New students to be quizzed on math skills

By Ed Foley

The Mathematics Department is developing placement tests to make sure freshmen take the appropriate beginning math classes, and similar plans also may be possible for beginning English and speech classes.

Benjamin Shephard, associate vice president for academic affairs and research, said the object of the tests, to begin in the fall of 1986, is to "get a better handle on the preparation of students coming out of high school.

He said that the performance of all students in the basic math, English and speech classes was reviewed last year and found to be below acceptable levels.

"There were an unacceptably number of Ds and Fs in GE-D 107 (Intermediate Algebra), for instance, and we decided that we would be able to improve the retention in the beginning math classes by giving all students, not just special-accept students, diagnostic tests," he said.

Shephard noted that the tests will be especially useful in placing those whose preparation in math classes has yet to be seen. He said that he would be able to provide the retention in the beginning math classes by giving all students, not just special-accept students, diagnostic tests.

The deadlines for the Park District to begin a new year of service workers to be employed by the Park District's executive director, George Whitehead, could review the budget for possible cuts.

Whitehead said Tuesday, however, that the budget passed by the commission had been adjusted as much as possible prior to the public hearing and that after that review he could recommend no further adjustments to the budget to decrease the agency's tax levy.

The deadline for the Park District's levy was Monday, making the decision rendered by the board on Sunday final. Whitehead said that the commission's final decision to approve the controversial budget was in complete accordance with what they had promised to do at the public hearing.

"They considered it," Whitehead said. "They reviewed it and decided to stay with what they have been doing." In the last two years, the district's tax levy has gone down considerably, Whitehead said. Although $650,645 was collected by the agency through taxes in 1982, only $652,874 was collected through taxes this year. Although it requires a larger tax base, the agency's budget of $657,000 for next year is less than the one it operated with three years ago, he said.

Increase in employee programs mandated by the state are the major reasons for the budget's expansion and take up half of the $49,000 increase from the 1986 budget, Whitehead said.

Insanity defense overhaul defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republicans sent legislation to overhaul the insanity defense down to defeat Tuesday after opponents argued that it was too weak to prevent defendants like John W. Hinckley Jr. from winning acquittal by claiming mental illness.

The vote on the Democratic-sponsored bill was 219-211 in favor of the measure. However, the bill needed a two-thirds majority - or 264 votes - to pass under a special rule.

Some Republican members said the insanity defense should be abolished.

Hinckley, acquitted by reason of insanity on June 21, 1982, is in a federal mental institution for shooting President Reagan, White House Press Secretary James Brady and two law enforcement officers.

In committee action, compromise legislation to give the Consumer Product Safety Commission limited authority over amusement park rides was approved Tuesday by the House Energy and Commerce Committee. The measure, sponsored by Reps. Paul Simon, D-Ill., and Henry Hyde, R-Ill., would close a "serious loophole" in state and federal regulation of thrill rides, said Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif.

In congressional testimony, a former chinoiserie convicted of child abuse said that operators of day care centers should check the backgrounds of prospective employees to determine if they were child molesters. The subcommittee on juvenile justice of the Senate Judiciary Committee was considering legislation to force child care workers to submit their fingerprints to the FBI so they can be checked for a history of child abuse.

Park tax increased 11 percent despite protests

The Park District Board of Commissioners approved a budget Sunday for 1985 that includes a tax increase of almost a penny.

A group of local taxpayers sharply criticized the increase at a public hearing on Sept. 13. After the hearing, the board postponed action on the budget so that the Park District's executive director, George Whitehead, could review the budget for possible cuts.

Whitehead said Tuesday, however, that the budget passed by the commission had been adjusted as much as possible prior to the public hearing and that after that review he could recommend no further adjustments to the budget to decrease the agency's tax levy.

Sailors to be released in 'a day or two'

MOSCOW (AP) - The captain of an American supply ship, who said his vessel was seized last week by Soviets and towed to Siberia, said Tuesday that U.S. diplomats told him he and his four-man crew would be released "maybe this afternoon."

Thombs said he understood that he and his crew would be put back aboard their vessel - the supply ship Frieda K - and "escorted to the Soviet maritime boundary."

But Thombs said Soviet officials still have not told him personally whether the sailors will be freed from detention in Urelik in far northeastern Siberia.

"They tell us very little and they won't tell us when we can go home," Thombs said in a telephone conversation with the Moscow bureau of The Associated Press. "They tell us nothing about that."

In Washington, the State Department said Tuesday it has lodged a formal protest against Soviet handling of the case and expected the seamen would be released within 48 hours.

Thombs told the AP that Soviet officials have been asking him to sign papers acknowledging that they were in Soviet waters.

"They want us to sign many papers," he said. "We did not intentionally violate any laws, but we do not understand Soviet law and we do not want to sign the wrong kind of papers."

The telephone conversation with Moscow was extremely poor. Thombs did confirm with a "roger," however, that the crew was fine and being fed well.

Thombs said Soviet officials have refused his requests to call a U.S. official. But he said a diplomat from the American Embassy in Moscow managed to telephone him late Tuesday night.

Child killers execution halted to allow for legal arguments

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — A federal appeals court Tuesday blocked Wednesday's scheduled execution of child-killer Aubrey Adams shortly after it granted a temporary stay for convicted murderer James Henry. A three-judge panel of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta gave Henry a 24-hour reprieve until 7 a.m. Thursday and said it would hear legal arguments at noon Wednesday. Henry could still face execution because his death warrant does not expire until noon Thursday. Adams won an indefinite stay from a different three-judge panel, which said it would allow attorneys extensive legal arguments before a final ruling. The executions had been scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. Wednesday. It would have been the first double execution in 19 years.

Reagan program to help debt-ridden farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, preparing for a campaign swing through the Farm Belt, announced a program Tuesday to aid debt-ridden farmers by increasing federal loan guarantees and deferring some existing government debts. Reagan said the program is designed to get financially troubled farmers "back on their feet." But one leading Democrat branded the program as "too little, too late."

Hearings set for child support enforcement law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials will hold public hearings in Chicago, Dallas, Seattle and Washington on a new child support enforcement law which requires states to offset tax returns, garnish wages and take other measures to collect legally ordered payments from absent parents. The federal law, signed by President Reagan last month, provides incentives for states to make child support collections on behalf of both welfare and non-welfare families, and makes it easier to collect child support payments in interstate cases.

Soviet says British agents forced him to defect

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet intellectual Oleg Bitov, granted asylum in Britain a year ago as a defector, turned up in Moscow on Tuesday and said British intelligence agents drugged and abducted him in Italy and tried to use him in an anti-Soviet campaign. In London, the British government said Bitov came to Britain "entirely of his own free will" and that his allegation that he had been kidnapped was absurd.

Research shows correlations in sex crimes

MONTREAL (AP) — Preschool-age victims of sexual abuse are most often assaulted outside the home, while teen-agers are more frequently victimized by their fathers or step-fathers, a Cornell University study found. Researchers studying 177 cases in the New York City borough of the Bronx — every case investigated there by social service agencies in 1981 — found "a significant relationship" between the victim's age and where the abuse occurred.

Crowd protests government dealings in religious matters

CHICAGO (AP) — A placard-waving crowd of about 700 people jacked a downtown plaza Tuesday to protest what civil rights leader the Rev. Joseph E. Lowery called the increasing intrusion of government into church matters. "Religious liberty is being threatened in this country," said Lowery. He added that a state regarding the separation of church and state has no business in this year's presidential campaign, and he accused the Reagan administration of trying to create "a state religion."

Striking school looking for temporary teachers

By The Associated Press

The Rockford school board began advertising for temporary teachers to replace striking instructors, as strikes continued to leave almost 38,000 Illinois students out of school Tuesday. Rockford School District Superintendent Mel Greil said an ad seeking teachers with at least two years experience was run "to find out how many teachers are available and willing to work." If enough teachers respond, classes in the state's second largest school district could begin next Monday, Greil said.

First lady tells students to avoid alcohol, drugs

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — First lady Nancy Reagan, leading her support to drug prevention efforts in Illinois, urged high school students Tuesday to help peers who "try to escape reality through alcohol and drugs." Mrs. Reagan, accompanied by Lt. Gov. George Ryan, entered Springfield's Lanphier High School gymnasium to enthusiastic cheers and was greeted by a banner that said, "Mrs. Reagan and the Lanphier Lions are No. 1."

The City Council, prompted by city attorneys' concerns that the Carbondale political sign ordinance may be unconstitutionally vague, ordered the city legal department to research court cases dealing with such ordinances.

The ordinance forbids private property owners from displaying political signs on private property except 30 days or less before an election and no more than three signs on any one property. A similar ordinance in Normal was struck down by a federal district court. The court said it was a violation of constitutional free speech protections.

The normal ordinance put limits on the length of time a political sign can be displayed, but it did not restrict the content of the sign. It also restricted the location of the sign to defined residential areas.

The court ruled that the ordinance denies political free speech because of time and content limits. The court also said that the allowable size for political signs, 20 square feet, conflicted with other ordinances dealing with size, said Patricia McMeen, assistant city attorneys, in a letter to City Manager Bill Dixon.

UAW president says proposal could end talks without strike

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Owen Bieber said Tuesday he had given General Motors Corp. a revised wage and job security proposal that "hopefully could conclude these negotiations" without a formal strike.

Bieber held a news conference hours after GM laid off workers at six more parts plants, the result of 13 spot strikes by the UAW on local issues that began at midnight Friday by 62,000 of the union's 350,000 GM workers.

As of Tuesday, nearly 350,000 GM workers had been laid off. Bieber's comments were reached from the corporation.

We are waiting to hear back from the corporation. We still have some sticking points so far as the job security is concerned," Bieber said. "And of course, there are some economic items to be resolved.

The latest layoffs were announced by GM's Harrison Radiator division, based in Lockport, N.Y. — 670 of its 5,700 employees at Lockport and possibly 80 more on Thursday at a plant in Buffalo.

New layoffs also were announced at the Detroit Diesel-Allison division engine plant in Detroit, 500; Chevrolet parts in Saginaw, Mich., 380; AC Spark Plug in Flint, Mich., 220; Fisher body in Grand Blanc, Mich., 70; and Fisher body in Kalamazoo, Mich., 20.

‘All of Me’ has right balance of romanticism and comedy

By Morgan Falkner
Staff Writer

For probably the first time the Carl Reiner—Steve Martin comedy has shown the right balance between storyline and physical humor, with a heart-answered romantic comedy that doesn’t go overboard on the romanticism, and actually makes the audience laugh. “All of Me” finds this delicate balance that neither “The Jerk” nor “Dead Men Don’t Wear Plaid” could achieve, despite whatever research and measures they may have had.

The humor in “All of Me,” which was released on a limited engagement basis across the country, was tailor made for Martin’s unique brand of intellectual, droll physical humor in much the same way that “Ghostbusters” humor centered around the antics of Bill Murray. It works perfectly, or at least near perfectly.

Briefly, the plot concerns frustrated lawyer, part-time guitarist Martin, who must cinch a multi-million dollar deal with bitchy heiress Lily Tomlin in order to attain a full partnership in the law firm he works for. Tomlin, plagued with anemia since childhood, is near death but must hang on long enough to sign the will.

But Tomlin, with her fingertips on the end, can’t be content with dying before experiencing life, so she enlists an Indian guru with the ability to “transmigrate” souls.

The plan was to transmigrate through the swami, her soul with that of the swami’s body.

High school teachers to receive training at microbiology institute

By Morgan Falkner

In response to the 1983 report of the National Commission on Excellence in Education which said that the American public school system is being eroded by a “rising tide of mediocrity,” college level institutes are being created to provide additional training for high school science teachers.

One such institute will begin at SIU-C in November and will continue through February 1986. The Institute on Microbiology, backed by a $170,000 grant from the National Science Foundation, is now accepting applications for 25 available positions from any high school biology teacher within a 150-mile radius of Carbondale, including parts of Indiana, Kentucky and Missouri.

The need for better-trained high school teachers is great, especially in biology since more than 80 percent of all high school students enroll in biology, and for 70 percent of those, biology will be the sole natural science course taken in high school, said Isaac Shechmeister, professor emeritus in biology and former director of the institute.

Letters that describe the institute and announce the acceptance of applications have been mailed to every biology teacher and high school within the 150-mile radius. Application proceedings may be initiated by either the school principals or biology teachers, but teachers must have approval of their principals in attend.

Shechmeister said that the institute is looking for 25 “master” biology teachers who can be dedicated to teaching and effective at communicating with students. The institute is looking for not necessarily the most knowledgeable biology teachers, but rather those who exhibit a genuine enthusiasm for teaching and who could benefit from added training, he said.

We hope to give them a broad knowledge of the societal importance of biology in the everyday world,” Shechmeister said. Up to 15 graduate credits hours can be earned, cost-free, from participating in the institute. The possibility of earning academic credit should provide added incentive for teachers to apply to attend, said Shechmeister.

The institute will consist of three phases extending from November 1984 to February 1986. Phase one will consist of eight Saturday meetings held every three to four weeks from November 1984 to May 1985. Each meeting will be split into two sessions lasting a total of six hours.

The format will include lecture-laboratory presentations and will cover such topics as the origins of the universe, the origin of life and sexually transmitted diseases.

Phase two will take place during the 1985 summer semester, from June 19 to Aug. 3. The teachers will enroll in three lab-based courses: fungi—useful, inexpensive teaching tools; bacteria and viruses in human affairs; and science teaching methods for master teachers.

The final phase will include a number of limited activities throughout the 1985-86 academic year that will enable the teachers to apply the knowledge they have learned in the first two phases.

Shechmeister, who has directed two previous microbiology institutes at SIU-C since 1982, said that this institute is by far the largest in scope. The 1983 institute was a “shoe-string” operation and had far less money to support it.

Many institutes around the country were forced to cut back operations as a result of President Reagan’s cuts in education, Shechmeister said, and in 1982 no institutes of this nature existed. But now, with the National Science Foundation kicking in large amounts of money, institutes in a number of fields have received needed boosts, Shechmeister said.

Shechmeister agrees with the National Commission on Excellence in Education that students are graduating from high school with minimal and often inadequate backgrounds in the natural sciences, but says that the situation has improved.

“Twenty-five years ago every Tom, Dick or Harry could teach biology, but that has gotten better,” Shechmeister said.

Low pay for teachers and a generally poor set of priorities by society concerning education is a part of the “crisis” in education, he said.
International Soccer Tournament slated

By Kyu Ho Yoon
Staff Writer

Soccer doesn't draw many large crowds at SIU-C, but for about 2,600 international students, it is the No. 1 sport. They will show that they mean it during the fifth International Soccer Tournament at McAndrew Stadium, from Sept. 23 through Oct. 1.

The semiannual soccer championship is aimed at promoting friendship among international students through athletic competition, said Aris Kotsioris, president of the International Student Council.

"We want to enhance athletic spirit and provide recreation through soccer, to promote friendship between students from various parts of the world, regardless of creed and color," Kotsioris said.

Kotsioris said that the tournament is not for international students only, and that more than 12 teams will participate.

"The American team participated in the past three tournaments," Kotsioris said. "This year, we'll have them again."

Despite its unimpressive record so far, the American soccer squad is better organized and full of team spirit this year, he said.

The United Nations team will also compete this year. The team is made up of students who want to play but do not have enough players to form a team from their home countries.

Kotsioris said he expects to see the tournament feature several exciting matches.

"The Palestinian team, which won the last tournament, will try to defend its championship at any cost," he said. "Meanwhile, the Malaysians want to regain their title by defeating the Palestinians."

The Malaysian team had won three championships in a row before last year.

Each team pays a $40 fee for participating in the tournament. Kotsioris said said $30 is refunded when teams show good sportsmanship.

Kotsioris said the tournament costs about $1,300, for trophies referees and medical supplies.

William Fisher, 19, Marion, was injured at 10 p.m. when the motorcycle he was driving was struck by a vehicle driven by Samuel Barnwell, 21, Marion, the sheriff's office said.

Barnwell was arrested for driving under the influence and Fisher was treated and released at Carbondale Memorial Hospital.

Police investigate robbery of student

Carbondale police are investigating a reported armed robbery which reportedly took place early Saturday and involves a Carbondale student.

David Nordie, 18, Carbondale, was walking at the 600 block of S. Gay St., Carbondale, at 1:00 a.m. when he was allegedly grabbed from behind, struck and knocked to the ground by two black males, police said.

Nordie, an SIU-C student, was allegedly robbed of a wallet and gold chain.

Alumni named Wesley director

By Norm Heiken
Student Writer

Larry Gilbert's return to SIU-C as the new director of the Wesley Foundation has been a 'real homecoming,' he said.

Gilbert, 27, graduated from SIU-C in 1979 majoring in history and economics. He will work with students through the organization sponsored by the United Methodist Church.

He said the Wesley Foundation operates on $70,000 a year and will offer retreats and videos along with the usual fellowship gatherings and

Wanted man apprehended

Carbondale police said that a man wanted in connection with the July 1, 1983, holdup at Don's Jewelry, 405 S. Illinois, has been apprehended in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Kerwin Jones, 28, Mount Vernon, was arrested Sept. 7 and charged with four counts of armed robbery, two counts of armed violence and one count of unlawful restraint. His bond has been set at $150,000. Carbondale police said.

Jones was one of three men involved with the robbery that netted $71,000. William Moore, East St. Louis, and Willy Ryd, Carbondale, were arrested shortly after the incident.

Jones will be transferred back to Jackson County soon, said Carbondale police.

Burglars steal $49,000 from 88-year-old immigrant

CHICAGO (AP) — Boleslaw Wilkowski, an 88-year-old Polish immigrant, said he became a victim of a theft of $49,000 from the sale of his house, his friends, and his neighbors say they can’t believe he had such wealth.

Wilkowski, who was keeping the money in a strongbox under his bed, returned to his North Side apartment Friday to find the screen torn in a bank window. Police think burglars used the screen to gain entry and steal the cash from Wilkowski’s first-floor apartment.

“The money had been in a bank and he took it out and planned to buy some property — but he hadn’t found the right piece of property,” police detective Marty Ryan said Monday. “Keeping the money at home, that’s old country, you know.”

A handgun Wilkowski had kept to defend himself also was stolen. Nothing else in the apartment was taken, Ryan said.

“He’s sick and can’t talk about it any more because it made him so nervous,” said Jasko Boleslawa, 63, Wilkowski’s housekeeper.

Seniors playing cards at the nearby Copernicus Center for the Elderly’s Handicapped said Wilkowski missed lunch Sunday for the first time in their memory.

Usually “he’d eat and then go and sit in the chairs for hours with his housekeeper friend,” said one woman at the center.

Wilkowski had been a solitary figure, walking around the neighborhood with his cane, friends recall.

When he met Ms. Boleslawa several months ago, it changed both their lives.

“She was happy that she had him to take care of,” said an administrator at the center.

Neighbors said they were surprised to learn Wilkowski had such wealth.

“The whole thing shocked me,” said neighbor Jeff Givin. “Nobody knew he had all that money in cash at home,” added Ray Velinsky, janitor in Wilkowski’s building.

But the Copernicus administrator, who asked that his name not be released, said he thought Wilkowski had told people at the center about the money in his apartment.

Police were still checking but had no leads in the case, Ryan said.

SIU-C cancer researchers seek understanding, then cure

By Jeff Curt
Staff Writer

Two cancer researchers at SIU-C say they are excited that their work and the work of other cancer researchers might lead to a total understanding of cancer within a decade.

Herbert Hadler, professor of chemistry, and Mark Ellinger, a zoologist specializing in embryology, said they are making progress in knowing more about cells and, as a result, what gives cells problems.

Hadler recently made a discovery never before known, and Ellinger just got back from a sabbatical where he worked with one of the leading cancer researchers in the country. "I can't say I see a cure coming," Hadler said, "but I do think that information will be understood within five or 10 years."

TWO PROBLEMS face cancer researchers. Hadler said Cancer cells are very similar to normal cells and there are even slight differences between two cancer cells. The result, he said, is that a major importance to cancer researchers is finding as much as they can about cells.

"If you understand the cell, you have a means of correcting it," Hadler said. "You can't correct anything you don't understand."

Hadler said there are two main groups of cancer researchers — those who work with carcinogens, which make up 90 percent of all cancers, and those who work with viruses.

Ellinger said what is exciting to embryologists is that when a cancer cell develops, it looks similar to some cells in a developing embryo. "An old idea has been that cancer is really maybe a reversion to a more embryonic state," Ellinger said, "because what we did as an embryo, like rapid cell division, is similar to the things you see in a tumor."

Ellinger said a buzzword for cancer researchers is the oncogene, which is a gene thought to cause cancer. This gene became a major topic in the late 1970s when it was discovered in a cell, not just in cancer causing viruses, he said.

Oncogenes have been found in the cells of many animals. The question, Ellinger said, is what their importance is in cancer.

ELLINGER RECENTLY returned from a sabbatical, which he spent in the lab using genetic engineering. He said one of the most intensely studied oncogenes is the ras gene, which has been found in many of the most common rats.

He said he wanted to find out if frogs have a ras gene and, if so, what genetic engineering techniques he could use to isolate the ras gene and take it out of the nuclear material.

He found that frogs have a ras gene and he said he was successful in pulling (cloning) one out.

ELLINGER SAI D he wants to examine genes into the ras gene, similar to those seen in rats, in order to understand them and place it back into the nucleus of a frog embryo.

"If we can get to help us get some idea of what the ras gene is doing in normal cells and also maybe get a little idea of why ras genes, when they're overproduced, cause cancer," Ellinger said.

"The whole relationship of why cancer exists is in the understanding of the biology," Ellinger said. "And it's very exciting," he said. "I think embryologists can tell us a lot about cancer."

"It's clear that he optimist in understanding cancer is within the reach of cancer researchers."

New director
Rehabilitation head says 'bank on disabled'

By Jeff Curt
Staff Writer

The government can't find a better investment for its money than a disabled person, said the new director of SIU-C Rehabilitation Institute.

Gary Austin, formerly with Northern Illinois University, said that for every dollar given to programs that help disabled people function in society and get a job, $1.25 are returned to the government through taxes on those people's income.

SIU-C's Rehabilitation Institute is the largest of its kind in the world, Austin said. Graduates are receiving counseling degrees for work with physically and mentally disabled people, including those with child abuse and alcoholism.

Austin said the institute is not only the biggest in the world, but one of the best.

"There is a student, one of the many students, many of the articles I had to read were written from this department," Austin said. "That's one of the main reasons I came. It's exciting to be here.

He said the teachers recognize that an individual is a total person, regardless of disabilities, and they look at rehabilitation techniques as if they themselves were going to be disabled some day. That makes sense, he said, because chances are that most people will need rehabilitation services at some time in their lives.

"We're only temporarily able-bodied," said Austin. "The odds are that before we die, we're going to have some point be disabled.

One of the major problems facing disabled people, Austin said, is the public's inability of a disabled person's needs. Austin said that disabled people aren't really handicapped until their environment is.

He said public education programs are needed, to tell people that just because a person has a physical disability, it doesn't mean he or she can't function normally and succeed in society.

"Look at alcoholism," he said. "People used to think that only sinners drink, but now they realize it's a disease. This way people will come through attendance and by prominent people coming out in public with their problem, he said.

A public service formed of handicapped people's needs results in an environment that is a hindrance to disabled people, Austin said.

He said he sees no reason that new buildings shouldn't be 100 percent accessible to handicapped people. He said he recently came upon a disabled student in Woody Hall who had been waiting for someone to open a door that was too heavy to push open.

Austin, 40, works in education for the deaf and hard-of-hearing and was the head of the Deafness Rehabilitation Counselor Training Program at SIU. Last year, he won the National Rehabilitation Association Citation for Outstanding Services in Behalf of Handicapped Citizens.

Although his specialty is deafness, he said the things he has learned make the things he does for the disabled people — "that people are treated individually, wholistically, and allowed to function in society at the highest level that they can."

All-American boy Sandberg top candidate for MVP award
By Nick Geranios
Of the Associated Press

CHICAGO (AP) — He’s the true-blue American baseball hero, more natural than The Natural. He can field, run, throw, hit and hit with power. He’s Ryne Sandberg of the Chicago Cubs, and he’s the top candidate for Most Valuable Player of the National League.

With the Cubs poised to win their first baseball title since 1945, Sandberg, in his third season as a big leaguer, has become the toast of Chicago.

He gets stacks of fan mail, dozens of requests for interviews, is cheered by fans at batting practice and fields questions every day about his chances of winning the MVP.

SANDBERG, WHO turned 25 on Tuesday, says he doesn’t think about the award during games.

But it’s flattering to be mentioned for MVP,” he said.

The award should go to the “guy who has helped the most on the team that wins,” he said. “You can’t be on a third- or fourth-place team and be the MVP.”

HEN’S BATTING: 317 with 185 hits, 32 doubles, 17 triples, 19 homers and 79 runs batted in from the second spot in the batting order. He’s also scored 105 runs, stolen 29 bases and has a chance to become the first player in major league history to have 200 hits, 20 doubles, 20 triples, 20 home runs and 20 stolen bases in one season.

The closest anyone’s come to that is George Sisler, who had 212 hits, 42 doubles, 20 triples, 17 home runs and 17 stolen bases in 1919, and Willie Mays, who had 196 hits, 26 doubles, 20 triples, 5 home runs and 38 stolen bases in 1957.

SANDBERG IS almost flawless as a second baseman, having committed just six errors this season.

“In this day and age when we need heroes, he’s the kind of guy we could put on a pedestal,” Cubs broadcaster Harry Caray said. “He’s clean-cut, handsome, a genuine family man. When he’s not at the ballpark, he’s with his wife and kids at home.

“If you had a young kid today, you’d certainly want him to grow up like Ryne Sandberg,” Caray said.

“I THINK Sandberg is the favorite for the MVP,” Chicago Manager Jim Frey said. “He got to a high level early in the year and he’s just stayed there.”

“I look at the guy and try to find something wrong with him,” pitcher Rick Sutcliffe said. “He’s amazing. If he doesn’t win the MVP, there shouldn’t be an award.”

THE TALK is appreciated, but something Sandberg might crave more than the MVP is a few more hours in his day.

Like a storybook baseball hero, Sandberg responds to all his fan mail, a chore which cuts heavily into his evenings.

“When I got home it’s 6:30 or 7 p.m., I play with the kids and they’re in bed at 8:30. Then I have an hour and a half before I go to bed,” Sandberg said.

That’s when he and his wife open the stacks of fan mail, autograph photos and mail them out.

AT THE ballpark, he’s besieged by reporters, all looking for a new angle on the native of Spokane, Wash.

The 6-foot-2, 180-pound Sandberg, improbably nicknamed Ryno, says he isn’t being changed by all the attention.

“I try to be the same guy, but I might have a little more confidence,” he said. “It comes with success. The way the team is playing builds your confidence a little bit.”

Padres blank Reds; close in on first title
CINCINNATI (AP) — Dave Dravecky fared a three-hitter and Terry Kennedy drilled a two-run homer Tuesday as the San Diego Padres inched closer to their first National League West Division pennant with a 2-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Padres’ magic number for clinching the division is four with Houston and five with Atlanta. Pending Tuesday night’s games, any combination of Padres victories and Astros losses totaling four will give San Diego the title.

Dravecky, 9-8, earned his first victory since July 30 by holding the Reds hitless through 5 1-3 innings before Ron Oester doubled. Cesar Cedeno doubled in the seventh and Wade Howed pitched in the ninth, his first major-league hit, for Cincinnati’s other hits.

Carlens Martinez led off the second with a single off starter Joe Price, 7-12, and Kennedy followed with his 14th home run of the season. Kennedy also had a pair of singles.

Cornhuskers maintain top ranking

For the first time this season, the nation’s top-rated college football team has maintained its No. 1 ranking.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers, 38-7 winners over Minnesota, made it two weeks in a row at the top of the Associated Press poll Monday. They received 37 of 59 first-place votes and 1,151 of a possible 1,360 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and sportscasters.

Auburn, the preseason No. 1 team, dropped its opener to Maryland and Miami, and promptly lost to Michigan after attaining the No. 1 ranking.

Clemson, idle last weekend, remained in second place with 15 first-place votes and 1,083 points, while Texas defeated Auburn 35-27 and climbed from fourth to third with four first-place votes and 1,046 points. Michigan, which had been third, lost to Washington State 11 and skidded to 16th.

Miami, which was tied with Iowa for fifth place last week, defeated Purdue 28-17 and moved into fourth place with one first-place vote and 197 points. Ohio State crushed Washington State 44-0 and vaulted from ninth to fifth with 860 points while Brigham Young rose from eighth to sixth with 817 points following a 38-15 trouncing of Tulsa.

White wants more offensive balance against Spartans

By Robert Lee Zimmer

of the Associated Press

URBANA (AP) — Coach Mike White said Tuesday that Illinois’ running game has been "slinky," and if his team could strike a better balance between rushing and passing, they would see better results:

"We’ve allowed some teams to force us to pass," said White. "Somewhere you’ve got to start to run.

Despite 351 yards passing in three games, White said the aerial attack recently has not been "as crisp" as he’d like. And, the Illini have gained just 361 yards on the ground. Illinois will have an opportunity to change the ratio Saturday night against Michigan State, but White noted that his team has the most experienced defense his team has faced this year.

Both teams lost last weekend. Michigan State shredded a big lead and lost to Notre Dame, 24-

20. Illinois dropped a 34-19 game at Stanford, and White said his players lacked emotion and enthusiasm and just expected to win. He said he was not sure why they lacked motivation.

"I’ll tell you what’s going to motivate us," White said of the MSU game. "We had a big, fat egg in California.

The stage is set for us to play better than last week," he said.

MSU Coach George Perles said his bright spot has been the Spartans’ defense against the run. On the other hand, teams have thrown well against Michigan State.

Eason, other backups have big day in NFL

By Steve Goldberg
Of the Associated Press

It was a dream come true for Tony Eason, one of those second-string quarterbacks who usually spend more time wearing headsets than helmets.

"I use to fantasize about games like this when I was a kid," Eason said. "I was glad to be stepping in for Steve Grogan with the New England Patriots trailing 17-6 in the second quarter and rallying them to a 38-23 win over the Seattle Seahawks.

SUNDAY WAS indeed a day for the backups - Eason, Matt Cavanaugh of the San Francisco 49ers, Steve DeBerg of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and Bob Avellini of the Chicago Bears, all of whom came on the scene late to lead their teams to victory.

-Even the venerable Ken Stabler, who rallied the New Orleans Saints, only to have Cavanaugh pull it out for San Francisco.

-Even for Pat Ryan, a lifetime second-stringer on temporary starter's duty, who had his best day of a six-year pro career to lead the New York Jets to a 43-21 win over Cincinnati.

EASON'S performance was the most spectacular. Entering the game after Grogan had gone 6-for-4 lost one fumble and had an interception returned for a touchdown, he scrambled 25 yards for a touchdown before half cut New England's deficit to 23-7.

Then, in the second half, he engineered a 31-point burst, throwing two touchdown passes in the process. He finished with 12 completions in 22 attempts for 226 yards and left Coach Ron Meyer speculating on whether to start him ahead of Grogan next week against Washington.

DEBERG, WHO has made a habit of coming off the bench successfully in San Francisco and Denver, did it this time in Tampa and did it so well that Coach John McKay said he will start next week against the New York Giants.

Replacing Jack Thompson with the Bucs trailing Detroit 14-0 en route to what was apparently a third straight loss, DeBerg went 18 of 27 for 195 yards and two touchdowns, including a 5-yarder to tight end Jimmie Giles with 2:37 left that gave Tampa a 21-17 win.

THE CAVAUGH-Stabler show took place in San Francisco.

First Stabler replaced Richard Todd with New Orleans trailing 17-6 and three two touchdown passes as the Saints rallied to take a 20-17 lead in the third quarter. Then 49er quarterback Joe Montana went out with bruised ribs and it was Cavanaugh's turn.

Cavanaugh hit tight end Earl Cooper with a 23-yard TD pass early in the fourth quarter that gave the 49ers a 24-20 lead. Then he directed a time-consuming land-based offense and watched Roy Wersching convert two late New Orleans turnovers into field goals that made it 30-20.

AVELLINI CAME on for Chicago against Green Bay when McMahon had to leave with back spasms. He completed 11 of 17 for 133 yards and directed a methodical 65-yard drive to set up Bob Thomas' 28-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter that gave the unbeaten Bears a 9-7 win.

RYAN STARTED only because rookie Ken O'Brien had to miss practice while he stood trial on an assault charge on which he was later acquitted. He was shaky in his first two starts, and it was assumed that O'Brien would take over as soon as he was ready.

"This was something the team needed, that I needed," Ryan said.

As second-stringers everywhere cheered him on.

White hired as student trainer

By Neville Lobenberg
Staff Writer

For all those SIU-C students with twisted ankles and strained backs, there is a new keeper of the student body. Starting Monday, the Sportsmedicine Room at the Recreation Center will again be open for business.

Joanne White, the recently hired coordinator of sports medicine, will also serve as the student trainer. The position has been vacant since the death of Robert "Doc" Spackman last January.

White says she is interested in "getting to know the students, getting to know the programs and seeing what the student needs are."

White, a graduate of the University of Connecticut and we were all well-rounded, good athletes on a good team."

"NONE OF the three made it into the Olympics, but they said that it wasn't important." What we did here, with Herb and the rest of the squad, means a lot," said Polizano, a resident of Huntington, Conn. Polizano competed in all round, balance beam and vault. She won firstplace honors in all three events in 1968 in the Collegiate Open. She was also named to the All-America team that year.

The Hall of Fame ceremony brought back SIU-C for the first time since they left.

"Back when we were here, there was only the Arena to practice in," said Blegen, who performed on the trampoline for the gymnastics team, winning the World Synchro-nized Trampoline Championships in 1966 and 1968.

"It's good to see how the athletics programs, both the men's and women's, have grown," said Polizano, who owns the Arena Gymnastics Club. "Back when we were here, they weren't too good. Now they are really good."

"I feel like it has grown," she said. "It's seeing better times. I can remember doing half-time shows at the basketball games."

"But Herb doesn't let the gymnasts live at the house anymore," Blegen said. "Those were some fun times."

"Yea," Vogel said.

Saluki golfer sets record

Jay Sala broke the old course record and finished fifth overall in the Salukis men's golf team's first meet this weekend at Murray State.

The Salukis as a team did not fare as well, finishing only ninth in the twelve-team, 36-hole meet. Coach Darren Vaughn attributes this slow start to the team's lack of experience, putting problems and a few bad holes.

Despite these factors, Vaughn felt that a rally on the last nine holes could have moved the Salukis up to the top four.

"We're a young team, but we've got some really good players. We need to put better and get the bad holes out. " Vaughn said, "and with experience, we'll get better."

Saluki Jay Sala's second-day round was not only the lowest in the tournament, but also set a new course record of 69, a record Vaughn thought had not been challenged for a decade.

The Salukis will leave Sept. 29 to play in the Illinois Intercollegiate at Illinois State.
Women's tennis star Harney wins 100th singles match

By Stan Goff
Staff Writer

Maureen Harney has come a long way since joining SIU-C's women's tennis team as a walk-on in 1963. In fact, she's come farther than any other Saluki in singles play.

Harney defeated her Eastern Illinois opponent in two straight sets Saturday afternoon to become the first Saluki to win 100 singles matches. She is 5-0 this fall, and has yet to lose a set at the No. 5 singles spot.

"I'm a little more confident because I really wanted to win the match, but once I concentrated and played well, I figured I was going to win," Harney said.

"I was very excited because no one had ever won 100 matches at SIU before," she said. "I couldn't have done it without the support from my teammates and Judy (Auld) all along."

Saluki defense not to blame for poor start

By Mike Frey
Staff Writer

Judging from the amount of points the SIU-C defense has yielded in its first three outings this year, one might think the unit has been a primary cause for the Salukis' 0-3 start.

The defense has given up 92 points, or an average of over 30.3 points per game. In contrast, SIU-C has scored just 41 points, an average of nearly 13.7 points per game.

THE BURDEN for the Salukis' early failures should not rest squarely on the shoulders of the defense, however. The unit has struggled somewhat, but Coach Ray Dorr said the defense has played fairly well.

"I don't think the defense has played as badly as the scores have indicated," Dorr said. "We have turned the ball over and put too much pressure on the defense.

OF THE 13 turnovers the Saluki offense have committed this year, eight have been recovered by the opposing team in SIU-Cerritory.

Injuries have also played a part in the defensive troubles. The unit has been plagued by a depth problem from the outset, and several key injuries have depleted the depth even more.

Starting centerback Tim Spencer has been sidelined since the opening game because of an ankle injury, and starring right tackle Gary Carter will apparently miss his second game in a row this Saturday because of a sprained ankle.

THE SALUKI defense has had its ups and downs this season, however. Senior linbacker Fabray Collins is playing exceptionally well, as is junior linbacker Frank Carr and senior strong safety B.T. Thomas.

Dorr said the trio, along with linemen Mike Brav rosa and Darrel Warkowsky, look good in the WIU game.

In that game, Collins had 17 tackles, an interception and returned a blocked kick for a touchdown. As a unit, the SIU-C defense intercepted three passes and recovered three fumbles.

PASS COVERAGE has been a problem for the defense since the first quarter of the season. The young SIU-C secondary has given up 66 passing yards and seven passing touchdowns to opponents this season. But pass coverage will apparently not play as big a factor when SIU-C meets Arkansas State. The Indians use a wishbone offense and have only thrown 14 passes in their three games this year, Dorr said.

Herbarry has been playing so well this season that her and Mary Pat Kramer have yet to lose a set at the No. 3 doubles position for SIU-C. Between singles and doubles play so far this fall, she has won all twenty of the sets that she has played.

"MAUREEN IS so strongly mentally that you can never count her out of a match," SIU-C women's tennis coach Judy Auld said. "She plays a very consistent baseline game, and she has a lot of confidence in herself."

Harney began playing tennis when she was 10 years old, when her mother signed her and her sister up for lessons. The Harney sisters enjoyed the experience and have been playing tennis ever since.

The Harneys played their high school tennis at Peoria Bergan. Maureen didn't make the team her freshman year, but worked hard and earned the right to play the No. 1 singles spot her senior year.

AFTER CONSIDERING attending Iowa, Arizona State and University of Illinois-Chicago Circle, Harney chose SIU because of "the camp environment and Judy (Auld)."

"Maureen didn't start at first her freshman year, but when I gave her a chance, she started winning a lot," Auld said.

Herbarry won the Gateway Conference singles title in her sophomore year, posting a 39-8 record. She moved up to the No. 4 spot last season and went 29-19.

"I JUST want to play my best in every match and prepare for the spring season," Harney said. "I want to regain the conference team title we won two years ago."

Harney, a senior in advertising, says she plays at the net more and has become more aggressive and is hitting the ball harder than ever before. She also felt a lot more confidence when I come to the net now, and I'm hitting more shots for winners," she said.

HER CREDITS her doubles play with improving her net game since last season. Herbarry and Harney won a doubles tourney at SIU-Edwardsville and this season they've been playing well as a team.

"I prefer to play singles, but doubles has helped my game a lot," she said.
