Proposal on Hours Will Be Submitted Early Next Week

A revised report and recommendations presented to liberalize women's hours rules will be submitted to President Morris early next week.

Ralph W. Ruffner, vice president for student and area services, said he met with Morris Wednesday and discussed the Student Senate proposal for liberalization, a recommendation from William Moulton, dean of students, and a recommendation from Ruffner.

Ruffner is gathering more information on the report over the weekend for submission to Morris.

Rendleman Tells SDX University-Public Need Mutual Understanding

By John Epperheimer

The major task facing higher education in the next decade is to reach an understanding and an accommodation among segments of the university community and the public, an SIU vice president said Friday.

John S. Rendleman, vice president for business affairs, said a major part of the task is to find a way to communicate with students.

"The kind of attitudes we had as students just don't apply today," he said. "We must recognize that, or we will find that it's true that they can't trust anyone over 30."

"Our greatest job is to teach desire and curiosity for knowledge," Rendleman asserted.

Rendleman identified basic challenges confronting higher education as changes in quality and quantity in education, vast increases in numbers and opportunities for education, and changes in the attitudes of constituencies on campuses.

GOP Speakers Discuss Student Rights, Voting Age

By Don Mueller

Student rights, the possibility of lowering the voting age and the probability of initiating a state income tax were some of the points discussed by State Rep. Gale Williams and State Sen. John G. Gilbert at Thursday's meeting of the SIU Young Republican Club.

Williams, seeking re-election to a fourth two-year term from the 59th District, said the adult citizen "must awaken himself to the rights of young Americans."

Addressing himself to young people, he said, "Problems cannot be solved by demonstrations in the streets or by burning draft cards."

Williams' student rights bill, introduced on March 4, states in part that no college or university shall deny to any student the right to operate a vehicle on public highways while enrolled in the institution to secure an education.

On the university property, however, the student would be subject to administrative regulations regarding vehicle privileges.

Arson Suspected

Fires At 3 Chicago Stores

CHICAGO (AP) — Fire and police arson experts probed Friday night the charred_areas of three State Street department stores struck by fires within a span of three hours, thousands of employees and customers poured out of the huge shopping buildings and lingered at an intersection often called the world's busiest as a storm of fire fighters extinguished the blazes.

The proximity of the stores and time interval of the fires caused authorities to launch arson investigations immediately. Police canine corps animals were hurried to the scene of the fires as a precaution against looting.

Severe damage, although no dollar estimates were available, was reported at Carson Pirie Scott & Co. and Montgomery Ward stores. A stockroom fire at Wieboldt's, Inc., was quickly extinguished and fire Commissioner Robert Quinn said that one may have been "incidental."

Carsons and Wieboldt's face each other at State and Madison Streets, Wards is at the northeast corner of State and Adams, two blocks south.

Three separate fires broke out in Carsons almost simultaneously, Quinn said, and one ravaged the sixth and seventh floors as approximately 3,000 persons fled. The damaged sections housed the drapery, furniture and appliance departments.

Before the Carson fire was fully controlled, flames erupted in a third floor stock room of Montgomery Ward to the south, sending another 1,500 to 2,000 persons fleeing to the streets already jammed.

In all three fires, no employees or patrons were reported injured but several firefighters required treatment for inhalation of smoke. Commissioner Quinn decried the Carson fire as "one of the worst downtown fires I have ever seen."

Moulton has stated that he is generally in favor of the Senate's position, on the matter. Ruffner declined to reveal his position.

The Senate seeks no formal hours for women students 21 years of age or with 48 credit hours or more, and no formal hours on weekends for other women students.

Student-Businessman Makes Good,
Wants to Help Others Get Ahead

Back in 1963 Barrett Rochman was having a rough time making ends meet as an SIU undergraduate. So he went into business.

Today, 20 years later, the 25-year-old father of four not only is able to study for a major's degree and support a family at the same time, but he also employs 10 students on a part-time basis.

Rochman's business enterprises all started when he concluded in 1963 that the 85 cents an hour he was making in a spare-time job just wasn't enough to keep him going. Casting about for a way to expand his income he hit upon an idea—a birthday cake service.

After contacting several local bakeries which agreed to supply the cakes to order, he obtained a list of students' home addresses and began sending out letters to parents offering to deliver to their offspring on their birthday a specially decorated cake, with candles, and a greeting card from mom and dad.

"I had to stock my watch and radio to buy stationery and stamps and pay some coeds to help write the letters and do the addressing," he says. "Also, to raise working capital, he sold "shares" in the business to about 15 students who put up two or three dollars each to get the venture started.

That birthday cake idea was an immediate success, and Rochman still operates it with the aid of several student assistants. He says that he gets orders from about 25 to 30 per cent of the letters he sends out and that to date he has sold over 2,500 cakes. Shortly after the first business venture was off the ground, Rochman branched out with a line of sandwiches, bakery goods, from which he carried nightly to off-campus dorms.

Rochman's business, too, was successful and he soon was hiring other students to help wrap the food items and deliver them. In gratitude for his own success and because of his empathy for other students who have to work, Rochman has established two grants-in-aid totalling $250 per year at SIU, one for a resident of the Thompson Point complex, and the other for a resident of University Park.

Rochman says he felt impelled to express his appreciation in this way "because the University has been good to me. If it were not for the help and cooperation I've received, I wouldn't be able to go to school and support a family."
SESQUICENTENNIAL SALUTE—An SIU Sesquicentennial Salute will be the April 6 performance of the zesty American Folk Ballet to be presented at 3:30 p.m. and 7 p.m. in Shreve Auditorium on the Carbondale campus. The troupe, composed of 50 dancers, singers, and instrumentalists, will stage "The Prairie Years." The group has made two appearances on the Ed Sullivan television show during the past year.

Counts to Speak at Colleges

Activity hasn't begun slowing down for SIU's distinguished professor, George S. Counts, noted in the field of education for nearly a half century. He will speak at Danville (Ill.) Junior College Monday, at Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio, Friday; at Randolph-Macon Women's College in Lynchburg, Va., April 16; and will sit on a scholarship selection committee of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in New York City April 26.

Only a week ago Counts talked into a microphone for three hours while a Cornell University representative taped his recollections and views on education and the contemporary scene in the 1930's and 1940's, when he was at Columbia University. Author of 29 books and recipient of top awards including the American Association of School Administrators' Award for Distinguished Service this February and the 1967 Award for Distinguished Lifetime Service in Education his in the Spirit of John Dewey, counts was an original member of the garment union selection committee set up in 1938 to choose sons and daughters of members for scholarships and fellowships. Selections will be made April 26.

They tell me none of our choices has been a dropout," he said.

Foreign Students' Orientation Slated

A special orientation for all international students at SIU will be held at the International Student Center, 508 S. Wall, Saturday, April 1, 1967. Purpose of the program is to help the students from foreign lands become familiar with the school, the culture of the country and immigration regulations, according to the International Student Services.

Three-quarters of the funds will be using the lower Kaskasia River channelization project, between the confluence with the Mississippi and up to the New Athens area. This phase of the work will involve aerial photographs, completion of the ground survey and continued excavation at two sites near New Athens which are to be determined, Weigand said. Carl Kuttner, museum field archaeologist, will act as foreman.

The other $2,000 will permit the finishing of work in the Rend Lake Reservoir area. Field archaeologist Sidney Denny and his crew will excavate at one site and will make a section in a cut which has a substantial quantity of Mississippian culture pottery remains. This will be the fourth and last year for salvage work in this area.

Laboratory work on archaeological materials salvaged from the area will be conducted next year, with Kuttner and analysing their own finds, Weigand said.

Chief Osceola

Famed Indian's Remains

May Be Interred in Florida

The mortal remains of the legendary Seminole Indian Chief Osceola (1804-1838) may at last find a resting place in honor in Florida, according to Irvin M. Peichmann, SIU authority on American Indian culture.

Peichmann has just returned from Rainbow Springs, about 85 miles northeast of St. Petersburg, where he was called to serve as a consultant for the establishment of a memorial to the famed warrior. After a long, bitter, and still unresolved dispute between Florida and South Carolina over Osceola's remains, the Indian martyr's bones were finally returned to Florida two years ago after lying for 128 years in a pit dug by Ft. Moultrie, S.C. Osceola died there after he was captured by federal troops; his people were forcibly resettled in the West.

Peichmann reports that the body—what was left of it—was interred clandestinely in January, 1966, by a former Miami city commissioner, Oels Shiver, who dug it up in the dead of night and spirited it away undetected. Since 1966 the remains have been locked away in a sealed steel box in a Miami bank vault.

The proposed memorial would be 40 feet square and made of cypress and stone. It would be placed in an area being set aside for an outdoor amphitheater. The design contains 28 cypress columns up to 21 feet tall surrounding a bronze plaque marking the new grave of Osceola.

Spitball Rule May Result in Nervous Pitchers

By Paul Corcoran

Copley News Service

Major league baseball pitchers will be well aware of attempts to legitimate the morality of the game by rules dealing with use of the "spit-ball."

The intent is to outlaw the spitball, if you will excuse the phrase, by putting teeth in regulations governing the conduct of pitchers.

This is the way rule 802, subsection A, reads:

"The pitcher shall not (1) bring his pitching hand in contact with his mouth for lips or tongue.

Penalty: The umpire shall warn the pitcher and if this warning is not observed the umpire shall immediately disqualify the pitcher."

A new rule does not seem to fit the bill.
Gymnasts Take Fourth Championship

By George Knemeyer

SIU easily won its fourth straight Collegiate Gymnastics Championship for Women Friday night, outdistancing its nearest opponent by nearly 25 points. The SIU women chalked up 157.30 points to Centenary's 132.95. The small Louisiana school finished second, West Chester State College of Pennsylvania was the only other team to score more than 100 points, managing 106.70 for third place honors.

In the only individual title decided Friday, Linda Metheny of the University of Illinois dethroned Donna Schaenzer for the all-around championship, Miss Metheny totalling 36.35 points to Miss Schaenzer's 36.10. SIU Coach Herb Vogel was surprised that the all-around score between the two women was so close. He had expected Miss Metheny to win, but thought the margin would have been greater.

"Miss Metheny is an excellent gymnast," Vogel said, "But she got into trouble on the (uneven parallel) bars and only scored an 8.65."

At that point, Miss Schaenzer needed a 9.2 on her bar routine to capture the title, but she could manage only an 8.9.

"If Donna would have known she was that close to Metheny, she probably wouldn't have been trying to shoot for the big score that she was going for," Vogel said, "As a result, she made the little mistakes that cost her points."

SIU also captured the number three and four slots in the all-around championship race. Joanne Hashimoto totalled 35.85 and Linda Scott scored 35.80.

"Jo and Linda turned in pretty decent all-around performances," Vogel said, "Scott did the very best (in the all-around) that she has done since she has been here."

"We are a team," Vogel said, "they were very, very good."

In the afternoon session, SIU jumped off to a quick 27.45 points in both floor exercise and bars, and topped off the pleasant day's work with 23.65 points in tumbling.

Today's afternoon competition at 1 p.m., will be for Class "B" competitors. Two carries for SIU are Eva Domoly and Lori Wesa.

Presentations for the team championships, individual and all-around champions follow tonight's competition.

Judy Wills Will Defend Three Individual Titles

Judy Wills jumped to a commanding lead in both trampoline and tumbling and will try to hold these leads in the finals of the individual championships at 7:30 tonight in the Arena.

Miss Wills, defending collegiate champion in the two events as well as vaulting, scored a 9.35 in trampoline to take a lead over Judy Johnson of Centenary, who scored an 8.2. She scored a 9.05 in tumbling to lead her teammate Donna Schaenzer by 1.1 point in that event.

In uneven bars, Miss Hashimoto holds first place with a 9.3 average, followed by Gail Daley of SIU with a 9.25 and Miss Schaenzer with an 8.9.

In floor exercise, Miss Metheny is first with a 9.35, with Miss Schaenzer 9.25 second and Miss Scott (9.15) third.
