Hotel builder may get boot
City to review developer's contract

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

If the developer of Carbondale's proposed downtown hotel-convention center cannot show proof of the financing he says he has obtained, the City Council may take away his right to be the developer, City Manager William Dixon says.

On three occasions, the council extended developer Wallace Palmer's original preliminary memo of intent to construct the hotel-convention center. The current extension expires Wednesday. Dixon will report on the status of the project during the City Council meeting at 7 tonight in the City Council Chambers.

"We have been told we are receiving financing," for the project, Palmer, the president of the Crystal Development Corp., said in a telephone interview Sunday from his office in Boulder, Colo. He also said he is "not at liberty to say" who has agreed to finance the project. If he does not get the financing, Palmer said, he doesn't "think the city will be in a position to grant another extension."

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has informed the city that if Crystal cannot show evidence of financial backing by Wednesday, it will withdraw the remaining $1.3 million of the $2 million Urban Development Action Grant awarded to the city in 1979. HUD awarded the grant to the city for land acquisition and demolition and relocation of buildings on the site chosen for the convention center. In December of 1980, HUD or

Rea plans re-election, leaves options open

By Susan Curtis
Staff Writer

State Rep. Jim Rea announced Sunday that he plans to seek re-election to his present position, but is leaving other options open.

The Christopher Democrat spoke to a crowd of about 300 at a steak house in Christopher.

Rea, 50, who has held the 117th House District seat since 1979, said he has received encouragement to run for a U.S. representative post.

If U.S. Rep. Kenneth Gray, D-Weil, transfered, he said not to run for re-election, Rea has been named as a possible successor.

"No one knows what Gray will do," Rea said.

Rea is chairman of the Select Committee on Economic Development. He is a member of the Human Services, Appropriations 1, Transportation and Motor Vehicles, Agriculture, Aging House Rules committees, and Select Committee on Coal Industry Marketing and Development.

Recently, Rea was the house sponsor of a bill that prohibited police from stopping motorists merely for not wearing a seat belt. James B. Thompson signed the legislation this month.

The original intent was that motorists would not be stopped simply for not wearing a seatbelt, Rea said.

The law had gotten "out of control" and became a source of revenue for some municipalities, he said.

"Now we have the original intent back on track," Rea said. "There will no longer be of bitterness. It's the site of a car accident. Right officer may stop motorists for a possible seat belt violation."

City expected to approve Halloween changes

City Council is expected to approve five changes in the city's Halloween Fair Days regulations tonight.

The council will meet at 7 p.m. in the City Council Chambers. The city's Administrative Committee proposed the changes for this year's Fair Days.

The Fair Days ordinance allows open liquor on South Illinois and Grand avenues during the Oct. 28-31 Halloween festival.

One of the changes shortens the time when beer and wine coolers in glass bottles cannot be sold from seven to three days. Their sale would be prohibited from 2 a.m. on the Thursday before Halloween weekend until 1 p.m. on the Sunday following the weekend.

The new regulations also would prohibit the sale of distilled liquors in glass containers one liter or smaller from 6 p.m. on Oct. 30 to 1 a.m. on Oct. 31 and from 6 p.m. on Oct. 31 to 1 a.m. on Nov. 1.

Another change would prohibit the possession or consumption of any beverage in glass containers on South Illinois and Grand avenues. The current regulations ban only the consumption of beverages in glass containers.

The fourth change in regulations would extend the closing time of food booths from 1 a.m. to 4:30 a.m.

The fifth revision would require any South Illinois Avenue bar, liquor store or restaurant between Walnut Street and Grand Avenue to register with the city clerk's office if it plans to operate a booth on its property during Halloween weekend.

Arabian oil tanker attack
ends Iran’s 10-day hiatus

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — An Iranian gunboat ambushed a Arabian oil tanker Sunday in the Strait of Hormuz, breaking Iran’s 10-day hiatus in attacks on merchant shipping in the Mediterranean. The tanker claimed Sunday 400 Iraqi troops have been killed in three weeks of fighting. At least 600 Iraqi soldiers were captured and at least five tanks and 20 vehicles destroyed in heavy fighting with Kurdish rebels during the past three weeks in northern Iraq, a rebel spokesman said.

Solidarity union members challenge Walesa

CZESTOCHOWA, Poland (UPI) — Militant members of the banned Solidarity union, at a mass attended by 100,000 workers Sunday, challenged their leader Lech Walesa to help create a new strategy against the communist authorities. Prominent dissident Janusz Korwin said “scores of workers” were detained by police after the outdoor mass.

Israel denies arms-for-Jews deal with Iran

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Foreign Minister Shimon Peres firmly denied reports Sunday that Israel was secretly negotiating an arms-for-Jews deal to win the release of members of the Jewish community in Iran. Several newspapers, including the London
Observer, have disclosed details of negotiations reportedly going on between Jerusalem and Tehran. Some Israeli officials said the covert airlift of 15,000 Ethiopian Jews from famine-striken Africa to Israel, dubbed Operation Moses and disclosed in January 1985.

Repairs close Grand Avenue RR crossing

The railroad crossing at Grand Avenue will be closed this week from Tuesday at 7 a.m. until 6:30 a.m. Friday for installation of a rubberized surface.

Although this is a major street linking campus to the Recreation Center and dormitories, no alternate route has been set for traffic, so students driving to class will probably have to leave earlier than usual.

The crossing needs to be replaced because: it is in bad shape, and one of the rails is loose, Ed Reeder, director of Public Works, said.

Reeder said they were trying to hold off until the Great Saluki Tailgate and football games were over, but decided to go ahead with the project because the money became available.

The Illinois Department of Transportation had a used rubberized crossing in stock, so it was given to the city at no cost, Reeder said.

Materials to install the crossing, such as screws and nails, cost less than $3,000, he said.

If the city had contracted for the project, it would have cost about $60,000, Reeder said.

The project is a cooperative effort of the City of Carbondale, IDOT, and the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, he said.

Americana displayed at Apple Festival '87

By Curtis Winston

Apple pies, beauty pageant queens, marching bands, parades, bluegrass music are all part of the Murphysboro Apple Festival, but they are also part of Americana at its best.

Taking the crown from the 1986 Apple Festival Pageant queen, Stacey Rice, was Betsy Edmonds, 25, an SIUC graduate student in piano performance. She represents the best of Americana — nice, big smile and also a talented pianist.

The festival was aided on its big day, Saturday, by the weather's cooperation. A cool morning helped to keep the runners in the 16-Kilometer road run from overheating. However, the race course was crossed by railroad tracks and some runners were blocked when a train went through.

About 15,000 people attended the Grand Parade Saturday morning.

Marion Nash, festival chairman, said, "When you get the weather, you get the people." The parade was covered live by campus television station WSUI and colorful commentary was provided by WSUI-TV celebrity Mrs. Copp, long-time area resident and media personality Virginia Marmaduke.

There were firetrucks, junior high and senior high marching bands, queens, princesses and princes from all over Southern Illinois entered in one of the area's largest parades.

Americana went on display at the high school football field with a high school marching band field competition, with a special exhibition by the U.S. Navy Flying Rifles, who also took part in the parade. They were especially entertaining, dressed in their crisp white uniforms, twirling, throwing and catching their chromed bayonet-rifles.

The day of Americana was completed with performances of bluegrass music, a true American musical form, at the Appletime Stage on the City National Bank parking lot.
School boycotting no fault of system

THE RECENT BOYCOTT by black students of the Carbondale elementary school district brought to light an issue of concern to many people, but the cause of the problem could be found in areas unrelated to race.

From Sept. 21-23, as many as 160 black students boycotted the elementary schools at the urging of "Concerned Citizens," a group desiring to bring public attention on what they say is a glaring absence of black administrators and teachers in Carbondale's school system. However, the gist of the problem might not lie in the issue of racism, but rather the general apathy of the community in filling school board positions.

Last Aug. 15-23 was the filing deadline for school board candidates. There were three openings in Carbondale, but only two people filed during the allotted period, leaving one spot open. Had someone bothered to file, he or she would have in all likelihood been assured victory in the November elections.

IN MOST COMMUNITIES, a school board opening is a coveted, highly sought civic post, one that carries with it a kind of power that "Concerned Citizens" is now fighting for.

As it was, nobody of any race filed for the opening, leaving it to be filled by write-in candidates.

If part of the black community's concern — and it apparently is — involves lack of representation on the school board, why didn't the leaders behind the boycott nominate someone during the deadline period and avoid the boycott and the ugliness of taking children out of school for four days?

There was — and is — nothing racist in Carbondale's school board system. The openings for the November election were there all the time and nobody took advantage of them. Whose fault is that?

It was a commendable move on the part of black leaders to organize themselves and fight for better representation in the school district. However, they are now fighting a system that had provided them every chance to become a part of the decision-making machinery all along.

Quotable Quotes

"It was insensitive to continuously open old wounds when I had been working so hard to heal them." — Jesse Jackson, who asked Jackson if his relations with Jews had improved.

CONCERT REVIEW

I was shocked and horrified upon reading the insane review of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. The awe with which Winston views the warming-up process was that of one who has never with ed such a thing. It was probably not shared by the audience, who, I pray, did not wonder what "they saw on those things like that."

Particularly meaningless were references to Paul Hindemith's Monty Python, as well as such colorful musical descriptions as "boom" and "squash." Mr. Prokofiev would surely be devastated to hear that his symphony is "down trodden." Better to stick to Sonja, who is "upbeat."

It is not surprising that among all of this verbal garbage there is no mention of the quality of the performance — which is what a review is supposed to contain. I suspect Mr. Winston would not be able to tell the difference between performances of the Chicago Symphony and, say, the Dayton, N.J., Philharmonic.

It is rare that we receive such a cultural offering in Carbondale. When this happens I urge The Daily Egyptian to treat the event with the respect it deserves and not react like we believe the president does.

— Paul Asteur, graduate, music.

Plumbers' wages no joke in salary issue

There's an old joke and it goes like this:

When a surgeon discovers a busted pipe in his bathroom one Sunday afternoon, he telephones a plumber, who comes over, fixes the pipe in short order, and presents the surgeon with a bill for $200.

"You were only here an hour," the surgeon objects.

"I'm supposed to pay you $200 an hour," I'm a doctor and I don't get $300 an hour!"

"Well, don't feel bad," the plumber says sympathetically. "I didn't make that much when I was a doctor either."

As an assistant professor who is paid less than $30,000 a year by SIUC, I felt a little like the surgeon in the joke when I read that a secretary was being paid $12,000 a year to help the wives of the president and chancellor arrange their social calendars.

"I'll tell you today, this trouble with book 6 is not cut here in the mainstream of American political thought."

Look, Bill, I'm out of four dollars. Over 200 in Mud's. Still I'd appreciate it.

A LETTER TO THE EDITOR

A writer of books and a teacher of students, I was indulging, it appears, an infatuated opinion of my own worth to the institution. I see now that I was wrong to do so, and I'd like to thank both the president and the chancellor for clarifying the matter of my relative worth. And for not having fired me.

Letters submitted by mail should include the author's address and telephone number. Letters for which verification and authorship cannot be made will not be considered for publication.
Murphy’s adults-only gags lives up to ‘Raw’ reputation

By Richard Nunez

Eddie Murphy’s performance Thursday night at the SU Arena defined ‘Raw,’ the name of his concert tour. Murphy’s humor is so loaded with profanities that it is almost impossible to print his material in a review. He even greeted his would-be critics and reviewers with profane salutations.

The show began about 45 minutes late because of technical problems and may have subtracted from Murphy’s performance time, which was approximately one hour and 25 minutes long. It was short and “for mature audiences only,” the city’s Dixon said.

Murphy’s performance began with clips from his movies and appearances on Saturday Night Live. Murphy then appeared, backlit from behind a slowly rising screen, and the audience cheered wildly.

Murphy’s performance included jokes about his new dog, Michael Jackson, Oprah Winfrey, marriage, sexual relationships and sexual diseases, with emphasis on the latter two.

Murphy compared celibacy to a cracker, saying that if you leave it out for three months that cracker is going to be the best cracker you ever ate. He also joked about AIDS—Murphy said in the “stuff”—saying that to compliment someone on how thin they look is like to make fun of AIDS.

Murphy ended his show with an impersonation of Bill Cosby, who has chastised Murphy for his use of profanity. Murphy’s imitation of Cosby, tame compared to the rest of his show, was his strongest material and leaves one wondering why he could not use more like it.

Murphy’s performance was aided by two giant video screens that provided close-ups of Murphy. The only drawback to this was that one-screen audiences were not as entertained.

Opening for Murphy were comedians Paul Mooney and Christopher Moore, warmed up the crowd with jokes about Oprah Winfrey, Michael Jackson, Nell Carter, Barbara Walters and relations between whites and blacks.

“I did my job,” Mooney said at the end of his performance. “My friends are outside right now stealing your cars.”

But Mooney’s job was not over. A heckler did not appreciate Mooney’s jokes about race relations and Mooney felt obliged to chastise him.

Christopher danced to Jackson Five music with our five-size dob attached to his body so that their movements would be in perfect synchronization with each other.

Edude Murphy walks onto the Arena stage Thursday night.

Group for litter-free Carbondale sponsors contest to create logo

By Deedra Lawhead

In the city or in the woods help keep Carbondale lookin’ good. Carbondale Clean and Green Inc. in cooperation with corporate forced to keep Carbondale lookin’-good is sponsoring a logo contest that began today.

A $100 savings bond goes to the winner who designs the logo for Carbondale Clean and Green, which was certified July 20 by the city, to use as its logo. Applications are available free, for publicity, Jeanne Foster, program coordinator for the corporation, said.

“When people see the symbol, we want them to think of the meeting, she said. Applications are available.

The City Council helped the corporation get a $14,000 Illinois Clean and Beautiful grant from the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

Clean and Green must raise funds to match the amount of the grant. It plans to raise $15,000, Foster said.

The University, city and businesses and corporations have already contributed to the corporation.

To beautify Carbondale, Clean and Green plans to do some planting in the downtown area in the spring, and it also plans to work with students and community groups in organizing a citywide clean-up day in the spring, Foster said.

Arthritis Foundation holds contest seeking best local photographers

The Arthritis Foundation is asking local photographers to give their best shot to the 1987 photography contest.

A first prize of $300, a second prize of $200, and a third prize of $100 will be awarded.

Photographs submitted will be used by the Arthritis Foundation in its national and local publications and publicize its work to help people with arthritis. Each time a photo is used, the photographer will be given credit.

Photos can be submitted in a variety of categories including:

- Research. Not necessarily of arthritis research, but photos should depict a laboratory-type situation which suggests research.
- Health professionals. Can be depicted in their particular work setting or interacting with patients.
- Inspirations. Photos in this category should convey messages of hope and positive attitudes toward life.
- Everyday activities. Photos should show children or adults either observing or participating in everyday activities.
- Families. Photos should depict members of a family working or playing together.

For entry forms or details, write to: Arthritis Foundation, photo contest, 1314 Spring St. NW, Atlanta, Ga. 30309. Deadline for submission is Dec. 31.

The Arthritis Foundation, with headquarters in Atlanta, has 12 chapters and divisions nationwide.
Fellini, Bresson highlight International Film Series

Works by acclaimed film directors Federico Fellini and Robert Bresson complement this fall's International Film Series lineup.

Scheduled are "Hour of the Star" and "Black Orpheus" from Brazil; "Une Femme Douce," "L'Argent" and "Ginger and Fred," from France; and "The Invitation," from Switzerland.

The six films, all with English subtitles, are co-sponsored by the University Honors Program and the Student Programming Council.

The films are open to the public and will be shown in the Student Center Auditorium. Admission is $2.

The first in the lineup, "Hour of the Star," will be shown at 5, 7 and 9 tonight. This feature film won all 12 major film awards at the Brazilian Film Festival.

Bresson's "Une Femme Douce" will be shown at 5, 7 and 9 p.m. Oct. 4 and 5. "Black Orpheus" will be shown Oct. 18 and 19.

"Tr. Invitation" is a Cannes Film Festival award winner and will be shown 5, 7, and 9 p.m. Oct. 25 and 26.

The series wraps up with Fellini's "Ginger and Fred," which will be shown at 4:30, 7 and 9:30 p.m. Nov. 1 and 2.

Surplus food to be distributed

Distribution of USDA Surplus Commodity Food for Jackson County will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today at the Eumira C. Hayes Center's auditorium, 441 E. Willow.

Carbondale's Community Development Department directs the distribution within the city and coordinates distribution to townships in Jackson County.

Eligibility for commodities is based solely on the income of the individual requesting commodities, not on the fact that one is a senior citizen, shut-in or a recipient of unemployment benefits.

Every eligible person who wishes to receive commodities and is physically able should attend the mass distribution. However, there will be home deliveries for bona fide shut-ins starting immediately after the mass distribution.

Before you choose a long distance service, take a close look.

You may be thinking about choosing one of the newer carriers over AT&T in order to save money. Think again.

Since January 1987, AT&T's rates have dropped more than 15% for direct-dialed out-of-state calls. So they're lower than you probably realize. For information on specific rates, you can call us at 1-800-222-0500.

And AT&T offers clear long distance connections, operator assistance, 24-hour customer service, and immediate credit for wrong numbers. Plus, you can use AT&T to call from anywhere to anywhere, all over the United States and to over 250 countries. You might be surprised at how good a value AT&T really is. So before you choose a long distance company, pick up the phone.

RISKY BUSINESS.
When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college. They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I’m earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard.

They’re the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They’re also an important part of our country’s military defense.

So, since I’m helping them do such an important job, they’re helping me make it through school.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. Then, under the New GI Bill, I’m getting another $5,000 for tuition and books.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They’ll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I’m in the Guard.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back—up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time. And that’s a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.

THE GUARD CAN HELP PUT YOU THROUGH COLLEGE, TOO. SEE YOUR LOCAL RECRUITER FOR DETAILS, CALL TOLL-FREE 800-638-7600,* OR MAIL THIS COUPON.

smuffed out any threat of a sustained offense as they manhandled the Governors' offenses throughout the game.

Although he had a great game, Carpenter refrained from taking all the credit.

"The offense was in front of us. Our defensive line backs were making the running backs look good," Carpenter said.

Crouse, normally a defensive end, lined up at middle linebacker.

"I was jacked up. It was nighttime, there were lights and it was cool. I was ready to play," Crouse said.

Crouse said he knew it was going to be a good game after the first play.

"When the guard pulled and the offensive tackle came down to get him and made the play," Crouse said.

Cruce then ran out when that big 270-pound S-O-B came down on me, I crushed him," Crouse said.

Moore, competing in the 15- and 16-year-old age group, snared firsts with 46.25 and 50.21 times, respectively.

Female Saluki Swim Club members Silva, Shin and Maridee Higen, in the 15- and 14-year bracket, finished with scores of 46.59 and 48.52.

The oldest person to compete, 46-year-old John Taylor of Carbondale, finished the 2-mile course in 1:34.43.

The sanctioned meet consisted of three divisions that included the United States Masters Swimmers set up for individuals 19 years and older, the USSA association set up for young swimmers and the open division, which consists of college-age swimmers. Each category judges winners based on age brackets.

Aside from a few minor scratches received from stumps in the water, participants enjoyed the fierce competition which combined with excellent weather and perfect water conditions for a Southern Illinois day without equal.

Of 71 athletes signed up, 64 actually swam and each swim at least 2 miles. Fifty-eight swimmers finished the course at the distance they had entered and two others were pulled out at the end of the four-hour time limit.

One of those pulled out after 4 hours was Kim Harrbert, who, with Howard LaFontaine, came from Toledo, Ohio to participate. Harrbert, a veteran of a few 4-mile meets this summer, made it to the 3-mile mark before time ran out. His skin blue from the length of time spent in the water, Harrbert said "I wanted to quit so many times I couldn't even count."

Water temperatures ranged around 74-75 degrees and meet director Clay Kolar said it couldn't have been better.

"This type of event consists of a challenge or set for yourself," Kolar said after the meet. "No one today really competed against each other except for a handful of the top swimmers." For most swimmers, he said, the comradeship and support of swimmers as they collectively strove to meet personal goals was the highlight.

Kolar said he didn't want to speculate on what the next event would occur, but many participants could be heard talking about "next year."

Upshaw says players strike won't be a temporary one

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NFL Players Association Sunday prepared for a strike that union leader Gene Upshaw said could wipe out the rest of the season.

"Today is a day when everyone is sort of getting prepared for the ultimate oul! and that's a strike," Upshaw, the union's executive director, told United Press International.

"We have to be willing to stay out. And the players understand that when you walk out, you're walking out for the season. I don't want anyone to think that's it's going to be a week, a day, two weeks or eight weeks. It's for the duration and they know that."

The union has called for a Tuesday work stoppage for some 1,600 NFL players. No contract talks are planned.

Upshaw claims those who cross a picket line to play would be paid only after each game involving scab players. The owners of the 28 teams voted to field teams during a strike made up of free agents and dissident players, but delayed the resumption of play until Oct.

"They canceled the first week's games anyway. The first week's for free and then the second week's for free, too, if they can't schedule games and get enough players," Upshaw said. "I don't think they have them."

Said NFL Management Council spokesmen John Jones: "Players who aren't on strike are going to get paid. We've said that all along." Jones did not deny that paychecks will be based on game pay.

Upshaw also released a document that the Management Council has circulated to most of the NFL teams urging players to ask the union leadership to "stop the clock on the strike deadline and continue negotiations."

The document said the "clubs are willing" to expand the roster back to 40 players, increase minimum salaries, playoff pay, meal money and life insurance benefits, as well as "implement further liberalization in the restrictive free agency system."

Upshaw dismissed the proposals as vague promises to scab players into not striking.

"It was just an attempt to go around us," he said. "This document is not worth the paper it's written on unless there's contract language to go along with it."

Union officials Sunday completed picket signs with such slogans as "To NFL owners: negotiate, don't procrastinate" and "On strike to honor a commitment, NFL players past, present and future."

Upshaw said he has no plans to talk to Jack Donlan, the executive director of the Management Council and the league's chief negotiator, before Tuesday's strike date.

Donlan Saturday said the union's demand for unrestricted free agency for players with at least four seasons in the league is the only stumbling block for an agreement.

"My position is pretty obvious — I'm not going to take it off the table," Upshaw said. "They want to make it one issue negotiations, or they want us to move (on free agency) and make it a no issue negotiations."

Five months of negotiations have failed to yield an agreement on a three-year collective bargaining agreement to replace the five-year pact that expired Aug. 31.

Upshaw Friday rejected Donlan's request for a 30-day strike delay. He said such a delay would mean NFL owners would receive their $30 million installment in the television networks' three-year $1.42 billion deal.

"If they're able to get to that payment, they will never, ever settle this," he said.

Gridders beat Peay

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. — A chance to pull off a game-winning drive with the clock winding down to give SIU-C its first win of the season.The Salukis beat Austin Peay Slate 10-3 Saturday night in a defensive battle, bringing their record to 1-2.

Byron Mitchell ran for a 16-yard touchdown with 1:20 left in the game culminating a 73-yard drive. Quarterback Fred Gibson kept the drive alive with two key third-down passes.

"The guy (Gibson) found a way to win the game," coach Ray Derr said. "I like to think you can coach that, but you don't coach that. The guy either has it or he doesn't. Fred Gibson's a winner. I don't think there's any doubt about it.

Gibson was given time to throw by the offensive line and the running backs, who picked up APSU's blitzes.

It was defense that kept the Salukis in the game. Consistently put pressure on APSU quarterback Sammy Gholston, sacking him six times for a total loss of 27 yards. Gholston, starting in place of injured Dale Edwards, was almost the entire APSU offense. He rushed 21 times for only 18 yards. He attempted 13 passes, completing six for 78 yards.

APSU's Mike Lewis, a 1,000-yard rusher last season, gained only 12 yards in nine attempts. APSU's leading rusher, Anthony Simmons, gained only 25 yards.

"The defensive front did a great job," Derr said.

The defense, led by Mike Carbonaro, Brad Crouse and Ezzel Shelton, had Gholston running for his life.

"Someone on our team had to make some big plays," Derr said. "Someone had to come to the rescue. I think the defensive side of the football team came to the rescue and made big plays. I thought our defensive secondary played a lot better.

The Salukis jumped out to a 3-1 lead, scoring on their first possession after 2-yard Hurdel intercepted a Gholston pass at the APSU 47-yard line. Wesley Yates caught three passes during the driving, including one for 25 yards on a third and-11 situation. SIU-C had to settle for a John Brda 18-yard field goal after Mitchell was stopped at the two-yard line on a third-and-one situation.

APSU came right back on their next possession and drove to the Saluki 11-yard line. APSU Coach Emory Hale decided to go for the first down with one third to go. Simmons was met by a swarm of Salukis for a loss.

Senior Vivian Sinou finished first and junior Lisa Judjuck finished fourth in a star-studded field to lead the SIU-C women's cross country team to a fifth-place finish Saturday at the Midwest Invitation at Parkside, Wis.

SiouxCity Wisconsin All-American Suzy Favor won the 4,400-meter race at a time of 17:32. Favor's time was 17:49. "It's like David beating Goliath," coach Don DeNoo said of Sinou's victory.

DeNoo said Sinou and Favor are "certainly two of the best in the country.

Wichita's Kim Kaush, the top high school distance runner in the nation last year, was third in 17:51 and Judjuck, fourth in 18:12.

"We ran as a substitute race," DeNoo said of Judjuck, adding that she probably beat five or six All-Americans in the race.

Other Saluki finishers were Danielle Sciano in 7th place with 19:55, Cathy Brown in 7th place with 19:57, Jane Schumacher in 5th place with 19:39, Amber Wenoch in 3rd place with 20:02 and Michelle Sciano in 9th place with 20:22.

DeNoo was pleased with the performances of his runners but agreed "we saw some solid improvement."

A perennial national power, Nebraska won the meet with 30 points, Hilldale College, last year's NAIA cross country champion, was second with 130 points. Illinois placed third with 178 points, Wisconsin-Milwaukee was fourth with 191 points and SIU-C and Detroit tied for fifth place with 205 points. SIU-C placed first among six Gateway Conference teams in the meet.

Grassy runners and a total of 250 runners finished the Salukis have next weekend off and play host to the Saluki Invitational on Oct. 3.

Salukis lead the way at Masters lake swim

By Greg Hu!

If results from the Saluki Masters swim club's swimming competition at Little Grassy Lake Saturday are any indication, this year's Saluki swimmers should dominate the open division.

Though SIU-C's meet wasn't until November, a surprisingly strong field of Saluki swimmers, both men and women, turned out to dominate open division competition.

"That's a true competitor — he's one; he's like everybody, he comes in dripping blood," said one onlooker of Gadoanidu, who barked his shin on a submerged tree stump during the swim.

The women's division of the 2-mile, Saluki Lori Rea topped the women's open with 1:05:19, but was edged out for the women's best time by 14-year-old Katharine Veeary, who charted a time of 1:05:12.

A Tennessee native, Veeary is a member of the Memphis Racers team and competes in the United States Aquatic Association.

Saluki Masters swimmer Dr. Mary Pohmahn placed first in the 50-yard freestyle, followed by teammates Bruce Bronschmidt with 1:04.2 and Alex Yoshch with 1:04.3.

In the men's 2.5-mile open division, Saluki Scott Roberts took first in 29 minutes, 25 seconds, followed by teammates Bruce Bronschmidt with 1:04.2 and Alex Yoshch with 1:04.3.

The men's 2-mile open division was dominated by the Salukis, with Kathie Wire winning first in 2:01, followed by Jacki TacaJard and Suilla Miller, who both finished in 2:02.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. — The Saluki defense, armed with an array of daggers, razors, studs and eagles, played their best game against Austin Peay Saturday night.

The Salukis defeated Austin Peay 10-7 for their first win of the season.

"We didn't know what they were going to do, but they felt. We felt out period we knew what they were going to run. It came to be the fact that we ran better at defense than Austin Peay their people in here, said coach Rod Sheriff.

"They made a lot of fat-daddy happy," Sheriff said.
