Four SIU students were injured Monday night in a three-car accident on U.S. Highway 51 about three miles south of Carbondale.

The injured students are David P. Bollone, Metropolis, driving a car; Mike Richardson, 19, a freshman from Carbondale; Donnie Smith, 19, a sophomore from the second car, Daniel Johnson, 19, Washington; and Barry R. Smith, 19, Champaign. Both Johnson and Smith were passengers in the Richardson car. The driver of the third car was Jack E. Childers, 16, of Carbondale, a non-student. He was not injured.

Illinois State Police said Richardson was traveling south on 51 at a high rate of speed when he lost control of his car. The car passed over the center lane, side-wi sowed 10' car driven by Childers, then spun around and hit Bollone's car and flipped over on the shoulder.

Richardson was booked on a charge of reckless driving.

Richardson was admitted to Hohsen Hospital with lacerations. A spokesman said he would be under observation for several days. Bollone, Smith and Johnson were admitted to Doctor's Hospital.

Johnson and Smith were described as being in serious condition. Dr. Donald Rendleman of Doctor's Hospital, Johnson suffered a fractured thigh bone and possible internal injuries and multiple lacerations. Smith, was treated for concussion and lacerations. He also suffered possible internal injuries, Dr. Rendleman said.

Bollone was booked for several days. Bollone's car was towed from the scene of an accident, which was checked by DeLoys Litten of the police station until about 6 a.m. Sunday.

According to the police reports, Antrim was riding a motorcycle in the left, westbound lane of Main Street in Carbondale. At 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Antrim was struck on the motorcycle by a car and died in Doctors Hospital.

Robert C. Nelson, 19, of Peoria, a passenger on the motorcycle, is in fair condition in Doctors Hospital.

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was filed in the investigation of the collision in which Antrim was killed.

Floyd Crawshaw of 1000 W. Cherry St., posted $100 bond on the charge, which followed the collision in which Duane J. Antrim, 19, was fatally injured about 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

According to the police reports, Antrim was riding a motorcycle in the left, westbound lane of Main Street at Peglar Street when his motorcycle was struck from behind by a car.

The impact pushed the motorcycle into the path of an oncoming car driven by Elliot R. Vick of Oaklawn, Ill., a prospective student. Antrim, a transfer student from Lamar Junior College in Colorado, was killed in Doctors Hospital.

Robert C. Nelson, 19, of Peoria, a passenger on the motorcycle, is in fair condition in Doctors Hospital. He has fractures of both legs and one arm.

Police Chief Jack Hazel said Crawshaw did not report to the police station until about an hour after the collision. Hazel said Crawshaw told him he went home after the accident to call his lawyer, and did not know anyone who had been hurt.

"We went all to pieces when I told him one boy was killed," Hazel said.

Crawshaw was Jackson County coroner from 1960 to 1964, and was a member of the Carbondale City Council.

RATTED CYCLE - The motorcycle on which Duane Antrim was riding when he was struck and killed Saturday is checked by DeLoys Litten (left) and Bill Reed at Hohsen's service station in Inquest Scheduled

As SIU Holds First Career Day

Event Expanded in New Format

The first SIU Career Day is being held today from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. in the ballrooms of the University Center.

In the past the displays were known as the "Career Fair," but this year it has been expanded to include companies and agencies outside the Carbondale area.

Wesley J. Sardness, assistant director of Placement Service, said the exhibit was expanded because many SIU students are finding jobs outside the Chicago area.

The exhibit is being sponsored by SIU Placement Service and Alpha Kappa Psi, business fraternity, Alpha Kappa Psi, Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority and Placement Service are furnishing hosts and hostesses for the event.

Representatives of the firms at the exhibit will discuss job opportunities within their organizations.

Students who find themselves particularly interested in a firm may make an appointment at the Placement Service for a personal interview later in the year with a personnel representative from the firm.

Letters to the Editor

Honest Dissent or Scapegoatism?

As a member of the SIU Student Council, I feel compelled to respond to Mr. Tischauer's charges in the Oct. 14 edition of the Daily Egyptian.

The Student Council was fully aware that freedom of speech is subject to the constraint that it is not to be used to advocate the use of力pnic extermination of đông any people. However, in the interest of clarity, we may state emphatically that Mr. Tischauer's charges are unfounded.

If the Students for a Democratic Society really believe in presenting both sides of an issue, as Mr. Tischauer claims, I suggest that both sides of the issue be presented at future teach-ins. Although I am not a member of SDS, I am sure that there are students and faculty on campus who will present the issue in Viet Nam with vigor.

Next time, Mr. Tischauer, look up freedom of speech and the Egyptian and the Student Council as scapegoats for your political philosophy.

One's disagreement with your policies does not constitute a criterion to brand labeling 'fighting.'

Bill V. Moore

To Leave Viet Nam Would Sow Nothing

As an SIU faculty member, I can also respond to Mr. Tischauer's charges. The statement attributed to a faculty member during last Thursday's teach-in, "to leave Viet Nam is to lose Viet Nam," to the effect that no meaningful solution could be found which would be acceptable to both sides. In my opinion, this statement is correct.

Furthermore, I believe it would be worthwhile for anyone to attend a teach-in and listen to the speakers. There is no better way of getting a perspective on issues of national or international policy. The speeches were oriented to the subject of Viet Nam, and it is true that the future of the world, not in the least, is dependent upon the continuation of human rights, a commodity that is not infrequently interdicted by the methods of the totalitarian systems.

Randall H. Nelson

India and Pakistan

Are We Isolationists or Brothers' Keepers?

To paraphrase Dr. Doede's message at last Thursday's teach-in, "India and Pakistan" use of "good guy - bad guy" rhetoric. Dr. Moore has speculated on the American public's presumed fascination with villains and heroes, and the fundamental uncertainty as to the "good guys" involved in the Indo-Pak conflict.

Interestingly, the entire teach-in was focused on the horrors of the Viet Nam war, although the speakers at the teach-in pointed out that the external scapegoat, the Pentagon, and its "collective" millitary was responsible.

Of course, no mention was made of the fact that the U.S., in Viet Nam, was actively attempting to support a government in that country, which was being opposed by the Viet Cong. As such, the U.S. was then involved in a war, of which the United States Government was not merely told to present their ideas.

Thus, the U.S., was pushing a vigorous and effective aid program to Viet Nam. The action of terrorist guerrillas disrupted that program. Our shows of force against the Vietnamese government's attempts to control or end Indo-Pak conflict, this the "escalated" to its present level.

The implications of the teach-in panel's "get out of Viet Nam" arguments are that either (1) the U.S. should never have become involved in the Foreign Aid Program or (2) that, wherever that program meets opposition, it should be withdrawn.

Either would be tantamount to a return to isolationism, Perhaps a return to the pre-McKinnley era would be more comfortable than our present role of Brother's Keeper.

Harrison Youngren

War Is 'Communism vs. Western Civilization'

At last week's teach-in on Viet Nam, Mrs. Nancy Gittis gave an address which consisted mainly of a list of atrocities perpetuated in both the Viet Cong and its Viet Nam allies. Her thesis was that the Viet Cong were a "people's liberation army," while the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were "colonial war" defendents of their own side.

Therefore, I, as a member of the current majority, oppose any such use of Viet Cong rhetoric, ascribing to them the same characteristics as doMrs. Gittis.

Moreover, the people who participated in the belief which they advocate, their right to be heard is fundamental. Although the fact was not widely publicized, defense of the rights of the minority is, in fact, defense of the rights of society. It is necessary to appreciate that, except for the accident of circumstance and the fact that a part of the current majority would have been the armed forces of the United States, the movement is nothing more than a nonviolent struggle for the administration, and the draft, its consequence is more like a war of aggression than a war of liberation.

If the people who participated in the teach-in on Viet Nam, were not asked to defend their case at any time, the entire movement was not an act of unprecedented irresponsibility.

Therefore, any discussion of the policies of the United States is meaningless except in the context of a discussion of the policies of the Soviet Union, South Viet Nam, China, and perhaps the People's Democratic Republic of Viet Nam. It is no lasting peace in Asia without a comprehensive political settlement. It should also be emphasized that the United Nations is powerless to act in the absence of agreement by the same countries. The "free election" idea is altogether attractive, but insufiable. The administrative impracticability of such an election is an obstacle to its self-evident. Further, any non-American national who would have permitted a free election? I raise this question because Viet Nam is a land in which political ideas are perhaps more easily assimilated in any country than are those in other countries. How to be based on the principle so well stated by President Kennedy in his 1961 address to the UN: "communist policies: "What is the difference between free election and what is yours preferable?"

If the Johnson Administration had never made an effort to make Viet Nam a self-determining nation which could commit these barbaric acts, it could have been a "just war."

Atrocities stories are old hat, and the Viet Cong had been so described for years. However, it is certainly rare for citizens or near citizens to be so eager to seek out and believe atrocities stories about Vietnam, instead of being skeptical about what is being reported.

It is absurd to believe that the Viet Cong have committed atrocities against their own people. They have had to dull the edge of their own political instruments and it is only by committed inhuman acts against the Viet Cong and their sympathizers.

Further, the Viet Cong are certainly not models of civilized behavior. Mrs. Gittis' heart apparently does not bleed for American Marines being thrown down in the river with their genitals stuffed in their mouths, for the thousands of innocent Vietnamese mur­dered, or for the prisoners of war executed by the Viet Cong. It was perhaps by me that the speakers at the teach-in considered the Viet Cong as a local issue in which the U.S. had no business interfering. Dr. Elwell termed the "colonial war" and "Mrs. Gittis a "police action." These ideas are patentely false; the Viet Nam war is important in the struggle between Communism and Western Civilization, and it is imperative that we win it.

If the U.S. withdraws, as predicted by the teach-in speakers, then all of Viet Nam will assuredly become a satellite of the Red China and an ally in Peking's attempt to subjugate Southeast Asia.

I' am afraid Dr. Elwell will disagree with the above point. He has areas in undeveloped thought. For example, consider Red China as an im­possible aggressor. After Korea, Tibet and India I can't imagine what it will take to convince him.

A much-maligned figure in the talks was the late Premier Diem. He was blamed for the "civil war" in Viet Nam because he refused to hold a plebiscite in 1956 for fear that the Communists would win the election. Diem acted rightly. If the Communists had been elected, that would have been the end of any hope for further free elections in Viet Nam. There have never been free elections in Communist - dominated countries. A prime example of Dr. Doede's contention is that the American press is giving a heavily censored and distorted view of world affairs to which the character as sa­nation of Diem which prepared us to accept the overthrow of his government.

Lastly, I found repugnant and distasteful Mrs. Gittis's sug­gestion (apparently concurred by the panel) that those against the war in Viet Nam should encourage young men to draft the ev industry by posing as conscientious objectors. This is not a traditional method of disexit in a demo­cratic society.

(Editor, Daily Egyptian)

The letter from George Paluch on the front page of Wednesday's Egyptian did point to a problem that has troubled the city for its holier-than-thou attitude as it is for its mismanagement.

In spite of its shortcomings, including unfounded and unsupported innuendoes regarding the efficiency and supportiveness of the city government, it does open potential usefully to dialogue between the Student Council and the city government. If Mr. Paluch's concern is as sincere and as sincere as his letter implies, he may also consider a more open letter with the Student Council in addition to newspaper articles.

The truism that membership in the Student Council has been viewed to the city government as to the reasons behind the broadening of the wheel tax to include motorcycles. As a good newpaperman, Roland Gill of the Egyptian did take the pains of informing himself as to the reasons behind the broadening of the wheel tax to include motorcycles.

The justification of the city's government for the increase is that the city's government has fought hard for the recognition of its constituents. However, the justification for the increase is that the city's government has fought hard for the recognition of its constituents.

In fact, if the students were not members of the motorcycle club, there would be little point to Mr. Paluch's protest about local conditions. Students could not hope to have their needs and wants met if they were not regarded as bona fide citizens.

The assumption that students receive no benefits from the city facilities and services which they use. This is because the purpose of the city's facilities and services is to provide benefits to all residents of the city. However, in many respects, students take more of the time of the police force than other citizens. This is because students also feel trapped and captive. Retired persons, for example, do not pay as much for replacing street signs which they have removed or destroyed.

The concept of students as a "captive group" seems to me to be accurate but not very important. Counting one's own family and friends, the students also feel trapped and captive. Retired persons, for instance, do not pay as much for replacing street signs which they have removed or destroyed.

Any family with a job is likely to have less freedom of movement and choice of residence than one with no job. The argument that students can't move out of Carbondale because of University regulations on housing and cars is strongly supported by evidence. Retired persons don't move out of town precisely so they can own cars. There are many families who wish they could move away from the city because the city cannot prevent it? Frankly, there is little competition that students are being taken advantage of.

I would like to make the opportunity to review the city's financial situation and the coordination of the department in detail with Mr. Paluch. If he can suggest means toward a more effective and more proper use of the wheel tax, I welcome the opportunity to discuss it. If he can suggest means toward a more effective and more proper use of the wheel tax, I welcome the opportunity to discuss it.

I welcome the opportunity to discuss it. If he can suggest means toward a more effective and more proper use of the wheel tax, I welcome the opportunity to discuss it.

Sincerely yours,

Frank A. Kirk

MILLER publicly burned in New York Friday a card he said was his draft card. He contends the draft is immoral. Acting under a new federal law, six FBI agents arrested Miller of Syracuse, N.Y., when he stopped at a service station to repair a flat tire that had stalled a "peace crusade," which he and five other members of an organization called "the Catholic Worker" had planned in New England. Miller was held in Ulster County Jail in Middletown in lieu of $500 bail.

Miller, a ban-the-bomb pin on the lapel of his coat, said he didn't want counsel. He will represent himself at a preliminary removal hearing Friday in front of a judge. Miller had planned to set up a "peace booth" at St. Andrew's school near Manchester, he and the other five members stayed overnight at a motel in Hooksett, north of Manchester.

Miller formerly had a student draft deferment. He was reclassified I-A last month, He was graduated from Lemoyne College in Syracuse, N.Y., in June with a degree in sociology.

Johnson expresses concern over demonstrations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, concerning the demonstrations that have been part of the antiwar movement, said Monday: "I am not surprised and concerned that the actions of the few would be interpreted as the opinion of the many by our adversaries."

The press aide said recent public opinion polls actually show increased support for Johnson's Viet Nam policy.

"I am not unaware of that steadily increasing support on the part of the American people," Moyers said.

Moyers disclosed that Azy, Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach called Johnson during the weekend to discuss the Justice Department's investigation of possible Communist involvement in the antiwar movement.

Enlistments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Enlistments in the armed forces have begun to drop sharply in late July, a Defense Department report showed Monday.

Monthly figures for July, August and September disclosed dropings ranging from 39 per cent for the Air Force to 25 per cent for the Marines. Comparing July and September totals, the Army received 46 per cent more volunteers and the Navy 41 per cent more.

Because of the buildup in the regular forces by 340,000 men, President Johnson directed a major increase in the call. The December quota announced last week calls for 45,224 inductees—the greatest since the waning months of the Korean War.

Alabama Circuit Judge Rules Voting Act Unconstitutional

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — An Alabama circuit judge ruled Monday that the federal voting rights Act of 1965 is unconstitutional.

Circuit Judge James Hare, ruling on an injunction request by the State of Alabama, held that the new federal voting law violated the provision of the U.S. Constitution allowing the states to set up their own voting requirements. "so long as there is no discrimination," and also violated the "equal footing of states" doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Hare issued the ruling in granting an injunction requested by the State of Alabam through Gov. George Wallace.

The injunction asked that the court enjoin the probate judge of Dallas County from certifying as voter lists of persons approved by federal voting examiners.

The circuit judge held that the Federal act, under which voting rights examiners have been sent to seven Alabama counties, violated the doctrine that all states have politically equal footing since the law applies only to those states where less than 50 per cent of the voting-age population was registered or voted in 1964.

Georgian Asks Congress To End Klan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The young Southerner who first urged Congress on to unmask the Ku Klux Klan expressed hope Monday that House hearings beginning Tuesday will mark the beginning of the end for the Klan.

"The end result might well be legislation to control acts of violence," said Rep. Charles L. Webster, D-Ga. "However, full knowledge of the Klan, with or without new legislation, will be of inestimable value to those communities which are now beset by Klan activities."

After more than seven months of investigation and closed-door hearings, the public sessions open with the likelihood of a quick confrontation between Klan leaders and the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Robert Sherbon, imperial wizard of the biggest federation in the "invisible empire"—the United Klans of America, Inc.—has been subpoenaed for the opening session.

For the Klan

WASHINGTON — The young Southerner who first urged Congress on to unmask the Ku Klux Klan expressed hope Monday that House hearings beginning Tuesday will mark the beginning of the end for the Klan.

"The end result might well be legislation to control acts of violence," said Rep. Charles L. Webster, D-Ga. "However, full knowledge of the Klan, with or without new legislation, will be of inestimable value to those communities which are now beset by Klan activities."

After more than seven months of investigation and closed-door hearings, the public sessions open with the likelihood of a quick confrontation between Klan leaders and the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Robert Sherbon, imperial wizard of the biggest federation in the "invisible empire"—the United Klans of America, Inc.—has been subpoenaed for the opening session.
Prof Reviews Viet Position

Bernard Fall, professor of political science at Howard University, Washington, D.C., compared the United States position in Viet Nam to that of the French in Algeria and the English in Cyprus.

Fall made the opening address in a conference entitled "A Close Look at Southeast Asia: Tradition and Turmoil," held at SIU Friday and Saturday.

His speech was originally scheduled for Morris Library Auditorium but because of the large crowd, the talk was moved to French Auditorium in the Life Science Building.

Taking an impartial stand, he reviewed the situation in Viet Nam. His review included the major political developments in Viet Nam since the French withdrew.

Fall said the United States has been successful in maintaining a separation of the country and that this gave an opportunity for honorable negotiations.

Fall is an authority on Viet Nam and spent part of last summer in that country. He is a French citizen who has held research and teaching positions in several countries.

Snyder Receives Alcoholism Study Research Grant

Charles R. Snyder, chairman of the Department of Sociology has received a $23,356 continuation grant from the National Institute of Mental Health in support of a study of literature in the field of alcoholism.

The study, going into its third year, is aimed at developing a workable inventory of material relating to drinking—both normal and pathological.

Reports on drinking and alcoholism, especially from social scientists, are widely scattered and contain a variety of generalizations, Snyder said. A major purpose of his study is to bring together such random reports, evaluate them, and inventory them for use by other social scientists.

Snyder, himself coeditor of a book in the field of alcoholism said diversity of material available is a result primarily of the limited number of social scientists specializing in alcohol studies.

Snyder coedited with David J. Pittman of Washington University, St. Louis, a 1963 book, "Society, Culture and Drinking Patterns." He holds a doctorate degree from Yale University.

Historians Name Pitkin Chairman

William A. Pitkin, associate professor of history, was named chairman of the board at the Oct. 9 meeting of the Illinois State Historical Society.

Succeeding Pitkin as president of the organization is Newton C. Farr, a Chicago realtor and civic leader. Pitkin will be in his new position for one year.

Meet the Faculty

Vieth Joins Department Of English

David M. Vieth, a native of New Haven, Conn., has been appointed professor of English at SIU.

Formerly an associate professor at the University of Kansas and City University of New York, Vieth has also taught at Montana State University, University of Delaware and Yale University.

He received his bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees from Yale and holds a certificate in Japanese from the U. S. Navy, in which he served for three years.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Vieth has written numerous articles and reviews relating to English literature of the Restoration and early 18th century. His book, "Attribution in Restoration Poetry: A Study of Rochester's 'Poem of 1680,'" was published in 1963.

Vieth is married to the former Rose Suraci and has one daughter, Carolyn.

'Re Games Night' Set By Faculty Club

The SIU Faculty Club plans a "Games Night" to be held every third Tuesday of the month beginning at 7:30 p.m., on the Faculty Center, 1000 Elizabeth St.

Bridge, euchre cards games and chess matches will be organized. All faculty members are invited. Special provisions will be made for mixed couples and bridge matches. Coffee will be provided. Hosts for the events are Mr. and Mrs. Forch Bell.

The ladies' Wednesday bridge session will continue to meet at 11:15 p.m., weekly at the center.

Book Recording Group Will Meet

The sisterhood of Beth Jacob will hold a coffee at 1 p.m., today at Temple Beth Jacob for participants in their project of recording books for blind students at SIU.

The coffee is also for blind students and for any readers interested in recording books. Vernon A. Sternberg, director of the University Press, has donated 10 copies of "On the Ordeal of Southern Illinois University" by George K. Flockmann, professor of philosophy at SIU, to be presented to readers who have contributed the most time to the project.

Many students, faculty wives and inmates of Menard State Penitentiary are currently participating in the project.

Motorcyclists Test Dexterity
In Varied Cyclesport Events

Bill Hyde won four out of five events to win the lightweight class of a motorcycle field event held recently at the Southern Illinois Airport. Hyde received 40 points for his effort which was the largest total for the meet. Placing second in the lightweight class was Allen Marshall with a score of 28 and Vester Rains was third with a total of 22.

In the medium class, Andy Bodenbender placed first with a 27 followed closely by Frank Foncewicz with a total of 25. John McNair's 20 points captured the third place trophy. The field event was designed to test motorcycle riders' skill with events including the turning of a very sharp corner and riding up an eight-inch wide ramp.

Another event was the slow race designed to test the riders' balance as they rode in a narrow lane for about 100 feet. The last one across the finish line was the winner.

The meet was the second in a series of cycle events planned this fall by Cyclesport, Inc. to interest SIU and area riders in the sport of cycling.

The first event of the fall season was a poker run in which riders visited two of the area's parks as they toured the Carbondale-Murphysboro area.

Two SIU Records Set in 28-12 Loss to Drake

The passes were plentiful and Southern toppled a pair of records as the Salukis rolled to a 28-12 victory over Drake 25-12 Saturday night in the Shrine Game.

Quarterback Jim Hart looked like his old self in the game as he completed 15 of 36 passes for a Southern school mark of 42 percent. His 36 attempts bettered his previous record for passes in a single game.

Hart's favorite target for the evening was end John Ference, who hauled in a record 13 passes for 138 yards.

The Salukis' 13 receptions were five more than the previous mark set in the late Harry Bobbitt. Drake's quarterback Ron Royer, in his second season, was able to score. Southern did, but it was a 13-yard touchdown, and set up the fourth down.

Royer had picked up a first down, Royer connected on a 31-yard pass to put the ball at the SIU 24. Two plays later, Royer hit halfback Paul Brothers for the score, as the Bulldogs had driven 85 yards in seven plays. Sarnosky then added the extra point and Drake led 14-0 at the half.

Drake marched to its third touchdown of the evening as he completed 18 of 31 passes for 237 yards, and passed half of his 16 passes for 237 yards. The senior QB was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Discussions Set for the evening were ended John Ference, who hauled in a reception. The event, which is two years old, was attended by about 750 people.

'Kickapoo Juice'

Louisville Swears By Mystery Tonic

By Joe Cook

It looks like orange juice and tastes like grapefruit juice, but it makes football players run faster, kick higher and hit harder.

It's "Kickapoo Juice" and it's the University of Louisville's secret weapon.

Al MacFarlane, ballhawker on the team and the inventor of the juice, swears it is a strength-giving drink that has been responsible for Louisville's three wins, including a 13-0 victory over Southern.

Considering that Louisville won only one game all last year, there just may be something to this drink.

Also consider that two weeks ago when the team met North Texas State, the ingredients were accidentally left home. Louisville, without its magic brew, fell behind 21-7 in the first half. While Louisville's sports publicist Les Wilson ran all over town rounding up the ingredients, the brew was mixed at halftime and the downtrodden Louisville players all had a drink. The final score was Louisville 29, North Texas State 21.

What ingredients go into the brew is a closely guarded secret, known only to MacFarlane and a few close friends.

The drink, however, has yet to be perfected. Louisville players all took healthy drinks before their game Saturday against East Carolina College.

They lost 34-20.

End John Ference and quarterback Jim Hart were not aware of their record-shattering performances Saturday night against Drake University.

Ference's 13 catches broke the late Harry Bobbitt's record of eight, set against Drake University. Hart's 38 attempts broke the late Harry Bobbitt's record of eighty, set against Ft. Campbell in 1963.

Hart's 38 attempts broke his own record he set against Northern Michigan University in 1964 and duplicated later that year against the University of Toledo.

Ference's record-breaking ninth catch came on a five-yard touchdown pass from Hart in the fourth quarter. Hart's 19 completions was just one short of a record.
