Entire Student Senate votes to censure Derge

By Randy Thomas
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Student Senate voted unanimously Wednesday night to censure SIU President David R. Derge for his actions which the senate says caused the disruption of a peaceful anti-war demonstration last Thursday night. The senators also asked that Derge do all in his power to have charges against those arrested dropped with full refund of bail money.

The resolution was sent to committee early in the meeting, but was later withdrawn for consideration. It drew little debate the second time around.

Jim Peters, student body vice president, said he will personally deliver the resolution to Derge, assisted by any interested senators.

On a related issue, the senate voted, again unanimously to condemn the behavior of those students present at the recent meeting at which time Derge presented his state of the campus address, "for wasting an excellent opportunity for students and faculty to become united by the peaceful presentation of an empty and meaningless speech."

This issue met lengthy and often heated debate.

Mickey Chusid, Thompson Point Senator, was at first against it. He said the students should be praised for disrupting the meeting. "Derge deserves to be made a fool of because he is a fool," Chusid said.

Chuck White, Small Group Housing Senator, refuted Chusid and said, "I don't think the students should have disrupted the meeting because I personally feel Derge would have made an idiot of himself if he had been allowed to complete the speech."

In other action, the senators voted to allocate $500 to the Student Mobilization Committee for the purpose of renting a bus to go to an antiwar demonstration in Washington, D.C., on Sunday.

The money will come from the Student Government Research Bureau account.

'New Worlds' begins

Syncon speakers discuss world problems

By Daryl Stephenson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Barbara Hubbard, organizing director of the Committee for the Future, said Wednesday that the New Worlds Week Syncon Conference being held through Sunday at SIU "is a starting action to develop a social mandate and practical program for a positive future for all mankind."

Speaking in the Student Center Auditorium, Ms. Hubbard said "we are now in the midst of a planetary crisis" which has its roots in the development of social consciousness by minority groups and the rapid development of science and technology.

Everywhere there is dissatisfaction with contemporary life, Ms. Hubbard said, which she described as the expression of the "suppressed potential" of every human being.

Ms. Hubbard said the "populist movement" of today, reflected in the presidential campaigns of Gov. George Wallace (Dem.-Alabama) and Sen. George McGovern (Dem.-S.D.), "is dealing with only one aspect of suppressed potential."

The truth is, she said, that suppressed potential is found in everyone, from students to businessmen to highly creative people, such as artists and performers.

This suppressed potential, Ms. Hubbard said, can be used "to create a new constituency which will apply pressure to governments and institutions to find a program which will lift the whole of human consciousness." Ms. Hubbard said that, in a sense, ancient prophets were correct when they predicted man would one day be put to a moral test.

"We really don't know yet if we are viable to the laws of the universe. If we fail to solve our current problems, such as overpopulation, environmental pollution, war, hunger and disease, we will perish as a species."

In describing the necessity of man expanding to new worlds and solving his problems within the new 15 years, Ms. Hubbard likened the situation to that of a newborn infant.

Committee votes to require permits for temporary campus structures

By David L. Mahsman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The University Senate's crisis prevention committee Wednesday approved an amendment to the Interim Policy on Demonstrations that would require permits for erecting nonpermanent structures on campus.

The committee also voted to ask SIU President David R. Derge to investigate events and actions Sunday night leading up to orders that protesters remove tents from the Free Forum Area. A report of Derge's investigation also was requested.

Edward Hammond, assistant to the president for student relations, early Sunday night had given protesters permission to camp in the Free Forum Area. Later that night, however, Dan

"It's like a birth," she said, "if everything doesn't work within a short time, the whole organism may die."

Ms. Hubbard said the Committee for the Future's New Worlds proposal, which calls for the establishment within the next decade of an international lunar community and the concurrent application of technology to solving critical Earth problems, is only a tentative draft, not a final plan.

It is a base from which the conference is intended to build, she said.

Later, after participants had begun task force operations in the Syncon wheel in Ballroom D, Lazar Moiso, Yugoslavian Ambassador to the United Nations, addressed the assembly by television.

Moiso said that despite current ef-orts to portray the problems of ecological balance and the human environment "as the most urgent issue of the contemporary world," it is not for the international community.

"I firmly believe that the most important problem today facing the international community is that of general economic and social development in what today is described as the developing countries," Moiso said.

The position of these countries today, he said, "is becoming untenable. It is highly important to extricate these countries from a condition undignified of man, if we wish to avoid the far-reaching consequences."

Orescanin, Derge's executive assistant, ordered the protesters to take down their tents.

Two presidential assistants had given conflicting orders, and there was no written policy to guide the administrators' decisions. As a result, the amendment concerning temporary structures on campus was added to the Interim Policy on Demonstrations.

Before the amendment becomes part of the policy on demonstrations, it must be approved by Derge. If the amendment is approved, anyone wishing to erect a temporary structure (such as a tent) must obtain a permit. The areas of campus which could have such structures would be limited. Time limits and guidelines would also be imposed on the structures' use.

The committee failed to approve other amendments to the interim policy that were designed to bring the policy into agreement with the new amendment on temporary structures.

Nine persons present at the Free Forum Area Sunday night submitted statements to the crisis prevention committee concerning Sunday night's events. Copies of the statements were submitted to Derge Tuesday night.

The committee approved a motion submitted by Student Body Vice President Jim Peters asking Derge to investigate Sunday night's events. Derge will be asked to look into the Sunday night conduct of students, administrators and police and to clarify administrative lines of authority. Derge will be asked to report his findings to the committee.

U-Senate committee considers governance

By Richard Lorenz
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

An amendment to alter the campus governance document which would give more power to a constituency council leader over joint standing committees was discussed, but not voted on, at Tuesday's meeting of the University Senate's governance committee.

The governance committee came to some basic agreement over some of the powers a constituency council leader would have under the amendment: 1) a leader would appoint all joint standing committee members if the committee reports to his council and 2) a leader would appoint the chairman of any joint standing committees which report to his council.

In the cases where there are multiple councils to which a joint standing committee reports, the different leaders would have to make common appointments. If agreements over the appointments are not reached, the executive committee of the U-Senate would make the appointments.

The composition of the joint standing committees would remain the same. To get people to serve on the committees from outside of his own constituency, a council leader would receive nominations from the other council leaders. Specific language on the amendment will be presented at the next meeting.

Currently, the joint committees are appointed by the executive committee from a list of nominees submitted by the constituencies. At least half of the representatives of an individual constituency on a given committee must be chosen from this list. The chairman also is chosen by the executive committee.

15 recognized groups file budget request

By Randy Thomas
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

More than $325,000 has been requested by 15 officially recognized student groups for their 1972-73 operating budgets, John Conlisk chairman of the Student Senate Finance Committee, said Tuesday.

Conlisk said although the total amount of money to be divided among some 70 campus organizations has not yet been appropriated, it probably will be around $350,000. Nearly 50 more groups are expected to present budget requests in the next few weeks.

Student organizations are funded from student activity fees.

Those groups appearing before the finance committee on Tuesday included the Egyptian Knights Chess Club, $240; the Strategic Games Society, $248; Shawnee Mountaineers, $400; and the campus chorus, $150.

Organizations scheduled to appear Wednesday included the Aerospace Club, AFROTC Cadet Ladies Club, Campus Recreation, Swimming fund, Public Relations Club, Forensics, Egyptian Divers and the Daily Egyptian.

Evergreen Terrace group protests rent hike proposal

By Chuck Hutchcraft
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

About 55 Evergreen Terrace residents, at a meeting with a Federal Housing Authority (FHA) and a SIU housing official Tuesday night, voiced strong opposition against a proposed rent hike for the Evergreen Terrace living complex.

The residents charged the University with increasing rents to make up wasted money caused by inefficient maintenance work.

The residents also argued that the proposed increase violated rent control policies under Phase II of President Nixon's economic program.

Robert E. Maurath, assistant to the director of housing business services, who met with the residents at the Evergreen Terrace community building, said Wednesday that the increase reflects the amount the University "feels is necessary to maintain the facility as a good living area."

At the meeting Maurath told the residents the proposed rent hike is based upon a study of projected costs of maintenance and utilities.

The University is asking for an increase of $10 per month for two-bedroom apartments and $12 for three-bedroom apartments at Evergreen Terrace, according to Maurath.

Maurath said the proposal has been submitted to the FHA for approval.

Maurath said Wednesday the Evergreen Terrace complex is owned by the SIU Foundation. The project was built with the help of a mortgage from the FHA. The mortgage gives the FHA oversight of matters such as rent increases, Maurath said.

If approved, the increase would be effective beginning Sept. 21, Maurath said.

He said the proposal was submitted to the FHA in April. The Evergreen Terrace advisory council was advised informally of the proposal sometime in early April.

At the meeting, Charles Walker, the FHA official, said the FHA would not approve rent increases totaling more than two-7/8 per cent of the existing rates. The University's proposed increase is eight per cent of the current rates.

Maurath told the group that "we have some pretty reliable information saying the insurance premium will go down for the next year." He said insurance costs could drop as much as $10,000 from this year's rates. Because of this, he said, the University might consider lowering its proposed increase.

When told that increased maintenance costs was one reason for asking for the increase, the residents reacted heatedly, saying there was very little maintenance done at the complex. That which was done was wasteful and inefficient, they said.

Pat Engrissie, an Evergreen Terrace resident and a graduate student studying sociology, said, "I've seen maintenance men out here watering trees while it is raining."

Rod Parker, a graduate student in administration of justice, accused the University of "sandbagging and padding."

"How can you justify an increase when the President (Nixon) has asked for an austerity program?"

Parker asked.

He further questioned raising rent prices when the incomes of the residents were not being raised.

"Under the Federal Housing Authority Act you cannot do that," Parker said.

Other residents cited instances when faulty plumbing had gone unrepaired or when sloppy repair work failed to correct the fault.

"Unfortunately," Maurath told the residents, "these reports are fairly accurate."

He went on to say that as do other University living areas, the Evergreen Terrace complex was having trouble getting the University Physical Plant to act.

He said the University is contracting some maintenance work to private concerns to try to alleviate this problem.

The residents repeatedly asked the officials for figures showing the income and expenses to operate the complex.

Walker refused to divulge the figures.

Later, Maurath handed out figures showing the income for the 1971-72 year was $418,850. The figures also showed that expenditures for the same period totaled $449,324, causing a deficit of $30,474. For the 1970-71 year Evergreen Terrace suffered a deficit of $31,840, according to Maurath's figures.

Walker said some kind of increase in rent was necessary for the University to pay off the mortgage on the complex.

A number of residents said they planned to have an audit of figures concerning Evergreen Terrace in an attempt to prove wastes of funds.

Syncon topic: need to solve man's problems

Moisov said this can be done if the industrially developed and rich nations could channel all their available resources "to revitalizing and accelerating the development of countries still suffering from poverty."

The Yugoslavian Ambassador decried advocates of the theory of limited population and economic growth for the entire world, saying that it runs the risk of solving the problem at the expense of the growth of developing countries.

"We must not allow a situation in which for the sake of preserving rare plants and animals we forsake man," Moisov said.

Moisov said the same solutions cannot be applied to both "chronically over-populated countries and for those that are under-populated," because, for developing countries a large population may be instrumental to their growth.

Vets to attend U of I workshop

The Southern Illinois Veterans Association Inc., a campus organization for veterans in college, will send at least a dozen representatives, students and staff members to a Congressional Veterans Workshop at the University of Illinois Friday.

Randall Patterson, president of the SIU group, said a main discussion topic will be on the proposed federal legislation under which universities, which increase enrollments of veterans a specified amount, would receive $300 per veteran.

Lives should not be NRA playthings too!

"Register Communists, not guns."
"If guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns."

These are but two of the witticisms that nearly everyone has seen emblazoned across bumper stickers espousing the philosophy of the National Rifle Association. Most people can recognize the absurdity of such slogans and chuckle.

But with the recent shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, like him or not, NRA propaganda and lies aimed at simple minds are no longer a laughing matter. They are as sick as the man who shot Wallace...or Martin Luther King...or Robert Kennedy...or Malcom X...or John F. Kennedy...

Here is another NRA favorite.
"Guns don't kill people. People kill people."

But what if Wallace's assailant had used a knife, bludgeon, garrot or other implement of destruction? Chances are, he would not have even had the chance to injure him. So would a lot of other violence-prone individuals.

In 1970, more than half the people who killed people murdered with handguns. Another 13 per cent used other types of firearms. Since 1964, the use of handguns for murder has doubled. Armed robberies have increased 198 per cent in the same period.

At the same time, every issue of the American Rifleman, the official organ of the NRA, carries a column listing as many as a dozen robberies and other crimes that were thwarted because the would-be victim had a gun and used it. NRA officials claim gun critics want to disarm the American populace, leaving criminals free to do their dirty work. But New York Police Commissioner Patrick Murphy has said that he believes gun owners are more likely to get themselves killed than those who don't own guns.

If this is the case, why hasn't something been done already? In a sense, something has been done.

In 1968, near the end of a decade that saw three major political assassinations carried out with guns in the United States, Congress passed the Gun Control Act. That law prohibits the importation of cheap handguns—"Saturday night specials"—that play a large role in American crime and outlaws interstate sale of firearms through the mail.

As is the case with many laws, however, there are loopholes in the gun law. Estimates say there are between 30 and 60 million handguns loose in America. Domestic production of cheap handguns has jumped from 60,000 in 1968 to one million last year.

Many politicians will agree that stronger gun controls are needed, but the million-member NRA has succeeded in intimidating those lawmakers. Maybe the politicians are afraid they will be shot by some overzealous gun nut.

NRA claims that gun regulations would be unconstitutional and are outrageous. Certainly, the U.S. Constitution guarantees the right to bear arms, but Congress also has the right and duty to pass laws protecting American citizens. All but the larger handguns should be outlawed and strict registration required for other firearms. This will not deny any law-abiding citizen his right to own a gun.

State laws are ineffective. Anyone wanting a gun in a no-gun state can just cross the state line, or buy one under the counter from someone who has.

If violent crime is to be slowed down, we must have strong federal controls over firearms. Politicians should concern themselves with the welfare of the masses, not the fun and games of a commodity-minded NRA members.

Letters to the editor

An interesting, irrelevant mystery

A fairy tale

To the Daily Egyptian:

I am sure that compared to the other topics that are currently debated in your Letters to the Editor section, the following information seems hardly worth printing. Although I have not seen an edition of the Egyptian since I was confiscated from Southern by the U.S. Army in 1969, I am certain that your pages blaze with arguments concerning everything from our nation's continued rape of Indochina to the newly erected Presidential Palace. So I beg your indulgence for what may appear superficially a matter of great unimportance.

It is this: while observing the Sunday night freak show in the Times Square area of my recently adopted home of New York City, I stopped by a cheapo food stand called, without much originality, "Pizza City." This place is located on 8th Avenue between 42nd and 43rd Streets, smack dab in the center of the pimp-hooker-hustler-con district. I ordered a Coke. There was nothing unusual about the murky liquid served up to me by the counterman. It was a typical greasy, non-carbonated, water-downed New York Coke. What was special about it was its container. And now I am at last getting to the point.

The cup was a plastic number, emblazoned with the seal of my alma mater, "SIU." Below the seal were the words, "University Center."

I of course asked the counterman where he had gotten the plastic cup. He only laughed and pointed under the counter. I pointed to the seal and explained, "I want to school there." He laughed again. I made one last effort, asking "How did this SIU cup get all the way from Illinois to 8th Avenue? And this time he didn't smile. He turned his head to one side and asked, "Look, you want some pizza or somethin'?"

Having become a New York Paranoid, I stopped the questions, finished my greasy Coke, and after stashing the cup in my pocket, I moved on.

But the mystery of it all continues to haunt me. The possible explanations run constantly through my mind, and I can't sleep at night. Was the University Center recently ripped-off of plastic cups? Was the delivery truck hijacked before it could reach the thirsty campus? Or was I momentarily caught in the midst of a time warp, suspended half-way between the Oasis and New York City?

Please help to restore my psyche. What is the meaning of this?

Author's remarks

To the Daily Egyptian:

Your thoughtful review of "Brothers" has been forwarded to me, and it is with interest that I note your comments. I feel many of your criticisms are justified. I would like to suggest, however, that any critical discussion of the merits or weaknesses of a play, as distinct from a production of the play, is necessarily more knowledgeable when the reviewer has read the original script before attending the performance.

Anne Burr

To the Daily Egyptian:

Once upon a time there was a large island where lived millions and millions of small creatures. The land was called Yew Ess, and the little creatures enjoying this home called themselves Pursenz. They smiled and laughed and celebrated the Rite of Lyphe, which was older even than the Pursenz. And a great tragedy came to live in Yew Ess: the sinister villain Wore held the land in his evil clutches. After the pains of Wore had dwelt in their minds and in their bellies for half of their years, a group of these creatures, the Yuthe, led by a wise scholar named Stoodunts, rose up to challenge the monster. And the band turned to their noble leader, Stoodunts, and asked how a change should be done. Stoodunts replied intellectually: "I shall lead you against the cause and against the creator of the Wore monster, and I will conquer it". So Stoodunts took up his weapons of bricks and rocks and challenged the mighty beast. Stoodunts attacked his target with anger and hatred, but became blind, for Wore dwelt elsewhere. But Stoodunts shattered all the glass windows in Yew Ess, and broke them again. Then with the masses he also drove away Murchunts, and afterwards Stoodunts feasted on the feeling of accomplishment, yet his joy was short lived for Wore was elsewhere and never hurt. Wore never made his home in the glass windows, nor with Murchunts. And Wore lived on; sadness again drenching the land of Yew Ess. Perhaps someday Stoodunts will know to open his crusty eyes and lift his sword of knowledge not against his own, but against the evil demon itself.

No place

To the Daily Egyptian:

As one of 21 people engaged in a fast for peace and a vigil for three days, I believe that I am not part of the "small destructive band" which broke windows downtown.

Just as I condemn those who warred for peace, I must condemn officials and authorities who engaged in repression in the name of free speech.

When the people who had been peacefully protesting the war at the Viet Center were threatened with arrest, we were told by Ed Hammond that the "Free Speech Area" could be used indefinitely as long as we were peaceful. This was not to be.

One question arises: If Derge knew of a group which had been planning violence for a month, why did he do nothing? The only people I have met have consistently and loudly demanded non-violent tactics.

In his letter, President Derge asks restraint. But restraint is a two way thing. If President Derge wants respect, he should also condemn the excesses of police who have tear gassed almost at will, and

Correction

A line was omitted from the fourth paragraph of Carol Weiss' letter printed on page five May 10. The paragraph should have read:

In July 1971, Mr. Lacey submitted to HEW a 46 page annual report on SIU's Affirmative Action Program. Most of this report deals with personnel in classifications such as cashiers, cooks, janitors, drivers, clerks, carpenters, electricians, etc. Only 3 pages deal with faculty women! Moreover, there are gross errors in these 3 pages. For example, a faculty woman from Cuba has been classified as an American-Indian. For a husband and wife faculty team born in Spain, the male is listed under "Spanish Surname," and the female is not. These facts are probably the reasons why, even after 11 months, HEW could not approve the Affirmative Action Program.

those who clubbed demonstrators at the Student Center.

Also, his sympathy should go to those who were sometimes chased over a mile to escape the wrath of police who could not stand the idea of a peaceful gathering. Only then can this university get to a stage of "free and open inquiry".

Headlines criticized

To the Daily Egyptian:

Your recent headline, "March ends with gas, violence," (May 11, 1972) is remarkably similar to the headline, "Police gas crowd; then, violence," which was used in the May 8, 1970 issue of the Daily Egyptian. While it is certainly necessary to create reader interest with a dramatic title, I do not feel that these headlines adequately describe in a concise statement the true sequence of the events. Both headlines appear to indicate a very peaceful situation where police fired tear gas and then violence occurred. Thus, although the headlines are devised only to establish interest, they seem to accuse the law enforcement agencies of indiscriminate use of tear gas and ultimately as responsible for the resulting disorders.

It has certainly been shown that violence often occurs after the utilization of tear gas. I do, however, believe that one must look at the reasons for which the gas was used.

I have found the Southern Illinois University security force to be well-trained, professional and extremely tolerant. Their only difficulty appears to be the way in which they are perceived by some people on the campus. Perhaps the preparation of more accurate headlines would contribute to better the image of our law enforcement agency and more accurately place the blame for injuries and property damage.

To the Daily Egyptian:

There is no place for violence in a peace demonstration. Like many other students, I would like to see the war brought to a swift end, but I part company with them when they resort to rock throwing and other violent measures to make their point.

There is no excuse for the vandalism which occurred in Carbondale Wednesday night. Eagerness for an end to the war is not an excuse for criminal acts. The demonstrators are only working against their own cause by resorting to violence. They may have valid points about the war, but these points get lost in the scuffle following the destruction of private property. These people who are advocates of violence as a way to bring about change should be removed from the ranks of the peaceful demonstrators.

Syncon conference includes 12 groups

By Daryl Stephenson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Participants in the Syncon conference have been divided into 12 task forces, each of which will have the responsibility of cataloging current needs and resources of a particular area of human development and then mapping plans for the future.

Here is a rundown on the task forces and their duties:

—Space. Northwestern University group, assisted by aerospace engineers, has developed a scenario for the establishment of the first lunar community open to all nations.

—Environment will outline a general program for the first 10 years of a program to "restore, conserve and enhance the environment." This will involve work in the biosphere, nature and wildlife, population control, the man-made environment and the energy crisis.

—Industry-commerce-labor-agriculture, renamed productive heart, will forecast the needs of the economy in the decade ahead and measure the impact of the New Worlds building program.

—Government will examine at all levels and in all functional areas what governmental changes will be needed to cope with problems in the coming decade. Examination will include U.S. foreign and defense policies.

—Other regions of the planet are composed of representatives of other nations who will summarize needs and development plans with emphasis on the role of the United States in that development. Three U.N. ambassadors are in attendance.

Vote for anti-war resolution ends in City Council deadlock

By Barry Cleveland
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council Tuesday night refused to endorse an anti-war resolution submitted to the council by the Citizens Advisory Committee.

A motion not to endorse the resolution resulted in a 2-2 deadlock. Councilmen Hans Fischer and Clark Vineyard voted not to support the resolution, while Mayor Neal Eckert and Councilman Archie Jones voted in favor of endorsing it.

However, Jones had indicated disagreement with the resolution and his "no" vote was apparently a mistake, intended to register his disapproval of the measure.

Councilman George Karnes was absent from the meeting.

The resolution, presented by Allen Line, a campus minister, urged the council to issue a vigorous denunciation of the Indochina war, encourage citizens to protest the war and ask the SIU Board of Trustees to exercise its influence to help end the war.

Line said the council should make its feelings known and should take action to provide avenues for discussion rather than simply reacting to problems, such as the recent disruptions on campus and in the city.

Several councilmen said they would be happy to make their feelings known, as individuals, but were unwilling to make a statement as to the collective feeling of the council.

Fischer said similar requests have been made in the past and the council had determined not to pass resolutions which might not reflect the feeling of the majority of the community.

Citizens should make their feelings known to their representatives in Congress and in the state legislature, he said.

Jones said he would not support such a resolution unless the people indicate to him that they desire it, although he said he is willing to criticize the war personally.

Vineyard said he could not see why the council should take the action called for, and he criticized the recent disruptions. "I don't believe those demonstrators behaving like little children are really concerned about the war," he said, referring to the rock-throwing crowd which gathered on South Illinois Avenue last Wednesday.

Eckert was the lone council member to voice support for the measure, calling the war an issue that affects the entire community. "I don't think it's inappropriate for the city council to take a stand on this issue if it so desires," he said.

The Citizens Advisory Committee, a 24-member body, voted 10-3 in favor of the resolution, its chairman, David Rosenthal, told the council.

The council agreed to appropriate $3000 to help fund a summer recreation program for community children. Anita McGruder, a staff member of University Services to Carbondale, told the council the money will be used to send children on field trips in the area.

Among the activities to be funded include trips to historical sites in Southern Illinois and the St. Louis Zoo, swimming at Lake-on-the-Campus, a city-wide basketball tournament and tennis and golf instruction for the children.

A part-time supervisor will be hired to assist in the program, which will be coordinated with similar programs of Model Cities, University Services to Carbondale and other agencies, Ms. McGruder said.

An ordinance providing for the licensing of dogs, vaccination of dogs and cats and prohibiting domestic animals from becoming a public nuisance was passed by the council.

Violators of the ordinance will be assessed a $5 fine for the first violation ($10 if the animal is capable of reproduction), with the fine doubling for each violation until the sixth and subsequent occurrences, when the fine will be $160 (and $165 for unaltered animals).

The council also passed two ordinances regulating traffic flow and parking in the city. The following streets will carry east-bound traffic exclusively: Walnut Street from University Avenue to Washington Street; Stoker Street from Marion Street to Wall Street; and Freeman Street from Washington to Wall.

West-bound traffic will be allowed on the following streets: Hester Street from Wall to Marion and College Street from Wall to Washington.

The following "no parking" zones were established: north side of Stoker from Wall to Marion; north side of Hester from Wall to Marion; north side of Freeman from Washington to Wall; north side of Walnut from University to Wall; south side of College from Washington to Wall; both sides of Wall from Main Street north; both sides of Lewis Lane from Main to Park Street; both sides of Freeman from Oakland Avenue to South Cherry Street; and south side of Walnut from Wall to Graham.

The council also agreed to annex a 35-acre tract of land just east of the new post office facility on Ill. 13 east of the city. The entire tract was zoned for business, which would allow developers to proceed with plans to build a large retail shopping center in the area.

The council agreed to pay $659.69 in overtime compensation to the city manager, assistant city manager, police chief and police lieutenants for their "unusually meritorious service" during the past week's anti-war disturbances.

Jerry Maxwell, assistant city manager, said the disruptions cost the city over $4900 for overtime pay alone, a total of over 600 hours of overtime.

The council also agreed to provide the new Buncombe Water District with water from the city's Cedar Creek facility, expected to be in use by 1975.

Singers, orchestra to present 'Requiem'

The Verdi "Requiem," a mass for four solo voices, chorus and orchestra, will be performed at 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday in Muckelroy Auditorium in the Agriculture Building.

Anita Keehn, who has sung with the Buffalo Philharmonic, will be the guest soprano soloist. Other soloists are Jill Echelbarger, senior, mezzo-soprano; John Little, graduate student, tenor; and Alex Montgomery, junior, bass.

Robert Kingsbury, associate professor in the School of Music, will conduct the mass. A 100-voice chorus comprised of members of the University Choir, University Singers, Male Glee Club and Southern Singers will participate.

The University Symphony, consisting of 100 students, faculty members and local citizens are also involved in the production, which is free to the public.

Kingsbury said the "Requiem" is an unusual venture for a university chorus and orchestra. It requires much time to balance the chorus and orchestra and to adjust acoustics.

Verdi wrote the "Requiem" in memory of Alessandro Manzoni, a literary figure in the history of Milan. The work is famous for its lyrical melodies which ask God for forgiveness. Contrasting this are violent passages suggesting terror, wrath and judgment.

Bertrand Russell film slated

The life and works of noted philosopher Bertrand Russell will be presented in a film at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Morris Library Auditorium.

The film showing, celebrating the centennial of Russell's birth, was announced by Paul A. Schilpp, distinguished philosopher and professor at SIU.

Schilpp is author of a 13-volume series entitled "Library of Living Philosophers." One of his volumes concerns Russell and his writings.

Russell was eternally questing for truth, Schilpp said. He died two years ago at the age of 97.

The film is open to the public.

Free concert scheduled for this Saturday

By Pat McLaughlin
Student Writer

Merry Clayton, a female vocalist who has sung with the Rolling Stones, will appear in a special free community concert at 8 p.m. Saturday behind Woody Hall.

The Jon Taylor Quartet, a jazz ensemble, will provide backup music for the soul singer.

Ms. Clayton's appearance is one of a series of outdoor concerts sponsored by the Student Government Activities Council.

Dotti Davis, co-chairman of Alternative '72 and an organizer of the concert, said that Ms. Clayton's appearance is timely because Saturday also is Parents' Day at SIU.

"It should be nice because I think it will introduce the parents to some of the less noisy music their children are listening to," she said.

Ms. Davis added that the concert should be of interest to students, calling attention to Ms. Clayton's musical accomplishments.

Ms. Clayton, 24, received much acclaim for her vocal backup of the Rolling Stones in their recording of "Gimme Shelter."

The daughter of a Baptist minister, she also has sung background vocals in studio sessions of Elvis Presley, the Supremes, Pearl Bailey, Phil Ochs and Bobby Darin.

In 1966 and 1967 she was the lead singer for the Ray Charles "Rockets." Recently she has sung with groups headed by both Joe Cocker and Leon Russell.

Ms. Clayton has been performing primarily as a solo artist for the past year and has recorded an album of her own.

Ms. Davis explained that getting the nationally famous singer to come to SIU was almost an accident.

"A guy walked in the office with her album and asked if I wanted to bring her to Southern. He turned out to be her manager and that's how we got in touch with her. It was really kind of an accident."

Ms. Davis said that the success of last year's concerts and the desire of students to hear music outside prompted the organization of this year's series.

"We realized that whenever there's good weather, students would rather listen to music outside than inside, so we decided to have the concerts again this year," she explained.

Local bands play at each of the ten weekend concerts. This Friday's concert features the All-Star Frogs. Merry Clayton appears Saturday and Earthshine plays Sunday.

BRITISH

BRITISH LEYLAND

These days you don't have to look very far to find a small, economical car.

But to find one that's economical and a pure-bred, SCCA-winning sports car—well, that leaves you a choice of about one.

MG Midget.

Just the right size for you, your friend and enough gear to see you through a weekend.

You'll discover that the real meaning of "sports motoring" has nothing to do with ¼-mile strips at abandoned airports.

It has to do with roads that take to the hills where the scenery and fresh air are. Roads that turn and twist and meander down the other side, faithful to the contours of nature.

That's where terms like rack-and-pinion steering, front disc brakes, race-seasoned suspension and a close-ratio 4-speed gearbox, start making sense to the uninitiated.

And you'll wonder how you ever drove without full sports car instrumentation: an electric tachometer, separate gauges for oil pressure, water temperature and fuel level. There's even a trip odometer.

MG Midget sports other standards like a 1275 c.c. overhead valve engine, mag-style wheels, radial-ply tires, leather steering wheel cover, reclining bucket seats, full carpeting and three-blade windshield wipers.

What do you pay for this small economical sports car? Of all the proven winners now in national SCCA sports car racing, it's the one with the lowest price tag.

Emergency insurance proposed

Health council debates increased health costs

By Sue Miller
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The possibility of an added $9-13 per year premium for an emergency supplemental insurance program, coverage for dependents and the insistence that the comprehensive health plan not be implemented unless the fee structure is changed were discussed at the Student Health Consumer Council (SHCC) meeting Tuesday evening.

At the end of the meeting one angry resident of Evergreen Terrace burst into the SHCC meeting and presented the group with a survey he said was taken at a meeting about a rent increase at Evergreen Terrace. "I am faced with two increased fees with no increase in pay," he said.

The student, Peter Gorham, had asked the residents if they would support a $75 per year comprehensive health plan which did not include dependents. The Evergreen Terrace response was 20 to 1 opposed to such a plan, he said.

"It is ridiculous for me to pay for insurance for my family and myself and also be forced to take a $75 health plan which only covers me," he said.

He asked about the possibility of having a referendum on the comprehensive health service. Gary Dickerson, chairman of the SHCC, said that at this time there would not be enough time to prepare and schedule one. "Do you mean to tell me," Gorham asked, "that this small group of students is going to decide what kind of health care is best for the entire campus?"

Dickerson said that the SHCC would eagerly accept any feedback students had to offer. "We welcome your survey and any other opinions you might have," Dickerson added.

Only minutes before Gorham entered the room, the SHCC passed a resolution asking the Shawnee Regional Health Maintenance System Inc. (SRHMOS Inc.) to design a special plan for dependents of students.

In making the proposal John Beaumont, a member of SHCC and student representative to the Health Advisory Board (HAB), said, "The University cannot legally cover the dependents of students but SRHMOS Inc. can." Don DuBois, consultant for the comprehensive health service who drew up the student health plan, told Gorham that actually if something could be worked out with SRHMOS Inc., the students would have a better and cheaper insurance plan, than a regular insurance company could offer.

The age group that most students fall into is the lowest health risk group. Our plan would not include high risk groups which raise the overall cost of an insurance policy.

"It would also be dealing with a specific group of health care providers who would work to provide the best possible care for the lowest possible cost. This is not always true in other doctor's offices in the country," DuBois added.

Presently, under the DuBois health plan, a student is not covered if a health emergency comes up while outside of Carbondale. He said a supplemental insurance plan could be added for an extra $9-13 per year, which would cover the student suddenly taken ill in another town, until he could reasonably return to Carbondale for further treatment.

"The insurance company would have to be assured that doctors wouldn't, first, be sending patients out of Carbondale indiscriminately and second, that any out-of-Carbondale emergency cases be sent back to this area for care as soon as possible," he added.

Beaumont proposed other resolutions. He asked that the DuBois health plan not be implemented unless the fee structure could be changed, so that the added fees for the health plan would not increase the amount of fees presently paid.

"What we're saying is that we've found several areas of surplus fees which we think can be cutback for a higher priority such as health care. The fees would be the same they would just be going into different accounts," he said.

He also asked that the University and HAB support paramedic legislation which would allow anyone trained in paramedics to work in a similar capacity in Illinois hospitals and infirmaries.

Finally, he asked that a negotiation mechanism for students be implemented into the comprehensive health care system. "This would allow students to have a voice in matters of health care fees and benefits," Beaumont added. All resolutions were passed.

Campaign resumes; Wallace convalescing

By The Associated Press

The forces of wounded Gov. George C. Wallace began assembling a lineup of stand-in campaigners Wednesday, seeking to capitalize on a pair of primary victories.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey renewed his suspended race for the White House, saying that despite the shooting of the Alabama governor the campaign must continue.

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota planned to resume his campaigning Thursday in Los Angeles, then in Oregon.

Wallace was reported alert and improving in a Silver Spring, Md., hospital, reading the newspapers that reported his twin presidential primary victories in Michigan and Maryland Tuesday.

Pigs-freaks game slated

Another pigs-freaks baseball game is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday, according to Miss Nancy Marder, co-chairman of Alternative '72. The game is to be played at Intramural Field 4.

Anyone interested in participating should sign up at the Student Activities Office. If there are any questions, interested parties can call 453-5714.

A medical bulletin said the paralysis of his legs remained unchanged, and that doctors could not determine yet whether he would be permanently crippled by the bullets that felled him Monday at a Laurel, Md., campaign rally.

Those victories installed Wallace in second place, behind McGovern, in national convention delegate commitments. Humphrey picked up his campaign with a swing to Princeton, N.J., and Providence, R.I. New Jersey Democrats will choose 109 convention delegates in a June 6 primary. Rhode Island will award 22 in an election next Tuesday.

The Minnesota senator said he would continue his campaign in the same open, handshaking style despite the Wallace assassination attempt.

"I think it's only right for us to go on with our work," he said. "The selection of a nominee for a political party is important business for this republic."

McGovern's campaign director, Gary Hart, said in Detroit that the Wallace victories Tuesday showed "a great deal about attitudes, about problems troubling voters state by state." He said that was particularly true in states where school busing was an issue, as it was in Michigan.

African celebration to stress liberation struggle

By Monroe Walker
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The African Liberation Movement will be the theme of an Africa Day celebration May 21-25, sponsored by the African Student Association of SIU.

According to Hassan Sisay, chairman of the celebration and graduate student in history from Sierra Leone, the program is designed to reawaken the American community to the liberation struggle in Africa and to share the African culture with American communities.

Each year, African students at SIU celebrate Africa Day on May 25 in recognition of the independence of African countries, including those which still seek independence. On May 25, 1963, independent African nations came together to form an Organization of African Unity.

"During the celebration, we hope to present firsthand information on what has been going on in Africa in terms of the African Liberation Movement," Sisay said.

He said speakers representing all sides of the African liberation struggle who are familiar with the liberation movement in Africa have been invited to speak.

He added that the objective was "not only to focus on the liberation movement, but also to share African culture with the American communities."

"We want to communicate with and learn from the American communities in sort of a cultural exchange of ideas, music, art and so forth," Sisay said.

The celebration begins Sunday with preparations for an African buffet. Americans will be encouraged to learn to cook African

Committee seeks input from students

Open meetings have been set for Friday, May 19 and May 26, by the University Senate's subcommittee on new programs in undergraduate education policy to hear responses to three proposals.

The meetings will be at 10 a.m. in the conference room of the International Center, Wing C, Woody Hall.

Robert A. McGrath, dean of records and admissions, said the proposals under study are a president's degree program, a bachelor's degree in General Studies and a three-year baccalaureate degree.

The president's degree program, which there would be no formal degree requirements other than 192 credit hours for graduation, is designed to encourage and reward independent study.

The general studies degree would have no concentration requirements but would limit hours of credit in any one school or college and is designed to encourage study in a variety of fields.

The three-year degree has been proposed as a means of saving time and costs of college education through use of comprehensive exams and proficiency credits.

Quakers to hold anti-war vigils

A spokesman for the Carbondale Friends Meeting (Quakers) announced Wednesday that vigils for peace will be held each Saturday from 11 a.m. to noon at the northeast corner of Main Street and Illinois Avenue.

Jane Keyes, graduate student in sociology, said the vigils will be held under strict nonviolent discipline with no speeches and only two signs announcing their purpose.

Similar vigils have been held regularly by Quakers elsewhere across the country for some time, and in New York a vigil has been conducted weekly for about eight years.

Ms. Keyes said persons sharing the Quakers' concern are welcome to participate in the vigils.

"Despite the professed Quakerism of President Nixon," she said, "we are appalled at the amount of death and destruction he has unleashed in Indochina."

Technical problems mar Syncon start

By Daryl Stephenson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Technical difficulties marred the opening of Syncon Wednesday in the Student Center, but participants in the national conference were undeterred as 12 task force groups began addressing themselves to "finding a positive future for all mankind."

Sponsored by the Committee for the Future, the Syncon conference is an interdisciplinary exchange between individuals from diverse backgrounds. Their task is to study a Committee for the Future proposal which calls for the establishment of an international space goal to begin development of resources in the solar system and concurrent application of systems and technology to critical Earth problems.

A multi-media presentation, entitled "Genesis," opened the day's events in the Auditorium. Scenes from the Beatles' movie "Yellow Submarine" were juxtaposed with reproductions of the Buck Rogers' comic strip, ancient art and photographs of other galaxies to show man's relationship with the universe through history. Frequently during the presentation, the sound cut off, and toward the end had to be turned off altogether.

The sound system continued to be a problem after the presentation, when Barbara Hubbard, organizing director of the Committee for the Future, delivered the keynote address. Toward the end of her speech, in which she explained the need for mankind to expand to "New Worlds," the sound was again shut off, and Ms. Hubbard finished her remarks without a microphone. From there, the participants proceeded to Ballroom D to begin task force operations in the Syncon wheel. Members of the task forces, which were divided according to specific areas of human development, were separated within the wheel by temporary barriers.

The entire proceedings, as well as the rest of the conference, were being videotaped by Carbondale Cablevision. Television monitors were placed within each task force compartment so that the groups could communicate with each other.

However, when Lazar Moisev, Yugoslavian ambassador to the United Nations, was scheduled to address the conference through the television system, the audio portion failed to respond. His address had to be postponed until the afternoon session.

The task force groups continued to work throughout the afternoon. The assembly was to hear a live video address by Harold Bostrum, vice president of the Victor-Bostrum Fund, on "The Population Problem," but the speech was cancelled.

Thursday's activities will be highlighted by presentations of task force summaries and the first "walls down ceremony."

Each task force will begin preparing its summary at 9 a.m., and at 2 p.m., following presentation of the summaries, the walls will be removed and task forces will be paired.

During the ceremony, the space task force will join the environment task force, government will join industry-commerce-labor-agriculture social needs will join other regions

GSC election set for Friday

Election of nine top officers will be the main business when the Graduate Student Council (GSC) meets at 3 p.m. Friday in the Thebes Room of the Student Center. At the last meeting, no nominations were received for the four GSC officer positions and only two nominations for the five Graduate School Council offices.

New GSC representatives will take office following the meeting.

of the planet, biological evolution and physical sciences will both join information evolution and non-verified phenomena will join nature of man.

At 3 p.m., Charles Ekker, assistant director of the SIU Latin American Institute, will address the assembly by live video on "Hidden Resources."

Events outside the wheel will begin at 10 a.m. in the Mississippi Room with a discussion on the occult, led by Gene Kieffer, a former newsmen with the Des Moines Register and new president of his own advertising firm. Kieffer is now with the Kundalini Research Foundation, whose purpose is to generate support for scientific research on the occult.

At 2 p.m., the second multi-media presentation, entitled "Cycle of Creation," will be shown in the Auditorium. Also in the Auditorium,

"Pyramids," an original three-act play featuring a professional cast from New York will be presented. "Pyramids" was written by Walter Fairserfice, an anthropologist-dramatist from the New York Museum of Natural History.

A seminar on non-verified phenomena will close the day's events at 8 p.m. in Ballroom B, led by members of that task force.

Throughout the day, live programs and instant replays from Syncon, as well as the continuous CBS videotape coverage of man's space efforts, will be presented in the Videosphere in the International Lounge.

Attacks launched in defense of Hue

SAIGON (AP) - South Vietnamese troops launched two more forays in the mountains west of Hue Wednesday in an attempt to extend the city's defenses, while enemy forces shelled key military installations and destroyed a big cargo plane in the central highlands. Seven of the nine American crewmen aboard the plane were killed.

Radio Hanoi claimed U.S. planes raided two North Vietnamese provinces Wednesday and three were shot down. Two other American warplanes were shot down over the North Tuesday, the broadcast said. There was no U.S. announcement of any raids or losses Wednesday. The U.S. Command reported 200 strikes over North Vietnam Tuesday.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew made a 2½-hour visit to Saigon, flying in from Bangkok, Thailand, and conferred on the war situation with President Nguyen Van Thieu and the two top American military advisers. Political sources said the meeting of the vice president, Thieu, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams was intended to demonstrate U.S. support for South Vietnam.

Field reports said South Vietnamese 1st Division troops made helicopter assaults Wednesday into two former fire bases 10 to 15 miles west of Hue.

The raids were the third and fourth conducted by government troops since last Saturday in a plan by Lt. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong, the new regional commander, to catch enemy forces menacing the old imperial capital.

In the central highlands, enemy gunners shelled the Kontum airstrip as a U.S. Air Force C-130 transport was unloading ammunition. The pilot tried a hasty takeoff but the plane crashed, killing seven of nine Americans aboard.

Field reports indicated South Vietnamese forces have gained momentum in recent days after being stalled for three weeks. There also were signs the North Vietnamese, who continue to pound An Loc with more than 1,500 rounds of artillery, rockets and mortars each day, are suffering serious casualties themselves and may be pulling back.

The Pentagon acknowledged reports that Soviet naval vessels have been sighted near Vietnamese waters.

Final production

Southern Dance Company to present 'Ridottoes '72'

By Glenn Amato
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

"Ridottoes '72," a dance-theater production in four parts, will be presented by the Southern Repertory Dance Company at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 19, 20, 26 and 27 in the University Theater.

Part one is entitled "Renaissance Suite," and the choreographies, based on the treatise "Orchesography" by Thonot Arbeau and published in 1589, have been reconstructed by Nancy Lewis.

"Orchesography," according to Mary Stewart Evans in her translation of Arbeau's treatise, "is the most detailed and authentic record of 15th and 16th century dances that has come down to us. It deals with what we should today call the ballroom dances of the period, which were considered to be an essential part of the education of every well-bred young man."

Arbeau's description of the basic steps of the dances, for which he usually supplied traditional tunes, provided the basis for the choreographies used by the Southern Repertory Dance Company in this section.

"Fall River Suite," a hoodown from the musical review "New Faces of '52," comprises the second part of the show. The piece is based on the legend of Lizzie Borden, the New England ax murderer. Michael Brown provided both music and lyrics, and choreography is by W. Grant Gray.

Gray also staged "The Pascagoula Suite," a contemporary ballet based on the Indian legend of The Singing River. This section will comprise the third part of "Ridottoes '72." The music of "El Topo," composed by Alexandro Jodorowsky and played by The Shades of Joy, accompanies the ballet.

"The Musical Comedy Suite," a salute to the American musical from 1891 to the present, is the fourth and final part of the production. Selections that will be presented include songs and dances from "Kiss Me, Kate," "A Trip to Chinatown," "Irene," "Good News," "Showboat," "On Your Toes," "Babes in Arms," "Of Thee I Sing," "Porgy and Bess," "Where's Charley?," "Ok-lahoma!," "Gypsy," "Can-Can," "The Pajama Game," "Bye Bye Birdie," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," "Hair," "The Me Nobody Knows," "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "Godspell."

"Ridottoes '72" is W. Grant Gray's final main stage production. In September, he will join the faculty of San Francisco State College and set up a new dance program.

Tickets for all performances, which are priced at $1.75 for students and $2.25 for others, are available at the University Theater box office or Student Center.

University Trailer Court may stay open a year

By Pat Nussman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The operation of University Trailer Court on south Wall Street may be extended by University officials if the plastic water feeder pipes in the court do not break, according to Chris Robertson, head of a committee to save the court.

Robertson said he was told by George Mace, assistant to the president, that the life of the court could be extended for one year or until the pipes break.

Residents of the court previously had been told by the University that the court would close in September to make way for parking for east campus residents.

"That's just not much of a compromise," Robertson said. "If they break tomorrow, we're out."

Mace had said that a Housing Business Services estimate for replacing the plastic water pipe is $24,000 and that the cost is considered prohibitive.

According to estimates from the resident committee, replacement of the plastic water pipes would run approximately $2,682.

Robertson had said earlier that operating expenses of the trailer court are only a fraction of the income from space rental. The most expenses have been is about $11,000 maintenance out of the $30,000 rental paid. Last year, he said, operating expenses were $6,570.

"I think they should use our rent money to put in new pipes here," Robertson said. "But they say they can't."

Robertson quoted Mace at an April 20 meeting between residents and University officials as saying that the water pipes were and will not be an issue—that it was a question of parking for east campus residents.

At that meeting, Robertson had pointed out an alternate site for a parking lot near Wright Hall.

But now, Robertson said, University officials appear to have stopped worrying about parking and started worrying about the pipes again.

"It's just a real weird situation," Robertson said.

Robertson said Mace told him he was trying to get money for the pipes, but didn't sound hopeful.

"Yet our money is going to Southern Acres and VTI," Robertson said.

The residents say they have discovered that income from University Trailer Court is being used to finance the Southern Acres and VTI dormitories.

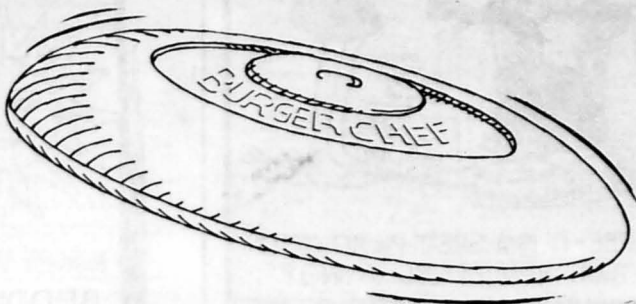

University officials say there is not enough money to replace water pipes or put the parking lot in a different location, according to Robertson.

"But I don't think it should be our job to find the money," Robertson said. "We feel that our rent money should be used in the trailer court rather than for VTI."

Golfers finish 4th in conference meet

SIU's golf team ended its season on a sour note Tuesday as they finished fourth in the Midwestern Conference tournament at Silver Lake Country Club in Orlando Park.

The Salukis' final 72-hole score of 1537 was way off the winning mark registered by Ball State. The Cardinals had 1491, followed by Illinois State (1500), Northern Illinois (1518), SIU and last place Indiana State (1568).

Southern's Richard Tock registered a third-place finish in the individual category with a 296 score. That was just two strokes off the co-winners, Rocky Schooley and Dick Falls of Ball State, at 294.

Rounding out the scoring for SIU was Vito Saputo, a ninth-place finisher at 301; Geoff Young, 17th at 307; Brad Miller, 22nd at 317 and a tie for 28th between Jay Wilkinson and Bill Meade.

"I think it was a case of our youngsters falling," said coach Lynn Holder. "I thought that they would have shot a little better."

The Saluki final team tally was brought down somewhat by the high scores registered by the final three golfers. Miller and Meade are freshmen while Wilkinson is a sophomore.

"I think that the boys will have matured by next season," Holder added.

Six seniors graduate from this year's squad—Tock, Saputo, Young, Jock Olson, John Bartoletto and Dave Perkins.

U of I athletics probed by NCAA

CHICAGO (AP)—The NCAA and Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke each confirmed Wednesday that the University of Illinois is under investigation for "athletic practices."

The NCAA said in Kansas City that "a preliminary inquiry has been filed with Illinois" and confirmed without elaboration there has been a violation of NCAA regulations.

The Chicago Daily News said the probe was touched off by Alvin O'Neal, former Peoria Spalding High School basketball star who last summer was declared academically ineligible at Illinois and transferred to Murray State in Kentucky.

The newspaper said O'Neal reportedly was asked by investigators if Illinois officials helped him on his entrance examination and whether he was given an automobile while on a basketball scholarship.

"We are aware of a preliminary investigation by the NCAA and we have cooperated and will continue to cooperate," Chancellor John W. Peltason said in Champaign.

Duke, in a statement, said: "As a result of allegations filed with the NCAA, this office and the NCAA are conducting a joint inquiry and review of University of Illinois athletic practices."

Any further comment at this time would be premature and represent a disservice to the institution and any principals involved."

The Daily News said other Illinois-recruited athletes questioned included Kris Berymon, former basketball star at Chicago Harper who flunked at Illinois last year in his final freshman semester.

He signed a letter of intent to enroll at Northwestern University next fall. He told the Daily News he was questioned by NCAA officials about recruiting practices that brought him to Illinois.

"There was nothing wrong with the way they got me," he told the newspaper.

"About all we know is that the Big Ten and NCAA are conducting a preliminary inquiry," said Gene Vance, who has announced his resignation as Illini athletic director effective July 1.

Current Illini basketball coach Harvey Schmidt and football coach Jim Valiek, fired last year and replaced by Bob Blackman, were hired by Vance after the 1967 Illinois slush fund scandal.

Illegal payments made from the fund led to the Big Ten forcing the resignations of football coach Pete Elliott, basketball coach Harry Combes and his assistant, Howard Braun, and ineligible rulings against five athletes. On top of this, the NCAA put Illinois on two years probation.

The loser was Tom Bradley, 4-2, who settled down after Minnesota's three-run first capped by Killebrew's fourth homer. He held the Twins to a harmless fifth inning single by Eric Soderholm after that until he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth.

After the White Sox picked up a run in the fifth on Mike Andrews' double, an infield out and Allen's single, the Twins sewed it up with a four-run spurt in the seventh off Bart Johnson.

Win streak ends at 6 Twins bomb Chisox

CHICAGO (AP)—Danny Thompson's bases-loaded triple in the seventh inning and Harmon Killebrew's two-run homer in the first inning enabled the Minnesota Twins to snap a six-game Chicago victory streak Wednesday by defeating the White Sox 8-1. Twin's starter Bert Blyleven, now 5-2, struck out nine, including Rich Allen with the bases loaded in the third, before he left for a pinch-hitter in Minnesota's four-run seventh that built the Twins' lead to 7-1.

Speeds rapped at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Race driver Wally Dallenbach said Wednesday speeds have gone too high at Indianapolis and something should be done quickly to reduce them.

"The new wings should be eliminated," he declared, "in the interest of saving engines and cars, not to mention drivers."

Dallenbach, 35, a contractor in East Brunswick, N.J., when he isn't driving, qualified his Gilmore-Lindsey Hopkins Racing Team single at 178.421 miles per hour Sunday for the 36th running of America's top auto race May 27.

His speed for four laps around the 2.5-mile oval was just a bit below Pete Revson's pole speed of last year. Even so, Dallenbach isn't sure it will be good enough to get him into the 33-car lineup.

His crew already is at work on another car, which Dallenbach said he will attempt to qualify this weekend at a faster speed, if his first effort doesn't hold up.

"Bobby Unser apparently clinched the pole position in the first round of trials, driving Dan Gurney's Olsonite Eagle four laps at 195.940 mph. His top lap was a sizzling 196.768."

Only two drivers from the original qualifying list, McLaren pilots Revson and Mark Donohue, appear to be in position to challenge Unser's pole claim.

"I don't think we need 190 mph speeds here or anywhere else," Dallenbach said. "And I don't think the fans need them. Standing in one of the turns, only an expert can tell when a car is traveling at 160 mph or 180."

Volleyball tonight

In Thursday evening's semifinal coed volleyball match, Kasooba's (4-1) will oppose Grizzlies "A" (5-0) at 8 p.m. in the Women's Gym.

Ball State, Sycamores to face different fates in MC tennis

Editor's Note: The following is the first of two articles dealing with the Midwestern Conference Tennis Championships at Ball State Friday and Saturday. Today's story deals with the Indiana schools, Indiana State and Ball State.

By Ernie Schweit
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Season records indicate the state of Indiana could provide the Midwestern Conference Tennis Tournament with its second and fifth place finishers when the two-day affair opens at Ball State, Friday.

Ball State and Indiana had different fates this tennis season and are thus being tabbed to finish far apart from each other when the tourney ends Saturday.

The Sycamores, along with Northern Illinois, pose the largest threat to pre-empt favorite Southern Illinois, while the BSU Cardinals seem destined for the cellar.

It hasn't been the best tennis season at Muncie, Ind. The Cardinals, fourth place finishers in last year's loop meet, fell to a not so impressive 8-10 overall mark. In MC play they haven't fared any better, going winless in two matches.

The Cardinals lost to Illinois State, 8-1, and Indiana State, 9-0. Ball State also finished sixth in the Huskie Invitational behind runnerup Indiana State. In that same tourney Northern Illinois ended up a poor fourth.

Individually the Cardinals have only two singles players with better than .500 records: Bill Sherkey (10-8) playing No. 6 singles and Tom Warfel (10-9) at No. 3.

The picture is much brighter further south at Indiana State where the Sycamores finished their season at 14-8 with the same team as last year.

Ten of those 14 wins were via the shutout route. One whitewash job came against Ball State. In other action within the conference, ISU defeated Illinois State, 6-3, and lost to Southern, 8-1.

The Sycamores came close to beating some of the Midwest's top tennis powers. ISU lost to Big Ten runnerup Indiana, 5-4, after leading 4-3 with two matches remaining. Indiana, however, was minus No. 1 singles man Mark Bishop.

Indiana State also lost to Tennessee, 7-2. During the regular season Southern split two matches with the Volunteers.

Last year Indiana State garnered only five points in their last-place finish. With the same people returning this season, Sycamore coach Duane Klueh is looking for a higher finish.

"Actually only one point separated fourth, fifth and sixth spots last year," he said. "It wasn't so much that we've done much to improve but we could very easily have been in third last year."

Southern won the first-year tourney with 22 points, followed by Northern Illinois' 13, Illinois State's 6 and Indiana State's 5.

The Sycamores have three netters with 17 victories each: No. 1 man Roger Converse (17-7), Dan Biggs (17-7) at No. 2 and Max Porkorny (17-8) at No. 3.

Lindner, Morava competing Olympic test No. 2 set

By Jim Braun
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Another chapter on the long road to the Olympic Games unfolds for two Southern Illinois gymnasts Thursday.

Tom Lindner and Gary Morava are two of 26 Americans who have qualified for today's second Olympic Trials in Berkeley, Calif.

The meet will be staged in two sessions—compulsories Thursday and optional events on Saturday. The top 12 gymnasts with the highest total score will qualify for the final trials, June 16-17 in Des Plaines.

"Of the 26 gymnasts competing, I think there are 20 bonafide candidates," Saluki coach Bill Meade said.

He went on praising the 1972 American bunch by adding, "This is the largest number of gymnasts that have ever qualified for an Olympic trial."

For advancement into the weekend trials, a gymnast was required to score at least 100 compulsory and optional points during a single meet beginning with last November's United States Gymnastics Federation (USGF) meet in Champaign.

Lindner has scored over 100 points in Olympic-type competition three times—at the USGF affair and conference and national meets. Morava has turned the trick in the latter two meets.

Meade considers his two boys as top candidates for qualification into the final trials.

"First, you've got two boys who are in a class by themselves, (Mak29) Sakamoto and (Steve) Hug. But I think right below them are gymnasts like Morava, Lindner, Marshall Avenir, John Crosby and George Greenfield."

Sakamoto, highest American finisher in the '68 Olympics at 16th place, possessed the top score of the 26 pre-qualifiers. He tallied 109.20 points in a recent AAU meet in Billings, Mont.

Hug, another Olympic competitor in 1968, won the NCAA all-around title last month with a score of 107. Morava and Lindner finished second and fourth, respectively, in that meet which Southern won as a team.

Assistant coach Jack Beisterfeldt indicated late Monday afternoon that Morava's recent back ailment isn't so long a handicap to the Prospect Heights native during routines.

Avenir, Cosby and Greenfield, whose caliber equals that of Lindner and Morava, all have outstanding credentials.

"It'll be more of a struggle to advance both Lindner and Morava this year," said Meade. "These boys might be a little better than Southern's past gymnasts, but they have a lot more competition waiting for them this year."

Eddie Sutton

Sprinter adapts to 440 race

"Just call me Jesse James," Eddie Sutton said jokingly. "I'm the fastest and badest."

A joke, of course, but not really far off base. The Saluki sprinter from Miami and Terry Erickson co-hold the best SIU 440-yard dash clockings this year of 47.2.

The one-two punch will be an awesome force when the Salukis defend their Midwestern Conference championship this weekend at Ball State.

Sutton, a muscular 165 pound sophomore on 5-foot-9 frame, has taken to his 440 duties quite well. In his freshman year, coach Lew Hartzog had him in the shorter sprints because "I was afraid of it (440)," as Sutton puts it. "Now I'm gaining confidence in the quarter mile."

His new-found confidence ran over into his relay duties recently. At the Kansas Relays three weeks ago, Sutton ran an impressive 45.9 in the lead-off leg of SIU's mile relay team.

Sutton was a highly-sought athlete at Miami's Jackson High in football as well as track. He was Trackman of the Year at his school and was considered one of the state's best sprinters.

He put Jackson High within one point of winning the Florida state high school track title in 1970. The year before, he watched Saluki standout Ivory Crockett grab national attention by winning the AAU 100-yard dash at Miami's Junior College Stadium. The two athletes became instant friends.

Sutton passed up football and track scholarship offers the next year to several bigger-name schools and headed for Southern because "To be the best, you must run with the best," he said.

"I came here because of Ivory," he added. "The other schools didn't have high-class sprinters."

What about the future? The Olympics have caught him in a bad year, said Sutton about chances of competing this year in the Munich Games.

As a sophomore, he's still maturing and doesn't see a trip to Europe this year.

"The Olympics is a dream for me," he said. "But I would love to see it come true. In 1976, it will be reality."

But for the present, this weekend's conference meet is on Sutton's and his teammate's minds. SIU track teams have never lost a conference championship dating back to the old Interstate Collegiate loop days of the early 60's.

All-State cager signs

Pat Kaine, All-State forward from Danville Schlarman High School, became Southern Illinois' sixth basketball signee of a national letter of intent Wednesday.

Kaine, a 6-5, 195 pounder, averaged 22.6 points per game his senior year in addition to being the team's second leading rebounder. He also led the team in steals.

His most productive one-game effort came in 1972 when he scored 51 points in a game against Georgetown. He also pulled down 26 rebounds and was credited with 13 assists.

Southern has already signed Scott Detzelberger of Lincoln, Pete Kaha of East Moline, Kevin Hogan of Joliet West, Ed Benton of Kansas City, Mo., and Shag Nixon of Cuyahoga Community College in Cleveland, Ohio.

IM softball listed

In semi-final intramural softball action Wednesday afternoon, Nickle Bag edged Freeman Boys, 8-7; and VTI B'n 9 defeated Steagall Steamrollers, 6-5.

Maybe next time

See the oblong baseball. It just came off freshman second baseman Howard Mitchell's bat. Mitchell and the Salukis will conclude their regular season this weekend with three games at Ball State. The Salukis' chances for a post-season bid remain slim. (Photo by Mike Klein)
