Missionary To Speak

The Rev. John Nathan LaBauve of the Divine Word Missionary, who keynoted Religion-in-Life Week, will be the Freshmen Convocation speaker at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. today in Shryock Auditorium.

Father LaBauve was the 1962 recipient of the brotherhood award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews for the Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia region.

Father LaBauve has lectured on race relations at various universities and has spoken at national conventions.

He has also done special missionary work in the South, in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Indianapolis.

A native of Abbeville, La., he has been pastor of various Roman Catholic churches in that state and in Mississippi.

Sisco to Open Model U.N.

Joseph J. Sisco, deputy assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, will address the opening session of SIU's sixth annual Model United Nations General Assembly Feb. 7.

The conference runs through Feb. 8 and will give students an opportunity to practice United Nations procedures. Sixty-two groups of students, representing as many countries, will take part in mock U.N. sessions.

Sisco, a Chicago native, is a graduate of Knox College in Galesburg and holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in international relations from the University of Chicago. During the past 13 years he has served as a political adviser to U.S. delegations to the United Nations. He was awarded the superior service award of the Department of State in 1960.

His talk, 8 p.m. in the River Rooms of the University Center, will be open to the public.

Harlow Shapley Speaks Tonight

Harlow Shapley, visiting philosophy professor at SIU, will speak on "Argon and Immortality" at 7:30 p.m. today in Muckelroy Auditorium.

A professor emeritus at Harvard University and a former Paine professor of astronomy, Shapley will deliver four more lectures in this series.

Another story about Professor Shapley appears on page 5 today.

William A. Howe Dies, Physical Plant Director

William A. Howe, director of the SIU Physical Plant for 15 years, died at 11:48 a.m. Wednesday in Holden Hospital after a heart attack.

He had been hospitalized for a week.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Friday at First Methodist Church with the Rev. Edward L. Hoffman in charge. Burial will be in the Murdale Gardens of Memory Cemetery west of Carbondale. Friends may call after 3 p.m. Thursday at Huffman Funeral Home.

Mr. Howe had observed his 54th birthday last Saturday.

SIU Picket Line Considers Next Steps In Campaign Against Compulsory ROTC

A spokesman for the student group protesting compulsory AFROTC said that more positive action is being considered, including an all-night vigil outside the home of President Delyte W. Morris. Ed Clark of Brockton, Mass., listed these possible steps in the attempt to put ROTC on a voluntary basis: picketing the president's office again; the vigil, an organized boycott of the ROTC activities, and the circulation of petitions asking the Student Council and the University's administration to take positive action in abolishing compulsory ROTC.

Clark said 15 more students joined the protest movement as a result of Tuesday's picketing activities. He said the group would try to organize on a formal basis. At present, he said, the group is loosely held together.

Article IV of the Bylaws, Statutes and Regulations of the Board of Trustees outlines the channels open to students in expressing opinion.

The Student Council is the official agency for the expression of student opinion, but the student body has the right of petition. The statutes provide that any petition signed by one-tenth of the student body must be presented to the Student Council which must submit it to a vote of the student body.

Will Assist Recruiting Team Seeking Overseas Volunteers

R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, will visit Southern Feb. 12.

According to L. Clark Davis, director of Student Affairs, the Peace Corps director is coming to campus in connection with a week-long visit by a Peace Corps recruiting team.

The team will arrive on campus Feb. 10 and remain

New Stairways End Jam at Wham

The "Wham Jam" should disappear within two or three weeks, Willard Hart, SIU associate architect, said today.

Two of the three stairways in the Wham Education Building have been closed since the beginning of school because of construction. All three were opened last week.

Hectic daily crowding on the stairs should lessen immediately as the traffic pattern adjusts to the other two stairways.

here through Feb. 15, recruiting SIU students for Peace Corps assignments overseas.

President Delyte W. Morris will give a luncheon in Shriver's honor on Feb. 12.

Shriver will meet informally with students and administrators from 11 a.m. to noon. He also will appear at a special convocation at 2 p.m. that day in the University Center Ballroom.

The Peace Corps has sent recruiters to campus previously, but this is the first time that the team approach will be used here.

It will also be Shriver's first visit to the campus. He had been tentatively scheduled to visit SIU last spring in connection with a training camp at Little Grassy for persons working with handicapped children. However, the press of official duties forced him to cancel his visit.

Coed Attacked, Man Charged

A charge of attempted rape was filed Wednesday against a Murphysboro man who allegedly jumped a woman in Carbondale as a carload of policemen looked on.

State's Atty. William Ridgeway, who filed the charge before Judge Peyton Kuncie, said Carbondale and SIU Security Police were watching when Kenneth Andrew Locke, 23, grabbed a 20-year-old University coed from behind.

Ridgeway quoted the police as telling him that the man threw the woman to the ground, warning her not to scream. The police flashed a spotlight on the scene, Ridgeway said, and the man fled.

The state's attorney said police told him that they never lost sight of the man until they captured Locke.

The incident reportedly happened about 9:30 p.m. between Washington and Marion Streets.

Wall-to-Blackboard Carpeting At Wham Is Test, Not Luxury

Wall-to-wall carpeting in a classroom is getting the usage test in the new Wham Education Building.

Involved in the experiment are the instructors and students assigned to Room 112, the maintenance personnel, and the associate architect's office.

Summer Job Aid Offered Students

Eager, ambitious, and dollar minded students...now is the time to seek summer employment.

Students interested in obtaining summer employment will find the Student Work Office helpful. Although the Work Office does not place students in jobs, as such, it aids the student in every possible way to secure a summer position. Much information leading to summer employment is available.

Jobs that are available for summer employment are located in all states and several foreign countries. There are opportunities in industry, business, government, hospitals, resorts, camps, ranches and travel.

If a student desires to be placed in a particular type of position, the Work Office will help him make connections. At times, personnel representatives are on campus to conduct personal interviews for summer employment.

At present over 50 students have inquired about summer employment.

The rug was installed during Christmas vacation but it's too early to tell how the experiment will go, according to C. D. May, interior designer.

"Use of carpeting in classrooms is being given consideration at quite a number of universities," May said. "This is based on contentions that purchase of carpeting, and maintenance, are more economical than a tile floor," he added.

"These are coupled with other advantages," May continued. "One is the 'psychological' factor of carpeting; another is in the acoustical advantages. A considerable part of noise in a room can be traced to shuffling of feet, dropping of books and pencils, and other factors associated with floors.

"The installation of carpeting in the 24-by-35 foot room will give SIU an opportunity to evaluate these advantages," May said.

May expects the experiment will continue over a period of two or three years, to determine the wear factor in all-wool carpeting, as well as the other factors involved.

"Instructors, students and maintenance personnel will probably be asked to offer their comments during the evaluation," May said.

The carpeting is a dark-brown mix and the room seats about 49 in the standard chairs used in Wham.

NORTH CENTRAL TEAM - Members of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools' preliminary accreditation team finished a three-day inspection of 18 doctoral programs Wednesday. They are (front, left to right) John Ashton, graduate dean, Indiana University; Walter C. Langsam, President, University of Cincinnati; and Willard L. Thompson, evening and summer school dean, University of Minnesota. And (back, left to right) Sam Gates, graduate dean, Colorado State University; Thomas Langevin, University of Michigan Center for Students of Higher Education; John W. Clark, English Department Chairman, University of Minnesota; Jack C. Gilchrist, Psychology Department Chairman, University of Wisconsin; and George Waggoner, Liberal Arts dean, University of Kansas.

Students Discuss Referendum

Wide Accord Found for Clinic, But Opinion Splits on Fee Hike

SIU students will be asked to vote next Wednesday for or against a proposed recommendation to increase student fees in order to build a new Health Service Clinic and Co-Recreation Building.

How do students feel about an increase in fees? Do they think that a new clinic is needed?

An informal survey made by the Daily Egyptian shows that most students have strong feelings, some negative, some positive, about the referendum.

Bob Blum a sophomore from Skokie, said he would vote "no" on the proposal. "I do think that there is a need for better health service facilities, but I don't think that they should increase student fees to accomplish it. It seems to me that the government and not the student should be responsible for providing funds for things like that. I think it would be a good idea if they built the clinic in one of the unfinished parts of the University Center."

"I think it's a good idea," said George Pappas, of Oaklawn. "A school this big needs a clinic. The increase in fees isn't that much and the students should be glad to pay it in order to get a better Health Service."

"I've been going to school here for three years and I have never used the Health Service," said Larry Johnson, a junior from Rockford, "but I think that we need a medical clinic. I might have to use it sometime. I think that increasing student fees to get the funds is a good idea."

"I hope that if they spend the money for a new building, they'll get a larger staff and stay open longer," said one student.

Another student agreed that the waiting lines found in the Health Service could only be eliminated with an increase in the staff.

Accounting, Chemistry Grads Look Forward to Salary Hike

SIU seniors majoring in accounting commanded salary offers during the fall ranging up to $20 to $25 a month higher than during the fall of 1962, according to Roye R. Bryant, SIU Placement Service director.

SIU accounting majors received offers of $550 to $575 a month, he said.

On the national job market scene, covered in a year-end report of a survey conducted for the fifth year by the College Placement Council, of which Bryant is a member representing the Midwest College Placement Association, the upswing in beginning accounting salaries which has prevailed in recent years slowed almost to a standstill.

Marketing and chemistry majors ranked second and third in the size of starting salary increases over a year ago, according to the national survey, covering 107 selected colleges and universities coast to coast.

The automotive group of employers offered the biggest advance with a $28 jump to $398 a month, the survey showed. Marketing students received $26 more than in the fall of 1962, bringing their initial monthly salaries to $491. Chemistry majors received starting salaries of $605, up $25 from 1962.

On the other hand, banking finance and insurance firms dropped their offerings $5 a month to $445, the CPC report showed, and construction and building materials manufacturers decreased their offers $19 to $529.

Both technical and non-technical students experienced gains that were only about half as great as in the corresponding period last year, the survey report said. Offers to technically-trained students have gone up $15 to $610, a gain of 2.5 per cent over the fall of 1962, and those to non-technical degree candidates have risen $9 to $509, a gain of 1.8 per cent.

The CPC statistics include the average dollar value of more than 2,000 offers made to male bachelor's degree candidates in 12 key educational programs by 16 of the most active employer groups in the recruiting field, Bryant said.

Student Punished; Old Main 'Flagged'

The Office of Student Affairs has placed a letter of reprimand in the permanent records of a 17-year-old freshman who defaced a sign and put a flag atop Old Main.

A student affairs spokesman said the student, whom he did not identify, was taken into custody by the Campus Police. The spokesman said the student was instructed to pay for the restoration of the sign and the costs of sending two men to the top of Old Main to retrieve the flag.

The University authorities ordered the student to report the incident to his parents.

New Diplomatic Goal Sighted by De Gaulle

PARIS--President Charles de Gaulle stepped up his diplomatic offensive for French influence abroad by opening a new front Wednesday in South America.

De Gaulle's office announced that he has accepted an invitation to make an official visit to Brazil later this year. He also may visit other Latin-American countries.

Goldwater Sees Eventual Need For Cuba Action

A Cabinet session took note of the impending recognition of Communist China, which is expected to become official within the coming week.

A spokesman described this as the prelude to an active policy for France in Southeast Asia. The aim would be to re-establish French influence in what once was French Indo-China.

The French decision has nettled the United States and other Allies. No date was set for the Brazilian trip, but sources said it probably will be some time in September. The trip also may take De Gaulle to Buenos Aires, Argentina; Montevideo, Uruguay; Santiago, Chile, and Lima, Peru.

De Gaulle's acceptance of an invitation from President Joao Goulart of Brazil in effect ends the "Lobster war" of last year.

That was a controversy with the French over fishing rights off the coast of Brazil. Goulart's invitation, and De Gaulle's letter of acceptance, both referred indirectly to this dispute as something which must not be allowed to mar good relations.

Most well-educated Brazilians consider Paris their intellectual home. Most Frenchmen regard Brazil as a sort of cultural, and even economic, colony.

With Goldwater in New Hampshire--Sen. Barry Goldwater said Wednesday that sooner or later the United States and the Organization of American States will have to blockade or invade Cuba "whether we like it or not."

The Arizona senator, campaigning for the Republican presidential nomination, made that forecast before some 1,000 students and townspeople in Swanzey.

Talking about Cuba, Goldwater said he favored steps like the 1960 blockade and the invasion at the Bay of Pigs. He said the United States should have aided that effort with air cover.

"One of these days, whether we like it or not, some forces of the Organization of American States and the United States are going to have to repeat that same action if we're going to get rid of this dangerous cancer in the belly of the Western Hemisphere," Goldwater said.

Johnson's Gift Acceptance Scored by Senate Watchdog

WASHINGTON--Lyndon B. Johnson's acceptance of a free stereophonic console, disclosed in a Senate investigation of former Senate aide Robert G. Baker, drew fire Wednesday from Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

Williams said in a statement: "Under preceding administrations the acceptance of lavish entertainment and large gifts by officials of the U.S. government was strongly condemned, and it cannot be condoned now any more than it was then."

Williams' statement referred to testimony by Don B. Reynolds, Washington and Silver Springs, Md., insurance man, that in 1959 at the suggestion of Baker he gave Johnson a stereo set costing more than $500. President Johnson then was the Senate Democratic leader.

Reynolds had sold $100,000 of insurance on Johnson's life in 1957. The amount was increased to $200,000 in 1961 after Johnson became vice president.

The insurance man also testified he agreed to buy over $1,200 worth of advertising on a radio-television station in Austin, Tex., owned by the LBJ Co. which is paying the insurance premiums. Mrs. Johnson controlled the LBJ Co. at the time, but has put her stockholdings in trust since Johnson became President.

It was a demand by Williams, who had investigated Baker's outside business activities, which set off the Senate Rules Committee's investigation of the former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority and disclosure of the gift of the stereo.

In his statement Williams harked back to investigations in prior administrations in which gifts of home freezers, fur coats and an oriental rug to government officials were criticized.

Carpentier's Son Will Seek Office His Father Holds

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. -- Sen. Donald D. Carpentier of East Moline announced Wednesday he will run as a Republican candidate for secretary of state.

His father, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, has held the position for more than 11 years.

Young Carpentier's decision to enter the race came a day after his father withdrew as a candidate for governor because of a heart attack.

"He's wholeheartedly behind me," young Carpentier said of his father, whose office issued a brief statement saying the secretary's recent heart attack caused an "extensive amount of heart damage."

The statement said Carpentier "is progressing satisfactorily considering the extensive amount of heart damage he has suffered."

Judge Moves To Speed Hoffa Trial

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.-- Judge Frank Wilson, declaring Teamsters President James Hoffa's jury-tampering trial was moving too slowly, personally took over all questioning of jury prospects Wednesday.

"At the rate we have been going," the U.S. district judge said quietly, "it would take three weeks to select a jury."

The judge thus carried out a threat made 24 hours earlier to take from lawyers the right to examine jurors unless they hurried on.

Wilson announced his decision immediately after defense lawyers rejected one of six jurors--and the only woman--tentatively seated during the first two days of the trial. Cecil Branstetter, Nashville lawyer, said he opposed Mrs. Tom Gilliland, wife of a Chattanooga News-Free Press reporter, because her husband worked for a paper which he said has "written editorials that show malice toward one of the defendants."

He referred, apparently, to Hoffa, on trial with five others on charges of trying to influence jurors in his 1962 conspiracy trial in Nashville.

As the trial entered its third day, the name of U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had cropped up almost as often as Hoffa's.

JAKARTA, Indonesia--U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy met with President Sukarno for two hours Wednesday on the Malaysia crisis and said he believed he and the Indonesian leader had reached general agreement.

An Indonesian government spokesman said later that formal talks scheduled for today had been canceled and that Kennedy would cut short his visit by at least half a day and leave for Cambodia.

Kennedy, President Johnson's special envoy on the Malaysia dispute, arrived earlier today for a final round of talks with Sukarno.

Shapley Was Refused Admittance to School

By Roy Gamer

Harlow Shapley, internationally renowned scientist whose degrees--both real and honorary--number about two dozen, was once turned down when he tried to enroll in a public school.

It was bluntly explained by the teachers that they doubted his ability to pass the subjects offered at the school at Carthage, Mo.

Not too long ago that same city took a whole day off from business--and schools--to pay tribute to him. The celebration, he recalls with a wry smile, was not only in recognition of his many achievements but also, "because I once attended school in Carthage."

A heavy set man with a ruddy complexion, Shapley bears a striking resemblance to the late novelist H. L. Mencken.

"No one ever mentioned that before," Shapley said. "I did meet him once, but I don't think we should insult a man who is in his grave."

"Some people say I look like Laughton--Charles--the actor," he added with a chuckle.

Shapley, a distinguished visiting professor at SIU this term, said that as a young man he aspired to be a journalist. He worked as a reporter in Chanute, Kan., and Joplin, Mo. However, journalism was not offered at the University of Missouri when he entered so he took up star-gazing and became one of the world's best known astronomers.

In 1917 Shapley made one of the great contributions to the world of science, when he became the first man to disprove Copernicus' theory that the earth was in the center of the galaxy. He stated that the earth was thousands of light years from the center. This was accepted as fact about ten years later.

He is the author of many books concerning astronomy and science. One, titled Of Stars and Men and published by the Washington Press in 1958, has been made into a movie by Storyboard, Inc.

"This picture has been done in a humorous type of animation and is narrated by myself. It deals with men, matter, space, and time."

The book has been printed in seven foreign languages and has been put out in a paperback edition which has sold more than 100,000 copies.

Shapley is here at Southern as the result of an invitation from Claude Coleman, director of Plan "A". He was impressed with the size of SIU and stated that "The vigor with which it seems to be growing is impressive."

Public Invited to Attend African Students' Meeting

There will be a general meeting on Feb. 1 of all African students and others interested.

The place of meeting will be announced later.

"We welcome any contacts with any organizations or individuals both on the campus and in the local community," the African Students Association reported.

The aims of the organization are described in the association's constitution as follows:

1. To promote mutual understanding among the African students.

2. To promote cultural and social exchanges with American communities and various organizations in and outside the University.

3. To promote exchanges of ideas on, and an awareness of, events in Africa.

At the present time 23 African students are studying at

Foreign Students Must File Report

All international students at SIU must register this week--with the U.S. government.

All aliens residing in the United States must register their addresses. The alien address report card may be obtained at any post office.

Registration is required by American law, and penalties are provided for failure to meet the requirement.

Crime Center Chief to Lead Talk on Juvenile Delinquency

A public discussion on juvenile delinquency will be led at the Sunday Seminar by Myrl Alexander, director of SIU's Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections.

Alexander was for 3 years a staff member of the Federal Bureau of Prisons before coming to SIU in 1961. Author of a textbook on corrections, he is a graduate of Manchester College, which also has awarded him an honorary doctor of laws degree. Since heading the SIU project, Alexander has set up a Delinquency Control and Prevention Training Center on the East St. Louis campus, financed through a grant from the President's Committee to Combat Juvenile Delinquency.

The discussion, open to the public, is at 8:30 p.m. in the Ohio Room of the University Center.

3 One-Act Plays Need Performers

The Department of Theater is seeking performers for parts in three plays.

Tryouts will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. Friday in the Studio Theatre in University School. The plays are to be presented in the Southern Playhouse Feb. 20.

Speaking at the 7 p.m. Creative Insights program, also in the Ohio Room, will be John L. Kurtz, production manager for WSIU-TV. His topic will be: "Educational Television It's Better Than You Think." Kurtz, at SIU since 1962, is a Syracuse University graduate and has some 18 years experience in broadcasting.

Joint Approach Discussed For Services of City, SIU

Possible cooperation between SIU and Carbondale regarding the sharing of duties such as police protection and street maintenance was discussed Tuesday evening at the Carbondale City Council meeting.

Although no action was taken, the council's representative on the City Conservation Committee, Commissioner Joseph Ragsdale, asked council members to consider the idea of such future cooperation between the University and the city.

Mayor D. Blaney Miller indicated approval of some sort of agreement in the future but pointed out that both parties must be bound to comply with any agreements made.

Additional insurance on city property was also considered by the council and it was agreed to double the amount of insurance now carried. Mayor Miller mentioned that the city has long been under-insured and recommended that extra coverage be purchased.

The new insurance plan consolidates the city's coverage into one policy instead of the 25 that are now carried.

Several pieces of unincorporated territory within Carbondale were annexed by the city upon recommendation by the City Zoning Commission.

Latin American Seminar Today

The Latin American Institute Seminar for January will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in Room 168 of the Agriculture Building.

The topic will be "Problems of Investigation and Research in Latin America."

The Participants in the discussion will be Albert W. Bork, director of the Latin American Institute; Ward Morton, professor of government; German A. Rioseco, graduate assistant in Agricultural industries; and George Maier, graduate assistant.

William Hayes, Kappa Alpha Psi, has been elected as Secretary of the International Council secretariat for the coming year.

The previous report of officer elections was stated incorrectly.

Hello, Fans! . . . uh, Students!

By Paul Tyner

Television is threatening the life of the American university as we know it today. Within twenty-five years, reports an unusually reliable source, all classes will be conducted on television, and, worse yet, probably in black-and-white.

And what of warm and endearing student-teacher relationships? asks the goggled-eyed reader. Reader, get thee to a beanyery.

Gone are the stimulating discussions, the witty repartee, the personal observations, the congenial informality, the apple-polishing, the bad breath, and, in toto, to wax linguistic, everything human about education. Take away the human element, and what have you got? I'll tell you what you've got, you've got the inhuman element. A mass-produced generation of technicians, weaned from the electronic breast, whatever that means.

What will classes be like? asks the mildly inquisitive reader. The televised lec-

Inquiring how Christine Keeler manages to remain in the news, a Wickford reader is wondering whether she is worth all this attention. The point is well taken, and we agree that Miss Keeler has been under foot plenty long enough. She should retire to private life, where she can rest on her morals.

--North Kingstown (R.I.) Standard

Public officials who pal with vice eventually become its slaves.

--New Canaan (Conn.) Advertiser

ture lends himself to a bevy of degradations, not to mention smart-talking and rotten tomatoes, as well as cabbage, which are a leafy vegetable. Students will stop preparing; instructors will start. I put it to you, reader: Are we going to take this lying down?

You can fight it if you like, but I won't. There's not really much to be done about it. One could, of course, found his own university, offer ROTC and demand a land grant, but undoubtedly he would be severely chastised for his efforts and in all probability forced to don the leather discipline helmet.

Classes might not be too bad. They could be shown at all hours of the night, thus eliminating painful morning drudgery. Tuition would go down. There would be an unlimited amount of funds coming in from commercials and payola. Cultivate the wasteland! Put Shakespeare in the malt shop and Genet in the living room.

One could flick on the tube and be entertained by the Lennon Sisters singing Euclid's theorems, or Ed Sullivan keying out leaves, or the Beverly Hillbillies discussing Wittgenstein, or Loretta Young electrocuting rats. Students could watch Captain Kangaroo marching the cadets around. Physical education classes would be eliminated; students could watch their instructors doing push-ups and running around the field.

Commercials would be a natural, as they say in show biz. What better sponsor for trigonometry than Trig, the man's roll-on? Or for Shakespeare, hacon? Or for physics, fig newtons? Or for animal husbandry, Camels? Or for entomology, Raid? Or for psychology, aspirin? Education instructors would have to start teaching electronics, which is better than nothing.

The next logical step in televising college, of course, is to televise the whole shebang. And if you've ever seen a whole shebang televised, you'll know what I mean. If a student wants to take a walk, why just turn the knob and follow the roving camera down the Quad, into the Union, dolly in on a good shot cup of jake (as it is called), a smoking cigarette, then out across the street and down the block to the Capitol; a furtive glance at the bar, a close-up of the waitress, a shot or two panning the group, a few shots of schooners being drained, then to the back of the room and down the wee corridor. Everything's taken care of.

--The Daily Illini

Can We Learn While There Is Time?

The Forest: a Personal Record of the Huk Guerrilla Struggle, by William J. Pomeroy. New York: International Publishers. 224 pp. $3.95.

Pomeroy (b. Rochester, N.Y., 1916), ranging the Pacific in World War II as a historian with the 5th Air Force, saw the valiant Hukbalahaps help American GI's dislodge the Japs from the Philippines. After the war he returned to the newly "independent" country.

The fat white landlords in their Cadillacs, dusting the ragged natives on their mud-

Book Reviews

Professor Becomes Pupil Of Bartenier-Philosopher

Tio Pepe, by Mary Lasswell. Houghton Mifflin Company. 117 pp. $3.50.

Occasionally a book is published solely for the sake of its high entertainment value. Tio Pepe is such a book. Its 117 pages are interspersed freely with cryptic comments directed at American society, sex, education, and "Ph. Deities."

Tio Pepe is extended anecdote rather than a short novel. There are several astute observations, almost too sharply painted, about the effectiveness of various philosophies of life, but these are neatly hidden within a beautiful frame of character and plot.

Mary Lasswell has made excellent use of color and imagery throughout. Tio Pepe, the proprietor of the Cada Noche un Amor bar, has a voice "thin, and harsh, like a peacock gargling with slat pencils." And, "Though his hair was white, his moustache remained black. One of the ends was longer than the other which gave him the perpetual air of eating a mouse."

He is also a philosopher at heart. The poor visiting Prof. Elijah Potts "from the University in Schenecady where he teaches Folklore and Fable of the Americas" is reduced to a mere pupil in the face of Tio Pepe's machiavellian logic and philosophy: "The bar and restaurant, the motion picture house...they are all mine. Of course, in confidence." Dear Friend, for they would ask for passes if they knew. The damned distributors have figured out a way of forcing us to take a certain number of documentary films a year but I am manoso, full of cunning. I advertise Gina Lollobrigida or Brigitte Bardot and thus avoid losing money."

"Doesn't the public fall wise?" the professor asked.

"They live in hope and die in despair," the old man said. "Like all of us."

Potts willingly and gratefully forsakes reality at the Rio Grande border. As a result, his store of wisdom and insight is replenished every summer.

"Elijah Potts prayed reverently and silently. Thank you, Sir! It just can't be happening to me, but it is! Why do I ever have to go home? To hemorrhoid remedies and pictures of the snail-like convolutions of our sinus cavities. All this joy, and not a single underarm bacteria killed the whole night! Nor likely to be Viva Mexico!"

SIU Goes International Tonight In Peruvian Olympians Game

It may not be necessary for Southern's playmaker to resort to number calling or hand signals to indicate which pattern he intends to run tonight.

The Salukis start the second half of their basketball season at 8 tonight in Carbondale's Bowen Gym. The opponents--Peru's national champions--reportedly speak little English.

In facing the Peruvian All-Stars, the Salukis will be up against a rangy club which has already met several of the top college teams in the country. The Peruvians are capable of placing a team on the floor which would average almost 6-5.

The Olympians are on an extended tour of the United States and have come up against the likes of Wichita (10th ranked AP), Pitt, Kentucky Wesleyan (7th ranked UPI-small college), Kansas State, Oklahoma, Toledo and Tennessee A&I.

The Lima crew is led by 6-7 Ricardo Duarte, the team captain. He averages more than 30 points per game in his native country, and carried a 29 ppg. mark during the Peruvians' 1961 tour of the U.S.

Duarte also has two brothers, Raul and Enrique, who go 6-8 and 6-3.

30 Schools Join Research Project

SIU has joined hands with more than 30 other major schools throughout the nation in an exchange research program in political behavior.

Through its Public Affairs Research Bureau, SIU has become affiliated with the Inter-University Consortium for Political Research, headquartered at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Irving Howards, acting director of the SIU bureau, said the organization encourages joint research in political behavior by political scientists, sociologists, psychologists, economists and others. Howards said membership in the Consortium will enable Southern to take advantage of such research conducted at other universities.

Hartman is expected to go with Joe Ramsey and Duane Warning at the forward spots and Paul Henry and Eldon Bigham at the guard positions. Hartman has been starting Bigham over Dave Lee in the past three games because of Bigham's added experience.

Lloyd Stovall was reported out of the lineup with an injured thigh but the 6-6 center is ready to go despite the injury. Ed Searcy, a 6-5 reserve, chipped a bone in his hand and will be out of the lineup for sometime.

Hartman is expected to go

Shay Takes Rhode Island Job

Southern's backfield coach, Harry Shay, who resigned at the end of the football season, has taken a similar position with the University of Rhode Island.

Shay has been backfield with Joe Ramsey and Duane Warning at the forward spots and Paul Henry and either Eldon Bigham or Dave Lee at the guard positions--most likely Bigham. If Stovall doesn't get the OK from Doc Spackman, Boyd O'Neal might get his first starting assignment of the year.

Southern's varsity reserves will meet Peru's Air Force Academy team in a 5:45 prelim. Southern's freshman squad will be out of town tonight against Harrisburg.

Admission for tonight's attraction will be $1 for students.

coach under Carmen Piccone who has submitted his resignation -- since 1958. The former Notre Dame athlete, who was reported to be going to Louisiana State to work on his degree, will be an assistant to head coach Jack Zillel at the Rhode Island campus.

Shay's secondary unit established a new school pass interception record at SIU in 1962 when it grabbed 20 enemy passes while allowing only 54 completions.

STOVALL HURTING - Lloyd Stovall, Southern's big 6-6 center will be in the lineup against the Peru All-Stars tonight despite an injured thigh.

Gymnasts to Face Mankato With Mitchell, Probeck Out

Little Mankato State may be a big hurdle to jump if Southern's gymnastics team is going to win its 21st straight dual meet in the Men's Gym tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Not that the Minnesotans have a strong team--the Salukis clobbered them last year 80-31 and they'll probably knock them down again--but the point spread might not be that wide, and for two good reasons.

Captain Rusty Mitchell and trampoline man, John Probeck, will not be in uniform for tomorrow afternoon's meet. Although Mitchell has led the Salukis in their last two outings with seven firsts, and Probeck is the Salukis strongest entry on the trampoline, both performers have missed practice one day this week and will be benched by coach Bill Meade.

Junior Bill Wolf will be called to fill the vacancy left by Mitchell. He has been runner-up in the scoring department in Southern's only two outings and will be counted on to lead the Salukis against the Gophers.

Wolf is yet to be beaten on the high bar or still rings this year. He will be ably backed up by brother Denny who is in a mild slump but is about ready to come back, according to Meade.

Ray Yano, Chuck Ehrlich and Steve Pasternak are Southern's other frontline performers.

Coach Meade is expecting a close match since the Salukis will probably have to overcome a 20 point handicap due to the loss of Mitchell and Probeck. Meade will use performers from other events to fill the vacancies, but he expects the Gophers to pick up a 26-6 lead which will have to be overcome in five events.

Mankato is undefeated this season having won their first three matches. Included in their victims is Navy Pier which was swamped last week by the Salukis.

The Gophers are led by Leonard Thompson who is a stand-out performer on the trampoline, side horse, high bar, rings and the parallel bars. Thompson will have his work cut out for him if he and his teammates are to stop the high flying Salukis.

Rev. Hoffman to Speak At Thompson Point

The Rev. Edward L. Hoffman, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Carbondale, will speak on "Inter-Faith Marriage" at 10:30 p.m. today at Smith Hall.

A.C. Janes Dies; Son-in-Law at SIU

Student Released On $2,000 Bail

Robert W. Burton, 18-year-old freshman from Chicago, was released Tuesday on $2,000 bond, after being charged with burglary and larceny in a case involving SIU property.

Burton admitted taking two tape recorders from the Wham Education Building on Jan. 9. Campus police officers recovered the tape recorders and arrested Burton.

Freshmen Down Mt. Vernon, Play at Harrisburg Tonight

The SIU freshman basketball team rolled over Mt. Vernon Junior College 94 to 73 Tuesday night at Mt. Vernon.

It was the highest scoring output of the season for the frosh as they rolled up their fourth win in five outings.

The Salukis were in command of the game all the way as they grabbed a 10 point lead at the half, 44-34. Clarence Smith was the big gun for the frosh as he poured 16 points through the hoop in that half. His first half performance was overshadowed by the home team's Woodroom who virtually kept his team in the game with his 20 points.

The visiting Salukis added to their lead in the second half as they outscored the home team 50-39. Smith once again led the onslaught in the second half as he added 17 points to his total. He was aided by teammate Ray Krapp who contributed 10 points.

Smith was the game's leading scorer with 33 points. His total dethroned teammate Walt Frazier who had been the team's leading scorer in each of its previous games. Frazier, who has led the team in the other games, was able to score only six points in the game.

Woodroom was the leading scorer for Mt. Vernon as he totaled 26 points, 20 of them coming in the first half. He was followed by McRaven who added 21 tallies to the loser's total.

The next game for the yearlings will be tonight when they travel to Harrisburg to play Southeastern Illinois College.

Freshmen Play Three Road Games

The SIU freshman basketball team is busy this week with three opponents.

Tuesday night the young Salukis faced Mt. Vernon Junior College, and meet Southeastern Illinois College of Harrisburg tonight. Saturday night's opponent will be Murray State. All three of the games will be played on the road.

The only loss for the freshmen in five games this year was a 74-66 setback at the hands of the varsity reserves Saturday night.

The team is led by Walt Frazier, a high scoring cager from Atlanta, Ga. Frazier dumped in 24 points against the reserves in a losing effort, and his high game for the season was a 31 point performance against Kentucky Wesleyan.

Tournament Week Enters Final Days

Tournament Week is well on its way.

Men's Bowling and Chess finals are slated for Saturday, while the bridge runoff will take place on Sunday.

Trophies for champions in all categories will be presented soon after competition is completed. These champions are also eligible to compete in future games at Purdue University.

Cage Leaders Headed for Fall As Intramural Race Tightens

With the intramural basketball season now in progress, this could be the last week when only undefeated teams remain in first place in the different leagues.

Mayor Asks City to Support Projects to Match SIU Growth

Mayor D. Blaney Miller has called on the people of Carbondale to support capital improvements in the city to meet the growth demands of SIU.

Speaking at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon in the Elks Club, Miller predicted that by 1980 Carbondale will have 70,000 to 80,000 residents and SIU will have a student enrollment of 40,000.

The mayor cited the number of building permits for student dormitories in the last 60 days as an example of the tremendous growth. He said that building permits for dorms to provide facilities for 2,300 students have been issued in the last two months.

And he predicted that within the next 30 days permits to build facilities to house 1,400 more students in off-campus dorms will be issued.

Miller told the Rotary Club that every time five more students enroll at SIU, the University has to add one more employe and every time two new students enroll, the community adds one more resident.

He predicted that by 1980 Carbondale would have to have a water supply equal to Crab Orchard Lake to service the community.

SIU Archaeologist Awarded Grant for Mexican Research

Melvin Fowler, SIU archaeologist, has been awarded a senior post-doctoral fellowship for 1964-65 by the National Science Foundation, for study and research at Harvard and in Mexico.

Fowler, curator of North American archaeology in the SIU Museum and assistant professor of anthropology, is also serving this year as acting director of the Museum.

His post-doctoral study will focus on the development of formative communities of the temple-town type of culture in two different areas, the Lower Mississippi River Valley and in eastern Puebla and central Vera Cruz in Mexico.

He has directed a cooperative Illinois Archaeological Survey salvage program in the 1,000-year-old Indian settlements along the Mississippi River near East St. Louis and has engaged in survey and excavation work in Mexico for four years together with other scientists exploring under an R.S. Peabody Foundation project. Last year they worked under an individual grant from the American Philosophical Society.

Fowler expects to do research in collections on the Mississippi River culture in the Peabody Museum at Harvard and at the American Museum of Natural History in New York, and to work with Harvard archaeologists. He plans to affiliate with the National Museum of Anthropology of Mexico and the National University of Mexico in pursuing the Mexican phase of the study.

Fowler came to SIU in 1959 after having served 10 years as curator of anthropology at the Illinois State Museum. He received a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Purdue University and master's and doctor's degrees in anthropology and archaeology from the University of Chicago.
