★ ★ Grand Avenue Reopening Set

Part of Grand Avenue, which was closed for "just 30 days" to install a sewer line over a year ago, will finally be reopened for traffic this summer.

John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs, said the two-block long section between Morris Library and Forest Avenue will be reopened soon.

He emphasized that the reopening would only be on a temporary basis and the street will be closed permanently when the widening of Mill Street is completed.

The Mill Street project will be part of a city improvements program, for which SIU will put up $250,000 in participating funds.

In another street project, SIU will pay one third of the estimated $195,000 cost to extend and improve South Wall Street at the east edge of the campus. The state of Illinois will pay the rest.

A mile-long section of South Wall, from Park Street to the reservoir road south of Carbondale, south of the Southern Hills apartment complex, will be widened to 22 feet and surfaced with bituminous blacktopping.

John F. H. Lonagan, SIU landscape architect, said bids on that project are expected to be let by the State Highway Division about Aug. 1. Construction is planned for early fall.

Bus to Shawneetown To Leave From Center

New Freshmen Get a Brisk Awakening; Some Reel Under Heavy Study Load

By Mike Schwebel

The first week of life at college is over for most new SIU freshmen, but for some the shock may never be.

However, most new students apparently have made the change from high school to college without being scarred for life. Here's what a selected group of new freshman had to say about it:

"Completing 12 years of school does not necessarily make a person ready for college," said Robert Stake, from Brooklyn, N.Y. "I feel I have gotten what I can out of high school, and I believe I'm ready for college."

How did he imagine college life to be?

"I thought that it would be very different from high school. You go to high school because you have to go. College is your choice. Therefore, I expected an atmosphere of willing learning. My first few days at Southern have verified this atmosphere of learning. Waiting for a class and seeing other students concentrating on their books has influenced me for the better," he said.

Virgil Cooper, Cahokia, also felt he was ready for the challenge.

"I think that coming fresh out of high school is the best time to begin college."

Like most, the amount of study required was a bit staggering to him. "I thought study would be difficult, but, as a whole, that life on campus would be fun and colorful. I know now that I will have to study more than I expected."

Betsy Andrews, Red Bud, had little doubt that she is ready for college.

"I've finished high school, which is the requirement," she said. "I'm having a real 'ball' down here already," she added, saying that she didn't think she would have to study so much.

Vicki L. Wilson took advantage of an older sister's advice and began preparation early. Vicki, from Decatur, began preparing for college as a sophomore in high school. "It isn't so hard if you really try," she said of her studies.

"They told me that Southern was the school of pretty girls and parties every night," commented Earl A. Stewart of Maywood. "The girls are here, but I haven't seen many parties—yet," he said.

On the more serious side, he said he felt ready for college.

"This is the stage in my life which may determine what I do in life, and right now is the best time to continue my education."

John H. Gold, Skokie, has had a quick change of mind after his first week of Southern's atmosphere.

"Having to go to summer school was something I didn't want to undertake," he explained, "but now I'm really happy I'm here."

Speech Marks Anniversary Of World Agency's Founding

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Johnson sounded Friday a ringing anniversary call to the United Nations to help bring peace to Viet Nam and thus fulfill a measure of the destiny for which it was founded two decades ago.

Addressing the commemorative session at the San Francisco Opera House, where the United Nations was created, Johnson also summoned members of the world organization to:

Band together in an "alliance for man," declare an international war on poverty, halt the arms race, set up a U.N. peacekeeping force, and meet the pressing challenge for a worldwide population explosion.

Johnson said $5 spent on population control is equal to $100 spent on economic expansion. But he saw other areas needing attention.

"The most urgent problem we face is keeping of the peace," the President told the special session.

"Today, clear and present dangers in Southeast Asia cast their shadow across the path of all mankind.

"The United Nations must be concerned.

"Therefore, today I put to this world assembly the facts of aggression, the right of a people to be free from attack, the interest of every member in safety against molestation, the duty of this organization to reduce the dangers to peace, and the unhesitating readiness of the United States to find a peaceful solution."

"I call upon this gathering of the nations of the world to use their influence, individually and collectively, to bring to the tables those who seem determined to make war. We will support your efforts, as we will support effective action by any agent or agency of these United Nations."

Hearty applause greeted this passage.

The President's words, associates said, did not mean that Johnson has submitted the Viet Nam problem to the United Nations. Instead, they said, he was assuring it of American backing for any effective steps the organization might take to try to end the conflict.

Johnson appeared to be trying to get the United Nations to marshal world opinion into pressuring North Viet Nam and Communist China to come to the negotiation table.

The President spoke from the Opera House stage, in front of a semicircle of the flags of the 114 U.N. member nations.

Here it was, in the adjoining Veterans Memorial Building of the San Francisco Civic Center that a charter was

Council Takes $4,000 Deficit Of Bus Service Under Study

The student bus service continues to bathe in red ink.

More than $4,000 was spent by the Carbondale Student Council this past year to subsidize the Auxiliary Enterprises bus program.

As a result the Council, in its first meeting of the summer term Thursday night, made plans to organize a committee to study, evaluate and possibly reroute the bus to reach the maximum number of students. They pay 10 cents to ride the bus.

Groundwork was also started for a committee to study the Alternative A reorganization plan for student government.

The referendum was narrowly passed by the Carbondale student body in the June elections.

The Council also made plans to study the parking and car regulations to see if more lenient rules are possible. The motion to form a commission to study the problems was tabled until next week.

Strained relations between students and the city of Carbondale was also discussed. Methods used on students by the Carbondale police drew the most attention of the Council members.

The motion to form a committee to look into this and try to improve relations was tabled until next week.

John Paul Davis, student body vice president and presiding officer of the council, called for a committee to look into the possibility of applying pressure on the city to improve what Davis called "its already inadequate sewage disposal facilities."

This was also tabled until next week for further study.

Secretarial Association Elects Mary Routh Beem President

Mary Routh Beem, administrative secretary in the Graduate School, is the new president of the Carbondale chapter of the National Secretaries Association.

Mrs. Beem was the 1963 "Secretary of the Year" of the Carbondale chapter.

She and the other officers were installed at a monthly meeting held recently at the Haven. Posalie Hogue of Carbondale is vice president, Dorothy Taylor of Carbondale is recording secretary, Arthella Baird of Murphysboro is corresponding secretary, and Eleanor Fry of Murphysboro is treasurer.

Harry B. Bauernfeind, professor of business and secretarial education, was the guest speaker.

Historic Plaster Cast From SIU Located in Second-Hand Store

A plaster cast of Henry William Shryock, president of SIU from 1913 to 1935, was found in a second-hand store in Tuscola and returned to the Carbondale campus.

The cast was presented to President Delyte W. Morris recently by J. Virgil Fishel, Arcola physician, who found it while rummaging through the store.

A graduate of Southern in 1920, Fishel wrote the SIU Alumni Association: "A few days ago, while I was wandering around a second-hand store at Tuscola, Ill., I found a plaster cast with 'H.W. Shryock' inscribed below. . .

Charles J. Pardee's name is on the plaque, and no doubt he made it."

The late president's son, Dean Burnett H. Shryock of SIU's School of Fine Arts, upon hearing of the discovery, wrote Fishel saying, "I have a strange feeling I remember this, and that it was displayed in the old art room in Old Main. I had forgotten that Charles Pardee (member of the history department 1929-51, now deceased) was responsible for it." Shryock expressed a desire to cast it in metal to make it more permanent.

"Your father was one educator who really inspired me when I needed it," Fishel replied to the dean.

Japanese Student Wins Scholarship

Suzuko Mita, Japanese student at SIU, was awarded the Illinois Future Homemakers Association $200 scholarship for international students during the association's leadership training program in Bloomington.

Miss Mita, a home economics teacher at Oberlin College, Tokyo, enrolled at SIU in January. She is a graduate of Oberlin but is working toward the bachelor's degree in home economics education at SIU. Also, working in sales are

Thirteen SIU Home Economics Students Work On Exams or in Specialties During Summer

Home economics students are holding jobs in five states this summer as field experience in their chosen specialties.

Four girls specializing in dietetics, Kim A. Wolter, Janet H. Rowley, Barbara A. Turton and Diane M. LeSaulnier, are working in hospitals. Miss Turton, who lives in Murphysboro, went the farthest to find a job. She is working at Fitzsimmons Hospital in Denver, Colorado.

Nine girls specializing in clothing and textiles—one of them in interior design and the rest in merchandising—are working either on their college board examinations or in sales positions.

Jeramae Clark, interior design specialist, is doing sales-work at a furniture store in Kankakee, Ill., her home town. Also, working in sales are Margaret A. Beleckis, Eileen F. Brockway, Charlotte A. Hoffmann and Shirley A. Williams.

Working on college boards are Lauren Dolinsky, Audrey V. Weillbacher, Cherrolyn K. Brown, and Carolyn Briscoe.

Workshops to Draw 361 Pupils From High Schools in 20 States

For some people summertime is the time for easy livin', but for 361 outstanding high school students from more than 20 states, summertime will be work-time.

The students will be taking part in annual workshops in music, science and communications.

Starting in early July the students will descend on the Carbondale campus to get their first taste of college life. It won't be all work though. Campus entertainment and recreational facilities will be available to students during the hours they are not in workshop sessions.

Howard J. Stains, assistant professor of zoology, will direct the eighth annual summer science training program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

SIU faculty members will supervise work in physics and chemistry, psychology, physiology, engineering and computer mathematics for 56 of the high-schoolers.

The fourth annual "Music and Youth at Southern" program will begin Monday with 130 participants from Illinois, Indiana and Missouri. This year's session has been expanded to two sessions. The regular session ending July 10 will be followed by a musical production workshop extending a week beyond.

Melvin Siener, assistant professor of music and workshop director, said "The program is being offered to meet the educational needs of the youth of the region."

The ninth annual Summer Workshop in Communication will be in session July 5 through 31 under the direction of Marion Kleinau, assistant professor of speech.

84 Killed in Crash of Transport Carrying Marines to Okinawa

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — A jet transport carrying Okinawa-bound Marines slammed into a mountain ridge and disintegrated Friday. All 84 aboard were killed.

The four-engine C135 hit less than 100 feet from the ridge top moments after it took off at 1:44 a.m. in a fog for Honolulu. Had it skimmed over the ridge, there would have been clear flying ahead.

The big Military Air Transport Service plan skidded up the slope, then nosed over. Its tail whipped over the ridge top and the fuselage apparently exploded.

The plane, bodies and luggage were shredded, with some fragments hurled three-quarters of a mile.

Aboard were 72 Marines from all over the country, recently processed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., for transportation as replacements to the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa.

Okinawa is a staging area for troops being sent to Viet Nam and other Far Eastern points.

The plane was from McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., and had an Air Force crew of 12.

The wreckage was spotted at dawn through a hole in the fog by a helicopter search pilot, Radar Chief Warrant Officer John Andre, 46.

"This is the worst air disaster I've covered in 23 years of service, including Korea and World War II," he said.

The area, 40 miles south-east of Los Angeles, is in the Santa Ana Mountains, brush and cactus-studded hills that border the Marine air station here.

Hundreds of Marines swarmed over ledges and gullies, groping through swirling fog and smoke from grass fires started by the crash.

When they found a body, or part of one, they drove in stakes to guide litter bearers who followed. Other Marines wielded spray foam guns to quench the fires.

One newsman reported from the scene: "The plane struck with such force that several bodies and a wheel were hurled almost a mile. The cockpit section, with a body still strapped in, was half a mile away."

"There is no central part of the plane left. It is almost impossible to identify it as a plane. The pieces are mostly tiny bits." A flight crew checklist book turned up half a mile away, opened, strangely, to the page on "emergency procedures."

Sgt. Bill Hastings, 32, one of the first rescuers on the scene said:

"As soon as we looked, we could tell there was no one left. Even rabbits were dead."

Gen. Howell M. Estes Jr., commander of the Military Air Transport Service, flew in with aides to investigate.

Bribery Charge

Probe Proposed

By House Bill

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—An investigation of allegations of bribery and conflict of interest was proposed Friday in a bill filed in the Illinois House by 16 lawmakers.

The bill calls for creation of a six-member House committee to look into allegations raised by tape recordings turned over to States' Atty. Raymond Terrell of Sangamon County.

The bill said the recordings, upon investigation, "may provide the basis for possible prosecution of certain civil officers of this state, including members of the General Assembly."

"The House of Representatives may be required to commence by presentment to a regular session or a special session impeachment proceedings against one or more of said civil officers," the bill stated.

The committee, if established, would be given subpoena power and would report monthly to Gov. Otto Kerner and House Speaker John Touhy, D-Chicago.

The bill carried bipartisan sponsorship headed by Rep. Albert Hachmeister of Chicago Republican minority leader.

Restaurant Blasted

Terrorist Explosions Kill 29 in Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two powerful terrorist bombs exploded in quick succession beside a crowded floating restaurant on the Saigon River Friday night, killing at least 29 persons and wounding about 100. Five or six Americans and a Frenchman were among the dead.

Witnesses had believed the death toll might reach 50.

The terrorist strike, staged about 500 yards from the U.S. Embassy, was the bloodiest of its kind ever seen in Saigon at any time during the Vietnamese war.

The double-barreled blasts boomed from the shore about 8:15 p.m., slashing across the luxuriously appointed decks of the restaurant, the My Canh, felling strollers on the riverside boulevard and smashing windows as far as two blocks away.

It was a violent sequel to a Communist announcement, broadcast six hours earlier by Radio Hanoi, that the Viet Cong had killed a captive American, U.S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett, Perryville, Ark., in reprisal for the Vietnamese government's execution of several Viet Cong terrorists.

Among other developments of the day:

In the air war, a U.S. spokesman announced U.S. Air Force jet bombers struck at an ammunition depot and the Nan San airfield northwest of Hanoi and destroyed buildings at both.

A Tass, Soviet news agency, dispatch from Hanoi declared American jets appeared over that Communist capital and drew anti-aircraft fire. It said that, in this and other action, five planes were downed. There was no independent confirmation.

In Washington the Defense Department denied flatly that any American planes were lost over Hanoi.

A Pentagon spokesman declined to comment when asked whether American aircraft had flown over the North Vietnamese capital.

On South Viet Nam's battle fronts, U.S. spokesmen reported three Americans had been killed over a 24-hour period.

The terrorist bomb strike left the My Canh's decks and the boulevard pavement slick with blood.

Dining on choice Chinese food and French wine aboard the gently bobbing My Canh were nearly 100 Vietnamese and Americans, including U.S. advisers in from field duty with Vietnamese units.

SIU Studied As Site for Laos Project

William J. Becker and Richard J. Greene Jr., State Department officials, visited SIU Wednesday to survey its educational resources for a U.S. government educational contract with Laos. The two men conferred with SIU's International Services Division officials and school deans, and inspected campus facilities.

Southern is one of six U.S. universities being considered for the State Department's educational assistance program in Laos. According to Ralph Margetts, SIU campus coordinator of the Mali project, the proposed contract calls for the establishing secondary schools in Laos with the assistance of American educators. The long-range view is to establish a university there.

"We are proud and happy that SIU is being considered, whatever the outcome of the exploratory survey," Margetts said. "We want them to take a good look at our faculty and campus."

Prof. Bell Attends Geology Meeting

Frank J. Bell, assistant professor of geology, is taking part in a National Science Foundation summer conference on the geology of the Lake Superior region.

The conference began June 15, and will last until this Wednesday. It is being sponsored by Michigan Technological University at Houghton, Mich., under a National Science Foundation Grant.

Bell is a specialist in petroleum geology. He was an independent consulting geologist in Carmi, Ill., for 12 years before joining the SIU faculty in 1957.

He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and has been active in the work of the newly organized American Institute of Professional Geologists, and the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

GYMNASTICS - Coach Bill Meade (L.) and assistant coach Rusty Mitchell combined their coaching talents to bring Southern its third straight undefeated gymnastics team.

BASEBALL - Baseball Coach Abe Martin shown here giving a couple of his boys some tips coached Southern to a 20-3 record, a second 20 game or better winning season in a row.

Saluki Athletes Miss NCAA Championships, But 6 of 9 Teams Have Winning Records

By Joe Cook

Southern didn't come up with any NCAA championships this year, but the nine varsity teams did post a .728 percentage in winning 86 of 118 contests.

The gymnastics team, under Coach Bill Meade, posted the best record. Though failing to repeat their 1964 NCAA championship, the gymnasts won all 11 regular meets and ended the season with 38 consecutive dual meet victories.

The baseball team wasn't far behind as Coach Abe Martin led his team to a 20-3 record. It was the second straight year that Martin's men posted 20 or more victories. They won 21 last year.

The basketball team, under Coach Jack Hartman, came closest to providing Southern with an NCAA championship as

St. Louis Getting Hockey Franchise

NEW YORK (AP)—Los Angeles and St. Louis were assured Friday of franchises in the National Hockey League which formally agreed to expand from six to 12 teams no later than 1968.

Clarence Campbell, league president, said formal applications for new franchises will be accepted to complete two divisions of six teams each.

The league's Board of Governors set a price of 2 million for each franchise. This would include the purchase of 20 players to be drafted from the six existing clubs.

Teams already in the circuit are Toronto, Montreal, Boston, New York, Chicago and Detroit.

While 1968 was set as the target date, Campbell said all six new franchises could conceivably be accepted in time for the 1967-68 season.

"Los Angeles and St. Louis could go tomorrow," he said. "Both cities meet the requirements for standard arenas and we are satisfied also with the solidity, integrity and financial stability of the applicants."

it finished second to Evansville College in the NCAA small college championships.

The cagers posted a 20-6 season record with half of the losses coming at the hands of Evansville.

The swimming team also ended another successful year by placing ninth in the NCAA major college division and winning 6 of 7 dual meets. Coach Ralph Casey's team suffered its only loss to Indiana University, a perennial swimming power.

St. Louis U. Downs SIU 6-1; Salukis Commit Eight Errors

Eight Saluki errors helped St. Louis University score five unearned runs Friday night in the Billikens 6-1 victory over Southern in the opener of the Midwest Summer Collegiate Baseball League for both clubs.

Mike Stafford duled the Billikens' top pitcher, John Marcum for five innings until he left for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the fifth with St. Louis leading 2-1.

Left-hander Ed Oleneck came on for Southern in the top of the sixth and was the victim of some sloppy infield support which let in four unearned runs.

Catcher Tom Daly scored the first run of the game for the Billikens when he reached first base on the first of Southern's eight errors, moved to second on right fielder Dan Flaherty's single, went to third on a walk to Rich Hansman and scored on second

The tennis and golf teams also came through with winning seasons.

Coach Carl Sexton's netters, who won the NCAA small college championship last year, lost four of six performers, but in a rebuilding year still had a 8-3 record.

Coach Lynn Holder's golfers, who also won a NCAA small college championship in 1964, finished second in this year's tournament and posted a 16-6-1 record during the regular season.

baseman Bob Ryan's sacrifice fly.

Southern tied the score in the bottom half of the third on a walk to catcher Bill Neal, a fielder's choice play and a run-scoring single by second baseman Tony Pappone.

St. Louis scored its second run off Stafford in the fifth on a hit batsman, a fielder's choice play and a single by first baseman Bill Hahn.

Meanwhile, Marcum's tricky curve and live fast ball kept Southern's bats quiet the remainder of the seven-inning game.

The four-game series with the Billikens will continue with a doubleheader at 1:30 p.m. today and single game at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

The council, which is in need of a second adviser, nominated four faculty members as possible choices. They are Jack Fein Isakoff, professor of government; Robert G. Layer, professor of economics; Lon R. Shelby, assistant professor of history; and Sanford H. Elwitt, assistant professor of history.

Each of the faculty members will be contacted this summer by the council to find out if they are interested.

IRVING HOWARDS

Howards Honored By City Managers

Irving Howards, director of the SIU Public Affairs Research Bureau, has been extended affiliate membership in the International City Managers Association.

William E. Besuden, the association's assistant director, said the affiliate membership is offered to "persons who are not managers but who have contributed much over the years towards better local government."

Besuden said only 92 individuals presently hold such membership, although the affiliate standing was established more than 30 years ago. Invitation to affiliate membership is extended by the association's executive board.

Howards, a native of Milwaukee who holds three degrees from the University of Wisconsin, has been on the SIU faculty since 1956. He has been consultant to or member of a number of commissions and other groups related to state, county and local government.

Program Will Study Faculty-Student Ties

A Southern faculty member and his wife will work as Danforth Associates to heighten quality of faculty-student relations on the Carbondale campus.

Named associates by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis were Floyd A. Patrick, assistant professor of management, and Mrs. Patrick. The program will begin July 1.

Patrick said the associate program was begun in 1941 as a result of the foundation's concern for the personal dimension of education. Among its aims, he continued, the program seeks to deepen the resources of the teacher-scholar and encourage students and faculty to explore crucial problems and the relevance of religious faith to their solution.

Patrick received his Ph. D. at the University of Iowa.

3 Students Double As Baptist Pastors

Three SIU students also are pastors of area churches, according to Charles Gray, director of the Baptist Student Union.

L. Dale Burzynski, a senior elementary education major from Valier, is presently pastor at the Coello Baptist Church.

Marshall J. Kennedy is a junior from Ewing, majoring in mathematics, and is pastor of the Olmstead Baptist Church.

Boyd Preston of Zeigler, pastor of the Dutch Ridge Baptist Church, is a junior majoring in English.

SIU's part in the nation's "War on Poverty" is getting under way at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., site of the Urban Job Corps' $10.8 million center.

The center has enrolled more than 350 deprived boys, many from this area, between the ages of 16 through 21. By mid-1966 this number will be expanded to approximately 2,000.

The Job Corps is similar to the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s in that it provides work and wages for uneducated, unemployed youths from all areas of the country. Unlike the CCC the corps also provides education and useful work experience. On the average, 17 boys per day come in and receive new clothing, a clean room and bed and a chance for a better way of life if they work at it. Original plans had called for the opening of the camp last March but arrivals were delayed until late May.

The camp is now in full swing and is handling trainees at the rate of 166 a month. The boys study basic English, mathematics, spelling, and trade skills designed to prepare them for employment. The project is being financed through the Office of Economic Opportunity. SIU is providing administrative personnel and teachers.
