Off-Campus Crowning Tonight

Ten coeds will be seeking the crown of Off-Campus Sweetheart at the annual Off-Campus Valentine Ball tonight.

The dance, in the University Center Ballrooms, will begin at 8 p.m. and last until midnight, Danny Cagle and the Escorts will play for the dance.

Tickets for the dance are available all day today in the Activities Office of the University Center.

Coeds seeking the title are Pam McKenzie, Roberta Vondriska, Mary Lupkey, Lois Pakulski, Gail Karinek, Karen Nungesser, Ginger Macchi, Melaine McGuire, Kathy Stewart and Linda Box.

The annual dance is sponsored by the various off-campus housing units in which some 8,500 SIU students live.

Ticket Sale Slated For Ohio U. Game

Student tickets for Saturday night's basketball game with Ohio University go on sale at 9 a.m. today.

The Arena ticket office will be open from 9 to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. today and from 8:30 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Tickets will also be available at the door for the 8 p.m. game. The adult advance ticket sale is reportedly running higher than for any game this season.

Poet Is Available For Chat Session

W.D. Snodgrass, Pulitzer Prize-winning poet, says he is very interested in meeting and talking with SIU students about poetry today. He will be available from 1 to 4 p.m. in the Morris Library lounge.

Tonight, Snodgrass will lecture and read from his prize-winning "Heart's Needle" as well as his other works at 8 in Wham 308 as part of the University Center Programming Board's Creative Insights program.

Reputed as being one of the best poets of our age, Snodgrass is also an excellent reader. Randy Blunk, Snodgrass's host at SIU, thinks this will give students of poetry an excellent opportunity to see how Snodgrass meant his poetry to be read.

The Snodgrass visit is being sponsored by the Department of English and by the University Center Programming Board. In honor of the occasion, free mimeographed booklets of Snodgrass poetry is available at the Student Activities Office.

Movie Industry's Salvation: Big Screen, Big Production

By Frank Messersmith

Block buster productions and large screen theaters have been the salvation of the movie industry, according to Bosley Crowther, motion picture editor of the New York Times.

Crowther, speaking at the freshman Convocations Thursday, said the widespread growth of television in the 1950s caused such a sharp drop in the movie industry, many thought it was on its last legs.

"The movies had to find something new," Crowther said, "and about 1952 they came along with Cinerama." Following the big screen, large productions dominated the industry.

Television has also brought about another change in motion pictures, that of more interesting ideas and scenes in movies, he said.

"It used to be that a love scene between a man and woman could not be filmed unless the man had one foot on the floor," Crowther continued.

Today the attitude about love scenes has changed. In fact, "Some of the sequences have such an excess of bare arms and legs flying around, I can't tell what's really going on," he said.

Since the Supreme Court in 1954 handed down the decision prohibiting censorship of movies before their release, motion pictures have moved toward films of realistic events and surroundings with definite purposes, he added.

Crowther said foreign films were the first to depict realistic concepts of life and that many of these films are excellent. "La Dolce Vita" is probably one of the great movies of our time," he said.

With this freedom from censorship, many people are worried that all movies will become as offensive and distasteful as "Kiss Me, Stupid," Crowther asserted.

"I don't think this will ever happen," he said.

"I hope we will live to see the day when our whole culture will be greatly enhanced by the motion picture industry," he concluded.

President Says 'It's Wise' To Go Along With Board

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—President Delyte W. Morris said Thursday he is prepared to accept budget cuts recommended by the State Board of Higher Education.

Morris told the Illinois Budgetary Commission SIU needs more money, but can get by with less than was sought originally.

Morris said SIU has many pressing problems because of its rapid growth and could use all of the $95.5 million it requested. The University had about 2,500 students in the early 1950s and now has an enrollment of more than 20,000.

However, he told the commission he would accept the decision to slice the budget to $80.5 million. The present budget is $56.3 million.

"We were asking for more money but I believe it's wise to accept the board's decision," Morris said. "I would prefer that we ride with them."

Dr. David Henry, president of the University of Illinois also acceded to the board's cuts. The U. of I.'s proposed operating budget for the next two-year fiscal period was cut $4 million, from $218 million. Its present budget is $168.8 million.

The other four state-supported universities submitted two-year budgets totalling $97.1 million. This includes $17.1 million for Eastern Illinois University, $27.5 for Illinois State University, $35.7 for Northern and $17.5 for Western.

Minneapolis Publisher to Give Journalism Week Talk Here

Joyce A. Swan, publisher and executive vice president of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, will speak here April 9.

Swan, a native of Crab Orchard, Ill., will address a dinner meeting of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association and SIU journalism students in the University Center.

The dinner will be part of Journalism Week which will be observed April 7 through 10.

Swan, born on a farm near Crab Orchard, became vice president and general manager of the Star and Tribune in 1952, executive vice president in 1956 and publisher in 1961. He is president of Wichita-Hutchinson Co., Inc., which owns and operates a television station in Wichita, Kan., and president of the Rapid City, S.D., Journal.

When Swan was 8 years old his family moved to Marion, where the boy pursued his education through high school. After graduating from the University of Missouri School of Journalism in 1928, he joined the Des Moines Register and Tribune. He moved to Minneapolis in 1939 to join the Star, and following the purchase of the Minneapolis Journal by the Star in 1939, Swan became business manager of the Star-Journal in 1940. In 1941 the Star-Journal acquired the Minneapolis Tribune, and Swan continued his rise in the organization.

During his professional career Swan has received the University of Missouri Medal

MARISSA, Ill. (KA)—Roly Poly, Regional Manager of Slaughter's Food Service, announced the appointment today of Seedy Tweedy, formerly head of the SIU School of Agriculture's Department of Animal Feeds and Livestock Rearing, as Director of Student Feeding.

Poly said the appointment was made in response to a number of complaints from the student body, which apparently began somewhere in the line of students awaiting treatment for ptomaine poisoning at Health Service.

"It's all right if they get a little sick," Poly said, "But what if their parents write to the Legislature?" Poly claimed to have the situation under control, however, with the selection of Tweedy. "I feel sure that the training and skill Tweedy is bringing to the job will bring about many improvements in the quality of food presently being served," he said.

Tweedy's only comment was that "A properly fed student is a fat, happy and productive student."

MARISSA, Ill. (KA)—Ricky Ticky, SIU Vice-President in charge of the Carbondale-Exodus Shipping Lines, announced today that a special group of students would be leaving the city, scheduled to visit various U.S. schools and colleges. The tour is primarily intended for the increasing number of SIU students seeking to transfer, but who have received little assistance from their departmental administrators.

Transportation arrangements have been made with the Illini Central Railroad, with meals provided by Slaughter's Food Service. Ticky said, "It is hoped this tour will prove the final obstacle for SIU students trying to leave Carbondale."

"After all," Ticky continued, "we need these students. Why, without students, our enrollment figures would drop considerably and we would hardly be able to justify many of the existing systems and procedures and eventually even the entire graduate department might have to be dropped."

MARISSA, Ill. (KA)—Digger Dodder, Regional Director of Everything at the University of Illinois announced today that the U. of I. was opening six branch campuses in Southern Illinois.

Dodder said, "There will be three branches in Carbondale and one each in Edwardsville, Alton, and East St. Louis," adding that the reason for this is to "offset the effect Southern Illinois University had had in this area."

The establishment of the branch campuses was unexpected as it came soon after an announcement by the Illinois Higher Board of Education that branch campuses tend to foster competition between the U. of I. and SIU and this was no longer condoned.

When questioned about this, Dodder commented, "So what?" He went on to say, "At the University of Illinois we tend to feel that we know what is best for Illinois' education needs."

Ricky Ticky was not available for comment as he was enroute to Springfield.

Trees, Southern Style

I think that I shall never see, A poem lovely as a tree. A tree that looks at God all day, And lifts her leafy arms to pray; A tree that may in Summer wear A nest of robins in her hair; Upon whose bosom snow has lain; Who intimately lives with rain. Parodies are done by fools like me, But only Delyte can move a tree.

MARISSA, Ill. (KA)—Wishy Washy, President of the local chapter of SNEER (Society for Effective Efforts at Retraction) said today that "We are not concerned with individual opinion that disagrees with any official view."

Washy says, "Our group has been involved in discouraging controversy of any sort on the grounds that we don't like controversy," adding "If no one questions the policies of a governmental organ then more effective change can be initiated."

Washy's statements were made at a meeting held at the One-Half University Center on the Carbondale Campus of Southern Illinois University. The meeting was scheduled to explain SNEER's request that retractions be printed publicly concerning all student opinion expressed in the One-Half Center's coffee shop.

MARISSA, Ill. (KA)—Ricky-Ticky, One out of Four SIU Vice-Presidents, held a news conference today at the University Center at Mariassa, to explain the recent announcement that all residents of Greek Row must vacate their living areas by 3:15 p.m. XKOK time Saturday.

The announcement came on the heels of an unprecedented development at the Thompson Point living area. Ticky read from an official statement prepared by the SIU administration, sometimes referred to as the Council of One-Hundred Bureaucrats.

The statement read: "The residents of Thompson Point, suffering from an acute case of ethno-centrism, petitioned the Administration for the privilege to erect a flagpole at the entrance to their residence area. Permission was granted, on the understanding that the TP residents would then have their own flagpole around which to rally for what we (the Administration) felt would be used for telling ghost stories and such. Last week it was brought to our attention that the TP residents, in a coalition with the ROTC department and the Commonwealth of Kentucky, had erected a twelve foot brick wall around the entire area.

"It is the interpretation of this administration that the coalition developed as a result of rumors that ROTC may be made voluntary. Whatever the reason for their action may be, the result has been a lessening of influence from the central Administration, since we are no longer allowed in the area.

"To offset this effect, and the strain put on University Housing by the coalition's action, the Small Group Housing area (Greek Row) will be turned into general university housing until further notice."

A spokesman for Thompson Point, now referred to as Camp Thompson, said, "No further action is planned, but arrangements have been made to set fire to a Resident Counselor as a demonstration of the need for compulsory ROTC."

In an interview with Weaky Greeky, interfraternity leader, it was made apparent that Greek Row was not completely aware of the full impact of today's developments. Greeky said, "I don't get it. Why don't they just build a new health service?"

Epitome

The big, white dog lay under the table, motionless with its eyes closed, his ears up listening for familiar noises. He was near the advisor's feet, which moved nervously. The feet were the only animated part of the advisor, besides his mouth, of course. Periodically other feet hemmed the dog in on his left flank. The feet were never the same on the left side, but on the right they were constant. The same, but changing positions. A new pair of shoes now were on the dog's left side. They were muddied. He listened.

"You're Tom Neocrane?" "Yes sir. I'm a junior in Geography. Here's a copy of the courses I need this quarter. Figured I'd save a little time."

"In a hurry, huh?" "No, not exactly. I've had my whole junior year worked out to make things go smoother."

"Lemme see it. Um-uh. Have you had GSA 329b yet?" The advisor's feet shifted and touched the dog. The dog moved a little and came in contact with the muddied shoes. The saturated shoes held for a second against the dog's ribcage, and the dog growled a little. The muddied feet then shifted.

"What's GSA 329b?" asked Neocrane.

"Introductory, Survey Course in Basic Principles and the What-have-you of Neuro-surgery."

"Huh?" "Brain operations, boy." "Oh! You mean, Ben Casey, Kildare, frontal lobotomies, and that stuff."

"Exactly." "But last quarter they told me all I would need was what's on that sheet of paper I gave you."

"That has been changed." "By who?" "What do you mean, by who? You know, by who."

Under the table the big dog blinked his eyes questioningly. "Oh yeah. You mean them. I'm sorry." Neocrane apologized. "But look, I'm a junior in Geography. Why should I want to know about frontal lobotomies?"

"Well, my boy, you never know what new vistas a course like this might open up to you. Might change your whole life."

"I'm in Geography, though. And I'm 21. I want to study Geography."

"Mad, impetuous youth. Why, I remember when . . ."

"Look, is there no way out? Do I have to take it?"

"That's what they want." "Who are they?" "Say, do I have to go . . ."

"I'm sorry." The muddied shoes resignedly withdrew from under the table. Tom Neocrane, junior in Geography, next quarter studying introductory courses in Poetry, Music, Health, Psychology, and frontal lobotomies, opened the door of the building and went outside. It was still raining. Only harder, now.

The big, white dog hastily got up and went out the door, still open. Into the rain he went, looking to add his own personal poison to the down-pour.

"Close the door," somebody inside the building yelled.

The Word, Southern Style

by D.O. Volente
Book VI

And so it was that Max, being in disfavor with his people who had fled from the land of Egypt to Rantouli only to be cursed with lunch tickets from the Unauthorized Drug-store, went up to receive the rules whereby his people might be governed, ruled, and otherwise dominated.

But man is a dastardly, depraved, and totally despicable race, for it was no more than scant moments of the Lord after the worthy Max had ascended the Stairway to the Stars that the people below began the worship of a false idol. The students, being possessed of the devil and wearing '69" sweat shirts, commenced, in a shameful and deplorable manner, dancing and frugging about a Golden Saluki. And Max looked down from on high, and was sorely (not to mention surely) put out (which is to say, exceedingly irate). And he descended, in majestic and glorious fashion, and chastised them in a powerful and scathing manner.

And the people repented and smote their heads against the wall, many of them being athletes. And Max again wearily ascended the mount to receive the Word, not knowing that it was available in Ka. But woe be to the people of Egypt! What a corrupt beast is man, groveling in the dust. They betrayed their Lord once more, and worshippeth another false God, this being "Conelrad", which was their fit being Sunday at 4:30 being broadcast on WINI (1420), which, after all, is the Voice of God in Egypt and is known as the S-I-N Broadcasting Service.

And Max chastiseth them again, and smote them with his rod. (To make matters worse, two of them had been seen, unspeakable barbarians, wearing their hats in the Temple of the Lord, which was the worst of all possible sins).

And Max ascendeth the Mount once again, pleading with his people to be faithful and steadfast in his efforts, was rewarded - the Word was given to him, and was known as the Student Godbook.

And Max descended and read aloud the Commandments to his people. And they are reprinted below.

I. Thou hast but one University, and thou shalt disregard the fact that it is divided and spread over many miles. Thou shalt worship the One University and shalt have no others before it.

II. Thou shalt honor thy Resident Fellow and Housemother, that your days at the University might be long and fruitful, and that your Goodbyes with thy loved ones not overly long, so that they shall not be offensive to others.

III. Thou shalt remember thy final exam days to keep them holy - if thou can find out when they are.

IV. Thou shalt not participate in adultery in unauthorized housing.

V. Thou shalt shoplift, for thou shalt surely be caught, and the revenue of the city will swell and become great

VI. Thou shalt report thy neighbor if he violateth the rules, as they have been laid down before thee.

And VII, VIII, IX, and X were illegible, having been done by the Printing Service.

And the people heard the edicts, and were somewhat displeased, to say the least. And it was proposed that the Spring Elections be conducted, and it was so. And for the outcome, join us next week.

The authors of The Word (they being two, but being only One in essence) wish to remind the faithful, that the Word is on the air. Once a week, services will be held on WINI, 1420 in Murphysboro, and will consist of a 15-minute program of satire and tips on how to lead the Good Life. (The pronouncement, noble underrating that it is, is financed by the Swingin' Doors.) All are welcome.

Student's Ingenuity Saves SIU Over Half the Cost of Device

A student's ingenuity has saved the University more than half the cost of a new teaching aid in its engineering laboratories.

Kenneth B. Jordan, a senior majoring in engineering and part-time employe of the School of Technology, knew a variable speed rotating cylinder was needed to demonstrate radial variation of pressure of a liquid rotating as a solid body. He made one. "With very little supervision," said Philip K. Davis of the engineering faculty, "Kenneth not only designed and built the device, but also gained the valuable experience of locating and ordering materials used in its construction."

Cost of the entire project,

Capacity Crowd Sees 'Faust'

At Monticello, Gives Ovations

EDWARDSVILLE — The SIU Opera Workshop production of "Faust" played to a capacity crowd on the Monticello College campus Wednesday night.

The more than 1,000 persons attending gave standing ovations to Marjorie Lawrence, director, and Katherine Dunham, guest choreographer.

The performance was presented for students on the Edwardsville campus, but lack of facilities required that it be staged at Monticello.

Cast members, the same who performed last weekend on the Carbondale campus, included:

Douglas Horner, Faust; Joel Thomas, Mephistopheles; Ludlow Hallman, Valentine; Jeffrey Gillam, Wagner.

Katherine Kimmell, Marguerite; Judith Sablotny, Siebel; and Brenda Finn, Martha.

The complete set had been transported from the Carbondale campus to Hathaway Hall at Monticello. Stage crews worked on the move Monday and Tuesday.

Richard Lee, adviser of the Alestle, Edwardsville campus newspaper, said the audience reaction was quite good.

Belleville Clergymen to Speak During Universal Prayer Day

The Rt. Rev. Robert Wesselsmann, chancellor of Belleville Catholic diocese, will discuss "Renewal of Canon Law" at 7 p.m. Sunday in Ballroom B of the University Center.

The program is part of the Universal Day of Prayer sponsored by the Baptist Foundation, Canterbury House, General Baptist Fellowship, Christian Science Organization, Lutheran Student Association, Student Christian Foundation and Wesley Foundation.

Father Wesselsmann, a native of Mascoutah, Illinois, attended St. Henry's in Belleville. He studied theology at Mundelein Seminary, Chicago, and studied in Rome for his Canon Law Degree.

Presiding minister of the evening will be Pastor Len-wood Monte, Lutheran Student Association. Students from each of the participating groups will serve as readers.

The offering for the evening will be sent to the World Student Christian Federation, founder of the Universal Day of Prayer.

Situation Not 'Hopeless'

McNamara Doubts Chinese Reds Will Stage Attack in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara described the Viet Nam crisis as "grave but by no means hopeless," and expressed doubt the Red Chinese would step in with a major attack.

Despite Peking's militancy, McNamara said in a report Thursday to the House Armed Services Committee, the Red Chinese "have shown great caution when confronted with a determined display of military power."

Both Peking and Moscow, he added, can be expected to stir up as much trouble as they can "whenever and wherever they can do so safely, without a 'head-on' collision with U.S. military power."

And he made clear that he saw no alternative than for the United States to remain in South Viet Nam, supporting the government against Communist guerrillas. He described the war as a key to stemming Communist expansion not only in Asia but in other developing nations.

A Red victory in South Viet Nam, he said, would greatly increase Peking's prestige, would be claimed as proof of the success of its hard-line policy and would strengthen Red China's hand in its leadership battle with the Soviet Union.

Leaving the committee room, McNamara told newsmen that greater efforts will be required of South Viet Nam in the coming year, including a boost in its military force. This may require a small increase in the number of Americans sent there to help with training, as well as more combat equipment, he said.

Looking into the future, McNamara saw a most disturbing prospect in Peking's determination to produce modern nuclear armaments.

Although it may be a slow road for the Red Chinese, McNamara said, "There is no reason to suppose that the Chinese cannot in time produce medium-range and even long-range ballistic missile systems and arm them with thermonuclear warheads.

"Give the hostility the regime has shown, this is a most disturbing long-range prospect," he said.

Mob Attacks Consulate In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—A mob of Communist-inspired youths attacked the U.S. consulate in Medan Thursday in the fifth such assault on official American properties in Indonesia in the last six months. As in the past, U.S. diplomats protested.

The outbreak at Medan, a Sumatran trade and manufacturing center 850 miles northwest of Jakarta, was accompanied by an indication that President Sukarno's government intends to take over supervision of U.S.-owned rubber estates in northern Sumatra.

About 700 demonstrators stormed the consulate grounds.

They ripped the U.S. shield from above the front door of the two-story building, tore down the Stars and Stripes, raised Indonesia's red and white flag and pasted anti-American signs on the walls.

Consul Theodore Heavner reported the demonstrators tried to seize the U.S. information agency library on the ground floor.

Viet Nam is the rallying cry of anti-American agitators. It used to be Malaysia and the Congo.

Ranger 8 Is Right on Target For Saturday Moon Landing

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The camera-carrying Ranger 8 spacecraft is on target for a Saturday landing on the moon's Sea of Tranquillity, scientists said Thursday.

They added that the pictures it is expected to radio back should be better than those sent by Ranger 7

Harris Schuirmier, Ranger project manager, said Ranger 8 and its six television cameras would impact somewhere within a 70x45-mile area on a broad plain in the central portion of the right half of the moon as seen from earth.

Johnson Asks Business Aid To Stem Gold-Dollar Drain

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked business Thursday "to join hands with me in a voluntary partnership" to stem the gold-dollar drain. He urged banks and industry to cut overseas spending, lending and investment "to the bone."

This was the message Johnson gave to more than 350 leading bankers, industrialists and insurance executives summoned to the White House to canvass ways of solving the balance-of-payments problem.

Behind the President's appeal for voluntary business action to slash the flow of private capital abroad lay an unspoken threat to require such action through legislation if his plea is ignored.

Services for Nat King Cole

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four hundred mourners, including famous names in the entertainment world, sat silently in St. James Episcopal Church Thursday and heard singer Nat King Cole eulogized by Jack Benny as a man "who gave so much and still had so much more to give."

Three files of quiet spectators lined Wilshire Boulevard to observe the arrival of such figures as Danny Thomas; Peter Lawford and his wife, Patricia Kennedy Lawford; Dorothy Dandridge, Ricardo Montalban and Stan Kenton.

Rev. Samuel D'Amico conducted the Episcopal service. Eulogists were Benny and George Jessel.

80-90 Escape

Avalanche Buries 40 In Canadian Mine

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—Rescuers broke through late Thursday to an estimated 40 to 42 men trapped in a British Columbia mineshaft by a glacial avalanche, it was reported here.

Pete Cesnun, president of Weber Air Service of Ketchikan, said he was in contact with Howard Fowler, road fireman at Stewart, B.C., near the accident scene.

Fowler told Cesnun that rescue workers had broken through to the tunnel in which the men were trapped and found that 17 of them were badly injured.

It was not known whether any were dead or whether any others had been buried under the slide.

The avalanche, described as of "fantastic proportions," roared down Thursday on a remote mining camp near the Alaska - Canada border, burying 40 workmen.

Eighty or 90 others escaped. Many were injured.

Twenty-five of the 40 missing men were reported by British Columbia Mines Minister Donald Brothers in Victoria to be trapped in an 11-mile tunnel being dug by the Granduc Mining Co. toward copper reserves.

Those on the outside able to dig grabbed shovels and any other tools in a desperate attempt to hack through the tons of mud, snow and ice into the tunnel.

Reports from the scene, 30 miles north of this north-west British Columbia port town, said the danger of other slides in the mountain-ringed area was acute.

A massive rescue effort was mounted in British Columbia and Alaska but fog, snow and 50-to 60-mile winds thwarted efforts to reach the mine.

If your roommate says the Bell System helped invent hi-fi, stereo and talking movies, don't bet. You'll lose.

In the course of their studies of the nature of sound, Bell System scientists have been able to make significant contributions to all three forms of entertainment.

You might say that it was because the discoveries were there to be discovered by the first explorers to come down the trail.

When the century was still young, we realized that if the telephone were to come up to its potential, the nature of sound had to be much better understood than it was.

This led to the largest, most comprehensive study of sound ever undertaken by anyone.

To capture sound for study, Bell Telephone Laboratories developed the first electronic recorder for phonograph discs. For the first time, performers recorded into microphones.

Then, in 1925, Bell Labs perfected an electronic system that synchronized sound and action on movie film. The talkies were born.

To get better sound reproduction, they started experimenting in 1933 with ways to separate high and low frequencies to prevent distortion. The result was a single-groove, multi-channel disc—the basis of today's stereophonic industry.

Nevertheless, these contributions were by-products of the real effort, which was to make telephone service better. We are proud, of course, that they helped build and improve whole industries.

But we're prouder of the sound qualities in the telephone of today.

If you'd like to do business or engineering work you're really proud of, we'd like to talk to you.

Hints for Job Seekers

2 Meetings to Aid Students In Impressing Interviewers

Two meetings designed to help students make a better impression during job interviews will be held next week.

They are sponsored by the SIU Placement Service and the Division of Technical and Adult Education.

The first meeting will be 7 p.m. Tuesday and the second at 7 p.m. Thursday. Both will be in Old Main.

The major objective of this program is to familiarize the undergraduates, especially the seniors, with the various types of employment interview procedures. On Tuesday the students will be able to talk with assistant directors of the Placement Service.

Wesley Sandness, an assistant director of the Placement Service, will speak in Old Main 209 to students from VTI, the School of Technology and other students, such as mathematics majors, who might be seeking a job of a technical nature.

Herall C. Largent, assistant director of the Placement Service, will talk to students in education in Room 210.

And Robert B. Vokac, assistant director of the Placement Service, will speak to the nontechnical students in business and industry in Room 213.

Mrs. David Crawford, a graduate of Stephens College and a model for Carson Pirie Scott and Co. in Chicago, will discuss grooming and its effects on job interviews.

On Thursday Laine Neely, personnel director of Allen Industries in Herrin, and Lowell Hall, administrative services of Olin Mathieson, will talk to the technical students.

Remo Castrole, superintendent of the community school unit in Johnston City, and R. D. Hibbs, superintendent of Du Quoin Township High School, will speak to the education majors.

Gola Waters, personnel director of P. R. Mallory of Du Quoin, and Marion Nash, director of purchasing and personnel of McNair Division of Phelps-Dodge of Murphysboro, will address the non-technical students.

These representatives of businesses and schools will give their ideas of what the interviewer is looking for and what he expects to see.

Jacobs to Speak To Faculty Club

"Southern's International Programs" will be the topic of the Faculty Club seminar at the weekly luncheon today in the River Rooms of the University Center.

Robert Jacobs, dean of international services, will address the group.

Before joining the faculty in 1962, Jacobs was foreign service officer for the international Cooperation Administration in Thailand and Ethiopia.

He also served as chief of the Far East Program Division and as chief of research and special projects.

Proprietor of Picketed Drive-In Answers Discrimination Charge

"We do not have any idea whatsoever, of negotiating with anybody, because we have nothing to negotiate."

The above statement was made by Bob Brewer, owner of the Family Fun Drive-In, which is being picketed by the Student Non-Violent Freedom Committee.

He made the statement despite having received a remark from one of the pickets that "You haven't seen anything yet."

Brewer and drive-in manager Robert Hogg presented their side of the issue in an exclusive taped interview with radio station WINI of Murphysboro.

Brewer said he had met with members of the committee several weeks ago and had cooperated with them.

"The committee and I were in complete agreement," he said of their visit.

"We wanted to cooperate until they demanded that we hire certain girls, for certain jobs, by a certain time," Brewer said.

"We do not object to hiring colored waitresses," he continued. "We do object to hiring them just because they are colored."

Brewer said that since he opened the drive-in in June, he has had from three to five colored employees at all times.

When asked about his hiring practices, which had been described by a committee member as having "very definite patterns of discrimination," Brewer said:

"I won't deny that we have had 20 Negro applicants, but we have interviewed these people and they haven't come up to our qualifications. This is a personal decision," he said.

Brewer also pointed out that there is no place on the applications to indicate whether or not the applicant is colored or white.

SIU Woman Gymnasts to Participate in Clinic

The SIU women's gymnastics team travels to Green Bay, Wis., today to participate in a gymnastics clinic.

The clinic is sponsored by the Green Bay City Board of Education and is geared to encourage gymnasts and teachers throughout the area.

The clinic is designed also to help promote gymnastics throughout the Green Bay area.

The SIU gymnasts will stop at the Midwest Open Meet in Milwaukee Saturday night, but Coach Herb Vogel is not certain if his team will win.

The next big meet for the women gymnasts will be March 27, when they compete in the first National Collegiate Women's Gymnastics Championship meet at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri.

SIU Trackmen To Compete In Drake Meet

Five SIU trackmen, including SIU's speedy mile relay team, will travel to Des Moines, Iowa, Saturday to compete in the Drake Invitation. The meet will serve as a warm-up for the quintet who are preparing for next week's Central Collegiate Championships at South Bend, Indiana.

The championships at Notre Dame will be one of the high points of the indoor season for Coach Lew Hartzog's squad. The Saturday meet will serve as qualification trials for the first indoor National Collegiate Athletic Association championship to be held March 12 and 13 at Detroit.

In Saturday's meet Hartzog is expected to enter only the relay team and miler Alan Ackman. But both could come up with winning performances. Especially great things are anticipated from the quartet of Robin Coventry, Bill Cornell, Jerry Fendrich and Gary Carr.

"They haven't anywhere reached their potential," Hartzog said this week. Bill (Cornell) can go a lot better than the 49.7 he ran last week and Fendrich hasn't anywhere reached his potential.

"They're not in shape whatsoever. How could they be? They just haven't had the chance to work out. But when they get in shape, watch out," the crew-cut coach warns. "There're going to tear up the school record (3:13.8) something fierce outdoors."

Right now Hartzog's objective is to get the group ready for the Central Collegiate Championships. It's there that the quartet must win to have a crack at the NCAA indoor championship mile relay title.

"We won't run as good a time this week, because the Drake track is short," the Texas native said. "Whether we win is the main thing; I want them to run hard to get ready for next week."

It would take quite a performance to top last week's effort, when the quartet blazed off the nation's best time to date indoors this season, a 3:16.4, in tying for first in the Michigan State Relays.

It will also take a great performance by Ackman to finish among the leaders. The sophomore ran slightly under par last week after a pair of early season fine efforts.

The sophomore from Robinson ran for the first time as the only Southern entry, as Cornell, the Chelmsford, England, distance ace, didn't compete.

Hartzog thinks it's only a matter of time before Ackman may also break into the spotlight.

Salukis and Ohio U. To Meet Saturday

Southern's string of victories on the home court gets its toughest test yet tomorrow night when the Salukis square off against Ohio U. at 8 o'clock in the Arena. The Bobcats have won 15 of their first 20 contests, and their only losses have come at the hands of some of the nation's top major college quintets. The Bobcats have dropped games to Indiana, Purdue, Miami (O.), Davidson and Notre Dame; and only he loss to Davidson was by a substantial margin. Ohio also holds victories over such teams as Duquesne, Northwestern and Miami (O.), and two of Southern's previous opponents.

Ohio beat Toledo 86-68 and San Francisco State 95-75 while the Salukis clipped their pair 96-60 and 90-57 respectively. The Bobcats are also close second to Miami in the tough Mid-American conference.

Ohio's impressive offense is led by a pair of high-scoring forwards. At one forward is ruggedly-built Don Hilt who is averaging 19.9 points and 11 rebounds a game. The 6-4, 225-pound senior has scored 25 or more points five times this year and has also pulled down better than 7 rebounds in three of those contests. Teamed with Hilt at the forwards is Mike Haley, a 6-4 senior averaging 6 points and nine rebounds a game.

In the backcourt for the Bobcats will be Mike Hammond and Tom Davis, Haley, the smallest man on the starting five, is only 5-10, but he is still averaging 12 points a game. Davis is somewhat of an oddity for a guard since he stands 6-5.

Rounding out the starting unit for Ohio is center John Schroeder a 6-9 giant. The towering pivotman is averaging 11 points and 12 rebounds a game and has nabbed better than 15 rebounds five times this season.

The visitors also have a strong bench led by their sixth man Dave Brown who is averaging seven points a game. Behind Brown are guards Joe Barry and Tom Weirich; forwards Ken Fowlkes at 6-4 and Don Spires who is 6-6. The second string center is big Lloyd Beck who stands 6-7.

Ohio is a high-scoring outfit with an average of 83 points a game. Much of this scoring is derived from their strength on the boards where they have been averaging 57 rebounds per contest.

Southern's coach Jack Hartman doesn't look lightly at Ohio, but rather feels they are "by far the toughest team we have had on our home schedule yet." The Saluki mentor added that the Bobcats have a potential All-American in Don Hilt.

Crippled Freshman, Varsity Swimming Squads To Compete Against Each Other Saturday

SIU's crippled freshman and varsity swimming squads will forget they are friends for an hour and a half Saturday night when they take to the water as "enemies" for the third time this season.

This third renewal of the freshmen-varsity intersquad meet will bring about the battle or brother against brother and friend against friend. The intersquad clash will begin at 7:30 p.m. at University School Pool.

Although the freshman squad in the team's first two meetings has given their varsity brothers about as much trouble as basketball teams have given the Salukis in the Arena, the result might be different Saturday night.

Five of the varsity's front runners are on the sick or injured list this week and three others will miss the meet because of other engagements.

On the sick list are sprinters Darrell Green and Tom Hutton, backstroker Bob O'Callaghan and freestyler-individual medalist Reinhard Westenrieder. Out with a leg infection is distance freestyler Thom McAnaney.

Also missing will be No. 1 individual medalist Don Shaffer, veteran sprinter Mike Roberts and sophomore Howard Harris.

Tickets for the National Collegiate Athletic Association Great Lakes Small College Regional Tournament to be held March 5 and 6 in the Arena go on sale Tuesday.

Students may buy tickets for $1.50 a session or $2.25 for both nights of the tourney.

The chair seats or padded bleacher seats will sell for $2.50 a night or $3.75 for both nights.

Regular bleacher seats, which will also be reserved, will be $2 for one session or $3 for both if purchased at the same time.

Mail orders must be accompanied by check or money order, payable to the SIU Athletic Department and sent to Athletic Ticket Manager, SIU Arena, Carbondale, Ill.

Daily Egyptian Classified Ads

Classified advertising rates: 20 words or less are $1.00 per insertion; additional words five cents each; four consecutive issues for $3.00 (20 words). Payable before the deadline, which is two days prior to publication, except for Tuesday's paper, which is noon Friday.

The Daily Egyptian does not refund money when ads are cancelled.
