Three more charges brought against Moro

By Signe K. Skliron Daily Egyptian Reporter

The State’s Attorney office filed more state charges against alleged kidnapping John D. Moro that led to a continuance of his preliminary hearing on Tuesday morning.

The continuance was granted by presiding Jackson County Judge Thomas Jones who ruled that the defense did not have adequate time to prepare for the new charges filed against Moro, and moved the preliminary hearing to Oct. 31 at 11 a.m.

Said, who appeared in court today, is now charged with two counts of armed violence, and one count of unlawful use of a weapon, in addition to a previous charge of aggravated kidnapping. He allegedly kidnapped his daughter, Dertoreta, from the Giant City School at gunpoint on August 29, and led law enforcement officers on a nationwide manhunt for two weeks. He also faces federal charges for possession of a firearm by a prohibited person.

Defense attorney Patricia Gross asked for a continuance because the police reports that caused the new charges to be filed against Moro were not available until minutes before the preliminary hearing.

Prosecuting State’s Attorney Mike Wepsis said Moro faces harsh penalties if he is convicted on the new charges regardless of when the preliminary hearing occurs.

Wepsis said the two counts of assault caused by a prohibited person.

New Student Center Director selected

Corker moves to Animal Sciences, SIUC helm comes way of Wyoming

By Donita Polly Daily Egyptian Reporter

SIUC’s new Student Center director will bring a wealth of experience and leadership to the University, SIUC Chancellor Corker said.
The new director says he feels his position is challenging, he is now looking forward to it.

Tatham will take over the position from J.J. Ruthertield, the Student Center’s acting director.

Corker said Tatham’s appointment begins Thursday, August 5.

Harvey Welsh Jr., vice president for student affairs, said in a press release that he believes Tatham’s background at Wyoming will help the SIUC Student Center better serve students.

If Tatham will bring the leadership, experience and positive attitude that will enable the SIUC Student Center to continue to serve our students in an exceptional manner and retain our leadership position in the country,” Welsh said.

Tatham was picked from a list of five candidates from universities across the country.

The five candidates were interviewed in September, but Tatham said he felt confident even though he was up against some good candidates.

He said he received a call last week and was told the selection was in his ‘first’ approval.

He said the decision was a surprise in some respects, but it was a good feeling.

Tatham said the decision made him nervous.

Nutrition: Rutherford said Tatham has excellent credentials and will be an asset to SIUC.

Tatham said any changes he makes to the Student Center will be on discussion between himself, the staff and the students.

He said he also depends on their support for any changes.

Tatham said he has a strong, dedicated staff.

“I would love to have provided Ms. Gross the reports she requested,” Wepsis said. “Unfortunately, the manpower we have could not provide the reports.”

After the second preliminary hearing in two weeks, the arraignment will be set, and Moro will formally enter pleas to the charges he now faces.

Moro is still in jail and will stay there at least until his Oct. 31 hearing, a Jackson County jail official said.

Gross was unavailable for comment on Tuesday.

SIUC students back from D.C.; share experience with others

By Dustin Coleman DE Features Editor

On Monday, Richard Dyer stood among a mass gathering of people in Washington, D.C., in the Black community congregated near Capitol Hill to redefine family and community. “You can’t think of a negative thought,” Dyer, a junior in education from Evans ton, said. “It was such a positive feeling standing in the middle of so many people who were on the same page as far as the Black agenda was concerned.”

Dyer was one of more than 70 SIUC students who traveled to Washington, D.C., on Monday, described by Black leaders as the “holy day of awakening,” to participate in the Million Man March.

The march, as idea of the Nation of Islam leader Louis Farrakhan, was organized to better define and empower the nation’s black men in their community.

Dyer said many of the things proposed by speakers at the march were intelligent and important in the

As the second focus of a three-part series, the SIUC men’s swim team looks to repeat as MVC champions.

Sports page 16

Weather

Today: Sunny

High: 93
Low: 53

INSIDE

Index

Op/Ed........ page 5
Classifieds........ page 11
Comics........ page 13
Sports........ page 16

Sports

page 16

Weather

Today: Sunny

High: 93
Low: 53

INSIDE

Index

Op/Ed........ page 5
Classifieds........ page 11
Comics........ page 13
Sports........ page 16

Sports

page 16

Weather

Today: Sunny

High: 93
Low: 53
IMPROVEMENTS TO CHINESE TOILETS IN WORKS - BEIJING—Over the past 150 years, problems with Chinese sanitation have dogged the country. Now, another program of modernization is sweeping the land. The government has made sanitation a priority.

The system of toilets is an embarrassing sign of backwardness and a hindrance to further economic development, and announced a major effort to change that. One of the most important aspects of Chinese life. Not even the government has a polite term for them. Most are concrete or cinder-block structures, divided in half for male and female use. Toilets of this sort are rarely found, ventilation, almost never. Under the foundation's leadership, 38 "model public toilets" are under construction; they will have minimum construction costs, a large amount of green spaces, and hand-washing equipment included.

EUROPEAN RADIO STATIONS MAY LOSE FUNDING - WASHINGTON—Suddenly a month after Radio Free Europe and its sister station Radio Liberty moved from Munich to Prague, a radical cost-cutting step designed to ensure their survival, the future of two American-funded radio stations is again in doubt. By general agreement, Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty played an important role in the collapse of communism, becoming an unowned news and analysis destination for the Iron Curtain. Supporters of the stations argue that they have become the victim of indiscriminate budget-cutting. At a time when there is intense pressure to balance the budgets, the causes that low tide out to be those without a readily identifiable domestic political constituency.

FREQUENCY OF CHRONIC FATIGUE UNCERTAIN - nation - Studies suggest that at least one-fourth of the general adult population has had fatigue lasting two weeks or more, so doctors often have trouble determining who suffers from a chronic fatigue syndrome. In a December 1994 revision of what has been an evolving definition of the disorder, the consensus is that the investigators for Disease Control and Prevention agreed on criteria based on the time and severity of debilitating fatigue and its related symptoms. The primary complaint must be unexplained "persistent or relapsing fatigue" lasting for six months or longer that cannot be alleviated by rest and that results in marked reduction in previous levels of work or personal or social activities. Estimating how common chronic fatigue syndrome has been difficult. A comprehensive estimate from a large, four-city CDC study of patients referred from physicians suggested a minimum of 4 to 10 cases per 100,000 adults 18 years of age or older.

CITY TAKES STEPS TO BAN CHEAP HANDGUNS - WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—West Hollywood on Monday night took an initial step toward banning the sale of "Saturday night specials" or the first such action in the state against the cheap handguns. The City Council unanimously approved the drafting of an ordinance restricting the sale of handguns. But some officials say the enforcement is frequently used in crimes. Officials in nearby Los Angeles, Santa Monica and other cities applauded the West Hollywood proposal and said they may follow suit. The exact weapons to be banned remain to be defined, although they probably will include those that the federal government prohibited for importation in 1968. The council plans to vote on the ordinance in about a month once such details are ironed out.

ANTI-ABORTION DOCTORS MAY OFFER RU-486 - A comprehensive survey of doctors who practice in Idaho, which has the second lowest abortion rate of any state, found that while most physicians do not support the procedure, a small minority of doctors would be interested in using the French abortion drug RU-486 should it become available. The survey was conducted by Dr. John Roger A. Rosenblatt and his colleagues at the University of Washington School of Medicine, involved 138 doctors — general surgeons, family physicians, and obstetrician-gynecologists — who practiced in a rural area of fewer than 20,000 residents located more than 50 miles from a city, from Daily Egyptian wire services
Week offers tips on women's safety and concerns

By Melissa Jakubowski
Daily Egyptian Reporter

All women, especially college students, should be concerned about protecting themselves from assault, a police official and one victim of such an assault have indicated.

As part of Women's Safety Week, local organizations are offering their services and tips to women of their chances of being sexually assaulted, and offer preventative measures to help avoid attacks.

Tammi Reynolds, a representative of Southern Illinois Regional Social Services, which provides community programming advice, said women in the age bracket 16-24, which includes many college students, is four times more likely to be sexually assaulted than any other age group.

In September of last year, Reynolds conducted a survey that asked 246 SIUC students if they had ever been raped. Her survey showed 20 percent of the responding women felt they had been raped.

Carolyn Pryne, coordinator of the Rape Action Committee, said she began her career then entered pageant competition obtained top scores in several categories in the competition, and finished as the second runner-up. She obtained recognition for pageants, and that Springfield, captured first runner-up of 90 participants.

Miss Illinois Teen All-American, Tracy Hypke, said she captured the title last year. "I think this will help me with the media. It gives us more flexibility," she said. Administrators and dispatchers both say the service's first day went well.

"There weren't any problems," Carbondale Fire Chief Dan Mans said. Mans is also vice chairman of the 911 board. One dispatcher said although 911 is an emergency system, those are not the kinds of calls she has to go through.

"Most of the calls I got were people calling to see if a works," Dispatcher Nancy Hary said.

Jackson County 911 begins working with improvements to come

By Alan Schmepf
Daily Egyptian reporter

Jackson County 911 service made its debut Monday and although there are still some problem-free, administrators say the service will get "very better with time."

The system presently gives dispatchers a call's location, phone number and emergency services for the location, an improvement over the old system where that information was provided by the caller or looked-up in county reference materials, administrators say.

Because the service will incorporate 911's new computer software, administrators have a myriad of options to improve 911, said Glenn Sebker, secretary of the

"There's so many line details that could be added in," Sebker said. He said some of these options may burden the service more than they help.

"On the surface it looks like a good idea," Sebker said of adding specific information into the system. "The problem is keeping up with the system. "Keeping tabs on disabled households, for example, would be a very long process because people move to different residences, he said.

Sebker said the 911 board formed a committee to look at the options available to improve the system. Besides streamlining the dispatching process, 911 may have other benefits.

"Sebker said the system will keep a caller history log that will alert emergency workers know how many times a caller has used the system.

"He said this could alert officials of future problems as well. Sebker said it is too early to accurately say when the options will be available for use within a year. "It depends on whether we find a vendor that has a package we want," he said.

Sebker said even though the service is running, Jackson County residents still should expect to see the $1.25 fee that has funded 911 since 1991. More than $1.8 million has been collected through the fees. Sebker said, $1.2 million of this money has already been spent to get the system up and running.

Another $250,000 will have to be paid to 911 for an installation fee, a seven year maintenance contract and a lease deposit on the system.

Sebker said the board chose to lease equipment so it would not be stuck with obsolete hardware down the road.

"It gives us more flexibility," he said. Administrators and dispatchers both say the service's first day went well.

"There weren't any problems," Carbondale Fire Chief Dan Mans said. Mans is also vice chairman of the 911 board. One dispatcher said although 911 is an emergency system, those are not the kinds of calls she has to go through.

"Most of the calls I got were people calling to see if a works," Dispatcher Nancy Hary said.

SIUC student wins first runner up in Miss Illinois Teen All-American pageant

By Cynthia Sheets
Daily Egyptian Reporter

An SIUC student, who has obtained top scores in several beauty pageant categories, is currently the Miss Illinois Teen All-American pageant winner.

Tracy Hypke, a freshman in radio and television from Springfield, captured first runner-up in the Miss Illinois Teen All-American pageant on Sunday.

"I think this will help me with my background in radio and television," Hypke said. "I can get recognition for my background, and that will be something to put on my resume."

"My fantasy is to be on CNN prime-time newscast nationwide," Hypke said. "I see myself as a reporter."

Hypke, who is seeking a career in the media, said she began her career then with the same competition, the Miss Illinois Teen All-American pageant, and finished as the second runner-up.

The 1995 Miss Illinois Teen All-American contest was held over the weekend in Lincolnwood, a suburb of Chicago, and is the preliminary step to the Miss Teen All-American.

Preliminaries started at 8 p.m. on Saturday, and continued Sunday from 1 to 3 p.m. Hypke said the judges announced the top 20 contestants first, then the top five, then the winners.

"I thought we had a very strong group," she said. "I had no idea where I would place. There were so many girls. It was really up in the air."

She said she had participated in the Sunburst beauty pageant, and the 1995 Miss Illinois National Teenager competition, in which she captured the title last year. "I know the woman that ran the county fair pageants," she said. "That's how I got started."

There are three equally scored categories in the competition, Hypke said, the interview, swim, and evening gown areas.

While there has been much controversy over the swimsuit category, Hypke said she feels it should be kept a part of the over-all contest.

"People should be able to show that they are physically fit," she said. "It's the way to show that you're healthy."

Hypke said she keeps fit through karate, of which she has been a student for 12 years and holds a second degree black belt. "I started when I was six years old," she said. "My parents were in it for a year, and then they asked me if I wanted to join."

"Our parents have been extremely supportive," she said, and have helped to sponsor her in competition.

University says Clinton's visit worth the price

When President Clinton came to SIUC last month, he brought with him an ensemble of press people who filmed, recorded and wrote down everything he said. But it was where he was said it — SIUC that is — that University Relations Director Jack Dyer says made Clinton's trip worth its cost to the University.

The University shelled out nearly $70,000 for the Sep. 11 Clinton visit. Most of the cost went to the labor needed from the Physical Plant as well as the companies which built the stage the president spoke on, Dyer said.

"The expense included security and more than $2,600 in SIU baseball caps which were given to members of the president's national press corps."

Dyer, who is in charge of all public relations for SIUC, said the caps were a wise investment.

"I'm not going to get national press corps people at SIUC every day," he said. "They not only wear the caps while they were here, but they continued to wear them when they left."

The exact cost — $67,891.10 — was $1,900 more than Dyer estimated. But he said, "It gives us more flexibility."
Million disabled men should march to D.C.

The Million Man March serves as the ultimate statement that blacks face each day. I hope that in the future a march for people with mental and physical disabilities will come. People with all types of disabilities are ignored by the federal government, much like blacks are. Although there are blacks in both the House and Senate, both continue to save a predominantly white majority. It’s so unfortunate that the normal white male refuses to accept the fact that blacks are minorities (including the disabled) in all sorts of jobs and high-raking positions. I personally suffer from autism, it’s a rare development of the brain and the information that it receives, I’m a proud white male that doesn’t act like any other white male. I’ve been teased heavily by other white males, because of my strange behavior, my disability brings. My whole life I’ve been treated as a second class citizen like black people, I face a great deal of prejudice and discrimination as much as blacks do. It gets so frustrating that our needs in the country aren’t being met by the mess up government.

My problems are compounded by the fact that I’m the only SIUC student with autism. It gets me that blacks are continually denied the things they need, Food stamps, social security benefits go to the people who don’t really need them, especially the normal white male. Of course there are whites, both male and female, that suffer from disabilities other than myself.

The disabled need a rally planned in the future like the Million Man March in Washington. Rallys can tell the white male government not to ignore any minority groups and women.

It would be wonderful if there were normal white males in all sections of the government. In closing I hope that everybody can get together as one race, the human race. Also, the blacks should be proud that a rally to stop the normal white male dominance is now underway. It shows Washington that they won’t be ignored any further. Welcome to the 90’s and the 21st century, normal white males!

Mike Rich
Senior, Computer Information Processing

Quotable Quotes

"There is more nonsense talked and written about Yoga than about anything else in the world. Most of this nonsense, which is fostered by charlatans, is based upon the fact that it is mysterious and Oriental about it. There isn’t."

-Ashley Crowley, author, Eight Lectures on Yoga

"Total freedom is never what one imagines and, in fact, hardly exists. It comes as a shock in life to learn that we usually only exchange one set of restrictions for another. And, however, is self-chosen and therefore easier to accept."

-Ann Morrow Lindbergh, author, 1973

How to submit a letter to the editor:

A: You
B: Letter
C: Editor

350 words maximum

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors only. Unsigned editorials represent a consensus of the Daily Egyptian Board. Letters to the editor must be submitted in person to the editorial page editor, the Student Union, Communications Building. Letters should be typewritten and double spaced. All letters are subject to editing and will not be limited to 350 words. Students may submit up to three letters to the editor per semester. All communications from faculty members by rank and department, non-admit staff by position and department. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be made will not be published.
Farrakhan's statements scare many

By E.J. Dionne Jr., The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—A lot of white people feel we Americans must stand together to fight against racism. A lot of African Americans who have spent their whole lives battling for black liberation against those who refuse to join hands with a leader who dis瑞gphates a message of self-help with the deep scars of history.

The tragedy that this march took place in Detroit, because the leadership it did was brought about to anyone who visited the rally Monday and spoke with nor the leaders with those who did the marching. I cannot speak with any certainty about the hundreds or even the tens of thousands of people—lots of people of all things. But the spirit I encountered was not one of division but more of affirmation and enthusiasm about building around some old-fashioned virines. This crowd was better than that.

Claude Strickland came from Detroit and was playing on the grass. But as we walked around, he said he was marching for black people. "I want him to up so he won't know he is marching with us," Strickland said by way of explain­ing their presence.

Scott Pleasant, Md., said he was marching for "unity," which he defined specifically as "annihilating those or putting an end to all the hatred and to stop killing each other," he said. Then he smiled and acknowledged that he was attending for much more—"that and about 100 other things." But the one thing he wanted not marching for, he insisted, was March 8. "It's a march of love, love for yourself," Smith noted. "March for the love of yourself, Smith said. "March for the love of love, love for yourself, Smith said.

Smith noted captured perfectly the deep ambiguities of this march and the spirit now abroad in the country on race. It's widely accepted, so to the popular way, that "if you don't love your­self, you can't love anybody else." It's also true that group self-suggestion is as American as rock-'n'-roll. It's surely but unknown to me, French, not English, was the first language because my parents spoke almost exclusively in French-speaking Quebec, and they hoped their children would share the same feeling. My parents were very open people. They did this not because they were anti-anything, but simply because they honored the culture from which they sprang. They probably would have understood what Martin Smith meant when he spoke of "love for yourself."

But "love for yourself" is a twod­imensional concept, especially when it applies to groups, and there is a strong case to be made that America must needs new right now is not group self-suggestion, but rather: a persistent and patient effort to vindicate the rights of those who do not belong in our own group. That means that white people need to speak up against racism, anti-Jewish anti­Semitism, the native-born against immigration, blacks against white bashing. This is one reason why the wit­ness of these black leaders who refused to march with Farrakhan was so powerful. What they said was simple and level and, in its sin­gle form, that one form of hatred does not justify another. They were also saying something more complicated: that it's possible to stand for all the things that so many of the rank-and-file supporters were saying—such as the need to end racism, to take responsibility for one's community and one's family, against violence — without giving up on the possibility of building Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s, "beloved community" across the lines of creed and color.

But those African Americans willing to stand up for the beloved community have a right to demand that whites join in this project and not instead retreat behind their own barricades. President Clinton was right Monday when he said that "white racism may be black people's pur­den, but it's white people's prob­lem. We need to make the problem that feeds movements such as Farrakhan's, Dr. King warned about this very long time ago, in his 1963 Letter from Birmingham Jail, when he addressed his "white brothers." King said that if whites declined to join in nonviolent and inclusive efforts to achieve change, "millions of Negroes will, out of frustration and despair, seek some form of security in black nationalism ideologies — a development that would inevitably lead to a frightening racial nightmare." Right now, there is a pulling away into racial enclaves — intellectual as well as geographical-less, this war. We should stand in your community. The battle for racial equality is not primarily about enhancing the power of blacks as a group, nor is it primarily about making a problem go away so whites as a group can feel more comfortable. It is a common cause to improve a whole country, and it will only succeed if its goal transcends our respective communities. Perhaps sooner or later, we will have a march that is about not just what each group must do for itself but for what all of us must do for, and with, one another.

---

FICTION

Brant Corbin

The SIU Arena has adopted a new first day of sales wristband/line lottery system for major concerts.

Do You Attend SIU Arena Concerts?

The SIU Arena has adopted a new first day of sales wristband/line lottery system for major concerts.

If you wish to participate:

1. You must pick up your wristband in person at SIU Arena

Announcements of distribution dates will be made on local radio stations.

2. You will receive only one wristband. It will be put on by SIU Arena Staff.

3. Wristbands will not be available the first day of sales.

4. Wristbands are not transferable.

5. There is a 10 ticket limit.

6. Camping is prohibited and no other lines or lists will be honored.

7. A wristband is not necessary to purchase tickets.

Questions? Call

SIU Arena
(618) 535-3341

Open for Lunch Delivery Mon-Sat. 11 a.m.-Late Night

ATTENTION!!

Questions? Call

SIU Arena
(618) 535-3341

Open for Lunch Delivery Mon-Sat. 11 a.m.-Late Night

Earn 2.2-3.2 oz. Peppers

$7.75

only

$12.50

with this coupon

$7.50

with this coupon

Leaves you speaking its own language

LET YOU SPEAK ITALIAN

Clip and save

Calendrier

 TODAY **

 MEETINGS **

PSI CHI psychology honor group will meet at 7 p.m. in the Thebes Room of the Student Center. Details: Hall 614-3479.

SPC SOCIAL Awareness, 6 p.m., Student Center Activity Room C. Details: Erica, 536-3392.

AMERICAN ADVERTISING Federation presents speaker Vivian Ugent of the American Red Cross. 7 p.m., Communications Bldg. rm. 1248. Details: Paul, 549-4499.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE Organization, 6 p.m., at the Student Center Video Lounge. Details: Bethia, 529-2591.

SIUC BRIDGE CLUB, Duplicate Bridge Game, 6:15 p.m., 5379 Faner. Details: 1-800-932-0504.

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES in Japan: SIUC Nakaje, 3 p.m., Humanities Lounge 2302 Faner Hall. Details: 1-800-932-0504.

PRESSA, 7 p.m., 121 Lawson Hall. Details: Shelia, 535-0308.

FRIENDS FOR Native Americans, 7 p.m., Interfaith Center. Details: Marc, 549-8275.

 TUESDAY **

 Meetings **

EGYPTIAN DIVE CLUB, Pool Session Afternoon, 6:30 p.m., 21 Peltier Hall. Details: John, 529-3232.

GAY/LESBIAN/BISEXUAL Opening Out Support Group. Services are confidential. Details: Clinical Center, 543-2361.

SIU ASIAN Studies Association Lunch Lecture. Dr. Masao Hisako: "Peacet Subjugation by Japanese Women: Feminity Decline in Japan." Noon, Student Center Activity Room C.

CAVING CLUB, 6:30 p.m., Longbranch Coffee House. Details: Marc, 536-7822.

SIU COLLEGE Republicans reception for elected officials. 6 p.m., Old Main Lounge. Details: 549-1229.

MAD MUDDY/FILM Alternatives is screening this year under the banner of the "We Are Family" series, at 6 p.m. Cinema and Photography Screening Room. Details: 549-8311.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB Meeting, Office hour for students. Details: Jackie Pratt, 543-7653 or 351-0541.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS College Sailing Club. 7 p.m., The Troy Room, 1010 S. First. Details: Dave, 544-5880.

WOMEN'S SELF-DEFENSE class. Port of Southern Illinois Women's Safety Week. 711 students, 12 p.m., Student Recreation Center Aerobic Room. Details: call 543-1263.

 THURSDAY **

 Speakers **

STUDENT ENVIRONMENTAL Action presents speaker John Gunther on the topic of "Living on Earth" in the SIU Arena. Details: SEDC, 549-7267.

 Meetings **

SIU ASIAN Studies Association, 5 p.m., Student Center Theses room.

MUSEUM STUDENT Group, 5 p.m., 2400 Faner Hall. Details: Diana, 543-5380.

 Film **

SCF FILMS presents "Kidz" 7 p.m., Student Center Auditorium. Admission $2.
black community.

He said the SUCP group that went to the march has taken what they have learned and are already making plans to better Carbondale’s black community.

“We are going to start a think-tank in the community to make people aware of the black-owned businesses in town and to let people know what services they offer,” he said. “This is a social and economic way of going about change. We have to clean up our own house, before we can clean up anyone else.”

Larry Hall, a junior in administration of justice from Chicago, said he believes there were more than the media-estimated 50,000 people at the march.

Hall said the conservera from the park district and Louis Farrakhan esp. 5 million.

“I guess the media who estimated 50,000 didn’t want the public to know just how powerful Farrakhan is,” he said. “There were brothers from all around the world at the march.”

Hall said the fact that the march actually attracted a million people proves just how powerful the black community can be when united.

“The march was the best thing that could have happened to the black community,” he said. “On that day, there was no fighting, no arguing, just the black community united as one.”

Yesterday, when the majority of group returned, there were two well­come house celebrations, one at the Student Center and one at Alumnae Park.

A press conference will be held today. Those who went will answer questions regarding the march. The time and place has not been announced.

feel as if he had paid his dues and done a good job.

Tatham grew up in Macomb and said he is looking forward to coming to SUCP because he will be close to his family, and he likes the area. Tatham received his master’s degree in physical education from Montana State University and his bachelor’s degree in recreation and park administration from Western Illinois University.

He said he spent a summer working in the Shawnee National Forest while attending Western, and is excited to be moving down here.

Tatham said Carbondale is a town and community that a person could plan on living in for a while.

“It’s a great opportunity professionally for me,” Tatham said. “I’m looking forward to the challenge.”

Director

continued from page 1

THE COMEDY EXPLOSION

A Series on Women’s Wellness

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

Fall 1995

Women, Wine, & Wellness

Learn about self-esteem and substances.

7:00 p.m., October 19, 1995

Kaskaskia Room, Student Center

Jarb Fijolek, Speaker

For more information, contact the Student Health Programs Wellness Center at 536-6441.

S. Gregory Benanti DMD, PC.
The Murphysboro Health Center – Dental Clinic
Now Accepting New Patients
All Dental Insurance Plans Accepted

State of Illinois • Dental Care Plus

General Dentistry

Office Hours by appointment

S P C

• Spice!

For Sweetest Day, just add SPC -Spice!

S P C

G F

ypcyladl rv.

8th Annual Undergraduate Exhibition Call For Entries

Open to all SUCP Undergraduate and Graduate Art Majors.

Wednesday, October 18 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Spc Student Center, Lower Level

All Media Accepted

A Special 3 New Art Media

For information on how to pick up applications call SPC Office of Visual Arts 536-3393.

S P C

COMMITTEE

8th Annual Undergraduate Exhibition Call For Entries

Open to all SUCP Undergraduate and Graduate Art Majors.

Wednesday, October 18 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Spc Student Center, Lower Level

All Media Accepted

A Special 3 New Art Media

For information on how to pick up applications call SPC Office of Visual Arts 536-3393.
Bill is working to create restrictions on immigration

The Los Angeles Times
WASHINGTON— This week, a House committee is poised to approve the first major restrictions on legal immigration in 71 years. The controversial legislation comes amid a decade in which the annual number of new citizens to the United States has matched the record highs during the first years of the century.

But until recently, the attack on immigration has focused just on those who are in this country illegally.

In June, however, a bipartisan study panel led by former Rep. Barbara Jordan urged that legal immigration be reduced by 30 percent. Generally, only highly skilled workers and the spouses and young children of authorized citizens should be let in, the panel said.

President Clinton quickly endorsed the recommendations, and the Republican-led House Judiciary Committee has pressed forward to craft a detailed bill.

But the legislation is less likely to become law this year than to set off a national debate about immigration that may well carry over into the 1996 elections.

It raises the most basic of questions: Is immigration good for America?

Thirty years ago this month, when Congress liberalized the immigration laws and wiped away the racial quotas set in the 1920s, most Americans would have said "yes."

But high rates of immigration from Third World nations—combined with economic troubles in California, have apparently changed public opinion and spurred calls for change.

A 1993 Gallup Poll, for example, found that 65 percent of those surveyed favor more restrictions on immigration, double the percentage who said the same in 1965. A Harris survey in 1992 found that while most Americans thought immigration was a good thing historically, 68 percent said that immigration now is "bad for this country."

Rep. Lamar Smith, R-Texas, chief sponsor of the House bill, does not bash legal immigrants, but says their numbers need to be scaled down.

"The cliche is true: we are a nation of immigrants. Still, America cannot afford all those who want to journey here," Smith said.

His bill, following the Jordan Commission proposal, seeks to end the system of "chain migration" that allows new citizens, many of whom come here illegally before 1986, to bring into this country many of their relatives.

Women

continued from page 3

Leslie Strateger, a campus safety representative, said between 90-95 percent of women do not report sexual assaults.

Strateger said according to studies done by the National Victim Center, the number of police reported sexual assaults need to be multiplied by nine or ten to get a estimate of sexual assaults in an area. Because of unfamiliar surroundings and risk behavior, such as experimenting with drugs and alcohol, college students are a prime target for sexual assaults, Prinz said.

"Rapes take advantage of vulnerability," she said.

Prinz said most rapes reported to the Rape Action Committee occur at dorm parties, house parties or at home.

"Most rapes occur by someone the victim trusts," she said, "Women have to watch out for strangers and acquaintances. It is a horrible situation to be in."

Reynolds said many rapists make their victims feel guilty about a situation. She said a rapist, for example, will say he needs to use a victim’s phone for an emergency.

Prinz said one of the best preventative measures against rape is to use the buddy system. She said to tell friends who you are with or where you are going and stay in a safe environment.

Prinz said fighting is the best way to get out of an assault. She said pleading or begging are the least effective ways. Surviving the attack is the most important matter.

Reynolds said she hopes people take part in the programs for Women’s Safety Week, which ends Saturday.

"It is a great educational opportunity to learn how to decrease your chances of being raped before something happens to you," she said.

Two SIUC students said they already take precautions to avoid rape and sexual assault.

Dara Robinson, a SIUC freshman said she would not travel at night by herself.

"We usually travel in packs of guys and girls," Danielle West, a SIUC freshman said it is a good idea to have a guide instead of going out alone with someone for the first time.

"It helps avoid risky situations," she said.

Women have to watch out for predatory men. They will say he needs to use a victim’s phone for an emergency. It is a horrible situation to be in."

Most rapes occur by someone the victim trusts," she said. "Women have to watch out for strangers and acquaintances. It is a horrible situation to be in."

Reynolds said many rapists make their victims feel guilty about a situation. She said a rapist, for example, will say he needs to use a victim’s phone for an emergency.

Prinz said one of the best preventative measures against rape is to use the buddy system. She said to tell friends who you are with or where you are going and stay in a safe environment.

Prinz said fighting is the best way to get out of an assault. She said pleading or begging are the least effective ways. Surviving the attack is the most important matter.

Reynolds said she hopes people take part in the programs for Women’s Safety Week, which ends Saturday.

"It is a great educational opportunity to learn how to decrease your chances of being raped before something happens to you," she said.

Two SIUC students said they already take precautions to avoid rape and sexual assault.

Dara Robinson, a SIUC freshman said she would not travel at night by herself.

"We usually travel in packs of guys and girls," Danielle West, a SIUC freshman said it is a good idea to have a guide instead of going out alone with someone for the first time.

"It helps avoid risky situations," she said.

Women have to watch out for predatory men. They will say he needs to use a victim’s phone for an emergency. It is a horrible situation to be in."

Most rapes occur by someone the victim trusts," she said. "Women have to watch out for strangers and acquaintances. It is a horrible situation to be in."

Reynolds said many rapists make their victims feel guilty about a situation. She said a rapist, for example, will say he needs to use a victim’s phone for an emergency.

Prinz said one of the best preventative measures against rape is to use the buddy system. She said to tell friends who you are with or where you are going and stay in a safe environment.

Prinz said fighting is the best way to get out of an assault. She said pleading or begging are the least effective ways. Surviving the attack is the most important matter.

Reynolds said she hopes people take part in the programs for Women’s Safety Week, which ends Saturday.

"It is a great educational opportunity to learn how to decrease your chances of being raped before something happens to you," she said.

Two SIUC students said they already take precautions to avoid rape and sexual assault.

Dara Robinson, a SIUC freshman said she would not travel at night by herself.

"We usually travel in packs of guys and girls," Danielle West, a SIUC freshman said it is a good idea to have a guide instead of going out alone with someone for the first time.

"It helps avoid risky situations," she said.
GPSC seeks representation in decisions about cuts to graduate school programs

By Wendy L. Allmy
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Graduate and Professional Student Council executives say they are seeking council support tonight for GPSC representation on all University budget committees, so the council can monitor proposed cuts to graduate school programs.

A resolution presenting student representation on budget reduction policy committees during the 1996 fiscal year will be presented to the council at tonight’s GPSC meeting. The resolution states that graduate students are affected by University budget decisions. GPSC members should be active participants in the budgeting and decision-making process.

Mark Terry, GPSC vice president of graduate school affairs, said budget reductions are expected throughout SIUC academic departments because of decreases in both enrollment and state funding. Areas which may receive funding cuts include graduate assistantships, fellowships and travel dollars, Terry said.

GPSC President William Karrw said the resolution will allow GPSC members to express what should be spared from funding cuts in each department. Increased GPSC representation on budget committees also provides more information for constituents, Karrw said.

"Hopefully, this way no one will be uninformed," Karrw said. In addition, Karrw said the council will consider contributing funds to the SIU Alumni Association's effort to provide the Pulliam clock tower with lights.

"It’s our landmark now, so it would be nice if people could see it at night," Karrw said.

House seeks to impose limits on legalized ‘chain migration’

WASHINGTON—This week, a House committee is poised to approve the first major restrictions on legal immigration in 71 years. Rep. Lamar Smith, R-Texas, sponsored the bill, which seeks to end the system of “chain migration” that allows new citizens, many of whom came here illegally before 1986, to bring into this country many of their relatives.

A naturalized citizen could bring in a spouse and minor children under the House bill, but not his parents, siblings, adult offspring or relatives by marriage that can now be brought into the country. This year, the bill calls for the admission of about 80,000 people.

Over the next five years, the House bill seeks to reduce that annual number to 58,000.

It’s What’s Between The Ears That Counts.

Where do you go to gain “real world” experience in a college-level program?

Use your head. Think Disney!

Representatives will be on campus to answer all your questions about the WALT DISNEY WORLD College Program.

Interviewings: All majors for positions throughout theme parks and resorts. Positions include attractions, food & beverage, merchandise, lifeguarding, among many others.

Presentation Date: October 19, 1995
Time: 6:00 pm
Location: Lawson Hall, Room 171

For more information, contact: Myke Ramsey
An Equal Opportunity Employer Drawing Creativity from Diversity
Police Blotter

Carbondale Police

- John A. Edwards, 20, of Desoto, reported that someone forced entry to his locked car parked at 326 N. Illinois Ave. at 4:30 p.m. on Oct. 16. Edwards said someone ransacked the inside of his car and stole an in-dash stereo, a CD player, and a stereo amplifier. The estimated loss is $1,050.

- A woman was grabbed from behind in the Brookside Manor parking lot area at 10:15 p.m. on Oct. 14. Police said a man grabbed her by the throat with one hand, put his other hand over her mouth. He allegedly told her to keep quiet as he dragged her into the woods near the parking area. Police said the suspect threw the victim to her hands and knees, pulled her shirt out of the back of her pants and struck her each time she tried to reason with him. The suspect allegedly asked the victim how much money she had. Police said when the victim replied that she only had $5 the suspect said “You are not worth it,” and fled.

University Police

- A 19-year-old male student reported he was approached from behind while walking through Thomson Woods between 9:10 p.m. and 9:15 p.m. on Oct. 16. Police said the suspect grabbed the victim with one arm and displayed a knife with the other hand. Police said the victim informed the suspect that he only had $5, at which time the suspect pushed the victim away and fled the scene. The suspect is described as a black male, five feet eleven inches tall, medium build, wearing a dark sweat jacket, dark jeans and a blue ballcap with hair sticking out around the cap.

- An 18-year-old student reported that she applied for a credit card company for purchases in excess of $1000. There are no suspects and the incident is still under investigation.

---

Northwestern College of Chiropractic

Northwestern College of Chiropractic offers rigorous four year professional education. Our focus is on science, diagnosis, chiropractic methods, patient care and research provides our graduates with the tools they need as primary care physicians in the health care environment. NCWC is fully accredited by North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and the Council on Chiropractic Education.

Graduate Program - Health Systems Management

Knowledge and skills acquired in the Graduate Program in Health Systems Management at Rush University are a required component of the curriculum for a Master of Science degree, which offers the following benefits:

- Practical health care experience through paid part-time employment during the school year and in the summer.
- Small, personalized classes.
- An extensive and successful job placement network.
- Summer and postgraduate international internship and fellowship opportunities.
- Immersion with Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center - one of the most prestigious health care facilities in the world.
- Availability of scholarships and financial packages.
- The vibrant city of Chicago, home of great culture, food and entertainment.

YOUR CAREER IN HEALTH CARE ADMINISTRATION STARTS HERE - RUSH UNIVERSITY

Northwestern College of Chiropractic

For more information or to arrange a visit, call us at (312) 912-5102 or 1-800-912-5102.

© RUSH

Department of Health Systems Management

1653 West Congress Parkway

Chicago, Illinois 60612
County officials combat Hepatitis A outbreak

By: Lord D. Clark
Daily Egyptian Reporter

To combat an outbreak of the Hepatitis A virus in Jackson County, local health officials say they are trying to educate the community and parents about the virus and how it spreads.

Virginia Scott, administrator of Jackson County Health Department, said a total of eight Hepatitis A cases have been reported in the Veggiehills area of Jackson County, which is about 1.5 miles from Carbondale. Three of the cases were reported Monday and five were diagnosed late last week. Six of the cases were in elementary school children, one case in a high school student and one adult case.

Scott said health officials have visited schools and met with parents and teachers to discuss how the virus is spread. Scott said Hepatitis A is a virus that enters the mouth and multiplies in the body. She said it can be passed by people who do not thoroughly wash their hands after using the toilet or by a person with contaminated hands handling food which will be consumed by others.

We want the community to cooperate in not doing food events until the outbreak is over," Scott said.

Scott said bringing food from homes, which have been exposed to the virus, to other public places may also be an avenue for spreading Hepatitis A.

Carla Griffen, of the Jackson County Health Department, said these already infected with the virus are advised to remain at home and maintain good personal hygiene, such as thorough hand washing.

Scott said it is not known how long the outbreak will last.

"People are going in for testing," she said. "I have no idea how long it may go on. We're investigating all leads."

Scott said immunity globulin has been given to several people exposed to the virus within 14 days of exposure to provide temporary protection.

A person exposed to the virus is contagious for two weeks before they develop symptoms and one week after they develop symptoms, Scott said.

Scott said symptoms may appear as early as two weeks after exposure to as long as six weeks, but usually occur between four weeks after coming into contact with the virus.

Symptoms of Hepatitis A include fatigue, fever, abdominal discomfort, diarrhea, jaundice, poor appetite, nausea and vomiting. Also, urine may appear darker than normal when infected with the virus.

Scott said children usually experience mild cases of the virus, while Hepatitis A may be more serious in adults.

Contact Group still divided on key Balkans issues

Los Angeles Times

MOSCOW — Diplomats of the chronically discordant Contact Group on Bosnia dreamed their Tuesday session here was a last chance to forge a united strategy ahead of a Balkans peace conference in the United States later this month, but scattered still sharply divided on vital issues.

Despite vows to intensify mediation efforts and vague claims of narrowing their internal differences, negotiators from the five-nation team trying to broker peace in former Yugoslavia conceded they remained at odds with each other over how to approach the warning parties.

"Do not assume we are going to fall into a peace agreement," U.S. envoy Richard Holbrooke warned after the two-day session that appeared more successful in saving Rovno's domestic frictions than in boosting the prospects for Balkans peace.

"There is much too much of an assumption that we have peace around the corner," Holbrooke said. "Peace is not around the corner."

The team conflict playing the Contact Group for the past few months has been the policies espoused by Russia and the other four countries in the forum.

"We want to see an agreement on the full withdrawal of all armed forces within a short period," Andrew Kasyanov, the Russian envoy, said. RUSSIA'S DOMESTIC FRUCTIONS THAN IN

"We want to see a complete withdrawal of all forces within a short period," Andrew Kasyanov, the Russian envoy, said.

On Tuesday, meeting separately for the first time since July, Russian and Belgrade representatives agreed to a joint statement to that effect, which the Contact Group concurred.

"There is no question of any peace agreement if Russia is not around the table," Kasyanov said.

Scott said Hepatitis A is a virus that enters the mouth and multiplies in the body. She said it can be passed by people who do not thoroughly wash their hands after using the toilet or by a person with contaminated hands handling food which will be consumed by others.

We want the community to cooperate in not doing food events until the outbreak is over," Scott said.

Scott said bringing food from homes, which have been exposed to the virus, to other public places may also be an avenue for spreading Hepatitis A.

Carla Griffen, of the Jackson County Health Department, said these already infected with the virus are advised to remain at home and maintain good personal hygiene, such as thorough hand washing.

Scott said it is not known how long the outbreak will last.

"People are going in for testing," she said. "I have no idea how long it may go on. We're investigating all leads."

Scott said immunity globulin has been given to several people exposed to the virus within 14 days of exposure to provide temporary protection.

A person exposed to the virus is contagious for two weeks before they develop symptoms and one week after they develop symptoms, Scott said.

Scott said symptoms may appear as early as two weeks after exposure to as long as six weeks, but usually occur between four weeks after coming into contact with the virus.

Symptoms of Hepatitis A include fatigue, fever, abdominal discomfort, diarrhea, jaundice, poor appetite, nausea and vomiting. Also, urine may appear darker than normal when infected with the virus.

Scott said children usually experience mild cases of the virus, while Hepatitis A may be more serious in adults.

Contact Group still divided on key Balkans issues

Los Angeles Times

MOSCOW — Diplomats of the chronically discordant Contact Group on Bosnia dreamed their Tuesday session here was a last chance to forge a united strategy ahead of a Balkans peace conference in the United States later this month, but scattered still sharply divided on vital issues.

Despite vows to intensify mediation efforts and vague claims of narrowing their internal differences, negotiators from the five-nation team trying to broker peace in former Yugoslavia conceded they remained at odds with each other over how to approach the warning parties.

"Do not assume we are going to fall into a peace agreement," U.S. envoy Richard Holbrooke warned after the two-day session that appeared more successful in saving Rovno's domestic frictions than in boosting the prospects for Balkans peace.

"There is much too much of an assumption that we have peace around the corner," Holbrooke said. "Peace is not around the corner."

The team conflict playing the Contact Group for the past few months has been the policies espoused by Russia and the other four countries in the forum.

"We want to see an agreement on the full withdrawal of all armed forces within a short period," Andrew Kasyanov, the Russian envoy, said. RUSSIA'S DOMESTIC FRUCTIONS THAN IN

"We want to see a complete withdrawal of all forces within a short period," Andrew Kasyanov, the Russian envoy, said.

On Tuesday, meeting separately for the first time since July, Russian and Belgrade representatives agreed to a joint statement to that effect, which the Contact Group concurred.

"There is no question of any peace agreement if Russia is not around the table," Kasyanov said.

Scott said Hepatitis A is a virus that enters the mouth and multiplies in the body. She said it can be passed by people who do not thoroughly wash their hands after using the toilet or by a person with contaminated hands handling food which will be consumed by others.

We want the community to cooperate in not doing food events until the outbreak is over," Scott said.

Scott said bringing food from homes, which have been exposed to the virus, to other public places may also be an avenue for spreading Hepatitis A.

Carla Griffen, of the Jackson County Health Department, said these already infected with the virus are advised to remain at home and maintain good personal hygiene, such as thorough hand washing.

Scott said it is not known how long the outbreak will last.

"People are going in for testing," she said. "I have no idea how long it may go on. We're investigating all leads."

Scott said immunity globulin has been given to several people exposed to the virus within 14 days of exposure to provide temporary protection.

A person exposed to the virus is contagious for two weeks before they develop symptoms and one week after they develop symptoms, Scott said.

Scott said symptoms may appear as early as two weeks after exposure to as long as six weeks, but usually occur between four weeks after coming into contact with the virus.

Symptoms of Hepatitis A include fatigue, fever, abdominal discomfort, diarrhea, jaundice, poor appetite, nausea and vomiting. Also, urine may appear darker than normal when infected with the virus.

Scott said children usually experience mild cases of the virus, while Hepatitis A may be more serious in adults.
The aliens still haven't shown up. What are we going to do? I've got to get back on my tight schedule tomorrow.

I'll bet these darn aliens got back to their planet and procrastinated! I'll bet they have no respect for deadlines! I'll bet they're doing everything odd and are doing a lousy job at the last second.

If there's not here in five minutes, I'm not showing over the earth. They're not going to learn a lesson.

Mother Goose & Grimm

Can't report that now. Peter, I gotta get more coffee...

Who owns... I need a date!!

If ABC News adopted the "friends" format...

Yeah! That's what happened on Capitol Hill...

Google

Monday

1. Abuser

2. Webshift

3. Hog

4. Small

5. Improper, wrong

6. Spanish word for "Give" (11 Letters)

7. Italian word for "For" (7 Letters)

8. Make a mess of (11 Letters)

9. Small

10. Small

11. Gun

Tuesday

1. Boys

2. Webshift

3. Hog

4. Small

5. Improper, wrong

6. Spanish word for "Give" (11 Letters)

7. Italian word for "For" (7 Letters)

8. Make a mess of (11 Letters)

9. Small

10. Small

11. Gun
Virginia coach moves to pros

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—University of Virginia men's soccer coach Bruce Arena, who has led the Cavaliers to the No. 1 ranking in the country for six seasons, likely will leave the school after this season to coach the Washington Shoreline Professional outdoor soccer league and become the 1996 U.S. Olympic team coach, sources said.

Arena, 44, is in the process of finalizing arrangements for a contract with Major League Soccer, which is scheduled to begin play in the spring of 1996. Although an official announcement will not be made until the college season ends, it is expected that Arena will remain the Olympic team coach in a week or two, other sources said.

Arema coached the Virginia Cavaliers in 18 seasons at Virginia, which is ranked No. 1 in the nation and unbeaten in its past 23 games. He declined comment, but previously has said he is interested in the MLS and Olympic jobs.

"I certainly hope his ultimate decision is to stay at Virginia," Athletic Director Terry Holland said through a university spokesman. "I will support any decision he makes." These developments come as Washington's MLS player roster begins taking shape—and with some impressive signings. Bolivian midfielder Marco Echeverry, one of South America's top players, has signed with the team and is almost certain to join Washington's club for the inaugural season, according to several sources.

In addition, midfielder John Harkes, a former Virginia star and a member of the U.S. national team, has decided to leave the prestigious English League after this season and will play in Washington.

The 1996 MLS and U.S. Olympic coach, U.S. Soccer Federation general secretary Hank Steinbrecher said a plan would be considered to have the Olympic team train at the old Redskin Park in the months leading up to the 1996 Atlanta Games. The current MLS training site is in San Diego.

Steinbrecher made clear that Arena, who has been the leading candidate to take the Olympic team from Yves Lichos, who was fired last week, must be on hand when the team's recent power moves take place.

"We would like Arena to rejoin the Olympic team, and we're trying to look at all the various scenarios now," Steinbrecher said. "We're not sure at this point of all the numbers and see if it will work."
SPORTS

_Continued from page 16_

team and fourth overall at the meet. Cornell ended up 13th as a team in the Frogs' romatic and freshmen standout, twin brothers Jeremy and Joseph Parks, as their sisternates. He helped keep an American romatic would make the Frogs a tough group. While Carbondale is not home for Frogs, being a member of the Salukis' conference, the Frogs have given them teammates from back home. Superintendent of Education, Michael B. Eber (Whites), senior Neil Listt (Watt's), and Mariana (Cypres) round out a core of the team from Europe.

Geese continued from page 16

Canada, then stop over at the horizon Marsh in Wisconsin before making their way to the Southern Thirld Region. Mabery said if the weather in Wisconsin does not turn cold early enough, the geese will stay there (Northern Shovelers) instead of continuing their migration through the region of the Mississippi flyway, which means that our hunters do not pick up until late in the season.

Mild conditions held Canada geese in the Middle Marsh Marsh last year until late in the season.

Despite the holdup, Mabery said that the season's quota for geese on the Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge in May 1995 was four percent below that of the year before.

Provided estimates are correct and weather conditions are favorable, veterans say this year's total harvest to exceed last year's.

Ultimately, the goose-hunting season brings a lot of revenue to the Southern Illinois region. Many local businesses depend on

Satisfaction continued from page 16

"It was a learning experience because I've been out under pressure before, but this is the first time I've been out under pressure before," she said.

She finished tied for the No. 1 position for the Salukis in three of the four fall outings. She said although it was a little hard to focus on the pressure of playing No. 1, she now views it as a positive experience.

"It took me the first tournament to learn how to handle the pressure," she said. "Now I know what to do in pressure situations. I don't feel as much pressure as even though it is there it doesn't hurt me as much as last year."

Daughtery said Hodgins handled the extra stress extremely well.

"There is pressure just being in that position," she said. "Molly found her own. Molly grabbed the

Season could start without refs

_The Washington Post_

Unusually this at year, there are many possible reasons: Mike Mathis—the chairman of the National Basketball Referees Association—said the season is off unless preseason games just as he has said for the past 19 years. But he said he expected the conference to meet this week, walking a picket line, locked out by the NBA in a dispute over—what else?—money.

As a replacement referees work the exhibition games and the regular season begins in little more than two weeks, the side agrees on only one point: they are far from reaching an accord. "It's strictly information," said Mathis of the picketing.

He has walked the fine outside lines in Indianapolis and Dayton, Ohio, since the preseason began the late last week. "We're not trying to block anybody from entering the arena. We just want to get our message out and let the press and the public,..." In the early '80s, we were the highest-paid sports officials. Now, we're the lowest, and if we accept what the league offered, we'll be the lowest."

Mathis, the referees' lead negotiator, said he earned a $147,000 base salary last season and would have made $152,000 this season had the referees accepted another contract, no matter how close their terms of a contract that expired in 1994. (They declined on Cornell said Frogs does nothing but strengthen just like he and the other number he has for front in England. "When they come over here, they get better because they have more time to train," he said. "Over there, they are not in school and because they don't have scholarships.

Cornell also said, even though four of his eight runners are from overseas, the Frogs for Illinois athletics first, but still looks back home at athletics like Frogs. "I look for recruits anywhere, we get them from recruiting, "he said. "With so many high school schools competing to sign recruits, it's really hard. I have to admit, we like to look across the water a little bit."

ARNOLD'S MARKET

All 12 pk. Pepsi, Dr. Pepper, 7-Up products $1.39

72 oz. Better Pepsi, Dr. Pepper, 7-Up products $1.39

Coke Royale 12/7 oz. Whole Frieders

1 1/2 sq. ft. South of the Border RL 31

OPENED A WEEK, TUE.-SAT. 10A.M. - 8P.M.

NEED CASH?

Loans on almost ANYTHING of value takes only 5 minutes. Jewelry, guns, tools, electronics, cameras & equipment... & much more!

We buy gold & diamonds

Gold & Pawn

1130 E. Main

Carbondale

549-1809

Porky's B-B-Q

WICKENDALE PLAT'TER $2.99

PORK SAUSAGE PLATTER $2.99

Pork-N-Slaw

SANDWICH

TREES HOMES

Molson

Fetzer's White Brew

Aristo Light

Sierra Nevada

Pele Ale

Anchor Steam Black Oktoberfest Heineken

Bass Ale

Guinness Stout

Black-n-Tan

16 oz.

Pints

The Best Mexican Food in Southern Illinois

Lunch and Dinner Specials Daily

TREES HOMES

NOW ON TAP

Gold & Pawn

1150 E. Main

Carbondale

549-1809

Porky's B-B-Q

Sandwich Platter $2.99

Pork-N-Slaw

SANDWICH

Molson

Fetzer's White Brew

Aristo Light

Sierra Nevada

Pele Ale

Anchor Steam Black Oktoberfest Heineken

Bass Ale

Guinness Stout

Black-n-Tan

16 oz.

Pints

The Best Mexican Food in Southern Illinois

Lunch and Dinner Specials Daily

TREES HOMES

NOW ON TAP

NEED CASH?

Loans on almost ANYTHING of value takes only 5 minutes. Jewelry, guns, tools, electronics, cameras & equipment... & much more!

We buy gold & diamonds

Gold & Pawn

1130 E. Main

Carbondale

549-1809

Porky's B-B-Q

WICKENDALE PLAT'TER $2.99

PORK SAUSAGE PLATTER $2.99

Pork-N-Slaw

SANDWICH

Molson

Fetzer's White Brew

Aristo Light

Sierra Nevada

Pele Ale

Anchor Steam Black Oktoberfest Heineken

Bass Ale

Guinness Stout

Black-n-Tan

16 oz.

Pints

The Best Mexican Food in Southern Illinois

Lunch and Dinner Specials Daily

TREES HOMES

NOW ON TAP

Gold & Pawn

1150 E. Main

Carbondale

549-1809

Porky's B-B-Q

Sandwich Platter $2.99

Pork-N-Slaw

SANDWICH

Molson

Fetzer's White Brew

Aristo Light

Sierra Nevada

Pele Ale

Anchor Steam Black Oktoberfest Heineken

Bass Ale

Guinness Stout

Black-n-Tan

16 oz.

Pints

The Best Mexican Food in Southern Illinois

Lunch and Dinner Specials Daily

TREES HOMES

NOW ON TAP
Saluki crosses ocean, joins countrymen

By Chad Anderson
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Freshman cross-country runner Andrew Fooks can truly say he has run from sea to shining sea.

Few runners get the opportunity to run in Europe and North America, but the native of Somerville, England got the chance when SIUC coach Bill Correll came knocking.

"I heard of Andy through the recruiting agency, and it said he had run a 9:20 steeplechase, but that is nothing, real special. Then, Neil Link and Rich Ryan (also from England) came to me and said he ran well in the senior meet, and told me this guy was a lot better than 9:20," Correll said. "We gave him a call and started recruiting him before anyone else got the news. He signed and did nothing but improve over the year."

Earlier this season, Fooks ran a 8:56 steeplechase, which is three seconds faster than SIU-South Valley Conference champions Garth Akel, who the Salukis lost to graduate.

"We knew then that Andy was a top recruit, and a good replacement for Akel," Correll said.

Ironically, co-captain Stirling McRae, the team's No. 1 runner, and last year's MVC individual champion, was the one running behind Fooks.

"Through the cross-country regular season, Fooks anchored the No. 2 spot on the team behind Marners, and led a talented group of freshmen on the quest for national recognition and a Missouri Valley Conference title."

Success has found a way to follow Fooks through his life and across the Atlantic ocean. While running in England, Fooks was ranked No. 1 in Great Britain in the under-23 steeplechase, ran for the Great Britain national team, and placed 11th in the national competitions.

His performances have been nothing but excellent through this season. He has finished behind Marners, who Correll regards as the consistent key man for the team, in every race with the exception of this season's first meet of the season.

In the one meet he finished lower than second, Sept. 2 vs. powerhouse Kansas and Southern Indiana, Fooks finished one second behind fellow freshman and teammate Jeremy Parks for third place on the

see FOOKS, page 15

SIUC gains world talent; looks for conference title

By Jared Drifill
Daily Egyptian Reporter

This is the second of a three-part series previewing the SIUC men's and women's swim and diving teams.

When the SIUC men's swim team tries to for the water this season, excitement and optimism will shine through. The Salukis, gaining world-class swimmers, are looking to repeat as Missouri Valley Conference champions for the second consecutive year.

Liam Weicholz, a freshman swimmer and graduate of Earl Ham Secondary in Toronto, Canada, will bring his talents to the Salukis and after the season ends will try to win a spot on the Canadian team.

Another world-class athlete the men's team has gained is Herman Low from South Africa. Low won't be swimming for the team this season because he is trying to win a spot on the South African Olympic team.

"It's a challenge that every big program faces in an Olympic year if you're up in the upper level. If it's not a foreign kid trying to make her Olympic team, it's a domestic trying to make the U.S. Olympic team," coach Rick Walker explained.

With the Missouri Valley Conference Championships in December and the newly formed National Independents Conference Championships in February of 1996, doing well at these two meets are goals of the men's swim team.

"Our main goal is to try and compete at a higher level than what we were able to perform in," Walker said. "We have our MVC Championships in December and, naturally, our goal is to try and win that again.

"This is a transitional period for the team, and this being an Olympic year, somewhat faced with things that are out of our control," Walker said. "Everyone is going to have to perform at a higher level than last year and we're expecting better performances.

"We added that team may take some hard hits in dual meets this year. Also, we've added some people that will have to be accepted this year and not next year."

"Prospects look very good, and if everything comes together, next year might be our very best year for us. Next year could very well be one of the best years we've had since I've been here," Walker said.

Southwest Missouri State University, according to coach Walker, will be the team's biggest competition. The two teams will square off at the Dual Meet Extravaganza in Champaign Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Tomorrow:
Men's Diving

Women's golf coach not satisfied with season, yet

By Melanie Gray
Daily Egyptian Reporter

SIUC women's golf coach Diane Daugherty is still searching for satisfaction after the Saluki's 1995 fall season.

"I'm not sure any coach is satisfied," she said. "Golf is a game where you can never achieve perfection. I don't think any good golf can ever truly be satisfied."

The team has made strides out this year's Saluki roster.

"It's almost like they come back more young birds often mean a better experience-gaining time," she said. "We have our MVC Championships in December and, naturally, our goal is to try and win that again."

"This is a transitional period for the team, and this being an Olympic year, somewhat faced with things that are out of our control," Walker said. "Everyone is going to have to perform at a higher level than last year and we're expecting better performances."

"We added that team may take some hard hits in dual meets this year. Also, we've added some people that will have to be accepted this year and not next year."

"Prospects look very good, and if everything comes together, next year might be our very best year for us. Next year could very well be one of the best years we've had since I've been here," Walker said.

Southwest Missouri State University, according to coach Walker, will be the team's biggest competition. The two teams will square off at the Dual Meet Extravaganza in Champaign Nov. 10 at 7:30 p.m.

Men's Diving

Hunters look forward to longer season, more geese

By Michael DeFord
Daily Egyptian Reporter

Local hunters can expect higher population numbers to accompany this year's extended goose season, according to a survey conducted by the Illinois Department of Natural Resources.

This year's predicted fall flight for Canada geese is estimated at 1.32 million, compared to last year's 1.19 million. Because of the population increase, the fall season has been extended to 80 days this year — an increase of 30 days from last year.

John Mabery, wildlife biologist at the Crab Orchard Wildlife Refuge, said the increase in goose numbers is to remain high, hunters can expect longer seasons.

High population numbers typical mean higher quotas as well. This year's daily limit has increased to those geese per day from last year's limit of two geese per day.

Mabery said the Southern Illinois quota zone, which is comprised of Jackson, Williamson, Union and Alexander counties, usually meet the yearly quotas.

"Typically, we have not reached our yearly quotas for several years," he said. "That's due to a combination of weather conditions and the age rate of the birds."

Mabery said last year's quota for the zone was 39,800 birds. A total of 24,993 birds were harvested in the zone, with Williamson county alone taking a total of 15,849 geese.

The IDNR has set this year's season quota for the Southern Illinois zone at 62,569.

Mabery said the ratio of adult and young birds plays an important role in determining the amount of birds harvested each season.

"The older birds are a little smarter than the young ones," he said. "The older birds are a lot more wary than the young ones are, and they will stay away from hunters, so more young birds often mean a better harvest."

According to breeding ground surveys conducted in the spring, this year's ratio of young birds in the flight estimate has increased and is estimated to bet 65 percent. Last year that ratio was estimated to be around 42 percent.

Mabery said the geese begin their trek to Southern Illinois from the Hudson Bay area in Northern

see GEESE, page 15