Veterans don’t tell about ‘don’t ask’ policy changes

RYAN VOYLES
Daily Egyptian

Sean Dillard says the morale of the armed services could be turned on its head after a federal judge issued a worldwide injunction Tuesday which stopped enforcement of the “don’t ask, don’t tell” policy.

"It might cause a lot of confusion with people being hurt or becoming targets," said Dillard, a sophomore from Harrisburg studying photography and photojournalism and Iraq war veteran. "It’s definitely going to be affecting the morale of all the troops serving over there."

U.S. District Judge Virginia Phillips’ injunction also ordered the government to suspend and discontinue all pending discharge proceedings and investigations under the policy, which allowed gay, lesbian and bisexual individuals to serve in the military as long as they did not reveal their sexual orientation.

Dan Woods, the attorney who represented the Log Cabin Republicans, a gay rights group that filed the lawsuit in 2004 to stop the ban’s enforcement, told the Associated Press on Tuesday the injunction goes into effect immediately.

"Don’t ask, don’t tell," as of today at least, is done, and the government is going to have to do something new to reorientize it," Woods said. "This is an extremely significant, historic decision. Once and for all, this failed policy is stopped. Fortunately now we hope all Americans who wish to serve their country can."

The Department of Justice has appealed the injunction.

Many of the veterans contacted by the Daily Egyptian declined to comment on the change, some due to their current enlistment in the armed forces.

But Dillard, who said he had nothing against gays, said many of his comrades when he was enlisted supported the policy. He said conflict could now rise due to distrust between soldiers, including during activities such as showering.

"Now you’re going to have to separate them even more. Into the straight showers - and then the gay showers," he said. "That’s just going to create commotion. I don’t want to have to be taking a shower and have to think that the guy next to me is elucidating me out."

Lt. Col. Eric Roberts, director of SIUC’s army military science, said he would continue to follow the orders of the government, whatever they may be.

"We answer to the commander in chief, so whatever they want is what we do," he said.

Please see ASK | 4

FEATURES
Trippin’ Billies receive nine out of 10 on Simmyscale

PAGE 3

CAMPUS
Masculinity group creates progress on campus

PAGE 3

SPORTS
Salukis trounced by ‘Rabbits before bye week

PAGE 8

FORT MASSAC COMES ALIVE WITH REENACTMENT
Reenactors dressed in 1700’s replica French Infantry gear perform traditional military drills Sunday as part of the 37th annual Fort Massac Encampment at Metropolis. The encampment, which is held over two days in October, drew more than 160,000 people to Metropolis in 2009 to witness battlefield recreations, field formations and organized marching.

The weekend also includes demonstrations performed using time period-specific tools and technologies such as blacksmithing, woodworking, buck皮肤ning and traditional cooking.

DAN DIVER
DAILY EGYPTIAN

Cadets raise cash for comrade

SARAH SCHNEIDER
Daily Egyptian

Jonathan Cape says pulling the ROTC battalion together to help out a fellow cadet is something Stephen Ellis would do.

"He is part of the Saluki family, he is part of the ROTC family, and he is a combat veteran. We are all cadets out here and we like to take care of our own," said Cape, an enrollment officer of the army ROTC at SIUC.

Ellis, a senior from St. Louis studying photography and photojournalism, and Iraq war veteran, "It’s definitely going to affect the morale of all the troops serving over there."

Lt. Col. Eric Roberts, director of SIUC’s army military science, said he would continue to follow the orders of the government, whatever they may be.

"We answer to the commander in chief, so whatever they want is what we do," he said.

Please see CAR WASH | 4

"He is the kindest guy. He would give you the shirt off his back, and he is the kind of guy who will never ask for anything in return."

— Nicole Morlock

friend of Ellis

Representatives from St. John’s declined comment on Ellis’ condition, as his family requested his status remain confidential.

ROTC cadets pulled together to have a car wash Saturday, with all proceeds going toward Ellis’ recovery, as well as to his family to replace items lost in the fire.

"I don’t want to have to be taking a shower and have to think that the guy next to me is elucidating me out."

Lt. Col. Eric Roberts, director of SIUC’s army military science, said he would continue to follow the orders of the government, whatever they may be.

"We answer to the commander in chief, so whatever they want is what we do," he said.
The Daily Egyptian is published by the students of Southern Illinois University Carbondale 50 weeks per year, with an average daily circulation of 20,000. Fall and spring semester editions run Monday through Friday. Summer editions run Monday through Thursday. All subscription editions will run on Wednesdays. Spring break and Thanksgiving editions are distributed on Mondays of the following weeks. Free copies are distributed in the Carbondale, Murphysboro and Carterville communities. The Daily Egyptian online publication can be found at www.dailyEgyptian.com.

About Us

The Daily Egyptian is committed to presenting a trusted source of news, information, commentary and public discourse, while helping readers understand the issues affecting their lives.

Copyright Information
© 2010 Daily Egyptian. All rights reserved. All content property of the Daily Egyptian and may not be reproduced or transmitted without consent. The Daily Egyptian is a member of the Illinois College Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press and College Media Advisers Inc.

Mission Statement

The Daily Egyptian, the student-run newspaper of Southern Illinois University Carbondale, is committed to presenting a trusted source of news, information, commentary and public discourse, while helping readers understand the issues affecting their lives.

Copyright Information
© 2010 Daily Egyptian. All rights reserved. All content property of the Daily Egyptian and may not be reproduced or transmitted without consent. The Daily Egyptian is a member of the Illinois College Press Association, Associated Collegiate Press and College Media Advisers Inc.

Upcoming Calendar Events

Retiree/Refire
- Thursday & Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.
- Pizza, Wings, and Sandwiches
- 806 N. Main St., Carbondale, IL 62901
- Free delivery
- Call 529-5941

The Rocky Horror Picture Show
- Friday & Saturday, 9/29 & 30, 7 p.m.
- Black Box Theater, Student Center
- Free admission
- More information available at www.rhps.org

The Rocky Horror Picture Show
- Friday & Saturday, 9/29 & 30, 7 p.m.
- Black Box Theater, Student Center
- Free admission
- More information available at www.rhps.org

The Rocky Horror Picture Show
- Friday & Saturday, 9/29 & 30, 7 p.m.
- Black Box Theater, Student Center
- Free admission
- More information available at www.rhps.org

The Rocky Horror Picture Show
- Friday & Saturday, 9/29 & 30, 7 p.m.
- Black Box Theater, Student Center
- Free admission
- More information available at www.rhps.org

The Rocky Horror Picture Show
- Friday & Saturday, 9/29 & 30, 7 p.m.
- Black Box Theater, Student Center
- Free admission
- More information available at www.rhps.org
Trippin' Billies a truly great cover band

Mentor program progresses definition of masculinity

LEAH STOVER
Daily Egyptian

Derrick Williams says he has taken a different approach to preventing domestic violence against women by looking at men as the solution rather than the problem.

Williams, a violence prevention coordinator at the Wellness Center on the Student Health Center, started Progressing Masculinity Mentor, a male-based group focused on violence prevention by changing men's conceptions of social norms. Through a gradual process, Williams said his goal is to slowly change the idea of masculinity men possess.

Bryant Payne, a graduate student in speech communications from Chicago, said he joined the program two and a half years ago after experiencing conflicts between who he is and who he felt society wanted him to be.

"Masculinity sometimes means that men are put in this box where men can't cry, men can't be weak or show weakness," Payne said. "It can be detrimental on both ends for men and women."

He said when he was growing up in Chicago he felt he had to present himself as tough, but in his spare time, he was the complete opposite.

"Back at home I was reading books and watching movies, and the programs gave me the courage to be the man I really was instead of what everyone wanted me to be," Payne said.

La'Charle Ward, a sophomore from Chicago studying speech communications, said he was involved in PAM as a freshman but was initially skeptical. He said he didn't feel comfortable talking to the topic he was very informed on and eventually became more comfortable with it.

"I am distracted by the way our culture portrays and reinforces the idea that the roles men should play in society related to masculinity," Ward said. "As progressive men, Ward said they strive to deconstruct these views by proving that being masculine doesn't mean to be strong or aggressive but is about being confident in yourself."

As a graduate student at the University of Northern Iowa, Williams said he worked as an intern at the local Women's Center and the experience changed his life. It was during the internship when he said he realized the importance of informing men on their stance in society.

"Men don't realize that they play a big role in the fight against violence against women," Williams said.

After conducting research at UNI, Williams said he found men to be the idea men, and helpful to them at their positions in society.

"I feel men take the message very well because of the position I came at with them," he said. "I'm not their administrator or mentor, but I am their mentor."

Williams said part of his objective is to replace the ideas associated with masculinity in community by giving alternatives to what is considered socially normal, especially in conversation.

"Instead of guys talking with their buddies about derogatory terms against women, we want to give them something else to talk about," he said.

Ward said the group has been so influential that he plans to focus on issues regarding masculinity when he pursues his education. He said he plans to study gender norms in society in the future, and hopes to continue to help shape the ideas men have about how they should act.

Payne said the group's members are just normal guys trying to do the right thing.

"We're not perfect, but we're doing what we can to help," he said.

Leah Stover can be reached at stovers@dailyEgyptian.com or 536-3311 ext. 256.

PROTECTION OR PROMOTION
COPYRIGHT IN THE UNIVERSITY

Copyright controls what is and is not allowed in the classroom, on Blackboard, individual web pages, and more. How can you maximize the use of works for the classroom? How can you increase the visibility and impact of your original research?

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 2010
10:00 AM - 12:00 PM
MORRIS LIBRARY, JOHN C. GUYON AUDITORIUM

Morrison Library will host two copyright experts to address these and other copyright issues:

Dwayne K. Butler serves as the first Evelyn J. Schneider Endowed Chair for Scholarship Communication at the University of Louisville and holds a faculty appointment as a Professor in University Libraries. Much of his work focuses on the complex interrelationship of copyright law, licensing, and activities at the core of the university and library mission—teaching, training, and scholarly communication.

Greg Grossmeier is currently a Fellow for Creative Commons where he focuses expertise on topics such as Open Educational Resources and continuous his involvement with the Free/Libre and Open Source Software community. He is also the Copyright Specialist at the University of Michigan Library where his time revolves around giving presentations and answering copyright and publishing related questions for faculty, staff, and students.

Sponsored by Morris Library
Call for Nominations

Honorary Degrees & Distinguished Service Awards

Deadline for Nominations: Monday, November 8, 2010

Letters of nomination must be accompanied by a 2-3 page resume, curriculum vitae, and/or a biographical sketch of the candidate that includes a description of the unique contributions of the nominee.

Please direct all inquiries and nominations to:

Chair of the Committee
Sajal Lahiri, Professor
Department of Economics
Faner Hall, Room 4131, Mailcode 4515
Southern Illinois University Carbondale
Carbondale, IL 62901
618-536-7746 FAX 618-453-2717
lahiri@siu.edu

NEWS

Monday, October 18, 2010

GOP: Quinn misleading public on early release

The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Republicans say Illinois Gov. Pat Quinn is misleading the public about granting early release to some prison inmates.

They argue the Democratic governor's statements and campaign ads suggest Quinn has completely stopped giving prisoners time off for good behavior.

Quinn is running an ad saying he "stopped it cold."

In reality, Quinn halted a program called "MGTV Paul" that granted time off more quickly and improperly included some violent offenders. But he continued the long-time policy of giving inmates time off as an incentive for good behavior behind bars.

Republican state Sen. Kirk Dillard said it is "deceptive" for Quinn to imply he has completely suspended early release programs.

Chicago police moving officers to high-crime areas

The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Authorities say the Chicago Police Department has moved about 150 officers from a crime unit into more dangerous districts to help fight street crime.

The officers will be divided among high crime areas and dispatched as needed. The officers will report to district commanders.

Car Wash

CAR WASH

ONLINE

INCOME!

Team up for Intramural Sports' Dodgeball League

Register Oct. 18 - Nov. 1

For more information visit:
www.reccenter.siu.edu

INCOMING!

Ask

Roberts said he did not want to give his personal opinion on the policy, but said the congress and the president have the only opinions that matter.

"What makes this military so much better than (other countries') militaries across the world is that we're controlled by civilian leadership," he said. "We're really just an arm of that leadership."

Ellis said he wouldn't support the reversal of the policy, and that people could become targets of harassment with the policy being lifted.

"I just feel that's the best way to keep it not to know whether they will stay or not," he said.

Ryan Voyles can be reached at rvoyles@dailyEgyptian.com or 536-3311 ext. 254.

INCOMING!

Castle Perilous

HALLOWEEN AT CASTLE PERILOUS

OCTOBER 30th AND 31st

BRING THIS AD IN FOR AN EXTRA FREE COLD BEVERAGE WITH THE PURCHASE OF 2!

GOOD OCT. 30 & 31

INCOME!

Team up for Intramural Sports' Dodgeball League

Register Oct. 18 - Nov. 1

For more information visit:
www.reccenter.siu.edu

INCOMING!

Ask

Roberts said he did not want to give his personal opinion on the policy, but said the congress and the president have the only opinions that matter.

"What makes this military so much better than (other countries') militaries across the world is that we're controlled by civilian leadership," he said. "We're really just an arm of that leadership."

Ellis said he wouldn't support the reversal of the policy, and that people could become targets of harassment with the policy being lifted.

"I just feel that's the best way to keep it not to know whether they will stay or not," he said.

Ryan Voyles can be reached at rvoyles@dailyEgyptian.com or 536-3311 ext. 254.

INCOMING!

Team up for Intramural Sports' Dodgeball League

Register Oct. 18 - Nov. 1

For more information visit:
www.reccenter.siu.edu

INCOMING!

Ask

Roberts said he did not want to give his personal opinion on the policy, but said the congress and the president have the only opinions that matter.

"What makes this military so much better than (other countries') militaries across the world is that we're controlled by civilian leadership," he said. "We're really just an arm of that leadership."

Ellis said he wouldn't support the reversal of the policy, and that people could become targets of harassment with the policy being lifted.

"I just feel that's the best way to keep it not to know whether they will stay or not," he said.

Ryan Voyles can be reached at rvoyles@dailyEgyptian.com or 536-3311 ext. 254.
Volleyball

BRANDON COLEMAN
Daily Egyptian

On the road in Missouri Valley Conference play, the Salukis could not find a way around Wichita State and Missouri State, as it was stymied by the blocking and offensive pressure of the Shockers and Bears.

Libero Lauren Blackburn said the Salukis were mentally defeated during their matches Friday and Saturday. She said the team played to not lose instead of playing aggressively for the win.

"Some people get it in their head that, 'OK, both teams are usually up at the top of our conference,' and we just expected not to beat them," Blackburn said.

Coach Brenda Becker said the Salukis had a difficult time getting digs and scoring kills because not only are the Shockers and the Bears in the top 10 teams in the country, but they also had the size advantage.

Blackburn said the Salukis didn’t pass efficiently through both matches. When it did manage to set up hitters, there was a blocking or hitting error, she said.

The Salukis could not get either match to go its way despite battling out relatively close to each other. Sparks said.

The University of Iowa Hawkeyes won the men’s side at the Bradley Classic.

The Salukis beat the Hawkeyes in the 209 National Collegiate Athletic Association regional. Dunbar said the Hawkeyes had a chip on their shoulder after losing.

"They probably thought ‘That southern Illinois team that beat us last year,’ Dunbar said. "They put two guys in front of me and their third guy finished right behind me.”

The Hawkeyes, who finished with three runners in the top five, have a solid pack that makes it difficult for any team to beat them, Dunbar said.

Sparks said the Salukis were a middle-of-pack Big Ten team as far as cross country goes. He said if the Salukis could have done better points-wise because they are a team that can compete with Iowa and other middle-of-pack Big Ten schools.

The race went out faster than we expected. It took all by surprise,” Dunbar said.

The Salukis men’s side junior Mathew Graham from DePauw took the field on a fast start that caught the Salukis off guard.

"It just kept hammering away, I broke me early on in the race," Dunbar said.

Senior Kyle Kirkner finished in 33rd place, but he head of teammate freshman Lucas Cherry, who finished 34th.

Kirkner was plagued with health issues during his first two races at the Saluki Invite and Greater Baltimore Classic but expects he’ll continue to improve and put the men’s team in contention for the MVC Championship on Oct. 30 in Terra Haute, Ind., Sparks said.

Brandon Coleman can be reached at bcoleman@dailyEgyptian.com or 536-3311 ext. 269.

---

Swimming

STEVIE BURZEMOY | DAILY EGYPTIAN

Members of the Southern Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri swim teams warm up before their meet Saturday at Edward J. Shea Natatorium in the Recreation Center.

---

SIX SALUKIS PLACE TOP-25 FINISHES

BRANDON COLEMAN
Daily Egyptian

Separation from the pack was key for senior cross country runner Emily Tonney as she finished fifth at the Bradley Classic in Peoria.

While Tonney finished in the top 10, senior Megan Hoelcher finished 14th, and junior Jamie Pfister finished 21st for the Saluki women. For the men, senior Dan Dunbar finished fourth, junior Neil Anderson finished 10th, and sophomore Zach Dahlbeck finished 24th.

The women’s team finished in ninth place Friday and came within 15 points of Bradley’s and eight points within Drake, coach Matt Sparks said.

Tonney said she learned how to put herself in a better position at the start of races from the Greater Louisville Classic on Oct. 3.

"I wanted to make sure I got off of a faster start than what I did two weeks ago to get me in a position where I could finish better," Tonney said.

Sparks said he would expect more from the women's team would perform because they hadn’t raced against Bradley or Drake before Friday.

"The key to the women’s team being more competitive was Kristian Bulk,” Sparks said.

Bulk’s progression in the fifth runner spot gives the Salukas a chance to beat Bradley and Drake Oct. 30 at the Missouri Valley Conference Championship, Sparks said.

Tonney said Pfister is more accustomed to short distance running but progressed quickly during the season to run six-mile races better than before.

During the 2009 cross country season, Pfister had injury issues. Sparks said. After taking better care of her body, she jumped from her 80th-place finish in 2009 to her 21st-place finish this season, he said.

"A big part of this year is focusing on staying healthy. Last season I was really hurt," Pfister said. "I’ve been cross training two days a week this season.

Sparks said he knew Pfister could compete with Tonney and Hoelcher because she trained consistently since summer to get to the place she is in.

Pfister said cross training on an elliptical treadmill and stationary bike helped her improve her endurance and reduce strain on her ankles and knees from running.

"It’s an off day where I’m not focusing on my legs," Pfister said.

Pfister said her performance better Friday but they still need to work to get freshmen Fillis Schweinl and Bulkin to finish closer to the leaders Tonney and Hoelcher.

"Now we know where we need to be and who to look for to try to race and place," Pfister said. "I’m glad everyone finally had a good race on the same day. Hopefully, it will carry over into a good race at conference."

Pfister said Wichita State and Illinois State are the teams who every other team is chasing. Third, fourth, and fifth place look to be a battle between the Salukas, Northern Iowa, Bradley, and Drake, and she said.

Schweinl needs to break through other school’s packs to give the Salukas a shot to place higher in conference, Sparks said.

"In conference every point counts, pass whoever you can," Pfister said.

All five point scorers for the men’s team finished relatively close to each other. Sparks said.

The University of Iowa Hawkeyes won the men’s side at the Bradley Classic.

The Salukas beat the Hawkeyes in the 209 National Collegiate Athletic Association regional. Dunbar said the Hawkeyes had a chip on their shoulder after losing.

"They probably thought ‘That southern Illinois team that beat us last year,’ Dunbar said. "They put two guys in front of me and their third guy finished right behind me.”

The Hawkeyes, who finished with three runners in the top five, have a solid pack that makes it difficult for any team to beat them, Dunbar said.

Sparks said the Salukas were a middle-of-pack Big Ten team as far as cross country goes. He said if the Salukas could have done better points-wise because they are a team that can compete with Iowa and other middle-of-pack Big Ten school.

The men’s cross country team runs along Chautauqua Road during practice Wednesday. SIU competed Friday in the Bradley Classic, where they ranked second out of 21 teams.

The race went out faster than we expected. It took all by surprise,” Dunbar said.

Dunbar said men side winner Mathew Graham from DePauw took the field on a fast start that caught the Salukas off guard.

"It just kept hammering away, I broke me early on in the race," Dunbar said.

Senior Kyle Kirkner finished in 33rd place, but he head of teammate freshman Lucas Cherry, who finished 34th.

Kirkner was plagued with health issues during his first two races at the Saluki Invite and Greater Baltimore Classic but expects he’ll continue to improve and put the men’s team in contention for the MVC Championship on Oct. 30 in Terra Haute, Ind., Sparks said.

Brandon Coleman can be reached at bcoleman@dailyEgyptian.com or 536-3311 ext. 269.
What was the biggest surprise of the NFL Sunday? Miami beating Green Bay, St. Louis beating San Diego or the Seahawks downsing the Bears at Soldier Field?

FOOTBALL

CONTINUED FROM B

"The interception for a touchdown was kind of the momentum changer, which all the sudden gave them that break they were looking for," SIU coach Dale Lennon said. The Jackrabbits took advantage of a kickoff fumble by SIU in the third when Minett rumbled 22 yards for his second touchdown of the day. Toews put South Dakota State up 24-3.

Lennon credited the South Dakota State defense for stopping his Jacks, who said he didn't bring the same intensity to their Family Weekend game as they did for their overtime homecoming win over Northern Iowa Oct. 9. "They frustrated us," Lennon said. "We weren't able to bring that intensity to this game and they were, and I thought that was probably the difference." Saturday's win was the first for South Dakota State against SIU since the Jackrabbits moved to the Missouri Valley Conference in 2008. It was also the Jackrabbits second win in a row after starting the season 0-4.

South Dakota State coach John Stiegelmeier said he and Lennon are good friends, and the midfield battle at the game was a little tougher this time. "It's not only you battling for your football team but a great frand," Stiegelmeier said. "This got a great football team ... and we're excited to have the win."

The rest of the conference schedule doesn't get easier for SIU as the Salukis will travel to 4-1 North Dakota State in two weeks then host a home game Nov. 13 against conference leader Western Illinois.

The Salukis, who now sit fifth in the conference standings, may have an uphill battle to make the playoffs, but they're in the same position as many other conference teams, Lennon said. "Anything can happen in this conference race right now, and I don't think there's any team that's just sitting in perfect position to have things fall in place for them," Lennon said. "With the scores that I'm seeing, it's anything goes."

Nick Johnson can be reached at njohnson@dailyEgyptian.com or 536-3311 ext. 250

The Best Rentals in Town

Available Fall 2010

One Bedroom

- 509 S. Ash #2, 4, 17, 21, 22, 24
- 410 W. Oak #3

Two Bedroom

- 514 S. Ash #5
- 507 S. Beveridge #5
- 401 W. College #6
- 509 W. College #5
- 710 W. College #6
- 1201 W. College
- 408 E. Hester 5
- 613 W. Owens
- 507 S. Poplar #6
- 600 S. Washington #5

Three Bedroom

- 502 S. Beveridge #1
- 507 S. Beveridge #5
- 405 W. Cherry
- 303 W. College

Four Bedroom

- 309 W. College #4
- 407 W. College #4
- 809 W. College
- 1201 W. College
- 500 S. Hays
- 506 S. Poplar #4
- 519 S. Rawlings #2, 4

Five Bedroom

- 502 S. Beveridge A
- 405 W. Cherry
- 303 W. College
- 809 W. College
- 511 S. Forest
- 500 S. Hays
- 506 S. Poplar #4

Five Bedroom

- 502 S. Beveridge #1
- 507 S. Beveridge #5
- 405 W. Cherry
- 303 W. College

*Available Now

529-1082 - 206 W. College Suite 11 - Carbondale

Southern Illinois, in the palm of your hand.
Saluki offense sputters in loss

BRANDON LACHANCE

Daily Egyptian

Before the Salukis’ 31-10 loss to South Dakota State on Saturday, it had won its last two games because of offensive production, whether it was the running game against Illinois State or the passing game against Northern Iowa. But SIU couldn’t get anything going against the Jackrabbits. The Salukis had 36 more total offensive yards and 78 more passing yards than the Jackrabbits, but senior quarterback Chris Dieter’s 141 passing yards didn’t hit the box score until the middle of the fourth quarter. In the first half, the Salukis punted the ball five times out of their seven possessions and the other two ended in an interception and a field goal. Out of those five punts, four of them were the result of not getting at least one first down. The second half started out the same until Dieter put two drives together at the end of the game.

Sophomore quarterback Paul McIntosh got the start against the Jackrabbits. Dieter sat out the first half for disciplinary reasons, coach Dale Lennon said. McIntosh went 3-of-13 for 49 yards, an interception and was sacked once. Dieter played the entire second half and went 14-of-28 for 141 yards, a touchdown, two sacks and an interception.

Senior receiver Joe Allan Jr. said one of the Salukis’ issues were their third-down conversions. The Salukis converted 7-of-19 third downs and were 2-of-6 in that category in the first half.

!Freshman tight end Nico Krajewski catches a pass during Saturday's game against South Dakota State. The Salukis lost 31-10.

Ryan Simonin

Daily Egyptian

The Salukis have much to think about for the next two weeks, as they take a 31-10 conference loss into their bye week served up by the Jackrabbits. In the game’s first points, the Salukis (3-2, 2-2 MVFC) can also think about how Jackrabbits running back Kyle Minett found cracks and slivers in their defense on his way to 144 yards rushing and two touchdowns.

They can think about the three turnovers, the most painful an 87-yard interception return for a touchdown that resulted in the game’s first points. The Salukis (3-2, 2-2 MVFC) can also think about how Jackrabbits running back Kyle Minett found cracks and slivers in their defense on his way to 144 yards rushing and two touchdowns. They can think about the three turnovers, the most painful an 87-yard interception return for a touchdown that resulted in the game’s first points. The Salukis (3-2, 2-2 MVFC) can also think about how Jackrabbits running back Kyle Minett found cracks and slivers in their defense on his way to 144 yards rushing and two touchdowns.

"It's going to be, a long two weeks," senior receiver Joe Allan Jr. said. The SIU offense was woeful, driving ended after three plays. Paul McIntosh started the game but was pulled at halftime after going 3-of-13 passing for just 49 yards and the pick-six. Sophomore quarterback Chris Dieter, who was held out of the first half for disciplinary reasons, replaced McIntosh at the start of the third quarter but couldn’t spark the Saluki offensive offense.

"SIU was inside the Jackrabbits’

20-yard line three times but only came away with three points. The Salukis were 36 percent on third down plays, and five of their 11 drives ended after three plays. After a 0-0 first quarter, South Dakota State cornerbacks Cole Brodie jumped an out route delivered by Paul McIntosh and took back a 14-yard punt.

"They didn’t have much…"

South Dakota State knocks air out of Dawgs

NICK JOHNSON

Daily Egyptian

The Saluki swimming and diving team mustered only one victory in a tri-meet against the University of Missouri Tigers and the University of Kentucky Wildcats on Saturday, but the victory was a monumental one.

The men’s team beat the Wildcats 162-133 but lost to the Tigers 153-11, while the women lost to the Wildcats 207-89 and the Tigers 198-100.

The win was coach Rick Walker’s first career victory against Kentucky. Walker said the men’s win was huge but he was extremely proud of the way both teams competed in the meet.

“We kicked butt out there today and we won a lot of events,” Walker said.

The men’s team won nine events, two of which were captured by freshman Caleb Gerecke as he won the 1000- and 500-yard freestyles with times of 9 minutes and 34.43 seconds and 4:11.80.

Juniors Matt Parsons and Matt Kruse took first place in the 200-yard fly and 200-yard freestyle events with times of 1:51.96 and 1:41.80. Parsons also posted a second-place finish in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 46.86, which was a tenth of a second behind senior teammate Eli Radner, who won the event.

Parsons said the win against Kentucky was a big confidence booster for the team and a sign of better things to come.

"Kentucky and Missouri have really big teams and this really showed the caliber of our team because we didn’t necessarily have the depth in every event that they had, but we were still able to win events against them," Parsons said.

Junior diver Justin Rzuczkowski swept the men’s 1- and 3-meter diving events with scores of 388.60 and 329.78. "Every dive was crisp and clean today. It was nerve-racking, but I always seem to surprise myself with my diving, and to beat both schools, for me, individually, felt pretty great," Rzuczkowski said.

Junior Justin Wolfe took top honors in the 100-yard fly with a time of 50.82 and teamed up with Parsons, Radner and Kruse to win the 400-yard freestyle relay, the last event of the meet, with a combined time of 3:05.95.

"It was a big confidence boost for the team," Wolfe said.

See SWIMMING & DIVING

Southern Illinois swamps University of Kentucky

RYAN SIMONIN

Daily Egyptian

The Saluki swimming and diving team mustered only one victory in a tri-meet against the University of Missouri Tigers and the University of Kentucky Wildcats on Saturday, but the victory was a monumental one.

The men’s team beat the Wildcats 162-133 but lost to the Tigers 153-11, while the women lost to the Wildcats 207-89 and the Tigers 198-100.

The win was coach Rick Walker’s first career victory against Kentucky. Walker said the men’s win was huge but he was extremely proud of the way both teams competed in the meet.

“We kicked butt out there today and we won a lot of events,” Walker said.

The men’s team won nine events, two of which were captured by freshman Caleb Gerecke as he won the 1000- and 500-yard freestyles with times of 9 minutes and 34.43 seconds and 4:11.80.

Juniors Matt Parsons and Matt Kruse took first place in the 200-yard fly and 200-yard freestyle events with times of 1:51.96 and 1:41.80. Parsons also posted a second-place finish in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 46.86, which was a tenth of a second behind senior teammate Eli Radner, who won the event.

Parsons said the win against Kentucky was a big confidence booster for the team and a sign of better things to come.

"Kentucky and Missouri have really big teams and this really showed the caliber of our team because we didn’t necessarily have the depth in every event that they had, but we were still able to win events against them," Parsons said.

Junior diver Justin Rzuczkowski swept the men’s 1- and 3-meter diving events with scores of 388.60 and 329.78. "Every dive was crisp and clean today. It was nerve-racking, but I always seem to surprise myself with my diving, and to beat both schools, for me, individually, felt pretty great," Rzuczkowski said.

Junior Justin Wolfe took top honors in the 100-yard fly with a time of 50.82 and teamed up with Parsons, Radner and Kruse to win the 400-yard freestyle relay, the last event of the meet, with a combined time of 3:05.95.

"It was a big confidence boost for the team," Wolfe said.

See SWIMMING & DIVING