Library Borrows Technique From Merchant's Book

Modern merchandizing methods have been adopted by Morris Library's Circulation Desk.

You now get some services by the number just as you do at some butcher shops or the trading stamp store.

The new service, according to Robert Keel, circulation librarian, assures a person of prompt service and eliminates standing in line. Here's how it works:

A person who wants to check out any special material, such as a book or magazine not on the regular shelves, or who wants material Xeroxed, simply places his order at the desk and is issued a number.

He may wait on chairs which have been provided in the main hall across from the circulation desk, or he may return later. When the material has been brought to the circulation desk from another part of the library, the corresponding number is flashed on a new sign board, hanging near the "Reserve Book" checkout counter.

The customer produces his plastic number and is issued the requested material.

The new service began Tuesday, according to Keel.

He said it will eliminate congestion at the circulation desk caused by people waiting at the counter for special material while others were attempting to check out books.

Roundtrip Costs Cut 20% To Chicago, New York

Students wishing to fly round-trip to Chicago or New York over term break will be able to do so at cut-rate prices, according to Jerry McCormick, public relations director for the Saluki Flying Club.

The club has arranged to charter DC3 airplanes from Interstate Airways, which transports the SIU athletic teams.

The club said nonstop flights to Chicago will cost $39 and round-trip flights to New York, $91, a savings of about 20 per cent in each case. Coffee, tea or milk will be available on all flights. Luggage will be restricted to 20 pounds.

The flights for Chicago will leave March 14 and 17 and will land at Midway Airport. The New York flight departs March 17 for John F. Kennedy International Airport. Departure times will be announced later.

The return flight from Chicago will leave March 25. Date of departure from New York will be announced later. Transportation to and from Southern Illinois Airport will be included in the ticket price.

According to McCormick, there are accommodations for 40 persons per flight to Chicago and for 25 persons to New York.

McCormick said further information is available in Room H of the University Center.

Dual Harpists to Appear At Today's Convocations

Longstreth and Escosa, dual harpists, will appear at Freshman Convocations at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

The harpists present unusual arrangements, each with a different period and style of music ranging from Bach and the fugue to modern dissonance.

They broadcast regularly over the Crosley Network from Dayton, Ohio. Longstreth has his own daily television show and is heard twice weekly on radio.

The New Yorker magazine has acclaimed Longstreth and Escosa as "amusing and talented."

The remaining convocation schedule for winter term will include the University Band and Robert Brun of the Christian Science Monitor.

Cynthia Gooding, international folk singer will open the convocation events for spring term on March 26, a brief intermission she will play all 24 Chopin Preludes.

PIANIST JANNA DAWSON

Mrs. Dawson was born in the U.S.S.R. on Christmas Day in 1927. She began her private study in piano at the age of five and made her first stage appearance at six.

During the German occupation she lost her parents while she and her sister Frina were German prisoners in the retreat to Berlin. After some months, German authorities, hearing of the musical talents of the two sisters, impressed them into a musical entertainment troupe.

The girls were liberated by the U.S. 3rd Army after surviving bombings in Berlin and their entry to the United States was arranged in 1946. Janna became the wife of Professor David Dawson, a member of the Berkshire String Quartet and teacher at Indiana University, in 1948.

Mrs. Dawson teaches privately in the winter and is a member of the faculty at Indiana University. In April of 1961, she won the annual Allied Arts Piano Auditions in Chicago. She does extensive touring and has played as soloist with many orchestras including the Chicago Symphony.

It's Confusing to Novice

Spectator at Council Session Seems Slightly Unimpressed

(What does the Student Council in action look like? Here is one reporter's impression of a recent meeting. The Council meets every Thursday night. The meeting is open to the public, so why not attend tonight and compare your impressions with the following?)

By Bob Wahrenburg

It is 7:35 p.m. The Student Council meeting is about to begin.

The room is Ballroom A on the second floor of the University Center. It is large and rectangular. A false ceiling of floating panels lends to the illusion of height. A number of tables are arranged to form a square, and the senators are seated around the perimeter of the square.

The chairman, president of the student body, and a secretary sit at one end toward the double doors. A row of chairs is placed along each of the side walls. These chairs are for reporters, speakers, and interested observers. Sheaves of important looking papers cover the tables. A tray with a multicolored water pitcher and a number of glasses is placed at each of the four corners of the square of the tables.

Wood paneling on the walls and the hardwood floor give the room an elegant atmosphere. A thin cloud of smoke from the senators' pipes, cigars, and cigarettes hangs over the tables.

The meeting begins.

The chairman raps for silence with his gavel, and from that moment on he dominates the proceedings. He is wearing a dark suit and a slight scowl on his face. His deep booming voice calls the roll. His determined look leaves no doubt as to who is in charge here. He is a tall hulk of a man, and if a leader were to be picked here on physical strength alone he would surely win. When he stands to stretch, he towers over the other senators.

The meeting almost immediately moves into what is confusion for the novice spectator. Changes of the agenda, amendments, mandates, points of order, bills are tabled, bills are discussed, votes are taken, bills are passed, and the meeting proceeds. Student government progresses.

A senator pours himself some water from a nearby pitcher. Another senator gets up and walks from the room into the hall. Two other senators follow him. They return in a few minutes. The senator in the yellow sport shirt walks to the other side of the room to confer with a fellow senator. The meeting proceeds. Student government progresses.

A bill comes up. Who will speak for it? A senator, cigar in mouth, rushes in from the hall. He will speak for it.

Should the name of the University Center be changed to include the word "student" in the name? The senator thinks the name should be changed. He argues that the students help pay for the center and that its facilities are mainly directed toward the student, and so it is appropriate that the name should include the word "student." He jokes about some suggested names.

A female senator "abhors the levity that has entered into the discussion." She feels that the student is "an integral part of the university," and the word "university" implies student. She doesn't think that the name should be changed. The senator in shirt sleeves gives his ideas on the subject. Another senator refutes his argument, and the senator in shirt sleeves walks from the room shaking his head, sulking.

The meeting proceeds. Student government progresses.

So the night goes. Bills are brought up and discussed. Tempers flare occasionally. Votes are taken, and some senators are disappointed. The majority rules, it is the democratic way. The meeting lasts about two hours. Student government has progressed.

9 on Ruby Jury List Excused From Trial

DALLAS -- Five consecutive jury candidates, making a total of nine, were excused Wednesday in the trial of Jack Ruby on charges of murdering Lee Harvey Oswald.

None of those called in the questioning which began Tuesday morning has been accepted.

The state exercised its first peremptory challenge -- meaning that the district attorney was not required to state his reasons -- to reject the ninth candidate. He was Frank Meza, 38, a clerk.

Meza, in answering a question by chief defense counsel Melvin Belli said, "I read in the papers he (Ruby) was an emotional man and in my opinion he was emotional then." The previous question had referred to the moment when Ruby killed Oswald.

The others who were rejected today were J. I. Richardson, 35, a purchasing agent; Jesse R. Jones, 59, a foreman; J. H. Roper, 41, an insurance man; and Charles S. Toon, a postman.

1,000 Flee Azores Quake

ANGRA DO HEROISMO, Azores -- A mercy fleet from five nations brought more than 1,000 dazed and shocked refugees to Angra Wednesday from the earthquake devastation of Sao Jorge Island, U.S., Norwegian, British, Italian and Yugoslav ships shuttled back and forth over the 20-mile stretch of water between this island of Terceira and Sao Jorge.

The evacuation operation was halted in the afternoon, however, "because authorities believe the situation has become stable," said Cmdr. Alvaro Cardoso, captain of the port of Angra.

"Tremors are becoming weaker and less frequent," he added.

Twenty tremors were registered by Azores authorities on Sao Jorge during Tuesday night. About 20,000 islanders live on Sao Jorge.

14 Men Rescued

From Sinking Ship

NEW YORK -- The Coast Guard said Wednesday that 22 crewmen had survived the plight of the storm-stricken British freighter Ambassador in the North Atlantic and that 13 were missing.

A message from the coast Guard cutter Coos Bay said nine crewmen were aboard the Norwegian motor vessel Fruen, five aboard the cutter and eight still aboard the Ambassador.

"Rescue proceeding satisfactorily," the message said.

It reported that the Ambassador, about 1,000 miles east of New York City, was listing at a 50-degree angle.

Baker Cites Fifth Amendment, Won't Testify at Senate Probe

WASHINGTON -- Former Senate aide Bobby Baker invoked the 5th Amendment and other constitutional protections today and refused to give Senate investigators his records or answer any of their questions.

Baker's records had been subpoenaed by the Senate Rules Committee which is investigating his outside business activities while employed by the Senate.

The 35-year-old onetime Senate page boy showed up without the records but with two lawyers.

At the windup, the committee ordered Baker to return for a public hearing Tuesday morning. It said that after that it will consider whether to recommend that he be cited for contempt of Congress.

Baker was with the committee in a closed session for more than an hour.

With Baker standing at his side before TV cameras, attorney Edward Bennett Williams said he and Boris Kastelanetz, a New York tax lawyer, had advised the former Senate aide against waiving his constitutional rights.

Williams charged the rules committee with conducting "a legislative trial" of Baker,

Tax Bill Signing

Expected in Week

WASHINGTON--A tax cut boosting take-home pay early in March was assured Wednesday when House and Senate conferees agreed on the biggest reduction bill in history.

The compromise version worked out in three days of closed sessions goes to the House, probably Monday or Tuesday. The Senate is expected to act the same day and prompt signing by President Johnson is assured.

Wage and salary earning Americans will feel the tax cut with pay checks and envelopes reaching them probably in the first week of March. The withholding rate goes down from 18 to 14 per cent one week after the bill is signed.

French Troops Upset Rebels To Reinstate Mba in Gabon

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic -- Airborne French troops upset the new revolutionary regime in neighboring Gabon Wednesday and reinstalled pro-French Leon Mba as president after a short but violent clash with insurgent Babonese soldiers, reports from Libreville said.

Broadcasts from Libreville and private advices received in Brazzaville told of the intervention by President Charles de Gaulle's armed forces in the former French colony of Equatorial West Africa.

Radio Gabon announced all the soldiers who overthrew Mba in a bloodless coup Tuesday had surrendered. Information from the radio and French sources here gave this picture:

French troops were flown into Gabon from the Congo

Republic, from Senegal and other French army posts in Africa. Their number was not disclosed.

Mba, who had been held prisoner in the presidential palace, was freed and reinstated in power.

In Paris, French sources said the purpose of the French military intervention was to "re-establish legality" for the benefit of the Mba administration. The Mba regime was overthrown early Tuesday in a bloodless coup.

Britain Boosts

Forces on Cyprus

LONDON -- The British government announced it will fly nearly 2,000 more troops to strife-torn Cyprus today to keep the peace there until an international force is formed.

They will reinforce between 5,000 and 6,000 British troops who have been trying to keep the Greek and Turkish Cypriots from each other's throats since December.

DIRECTOR GARY SHRIVER TALKS

3-Day Run Starts Friday

Riding Hood, Now Wiser, Sparks Thurber Carnival

By Ric Cox

Little Red Riding Hood goes through the familiar motions of her well-known act. She walks into her grandmother's house and discovers the wolf in disguise. The story is then twisted; she pulls out her automatic and shoots the wolf. The morale of the story: It's not as easy to fool little girls as it used to be.

Such a take-off on fables, and other comic scenes will constitute the Thurber Carnival, to be presented by Interpreter's Theatre at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Davis Auditorium at Wham Education Building.

Gary Shriver, director of the production, explains that the show's 18 scenes are adaptations from the works of James Thurber, cartoonist and author of humorous essays.

The script has been adapted from the Broadway script by Burgess Meredith. "We have done a great deal of revision on the original script," Shriver said, "because we felt Meredith's script was bad in places, and could better be adapted to our audience."

In a series of scenes with such titles as "Macbeth Murder Mystery," "A Couple of Hamburgers," "World War XII" and the famed "Secret Life of Walter Mitty," Thurber's concept of man and his idiosyncrasies are portrayed.

In keeping with Thurber's cartoon style, the characters are costumed in black and white, with the exception of splotches of burnt orange, which give the stage a festive effect. The characters themselves are stereotyped in cartoon-style.

Whereas the Interpreter's Theatre usually presents drama through the oral medium only, this production

Ernest Shult to Speak
At Math Colloquium

Ernest Shult, instructor in mathematics, will be the speaker at the Mathematics Colloquium at 4 p.m. today in Room 203 of the Wham Education Building.

Shult's topic will be "On a Theorem of Gaschutz."

will combine some of the techniques of theater, in that some costuming, setting, and properties will be employed.

"We didn't feel that the mere use of words could convey, as well, what we wanted to present," Shriver commented. "Thus we are trying a new technique--a mixture of styles.

"I am doing a little experimenting with this production," Shriver continued. "This is part of my research into interpretive drama, which I hope to use in a thesis."

Shriver, a graduate student in speech, has directed the Interpreter's Theatre in "John Brown's Body" and "Simon" which have been performed on campus.

He explained that through oral emphasis, the group attempts to use the stimulus of words to create a scene in the spectator's mind. In this way, every member of the audience is his own creator.

Tryouts for Plays To Begin Today

Tryouts for Ionesco's "The Bald Soprano" and Albee's "The American Dream" will begin at 5 p.m. today in the Southern Playhouse. Other tryouts are also scheduled at 5 and 7 p.m. Friday. In addition, at 9 a.m. Saturday, auditions for the Bald Soprano will be held, followed by tryouts for "The American Dream" at 10:30 a.m.

Because of clearance difficulties the originally scheduled production, Printer's "The Birthday Party," is being replaced by the above mentioned.

"The Bald Soprano" satirizes the human condition of automation, of the meaningless clichés in social conversation and the inability of people to communicate. Albee's play is a serious indictment of the hollowiness of the American ideals of togetherness, corn-fed cheerfulness and family life.

The plays will be presented in the Southern Playhouse April 10-12 and 14-18.

Guilt by Association in Reverse

All the discussion of who can or cannot join the efforts of the Campus Committee to Abolish Compulsory ROTC seems a little silly. We disagree with those who would bar members of the Student Peace Union from the movement.

SPU takes, and most members affirm, a strongly anti-military stand. Its 1961 program statement proposes "a policy of American unilateral initiatives as the most productive approach toward effecting total and worldwide disarmament." Strong stuff, that.

Because SPU members take such a strongly anti-military stand, the argument runs, they should be barred from "respectable" anti-ROTC movements like CACR.

We disagree, SPU members' rights as Americans to protest a policy they dislike does not stop at the sidewalk in front of President Morris's office. A better response from the more conservative committee members would have been an added effort to add others of their belief to the committee, not simply to shunt aside the four SPU members as undesirable.

Even Mr. Moore, leader of the more conservative faction of the Committee, appears to agree. On Friday he wrote: "I strongly urge each and every student, regardless of his factional loyalties at Southern, to join in this movement." His statement hardly squares with the fuss about SPU members on the Committee.

It is hardly surprising that the protest against compulsory ROTC should have gained support from students who disagree on most other topics. It is the nature of protest movements to unite various factions.

From a practical standpoint, also, the purge of the four SPU members from the Committee was questionable--if for no other reason than the SPU members' willingness to parade their views at the President's Office--something the more passive majority is unlikely to do.

Isn't this the old idea of guilt by association in reverse? Some members of the Committee refuse backing from SPU members simply because they do not agree with all SPU views.

They forget that both the Committee and the four SPU members involved presently have the same concern: abolition of compulsory ROTC here.

Delegates to Mock U.N. Need To Know More About Nations

As a visiting graduate student at this University, I found considerable interest in attending the Model United Nations assembly this past weekend.

At the outset I heard the President appeal for a true spirit of representation, namely, that delegates should fairly represent the opinions of the countries which they represented. I imagine that groups taking part knew this important detail in time to acquaint themselves with these facts.

Early on Friday I heard the delegate from South Africa be the first speaker to support racial integration. Any interested amateur in politics knows this to be the direct opposite to South Africa's avowed stand.

When the Red China motion was put forward it was obvious that, whatever country they represented (with a few notable exceptions), the American students remained 'indoctrinated' Americans. No one blames them for that.

The fact remains, however, that it is a farce to attach so much publicity to the Assembly, even more so that its workings receive wide press coverage as representative of a Model U.N. Assembly.

I am fully aware that many nations were represented by their own nationals, who are here on campus. They were excellent, as were the exceptions noted above. The vast remainder of the so-called 'uncommitted nations' were very much committed.

For the future success of this commendable political exercise and to make it more meaningful, it would be to everyone's advantage if the delegates themselves would become more fully acquainted with the political opinions of the countries they represent, whatever their own beliefs. It would also protect some of the International Students on campus from further political embarrassment.

Letters To The Editor

Peace Corps Recruiters

Thank SIU for Hospitality

We want to express our appreciation for the interest, attention, help and hospitality which the students, faculty, and staff of Southern Illinois University gave us in our Peace Corps recruiting week here in Carbondale. We never found a door closed to us. We always found a most heartening interest in our talks in classrooms and elsewhere. Rarely did we find the attitude, "I think Peace Corps service is a good thing, but I cannot fit it into my career."

On the contrary, we were frequently approached by students who had many qualifications for Peace Corps service who said, "I would like to serve, but can the Peace Corps make use of me?" This is typical of the "readiness to serve" attitude at Southern.

During Peace Corps week, 176 students filed the Peace Corps questionnaire and took the aptitude test. This far exceeds the number we had hoped would apply, and is a much higher number than usual for a university of this size.

Our week at SIU was not all work. We genuinely enjoyed our contacts with the University community. We hope that Southern learned much about the Peace Corps; we know that we have learned much about Southern. We look forward to returning to SIU next year and finding the University bigger and even better.

Jim Gibson, Pat McDermot, Mary Cahill, John Hodgdon, Ellen Little and George Paluch, SIU liaison

PS: If you have not yet returned your questionnaire, please bring it to the Student Government office today. Questionnaires will be returned to Washington tomorrow.

Student From Outside Area Needs to Be 'Discovered'

Help! I've been engulfed in a rigorous study routine with no social life. Why haven't I been discovered? Where is the SIU "organizational mind" that precludes isolation because one is a student residing in an outside area?

These questions are brought not only to my mind, but to other new students not fortunate enough to find satisfactory housing within Carbondale proper. Are we to be left uninformed or excluded because we have sought an education, yet must live in an outside area? No, I don't think this is the original intent, nor indicative of the generally friendly atmosphere that pervades SIU. My doubtful attitudes persist, however, when witnessing those candidates for Off Campus Sweetheart. Not one candidate was representative of an area (Carterville, Murphysboro, Herrin, DeSoto, etc.) where over 30 per cent of off-campus students reside.

Who is my student council representative? I've been assigned sophomore status--I wonder who my class officers are? Where, when and how do I get in touch with them? My address and date of enrollment (indicating I'm a new student) are on file in the Student Affairs Office. Why hasn't a concise fact sheet with this information been mailed to me and to other students confronted with this dilemma?

These questions are undoubtedly those of the minority. Perhaps this minority which I represent has not been attentive enough, nor inventive enough, to seek the answers on its own.

4 Big Ten Teams

Saluki Tennis Squad, Under New Coach, To Face Big-Time Competition in Spring

Southern's tennis team, with its new coach Carl Sexton, goes big-time this spring, highlighted by a home- and away series with Northwestern and its Davis Cup team member Marty Riessen.

The Salukis, who posted a fine 16-2 record last year under Dick LeFevre, who is in Viet Nam this year, will also meet three other Big Ten teams, including Iowa, Wisconsin and Indiana as well as Cincinnati and Tulsa of the Missouri Valley Conference, Oklahoma State and Iowa State of the Big Eight and Western Michigan of the Mid-American Conference.

Sexton should have a strong team this year, as he has all his lettermen returning except George Domenech. Domenech's vacancy will be filled, however, by a strong sophomore, Al Pena.

Other returnees are undefeated Bob Sprenglemeier, Lance Lumsden, Pachito Castillo, Roy Sprenglemeier and Wilson Burge.

The schedule: March 19-23 - Rice University tournament.

March 24 - at Houston, March 27 - Iowa, here. March 28 - Western Michigan, here.

LANCE LUMSDEN

April 10 - Northwestern, here.

April 11 - Cincinnati, here. April 24-25 - Oklahoma State, Iowa State and Wheaton at Kansas City.

May 1 - at Wisconsin. May 2 - Iowa and Wheaton at Madison, Wis.

May 5 - at Washington (St. Louis). May 6 - Tulsa, here. May 9 - at Indiana. May 18 - at Northwestern. May 19 - at Notre Dame.

Matmen to Meet Indiana Tonight

The Saluki wrestlers will meet Indiana State's Sycamores at Terre Haute at 7:30 p.m. Thursday instead of Saturday, as previously scheduled.

The Salukis, who have lost only to Oklahoma State, may be somewhat handicapped, however, by a rash of injuries to front-line performers. Don Devine, a once-beaten 115-pounder, will definitely miss the meet as will 137-pound Ton Pierannunzi, who is out for the remainder of the season with a broken arm.

Standout heavyweight Larry Kristoff has also been hobbled by an ankle injury, but Coach Jim Wilkinson is hopeful that the former Carbondale prep star will be able to return to action by this weekend.

Frosh Quintet Resumes Action Tonight at Hannibal-LaGrange

The freshman basketball team gets back into action tonight when they travel to St. Louis to play Hannibal-LaGrange Extension.

Coach George Iubelt's yearlings will be seeking their 10th win of the year and their second of the season over the Hannibal outfit. The Salukis whipped them earlier in the season in a contest played at the Men's Gym.

Tonight's game will be the next-to-last outing of the season for the frosh, who have piled up an impressive 9-3 record.

The Salukis' attack has been led all season by Walt Frazier, a 6-4 guard from Atlanta, Ga.

The attack has also been boosted recently by the play of Ray Krapf and Bob Tyler.

The frosh will close their season Monday night when they entertain Kentucky Wesleyan. In an earlier meeting between the two teams, the Salukis came out on top 82-68.

Saluki Quintet Awaiting NCAA Bid After Upsetting Louisville Saturday

Southern's cagers upped their season's record to 13-8 with the upset victory over Louisville last Saturday night, but the Salukis didn't get too fat in the scoring column.

The Louisville win could give the Salukis that extra push they'll need going into the final three games of the regular season. A bid from the NCAA is still being waited upon by SIU officials and the Louisville victory could carry Southern a long way into the post season tournament.

The Salukis have what should be two easy games on the road this weekend when they travel to Southwest Missouri State tomorrow night and to Central Missouri Saturday night. The Salukis already claim victories over both teams.

In the individual scoring race, Joe Ramsey is far out in front after 21 games with 323 points and a 15.4 per game average. Duane Warning is one point up on Paul Henry with 218 markers. Henry, however, carries a 10.9 game average while Warning sports a 10.4 average.

Dave Lee was held scoreless at Louisville but holds a slight lead over Lloyd Stovall with 192 points as compared to Stovall's 183. Lee has a 9.6 average and Stovall a 10.2.

Eldon Bigham has collected 161 points and a 7.7 game average. The remainder of the scoring is spread out with Randy Goin coming next with 114 points and a 5.7 average. Goin is followed by George McNeill (82 points, 4.6 average), Thurm Brooks (70 points, 4.1 average), Boyd
