Thurber Carnival Starts At 8 Tonight in Wham

Series of Sketches to Run Through Sunday

"A Thurber Carnival" opens at 8 p.m. today in the Davis Auditorium of the Wham Education Building. The humorous production will run through Sunday.

Presented by the Interpreter's Theatre, "A Thurber Carnival" is a series of sketches from the well known fables of cartoonist-humorist James Thurber.

Included in the 18 scenes will be such fables as "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," "A Couple of Hamburgers,"

"Macbeth Murder Mystery," "World War XII," "Mr. Prebble Gets Rid of his Wife," "If Grant Had Been Drinking at Appomattox," "File and Forget" and "The Little Girl and the Wolf."

Gary Shriver, a graduate student in the Speech Department, is directing the show in which all characters will appear wearing black and white clothes with an occasional dash of burnt orange, to resemble comic strip characters.

Members of the cast include Ken Blumenthal, Max Gohlighly, Vance Fulkerson, Dave Mabry, Flint Mickelberg, Steve Stephenson, Howard Streifford, Wallace Sterling, William Varecka, Jay Grabbe, Barbara Bennett, Jeanette Dothager, Joanna Hogan, Marilyn Kolb, Linda Martin, Mary Lou Randles, April Smith and Merle Ann Stahlberg.

The show will be given at 8 p.m. today, Saturday and Sunday. Tickets are sold at the University Center information desk.

Working on the production staff are Marion Kleinau, sponsor and director of oral interpretation; Jay Grabbe, associate director; Sharon Hooker, assistant director; Priscilla Henshaw, script; Flint Mickelberg, Jerry Lafayette and Al Smith, sound; Ken Blumenthal, Fred Hughes, Jon Hull, lighting; Judy Kosted and Pat Gould, properties; and Leroy Miles, set construction.

SIU Will Send 5 to Model UN

Five SIU students will attend the Midwest Model United Nations Assembly as representatives of Morocco, it has been announced.

Members of the SIU delegation will be William Tranquilli of Springfield, Tod Cornell of Carbondale, Donna Day of Colorado and Norma Blackwell of Metropolis.

The assembly is slated for March 18-21 at the Chase Park Plaza in St. Louis.

Highlighting the third annual assembly will be speeches by Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs and Alex Quaison-Sackey, head delegate from Ghana. Schools throughout the Midwest will be represented. Each delegation will include five delegates and one faculty faculty adviser.

Alternates for the SIU group are Mario Reda of Chicago, Sami Zalatinof of Jordan and James Standard of Lockport.

'Saluki Gram' Booth Set Up

The pledges of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, have set up a booth in the University Center to solicit names for a gigantic telegram.

The message will be one of support, sent to the Saluki basketball team next Monday. The team closes out its home season against Kentucky Wesleyan in Carbondale Community High School gymnasium.

The fraternity said the cost of the telegram would be defrayed by collecting 10 cents from each person whose name will be signed.

'Ugly' Polls Open Until 5; Winner Named Tonight

Who's the ugliest man on campus? Is it Donald Edson of the Round House or Jack Schiltz of Warren Hall or Larry McDonald of Abbott Hall?

Students are still voting for the candidate of their choice and the winner will be announced tonight at the dance in the University Center Roman Room.

Votes cost a penny apiece. The funds will go to either CARE or the Cancer Drive, according to the winner's preference.

Polling places have been set up in the University Center, Lentz Hall and the VTI Student Union and are open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Edson is sponsored by Kellogg Hall, Schiltz by Bowyer Hall and McDonald by Baldwin Hall.

Alpha Phi Omega, SIU service fraternity, holds the contest each year.

Tax Cut Proposal In Students Favor

Student workers who are hoping for passage of the tax cut bill can be comforted by the prospect of the law taking immediate effect on their paychecks.

According to Gene Turner, director of personnel, if the bill becomes a law, the new withholding tax rate will go into effect on SIU paychecks as soon as possible.

THURBER PEOPLE—A rehearsal for "The Thurber Carnival", which opens tonight, was not unlike this sketch of Thurber People by Thurber himself. The performance by the Interpreter's Theatre is adapted from a script originally produced on Broadway featuring Peggy Cass and Paul Ford.

'Ka' Editor Micki Goldfeather Chosen Student of the Week

An SIU senior who is both majoring in English and editing "Ka" has been selected as the Student of the Week.

Micki Goldfeather, 23, of 717 S. Illinois Ave. is also minoring in both psychology and theater.

She holds the positions of the Liberal Arts and Science Student Council senator, president of the English Club and chairman of the Students' Rights Committee.

She also serves on the deans' committee and the election commission. Last summer, Micki was SIU's delegate to the National Leadership Training Laboratories conducted in Bethel, Me., by the National Education Association.

Since she began school at Southern, Miss Goldfeather has received several LA & S tuition awards and was nominated for both the Thelma Louise Kellogg Memorial Scholarship and the Woodrow Wilson fellowship.

Activities in which she has participated include Fall leadership Camp, New Student Week leader, International Night committee and a member of several Southern Playhouse productions.

Micki is the daughter of Mrs. Henrietta M. Platt, 6300 Foothill Rd. She is 23, a senior, and majors in English and minors in psychology and theater, with ambitions to become a college English instructor.

Lack of Interest Blamed in PBK Rejection

SIU has been denied permission to initiate a Phi Beta Kappa chapter on campus primarily due to the lack of student interest, Henry D. Piper, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, said yesterday.

"Whether or not SIU gets accreditation by the national Phi Beta Kappa Society depends primarily on how much our undergraduate students really want it," he said. One member of a two-man investigating team which recently visited the SIU campus said, "We were distinctly troubled when only three or four students turned up for President Morris's coffee hour which was intended to give us a chance to explore student opinion of Phi Beta Kappa and what it stands for."

A weak honors program on the departmental level and the relatively small number of nationally competitive fellowships for graduate study were cited as the other major reasons for denying Southern's application.

Dean Piper noted that "there is only so much money in the SIU budget and the administration is doing all that it can to support those things that the students feel are most essential. If Carbondale students really want more money spent on improving the quality of undergraduate education and in providing honors programs for the more talented students, then we can spend it in that way."

Dean Piper puts the responsibility on the students. They must decide whether or not to have Phi Beta Kappa on campus.

"But," Dean Piper pointed out, "we are doing an injustice to our more gifted students if we do not move ahead as fast as possible in our efforts to win Phi Beta Kappa approval."

City Asks Truckers to Avoid Parking at Student Foundation

Requests from the Rev. Malcolm Gillespie, director of the Student Christian Foundation and the PTA of Winkler School, prompted action in the Carbondale City Council meeting Tuesday.

In a letter to Mayor D. Blaney Miller, Gillispie said that trucks block traffic and are a sight hazard to pedestrians attempting to cross the street in front of the Foundation.

Action on his request for help from the Council was taken in the form of a letter that is to be sent to all the trucking firms that deliver goods to the Carbondale merchants.

The letter asks that the truckers park in alleys adjacent to the business when at all possible. This would alleviate some of the traffic congestion and the pedestrian problem that is caused by delivery trucks parking on the streets.

Another request, made by the PTA of the Winkler school on Freeman Street, asked that the city help in remedying the traffic problem around Winkler. The request listed several measures that would make Freeman Street safer for children coming from and going to school.

The Council referred the request to Virgil Barringer, street commissioner, for study and recommendation.

Students Liable

For Income Tax

Jay G. Philpott, district director of the Internal Revenue Service, has sent a reminder to students that they are not privileged characters—especially when it comes to income tax.

Philpott reminds students that they are liable for federal income tax just like any other taxpayer. Even though a student may be listed as a dependent on his parent's return, he will have to file a return if his income was more than $600.

Philpott said many students think they are exempt from income tax and have been disappointed when only part of their withholding tax was refunded.

Off Campus Area

Sets Square Dance

One of the highlights of the weekend's off campus activities will be a square dance at 8 p.m. today at the Church of the Good Shepherd on Orchard Drive.

SENSATIONALISM BE DAMNED... HERE'S THE TRUTH ABOUT "THE MARK"

Because "THE MARK" deals with themes that are, to say the least, touchy, we were a little reluctant to discuss it frankly. We were more than hesitant to tell the story in our advertisements for fear of being accused of "sensationalism." And so we thought in vague general terms about the picture and its high quality. Now, sensationalism be damned, we want to be truthful and fair to this very uncommon film. What's it about? In five words, it's about a victim of sexual deviation. You follow him through psychiatry through group therapy, through his tenuous meetings with women—and finally the one woman who takes him across the threshold—into manhood. The words are blunt and dramatic. And they're words you don't have to be a psychiatrist to understand. At the expense of a blush, or even a moment's discomfort, why don't you make an appointment with "THE MARK"?

Journalism Week to Launch SIU Hall of Fame for Editors

A Hall of Fame will be inaugurated during Journalism Week April 13-18 at SIU when a group of newspaper editors will be honored for long and distinguished service in journalism in southern Illinois.

Howard R. Long, chairman of the department of journalism, said that starting this year the department will present the EM Award (Master Editors) at the spring meeting of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association on the Carbondale campus. Master Editors, who will receive a badge and citation, will enter the Hall of Fame.

This practice will be continued each spring the editors meet, Long said.

Names of editors who will be honored in April have not been revealed.

Journalism Week will begin with the Pan-American Festival April 13-14, at which experts will give background information on Latin America to educators and writers. Tuesday evening (April 14) at a Pan American Awards dinner, the SIU Latin American Institute will present two medals, one to an outstanding Latin American journalist or news medium, the other to an outstanding journalist or news medium of the United States, for service in journalism contributing to Pan-American understanding. The Institute will continue the medal presentations at ensuing annual festivals.

Tuesday afternoon Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism fraternity, will conduct a workshop devoted to magazine writing and editing, then hold a reception during the afternoon honoring Don Hesse of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, whose travelling display of cartoons will be shown for the first time. Hesse will be present at the exhibit, to be in the University Center.

Wednesday, Advertising Day, a number of the top men in the advertising field will tell how U.S. companies advertise in Latin America. Alpha Delta Sigma, professional advertising fraternity, will present a program that evening.

News Day is Thursday, with the annual Lovejoy Lecture scheduled for both morning and afternoon before student convocations. Last year's speaker was Richard Amberg, publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The speaker this year has not been announced. Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, will hold a reception for alumni and visiting news men during the day.

A journalism dinner with the Southern Illinois Editorial Association will be held Thursday night, at which time the EM Awards will be given. Friday will be SIEA Day. Activities will start with a President's Breakfast, at which SIU President Delyte W. Morris will be host.

Saturday will be High School Journalism Day with between 400 and 500 high school students and faculty members on the campus for a program to be presented by the St. Louis professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

LINCOLN LOAN - Mrs. Bill Miller, secretary at Morris Library, displays a furniture relic made by Abe Lincoln's father, Thomas. The Cherry Chest was loaned to the library by Philip Sang, to be placed in the American Heritage room.

Library to Depict 19th Century In 'American Heritage Room'

The newest room on campus soon will look the oldest. An "American Heritage Room," decorated and furnished in typical 19th century decor, should be opened this summer. It is being constructed on the third floor of Morris Library.

Housed in this room will be antiques such as a chest of drawers built by Thomas Lincoln, father of Abraham Lincoln, and pieces of furniture used by various national officials. Also, furnishings used during the early days of SIU will be on display.

Documents and manuscripts acquired through gifts will be arranged in this room, says Ralph McCoy, director of libraries.

Thirteen American primitive paintings will be exhibited on the walls, along with a contemporary portrait of Abraham Lincoln.

An estimated 1,500 books on Lincoln now set up in the Lincoln book collection in the Social Studies section of the library will be housed in the American Heritage Room.

McCoy said staff members have been securing furniture for the new room, but some pieces are yet to be obtained. Oriental rugs, which were popular during the 19th century, will be used if enough can be acquired, McCoy said.

Wallpaper, drapes and chandeliers will also be reminiscent of this period of Americana.

"It will be a showroom or a show piece for the library," McCoy noted.

The room might be open during most of the library's regular hours, McCoy said, and it will be available for history groups or seminar sessions.

Spackman Leads Phys Ed Club

The Men's Physical Education Club will meet at 10 a.m. Monday in Room 203, Men's Gym.

This will be the first meeting of the club with its new adviser, Robert Spackman.

First Juror Accepted For Jack Ruby Trial

DALLAS--The first juror was accepted Thursday to hear the murder trial of Jack Ruby.

He was Max E. Causey, 35, who is employed by a military electronics firm. He said he has a masters degree in education. He was the 24th candidate questioned.

Causey was selected after a long conference between Ruby and the five lawyers who constitute his defense team.

Before accepting him, chief counsel Melvin Belli asked Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown if the judge is going to grant extra peremptory challenges.

"I can't tell you at this time," the judge replied.

"We accept this juror," Belli replied. The state had previously accepted him.

Belli again renewed his motion for a change of venue. "Early in the questioning, Causey said, 'I am not anxious to sit on the jury.'"

Before Causey was seated as a juror, five more candidates were excused for cause in the morning session of the trial's fourth day. A sixth was excused because he will ill.

Of the first five prospects struck from the list Friday, two women and a man said they cannot return a verdict of death in the electric chair. Another man said he cannot be convinced that Ruby was insane when he gunned down Oswald. And another woman said she had an opinion as to Ruby's guilt or innocence.

2,000 British Fly To Cyprus, Force Is Now 6,000

NICOSIA, Cyprus--The new commander of British troops forces on Cyprus said Thursday 2,000 troops now flying in from Britain are needed as reinforcements because an early solution of the crisis seems unlikely.

As Maj. Gen. R.M. Carver took over his new command, delegates negotiated at the United Nations in New York, seeking a formula for an international force to relieve the British on Cyprus.

There was a flareup of shooting in eastern Cyprus between the feuding Greek and Turkish Cypriots, but Carver said he thought tension had eased since the crisis was laid before the United Nations.

Carver said the reinforcements will give about 6,000 troops in his true command. This newly augmented force will try to prevent trouble by getting to the scene before shooting starts, he said.

Cuban Fishermen Sail for Home

KEY WEST, Fla.--Twenty-nine freed Cuban fishermen boarded their four crawlers Thursday to sail for their homeland but were delayed, apparently by mechanical trouble on one of the boats.

The Coast Guard cutters Cape Darby and Cape York and a patrol boat stood by to escort the trawlers into international waters. The Cubans and their Castro-owned boats were captured 18 days ago for poaching in U.S. waters.

Czech diplomat Frantisek Telicka of Washington paid fines of $500 each Wednesday for the four captains of the boats on behalf of the Fidel Castro government. The captains were given suspended sentences in addition to the fines. Judge Thomas Caro dismissed similar charges against 25 crewmen, saying they merely took orders.

The Coast Guard took the fishermen into custody Feb. 2 off Florida's Dry Tortugas Islands and turned them over to the state since the applicable federal statute provided no penalties.

GOP Congressional Leaders Urge Cancelling Wheat Deal

WASHINGTON--Republican congressional leaders Thursday called the U.S. wheat sale to Russia a "sorry mess" and called on President Johnson to halt them.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House minority leader, said, "The only winner has been the Soviet Union, which is exactly what many of us predicted."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate GOP leader, declared, "The wheat deal has turned into a diplomatic nightmare."

Dirksen said a long train of defeats for American foreign policy has resulted from the decision to go ahead with the sales.

He added: "It has all but destroyed our economic blockade of Cuba, a result forecast by Rep. Halleck on Oct. 2 last year when he said: 'If the Kennedy administration puts its stamp of approval on sales of wheat to the Soviets, how can our government expect to persuade other nations not to trade with Cuba in the future?"

He went on to relate these developments:

"Our ally, France, is reportedly negotiating a $10 million truck deal with Cuba.

"Our ally, Spain, is negotiating for the sale of 100 fishing vessels and two freighters to Cuba.

"Our ally, Great Britain, has sold 400 buses to Cuba over our protest, and another 600 are on order. Four British airliners are being reconditioned for Cuba."

Oxonians Duel for Girl

OXFORD, England -- Two Oxford University students fought a duel with sabres over a girl Wednesday.

"It was all done in good fun," said Rory Donellan, 22, a law student and an expert swordsman who slashed the arm of Adam Poynter, 20, another law student.

Vinson Says Lemay Backs Development of New Bomber

WASHINGTON--The influence of Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis Lemay was invoked in the House Thursday in support of a $16.9-billion defense bill that includes money the Johnson administration doesn't want.

Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said in a speech that his committee added $92 million for development of a new bomber and an interceptor because "I believe what Gen. Lemay says. And I think all of you believe him, too."

Lemay asked the committee to put in the money for the bomber and interceptor. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara had not asked for the funds. McNamara asked $5 million for bomber research and none for the interceptor.

The bill, which reached the floor of the House Thursday, would authorize $16.9 billion for defense procurement, research, and development.

Little argument was expected about the bulk of the bill. But a long and lively debate was in prospect on the extra $92 million.

Goldwater Slams

McNamara's Views

With Goldwater in New Hampshire -- Sen. Barry Goldwater said Thursday that if he were president he would fire Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara for saying longrange missiles are more reliable than manned bombers.

Campaigning for votes in the New Hampshire presidential primary, Goldwater said it was "Probably the stupidest statement ever made by a secretary of defense.

"If he were my secretary of defense he'd be back making Edsels for Ford the next day," Goldwater said.

McNamara formerly was president of the Ford Motor Co.

206 S. ILLINOIS CARBONDALE

Genesis

by Y. Stevens

I, too, am concerned about the student apathy at Southern. (I realize that term has become a cliché now). My concern is twofold: 1) Materially, I wonder what is a degree from Southern Illinois University going to mean when I graduate? 2) Aesthetically, to what extent are my attitudes and values going to be influenced by my four years here?

I agree with Mr. Shechmeister's article of a few weeks ago that we are capable of putting some "ivy" on the walls of Southern. Many have recognized the problem. What action do we take now? If I knew, I would present it at a Sunday Seminar, but I suppose there is so much apathy that it wouldn't be attended. (Excuse that bit of pessimism.)

I am not willing to resign myself to such "facts" as, "Southern's a growing University with a diversified group of people. You can't bring culture to them now. In a few decades it will work out." The people that are here now don't have time to wait a few decades. We need to have a valuable, lasting experience now. I realize that sounds awfully demanding and terribly selfish but I believe it's justifiable.

I make the following statements for consideration: 1. You fine faculty members who keep screaming about the mediocrity in the students might just show a bit of interest. We need your help. You that are concerned about the generation you are educating could encourage some action.

2. You students who keep griping about activities, programs, and general attitudes of Sijers might ban together and take some action. I realize it's a bit old fashioned to believe that democracy works and the majority rules, but in every era there is a revival of previous ideas. There just might be a possibility that Southern needs a Restoration Period.

I am not so naive as to believe that a group of students and faculty can get together and lol-culture will be oozing out on the sidewalks, nor do I believe that there will be a sudden, vital interest in elections, programs, and policies of the University. I do believe, however, that every great movement had a beginning.

A Statement of Epic Theatre

by Mordecai Gorelik

Epic theatre, which arose in Germany in the 1920's and was developed there largely by the poet-dramatist Bertolt Brecht and the director Erwin Piscator, may be described as an attempt to up-date the art of the theatre in our age of science and industry. Its principles are in contrast to those currently dominant in western theatre (whether in the United States or the Soviet Union), which relies heavily upon emotionalism, romanticism, illusionism, individual psychology, "well-made" play construction, and a magical synthesis of the elements of staging (acting, directing, setting, lighting, costumes, sound effects, music and dance.) Epic theatre, classical in approach, insists upon thinking as well as feeling; it is analytical rather than romantic; makes use of conventions instead of illusions; requires that individual psychology be viewed in a broad social or historical context; prefers the chronicle form of play construction, and offers autonomy to the various elements of staging. In spite of this all-out challenge to the current methods of theatre, Epic productions have a color, richness, psychology, suspense -- and even a magic -- of their own.

The Senator Speaks...

To the people of SIU:

"To be or not to be, that is the question..." I mean to be or not to be a part of the City of Carbondale. The annexation of the University to the City of Carbondale has long been an issue of concern.

At its January 9th meeting, the Student Council refused to take a policy stand favoring the annexation of the University by the City. In my opinion this reflects a narrow point of view that is clouded by a lack of knowledge and foresight.

At that time, Council members voiced reasons for not becoming a part of the City. Among them was the absurdity that the City would put parking meters on Campus Drive. Another complaint was that the City streets were inadequate and the lighting poor. This is true; however, the street situation is by no means improved by the fact that there are hundreds of students' cars, both legal and illegal, using the Carbondale streets and paying nothing for their maintenance.

If the University were annexed to the City, the increase in population would give the City a greater return on motor fuel tax funds which would increase the funds for streets, sidewalks and lighting. These improvements would benefit the University and the City.

The unification of City and University in this manner would provide means for effective planning, coordination and development of both. Of course, there would be items to work out before annexation would take place, i.e., fire and police protection, etc.

It is interesting to note that Southern Illinois University is the only state institution of higher education that is not a part of the City to which it is geographically linked.

As the Out-in-Town Senator, I feel that the annexation would be to the benefit of the students, faculty, administration, and citizens of Carbondale. The University administration has been weighing this decision for a while, and has let it sit because of the possibility that it might change its mind after becoming annexed and there is presently no legal framework for "un-annexation." I hope that this consideration will not indefinitely hold up the possibility of annexation.

The City of Carbondale seems ready to move ahead hand-in-hand with the University as indicated by its bid for annexation.

The answer to our question is an unreserved "to be," and a resolution to cooperate with and plan with the City for the continued development of the greatest institution of higher education in the Mid-West.

The Prince and the Playboy

Part I

by Fabiola

Once upon a time there was a not so handsome young prince, (from the lower-middle social class of princes), walking through the Woods on his way to the great Castle of Books. (Seven stories and a swimming pool.) It was a beautiful day and he was very happy just to be alive and bounce his little rubber ball as he skipped along his way.

As he entered the deepest part of the Woods, he came upon a bridge spanning a dried-up gully. The prince observed that the bridge was constructed of wood planks and old copies of the National Geographic. (The prince had often wondered what that magazine was good for.) When he was half-way across the bridge, a voice that shook the entire Woods roared out:

"Sis Boom Bah, Rah, Rah, Rah. Who is bouncing a ball On my Bridge?"

Hearing that this did not rhyme, the prince knew that it would not be Bennett Cerf who would confront him.

From beneath the bridge rose this creature of indescribable hideousness, which shall now be described. It had a sweatshirt on and pants that stopped above the knees, both were tattered and of different plaids. It had no neck and the skull of a neanderthal

From a Professional Point of View...

by Andrew Henderson

The Marriage of Figaro production as a whole seemed to be of a higher general level than those of the past. There were no obvious gaps in quality between lead characters and bit parts, a major complaint against past productions; however, this was still clearly a student effort.

Unfortunately, with the added difficulty of moving on stage, the inexperienced singers tightened the voice as well as the rest of the body. Even the singers with better voice control had trouble moving their bodies freely. Along came Dennis Immel at the end of Act II to prove that training as an actor can be an effective tool of the opera singer.

The strongest stylistic aspect in Sunday's performance was in Mr. McIntosh's deliverance of the recitatives. His light almost spoken humor was excellent. Mr. Hallman also used the recitative to advantage in his characterization of the part. The Countesses seemed to sing or man. There was a "Bud Wilkinson for President" button pinned to its sweatshirt, and it held an empty beer can in one of its hammocks. It snorted and breathed heavily and belched. It didn't belch out anything in particular (like fire, etc.); it just belched.

"What's happenin', baby," the prince inquired? (The prince was part hippy since his mother, the Queen, had been a free-thinker from Greenwich Village.) The prince then added, "What manner of being are you, freakish creature?"

"I am," snorted the creature, "a member of the National Brotherhood of Trolls. I'm mean and rough and generally repulsive."

"What do you want with me," asked the prince?

"I'm going to take your rubber ball away from you and throw it into the woods. Then I'm going to take you and make you as I am, a Troll," said the Troll.

Well, the prince certainly did not want to become a Troll, and he definitely did not want his little rubber ball taken away from him, because it was so peachy-keen and among his most prized possessions.

(Will the prince be made a Troll? Will he lose his groovy little rubber ball? Check this page next week trash fans, and lower your level again.)

"legatoize" their recitatives too much. This light, spoken quality was also missing to an extent in both Susanna parts; however, the characterizations were very well done.

The Saturday night cast had a very responsive audience and played with vitality as a result. Sunday's cast, however, played to a dead audience and the life of the performance suffered noticeably. The singers and the orchestra began having intonation problems; however, things improved toward the end of the performance.

The pit orchestra was the finest I've heard at Southern in six years. Ornamentation was clear and contrasting dynamics were clean cut. It was a pleasure to hear a good string tone. The rapport between pit and stage was excellent even in the face of memory slips and ad-libbing. (Clairvoyance Award of the Year to Warren van Bronkhorst!)

Thanks to everyone for all criticism or praise of my recent review... In regard to my so-called criticism and disrespect for Mr. Charles Zoeccker, Read closely, please. With the stage design presented to him, the limitations imposed on his work from every direction and the ever-present time element, Mr. Zoeccker's work was genius. If I could achieve one half of his ability and dedication, I should be indeed a lucky man... Caught The Marriage of Figaro on Sunday. The cast was superb in movement and voice and well-backed by an excellent orchestra. Darwin Payne's set was towering and magnificent and Nate Garner showed one and all how to light a show. My thanks for an afternoon well spent... Is SIU a playschool? I didn't think so until the proposed selection of items for the new Recreation Building listed 300 sets of blocks and a sandbox... I attended a recent faculty recital although not being required to as is most of the captive audience. It was about as entertaining as watching grass grow. Your selection of music was far from interesting and, rather than encouraging the audience to finer music, drove them away. Two instruments doing specialized music was not entertaining. The applause was pure courtesy gentlemen... Is it true that Saluki is really a disease?...

SIU Swimmers to Meet Indiana In Dual Contest Here Saturday

Both SIU's undefeated varsity and freshman swimming teams will see action this weekend.

Coach Ralph Casey's varsity squad, 6-0 in dual meet competition this season, will play Indiana's powerful and undefeated Big Ten champions in a dual meet at 4 p.m. Saturday in the University School Pool.

The Indiana swimmers, undefeated in five dual meets this season, carry a streak of 37 consecutive dual meet victories into Saturday's contest and are considered to be one of the top collegiate swimming teams in the world. The Hoosiers last loss was to Ohio State, Feb. 21, 1959.

"There's no doubt about it," said Casey, "Indiana has the most fantastic collection of swimmers in the world, and we're not about to beat them. But we love to face them and next year hope to schedule

Southern's hopes for an individual triumph appear to be in the 200-yard freestyle where an outstanding sophomore star, Thom McAneney, is unbeaten and has recorded an impressive time of 1:47.6. The Miami Beach, Fla., ace will probably be facing Gary Verboeven and Chuck Ogilby who have turned in 1:48.2 and 1:48.7 performances, respectively.

Jack Schiltz, a senior from Harvey, is also unbeaten in the 200-yard individual medley and holds SIU and pool records with 2:02.6. Schiltz, however, will be up against Hoosier hotshot Ted Stickle, the world's record holder at 440 yards.

Casey's freshmen, victors over Cincinnati's yearlings in their lone dual meet this season, travel to Chicago for a Sunday afternoon meet with Fenwick High School, one of the best prep squads in the state.

Division Champs Play Tonight In Intramural Tourney Finals

With only four teams left in contention, the stage is set for the final rounds of the men's intramural basketball tournament.

In semifinal play in the off-campus division, the Teesedged Saluki Mo-fos 38-35, and Tuffey's Tigers knocked off the Stags 64-52. The winners played last night to decide the off-campus entry in the finals.

In the finals of the men's residence hall division, the Southern Acres Road Runners overpowered Abbott 28-36. The boys from VTI will now face the fraternity champ, Tau Kappa Epsilon, to the right to play the winner of the off-campus division in the tourney finals tonight.

COLORADO'S GARRY LAYMAN WORKS ON THE SIDE HORSE

Skeleton Squad

SIU Gymnasts Fly to Colorado To Meet Buffaloes and Denver

Coach Bill Meade will be taking only a skeleton squad to Colorado this weekend where his undefeated gymnasts go after their 25th and 26th straight victories against the Universities of Colorado and Denver.

Meade was not expecting any trouble from the Buffaloes at Boulder tonight who have posted a 6-3 season's record. But Denver has certainly made the Salukis aware that they have posted 34 consecutive dual meet victories over a period of three years.

Confident as always, Meade simply remarked, "They (Denver) shouldn't give us too much trouble. We're up for it (the meet) and besides, we'll finally have some competition."

Rusty Mitchell, Bill and Dennis Wolf, Ray Yano and Steve Pasternak were the only Salukis to depart for the Rocky Mountain state this morning, by airplane. Mitchell was the only Saluki to fly commercially while the rest of the SIU squad left from Southern Illinois Airport via an SIU plane.

High School Pupils Invited to Meeting

High school students who feel they might be interested in a career in working with gifted or handicapped children can learn much about the field of special education at a conference Feb. 29 at SIU.

The SIU Council for Exceptional Children, sponsor of the High School Student Conference in Special Education, has sent invitations to 155 high schools inviting interested students to attend.

The conference will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the University Center ballroom. Registration fee is $1. Those interested are asked to contact their principal, guidance counselor, or the SIU department of special education

"I don't think we'll be giving away too much by using only five performers," said Meade. "We'll double up in a couple of spots, but they (Colorado) don't have too much."

The Buffs had two men who placed in the NCAA championships last year and both returned this year, Dick Jones, a senior and Bud Shroads on the trampoline.

Other returnees for the Buffs are cocaptains Tom Jenkins, an all around performer and John Zipp, also all around. Garry Layman, a side horse specialist and Jim Ryan, free exercise and tumbling man were also good scorers from last year's 9-2 Colorado squad.

Tomorrow night's meet at Denver should draw the largest gymnastics crowd in DU history. The University of Illinois, which was clobbered by DU two weeks ago, drew 1,500 fans to the DU Arena, largest crowd up to that date.

Saluki Cagers Still Hopeful Of Ending With 20 Victories

There's little room for error, but Southern's basketball team still has an outside chance of posting its fifth straight season of 20 or more victories after gaining its 13th -- and biggest -- win at Louisville Saturday.

However, the Salukis, who travel to Southwest Missouri tonight and to Central Missouri tomorrow night, need an invitation to the NCAA college-division tournament in order to achieve their goal.

A double victory over the Missouri teams, which seems most likely, and a win over Kentucky Wesleyan here Monday night would enable coach Jack Hartman's outfit to finish its regular season with a 16-8 record. A regional NCAA title could boost the Salukis' win total to 18 and a pair of victories in the finals at Evansville would result in duplication of last year's 20 triumphs.

Hartman feels his club has hit its peak at the proper time and is optimistic over the Salukis' chances of returning to Evansville for the third consecutive year.

"Our win at Louisville was one of the sweetest since I've been here," said Hartman, "and it proved that we're ready for anyone as long as we have Paul Henry in the lineup."

SIU, tied for 18th in this week's Associated Press small-college poll, takes on the same Southwest Missouri squad that they crushed here last week, 99-65. The Salukis also defeated the Bears in the Missouri Christmas tourney.

Holmes Teegarden, with 19 points and Danny Bolden with 12, were the only scorers of note for the Bears, who have won 11 and lost 10, here last week.

Joe Ramsey and Eldon Big-ham were the high scorers with 18 points each for the Salukis in that one, which was the last varsity basketball game played in the Men's Gym.

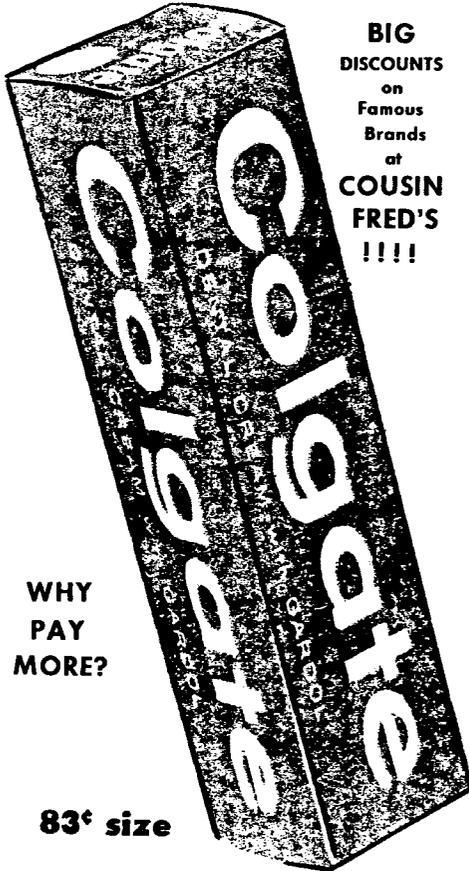

The Bears are expected to use the same starting lineup with Teegarden and Bolden at the forwards, Don Carlson at center and Butch Marshall and Dave Tucker at the guards.

Tonight's game will be aired over WSIU-Radio at 7:50.
