Late Registration Will Begin Today

Morris to Face Student Quiz

President Delyte W. Morris will "face the campus" April 8, when he meets with SIU students to answer their questions.

The question session will follow a press conference with President Morris, to be conducted by SIU's undergraduate chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

The conference, one of many activities scheduled in conjunction with "Late Registration Week" on campus April 7-10, will be held at 3 p.m. in Muckelroy Auditorium of the Agriculture Building.

The conference will be taped by WSIU, to be shown at a later date.

During the first portion of the program a panel of Sigma Delta Chi members will question Morris about various aspects of the University.

The floor will be opened to questions answered during the last half hour. Students will be allowed to ask any questions they wish.

The Morris press conference will be the first of a series conducted by the journalism fraternity, Tentative plans call for a series featuring University officials answering questions about specific areas of student life.

Spring Says ‘Hello’; Handshake Is Cool

Spring may finally be here, according to Floyd F. Cunningham, director of the Climatology Laboratory. "We may have some short periods of cool weather yet," he said, "but it isn't likely that severe weather will strike again."

Moore’s Talk to Kick Off Yeats Festival Here

First event on the year-long Yeats Festival at SIU, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of the celebrated Irish poet, will be a public lecture by Harry T. Moore, SIU research professor of English, on Monday, April 7. Moore, a noted scholar of the Irish Renaissance period, will speak on the subject, "Why Yeats?"

Other speakers scheduled for the spring quarter, according to Ralph W. Bushue, rare books librarian and festival chairman, include Thomas Kinsella, contemporary Irish poet, Prof. Curtis Bradford of Grinnell College, and Liam Bergin, Irish newspaper editor who is currently on the faculty of the SIU journalism department.

Kinsella, Bradford and Bergin will register individually at the Alton Center of the Edwardsville campus, and register their lectures follow: Kinsella, April 20 at Carbondale; April 21 at the Alton Center; Bradford, May 10 at Carbondale, May 12 at the Alton Center; Bergin, May 24 at Carbondale, May 28 at Alton.

Lectures are available in the Carbondale campus are scheduled in the Morris Library Auditorium at 8 p.m. Those at the Alton Center will be in Auditorium 300 at 8:30 p.m. The public is invited to all the programs. Admission is free.

Gus Bode

Gus says he kept in step with the times over the break. While the rest of the world was shooting men into orbit, Gus would be working on his latest phases of life. The change has come about gradually, but he says he is quite pleased with the results. "Why not? I've got a lot of work to do now," he says. Gus adds that he is really enjoying the new phase of his life. He feels that he is in a much better position to handle the challenges that come his way now than he ever has before.

Need Dean's OK; $3 Fee Charged

Registration and advisement for undergraduates in school winter quarter but who did not advance register, will begin today in the SIU Arena.

Students in this category must have already secured the approval of the dean and must have some short period of time. The dean's approval, The late fee will be $3.

April 10 will be the last day for undergraduates to register for spring with the dean's approval of the program. After this date, unregistered students might as well pack their bags because closing college doors will be slammed on registration for spring.

Appointments for advisement will begin today in the University Center.

Senders who will receive appointments Monday, April 7, and Wednesday, April 9, will set their dates Tuesday and General Studies students will receive appointments April 8.

Gus who missed their designated times will receive appointments on April 9.

Minnie Inouye, California Gymnast Who Arrived a Week Early by Mistake, Works Out with SIU Team in the Arena

Relaxed Contender for NCAA "Lost Week" in Chilly Southern Illinois Gives Californian a Jump on His Rival Gymnasts

By Frank Messersmith

The early bird may catch the worm, but Minnie Inouye, a senior at Long Beach State College in California, didn't come to SIU to catch worms.

However, he was early—about a week early to be exact.

Inouye is a gymnast at the California school, and he traveled here to participate in the NCAA Gymnastics Final that will be held this weekend in the Arena.

Unfortunately, as things do happen some times, Inouye got the dates mixed up and he left sunny California last Friday, a week early, bound for snow-and-ice-blanketed Southern Illinois to join the other gymnasts from across the nation.

When his flight landed at Kansas City, Inouye was paged on the loud speaker system.

Arriving at the flight desk, he found that his coach had called from California, stating that the meet was not to be held for another week, but that Inouye should go on to Champaign and wait for the finals.

The short, well-built gymnast proceeded to Carbondale and spent the night at the Gray Hotel. The next day he called the University and explained the situation.

By the time, Inouye has taken up residence at 101 Small House and spent most of his time relaxing or working out in preparation for the final meet.

Inouye said that aside from the year-to-year, this change has turned out pretty good for him, because he was able to work on his skills when he would be attending classes and couldn't practice as much as he can here.

Another good point about the unexpected vacation is the fact that after a week working out in the Arena, the California gymnast will probably be the most relaxed visiting participant in the NCAA meet.

The gymnastic events will begin at 1:30 p.m. Friday and will continue all day Saturday. CBS television is sending a crew of 14 men to SIU to tape the show for broadcast sometime in May on the "CBS Sports Spectacular."
Why Do Students Go to SIU? Reasons Vary With Intention

One day in Marine Corps recruit training was enough to direct Philip A. Shaprio of Chicago toward an institution of higher education. This finding emerged in a series of interviews to determine why some students chose the school at Carbondale.

Shaprio, a senior from Chicago who is majoring in marketing, said, “After I got out of high school, I joined the Marine Corps. My brother was already a student here and he told me on the idea that a person needs an education today to be a part of this society. He didn’t have to tell me that, because I made up my mind to go to college after the first day in boot camp.”

The survey produced a variety of reasons why students came to SIU. Anthony Popone, a senior from Chicago who is majoring in economics, “I wasn’t sold on the idea that a student here and he beckoned. I came here for the excitement.”

Olivia De Havilland, a senior from Glen Ellyn who is majoring in home economics, “It wouldn’t trade Southern for any other school,” she said.

Mrs. Nicpon also found a husband at SIU, she added. James R. Standard of Lock­port, a senior majoring in government, touched three bases in explaining his reason for coming to SIU. “I came here for a lot of fun. I have the laughs and the companionship as well as being in no other school would have me,” he declared.

One respondent came to SIU with one purpose, but finds it has changed. She is Barbara L. Van Dyke of Maywood, a junior who is majoring in recreation. “I did not want to get married and did not want to work, so I did the next best thing and went to Southern. At first, it was something to do, but now I have an education that I can apply to help others more fortunate than myself,” she said.

Still another reason was given by Pamela Curechields of Wood River, a senior majoring in interior design. “I came here for the excitement,” she said.

A coed who insisted on anonymity confided this reason: “I’ve been to five schools prior to this. I’ll find a husband here, or transfer.”

Spring Sprang Leak In Sky;
Snow and Sleet Greet Break

Henceforth and hereafter, spring break will be called winter break. Harrowing tales of snow and sleet, cold and storm are being related by returning SIU students. The ice age returneth, the forecast came fled to Florida. The advent advanced on Acapulco. South Texas beckoned.

But for the herd, it was alet and ash, no sun and sand. The promise of spring in the air was clouded by falling flakes; all the old homestead lacked was a Christmas tree and the Yule log.

News Guinean Art Exhibit Set Sunday

One of the United States most complete collections of New Guinea and Oceanic-area primitive art will be placed on display in the SIU Museum starting Sunday, April 14.

The Morton D. May Collection, which will be exhibited through May 14, consists of many carved wooden objects representing the everyday activities as well as the religious symbolism of the primitive peoples. "The value of the collection is twofold," Jack E. Porter, Museum educational curator, said. "The artifacts are aesthetically valuable but they also tell a great deal about the culture of the remote and primitive people of New Guinea."

The SIU Museum last year received a gift from May, 81. Louis department store magnate, more than a dozen pieces of New Guinean art.

Porter pointed out that it was while collecting artifacts for the Museum of Primitive Art in New York City that Michael Rockefeller, son of New York governor, lost his life in New Guinea.

The May collection will be shown in the museum galleries in Altgeld Hall.

An 'Onion' Grows at Allyn

Southern Illinois in the spring is for many people the most picturesque parts of the United States, and it is at this time of the year that the SIU campus truly blooms.

However, there is an onion in the campus that is the jewel of the alley behind the Alley. The sunflowers are in full bloom in the Department of Art stores and supplies consisting of car bumpers, scrap iron and assorted materials. The University presently employs 29 men for maintaining work around the campus.

There is a trend to properly pick up litter and trash from the grounds or run a lawn mower along the grounds, but only one person contributes, in some way, to improving the appearance of the campus.

It seems ironic that 29 men should be employed to tend the grounds looking nice, while right smack in the middle of the Union, the Alley Building Scrap Yard.

As long as there is a need for storing the art objects behind the building, it would be feasible to build some sort of fence to hide the scrap iron scarp.

One of the young University workers is so adept at moving trees, perhaps they could relocate some of the bushiest trees they can find to the one already growing behind Allyn. In this way, the lighted could be covered in a more scenic manner.

End the Hear-No-Evil Doctrine

For the last several weeks there has been much talk over whether or not we should be permitting the use of the word in public specifically whether they should be permitted to publish it on the campus of a state university. Many voices have been raised by public officials in opposition to such appearing.

I am as opposed to the principles and doctrines of communism as is most any Southern Illinois, however, I do not believe it is in the public interest to try to prevent that communism does not exist in this country by telling our young people that communism is an evil force. We say it is. It is important that our youth understand the "what" and the "why," but we say our system is best. To deny them the opportunity of understanding for themselves is to imply a lack of faith in ourselves and our system.

When we get down to the bare essentials we find that there is a phrase here in an element of liberty, the same liberty that has accounted for many a page of our newspapers every day. I think Justice Brandeis of the U.S. Supreme Court might well have been addressing this issue when he wrote the following in 1927:

"Those who won our independence believed that this nation was 'for' the people; that every man should have equal opportunity; that public liberty meant public deliberation; that freedom meant freedom to those who were sure of the good they were doing; and that men should be free to follow, under God, the purposes of their own choosing.

I have been amused to hear the effect of this opinion of the majority of the Court is to imply a lack of faith in ourselves and our system. That it is in the opinion a personal possession.

A High Point in Presidency

Make no mistake about it, one of the very highest points in the history of the Presidency beginning with George Washington's inauguration. Jan. 20, 1789 was reached by Lyndon B. Johnson in his address to Congress and the inauguration of part of the Civil Rights Act, including the election of blacks to vote at all elections, for all Americans regardless of race.

The former representative and senator from Texas, with "votes that go where they choose" didn't do what no other President has ever done. He identified himself and his great office intensively and intimately with the Negro cause.

Quotable Comments

"All mankind was one, and only one presidency, with no other man in all mankind, had the opportunity of looking at the world in the same way; and that opportunity affords ordinary adequate protection against the dissemination of a dangerous doctrine; that the greatest menace to liberty is a desire to monopolize public power; that public discussion is a political duty; and that this is a fundamental principle of the American government," the California Dailies, 274 U.S. 357, 47 S. Ct 641, 71 L. Ed 509).

For those still in doubt may suggest that they read John Stuart Mill's classic defense of liberty, which has a surprisingly contemporary sound to this issue presently involved. Writing on the liberty of thought and expression, Mill said:

"If all mankind minus one were of one opinion, only one person were of the contrary opinion, mankind would be no more justified in silencing that man than it would be justified in silencing a man who should pronounce him-" He has noulels of America. And who among those who hold it. In the case of those who have deprived of the opportunity to have lived upon the earth in every generation; those who hold it. They believe that freedom to the present is to imply a lack of faith in ourselves and our system.

Cuban Troops May Be Sent To Viet Nam

Copley News Service

WASHINGTON - U.S. officials believe that Cuba may be preparing to send a detachment of troops to fight alongside Viet Cong rebels in South Vietnam.

They believe that Fidel Castro may resort to such a tactic to show the Soviet Union and Red China that he is not a threat. Cuban troops, now under increasing U.S. air attack.

In a March 13 address in Havana, Castro bitterly attacked the two Communist giants for lack of unity and failure to run the necessary risks to assure a Viet Cong victory.

The U.S. belief that Castro may send troops to Viet Nam is based on a recent speech by Defense Cuban Revolutionary Forces Minister Juan Almeida. In it he said Cuba must stand ready to assist revolutionary struggles in all areas of the world.

President for such a move was established last year when Castro sent 60,000 troops to Algeria at the time of the Moroccan border dispute.

Although lacking in heavy air and sea-lift capabilities, Cuba has several cargo vessels which could be outfitted to carry troops to Southeast Asia.

It also has plenty of manpower. Cuba's revolutionary armed forces are estimated to number between 150,000 and 200,000. men.

Gov. Wallace Meets With Leaders Of Alabama Civil Rights Drive

By Rex Thomas

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace listened Tuesday to the grievances of Alabama civil rights leaders, raising cautious hopes for easing the state's bitter racial strife.

Wallace received a petition from the group which asked his leadership in opening bi-racial communications. Neither he nor the civil rights leaders indicated what might result from the meeting which lasted an hour and 20 minutes.

Alabama's racial conflict continued to stir other parts of the nation. In Detroit, funeral services were held for a white housewife slain by night-riders on an Alabama highway last week.

A congressional committee voted unanimously to investigate the Ku Klux Klan, following the lead of President Johnson, who assailed the hooded order after the arrest of four Klansmen in the slaying Thursday night of Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit.

The Montgomery meeting between Wallace and 15 civil rights leaders was the first such high-level bi-racial conference since the Selma-to-Montgomery drive started 10 weeks ago in Alabama, setting off sporadic violence that has killed three persons.

"We are hopeful," said the Rev. Joseph E. Lowery of Birmingham, a Negro, spokesman for the delegation. "It is too early to say whether it was a fruitful meeting." Wallace had no statement.

In another development, a departmental attorney would contact the Klan leaders. Most of the group had sought a meeting with Wallace after an enforced march to the statehouse Thursday. The governor had said he was writing but the delegation arrived after he had gone for the day. Tuesday evening, the group are officers of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), which is headed by Martin Luther King Jr. and was from Birmingham, Ala., he had no desire to "open up lanes of the house."

In another development, the Interior Ministry said 22 persons were killed elsewhere in the quake.

The number of injured and homeless has risen to the hundreds, with the disastrous earthquakes in southern Chile in 1960 that killed more than 3,500 persons, and the lightweight earthquake last month that killed more than 2,500 people.

A light earthquake was felt in central Chile Monday night, an aftershock that caused no damage.

Grissom, Young Cheered on Chicago Visit

CHICAGO (AP) — Gemini astronauts Virgil (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young, America's widely acclaimed first space twin, received a hero's welcome Tuesday from more than a million cheering spectators on the south lawn of downtown Chicago.

Both called attention to the contributions made to the nation's space program by thousands of engineers, technicians and other workers, and Young seized upon the occasion to say: "I think the Molly Brown might make this country look good around the world. And, as the saying goes-boy-they ain't seen nuthin' yet."

Illinois Senate OKs
$3,000 Pay Increase

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A bill to increase salaries of state legislators from the present $4,000 a year to $6,000 sailed through the Illinois Senate Tuesday.

The measure was sent to the House on a 39-13 vote.

"We've raised salaries for judges and county officials," said Sen. Frank Kocarek, D-Chicago, sponsor of the legislation. "It's about time we raised our own salaries."

Sen. William Harris, R-Pontiac, said in support of the measure that members were not voting salary increases for themselves. He ruled that members would have to be re­ lected before they could receive the pay hike.

Several backers contended the salary boost was necessary because of the long hours devoted to legislative duties.

"The people of my district assume this is a part-time job," said Sen. Ronan Deering of R­Springfield, who cast a "no" vote.

Shortly before the Senate passed the bill, a Deerfield resident filed suit in Illinois Supreme Court to prohibit the state form paying legislators more than $6,000 a year.

The suit was filed by John F. Coons against State Auditor Michael Howlett, State Treasurer William J. Scott and State Finance Director James Ronan.

Atty. Gen. William G. Clark held recently that legislators are entitled to a $1,500 annual pay raise as a result of action by the legislature and Gov. Otto Kerner in 1963.

After the 1963 session, Keras­ never vetoed a bill which would have increased salaries by $1,500 a year. However, he signed a measure which contained an omnibus appropriation bill, which contained provisions for the raise.

Salaries for legislators were raised from $5,000 to $6,000 a year in 1963.

Outdoor Season Starts

Trackmen Prepare
For Texas Relays

SIU trackmen are back on the McAndrew Stadium track this week, preparing for the big Texas Relays Friday and Saturday. The team ended its indoor season with fine performances in the Kansas Relays during the spring break and at the same time successfully opened its outdoor season.

Three indoor school records fell in the Kansas meet, as Tom Ashman finished second in the high jump with a 6-foot, 7 leap, the mile relay team won in a time of 3:15.3, and Rich Ellis won the freshman pole vault with a 14-4 1/2 jump.

Records also tumbled in the outdoor Florida Relays Saturday at Gainesville where 1:51 half mile, the day's outstanding college performance, was scheduled to compete. The Salukis won in a time of 3:15.3, and Tom Ashman finished second in the mile event and 8:42 in the two-mile relay.

Hartsoeg predicts a bright future for the distance runners and expects big things from him next year.

Although Moore qualified in the No. 3 spot among U.S. Olympic 5,000-meter runners last fall, he failed to qualify for the finals. A leg injury has kept him from competing in most of the team's outdoor meets this season, but Moore expects to be at full strength by the time the outdoor track season starts.

Florida Outfielder
Hits Grand Slam,
2 Doubles in Inning

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—If you hit a grand-slam home run and two doubles in a baseball game, you've done a hard day's work. But what about the guy who does all that in one inning?

Allen Trammell, a junior outfielder on the University of Florida baseball team, did all those things and more in a recent game against Kentucky.

Trammell doubled, homered, stole second and scored all three runs in the first inning of Saturday's 11-0 win over Kentucky.

Trammell had three hits in the contest and in the next game, Sunday, went 0-4. In a three-game Florida series, Trammell batted .600.

Florida coach Ron Polk said Trammell will start in left field against LSU Saturday.

Salukis Get Runner From '64 Olympics

SIU's track hopes got a shot in the arm yesterday when Oscar Moore, 26-year-old Olympic distance runner, enrolled here.

Moore will not be eligible to compete this year since he is a freshman, but is being talked to Coach Lew Hartzog to fill the gap left by seniors Bill Cornell, who graduated this June.

Moore was one of the three United States entries last year in the 5,000-meter race in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

Hartsoeg predicts a bright future for the distance runners and expects big things from him next year.

Moore has already recorded times of 15:59 in the 5,000 meters, 13:32 in the three-mile race and 4:12.7 mile.
5 SIU Gymnasts to Compete For NCAA Championships

Despite the fact the Salukis won’t be participating as a team this weekend, the Saluki fans will still get a chance to see some of the performers participating as Southern will be represented by five gymnasts who will be competing for individual awards.

Frank Schmitz qualified for three events and will be trying to win NCAA titles in free exercise, trampoline and long horse.

Bill Wolf also qualified in three events and will be trying for titles in high bar, parallel bars and rings.

Brent Williams and Larry Lindauer qualified in two events. Williams will be competing for titles in parallel bars and trampoline and Lindauer will be going after titles in parallel bars and free exercise.

Tom Cook is the other Saluki who qualified and he will be going after the ring championships.

The defeat at the hands of Penn State means that the Salukis dropped two notches and finished this season in ninth place in the NCAA State.

Considering the fact that the Salukis competed with seven sophomores in the lineup, it credit to Meade and his team for their unbeaten regular season and their third place finish in the NCAA.

The two top teams, Penn State and Indiana University, will go into action Monday, March 18, in the NCAA Preliminaries.

Penn State is a hotbed for gymnastics and has been flamed by the large crowd of 7,250 which packed the Recreation Building.

It didn’t bother him as he turned in one of his best performances of the season.

Frank Schmitz seems to have mastered the attention wherever he goes. Being one of the few who perform on the trampoline without shoes and long tramps, he was greeted with whistles as he stepped up on the starting platform.

The weekend is not over yet.

Tickets are still on sale for the finals. Unreserved seats cost $1.50 for the sessions. Reserved seats are a $5. Tickets are moving and the Salukis and faculty are urged to get them early to assure a good seat.

The Salukis will be going after titles in long horse and free exercise.

SIU Golfer Wins 61st Home Match

SIU’s highly regarded golf team improved its mark in its last 64 outings as it shut out Southeast Missouri 18-0.

Tom Muehleman shot a 73 to lead the field as the Salukis upped their record to 4-2 on the season. Coach Lyne Holleder said his team next will go into action Monday, when it travels to Cape Girardeau, Mo., for a return engagement with Southeast.

The results:

Bill Muehleman ’s (80) defeated Dick Waddington C (83), 3-0.

Jerry Muehleman ’s (74) defeated Dennis Becker C (82), 3-0.

Leon McNair ’s (77) defeated Bob Burkoff C (80), 3-0.

Larry Lindauer ’s (81) defeated Lynn Fann (84), 1-0.

Coach Martin Pleased by Diamond Showing

Six Games Played On Trip to Texas

Coach Glenn "Abe" Martin's SIU baseball team, which went south over spring break to avoid the weather, returned happily to drills under a bright, cloudless Monday afternoon. Behind them they left memories of a six-game spring trip in which they saw rain threaten to halt four of their games and snow got the job done in their opener.

Despite the weather and a seemingly 3-4 record, Martin was "well pleased" with the team's performance. The veteran-laden club dropped its opening four games on the tour to Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville, but came back to sweep a pair of single games with Fort Hood, Tex.

The losses to Sam Houston were nothing to be ashamed of, though, as the Texans had gotten in five games before the Salukis' visit. Probably even more impressive, however, was the Texas team's double victory over defending NCAA national champion Minnesota after the victories over the Salukis.

The trip accomplished its main objectives. It gave the Salukis needed competition before they dive into their regular schedule and at the same time answered some questions in Martin's mind. Nothing he found was too startling, though. The big weaknesses he found, hitting and lack of control by pitchers, were those that pop up early in every season when a team has had its practices hampered by the weather.

The team's overall .248 batting average on the trip isn't all bad though. Kent Collins rapped the ball in mid-season form as he ratted off 11 for 25 for a .440 average, including a double, triple and home run.

The pitchers also had their day as big righthander Ed. Walters gave up only two hits and a lone run in five innings of duty. Strangely enough, however, the hurlers least impressive on the statistics sheet from the trip are those that pop up early in every season when a team has had its practices hampered by the weather.

Veterans John Horz and Gene Vincent and promising sophomores Bill Liskey and Wayne Scramok were hit hard but showed promise. Horz and Vincent will probably get the starting nod Saturday when the Salukis open their 26-game regular-season campaign against Memphis State University at Memphis.

"They're supposed to be a real fine ball club," Martin said of the Tigers. "But with the weather man beginning to cooperate, Martin indicated the Salukis will be ready.
