Bar gets 2-day closure order for link with killing

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Treasury Department recommended on Tuesday sweeping overhaul of the income tax that would finance new rate reductions by eliminating many popular deductions. The Treasury estimated 78 percent of Americans would lose at least one deduction or the same under the plan.

President Reagan said the proposal meets his demand for simplification without being "a tax increase in disguise." He said it would carefully phase in the thick report and public reaction to it before sending his version to Congress early next year.

The proposal was unveiled at a news conference by Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan. "This will go a long way to assure any American that the other person is being taxed on the same basis as he or she is," he said.

The plan would double the $1,000 personal exemptions; increase the standard deduction; slash the maximum individual tax rate (now 52 percent) to 33 percent; limit to $3,000 the writeoff for interest other than a home mortgage, and wipe out the deduction now permitted for state and local income taxes.

The "marriage penalty" deduction of up for $3,000 for two-earner couples would be killed, as would the death taxes for state and local taxes.

Heart patient speaks after surgery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - William J. Schroeder, speaking for the first time since his dying heart was replaced with a plastic pump, asked for a can of beer Tuesday, and his doctor said he might be able to leave the hospital by Christmas.

Dr. William C. DeVries, in his first meeting with reporters since the surgery, said Schroeder's new heart was "working beautifully," although he cautioned that infections or other complications could occur suddenly.

"You live on the edge of a possible disaster like that all the time," he said.

Asked when Schroeder might be able to leave the hospital, DeVries said: "I hope before Christmas, but I think that's very optimistic on my part.

When Schroeder, 52, is released from the Humana Hospital Audubon, he will move into a house in Louisville rather than to his Indiana home 90 miles away, so that doctors can watch his recovery closely.

When the breathing tube that had made it impossible for Schroeder to talk was removed about 6 a.m. Tuesday, DeVries asked whether he wanted anything.

"I'd like a can of beer," he quipped. When it arrived, DeVries gave him ice chips, and Schroeder was later given clear fluids.

Seven die in Israeli air strike

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Israeli jets bombed and strafed Palestinian guerrilla bases in the Syrian-controlled Bekaa Valley on Tuesday and police reported seven people killed and nine wounded in the fiery raid.

It was the first Israeli air strike in Lebanon since Prime Minister Shimon Peres took office in September as head of a coalition government, and the 16th Israeli air raid on Lebanon this year.

The air raid was conducted two days after two Katyusha rockets were fired into northern Israel from across the Lebanese border. The rockets caused no damage or casualties.

A Lebanese police report said five Palestinian guerrillas and two Lebanese civilians were killed in the attack that set buildings on fire. The police said nine Palestinian guerrillas were wounded.

Bassam Adawi, spokesman for guerrilla groups operating in the area, told The Associated Press in Beirut Tuesday that only one guerrilla was killed and four wounded.

Israel, which controls the Bekaa Valley area of Lebanon, said two Israeli F-15 and F-16 attack jets were considered the last one.

Syria, which controls the Bekaa Valley area of Lebanon, said two Israeli F-15 and F-16 attack jets were considered the last one.

A six-day war between Lebanon and Israel ended in June 1982 with the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon. The 10,000 Israeli troops left Lebanon in October and the Lebanese army has since been able to control the south.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said its pilots reported destroying eight guerrilla bunkers held by the Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine, the Palestinian faction of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

It said the guerrilla bases were used as launching pads for attacks on Israel and on Israeli troops in Lebanon. All Israeli planes returned safely to base, the military command said.

Reporters close to the scene said shoulder-fired and truck-mounted SAM-7 and 9A4 missiles were fired by the guerrillas Wednesday evening in response to Israeli bombing and strafing runs, but all were deflected by scarlet flares released by the Israeli jets.

Several guerrillas were killed in the air strike.

Council OKs sign ruling

By Lisa Eisenhauer Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council voted unanimously on Monday not to change the city's sign ordinance despite concerns raised by the legal staff as to whether the ordinance's time restriction on political signs is constitutional.

The legal staff told the council in September that, in light of a federal court decision on a similar sign ordinance in Normal, the city's restrictions on political signs may violate the "free speech" clause of the First Amendment. Carbondale's sign ordinance limits the display of political signs placed on private property to 30 days before and five days afterward.

In striking down a similar ordinance in Normal, a federal district court ruled that placing time and content restrictions on signs on private property violated the property owner's right to freedom of speech.

Though it voted to retain Carbondale's political sign restrictions, the council instructed the legal staff to keep a close watch for further decisions regarding the legality of local sign ordinances.

Councilman Patrick Kelley said Tuesday that he does not think the city's sign ordinance would be struck down if it were challenged in the federal court district that has jurisdiction over Carbondale. Kelley, professor at the SIU Law School, said that in his opinion the ruling against the Normal ordinance was based on a "highly controversial" interpretation of the First Amendment.

"The sign ordinance is a very appropriate one for residential areas," Kelley said.

"It does not in any way attempt to restrict the content of political signs.

Police successfully foil plot on bombing of U.S. Embassy

ROME (AP) — Police said Tuesday they had foiled a plot by seven Lebanese, suspected of being Islamic Holy War terrorists, to blow up the U.S. Embassy with a dynamite-laden truck. Police Chief Marcello Monarca said he believes the suspects are members of Jihad Islami, or Islamic holy war — the shadowy terrorist group that has claimed responsibility for attacks on U.S. targets in the Middle East. Hundreds of Americans have been killed in the at tacks. The police chief told a news conference he had no hard evidence to prove their membership in the terrorist organization, but based his conclusion on documents the arrested men were carrying.

Experts differ over possibility of Congress passing tax plan

CHICAGO (AP) — Three economic experts predicted Tuesday that interest rates would continue to decline next year and that unemployment would be about 7 percent, but they differed about whether a tax-reform plan would pass in Congress in 1986. Walter D.
Fackler, professor of business economics at the University of Chicago, said he didn’t believe tax reform would go anywhere in 1985. But Joel M. Stern, president of Stern, Stewart, Putman &
Macklin Ltd., disagreed, saying he believes tax reform will pass next year. The comments were made before the University of Chicago’s annual forecast luncheon.

Illinois 9th in study of fast-growing companies

CHICAGO (AP) — The entrepreneurial spirit is alive and well in Illinois, which is home to 19 of the nation’s 500 fastest-growing ninth in the nation in the number of fast-rising companies.

California was first, Texas was second, according to the magazine.
Heading the list of booming Illinois companies is J.J. Grundy, an

Authors ask Peoria to lift ban on Blume books

PEORIA (AP) — Eight award-winning authors of children’s books, arguing that book censorship in school teaches “a poor lesson,” have asked Peoria School District 150 to lift its ban on three books by author Judy Blume. In a letter to Associate Superintendent Dennis Gainey, the authors said schools have the responsi-publish and to read — and the freedom to decide what to read.”

Commissioner accused of theft, selling city jobs

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A federal prosecutor said Tuesday that city utility commissioner Paul Bonansinga took kickbacks from a cable supplier, sold city jobs and stole $4,000 in city property, “all for personal gain.” Defense attorney Steve Rosenberg questioned the credibility of a former utility employee who is expected to testify about the type of government witness, and said Bonansinga “is not . . . the type of person who could do the kinds of things he stands accused of . . . .”

Bonansinga, 27, is charged with 24 counts of extortion, racketeering, mail fraud.

Harvesters plans to close Rock Island factory

ROCK ISLAND (AP) — International Harvester Co.’s plans to shutter the factory where its bright red tractors have been made for generations sent shock waves through this large ly urban city along the Mississippi River. “There’s no two ways about it; it hurts,” Mayor James Davis said Tuesday. Three days before, Har-nessean, Inc. of Houston did not include the Farmall plant here, and that the factory will be closed. Local officials said they expect the plant to be phased-out over a period of from nine months to two years.

Law school dean to step down, says he's a faculty member

By Karen Wiltsberger
Staff Writer

A faculty member at heart, Law School Dean Dan Hopson will return to what he loves most — teaching, researching and a little more extra time.

Hopson, the second dean to head SIU-C's 12-year-old School of Law, has announced that he will resign his post effective Aug. 16, 1985 and return to full-time teaching at SIU-C.

"I'm really a faculty member," said Hopson, an expert of family law and the legal rights of children.

Hopson followed the School of Law's first dean, Hiram H. Lesar, who stepped down in 1983 resulting from an unexpected invitation for an interview. He said he took the position because "I thought it might be fun," but moreover because he was determined to improve "a small school with a lot of potential."

And that's exactly what he has done.

The 14-year-old Hopson has led the Law School to the halfway mark to its original goal of building a growing enrollment, which increased from 250 to 329, and a larger faculty, which increased from 18 to 24.

"I think we've done an excellent job in hiring young faculty," Hopson said, "and we still have way too many applicants" despite about a 10 percent nationwide drop in students taking the Law School Admission Test.

Because of a nationwide decline of law students, Hopson said he believes the expansion of the Law School will remain on hold for the next two to three years.

Perhaps a "short-term blip," perhaps the closing of the only boom generation or perhaps the public perception of too many lawyers has caused such a decrease in the number of law students, Hopson said.

"Everybody is on hold."

And for that reason, Hopson says it's a good time for him to step down and let somebody else take over.

But Hopson said he doesn't plan to waste any time after he leaves his administrative post. Calling himself "somewhat of a workaholic," he plans to focus his time aside from teaching on researching and writing articles on family law, especially law pertaining to property division of divorce.

"There's continuous reform in this area," he said, which has primarily developed from a skyrocketing number of middle-upper income divorces.

In the 1970s almost 90 percent of divorces were between poor people, and there was no money or property to divide, he said. But today it's an entirely different situation and continued research needs to go into changing laws which are "unequitable and unfair."

Hopson has also advocated juvenile rights and protection for the last 15 years. Contending that children's rights have come a long way but not far enough, Hopson said he will continue research on juvenile law.

As secretary of the Indiana Juvenile Justice Commission, he spent two and a half years rewriting the state's juvenile code, which was adopted in 1978.

Among his publications are the books "Lawyers and Their Work" with Yale professor Quinton Johnston and "Economics of Indiana" with James H. Grund.

Besides his desire to excel in law and teaching, Hopson said his resigning will mean more time to spend with his wife and three sons.

Reagan to receive budget reduction proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's budget advisers, aiming to reduce the deficit to just over $100 billion in three years, will present him Wednesday with proposals to cut federal spending in 1986 by billions of dollars in "several score items," an administration official said Tuesday.

The high-level budget group was expected to recommend elimination of some unspecified federal programs and cuts in others, including farm programs, civil service retirement, Medicare, veterans health programs and perhaps a "mild tightening of student aid," according to a person who spoke only on the condition that he remain anonymous.

However, these programs are just the tip of the iceberg, according to this official, who said there would be several surprises when the programs are identified in public.

We're talking about several score items here," he said. "Several of them may be small in dollars but the decibel level of noise they can raise..."

Reagan is committed to cutting federal spending no matter how painful that may be, said deputy press secretary Larry Speakes declared.

"We believe that the election was fought and won on the following principles: no tax increases and reducing government spending," he said.

The administration's preparation of the fiscal year 1986 budget that will be submitted to Congress in January has nearly come to a halt as the government awaits Reagan's approval of the recommendations of his budget group.

The group, which has been meeting since mid-November, agreed before Thanksgiving to recommend that the White House set a target of reducing the deficit to roughly $165 billion-$170 billion in 1986 and just over $100 billion in 1988.

Currently, the deficit is projected at $206 billion in 1986.

The group is presenting the deficit targets to Reagan in terms of the gross national product. So he'll be asked to approve a package that cuts the deficit to 4 percent of the GNP in 1986, 5 percent in 1987 and 2 percent in 1988.

Kirkpatrick an asset at the UN

The MAXIM "the more cooks the worse the broth" does not apply to the making of U.S. foreign policy. Too few cooks produce the bland cuisine of the State Department's policy cafeteria. That department has an unreasonably high ratio of interests to ideas and, in any case, the Reagan administration needs to be leavened by Jean Kirkpatrick.

She has served a four-year sentence as ambassador to the United Nations. She would like to pass back through the looking glass, to a more reasonable world and a better office. However, until such an office — secretary of state or national security adviser — becomes vacant, she should stay at the United Nations. Otherwise, she will relinquish her "seat at the table." It is the table where the President, Vice President, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, CIA director, secretaries of state and defense and gloriously — Kirkpatrick deliberate about policy. The fact that she has made, all amidst irrationality in New York is in Kirkpatrick's public life, a life rich in paradoxes.

HERE ARE, two more. She is indispensable to American peace. And although the sentiment is said to tax the patience of Secretary of State Shultz, it is Kirkpatrick's public life, a life rich in paradoxes.

Reagan is no intellectual, but he first insisted on meeting Kirkpatrick because he said that he would hire her. Then he employed her this woman whose intellectual gifts and attainments are of a different kind from those of Dean Acheson and Henry Kissinger. Reagan is an elemental force who is utterly at home in a decorous competition. Nations do not. Kirkpatrick has been surrounded by lawyers.

Kirkpatrick is a precious commodity precisely because she is not like economists, businessmen and lawyers is not suited to diplomacy. Shultz is not. That is why the President's professional vision has been obscured by lawyers.

ECONOMISTS THINK in terms of rational behavior models. But in international relations, cost-benefit analyses often are difficult, and such calculations are rendered irrelevant by animal spirits, the pursuit of fame and ideological fancies. Businessmen live in a world of reason, but superpower adversaries are not so. A capitalist country, where one person's gain can also profit another, is apt to underestimate the extent to which the game of nations is a zero-sum game, where one nation's gain is an adversary's symmetrical loss. Kirkpatrick is a newcomer to the fray. She is n ot like economists, businessmen or lawyers.

The Student Senate will consider a bill calling for the repeal of Undergraduate Student Organization resolutions passed this fall dealing with fee and rate increases at its 7 p.m. meeting Wednesday.

The bill calls for the repeal of three resolutions—one calling for a temporary $14 per semester Student Center Fee increase, one for a $2 per semester Recreation Center Fee increase and one for a $2.72 percent housing rate increase.

"The USO Housing, Tuition and Fees Commission has received pertinent information," Commissioner Steven Rosengarten said, "which, if received earlier, would have been beneficial in making more sound recommendations."

The commission requested information about past proposed and actual budgets on Sept. 19 to see where spending increases occurred and where they were overestimated, Rosengarten said.

The information "was not received until less than 24 hours before the recommendations were to appear before the Board of Trustees" at its Nov. 8 meeting, he said. The information arrived less than three hours before the Student Senate voted on the housing rate increase at its Nov. 7 meeting, he said.

The bill calls for the Housing, Tuition and Fees Commission to examine the information and submit new recommendations to the Senate by the end of fall semester.

British diplomat shot, killed in India

BOMBAY, India (AP) — A senior British diplomat was shot and killed on the way to work Tuesday, and police said they were hunting for two men, perhaps connected with the IRA. But telephone calls claimed responsibility in the name of a radical Muslim organization.

Indian authorities said Percy Merri, an India deputy high commissioner in Bombay, was shot and killed by two white "European-looking" men on foot. Bombay Police Chief Julio Ribeiro said at least three shots were fired as a car in which Norris was being driven slowed at a traffic circle about a quarter of a mile from his office in south Bombay shortly before 8 a.m.

The diplomat was pronounced dead on arrival at Breach Candy Hospital of two bullet wounds—one in the head and one in the heart. Norris had assumed his Bombay post only a month ago. British officials said, and it was to have been his last foreign assignment before retirement in three years. He worked primarily on commercial and immigration matters, officials said.

Ribeiro said police sealed off a police inspector identified only as a police inspector was killed in India.

The Arabic-speaking caller said Norris "worked for Scotland Yard and was connected to the CIA." The caller warned British authorities "to stop their aggressive interventions" but would not elaborate.

The British Embassy in New Delhi refused comment on the report. Similar calls purportedly from the same group claimed responsibility last March for the assassination of another British diplomat in Athens.

Press Association, Britain's domestic news agency, earlier quoted a police inspector identified only as Chewian as saying, "I can't do anything other than guess at the moment. I was the work of the IRA." However, the British High Commission, or embassy, played down any possible link between the assassination and the Irish Republican Army, an IRA offshoot.

BAR: Panel orders closing

In a near unanimous vote Monday, the commission since 1978, 20 have been for underage drinking. Ribeiro said police sealed off the commission's head office.

The liquor commission claimed that the penalty for the Blue Flame should be more consistent with penalties given to other offenders.

"Seven days go beyond the boundaries we have set up," Commissioner Keith Tuxhorn said. "It is not possible to say anything other than guess at the moment. It was the work of the IRA." However, the British High Commission, or embassy, played down any possible link between the assassination and the Irish Republican Army, an IRA offshoot.

A civil suit against Patel was filed by Reichert's father.

Coe shows his mellow side at Arena

By Susan Sarkauskas
Staff Writer

Singer-songwriter David Allan Coe performed a variety of songs at an encore concert Monday night at the Arena.

"writes from his feelings," Coe expressed the pain of his recent divorce with "Just Divorced," a wry song about a car decorated to celebrate a divorce, just like a wedding car. He continued with "Could We Go Back To The Altar," then ripped into the Dixieland jazz-style anthem, "It's Great To Be Single Again," relating the good and bad points about being single.

Coe didn't speak much throughout the concert until he got to the songs about his divorce. The bitterness apparent on his "Just Divorced" album was replaced with humor, as he espoused his belief in polygamy (he claims to have 10 wives) and the futility of vowing never to love someone "again."

One wishes that Coe would have spent more time performing his own material, however. He was at his best when he performed his 1982 hit, "The Ride," and had the audience singing along with the classic "You Never Even Called Me By My Name." If he would have cut out some of the do-wop songs such as "For Your Precious Love," songs that he didn't really perform all that well, and substituted more of his own humorous ballads and other songs, the concert would have been truly memorable.

Musical barbers sought for opera

Auditions for Gioacchino Rossini's light-hearted opera, "The Barber of Seville," to be presented in McLeod Theater next semester, will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday in McLeod Theater.

Those interested in auditioning should bring a prepared piece of music, either from "The Barber of Seville" or in the style of Rossini. An accompanist will be provided.

The opera will be staged Feb. 28 and March 1-3. More information is available from the Theater Department, 533-7374.

A wanderer and an explorer. Those are the words assistant speech communication professor Ward Teigen chooses to describe himself.

That description seems appropriate for a man who has decided to pack his bags and return home to a place where he may not have a job.

"I'm taking an incredible chance leaving like this," Teigen said. "But I'm seeing it as just another adventure in my life."

A typical wardrobe for Teigen might be a gray sweater, a faded pair of blue jeans and a pair of worn-out Hush Puppies - possibly evidence of the traveling he has done.

"I've traveled pretty much all over this country and even a little bit in Canada," he said. "Who knows, maybe someday, I'll make it to some faraway country."

Before coming to SIU-C in August 1982, the bearded professor did his fair share of traveling among college campuses. He received a bachelor's degree from the University of Washington, a master's degree from West Virginia University and a doctorate from the University of Texas in Austin.

During his travels across the country, Teigen said that he made it a point to go out and meet people who were different than he because he can learn more about their cultures by talking with them than from books.

"I cherish that which is different because it is so fascinating," Teigen said. "I've always been motivated by curiosity, trying to figure out what makes people tick."

While Teigen has a desire for traveling and a flare for the unusual, he also expressed his love for teaching. However, within this love, Teigen said he has found an overriding frustration - the student's increasing desire to "earn rather than learn."

"Kids nowadays seem to be hung up on getting a degree and good grades instead of trying to learn something," he said. "I try and tell them to get excited about learning and the grades will take care of themselves."

"I just wish people would measure life by how well they live their lives, not by how much they earn," he said.

Despite the frustration, the rewards of teaching outweigh the frustrations, Teigen said.

"When students come back and say, 'Hey, you had an effect on my life,' that's when you get your rewards," he said. "And that makes it worth it."

Teigen said that he would like to continue teaching, but for now, it is time for his worn-out Hush Puppies to take him home to Seattle, Wash., where he grew up, asking in the mountains and walking along beaches.

"I miss the mountains, the sunsets and the ocean," he said. "I guess when you grow up around those kinds of things they become part of you."

Secretary spared stay in prison

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Rosemary Furman, the secretary whose do-it-yourself legal forms made her a popular Florida Cabinet from serving 30 days in jail for refusing to stop dispensing legal advice without a license.

Graham and the six-member Cabinet, sitting as Florida's clemency board, voted unanimously to excuse Furman, 37, who was scheduled to report to jail Dec. 15. The president of the Florida Bar termed the decision political.

The panel agreed on a voice vote to commute 30 days of Furman's four-month contempt sentence handed down last April 26 by the Florida Supreme Court, which disciplines the state's lawyers.

The court had ordered Furman to report to jail Nov. 15, but she won a 30-day reprieve from Graham while her clemency case was being considered. The court had suspended 90 days of the sentence on the condition that she refuse for two years to give legal advice.

The governor and Cabinet left the suspended 90 days and two-year restriction intact; several Cabinet members said they couldn't support a full pardon.

We've taken the wraps off of our produce

...and uncovered the savings for you!

Pre-Packaging fresh fruits and vegetables costs money, not to mention causing you a lot of inconvenience. There's labor costs to wrap them, the cost of the wrap, and then, of course, the fact that someone else decided which oranges you should buy, and how many.

At Country Fair, we think you should be able to pick and choose the fresh fruits and vegetables you want...and decide for yourself, how many. So you won't find any trays or plastic wraps covering our fruits and vegetables...It just costs you money anyway.

Country Fair...we've taken the wraps off, to uncover the savings for you.

SIU-C students can expect to be picking up the tab for several of the rising costs of education next year if proposed fee increases for the Student Center, Recreation Center and University Housing go through as planned.

Off-campus students could pay $22 more in total fees, while on-campus residents could pay an extra $16. Reasons put forth for the increases range from salary increases to the high cost of utilities, and University officials claim that without the fee increases the present level of services cannot be maintained.

BILL BLEYER, director of the Recreation Center, projected that the Recreation Center budget would call for an $8 fee increase in fiscal year 1986—an increase that he says would probably balance the budget for one year only.

To offset salary and utility costs, the Recreation Center Advisory Board is looking at ways to generate more income and reduce expenditures, including cutting center hours, he said.

"We are hoping that we will be able to generate enough money to compensate so that no increase will be necessary in FY '87," Bleyer said.

Bleyer said the proposed budget for FY '85 is $1.7 million, while state funding for the facility totals $335,000. Outside sources are expected to contribute $170,000 and interest is anticipated at $25,000, leaving $1.1 million for students to provide.

STATE FUNDING for the Student Center is also scarce and may be down to nothing in two or three years, according to Student Center Director John Corker. The center has lost more than $100,000 in state funds project for the past three years, he said.

The $14 Student Center fee increase proposal includes an $10.75 ongoing fee and a one-time expenditure of $3.75 for remodeling the Fourth Floor of the center for WIDB radio station and would allow the center to maintain full hours and service, Corker said.

The $3.75 would later be available for inflation, so that an increase in the next few years might be avoided, he said. A $100,000 utility increase and a 6 percent salary increase are expected next year, a total increase of $4.25 per student with only $3.25 available, Corker said.

CORKER SAID the Student Center lost $69,000—about $1.70 per student—last year and a similar amount this year.

Since 1976, tuition and fees have increased 123.6 percent; student center fees have risen 19.1 percent during the same period of time.

"There is no question that the Student Center fee increase is a sizable one," Corker said. "But it should have been more constant—now we're having to catch up."

UTILITY COSTS are the largest expense in running the Student Center, and an increase in there also means a shortage of funds. The cost of air conditioning from April through October is two to three hundred dollars an hour. While a cutback on building hours would produce sizable savings, it would mean a loss of services, and deciding what to cut can be a problem, Corker said.

"We're dealing with the concept of a total facility that offers lots of services and lots of programs," he said. "Cuts can have a real impact on the total program."

UNLIKE NEGOTIATIONS for Recreation Center and Student Center fee increases, housing fee increases have been the subject of less debate.

An $84 per semester increase will be necessary next fall to maintain the present level of service, said Donald Ballesstro, assistant director of University Housing.

In the past, increases have covered the cost of room and board only, but this year's increase will include funding for special projects, such as the installation of computers in residence halls, Ballesstro said.

Through FY '85, housing will be funded through both tuition and a bond retirement fee instituted in 1979 to help pay for Student Center and University Housing costs.

AFTER 1985, funding will come only from the bond retirement fee, which increased every year until 1984, but is now constant, according to Sam Minella, director of housing.

Researchers working on ice storage technique

By Thomas Mangan
Staff Writer

Two SIU-C researchers are engaged in a technique that could make ice storage a practical alternative to expensive air conditioning systems used to cool residential and commercial buildings.

Traditional air conditioning systems cool the building during the hottest part of the day, when utility rates are the highest. Helmer and Mark Hin, a graduate student in mechanical engineering, are working on a cooling system that would freeze ice at night, storing the cold energy for use the next day.

Changes in power company billing methods have led to similar changes in other cooling methods. "Utility companies didn't always have time of day rates," Helmer says. "The significant difference between night and day has forced companies to look into an alternative cooling system."

Helmer is not the first to recognize the possibilities of ice storage, but he is the first to act. He has designed a system that he calls "Cryts," standing for Cooling, Refrigeration, and Technology System.

Cryts, speaking Monday in the Sgt. C. Othes, delinquency room, said 290 farmers will present proposals from the floor. He said if they are not allowed to picket, they will direct their anger to the floor of the building. He said if they are not allowed to picket, they will direct their anger to the floor of the building.

Saluki center Kenny Perry made an impressive last season in the Missouri Valley Conference as he was chosen as the league's Newcomer of the Year.

But Perry, one of five returning starters from last year's 15-13 team, is more concerned about team goals than individual awards.

"Post-season play is every team's goal, and definitely one of our goals this year is to try to make it to the NCAA's and, if not, we hope to get an NIT bid," said Perry, a 6-11, 219 pound senior from Rockport, Ind.

"Our problem last year was we had a lot of players that never played together before and eight of us were transfers. But now we are five seniors, we know Coach (Allen) Van Winkle's system better and I think it helped me a lot. My wife, Laura, and our daughter, Lindsey, has been supportive of everything I do and really backs me up.

If Kenny Perry (44) can improve his rebounding, the Salukis may be able to gain their first post-season bid since 1977.

Perry averaged 13.4 points per game last year and led the team in scoring, but only averaged 6.6 rebounds and finished second to forward Cleveland Bibbens in rebounding.

Perry had an impressive freshman season, averaging 11.6 points and 5.9 rebounds and was selected to the third-team Freshman All-American Team.

But after having off-season foot surgery, Perry lost his starting position and was switched to power forward and his totals slipped to 5.5 points and 3.2 rebounds.

Perry transferred to SIU-C following his sophomore year and had to redshirt the 1982-83 season. Perry said he selected SIU-C because he knew Assistant Coach Stafford Stephenson well, he felt comfortable with Van Winkle's conditioning philosophies, and it was close to Rockport.

"If anything could improve my game in my senior year, it has to be rebounding," Perry said.

"My scoring and blocked shots are going to come, but I think my rebounding is going to be a key, I think I can improve in that area. I am going to help out the team quite a bit.

Perry was a four-year varsity starter and was a four-time high school All-American. After averaging 24 points per game his senior year, Perry signed with Evansville.

Perry had an impressive freshman season, averaging 11.6 points and 5.9 rebounds and was selected to the third-team Basketball Weekly Freshman All-American Team.

"Any time you have a child, it changes your whole outlook on life and what you want to accomplish," he said. "It really makes you grow up quick and I think it helped me a lot. My wife, Laura, is awfully supportive of everything I do and really backs me up."

Saluki and 15th another intense race. Like the cold too. I want to.

"The course cross country qualified as the finish line. Qualifying as a West Coast All American third time," he said.

The first twenty-five to cross the finish line qualified as the best. Bunyan realized ultimate goal.

Cross country standout Chris Bunyan (302) became a three-time All-American this year.

Bunyan realizes ultimate goal

By Martin Folan

Staff Writer

With only one race remaining — the NCAA Championship in University Park, Pa., Nov. 19 — in his collegiate cross country care., two-time All-American and Saluki Chris Bunyan wanted one more thing: "My ultimate goal was to make All-Americans a third time," he said.

For most of the race, Bunyan ran with the lead group of about 25 runners.

"The pack was constantly changing. I was 10th one minute and 15th another. It was an intense race. You turn the corner, and if you didn't cut the corner right, you could drop those positions," he said.

The race was run at an adequate pace for a championship race and for race conditions, he said.

On a pre-race jog around the course, Bunyan noticed the last three-quarters of a mile were downhill, which set him at a disadvantage, he said.

Saluki Coach Bill Cornell also said the downhill run hurt Bunyan.

"For being 5 feet 4 inches, his leg stride isn't very long, which puts him at a disadvantage," Cornell said.

Bunyan stayed among the top 10 runners throughout most of the race, but couldn't maintain pace near the end.

"They picked up the pace about a mile and-a-half before the finish," Bunyan said. "The front pack of 10 started to kick it in, and that's when it started to string out."

Bunyan lost pace with the front runners, who raced downhill to the finish. East Eyestone of Brigham Young University won the race in 29 minutes, 28.5 seconds. Bunyan finished 21st with a time of 30:16.4.

"He ran a gutsy race," Cornell said. "He gave every ounce he had. Very few make it (All-American) three times."

Although his ultimate goal was achieved, Bunyan said his 21st-place finish was a bit disheartening.

"I cut it close again. My goal was top 10. From personal achievement, it would've been nice to have said, 'I made the top 10.' Not that making All-American isn't a personal achievement," he said, "but there's always somebody coming around the corner that's better and faster than me. To be too complacent would begin the downfall of any athlete."

"That was the best I could've done that day for those conditions," he said. "I'm not going to let it bother me. My collegiate career is over, but it's not going to be my last race."

Bunyan said he is still in full flight training, getting ready to run a half-marathon in Orlando, Fla. on Dec. 8.

Seven Salukis receive mention on All-Valley squad

By Mike Frey
Staff Writer

It wasn't a banner season for SIU football, but a few individual Salukis did gain recognition in the All-Missouri Valley Conference teams released last week.

Split end Tony Anderson was named to the United Press International's first team, and received second-team honors in both. Anderson, although on the first team, led the MVC with eight touchdown receptions among his 37 catches.

A senior from Chicago Julian High School, Anderson was switched from tailback to receiver during spring workouts this season. His seven touchdown catches set an SHC single-season record, and his 11 career touchdown receptions tied a Saluki mark.

BAUGH COMPLETED his third season as the Salukis' starting center. A junior from Riverside, Baugh was called "the heart of our offensive line" by Dorr.

Baugh, a sophomore from Lebanon, Pa., shared playing time with freshman Dave Smith before assuming the starting role at midseason.

Brascia was another Saluki making his way up in the conference. The senior from Las Vegas was a linebacker last year, but was moved to noseguard during spring drills. Brascia led SIU-C in tackles and was the team's sixth-leading tackler overall.

He had 41 solo stops among his 72 tackles.

Field, a sophomore from Berlin Heights, Ohio, led the Salukis in interceptions with three and made 83 tackles, fourth best on the team. Dorr said Field, who completed his first season as a starter, will likely be moved to strong safety next year.

TULSA, which captured its fifth consecutive MVC title, placed nine players on the UPI first team and eight on the AP team. Indiana State also had seven players on each of the first-team units.

Sycamore quarterback Jeff Miller was picked as the top signal caller on both teams. On defense, Illinois State safety Mike Prior was the only repeater on both first teams. Linemen Byron Jones of Tulsa and Willard Golf of West Texas State were named to last season's UPI first team.

THREE SALUKI players were also named to the MVC All-Academic team. They are junior tight end Mike O'Day, sophomore fullback Bruce Phibbs and junior linebacker Rick Speltman.

O'Day, a business administration major, has a 3.50 grade point average. Phibbs has a 3.10 GPA in radio-television while Speltman, a pre-medicine major, has a 3.30 GPA.

Webber High put on probation

BLUFORD (AP) — The Webber Township High School has been placed on a year's probation, and its basketball team's coach suspended for 10 days for violating an Illinois High School Association "open-gym" policy, officials say.

The IHSA has received a letter from Astroth saying that Webber officials must announce the opened-gym policy. The IHSA also failed to announce the open-gym policy, and soon afterward received a letter from Astrath about the violations, Settle said.

As a result, Webber voluntarily suspended Stover "from his coaching duties" from Nov. 10, and the IHSA put the Trojans on probation until December 1985, Settle said. That probation will not affect any post-season play.

The probation does not deprive Webber, which has about 180 students, of any of its privileges as an IHSA member school, Astrath said in a Nov. 12 letter to Webber officials. It is an "official warning" that stricter action will be taken if any more violations occur, Settle said.

Stover, 32, who has been at Webber for 10 years, said he went to school administrators and asked for the suspension in the hope that would satisfy the IHSA. He said he missed nine practices and the team's first game.

Stover also teaches health and physical education at the school and serves as athletic director. He was not suspended from coaching.

The Trojans began play Nov. 16 and are 1-3 so far this season. The team was 15-9 last year, Stover said.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Illinois Coach Mike White, despite statements that he's looking forward to staying at the school at least one more year, may jump to a National Football League job — although not likely with the Buffalo Bills. That is the opinion of San Francisco 49ers Coach Bill Walsh, a close friend and mentor of White, who said Tuesday that he called White last week "to find out what’s going on and to tell him some things I know.

"I think Mike would be headed for the NFL next year," Walsh said. "I don’t think there (Buffalo). But I think it’s logical he would take a job. He should be the most sought-after college coach for an NFL job.

Walsh didn’t say whether White was offered the Buffalo job. He hinted he may have touted White against consider coaching at Buffalo because of possible difficulties with the team’s owner or others associated with the club.

"I wouldn’t discourage him from looking anywhere," Walsh said. "Mike has been in all types of situations. He’s a good guy, a good 10 — whatever opportunity would be, what the ramifications would be.

Asked whether he would warn White off of a "bad NFL job," Walsh said, "Oh sure. I wouldn’t say it’s a bad job. I’d just talk about the atmosphere, the considerations, the expectations of those forces working against him.

White, in his office at Illinois, said that contrary to published reports there had been no contact between him and the Bills.

"Wherever there’s a job opening up everywhere’s naming me," White said. "I’ll call the Bills at headquarters in Orchard Park, N.Y., team owner Ralph C. Wilson said no decision on the job and Bills Coach Kay Stephenson will be made until the end of the season.

"I think White was considering giving it another year," Wilson said. "I would think knowing White, that he’ll say it’s a bad job.

"I think it’s a logical choice," Wilson said. "I don’t think there’s a good percentage for doing anything," Walsh said. "I’ve been in all types of situations. He’s a good guy, a good 10 — whatever opportunity would be, what the ramifications would be.

Walsh says White could leave Illini to take NFL coaching job

MIAMI (AP) - From 15 percent to 60 percent of professional athletes use cocaine and marijuana, according to some estimates, and the overwhelming majority of drug use among the players. Only 2 percent said it was not a problem. The Herald showed 74 percent of players convicted of drug use among the 818 people nationwide by telephone, using random digit dialing, and that 61 percent of those completed the survey, which has a margin of error of plus-or-minus 4 percentage points.

"Athletes are a target group because they have the money. The problem, half the year off," the newspaper quoted National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle as saying.

Rozelle said the NFL hasn’t attempted a survey of the extent of drug use among the players. "I know Strachan, a former Florida State football player convicted of selling cocaine, was quoted by the Herald as estimating that as of two years ago, 60 percent of NFL players were involved with drugs and 40 percent of those completed the survey," Patrick Fanning, the former New York attorney who prosecuted Strachan, estimated current usage while several Illinois residents allegedly received illegal meals and travel expenses.

"He’d do the best job of all the college coaches that are in the game," Walsh said.

St. Curtis Dickey has been charged with battery in Marion County on Monday, and prosecutor said.

Indianapolis already spoken to several interested parties. We are trying to put together a package with that end in mind.”

Indianapolis’ Dickey charged with battery

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indianapolis Colts running back Curtis Dickey has been charged with battery after allegedly beating his estranged wife, a Marion County deputy prosecutor said.

Sheila Dickey was treated at St. Vincent Hospital for a broken ear drum Monday, and saying he has suffered through “the most frustrating, disappointing and disheartening” year of the Saints’ 18 seasons, said pub-ly Monday that he would take $3 million for the team.

In an interview with the New Orleans Times-Picayune, the Saints-Item, Mecom said the price is not negotiable.

"Should a legitimate offer for the club surface, you could color me gone," he said, "I’d love for the team to stay in New Orleans."

Repeated calls to his Houston office for comment on the newspaper report went unreturned. Mecom’s secretary said he was in but could not come to the telephone.

The Saints are the only NFL team which never reached the playoffs, but this season things were expected to get better, possibly even with a winning record. But the record fell to 6-7 Sunday, and the three remaining games appear to shut off the prospect of a winning season.

Mecom said the disappointing record, plus the bleak business picture this year, were behind his putting a price on the team.

Dickey from ‘threatening, harming, molesting and disturbing the peace’ of her residence.

Dickey, the Colts’ leading rusher last year, has been hampered by injuries much of this National Football League season.

Institute of a 25-foot coaching box in college basketball hasn’t caused much of a stir so far, but then again the season is young and St. John’s won’t be playing its first game until Friday night.

Lou Carnesecca, coach of third-ranked St. John’s, is known to be one of the leading wanderers in the nation, not as a referee-baiter, but to project his Redmen.

“Who suggested this, some hockey guy?” Carnesecca said. “They’ll need a rope to hold me back.”

The new rule, the most significant of this season’s rule changes, was written to bring about “bench decorum,” said Edward Steitz, secretary-rules editor of the NCAA men’s basketball rules committee.

“The spirit and intent of the rule is to stop coaches from getting up and bothering officials and going all over the ballpark,” said Steitz, who also is the athletic director at Springfield College in Massachusetts.

“There was a case last year in the playoffs when an assistant coach went bananas. We want to keep coaches from causing altercations and raising hell. Who needs it?”

Steitz warned that the rule, in effect when the ball is in play, will be enforced and anyone who violates the rule will be hit with a two-shot technical foul.

Packer predicted. “The box will be gone by January.”

But Steitz maintained, “We will resist with all my fervor any move to have the box blown out. I don’t think it’s unbelievable or radical.”

The Saluki women's basketball team defeated Evansville in the season home opener at Davies Gymnasium 62-58 and increased its record to 2-1 Tuesday night. The win was the Salukis second over the Lady Aces this season.

By the Associated Press

The fallout from thebeiter war with South Korea continued Tuesday with an unanswered question that were aided by four foul called by the Lady Aces. Evansville Coach Bill Barnett was inured with four foul calls and just over four minutes into the game drew two technical fouls.

The first came after Saluki guard Marialice Jenkins bumped a Lady Aces player. Barnett screamed at the officials after no foul was called, then he stated more of his opinion and was assessed the second technical.

Petra Jackson made both shots looked as if the Salukis would pull beyond reach early. The Lady Aces tried to make a comeback on the strength of their defensive rebounding and guard Barb Dykstra's 16 points, and narrowed the margin to four points with under five minutes remaining in the half.

But the final minutes of the half were dominated by the Salukis, and a one hand tip-in by Ellen O'Brien at the buzzer gave SICU a 38-30 advantage.

The Salukis opened the second half with an explosion of scoring from Jackson and freshman forward Snooks. When Evansville tried to challenge the Salukis with a fast break game, Jackson and Bonds made it backfire it will participate in 1988.

"I don't think it is proper for me to go into specifics of (his negotiations with Soviet sports officials). I can only say there are messages being exchanged and the indications have been positive," he said.

Lee, attending the three-day International Sports Summit at the World Trade Center, said he understood North Korea had its proposal, or "request," at the moment.

"We'll consider it when it is presented to us properly," he said. "If, of course, North Korea indicates that they accept the validity, the legitimacy of the IOC decision to give us the '88 Olympics, then we'll be more favorably predisposed to such a proposal."

Couching his replies to questions in diplomatic terms, Lee, who holds a cabinet-level post in South Korea, said: "We'll consider it when it is presented to us properly." He said the IOC decision to give the '88 Olympics to South Korea indicates it is going to be a "very, very, very complex question because it's not just our question in the IOC, but also the question of the non-concerned country."".

"The IOC must agree because it would be against the IOC charter as it stands now," he said.

Men's basketball coach Allen Van Winkle said Tuesday he would not ask the players in the season that despite returning five starters from last year's 15-13 team, they would have to win back their starting positions for Friday night's home-opener against Missouri-Kansas City.

The Salukis' all-senior starting lineup will consist of guards Roy Birch and Nate Bufford, forwards Cleveland Banks and Van Winkle, and center Kenny Perry.

The top players on the bench will likely be freshman guard Scott Lott, junior forward Don Weiss, and junior Tony Snooks, a forward-center who returned Tuesday after missing 10 days of practice with an eye injury.

"Right now there are the five guys who have earned those spots, barring an injury or a problem," Van Winkle said. "I hope our team can play as well as they can. We have a lot of ability, we need to mix it up.

"Van Winkle said Thursday the team, which jumped to sixth in the Associated Press Top 20, is prepared for the intra-squad scrimmages.

"We have an excellent cast and added 13 redshirt players to lead the team," Van Winkle said. "We had a 75-25 victory over the White team No. 29 at Marion High School. Bufford scored 19 and hit a 94 percent free throw. We're prepared to help the White team in the future.

Van Winkle also said that Weiss played well in both scrimmage and practice. Van Winkle played well at Marion.

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) - Chris Evert Lloyd, edging a major title for the 12th straight year, defeated fellow American Kim Clijsters 6-4, 6-2 Tuesday to advance to the second round of the $1.26 million Australian Open tennis tournament.

The second-seeded Lloyd entered the tournament bidding to extend her record of having won 20 Grand Slam singles titles and 77 Grand Slam tournament every since 1975. She took care of Clijsters in 61 minutes.

The Australian Open is Lloyd's last chance to maintain that record and to thwart Martina Navratilova's bid to win a record seventh consecutive grand slam event. Lloyd's last competitive victory was Navratilova's, the top seed here, was in the 1982 Australian Open final.

Navratilova, bidding for the 10th tournament victory of her career, begins her Australian open campaign Wednesday when she faces South African Yvonne Vermaak.

A victory for Navratilova would satisfy the tennis purists who are accustomed to seeing 64 Grand Slam titles for these (the Seoul Olympic Organizing Committee, IOC and the federations) have a veto.
