Illinois Guard conducts investigation

By Tim Crosby Staff Writer

Four supervisory personnel from Carbondale's Illinois National Guard unit were temporarily removed from positions of respon-sibility Sept. 15, pending the action of an Army board.

This action is a result of an investigation, conducted this sum-mer, into alleged misconduct by supervisory personnel during the unit's two-week drill in July 1989.

The unl. Company A of the 133rd Signal Battalion, earned the highest rating of any Illinois 4 employees temporarily removed from posts

National Guard signal battalion during the drill,

Lt. Col. Donald Kunzweiler, a spokesman with the Guard's Public Affairs Office in Springfield, said neither the names of the individuals being processed for board action nor the nature of the alleged misconduct could be released while the investigation was continuing.

"We prefer not to release that out of concern for the individuals and their families," Kunzweiler said. Though the commanding officer of the unit, Capt. John Tucker, has been temporarily replaced by Capt. Ramona Taggart, Kunzweiler declined to say whether this action was related to the investigation.

A formal investigation into the matter was opened last August after an unidentified guard member sent letters to the offices of Adjutant Gen. Harold Holesinger and Sen. Paul Simon, D-III. The letters claimed there had been mis conduct by supervisory personnel

After an inquiry by Col. Leonard Fiorie, inspector general for the Army, Gen. Holesinger decided to open a formal investigation.

Capt. William Enyart, an assistant staff judge advocate with the guard, said the matter is being handled by the United States 4th

Army, based at Fort Sheridan.

"They should have a board appointed within 30 days," Enyart said. He added that the board would be composed of three members, including at least one regular army officer. There also would be two alternates appointed.

"(The board) will be composed entirely of commissioned officers if the person being processed is a commissioned officer," Enyart commissioned officer," Enyart explained. "If they are an enlisted person, they can request that one member of the board be a serior enlisted person."

Though Enyart could not comment on this specific case, he said the board would first decide upon the validity of the alleged misconduct claims before recommending

City Council to review transit issue tonight

By Lisa Miller Staft Writer

If the Carbondale City Council approves the money tonight, the city will be one step closer to gaining a mass transit system.

The city edministration and the University are asking the council for money to hire a consulting firm to conduct a mass transit feasibility-implementation study.

"The selected firm will study the demographics and census of Carbondale to decide whether there is a need for a mass transit system," Linds Gladson, city planner, said.

During November 1988, the council requested a grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation to start the project, Linda Wheeler, director of IDOT's division of public transportation

Wheeler said IDOT agreed to provide $31,530 for the study. The De Leuw Cather company of Chicago submitted an estimated total cost of $67,530 for the "entire study through the implementation phase," a report from the council stated. "A total of $36,000 must be generated to sup-plement the funds IDOT has made available for the study."

Gladson said University President John C. Guyon agreed to provide half the money for the study from University funds.

A 13-member public transit advisory committee was formed to solicit qualifications and proposals from transit consulting firms, Gladson said.

The committee consists of repre sentatives from the University's undergraduate and graduate student organizations, a representative of the University's administration, city officials and business representatives, handicapped, elderly and minority constituencies, Gladson said.

The committee recommended the DeLeuw Cather company because it was the firm with the best combination of expertise and

Exodus to West Germany rising, but East cracks down

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — The number of East Germans passing through Hungary in their exodus to the West has topped 16,000 even though East Germany apparently has been making it tougher for the refugees to reach Hungary and some have tried to swim their way to freedom, officials said. Wolfgang Wagner, spokesman for a refugee camp in the Hungarian capital of Budapest, said more refugees are reporting East German authorities are trying to stop them in East Germany and Czechoslovakia. Newcomers in the camp said East German authorities were more often than not refusing to grant exit visas.

Skoien announces GOP bid for state comptroller

Gary Skolen, with state Sen, Raigh Dunn and Jackson County Republican Committee Chairman Gale Williams standing behind him, announces his candidacy for state Comptroller Tuesday.

Republican says office is important to Southern Illinoisans

By Jackie Spinner

Gary Skoien announced his candidacy for Comptroller, the state's chief fiscal officer, in front of about 20 people at the Williamson County Airport Tuesday.

Skoien, executive director of the Illinois Capital Development Board, said he will seek the Republican nomination for the comptroller office.

The compuoller is responsible for overseeing state finances.

Skoien said as comptroller he would work to avoid making political-value judgments.

"A comptroller has to be inde-pendent and consistent," he said. "That hasn't always been the case

Skoien, flanked by his wife Maureen and State Sen. Ralph Dunn, R-Du Quoin, said Democratic Comptroller Roland burris, who is running for attorney general, has spent "a lot of time testing the winds."

Jackson County Republican Chairman Gale Williams said Skoien will best serve the state as comptroller because he will not be as "politically involved" as Burris.

Williams said Skoien, 35, will join a ticket filled with young Republicans.

Faculty, staff ombudsman Dennis named by SIU-C administration

By Theresa Livingston Staff Writer and University News Service

The University Administration has named a new faculty and staff ombudsman to fill the vacancy cre-ated this summer.

Lawrence Dennis, professor in educational administration and higher education, has assumed the quarter-time position.

Dennis will spend one-fourth of his working time at the University at the position and will continue to serve as a faculty member the remainder of the time

Dennis was named to the position by President John C. Guyon Sept.4. Dennis replaces Randall H. Nelson, a retired professor of political science, who retired June 30.

Nelson had been the faculty and staff ombudsman since the position established in 1982.

Dennis, a former Faculty Senate president, said he applied for the appointment when it was offered at the end of the summer because Tve always been interested in faculty welfare."

"I was interested in what I could do to help the faculty have as many options as possible," he said.

The position involves serving as a listener, negotiator, mediator and source of information for faculty and staff members in pre-formal grievance procedures, according to the position's job description.

The faculty and staff ombudsman directly reports to the University president, Dennis said, allowing him to work "outside the bureau-

USG should be fair to NORML request

AFTER MORE than a decade, the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws is seeking a second life as a registered student organization this semester at SIU-C. NORML was a RSO from 1974 to 1977, but did not reactivate in the fall of 1978.

This seems like a reasonable request considering the apparent number of students who have shown support for the organization.

The Undergraduate Student Government requires, among other things, that there need only be 10 student signatures on the petition for a RSO. Gauged by the 120, mainly students, who attended the NORML meeting at Shryock Auditorium, there is a definite following for the organization. It is a legitimate student movement.

The belief that marijuana should not be lumped into one generalization of drugs is an idea that is held by a significant number of students at SIU-C. As is the belief that marijuana should be separate from other drugs under the law, and not illegal.

THERE MAY be a variety of reasons NORML wants to be a RSO. It may be because leaders of the organization be a RSO. It may be occases to the organization believe there will be more open support from the timid if it gains recognition from USC. It may be because it would give the organization the other privileges such as being able to meet in Student Center rooms, and having a contact point through USG. These are reasonable requests for which the organization can use to voice its position.

NORML has also expressed the need to be an RSO so it can disseminate information concerning the marijuana issue. We would hope that if they did receive the RSO standing, it would not only stress their cause but fairness. Many people are ignorant when it comes to marijuana and to paint a false picture is not a responsible act.

Both types of information should be presented so the individual can make his/her decision. Just as NORML has the right to believe that marijuana is not the evil that some portray it, others have the right to believe it is destructive.

FUNDING FROM USG also is another privilege that accompanies being a RSO. Funding for an organization is one of the main attractions associated with becoming a RSO. Money is one of the most direct forms of support that can be given to a cause.

The money should be used to guarantee NORML the right to express its views and to offer an alternative to the student body. The money should not be used for propaganda that would persuade people to use or buy drugs. Also, the money should not go to passing out information which states incorrectly that drugs are not

It may be considered irrational to give money to an organization that promotes the idea that marijuana should be legalized, when the University is full of programs that are put in place to fight drug use and abuse. The central theme of NORML, legalization of marijuana, is contrary to many of the programs at the University.

THERE MAY be other organizations that are more worthy of funding and support causes that is legal, but it are NORML that is vying for RSO status and not the other organizations. It is NORML that has to be dealt with and considered for a RSO. To say there are more worthy causes is not the issue and should not be the basis for a decision against NORML.

Traditionally, we have supported the law that makes marijuana illegal. We still hold to that stand. Marijuana is a harmful drug and it does affect not only its users but also

But assuming NORML fulfills all the requirements of a RSO and does receive RSO status from USG, it should not be denied any consideration that is granted to any of the other RSOs. This extends as far as financial support to NORML. If NORML passes all the criteria that USG has set up for RSO status then we suggest that the group be granted the position.

If NORML fails in its bid to gain RSO status, then so be it, though it cannot be forgotten that NORML has the right to freedom of speech guaranteed under the Constitution.

And regardless of its fate in being an RSO, NORML can hold meetings, organize rallies, give speeches, do anything it desires to further its cause.

East Germans escape to freedom, while Americans take it for granted

Only once before in history has the tilt of German citizens from east to west slid toward the west with such force.

In 1961, thousands of East Germans raced across the border when the wall between the communist East and democratic West was constructed. The wall was built to keep the flood of immigrants out of the West and ironically it seems to strengthen to the conviction of East Germans to escape to the West.

And now, with the help of the Hungary, over 10,000 more young, East Germans have scrambled across to freedom.

They're calling it a trip to freedom. The West Germans elcome the East Germans into the West as long as they can prove German Citizenship. They ive them a stipend on which to "Anyone who wants to come over and stay can stay," a German Embassy official said. But it's also a trip of sacrifice.

The young Germans leave behind family, friends, money and ossessions along with the hardline communism.

They hide in the woods along the Hungarian border without food, shelter and comfort. And for what? For freedom.

Freedom like none these East Germans have ever seen. Freedom to buy more than just necessities. Freedom to travel where they please. And most importantly freedom to live houst communist control

It's the kind of freedom East Germans have been willing to risk their lives for in escape run, jump, crawl, dig and swim their way to the West with the threat of death and imprisonment for their familiary. for their families always looming over like a dark thundercloud.

They risk everything for the kind of freedom we Americans take for granted every day of our lives. It's the freedom we have to aves. It she needed we have to travel from California to Florida without obtaining permission from the government. It's the freedom to work or not to work if we want. It's the freedom to live our lives without constantly being reminded of what we don't

The East Germans, who live along the freedom border, can see arting the feence or over the wall into the West. They see people scurrying along without threat of abuse. They see the neon lights, the shops and the pubs. They see the dramatic difference in lifestyle a few hundred feet from mestyle a rew hundred feet from where they stand.

And when they get a chance like Hungary gave to them, they run. They run to freedom without looking back.

Exodus caused by major changes in Hungary

I would like to make a few comments regarding the article in the Sept. 14 issue of the DE about the East Gennan exodus. I was born, and raised in Hungary, and spent six months visiting that country in the past 18 months. With all due respect, I strongly disagree with some of Professor Landecker's assertions.

He sees little or no connection between the liberalization in Hungary, and the fact, that now tens of thousands of East Germans were allowed to cross to the West

I am convinced that this mass exodus became possible because of the sweeping changes that took place in Hungary in the last velve months.

Hungary today represents the cutting edge of the process: Getting rid of the Communist one-party system, introducing a western-type market economy. writing a new constitution, which is largely inspired by our own US Constitution, and holding the first really free elections next spring, with all of the newly revived parties participating.

Hungary also rehabilitated, and gave a state funeral to the leaders of the 1956 uprising, who were executed after the revolution on the orders of the occupying Soviet Union Soviet Union.

A dramatic "side-effect" of all this is the physical dismantling of the Iron Curtain. Anyone who says comedy is just funny business has never met Jack Thomas. Once a successful lawyer, Jack walked away from his thriving practice in Columbus, Chio, to embark upon a very serious career in stand-up comedy. While Jack has performed vith comedy dynamos such as Ema Philips and Judy Tenuta, he works predominantly by himself-just a guy in a suit, alone on stage facing the challenge of stand-up comedy, aptly described by number All Hirt as "just you up there with your lace hanging out." According to the critics, Jack shoots for a higher, more original form of comedy. Just a common sense approach to note or "unoversial issues." Socialization, relaxation keys to surviving university living

By Chris Labyk Wellness Center

Now that the first few weeks of school are finally over, the basics of college life (eating, sleeping, attending class, and studying) have probably become a somewhat manageable routine. While these activities are essential and imporactivities are essential and migra-tant, there is more to leading a healthy lifestyle. Very often when stress is up and the pressure is on, the first activities to go are those activities that we do to take care of ourselves. We lose sight of the importance of exercise, relaxation and socializing with friends.

Exercise has long been known to kick in the body's own chemicals (endorphins) which give a feeling of well being - the exercise high. Exercise also helps the body func-

Socializing with friends is an excellent way to cope with stress and keep a sense of balance. ver, too often drug and alcohol abuse is part of that socialization. Letting go with drugs and alcohol very often has negative consequences such as headache, hangovers, flu-like symptoms, fights with friends, car accidents, poor grades, etc. All of these con-sequences add to life stress and

Report: Oat bran no quick fix for lowering cholesterol level

(UPI) — Many health claims for oat bran are "advertising fancy" and cholesterol in eggs does not automatically raise cholesterol in the arteries, a con sumer magazine reported

'Oat bran is no quick fix for Nigh cholesterol," Consumer Reports said. "A fat-restricted diet has a greater impact on lowering levels of blood choles-terol and it is not clear whether oatmeal or oat bran alone can affect levels."

Consumer Reports issued a report on "The Great American Breakfast" in its October issue, examining the nutritional con-tent of 101 hot and cold breakfast cereals, bacon and eggs.

The cover story "looks at the cereal manufacturers and finds much of it advertising fancy," Consumer Reports said.

The original oat bran hoo-ha was stirred by several small, suggestive studies linking out bran to lowered cholesterol lev-els. One study, for instance, found a 19 percent average cholesterol drop after just three weeks of a diet including oats," Consumer Reports said.

Consumer Reports said a "more realistic study" by Quaker Oats at Northwestern University cut cholesterol levels by 8 percent.

"With creative rounding," Quaker parlayed the study's 8 percent cholesterol drop into lmost 10 percent" in its ads. the magazine said.

Hurricane Hugo continues path of destruction: 10 dead

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI)—Mighty Hurricane Hugo smashed Puerto Rico with 125 mph winds Monday after pounding the Virgin Islands and Leeward Islands, killing at least 10 people, injuring more than 80 and leaving

The eye of the storm, whose winds dwindled from 140 mph early Monday, hit the northeast corner of Puerto Rico about 9 a m. EDT, apparently on course for the island of Hispaniola and the Bahamas, according to the National Hurricane Center in Miami

By 10:15 a.m., 5 inches of rain had fallen on the island as savage winds ripped up power lines and churned up 30-foot swells on the island's east coast, according to reports by amateur radio operators.

Residents reported thunder-storms and hail as the eye of the storm hit the island, Hurricane Center director Bob Sheets said in Miami. Winds in San Juan were clocked at 100 mph, while wind "Everything is flying around," said Rafael Estevez, president of a Miami ham radio club monitoring the broadcasts.

In the Leeward Islands, five people died on Guadeloupe while at least four were killed in Montserrat. At least one person died in Puerto Rico. Unconfirmed reports indicated three more deaths Puerto Rico and two in Montserrat.

As the storm was about to invade the island, amateur radio reports said residents were taking precau-tions in the U.S. commonwealth with a population of some 3.3 mil-

"We're battening down the hatches like it'll hit us in the head,"an amateur radio operator reported.

In a faint radio signal received from the island of Culebra, 20 miles east of Puerto Rico, a ham radio operator reported seeing at least three bodies. He said many people abandoned their boats for re as boats were smashed by 10-foot tides.

"The hurricane will be affecting us until the night hours," said Gov.

The Hurricane Center said that at noon EDT, the center of Hugo was 20 miles north of San Juan, near latitude 18.6 north and longinide 66.0 west.

The storm was moving slowly and erratically west-northwest at 10mpb toward the Bahamas, with maximum sustained winds at 125 mph by noon. Hugo's winds were clocked at 140 mph early in the day, but dropped to 130 when the storm hit Puerto Rico. They were expected to pick up again over

Five suspects in New York racial slaying plead innocent

NEW YORK (UPI)-Five suspects, including the alleged trigger-man, pleaded innocent Monday to murder charges alleging they were part of a bat-wielding mob of whites who shot a black teenager in Brooklyn.

State Supreme Court Justice Thaddens Owens of Brooklyn denied bail for Joseph Fama, 18, after he pleaded innocent to a 17-count indictment charging he shot and killed the youth in the predom-inantly white Bensonhurst section.

But in a courtroom packed with black activists, Owens continued the bail for James Patino, 24, Keith Mondello, 18, Joseph Serrano, 19, and Pasquale Raucci, 18, until proceedings of the grand jury that returned the indictment can be

The five are charged with second-degree murder in the death of Yusuf Hawkins, 16, who was shot Aug. 23 while he and three friends were in Bensonhurst looking at a used car.

Fama's attorney, David DePetris, said his client's family was willing to offer four houses valued at over a million dollars to guarantee his future appearances in court.
But Assistant District Attorney

Paul Burns opposed the bail,

Guthrie's political insight, songs amuse crowd

Nora Bentley Entertainment Editor

Political wit, Lumor and songs with a meaning made Arlo Guthrie's solo acoustic perfor-mance at Shryock Auditorium a crowd pleaser.

Through conversation before, during and after most of his songs, Guthrie created a warm feeling in the audience. Many seemed to be remembering the events he spoke of while those of us who were too young to remember were shown what it was like through Guthrie's

Jokes about his participation in Woodstock may have had the crowd laughing, but Guthrie made sure the audience knew that he felt the event was an important part of history.

After singing "Comin' Into Los Angeles," a song about smuggling drugs into the U.S., Guthrie gave his opinion on the war on drugs, saying he thought a war on greed would be better, and that prohibition should have taught us some-

"We'd be better to make it legal and use it responsibly," he told the crowd, drawing a loud cheer from

Guthrie said since Vice President Dan Quayle hadn't been in the news for awhile he had begun to miss him. He claimed he likes Quayle because Quayle can't remember what went on 20 years

Moving from his guitar to key-boards, which he said he was still trying to figure out, Guthrie went into the song "Inch By Inch." Audience participation was required and he wouldn't finish the song until everyone was singing

"The Motorcycle Song" was accompained with the story of how he thought it was the most stupi song he had ever written and that it now embarrassed him. Although it may embarrass him, the crowd thrived on it.

One of the most popular songs with the audience was the classic anti-war song "Alice's Restaurant." It also was accompanied with a story. Guthrie implied that the 18-minute, 20-second song was the part erased from the Richard Nixon Watergate tapes. He came to this conclusion inauguration, the last one he said he'll probably ever be invited to, when Chip Carter told him that when Chip Carter too nin una Nixon had a copy of "Alice's Restaurant" in his library. His next song was a new one called "When a Solider Makes It Home," which dealt with the issue of the lack of recognition for veter-ans and the remains of soliders returned home

"City of New Orleans" was next on the agenda and Guthrie performed it beautifully. There was a hum throughout the audience as people sang along to themselves.

One of the last songs, and the lost moving, was "Amazing most moving, was Guthrie told the story of John Newton, the composer. Newton was the English captain of a slave trading ship who, during a voyage, changed his mind about what he was doing. He turned the ship around and set everyone free.

"Do something right to change the world. Do it for yourself first, open your heart. Hope changes the world," Guthrie said, leaving the audience with a feeling of opti-

Local artists present craft work for show at University Museum

By Doug Toole Staff Writer

Craft workers from the Carbondale area are displaying their works at the University Museum for show and sale.

The annual Illinois Ozark Craft Guild exhibit will be at the muse-um in north Faner Hall from today until Oct. 24. Bonnie Krause, vice president of the craft guild, said the 69 pieces in this year's exhibit are well balanced in style and material.

This exhibit shows the best of Southern Illinois crafts in the region," Krause said.

Krause said the exhibit has a very popular following in the region, partly because the University Museum is one of the few open galleries in the area. She said the craft workers participating in the exhibit are all within a 150-mile radius of Carbondale.

Krause said the museum has a "very balanced show," with a mix of contemporary crafts and more traditional ones like stained glass and fiber works. Geraldine Kellev.

seum education coordinator said the exhibit spans "a wide range of media."

Kelley said the show traditionally has a very high attendance, probably because of the quality and creativity of the works.

"It's interesting to see; these pieces are always unusual," Kelley

In addition to being a forum to display their crafts, most of the artists try to sell samples of their work. Kelley said that up to one-third of the show usually is sold.

NBC comes out on top at Emmys

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)

"Cheers" and "L.A. Law"
brought home best comedy and drama series Emmys for top-rated C, whose shows also won most of the top acting honors, while CBS's "Lonesome Dove" fell short of its expected stampede.

The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences favored programs deal-ing with such touchy subjects as Vietnam, abortion, AIDS, alco-holism and the Holocaust in handing out its 41st Annual Primetime Emmy Awards Saturday and Sunday nights at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium.

In one of Emmy's most startling In one of Emmy's most startling upsets this year, ABC's epic World War II drama "War and Remembrance," which dealt unflinchingly with the Holocaus, was named best mini-series over the more popular cowhoy drama "Lonesome Dove."

"It's a major shock," proclaimed

"War and Remembrance" produc-er-director Dan Curtis, adding the costly 29-hour series "took longer than World War II."

"Lonesome Dove" was still the biggest single winner with seven Emmys out of a possible 19, but only one of those, best director Simon Wincer, was not in a technical category.

James Woods was a surprise choice as best actor in a mini-series or special for his portrayal as the founder of Alcoholics Anonymous in ABC's "My Name is Bill W." The Emmy was expected to go to either Robert Devall as the aging cowboy in "Lonesome Dove" or John Gielgud as the heroic Aaron Jastrow in Remembrance." "War

Holly Hunter, who played Ellen Russell in NBC's abortion rights drama "Roe vs. Wade," earned best actress in a mini-series or spe-

"L.A. Law," voted top drama in 1987 and nominated for 17 awards this year, beat out "Beauty and the Beast," "China Beach," Wiseguy" and last year's winner,

"Wiseguy" and last year's winner, "thirtysomething."

The series also picked up a best supporting actor honor for Larry Drake - his second- for playing the mentally disabled Bennie Stulwicz. "Cheers," the top comedy show of 1983 and 1984, picked up its third Emmy, and series regular Rhea Perlman her fourth as best supporting actress. Woody Harrelson also was honored as best supporting actor.

candice Bergen, who plays the vise-cracking television reporter Murphy Brown, was named top comedy actress. The most-honored country in with 11 nominations. new series with 11 nominations, "Murphy Brown" won two of CBS's 21 non-televised awards Saturday and picked up a fourth award Sunday for writing.

Also grabbing four awards each were ABC's "thirtysomething" and Fox's "The Tracey Ullman

CBS, last in the ratings game, came out the network leader with 27 Emmys to NBC's 25 and ABC's 13. However, 12 of NBC's honors came during the major awards Sunday, twice as many as A genuinely surprised Richard Mulligan, star of NBC's "Empty Nest" was named ton comed actor.

"I do thank the Academy for this very rare gift," said Mulligan, who won an Emmy in 1980 for "Soap."

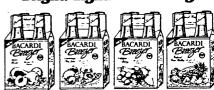

arroll O'Connor was named best actor in a drama for NBC's "In the Heat of the Night," becoming one of the few to earn Emmys for both drama and comedy work. He won four comedy awards in the 1970s for "All in the Family."

"I am pleased to have won four Emmy Awards in the comedy field, and now to win one in the dramatic field is a great delight," O'Connor said from Covington, Ga., where he is filming the series. "I am very surprise ."

Dana Delany, named best dra matic actress for her porurayal of a nurse in ABC's "China Beach," said she almost passed on the role in favor of pursuing her blossom-ing feature film career.

Ditka forgets win over Vikings; LA ROMA'S PIZZA focuses attention on Detroit

AKE FOREST (UPI) the team psychologist, Chicago coach Mike Ditka Monday claimed a foggy memory regarding the Bear's trouncing of Minnesota. Instead he tried to direct the focus

The Bears, 2-0 after impressive ctories against Cincinnati and the Vikings, take to the mad this weekend for the first time this season, to be tested by the Lions' new run-and-shoot offense.

The players will be given two days off before workouts begin again Wednesday, when Ditka said the celebration from the Minnesota n will officially be over.
"The game is over. Yesterday was our day, that's finished," Ditka said. "Now the next time we play. unless I'm wrong, the scoreboard will start zero-zero.

Yesterday was just a day that we got the upper hand in a couple areas and won the football game. It has no significance to anything

Despite the insignificance, Ditka handed out game balls to eight players: guard Mark Bortz, reserve running back Thomas Sanders.

special teams, and defense members Dave Duerson, Lemuel Stinson, Shaun Gayle, Steve McMichael and Ron Rivera. He also praised just about everyone else for Sunday's 38-7 victory, but pointed out: "Everything we gained this week we lose if we go up (to Detroit) and get beat."

"I hope they enjoyed it," he said of his players. "I hope that they party and they have revelry until 1:30 on wednesday when we start practice again.

"Let me tell you this in life: When you work hard and you do the job and you achieve and you accomplish and you beat a great football team like the Vikings are sould law your ears back and have fun... ay your ears back and have fun sit on a raft somewhere, beach, sun, anything. These things are important to relax. Wednesday we start work on Detroit.

On the more serious side, X-rays taken on defensive tackle William Perry"s hand turned out negative, and the injury was diagnosed as merely a bruise, Ditka said Sunday ken, but Perry, who sported a heavy bandage on the hand Monday, is not expected to miss any action.

Rookie cornerback Donnell Woolford is not expected to play against the Lions after suffering a separated left shoulder while recording his first-career intercep-tion against the Vikings. It is not known how long he will be out, but Ditkasaid more would be known later in the week. Woolford most likely will undergo surgery

He also said the team will look into signing George Streeter, a safety on Notre Dame's national championship team last season, to its developmental squad. Streeter, a Bears in the 11th round but was among the second wave of roster cuts. Ditka admitted at the time that Streeter was his most difficult cut. A week afterward. Bears safety Maurice Douglass was suspended by the league for 30 days for alleged steriod use.

Women golfers finish 4th, Merrit places 3: 1 individually

By Kevin Simpson

Women's golf coach Diane Daugherty is already looking toward the Lady Northern Tournament Sept. 22-24 in Minneapolis Minn., after placing fourth in last weekends tournament in Normal.

Senior Lisa Merrit paced the team to a fourth place finish in the Illinois State University Women's Golf Invitational.

"For our first tournament, I was really pleased," Daugherty said. "Indiana is always an NCAA qualifier. They are the team to beat."

Indiana finished first in the Indiana trusned this in an en-weekend tourney.

"We will begin qualifying (Tuesday) for this weekend's tour-nament," Daugherty said. "We will work pretty hard on the short game. We took some big numbers, (at ISU) but later in the season it won't hannen."

Daugherty said her team did exceptionally well, considering the three teams ahead of them had two tournaments under their belt.

Indiana had a combined score of 620, well ahead of second place Northern Illinois, 646, and third place Iowa State, 650.

Lisa Merrit

As a team, the Salukis shot a combined score of 331 on Saturday and bettered the score Sunday with a 325.

The Salukis, with a tournament total of 656, edged Illinois State on its home course for fourth place.

Daugherty said the team made first-tournament mistakes, "that kept us from doing better than we could have.

"Lisa Merrit had a great individ-ual performance. She definitely paced our game," Daugherty said. "It really rained hard on Thursday and the course was really playing rough," Daugherty said. "We came together really well."

Meritt shot a 77 and 78 for a total score of 155 during the two-day event to finish third in the individual standings, just two shots behind the leaders.

Debbie Lee and Shannon Hardesty, both University of Illinois golfers, tied for first with a score of 153.

Meritt said the key to her finish was staying on the fairway as much as possible.
"I really concentrated on keeping on the fairway and staying out of the rough," she said. "I putted well, but my chipping around the greens needs a little improvement.

"It was fun. It was one of the better tournaments we've played in. For our first tournament, we were all pleased," Merrit said. "We're really looking forward to the tour-nament next week. There are some Big Eight and Big Ten schools we should do well against if everyone can improve on their games a lit-

Men linksters nab sixth in lowa, Hartzog 'amazed' by Leckrone

By Kevin Simpson

The SIU-C men's golf team opened the 1989-90 season with its strongest effort since Lew Hartzog took over as coach in 1986 when it took sixth in the 16th annual Northern Iowa Golf Tournament in Cedar Falls, Iowa.

The Salukis bettered their eighth place finish in last year's tourna-ment by turning in a score of 1205 during the three day, multi-cours tournament.

Illinois won the tournament with a score of 1167. Wisconsin was second with 1168 and Northern Illinois finished third at 1171.

Sophomore Sean Leckrone had a combined total of 298 and missed being named to the all-tournament team by one shot.

sistency of his team. There was only a nine shot differential seperating the five players.

"The kids played under control all weekend. We had some really good performances out of the them. I feel like they're maturing," Hartzog said. "We played probably the best tournament since I've been coach. The team is making fewer mental mistakes. I expect the three older guys to play well and they

'I continue to be amazed at how well Sean Leckrone plays. He keeps improving all the time. He just missed making the all-tournament team by one stroke," Hartzog said. "This was Greg Mullican's (iunior) first major tournament, He ad a really good score."

am by one shot.

Harzog was happy with the conson. I was really happy with the tournament. They really competed well on the last 18 holes. That's a mark of a good team.

The second team traveled to the Murray State Invitational and finished 11th out of 12 teams. Hartzog said he was not disappointed in their placing.

"They were playing against the same caliber of competition we had in Northern Iowa tournament Mark Unruh (senior) played well and will push the top five this week practice," he said. "Steve Keller (freshman) had a good tournament also.

The next tournament scheduled for the men's golf team will be Sept. 29-30, at the Oak Club Invitational hosted by Northern Illinois University.

Derouin also won all three of his singles matches in the No. 5 spot. Brown won two of three matches this week at in the No. 6 position.

"He (Brown) played a tough senior from Murray State in his first match and was defcated," LeFevre said. "John recovered to win his match against Louisville and Eastern Kentucky.

SIU-C's only loss in doubles competition came in the No. 3 position. Maule and Demeterco were undefeated in the No. 1 posi tion. Hime and Stenstrom also had an unblemished record in the No. 2

Derogin and Brown won two of three matches in the No. 3 spot.

the driver's seat, Smith said, as far as winning the Gateway Conference football championship.

The Bears are currently 2-0 in the conference having defeated Indiana State 31-10 and Western Illinois 31-24.

The Salukis are tied for second with WIU with a record of 1-1 in conference play. Eastern Illinois and Indiana State are tied for last place with 1-1 conference records. Northern Iowa and Illinois State have yet to play a conference

The Salukis' victory over EIU
"should make the conference race
a little more interesting," Smith

The Salukis' next conference game will be against SW Missouri when the Bears visit McAndrew Stadium on Oct. 21.

Schedule toughens

Over the next three weeks the Saiukis will be tested with three non-conference games against Murray State, Sept. 23, Arkansas State, Sept. 30, and Division I-A Northern Illinois, Oct. 7.

"Over the next three weeks we play our toughest caliber of com-petition," Smith said. "No matter what the outcome (of the next three games), we will come out better prepared for the brunt of our conference schedule."

Smith top dawg

Following the EIU game Smith received an award from his players for winning his first game as head coach of the Salukis.

"The players awarded me the game ball," Smith said. "It was the game ball," Smith said. "It was the first time in a long time I was awarded a game ball.

"Its going right in the middle of my mantle," he said.

Tickets for this week's game at Murray State in Kentucky are available in the Athletic Ticket Office. Tickets for adults and stu-dents are $6 and $2 for high school and under, Lee Trueblood, ticket manager, said. Tickets for the Arkansas State game and Northern Illinois game are also on sale.

Hagemeyer said that the team rns more from week to week and game to game. But, that they are not at the point were everything fits smoothly together. "We need to work on individual performances and being more consistent. There are times you have to work on these things off the court, usually in the van, on the airplane or in the bus. Sometimes you can apply the advice and sometimes it doesn't

Men netters romp in weekend play

tatf Writer Men's tennis coach Dick LeFevre has a lot to be pleased

The SIU-C mea's tennis team won 25 of its 27 matches in the Murray State Quadrangular this weekend, leaving coach Dick LeFevre satisfied with their opening performance of the season.

We had a real good weekend in Murray," LeFevre said. "I didn't know what to expect from our three freshmen in their first college appearances. But they did quite quadrangular, which also included quadrangular, which also included Louisville, Eastern Kentucky and host Murray State. The Salukis won 17 of 18 singles matches they competed in. In doubles competition, SIU-C won eight of nine

Senior Mickey Maule, playing in the No. 1 position for the Salukis, was one of five Saluki players to win all three of his singles match-es. Maule's most impressive win came against Andy Schrecker of Louisville. Maule defeated

"Schrecker is really a good play-er," LeFevre said. "At one time last season he was ranked 39th in the country among college players. So that was a great victory for Mickey.

The Salukis two other upperclassmen, seniors Joe Demeterco and George Hime, also went 3-0 in singles competition.

Demeterco won all of his matches in straight sets and he pretty much wiped out all of his opponents," LeFevre said. "Hime is also looking very good." Entering the matches, LeFevre did not know what to expect from his three freshmen. Richard Stenstrom from Stockholm, Sweden, Tim Derouin of Moline and John Brown from Bloomington were all competing in their first collegiate matches.

"You never know how the freshmen are going to react to the pres-sure," Lefevre said. "They were struggling with the pressure at first, but once they got their jitters out of the way they did good."

Stenstrom was especially encouraging to LeFevre. Stenstrom n over Matthias Arrfilt of Murray State over the weekend enroute to a 3-0 record.

"He (Stenstrom) had played Arrfilt before in Junior National Tourneys in Sweden," LeFevre said, "Richard had never beaten Arrfilt. That was a nice win for Stenstrom lost the first set to Arrfilt 4-6. He then rebounded to win the second set 6-4 before Arrfilt had to eventually retire because of an injury.

Red-hot softballers remain undefeated

By Tracy Sargeant Staff Writer

The SIU-C softball team is on a winning streak as hot as Mexican chili pepper and has the potential of increasing its exhibition record to 20-0, but Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said they aren't feeling the slightest bit of pressure.

The 1989 Salukis softball team returned home this weekend after winning eight games, advancing their record to a perfect 10-0. Brechtelsbauer said that her team is aware of their record, but they are not thinking about finishing with a perfect season.

"There is no pressure. We are taking one game at a time and not thinking on a overall basis, that's reaching too far. There are always uncontrollable factors like weather and field conditions. If we just concentrate on winning, the record will take care of itself," she said.

Even with the impressive contributions of the players, Brechtelsbauer said there is always room for improvement. "I think we are making progress with every game, but there are things we can improve on. Like this weekend we hit the ball high in the air instead of driving through the ball. There were some places where we could have made a few more runs. But we also thought through the game. The players forced the other team to make errors. Which is what we wanted," Brechtelsbauer said.

'It was a real confidence builder this weekend. It wasn't just luck With the momentum you don't even think about losing. (They) are even think about losing. (They) are at the point where they are learning how to win. They are taking each practice like it was the World Series. The better they play in practice, the higher the chances are that they will do that in a game,

There is a possibility of playing five games this week and five games next week, "Brechtelsbauer said. "The hardest part is we have to go back and do it all over again. We can't let up and sit on our wins; we need to be consistent and do it again and again and again.

We are playing well together. I think they are very mature and that the younger players are a great boost (to the team). They want to win, they are hungry to win, and that is a part of being successful," members of the women's cross country team, practice outside McAndrew Stadium Monday.

And the winner is...?

'Bone' not tied to new offense

By Daniel Wallenberg

Bob Smith isn't reliving the past; the wishbone is dead.

In the Salukis' 20-17 victory over conference rival Eastern Illinois, the Salukis took to the ground and bullied their way through the Parthers' defense for 238 yards and two touchdowns, but Smith said the influence of the 'bone' was not the reason.

"The past had nothing to do with (running the ball against EIU)," Smith said. "After looking at film successful.

need to take from our encyclone-need to take from our encyclope-dia, or our playbook, the plays that our players are best at." Smith said. "Each week the philosophy will change," Smith said. "We are not the physical team that can pound the ball on the ground each week, like the old Oklahoma teams.

"And we are not a fast enough team to pass the ball 80 percent of the time, like some of the pro teams" Smith said. "We need to find a blend each week."

The win over EIU had a twofold effect on the team's future, Smith said.

'First, it gives the kids the confidence that we can beat a good football team," Smith said.

Football notebook

(The win) will help us down the road with our young kids, knowing we can come back after being down," Smith said. EIU came into last Saturday's contest with a 2-0 record and scored on 29-yard pass on the team's first offensive series

Though pleased the Salukis did not turn the ball over against the Panthers, Smith was concerned with the number of penalties called against his team.

"We just got a little excited," Smith said. To eliminate some of the penalties "you just have to watch your timing."

"If you play aggressively you will have a penalty once and a while." Smith said. "We don't want to take away the aggressiveness of

Manley's injury minor

The Salukis escaped with only minor injuries against EIU but not sustaining a neck injury during first half play. before receiving a scare after the first half had ended.

Sophomore Jon Manley was taken to Memorial Hospital of Carbondale by ambulance after Smith said Manley was taken to the hospital as a precautionary measure, customary of all head and neck injuries. Manley was not seri-ously injured and returned to Andrew Stadium in time to celebrate the victory in the locker room following the game.

Manley should miss only a day of practice, Smith said.

Wedemeier honored

Junior kicker Steve Wedemeier was named the Saluki specialty team player of the week by the Saluki coaching staff. He s eight points, two field goals and two extra points. Wedemeier scored his first points on a 37-yard field goal in the second quarter. Another field goal of 38 yards tol-lowed in the third quarter.

Wedemeier's other two points followed two touchdowns scored by junior running back Antonio Moore, who was named the offen-

Saluki spikers at home to play St. Louis tonight

By Tracy Sargeant Staff Writer

The Salukis will take on St. Louis University in a home game at 7 p.m. tonight in Davies Gymnasium. The last time the Salukis faced SLU, they swept the Billikens 15-5, 15-7, 15-7. The Salukis have lost only once to SLU in the past seven meetings of the tean

Head coach Patti Hagemeyer said they would like to keep that trend going. SLU has played more games this season than the Salukis, who are 4-3. But Hagemeyer said, "Wether a team has played seven games or 12 games, it matters who is ready for the competition

In the past year, SLU has seen a jumble in its volleyball coaching staff. Under John Rodgers, the Billikens' had a 30-10 season. For new coach Katie Weismiller, SLU is off to a hot season with a 10-3 record.

"I think they are still getting used to me as a coach," Weismiller said, "The lineup is not set, we need to play some more games to see who goes

Weismiller said the team's average height is around fiveeight, and playing at the net is where SLU biggest strength

We're a good defensive team. It's our strongest force right now. What we need to work on is our counter-attack.
We need to build up our offensive," Weismiller said.

"Our weakness is serving. In the games we've lost we had 13 service outs or more. I told my team how difficult it is to win a match in that situation, and we have worked on that in practice. We are more consistent now,

"I have no idea what to expect from St. Louis," Hagemeyer said. "At this point we are ready play. We are still trying to see who plays best off the bench who plays in the the bench, who plays in the starting lineup and so on," she
