Motion filed to dismiss suit against dean

By Anne Flazsa
Staff Writer

A Jackson County Circuit Court judge on Thursday is scheduled to review a motion to dismiss a $150,000 civil suit filed against the SIU Board of Trustees and Robert Ratcliffe, dean of continuing education.

The suit, filed by an attorney for a Mankinda couple whose house trailer was struck by a car Ratcliffe was driving last August, seeks $15,000 in damages on each of ten counts.

John and Linda Childers, and their infant son, Jeremy, are seeking a total of $105,000 from Ratcliffe for compensatory and punitive damages and $45,000 from SIU in a dram shop action through attorney Fred Shapiro of Murphysboro.

Carl Draper, assistant Illinois attorney general, is representing both Ratcliffe and the University.

Draper filed for dismissal of the case on the grounds that the Jackson County Circuit Court lacks "subject matter jurisdiction" over the action.

Draper said Tuesday that exclusive jurisdiction for hearing lawsuits against the state or any of its agencies rests with the Illinois Court of Claims.

This motion and another, which calls for the dismissal of three punitive counts filed against Ratcliffe, are scheduled to be reviewed by Jackson County Circuit Judge Bill Green on Thursday.

If dismissed, Shapiro would have to file in the Illinois Court of Claims to pursue the suit against the University, according to Shari Rhode, SIU-C chief trial attorney.

Shapiro could not be contacted for comment Tuesday.

The suit stems from an accident involving Ratcliffe on Aug. 6, 1983.

Congress opposes military aid for El Salvador

By W. Dale Nelson
Of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's emergency military aid package for El Salvador faced "continued resistance on Capitol Hill Tuesday despite congressional observers' endorsement of the integrity of Sunday's election. Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations, told administration officials the election was "a heartening development," but added:

"We are a long way from a solution to El Salvador as long as the military kills more of its own people than the guerrillas." Reagan is asking for an emergency appropriation of $61.7 million, scaled down from $93 million, to help the Salvadoran government battle leftist guerrillas.

Long and other congressional critics maintain the regime should be required to eliminate right-wing death squads, blamed for thousands of political murders, before

Hart courts Connecticut; Mondale, N.Y.

By David Espo
Of the Associated Press

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Sen. Gary Hart bid to complete a six-state sweep of New England on Tuesday in a Connecticut presidential primary battle against Walter F. Mondale and the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

With 52 delegates to the Democratic National Convention at stake, Connecticut also served as prelude to next week's bigger showdown in neighboring New York.

Hart worked harder in Connecticut than either of his rivals, hoping to slow Mondale's comeback in the marathon race for the Democratic presidential nomination and to cut into the former vice president's lead in national convention delegates.

Mondale, the one-time front-runner in the race, devoted little time and few resources to Connecticut as he looked ahead to primaries in New York and Pennsylvania over the next two weeks.

Jackson hoped to do well enough in the urban areas of Bridgeport, New Haven and Hartford to pick up a few delegates.

State election and party officials predicted a light turnout among the state's 660,000 registered Democrats, even though primary day was warm and sunny.

Mondale went into Connecticut with a substantial lead in delegates, 667 to 384 for Hart. Jackson had 61. Others accounted for 72 and there were 134 uncommitted delegates. It takes 1,967 delegates to win the nomination.

The Connecticut contest was overshadowed by the primary campaign in New York. But Hart worked hard in Connecticut as he sought to slow Mondale and re-establish his own campaign's momentum, augmenting personal appearances with substantial television advertisements.

He campaigned even after the polls opened Tuesday, greeting workers at a telephone company office in New Haven.

After a startling string of victories in early tests, the Colorado senator has suffered through several campaign gaffes and election defeats. Mondale has won the last two primary battles in Illinois

USO to weigh grade-listing plan

By John Stewart
Staff Writer

The Student Senate will consider resolutions that SIU-C create a form with guidelines for instructors to post final exam grades and that the Student Center fee be reduced for some part-time students. The senate will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center.

The exam grade-posting resolution urges the creation of a "campuswide form" with guidelines for faculty to number exams, from which results would be posted. The resolution said that USO research indicated students want to know their final exam grades.

By John Stewart
Staff Writer

The Graduate and Professional Student Council will consider a resolution to exempt student employees from fiscal emergency cutbacks at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center Mississippi Room.

In keeping with a GPSC resolution passed last April opposing a draft of the University's fiscal emergency policy, the GPSC resolution adamantly opposes suggested

A year ago the USO Academic Affairs Commission researched the possibility of including final exam grades on grade report slips, but stated in their report that the costs of changing the computer program, additional keypunching and time delays made the proposal prohibitively expensive and a disservice to students.

The current grade proposal meets legal requirements of the Buckley Amendment on educational privacy and has no monetary costs, the resolution states.

The senate will also consider a resolution supporting a prorated Student Center fee for students enrolled for one and two hours, which would save those students about $2 per semester. The resolution also urges the retention of a straight-line fee for SIU-C faculty and staff taking one and two hours.

Gus
Bode

Gus says the USO's bright idea on posting final exam grades will be cheered by the last-minute grads who'll learn on May 11 whether they can check out for good on May 12.

GPSC to eye layoff exemption

revisions of the University policy concerning dismissal of contractual employees and involuntary pay reductions for all employees.

Students were not included in the policy formulation committee, and students should be exempted from the policy in order to retain students at the University, the resolution states.

The GPSC will also consider the new Student Conduct Code, which went into effect in January. The new code includes provisions for settlement of academic dishonesty cases and charges of sexual harassment.

Because of the observance of Martin Luther King's birthday the third Monday of January, SIU-C is considering starting the spring semester of 1985 a week earlier than before. A proposed 1985-86 calendar would give students three weeks winter break instead of the current four weeks.

The GPSC will discuss the calendar change, proposed to avoid having a holiday on the first day of spring semester.

The first test will come in the Republican-controlled Senate, which is expected to vote this week on the $61.7-million compromise figure.

Langhorne A. Motley, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, told the House appropriations subcommittee, "We have no time to lose. El Salvador needs supplies now, not just next summer."

Motley said it would be premature to say that the death squads are a thing of the past, but added, "all observers agree that indiscriminate violence is down."

Council postpones resurfacing of street in redevelopment area

By Paula J. Finlay
Staff Writer

Downtown redevelopment remains uncertain, but the City Council is trying to keep its options open.

Following Councilman Neil Dillard's suggestion, the council said Monday that it would be a good idea to delay resurfacing Monroe Street, which borders the downtown redevelopment area, since construction there is pending.

Last week, the council gave City Manager Bill Dixon the go-ahead to negotiate the purchase of three land parcels in the redevelopment area, but no definite plans have been made since the council decided to let purchase options run out last December on parcels needed for a downtown conference center and parking garage project.

If Monroe Street from Illinois Avenue to University Avenue was resurfaced before construction, it would have to be torn up later for sewer construction, Street Superintendent Wayne Wheeler said. Monroe Street was one of several designated for improvement as part of the $271,834 motor fuel tax maintenance program. An alternate street will be proposed when the program comes to the council for formal approval next week, Wheeler said.

The council agreed with Dixon that $3,000 was too much to pay to have the Public Library tax levy separated from the city's levy on the annual tax bills. The council has been trying since 1981 to have the two levies listed separately. In a response to a recent request from the council, Scott Perlenfein, Jackson County data processing director, said that the separation would cost about $3,000 and asked the city to pay for the additional costs.

A request for a transfer of the Class A liquor license for Eastgate Liquor Mart from 622 E. Walnut St. to 829 E. Main St. received a favorable response from the council, which will vote on the transfer next week.

The council also indicated its approval for a request from Rolf Schilling to rezone a 21.6-acre parcel on Streigel Road and Route 13 West from general agriculture to professional administrative for an office complex. Schilling also requested annexation of the parcel.

Theodolites invade city auction block

If you're looking for a couple of wild theodolites, the city of Carbondale has two for sale.

The pair was taken from the city about two years ago, but Bill Brandon, a Carbondale Police Department detective, tracked them down in Texas. In the meantime, however, they were replaced and the city no longer has a need for them.

Councilman Patrick Kelley said wild theodolites sound like "wild and scurrilous members of an ancient religious sect."

He was assured by a city engineer that a wild theodolite is a precision surveying instrument used to measure angles.

Bids for the instruments start at $2,200.

and Puerto Rico, as well as the majority of caucuses held over the past two weeks.

But Hart defeated Mondale earlier in the other New England states — winning primaries in New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Vermont and caucuses in Maine.

And he appeared to be the favorite as well in Connecticut, home to a large number of the young urban professionals who have become core supporters of his campaign.

Mondale was far less active than Hart in Connecticut, although he made two brief campaign appearances after his chairman, Gov. William O'Neill, complained the former vice president was sighting the state.

After spending heavily for more than a year in an unsuccessful effort to quickly demolish his competition for the nomination, the former vice president must now use his money carefully to avoid bumping up against a federal spending limit

News Roundup

Military protest disables city

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A nationwide protest against military rule crippled public transportation and kept most students out of school in the capital Tuesday. Riot police battled scores of youths blocking rush hour traffic in one suburb.

Traffic in downtown Santiago, a city of 4 million people, was lighter than usual, with few buses or taxis on the streets. Public school attendance was reported as low as 10 percent, and absenteeism at factories and offices was well above normal.

Hijackers demand $500,000

MIAMI (AP) — Three men demanding $500,000 hijacked a Piedmont Aviation jet, carrying 57 people, to Havana Tuesday on a flight from Charleston, S.C., to Miami, officials said.

"The word 'explosives' was mentioned but we don't know what they have," said Jack Barker, an Atlanta-based spokesman for the FAA.

Flight 451 was "hijacked at 3:43 p.m. EST by three black males who demanded a half-million dollars," an official said.

Officials said they didn't know how Cuban authorities would respond to the demand for money.

Aid to escapee called mentally ill

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — A runaway lawyer who helped a convicted murderer escape at gunpoint loved the outlaw and depended on him as a baby depends on a parent, a psychiatrist testified Tuesday.

Mary Evans, a 27-year-old attorney, was scheduled to be sentenced in a plea bargain agreement after pleading guilty to escape for helping William Timothy Kirk flee a psychologist's office in March 1983.

Evans had been mentally ill since at least 1975 and believed Kirk could teach her to protect herself from "alien things that tormented her," said a psychiatrist who examined Evans.

Criticism continues as workfare begins

By Phillip Fiorini
Staff Writer

Some public aid recipients in Williamson County have received work assignments through the Illinois Work Experience Program, but one says he is not looking forward to providing "free help for the state."

About 10 of the county's 400 public aid recipients with dependent children have been on the job since Monday or will begin next Monday at five public or private non-profit organizations in Williamson County.

The recipients, who must work from 40 to 80 hours a month for three months or lose their benefits, have been assigned to the Herrin Hospital, Shawnee Library in Carterville, TIP of Illinois, west of Marion, and the Boy Scouts of America in Johnson City and Herrin.

Workfare, a $1 million component of the Work Incentive Program (WIN), is being tested by the state public aid office in 11 counties to help public aid recipients maintain work skills and gain experience to get off welfare rolls.

Ronald Beck, one of two people assigned to Herrin Hospital, said he doesn't think IWEP will solve his unemployment problem. But he said he will try to "sell himself" so the hospital might hire him full-time after the 90-day period ends.

"I'll do anything I can to get them to hire me," said the 34-year-old Freeman Spur resident, who receives $251 monthly in public aid. "I want to support my family, but I just don't see how it's going to solve our problems."

MaryBeth Murphy, a hospital spokeswoman, said she didn't expect the hospital to keep any of the IWEP workers because of a hiring freeze instituted over a year ago.

"The (workfare) jobs aren't budgeted," said Murphy. "However, they're jobs that need to be done." She said the hospital has requested workers for the hospital kitchen and may request more if the program is successful.

Murphy said that Beck will be a clerk, delivering drugs hourly from the hospital pharmacy to various floors. She said that Beck has been assigned to work five days a week from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at minimum wage, beginning next Monday.

However, Murphy said that the hospital had misgivings about the program.

"The hospital likes to be selective in who it hires," she said, "but we have no say in the matter."

Beck, who supports a wife and three children, said he also had misgivings about IWEP, because he has no choice except to work or lose public aid benefits. "I can't see that it's anything but free help for the state," said Beck, who has been jobless for three years. "They (the hospital) are not hiring me, the state is putting me to work. They can't get voluntary help, so they got me."

"I don't mind working — anything beats sitting around — but I'm not getting paid," he said. "And it's not like I can't do any better" than work for Minimum wage.

Beck, who has worked in factories, said his work experience proves he is worth more than minimum wage. But through workfare, he said he is not receiving "an honest day's pay for an honest day's work." Jodelle Craddock, executive director of TIP, said she has had success with people from state work programs in the past and that it was possible that IWEP workers could be eventually hired by TIP.

Some of the 35 full-time employees at the 8-year-old health agency were hired through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, said Craddock, adding that she contacted Marion's public aid office when she heard that IWEP had been established in Williamson County.

She said two people have been assigned to work in the health spa and weight room, two others as custodians and another as a cook in TIP's Tols Montessori Preschool.

Jeannie Halldorson, coordinator of administrative services at Shawnee Library, said IWEP workers have been doing clerical work and shelving books and materials.

Tanker hit by Iraqi missile

LONDON (AP) — A Greek tanker said to be loaded with oil was hit by an Iraqi missile about 70 miles south of Iran's Kharg Island oil terminal in the Persian Gulf, Lloyd's of London reported Tuesday night.

Roger Barker of the Lloyd's insurers' intelligence department named the tanker as the 41,329-ton Filikon L, owned by Elfellowship Inc. and registered in the Greek port of Piraeus.

He said the Filikon L was reported hit by the Iraqi missile Tuesday afternoon together with another naval target. He said he had no information on the other target and or about the fate of the Filikon L and its crew.

Ratcliffe and the Childers were injured when the University vehicle Ratcliffe was driving crossed south U.S. Route 51 at Boskydell Road and knocked a house trailer in which the Childers were sleeping an estimated 11 feet off its foundation.

Ratcliffe had attended a picnic at the SIUC Touch of Nature Environmental Center near Little Grassy Lake the night of the accident.

The attorney general's office represents the state and any state branches in lawsuits, Drayer said. The state Office of Central Management Services deemed Ratcliffe to be covered by the state's self-insurance plan, so he was also afforded representation by the attorney general's office.

Rhode said that SIU Legal Counsel will not be involved, except to aid the attorney general's office when needed.

John Guyon, vice president for academic affairs and research, Tuesday said he was unwilling to speculate on what effect either case might have on Ratcliffe's future at SIUC.

"Right now he has simply been accused," Guyon said. "We're going to wait until the determination of that before anything is decided."

Buzbee's swan song regrettably off-pitch

AN UNFORTUNATE consequence of last week's Illinois primary is Ken Buzbee's decision to end his political career. Buzbee, who was defeated by Kenny Gray in the Democratic race for the 22nd Congressional District seat, announced after the election that he is through with politics.

Buzbee's decision is regrettable; during his 12 years in the state Senate, he proved to be an effective legislator for the district. He looked after the concerns of his constituencies, including SIU-C, while taking on leadership roles in tackling the complexities of the state budget, acid rain and public education. He is one of the few state legislators who has a grasp of American foreign policy and other national concerns. And while his studious style may not have thrilled the voters, it won him the respect and admiration of his colleagues in Springfield.

THAT AURA of professionalism, however, temporarily disappeared the day after the election.

Buzbee's retirement announcement was followed by a verbal assault against the Southern Illinoisian for what he claimed was biased news coverage of the race. The situation was reminiscent of the infamous scene following the 1960 presidential race win: Richard Nixon announced his political retirement, proclaiming that the press "wouldn't have Dick Nixon to kick around anymore."

Nixon was charged with tasting sour grapes while making his swan song and the same criticism has been leveled at Buzbee. This is not to say that Buzbee's complaint was unfounded. The general perception is that Ken Gray got more, and generally positive, press from the Southern Illinoisian. A three-part series on Gray and his record in Congress was not matched by a series on Buzbee and his tenure in the state Senate.

THE NEWSPAPER endorsed Buzbee prior to the election and ran two editorials blasting Gray when the former Congressman announced last year that he would run for his old job again. But as Buzbee supporters point out, far fewer people read the editorial page than the front page. Although newspapers are not bound by any "equal space" requirements, fairness requires that political opponents be given equal coverage during a campaign — providing that the candidates were equally visible and accessible to the voters.

Whether a measure of column inches devoted to the two candidates would prove Buzbee's complaint valid, his claim that newspaper attention to Gray was the key to his defeat is exaggerated. Buzbee got a lot of ink throughout the campaign. Furthermore, his announcement that he is canceling his subscription to the newspaper was childish.

THERE IS another aspect of Nixon's attack on the press that Buzbee should note. Dick Nixon, like Kenny Gray, proved that politicians often change their minds about retirement. Buzbee should have kept that in mind; the bitterness of defeat will likely fade in time and Buzbee may once again feel called to public service.

Based on his record, such a change of heart would benefit Southern Illinois. It's unfortunate that Buzbee had to blemish that record last week.

Human resources vital to global growth

SLOW PACED, if not stagnant social development in many Asian-Pacific nations has taken the sheen from the region's economic growth — considered as a group in the late 1970's to be better than that of industrialized countries.

A recent report from the United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific states that "economic growth will become noteworthy only if it improves the quality of life of the majority."

On the whole, the region's immediate social development looks bleak. The latest international evidence shows cases of mass poverty, unequal income and wealth distribution, joblessness and underemployment, poor health, illiteracy and unprojected population growth.

WHILE GOVERNMENTS in the region have launched socio-economic development programs, the poor and the underprivileged still tend to be by-passed. There are clear indications that current policies have failed to effectively redistribute income, increase employment opportunity or improve basic service to those who need them the most — the poor and underprivileged.

Jack Prasai
Staff Writer

Women are a case in point. ESCAP reports found women continuously suffering widespread discrimination in access to education, training, jobs and health services.

The region's youth also are not being mobilized efficiently. The door is often shut to them in participating in economic, social and political processes. As a result, they suffer inadequate educational and employment opportunities.

RECENTLY, ESCAP Executive Director S.A.M.S.-Kiteria appealed to governments in the region to create social programs that are "consciously and deliberately planned for in the context of an integrated development strategy where the interplay of economic and social factors is given full freedom." Such an interplay is a must in order to build a more humane and just society in the region.

The ESCAP Social Development Committee in its new assessment of the situation has listed nine issues which urgently need to be addressed for the region's overall progress in the second half of the 1980's. It stressed eradicating discrimination, making education more widely available for all as well as extending compulsory education for children and youth, starting special programs for the development of out-of-school children who are out of school, extending health care programs to people in remote areas and encouraging and strengthening social development and welfare for groups whose members might be affected by modernization more than others, namely, women, youths, agricultural laborers, the disabled and the poor.

THE MOVEMENT for more social services, social development policies and programs has been gaining momentum. Indications of such momentum are the increasing awareness by the regional governments of their obligations to constantly fuel social development, while grassroots organizations and the press help widen regional awareness, thus bringing about an understanding of social problems and issues.

ESCAP notes that the global recession has added to the constraints in finding solutions to poverty, illiteracy, unemployment, low health stature, malnutrition, poor housing, child labor and exploitation of women.

However, it does recognize the fact that pushing social development is not the job of governments only. The participation of private groups such as independent trade unions, volunteer organizations, co-operatives and other non-governmental groups is equally essential.

Adds ESCAP: Participation is socio-economic development is enhanced and augmented when people are free to form associations.

Resource service deserves support

If you see a film in class, watch a slide or tape presentation or review tapes of instructor lectures at the Self-Instruction Center, or if you check out sample exams or rent a typewriter in the basement of Morris Library, you have utilized one or more of the many services provided by Learning Resources Service. If the plan for further reductions of the LRS budget goes through, some of the services provided by LRS may be eliminated.

Some of the other services provided by LRS are: equipment and film rental and check out for classroom use, photographic and graphic design for slides and transparencies, tape reproduction and production and slide, tape presentations, and various services at Instructional Evaluation.

The Instructional Developer provides a wide range of services to faculty and staff, which include single-class observations, evaluation of tests, student evaluations of instruction, training grants consultation, course development, curriculum development, program evaluation, assistance in Summer Teaching Fellowship applications, improvement of teaching skills, and workshops on a variety of topics related to teaching and learning.

The Student Media Design Lab provides, at a minimal charge, materials for making overhead transparencies, spiral bindings, paste-ups, dittos, dry mounting and laminating, and the use of equipment (at no charge). Many of these services have proven to be invaluable to many students and faculty.

The budget at Library Affairs was reduced last summer. One of the hardest hit by the cuts was Learning Resources Service. Ten out of 29 people lost their jobs at LRS because of that reduction, and many of the services provided by LRS were reduced or modified.

After careful modifications of

Salvadoran election called premature

By Chris Ogbondah
Staff Writer

The United States should not have supported presidential elections in El Salvador until internal political conflicts in the Central American country were resolved, according to an SIUC political science professor.

"It is absolutely absurd to have elections in a country like El Salvador," said Associate Professor William Garner, who teaches Latin American politics. "We have no pressed for political settlement, but we have pressed for the establishment of democracy."

Garner criticized the last two decades of U.S. administrations for equating elections with democracy without "realizing that elections mean nothing unless you have a consensus on the rules of the game."

The Associated Press reported Tuesday that incomplete vote tabulations indicate that the Salvadoran presidential race will be a runoff between moderate former president Jose Napoleon Duarte and conservative Roberto d'Aubuisson. Garner said Monday that even if a clear winner emerges from last Sunday's election, "there is no guarantee that the army won't do in 1984 what it did in 1972." In that year, the army forced Duarte into exile following his victory in the presidential elections.

Garner said the U.S. should never have called for the elections, but should have forced a negotiated settlement internal political conflicts, adding, "Only then do elections make sense."

Garner said democracy is meaningless unless one is free to organize pressure groups, political parties, exercise free speech and press and have a choice among virtually all ideologies present in the country.

"Yet the State Department says all you have to prove to be democratic is to have elections," he said.

Garner said about 30 percent of the Salvadoran population could not vote because soldiers were watching the elections. The voting boxes, he said, were transparent, adding that "the symbol of the party you vote for can be seen by the soldiers in each group."

A complicated system of safeguards against fraud, interference by leftist rebels and inability of many citizens to find their polling places also have been blamed for preventing thousands of Salvadorans from casting ballots, the AP said.

In terms of the United States' interests, Garner said, "The only rational thing we can do is to cut our losses, nurse our wounded pride, and let philanthropic groups attempt to repair the damage."

He said the U.S. government should allow missionary and religious groups to settle the problems in El Salvador.

Award winners open exhibit

By Terry Levecke
Staff Writer

Four seniors in art, pegged "cream of the crop" by the School of Art, are exhibiting in the University Museum the work that earned each of them $5,000 in the annual Rickert-Ziebold Trust Award competition.

The competition was open to all seniors in art, and after intense competition between 33 entrants and 16 finalists, Anthony Ballotti, Teresa Floe, Mark Kretzmann and Dale Travous emerged from the pack with outstanding work.

In a ceremony Monday night in the museum auditorium School of Art Director Brent Kington called the award "a marvelous gift" and said it is the most generous award given to art students in the country. "But the most important aspect is the trust and confidence in young artists this award demonstrates," Kington said. "I hope they will use the award to further their careers in art."

The award was established in 1975 when Marguerite L. Rickert left one-third of her estate to the School of Art. Marguerite Proctor Hoare, executor of the estate, was on hand Monday to distribute the cash awards.

Ballotti received the award for his ceramic sculptured pieces; Floe for her graceful forms and manipulation of glazes on pottery; Kretzmann, for his surrealist and photo realism painting; and Travous for his gouche watercolor paintings, mixed media drawings, etchings and electronic sculpture.

When the winners were announced March 5, Travous said he was going to use the money to take an expedition down the Amazon River, but on a more serious note, said he wanted to move to Seattle and form a corporation based on his artwork, under the name of Psychotronics.

The show will continue through April 22. Museum hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sundays.

Students fare well in Datsun ad contest

Eight SIU-C design students beat out a field of over 300 competitors to win four honorable mentions in the nationwide Datsun Advertising Contest held last January. The eight students are Joni Stanfa, Lee Ann Williams, Pam Davenport, Kerry Ann Kesaman, Stacy Smith, Rick Stevens, Dave Prickett and John Meyer.

Working in pairs, the students took two weeks to create four different advertisements for the Datsun sports truck. The entries were judged by officials of the 13-30 Corp. of Knoxville, Tenn.

According to Richard Perry, assistant professor of design, SIU-C was the only school among the 126 entered that won more than one honorable mention in the competition. Perry's students entered the contest as a class project.

The winning entries will be shown in America magazine sometime this year.

Cancer society to start financial crusade

"Give yourself a chance of a lifetime" is the American Cancer Society's theme for this year's financial crusade. The society's Jackson County unit will start its crusade with a kickoff meeting at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Carbondale Ramada Inn.

A slide presentation will be shown on the crusade's emphasis and procedures.

Revolutionary group promoted

By Dave Saelens
Staff Writer

Three supporters of the Revolutionary Communist Party promoted their organization in front of the Student Center Tuesday afternoon, claiming that the United States and the Soviet Union are preparing for war.

The group had previously been selling the Revolutionary Worker newspaper on the first floor of the Student Center, but were asked by Student Center officials to leave because they did not have a permit allowing them to solicit materials inside the building.

Larry Mustafa, a St. Louis correspondent for the newspaper, said the group is a representative of the Revolutionary Internationalist Movement — a movement begun March 12 at the Second International Conference of Marxist-Leninist Parties and Organizations in London.

He said the group is not affiliated with the Communist Party, claiming that "the Soviets are just as imperialistic as the United States."

"We're not opposing anything particular," he said, "but we are opposed to the buildup of nuclear weapons."

Mustafa said the group was well received by students.

"A lot of people seem to be generally interested in our group," he said. "I think many people want to hear what we have to say."

Members of the organization were publicizing a meeting they will conduct, along with "co-conspirators" of the Revolutionary Worker newspaper, at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Mackinaw Room of the Student Center.

Mustafa said the group will have a presentation and lead discussions dealing with issues such as the credibility of a revolution in the face of vast destruction caused by a world war.

Drug charge nets 6-year sentence

By Jeff Wilkinson
Staff Writer

A former Carbondale woman has been sentenced to six years in prison and fined $5,000 for distributing cocaine in Carbondale.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Carr said Rose Johnson, 35, of Markham, pleaded guilty on Jan. 9 in U.S. District Court in Benton to distribution of cocaine, conspiracy to distribute cocaine and using a telephone to distribute cocaine.

Carr said Johnson arranged two sales with an undercover agent, each for one ounce of cocaine. One of the purchases was made outside of Southern Illinois. The other was made in Carbondale. Carr said the total value of the two purchases was $9,600.

Carr said Johnson, who lived in Carbondale until she entered the 9th grade, arranged in a telephone conversation to meet the agent in Carbondale in early November, 1983. Johnson then met the agent in the Murdale Shopping Center parking lot where the transaction was made.

Johnson received six years in prison and a $5,000 fine for conspiring to distribute cocaine and six years in prison for using the telephone to aid her in distribution. The prison sentences are to be served concurrently. Johnson was also sentenced to a special parole term of three years to be served in addition to any other parole arrangements. Following her release, she is to serve five years probation.

Program to focus on acid rain

By Dean Jones
Staff Writer

The effect of proposed federal acid rain legislation on the coal industry will be the focus of a day-long conference that will open at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the Student Center Auditorium.

The conference, "Acid Rain Control: The Cost of Compliance," is co-sponsored by the Illinois Energy Resources Commission and the SIU-C Coal Extraction and Utilization Research Center.

Registration for the conference begins at 8 a.m., and an introduction featuring comments by President Albert Somit, state Sen. Gene Johns, chairman of the Illinois Energy Resources Commission, and James H. Swisher, director of the Coal Extraction and Research Center, will begin the conference at 9 a.m.

Chaired by David G. Arey, chairman of the SIU-C Geography Department, the morning session will feature a panel representing environmental concerns, academic research and the United Mine Workers of America, and will focus on acid rain legislation and its effect on jobs.

"Problems of Modeling the Impacts of Acid Rain Legislation," will be presented by Richard L. Gordon, professor of mineral economics at The Pennsylvania State University, at 9:20 a.m.

At 10 a.m., John Myers, economics professor at SIU-C, will discuss "Employment Effects of Proposed Acid Rain Legislation."

"Acid Rain Control and the Illinois Coal Miner," will be the topic discussed by Gerald Hawkins, a legislative representative for the UMWA.

at 10:50 a.m.

Ending the morning session will be Kevin Greene, a research associate for Citizens for a Better Environment, who will speak at 11:20 a.m. on "Controlling Acid Rain While Preserving Jobs."

Following a lunch in Student Center Ballroom B featuring comments by SIU Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw, the afternoon session, chaired by John S. Mead, director of the Illinois Energy Resources Commission, will open with a panel of representatives from utility, coal mining and transportation industries.

At 2 p.m., Dan Goodwin, manager of the air pollution division of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, will present "A State Regulator's Perspective on Acid Deposition Control."

"Economic and Employment Impact of Acid Rain Legislation," will be the subject discussed at 2:30 p.m. by Robin A. Skitt, senior analyst at Peabody Holding Company Inc.

At 3 p.m., Charles L. Massey, environmental coordinator of the Tennessee Valley Authority, will talk about "Air Pollution Control at TVA Power Plants." "Compliance Costs: A Utility Perspective," will be discussed at 3:50 p.m. by Richard Grant, manager of environmental affairs at Central Illinois Public Service.

And at 4:20 p.m., Douglas Dorgan, director of coal marketing for the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, is scheduled to close the conference with a discussion of "Impact of Acid Rain Legislation on Rail Service in the Illinois Basin."

'Cinderella' signed, spoken

Deaf, hearing present play

By Joe Walter
Staff Writer

Most children's plays aren't presented in two languages — simultaneously — along with music and dancing.

But that's what happened in Student Center Ballroom D Monday night when the Traveling Hands Theater Troupe performed "Cinderella" for an audience of hearing and deaf people.

The classic fairy tale was performed by deaf, hearing impaired and hearing actors, both children and adults, who used sign language and dialogue for the lines in the play. The lines were signed by the deaf and hearing impaired and read by hearing players.

"Most of the hearing children involved are brothers and sisters of the hearing impaired," said Kathleen Scherer, who directed the play.

Pam Hartman, who played Cinderella, is the hearing sister of Paula, who played the Fairy Godmother. Hartman said she has had no other acting experience outside of the troupe, which she has been with for two years.

Paula said this is her first year with the troupe and her first play.

David Hirschfeld, the voice for his brother Ari, said this is his first year also.

"Next year we're doing 'Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs,'" he said.

Patricia Scherer, head of the Center on Deafness in Chicago, said the troupe has been in existence for 10 years and that once a year it puts on a play throughout the state.

Scherer said that to insure good performances, the actors take drama and dancing lessons once a week. She also said that because theater for the deaf has only recently begun to be performed, there are hardly any deaf theater troupes around.

"We are the only theater for deaf children and young adults in the country," she said.

Scherer said that, for adults, there is the National Theater for the Deaf in Washington, D.C.

The troupe also tours around the Chicago area to hospitals and social organizations to promote deaf awareness, Scherer said. The troupe will perform next month at Illinois State University in Normal.

Whiplash

Neck Injuries

Symptoms of WHIPLASH

- Headache
- Head & Neck pains
- Muscle Spasms
- Stiff neck
- Restriction of neck motion
- Extreme Nervousness
- Mental Dullness
- Heaviness of head, neck and shoulders feel tired.

Chiropractic and medical research now link symptoms as listed above with whiplash-type injuries. One or more of these symptoms often occur immediately. However others may not develop until hours, weeks, or sometimes even years following the injury. The Doctor of Chiropractic knows the victims of whiplash injuries are truly in need of specialized treatment.

Intramural golf tournament set

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

An 18-hole golf tournament sponsored by the Recreation Center will be held April 16 at Midland Hills Golf Club in Makanda.

Participants can compete in pairs of men, women or co-rec. Awards will be given to flight winners based on lowest scratch scores, to scratch champions and to flight handicap winners. Entries are due 5 p.m. April 12.

The registration fee is $5 for S.U.-C students with an identification card, $6 for faculty and staff members with a Student Recreation Center Use Pass, and $9 for the single event entry fee for individuals with a spouse card or a certificate of appointment.

Last spring 28 individuals participated in the tournament.

In a swimming meet held Saturday at the Recreation Center pool, S.U.-C student Mary Kaminsky shattered two National Intramural Recreational Sports Association records in the 50-yard freestyle and 50-yard butterfly.

Kaminsky swam a 25.52 time in the 50 free to shatter the previous record of 25.9 held by the University of Michigan. She bettered her national record of 26.1 set last year in the 50 butterfly with a 27.55 time.

Zip won four events to win the women's title with 95 points and The Intermediates finished second with 23 points. Zip and The Intermediates were the only teams to compete in the women's division.

Team members Chris Zipperer, Shelia Rogers, Kathy Letko, and Julie Riedle led Zip to first place finishes in the 100 free relay (1:02.25) and the 100 medley relay (1:13.4). Zipperer won the 100 individual medley with a 1:13.4 and Letko won the 100 free with a 1:18.28.

Other winners were Amy Gilliam in the 50 backstroke (35.05) and the 200 free (2:23.11), and Sandra Todd in the 50 breaststroke (40.0).

In men's competition, the S.U.-C Water Polo Club used three first-place finishes to win the title with 108 points. Tsunamis took second with 90 points; No Names third, 66 points; MSI Beastrokers fourth, 61; and The Intermediates fifth, 10.

The S.U.-C Water Polo Club claimed three first places. George Brabson won the 100 IM in 59.50, David Kiolbasa won the 50 butterfly in 25.92, and Brabson, Kiolbasa, John Infante and Mike Ciserella combined to win the 200 medley relay in 1:52.48.

The Tsunamis had four first-place finishes. Kevin Wrishnick won the 50 free in 24.97 and the 100 free in 54.62, Larry Meyers won the 500 free in 5:30.21, and Wrishnick, Meyers, Chris Hopsin and Tim Beth combined to win the 200 free relay in 1:33.50.

Other winners were John Fraser in the 50 breast (30.60) and Charles Dunn in the 50 backstroke (29.36).

Only two teams participated in co-rec. Wet Dreams and The Intermediates. Wet Dreams swept all five relay events to defeat The Intermediates for the team title. No team scores were kept.

Wet Dreams won the 100 innersube relay (1:44.1), the 100 ping pong relay (1:43.1), the 200 medley relay (2:18), the 200 freestyle relay (2:18.2) and the 250 diminishing relay (2:27.7). They faced no competition in the 200 medley and the 200 free relay events.

Notre Dame to face Michigan

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan vs. Notre Dame.

You can smell the coals burning at the tailgate parties. The leaves are falling in South Bend and Ann Arbor.

Their meeting Wednesday night, however, will be on 33rd Street in New York, indoors, with the players wearing shorts and sneakers and the 47th National Invitation Tournament title at stake. Then why all the talk about football? "(B) Schembechler and (Gerry) Faust would love to see this game," Notre Dame basketball Coach Digger Phelps said, referring to Michigan's and Notre Dame's football coaches, respectively.

Michigan Coach Bill Frieder seemed especially concerned about the matchup of the sophomore centers, 6-foot-10, 195-pound Roy Tarpley of the Wolverines, and Notre Dame's 6-9, 245-pound Tim Kempton. "I'm concerned about their physical play," Frieder said of the 21-11 Fighting Irish.

"Watching Kempton scares me. You take a skinny kid like Roy Tarpley and he runs into Kempton on a screen and he may not get up. I mean I'm scared. Kempton fouls you and you end up on the floor and you don't make the basket and you usually don't make the free throws."

Faust out the helmets and bark out the footballs.

"It's going to be very tough, very physical inside," Michigan's freshman guard Antoine Joubert said.

The Wolverines' big guys didn't need much help in their 78-75 semifinal victory over Virginia Tech Monday night. Michigan, 22-10, outrebounced the Hokies 41-25 with 6-11 forward Tim McCormick leading the way with 12. He was followed by Tarpley, who led the Wolverines with 23 points, including the clinching free throws with 45 seconds remaining, and 6-7, 230-pound reserve Butch Wade with 11 each.

"Their ability to dominate both boards and their depth are my biggest concerns," Phelps said. "Then you have to worry about the penetration of Eric Turner and when Joubert turns it on he's as good as any freshman guard in the country."

Virginia Tech, 21-13, and Southwestern Louisiana, 23-9, will meet in the consolation game.

first competition. I felt pretty good about it."

Babcock's workout has melted some. His right knee is still in the recuperating stage and his left one also bothers him.

"The biggest pain with both knees is basically vaulting," Babcock explained with a smile. "Landings are OK, but that vault gives me pain. Floor exercise is the second-hardest event for me now."

"My training schedule has constantly changed because of injuries. Like now, I can't tumble everyday or I dismount everyday. So I have to work around that. It doesn't enable me to work out as hard as I want to but I can still work on different things."

AN INJURY CAN sometimes set an athlete back. For many athletes, they never return to their full performance they once had and many find themselves retiring. However, Babcock said he used his injury in an optimistic way.

"Being in a cast and sitting and watching was very motivational for me," Babcock said. "It allowed me the chance to get stronger in other areas such as upper body strength. In Champaign, I was talking with some people who said I wouldn't have gotten as far as I am now, because if I wouldn't have got injured, I wouldn't have gotten a lot stronger. Now I can accomplish more things."

Babcock, 23, was born and raised in Garden City, Kan. He started his gymnastics career at age 14 in the Garden City School of Gymnastics. Babcock was scouted in his junior year of high school by Meade, and he came to SIU-C in 1978. In 1979 and 1980, he won the Illinois Intercollegiate All-Around Championship, and he qualified for the NCAA Championship meet his freshman year. a remarkable achievement.

THE SIU-C RECORDS he holds are in the floor exercise (19.87), pommel horse (9.9), rings (9.85), parallel bars (9.9), high bar (9.85), optional all-around (58.80), compulsory all-around (58.20) and the Olympic all-around score of 116.35. The only record he does not hold at SIU-C is the vault, a 9.9 held by Price.

His favorite event is still the pommel horse.

"I still enjoy pommel horse the most because it's so damn frustrating," Babcock said. "You feel so good when you accomplish something on it."

Babcock will be working out at SIU-C until May, and then he will work out in Los Angeles until the Olympic trials this summer. He knows what needs to be done in the upcoming months.

"I'll need to score in the 116s to make it to the top seven," Babcock said. "I have to get back where I was in the next two months."

BABCOCK IS NOW a member of the eight-man U.S. squad that travels around the world competing against other nations' teams. In those meets, only six gymnasts perform and the top five scores are used in each event.

Babcock said he looks up to Kurt Thomas as his favorite gymnast.

Meade has been a major influence, a motivator, Babcock said, in his gymnastics career. SIU-C trainer Harry Shultz and the training staff at SIU-C helped Babcock himself back into shape after his two knee operations.

After the Olympics, Babcock is still unsure of what he'll do. He knows that he wants to be a gymnastics coach one day. However, he doesn't know if his gymnastics career will be over or not.

IF BABCOCK BECAME a gymnastics coach, his move would be similar to former SIU-C gymnast Fred Orloffsky, who took second in all-around in the 1961, 1962 and 1963 NCAA Championships. Orloffsky coaches the Western Michigan gymnastics team. Meade said Babcock will make a good coach, just as Orloffsky has.

"In watching Brian coach the kids during practice," Meade said, "he's a good technician. He explains things real well and he has a good insight in a lot of the things that are necessary."

But coaching is still in the future for Babcock. For now, he wants to make the U.S. Olympic Team.

White Sox edge Dodgers

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Ron Kittle collected two hits, stole a base and drove in two runs to help the Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday.

The White Sox, 15-9 in exhibition, broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning when Kittle singled home Greg Luzinski from second base. With Bob Welch pitching, Luzinski had walked and moved up a base on Tom Paciorek's infield out.

The Dodgers, 9-12, took a 1-0 lead against starter Floyd Bannister in the third when Greg Brock walked, went to third on Jack Fimple's single and scored on a squeeze bunt by Bill Russell.

Track team to host Indiana

By David Wilhelm
Staff Writer

The competitiveness of the relays and sprints should be enough to interest people Saturday at the SIU-C men's track meet at McAndrew Stadium. The Salukis will be facing Indiana, last year's Big 10 champion.

The Salukis have a 2-0 record in the outdoor season and also performed well at last weekend's nonscoring Paper Tiger Invitational. Meanwhile, the Hoosiers have been competing well. They rely on consistent performers, particularly Sunder Nix.

Nix is Indiana's version of SIU-C's Mike Franks. Nix is ranked No. 1 in the United States in the 400-meter dash, just ahead of Franks. Nix, at No. 2, is also a notch ahead of Franks in the world ranking.

Saluki Coach Lew Hartzog said that Indiana has a "very, very fine" 400-meter relay team. The Hoosier squad of Kevin Martin, Roger Hunter, Steve Turner and Albert Robinson recorded a time of 46.82 in their first outing of the outdoor season. SIU-C was timed at 40.30 last weekend at the Paper Tiger Invitational.

Hartzog realizes the importance of the 400-meter relay race. The winner of the race gets five points, the loser none. "This relay is most important in the outcome of the meet," Hartzog said.

Another close race should be the 1,600-meter relay. The Salukis will counter with the usual lineup of Parry Duncan, Tony Adams, Elvis Forde and Mike Franks against Indiana's Dezi Douglas, Jon Thomas, Hunter, and Nix.

Hartzog said the Salukis should be favored in the 1,600 based on the strength of last week's school-record time of 3:02.71. Indiana is not without talent, though. Douglas took second in the 400-meter hurdles at the NCAA's last year while Hunter is expected to make the Great Britain Olympic team.

The most exciting matchup in the 1,600 could be at the conclusion of the race when Nix and Franks could be neck-and-neck. Nix edged Franks at the World Championship last summer by two-hundredths of a second.

In the 100-meter dash, Franks will be hard-pressed against the Hoosiers' Albert Robinson. Robinson, the Illinois state champion two years ago in the 100- and 200-meters, edged Franks in the event during the indoor season.

The two will match up again in the 200-meter dash. Robinson has recorded a 20.84 during the outdoor season compared to Franks' best of 21.00.

In the final sprint event, the 400-meter dash, the Salukis will be represented by Tony Adams, Elvis Forde and Javell Higgs. Indiana will counter with Nix, Hunter and Douglas.

J.R. Richard given release

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — J.R. Richard, one of the most dominating pitchers in baseball before he was felled by a life-threatening stroke in 1980, has been given his unconditional release by the Houston Astros, board chairman John McMullen announced Tuesday.

Richard had been working out with the Astros as a non-roster player in hopes of regaining the form that allowed him to lead the major leagues with 313 strikeouts in 1979 and to earn a spot on the 1980 National League All-Star team.

"Since 1980, he has had but one personal goal and that was to compete again on the major league level," McMullen said. "Unfortunately, the situation and circumstances have not worked out the way everyone had hoped."

Richard fought control problems early in his career to become one of the most feared pitchers in baseball. He has a 107-71 lifetime record and 3.15 earned run average.

Richard has not pitched in the major leagues since suffering a stroke during a workout in the Astrodom on July 30, 1980.

Richard could not be reached immediately for comment but he told the Houston Post in its Tuesday edition, "If God wants me to stay in baseball, I'll stay in baseball. If not, I'll do something else."

McMullen said he had worked out another career opportunity for Richard but declined to reveal the plan.

Jones: we'll rebound from sluggish 6-8 start

By Daryl Van Scheuwen
Staff Writer

There is no truth to the rumor that Saluki baseball Coach Itchy Jones posted a "help wanted: hitters who can produce runs" sign on his office door.

But Jones, who watched his ballclub drop both ends of a double-header at David Lipscomb Monday to complete a frustrating 1-3 road trip through Tennessee, says the reason the Salukis are off to a sub-par 6-8 start is a lack of RBI through the bottom of his batting order.

"I thought our hitting would be better," Jones said. "If someone told me at the outset of the season that our defense would be as good as it is, I'd have predicted an 8-6 or 9-5 start."

The Salukis are hitting .259 as a team. In contrast, last year's team that went 23-18 batted .304. In Monday's action, SIU-C had 17 hits, but all were singles. SIU-C lost 3-2 and 10-3.

Against the Bisons, the Salukis lost the opener in the bottom of the seventh inning when Phil Dickens led off with a home run off of reliever Rich Koch, breaking a 2-2 tie.

SIU-C had knotted the score after David Lipscomb touched starter Paul Saikia for two runs in the first inning. Terry Jones' RBI single in the third and Steve Finley's run-scoring base hit in the fifth made it 2-2. But Dickens' blast made the comeback academic.

"We didn't generate enough offensive punch," Jones said. "Throughout the weekend, the opposition saw us not hitting and that motivated them."

The Bisons got motivated to the tune of 10 runs in the second game after spotting the Salukis and starting pitcher Lee Meyer a 3-0 lead. SIU-C tallied single runs in each of the first three frames, but David Lipscomb erupted for seven runs in the fifth and three in the sixth to send the visitors reeling back to Carbondale with a 10-3 loss.

Freshman Mark Wooden, called on by Jones to silence the Bison bats in the disastrous fifth, was tagged with the loss. Wooden, effective in the stopper's role until Monday, had control problems and was hit hard. He yielded five runs and four hits in one third of an inning.

Wooden was up and throwing in the bullpen several times that day and Jones said his reliever may have spent himself by the time he entered the game. "We have to keep closer tabs on how many pitches he throws on the sidelines," Jones said.

Despite the Salukis' recent skid, Jones was upbeat Tuesday following a team meeting, in which both the coaching staff and players had opportunities to speak.

"These are good kids," Jones said. "They'll do well. They'll come back."

"For years we've had problems after our spring trip. We always go back on the road right after spring training, so perhaps it's just a letdown."

The Salukis were scheduled to play three games at Abe Martin Field after their 5-5 Florida trip, but those contests were washed out by rain. This weekend, they head to Louisville for three more road games before opening at home April 3 against Evansville. SIU-C should have 17 games played by then.

Jones is looking forward to the upcoming games.

"We'll find out what we're made of," he said. "This is the fun part of athletics, to struggle and bounce back. The intestinal fortitude of our athletes and the way they overcome adversity will be interesting to see."

The most noteworthy Saluki hitters fighting slumps are first baseman Mike Blumhorst (.184), shortstop Jay Burch (.195) and designated hitter-first baseman Greg Severin (.179). Blumhorst hit .310 last year.

Jones, who has tried Jay Hammond (.111) at DH, will use Joe Spiewak there this weekend. Spiewak has three hits in 11 at-bats.

Clark, explosive bats key softballers' sweep

By Dan Devine
Staff Writer

It started with a bang, finished quietly and resulted in a double-header sweep for the SIU-C softball team.

En route to an 11-2 first-game triumph, the Salukis ripped nine hits and scored nine runs in the first inning of a scrimmage game against Lincoln College Monday.

SIU-C won a more subdued second game, 4-0, behind a swift three-hitter by Sunny Clark. "I was real pleased by the way we came out and attacked the ball," said SIU-C Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer; "even if we let up at the end."

SIU-C scored as many runs in the first inning of the first game as they had managed in eight previous games. They roughed up Debby Ruddy, who was once an SIU-C prospect. Brechtelsbauer had scouted her last year to see if she was worth a scholarship offer.

"We didn't have any trouble hitting her," said Brechtelsbauer. "I don't think she moved the ball around too much."

SIU-C was helped in its nine-run first inning by three Lincoln errors, one each by their shortstop, third baseman and second baseman. Tonya Lindsey had two hits, including a triple to dead center field, as the Salukis sent 13 batters to the plate.

Lindsey, hitting .565, had five hits in the two games. Because Lincoln is a junior college, those hits will not be counted in the batting statistics. Neither will SIU-C get two official wins.

Pam Flens had three hits in the first game, three line drives to center field, and had a single and a triple in the nightcap.

Chris Brewer had three hits, including a double, in the first game, and Kathy Richert hit a triple over the left fielder's head. Kelly Neils had three hits and walked once for the day.

All that offense gave Saluki starter Eileen Macioney an easy time. She gave up runs in the second and third inning, and then coasted the rest of the way. "She started out slow," said Brechtelsbauer. "She's still having trouble with her arm in terms of technique. She was more effective at the end."

SIU-C's other starter, Sunny Clark, breezed through the second game, allowing three scattered singles and walking one batter.

"She did what she had to do," said Brechtelsbauer. "She threw well but I've seen her throw better."

Brechtelsbauer juggled her lineup in the second game, starting Susan Jones at second base, Kathy Freske at third base, Deirdra Cage in left field, and Kelly Lehto at catcher.

The Salukis had eight hits and scored in three different innings.

In the first, Lindsey singled, went to second on Freske's ground ball, third on Flens' single, and home on a base hit by designated hitter Cindy Knight. In the second, after Neils walked and Cage reached on an error, Lindsey drove them both in with a single to left field. In the fifth, Flens tripled down the right field line and scored on Eleanor Carr's second ground ball.

Center fielder Flens made several nice plays in the field, and threw out a runner attempting to stretch a single in the seventh inning.

Brown featured speaker at Saluki basketball banquet

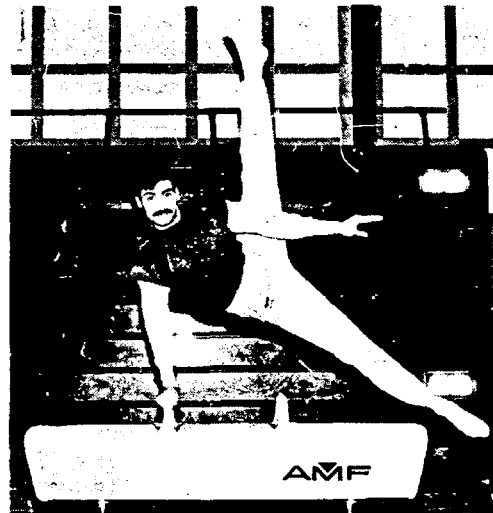

Dale Brown, one of the most successful college basketball coaches in the nation, will be the guest speaker at the annual SIU-C basketball banquet Wednesday.

The head coach at Louisiana State since 1972, Brown's teams have won an average of 22 games a year for the past six seasons. In 1981, Brown took his team to the NCAA's Final Four after the Tigers won a school record 31 games, and went 17-1 in the Southeastern Conference. He earned college basketball's Coach of the Year honors that year.

The banquet, open to the public, is set for 6:30 p.m., with a reception preceding it at 5:30. Tickets are $10 per person and can be purchased at the door or ordered from the Central Ticket Office, 536-3351. The banquet will be held in Ballroom D of the Student Center.

Various awards will be presented to members of the 15-13 men's team.

Babcock fights injuries in Olympic quest

Brian Babcock works out on the pommel horse. Babcock said the horse is his favorite event because it is so challenging.

By George Pappas
Staff Writer

He was the cream of Saluki Coach Bill Meade's 27-year crop. And gymnast Brian Babcock, an assistant coach at SIU-C, hasn't let injuries set him back.

On March 31, he will compete with the U.S.A. National Gymnastics Team against the Republic of China in Honolulu. He is still a top gymnast in the United States, even after suffering injuries in the last three years, two of them serious.

In February of 1982, Babcock, then a senior on the Salukis, tore a ligament in his left knee. He was redshirted that season and he returned in August to finish his senior year with the Salukis. That season, he broke eight of nine SIU-C records, won the Bronco Invitational All-Around Championship and the Huskie Classic All-Around, both prestigious invitational.

LAST SEPTEMBER, he suffered a patella tendon rupture in his right knee, requiring surgery. But, Babcock is back, and according to Meade, he is looking well again.

He performed in Champaign last weekend and scored 55.80 points in his optional all-around routine.

"I was really pleased with Brian's performance in Champaign," Meade said, "because I didn't know how he had come along mentally from his injuries. It looked like he had come along physically OK, but a lot of times when you have a traumatic experience such as his knee surgeries, you have the tendency to favor one leg over the other."

"One thing for sure is that this was a great meet for him in terms of confidence in lieu of his upcoming meet against China."

Babcock scored a 55.60 compulsory all-around which gave him a 111.40 in his compulsory-optional routine. He has scored 116.35, an SIU-C record. A gymnast must score 110 or better to make it to the Championships of the USA.

"FOR THE FIRST time back, I thought I performed relatively well," Babcock said. "Sure, I had my bobbles and my mistakes but looking at it as my
