3-1 and 9-5. The Salukis next played a three-game set with Southeast Louisiana and won all three by scores of 4-0, 10-1 and 6-4. The next stop was the Pensacola Naval Base and the Salukis nipped the sailors 13-7 and 7-4. The Salukis closed out the tour with a 12-2 verdict over David Lipscomb College Monday night to make their record 8-0.

Dwight Clark, a junior first baseman from Fullerton, Calif., was the leading batter for the Salukis. Clark pounded out 15 hits, scored eight runs, smacked three homeruns, drove in 10 runs and finished the spring trip with a team-leading batting average of .469.

Tom Cross, junior third baseman from San Diego, Calif., was second in hitting with a batting average of .444. John Mason, infielder from Deerfield, also had a good tour with two homers, seven runs driven in and 10 runs scored.

The Salukis had a team batting average of .311 on the tour compared to a .200 for their opponents. The Saluki hurriers combined to limit the opponents to an average of 2.32 earned runs per game. Leading the Saluki pitchers is righthander Don Kirkland who won three of the eight games on the tour and had an earned run average of 1.61. Kirkland will open the series today and will probably pitch against Tennessee Tech on Sunday.

Skip Pitlock, a lefty, is scheduled to pitch the second game of the Winona series on Thursday and Lutz intends to send Howard Nickason to the hill Friday. Nickason leads the Saluki moundsmen in earned runs averaged with a 0.82.

Lutz was happy over the results of the spring tour, especially with the Saluki batting power. Besides hitting .311 and clubbing out 83 hits, the Salukis clobbered nine home runs in eight games.

'Seeking Experience and Switching Positions...'

Lefevre Terms Tennis Tour Successful

Although records don't seem to bear it out, the SIU tennis team had a successful preseason Spring tour in Florida over the break, according to Coach Dick Lefevre. "We were seeking experience and switching positions, which we would ordinarily not do during regular matches," he said.

The Saluki netmen dropped dual matches to Florida 9-0, Miami 8-1 and 7-2 and Georgia Tech 7-2. These schools have all been competing for several weeks outdoors, according to Lefevre.

Jay Maggiore and Johnny Yang recorded the only SIU victory at Miami in the first match with a doubles victory. In the second day of competition between the two schools Jerry Garver won a singles match and the doubles team of Maggiore and Garver won.

Mike Sprengelmeyer won in the No. 2 singles spot against Georgia Tech. He defeated the Yellow Jackets' Bob Speicker 2-6, 6-2 and 6-4. Maggiore and Yang again took a doubles victory.

The team went to the Cape Coral Invitational March 24-26, where it placed third behind Mississippi State, the third ranked NCAA team last year, and last year's College Division champs, Rollins College. The Salukis finished ahead of Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Amherst, South Florida, Wesleyan and Kalamazoo.

Jose Villarete recorded wins over Bob Kinney of Rollins, 7-5 and 6-3; Rob Cadwallader of Mississippi State and Australia, 6-4 and 13-11; and William McCannan of Rollins, 6-0 and 6-3.

Maggiore survived a three and one half hour match that found him down four match

Volleyball Managers' Meeting Set April 4

Intramural officials have announced that a meeting for volleyball team managers will be held Tuesday, April 4, 7 p.m. at the Arena.

Rosters and a team entry fee of $2 will be due at the April 4 managers' meeting. Officials said teams not represented at the meeting will start tournament play with a loss.

A round robin volleyball tournament will get under way April 10 in the Arena.

Managers may arrange practice sessions for April 3, 4, and 9 by making the necessary arrangements at the Intramural Office.

The Intramural Department would appreciate receiving team rosters and entry fees before the April 4 meeting. Rules governing the tournament may be obtained at the Intramural Office.

points to defeat former Canadian Junior Singles Champion Pierre LeMarche of Mississippi State 4-6, 8-6, 10-8.

Al Pena beat Ed Rinehart of South Florida 6-0, 6-1, and Bob Montgomery of Rollins 6-4, 10-8. Sprengelmeyer brought back a win over Ward Unger of Wisconsin, 6-4 and 6-2. He lost to Dutch Davis Cupper Van Gelder of Rollins, 6-3, 6-4.

Yang defeated James Bell of South Florida, 6-2 and 6-0, and Garver lost to Brian Hockey, another Mississippi State man from Australia, 6-0, 6-2.

The Salukis will open the 1967 season at home Saturday with a dual match against DePauw. Their first three matches are at home. The opener is followed by an April 7 date with Missouri and a match the following day against Illinois.

Variety of Names Highlights NCAA Finals at SIU

By Bill Kindt

Big names always highlight any NCAA championship event. But, how about names like Makato Sakamoto, Sid Freudenstein, Kanati Allen and Steve Cohen?

Sakamoto sounds like a name out of a World War II movie. Actually, Sakamoto is probably the biggest name in collegiate gymnastics today.

He is the leader of the University of Southern California team that will be after the NCAA gymnastics crown beginning at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Arena.

Sakamoto is only five feet tall and a sophomore at Southern California. Yet he has been the top gymnast in the United States for the past three years. He was a member of the 1964 Olympic team, member of the 1966 World Games team, winner of over a dozen AAU titles and AAU all-around champ while only a sophomore in high school.

Makato and his brother Mikio form a duo that has led the Trojans to a great year in gymnastics capped by the first place finish in the Western Regionals. Makato won the all-around, finished sixth in floor exercise, sixth in high bars, third in the longhorse, second in the parallel bars and fifth on the high bar. Mikio was fifth on parallel bars, sixth on rings and fifth on high bar.

Freudenstein is the leading gymnast from the University of California. He led the Golden Bears to second place position in the Western Regional by finishing second in the all-around, winning the floor exercise and long horse, finishing third in the high bar and in the rings and finishing fourth in the parallel bars.

Allen is the mainstay of the UCLA team which finished third in the Western Regional. Allen finished third in the all-around, third in the floor exercise and parallel bars, sixth in the side horse and second in the long horse.

Cohen anchors a Penn State team which won the NCAA

Valek Expected to Take Football Job for Illini

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jim Valek, South Carolina Assistant coach and Illinois football captain in 1948, will be named the Illini head football coach to succeed resigned Pete Elliott, the Associated Press learned Tuesday.

Illinois slush fund recruiting scandal.

Valek, 41, who played end of the Illini's 1947 Rose bowl championship team, was interviewed by the Illinois Athletic Association's board of directors Monday night.

He remained in Champaign Tuesday night, a spokesman said, adding that since Valek is staying in the city "you can draw your own conclusions if he will attend Wednesday's news conference."

The university is planning a news conference Wednesday to make official announcement and also to name a head basketball captain.

Dunk Shot Outlawed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Basketball dunking, a favorite sport of the big men, was outlawed Tuesday for high school and college teams in the United States and Canada.

"We did this to equalize the offense and defense," said Clifford Fagan, Chicago, secretary of the National Basketball Committee.

Fagan said a safety factor also was involved in the committee's decision. "Many of the baskets were being bent out of shape and many times the glass backboards were shattered."

The committee, concluding its meeting, also announced another change to speed up the game and eliminate the stall.

"Any team that sits on the ball, or holds it, will be warned after 10 seconds. If the team doesn't advance, after another five seconds, a technical foul will be called," Fagan said.

Weather a Big Factor To Saluki Track Team

By Tom Wood

We all like to see spring finally arrive, but probably the happiest man on campus is Track Coach Lew Hartzog. His team is getting its first good chance in several weeks to turn in adequate practice sessions.

The SIU thinclads started the spring southern tour with what Hartzog termed "a disappointing performance for both myself and the team members" by finishing third to Florida and Tennessee in a triangular meet at Gainesville, Fla. Two track records did fall to Saluki performers in the meet, however, Oscar Moore won both the mile and two mile, the former in a record time of 4:07.2. Ross MacKenzie brought down the 440 standard with a :47.2. He also won the 220.

John Vernon and Ian Sharpe placed first and second in the triple jump. Vernon's winning leap was 48 feet 9 1/2 inches. Chuck Benson took third in the high jump at 6 feet 6 1/2 inches.

The Salukis turned in an improved performance in the Florida Relays March 25. Hartzog called this year's event "the best Florida Relays field ever." The Salukis won the team's strongest relay event, the distance medley.

MacKenzie got things started with a :46.5 quarter. Al Ackman ran a 1:54.6 half mile, Jeff Duxbury turned in a 3:01.9 three quarters and Moore anchored with a 4:06.5 mile. The relay time of 9:49.6 is a new school record.

Moore also won the two mile at 8:49.5. He failed to break the old Relays record, which he set himself last year. Thirteen of the 17 existing Relays records fell during the course of the meet.

Vernon took fourth in the triple jump at 48 feet. Benson tied for second in the high jump with another 6 feet 6 1/2 inch jump, the SIU mile relay team grabbed fourth with a 3:13.6 clocking and Dave Chisholm ran a 7:28 steeplechase, which was good for fourth place.

Hartzog attributed the below par performance on the part of several team members to bad weather two of the last three weeks and final exams the final preparation week. He added that the important thing is that the team members themselves weren't satisfied with the performance and are looking forward to a much better exhibition at the Texas Relays in Austin Friday.

Hartzog was pleased with the freshmen. "They did a tremendous job," he said.

Three records fell to the 1967 frosh squad at Florida. The 440 relay team of Walt Griffin, Richard Campbell, Thel Jeffries and Al Deppe shattered the old record of :43.5 with their :41.5 performance. Deppe, Jim Thomas, Campbell and Jeffries combined efforts for a new mile relay record of 3:14.5 and the sprint medley team of Deppe, Campbell, Jeffries and Gordon Rains ran 3:28.4 for another new frosh record.

Thomas also took second in the high hurdles with a time of :14.6.

Hartzog said, "I expect the upcoming Texas Relays to be excellent. Records should fall right and left. We will again be at a disadvantage, not having practiced much outdoors. The Southern schools have all run several outdoor meets already."

Hartzog expects to bring home a victory in the distance medley. He said that the main competition will come from Kansas, Kansas State, Abilene Christian and New Mexico in this event. He plans to go with basically the same lineups in the relays, with possible changes due to injuries to Ackman and Griffin.

Benson and Bobby Jackson, both basketball players, have been working overtime in their events, high jump and long jump, to get ready for the Texas Relays. Benson suffered a back injury at Florida in the long jump but should be ready for the Austin trip, according to Hartzog, who is pleased with his performances thus far.

Hartzog also expects another outstanding showing by his freshman relay teams. The Salukis will go to Lexington for the Kentucky Relays April 8.

$8 Million Offered For AFL Broncos By Phoenix Group

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Gerald H. Phipps, Denver Broncos official, said Tuesday that a Phoenix group has offered $8 million for the Bronco franchise in the American Football League.

Phipps said the offer was made verbally by a group headed by Karl Eller, president of an outdoor advertising firm in Arizona, and was to have been followed by a written offer, "but I haven't seen that yet."

He is chairman of the board of Empire Sports, Inc., which owns the Broncos and the Denver Bears baseball club, and his brothers own controlling interest on both clubs.
