Brandt: Freshman enrollment will be limited again

For the second straight year, enrollment of freshman to SIU-C will be limited because of budget restraints. President Warren Brandt said Tuesday.

Applications of first-time freshmen submitted after Aug. 1 will be considered only for next spring semester. The deadline does not apply to continuing students, transfers, re-entering students, graduate students or new freshmen who have already applied.

Kirby Browning, director of admissions and records, said Tuesday that of the 8,077 freshmen who had applied by Friday, SIU has accepted 3,718. Last year at this time, 7,860 freshmen had applied.

Brandt said SIU plans to enroll between 20,600 and 20,900 students when school begins Aug. 22, compared to 20,866 the previous fall.

"Within the limits of our ability to predict, we will be at the same number of anticipated students on Aug. 1 as we were in 1976," Brandt said in a statement. "With our present operating budget, these numbers are all we can handle and still provide the educational quality and atmosphere that our students have come to expect."

Brandt said SIU was unable to schedule enough freshman classes last year to meet the demand because of limited faculty resources.

Last year, SIU denied fall semester admission to 128 students who were placed on a waiting list.

"We regret the necessity of doing this again," Brandt said.

Brandt noted SIU does not expect a drop in enrollment, despite tighter admission standards.

Under the new policy, prospective students must rank in the upper half of their high school class and have a score of at least 16 on the American College Testing (ACT) program. Students who finish in the lower half of their class can be admitted if the ACT score is 20 or above.

Until this summer, SIU admitted students who either finished in the upper half of their high school class or had an ACT score of 20.

Foundation issues investment policy prior to protest

By Ron Morgan
Student Writer

The officers and board directors of the SIU Foundation, which has come under criticism because of foundation stock holdings in companies doing business in South Africa, issued a statement Tuesday condemning acts that interfere with human rights.

The statement, which appears on page 16, came on the eve of a demonstration planned by a new campus organization, Coalition Against Racial Exploitation (CARE), at 11 a.m. Wednesday in front of Anthony Hall. CARE is protesting the foundation's ownership in half a dozen U.S. firms with interests in South Africa.

Joe Goodman, foundation executive director, said the statement was written by the foundation's legal counsel and approved by the directors. He said it was intended to clear up misunderstandings that the foundation, in "not wanting to become part of any kind of petty dispute," was not concerned about policies of corporations whose businesses in South Africa support apartheid.

Goodman had been quoted earlier as saying he couldn't care less about South African interests of corporations in which the foundations owns stock and called protests about U.S. investments in South Africa "a petty political issue."

Earnings from the stock finance the salary of an economics professor, scholarships for three students in the English Department and a $500 award given each year to a graduating senior.

CARE, which has received support from the Graduate Student Council, Black Affairs Council and Dennis Adamczyk, student president, said in its statement of purpose that the SIU Foundation's stockholdings in companies which operate in South Africa "help support a police state where the white minority enjoys the highest standard of living in the world because the majority suffers one of the lowest."

William Ogonowski, member of the CARE coordinating committee, said Bonet Mtukudzi, a native of Zimbabwe, Rhodesia who has also lived in South Africa, will be the main speaker at the demonstration on Wednesday.

Mtukudzi is a Ph.D. candidate in economics.

Following the speech by Mtukudzi, the protesters plan to circle Anthony Hall for a short time, then march across campus to the SIU Foundation offices at 909 W. Chautauqua, Ogonowski said.

The demonstration will be peaceful, Ogonowski said. CARE has obtained demonstration permits from both the university and the city.

According to the SIU Foundation's Annual Report dated March 31, 1976, the value of stocks owned in companies which operate in South Africa are: Exxon, 62 shares, $5,820; Ford Motor Co., 10 shares, $670; General Electric Co., 120 shares, $6,300; Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., 26 shares, $1,867; American Cyanamid Co., 80 shares, $2,128; and Ashland Oil Co., 15,294 shares, $535,298.

Council to consider mall expansion

By Sue Greene
Staff Writer

The planned expansion of the University Mall will be considered for initial approval by the City Council next week.

The J & W Land Trust, which owns the existing mall site, is requesting the council to rezone 14 acres of land south of the existing mall from agriculture to planned business.

The rezoning is the first step toward developing an addition to the mall, James Rayfield, Carbondale planning director, said.

The planned expansion will include 14 small stores and one large department store. The department store will be two stories tall and will encompass 102,000 square feet according to J.W. McKinney, an agent for the land trust.

Competition between existing stores and the planned stores will not be a problem, McKinney said. He explained some stores at the mall have already enlarged. McKinney expects the new mall to be completed in about three years.

The council indicated it found no problems with the request at an informal City Council meeting Monday night.

Helen Westberg, council member, offered her congratulations to McKinney for the expansion.

The University Mall draws people from all over Southern Illinois and is helping Carbondale become a regional trade center, Westberg said in a recent interview.

The new mall will be planned and owned by the Hocker-Squitiari Co. of Owensboro, Ky., the same company which developed the existing mall.

After the land is rezoned, plans for the new mall must be approved by the City Council and a building permit must be issued before the building can be started, Rayfield said.

Both malls will be connected at the south end of the existing mall, McKinney said. He added the new mall would be similar in design to the existing mall. The existing mall opened in October 1974.

Contractors suspended for bid rigging

SPRINGFIELD, (AP)—Two of the biggest road contractors in Illinois and seven companies with which they are associated have been suspended for six months from bidding on state road work, the head of the state Department of Transportation said Tuesday.

The suspensions came after the contractors, Thomas J. Bowler and George Krug, Sr., and four firms entered pleas of guilty in June to federal charges that they engaged in collusive bidding practices. They were accused of rigging bids on two contracts awarded by the City of Chicago in 1974 and 1975 for improvements at O'Hare International Airport.

Bill would limit oil companies holdings

NEW YORK (AP)—As oil and gas reserves diminish, oil companies are investing in alternate energy sources such as solar power, coal and uranium. But the diversification is leading to increasing talk in Congress and elsewhere of stopping "megamonopolies." Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., introduced a bill Tuesday that would prevent major oil and gas companies from acquiring more coal or uranium properties. Within three years, those companies would have to dispose of the coal and uranium interests they now hold.

Saboteurs damage Alaskan pipeline

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Explosions which authorities said were deliberately set blew away insulation on part of the Alaska pipeline about 15 miles north of here but did not interfere with the flow of oil. About 30-40 feet of an above-ground section of the pipeline were damaged, Larry Talbert, state deputy commissioner of public safety, said Tuesday.

Groups protest welfare reform proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Housing and urban groups geared up Tuesday to convince the Carter administration again that welfare reform should not reduce payments to tenants of federally subsidized housing. During the day, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. sent President Carter his 60-page final proposals for the $25-billion overhaul of welfare that the administration wants to unveil Aug. 4. Sources said reducing payments for such tenants was among three options to help finance the package.

Center to sponsor lifestyle seminar

The SIU Environmental Center will sponsor a seminar on alternative lifestyles at 7 p.m. Thursday on the third floor of the Student Center in the old Video Lounge.

Paul Yambert, SIU professor of forestry, will moderate the subject and lead the discussion of various alternative lifestyles.

Patrick McCarthy, steering committee member, said, "we hope this will be an open seminar with all forms of styles discussed, including solar and wind energies, organic gardening, eco-communities, human lifestyle and any other innovative approach."

Pay television costs may increase

By Sue Greene
Staff Writer

Cable television rates within city limits will increase Sept. 1 if the City Council adopts recommendations from the Carbondale Cable Television Commission.

The commission recommended that the installation fee be increased from $10 to $15.90, the monthly rate be increased from $7.50 to 7.95, and that the installation fee for a second set be increased from $1 to $2.

The increases are needed because the cable television company says it is losing over $100,000 a year, Hans Fischer, City Council representative to the commission, said Tuesday.

Monday night the City Council reviewed the commission's suggestions and a report from an independent consultant regarding the rate changes.

Donald Vaughn, chairman of SIU's finance Department, serving as the city's consultant, recommended the increases.

The consultant's suggestion to raise the monthly rate for additional television sets in the home from $ to $2 was also sent to the council.

The City Council directed John Womick, city attorney, to prepare an ordinance adopting the rate increases. The council will take formal action on the recommendations Monday night.

These five SIU police officers completed a one week training program at the FBI academy. The training was part of the development of a special tactics force designed to handle situations outside

Five-man special tactics force bolsters University security

By Doug Daniels
Staff Writer

If you see a policeman in coveralls and a baseball cap at SIU, he is a member of the five-man special tactics force.

"A special tactics force is a highly trained team used to apprehend a barricaded gunman or a gunman with hostages after all negotiations have failed," Lt. Marvin Braswell said.

Braswell is the leader of the five-man team which the University Police recently sent to Quantico, Va., for one week of special tactics training at the FBI National Academy.

"The team members, and I want to stress that we are a team, are all regular policemen here. We have regular beats and are only called together if a special tactics team is needed," Braswell said.

This is a bit different than the Special Weapons and Tactics (SWAT) teams in Los Angeles and other cities. They patrol in fully equipped step vans and do not perform normal police duties," he added.

Braswell said the training involved the handling of special weapons and a rigorous program in physical fitness.

"Let me tell you it wasn't easy. I had to swim 50 yards—fully clothed—with a high powered rifle strapped to my back. We repelled up and down a five-story building. We tossed a medicine ball back and forth while we jogged for a couple of miles every day," he said.

Each man spent time in classes dealing with demolition, firearm use and past problems encountered by special tactics forces.

"They kept emphasizing the team concept. The FBI showed us a film which had two guys getting ready to bust in a door. They both moved at the same time and got stuck in the doorway because of lack of teamwork," he said.

Braswell said the men also went through practical problems in the field. Using blank shells, the teams were instructed to apprehend a sniper.

"We worked out maneuvers which would protect ourselves, innocent bystanders and the criminal. We tried to reduce the danger of anyone getting hurt," he said.

Mike Norrington, University police training officer, said a highly trained special tactics team is beneficial to SIU.

"If there should be a need for a special tactics force, say, in the case of a sniper, I would feel better about the team going in with rifles than myself going in with a handgun," Norrington said.

Braswell said, "If a sniper sees a team of men coming at him with high-powered, scoped rifles, he is going to say, 'Hey, these guys mean business.'"

Norrington said SIU's only special equipment are high-powered rifles.

"Tear gas launchers, binoculars, shotguns and handguns are standard equipment around here. If the team needs repelling gear or something that isn't standard, we rely on the Physical Plant to fix us up," Norrington said.

Braswell said the training received at the FBI school could be used not only in criminal situations but also for rescue and assistance calls.

The other four men who attended the school were officers John Hudson, Raymond Wise, Steve Rishel and Fred Washburn, all University police officers.

Beg your pardon

The Student Government Bank Survey, published in the Daily Egyptian Friday, stated that the Carbondale National Bank charges 50 cents for all items not drawn on local banks and all ledger entries. The Carbondale National Bank charges 5 cents for those items, not 50 cents.

The survey also incorrectly reported that the First National Bank of Chicago charges $1 for returned checks. The bank actually charges $5 for returned checks.

Finally, Student Government did not intend to recommend one bank over another bank but rather intended to provide information on the various banks' charges.

The 'positive woman' has flown the coop

By Linda Thompson
Associate Editor

When Bella Abzug was asked recently what changes she would like to see in the next five years, she replied, "Phyllis Schlafly (to) stay home, where she belongs."

Not only has the avowed opponent of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Equal Rights

Not only has the avowed opponent of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution not stayed home, she has leapt right up there where the air is thin and the board rooms are paneled in oak.

Phyllis Schlafly, the woman who takes credit for stopping the ERA in 20 states, was named one of the top 10 most powerful people in Illinois last week by a blue-ribbon panel assembled by the Associated Press.

Power. The AP panel defined it operationally as "the greatest ability to accomplish goals or to influence decisions affecting the greatest number of people." It is ironic that the one woman in the state perceived as having power advises readers in her latest book, "The Power of the Positive Woman," that "a woman (who tries) to live as fully as her potential allows... will be the loser if she chases this goal."

So while all those fanatic Phyllis-followers presumably were at home baking bread, growing roses and procreating like crazy, what was the Pied Piper herself doing?

Well, first she paid some dues to the dogma she delivers. She reared six children and taught them all to read at home before they entered school, as her book jacket proudly proclaims. But did the woman who tells her sex that its greatest liberator is Thomas Edison, "who brought the miracle of electricity to our houses to run all those labor-saving devices," then contentedly stay home and listen to the whirr of her refrigerator?

No, she did not. She went out and got herself graduated Phi Beta Kappa from Washington University in St. Louis. She earned a master's degree in political science from Harvard University. At 51, she is working on a law degree. She has made two bids for Congress (in 1962 and 1970) and lost both times. She broadcasts twice weekly on CBS radio. She writes a syndicated newspaper column. She has authored four books and co-authored five others. And although her "checklist of laws the positive woman should defeat" includes "state, county or city commissions or councils on the status of women," she is a member of the Illinois Commission on the Status of Women.

Phyllis Schlafly is her own best example that what she preaches is as antiquated as a junked Model-T Ford—and should be allowed to rot in peace. The woman prophesies that "if you look upon your home as a cage, you will find yourself just as imprisoned in an office. The flight from home," Schlafly says, "is a flight from yourself, from responsibility, from the nature of woman, in pursuit of false hopes and fading illusions." And after advising women to stay in that cage where they belong, Phyllis hired a maid to clean her Alton, Ill., home and flew the coop.

That she has been able to accomplish truly formidable goals is due less to the polemics she espouses than to the changes in the social order which she is on record as opposing. The Positive Woman is a hypocrite.

That old misogynist Samuel Johnson said that "nature has given women so much power that the law has very wisely given them little." Phyllis Schlafly would like to keep it that way—it means more room at the top for her.

Letters

Adamczyk says party must appeal to broad interests

Editor's note: This letter is in reference to Eugene Frankowski's letter which appeared in the July 15 issue of the Daily Egyptian.

I am reluctant to respond to a letter which engages in personal invective but the factual inaccuracies and implications made require a response. A few clarifications are necessary.

Mr. Frankowski has insinuated that I have abandoned my environmental concerns by supporting the construction of new parking facilities "nearer the school." In fact, I have not supported new parking facilities, but simply stated that any new facilities should be primarily for student use, i.e., designated for red stickers.

The parking facilities mentioned have been in the planning stages for several years and previous administrations have had the opportunity to oppose their construction. I am not aware of any serious opposition raised by Tom Jones or Doug Diggie, both former student body presidents, to the construction of these parking lots which will expand existing lots. The primary decisions to proceed with these parking areas were made long ago. I was not a party to those discussions or decisions.

Aside from the parking lot issue, the more serious charge is made that our platform and indeed our party name, "The Environmental Action Party," was nothing more than a political ploy. I resent that implication personally. If I were to address only "environmental" issues, I'm sure Mr. Frankowski would be among my leading critics charging that I was neglecting student concerns of broader scope.

In our campaign, we attempted to show that environmental concerns transcended the narrow perspective of cleaning up air and water or recycling the Daily Egyptian. The impact of the university administration, housing policy, MEG, Rec-building policy and many other concerns comprise the "environment" of students. Obviously, my attentions have been to address all these issues and to represent students in a professional manner.

One final comment is necessary. Mr. Frankowski, in his letter to the editor, has represented himself as a student senator. In fact, he is not. In the last election he did not receive enough votes to be elected. He is, however, an alternate, as are all persons who receive votes.

Had Mr. Frankowski been a senator, he would have had the responsibility to participate in the decision making process and to advise the executive of his concerns. Mr. Frankowski has not contacted me, written to explain his positions or even, to my knowledge, been in the Student Government offices this summer.

I do not consider his approach of using the editorial pages of the Daily Egyptian very professional in light of his failure to discuss the issue with me. When, or if, I am wrong, I welcome criticism. I do not accept, however, unwarranted attacks against my professional credibility. Had Mr. Frankowski been a senator, he would have owed his constituents better representation.

Dennis Adamczyk
Student Body President

WPSD had right to cancel 'Saturday Night Live'

In regards to the letter to the editor headlined "Saturday Nite Live," censored by WPSD for vulgar indecency:

Unfortunately, WPSD-TV (Channel 6 in Paducah, Ky.) has the legal right to cancel the NBC "Saturday Night Live" program under the Communications Act of 1934. Miss Anderson and Miss Ober were too anxious to scream "censorship" before fully understanding the situation.

If my memory serves me correctly, the broadcast station has the legal right to cancel a program if it feels it is not in the public's interest, convenience or necessity.

This is not censorship. Censorship is defined as "prior restraint from an outside source." An example of true censorship would be if the Federal Communications Commission tried to cancel "Saturday Night Live."

Although I personally feel that "Saturday Night Live" is a great program, I also feel that WPSD-TV should not be condemned for exercising its legal right to cancel a program that it feels is "vulgar and indecent."

Miss Anderson and Miss Ober were right on one point, however. It is your legal right to write or call WPSD-TV and let it know your opinion—whether it be pro or con.

'Live' Beatles album not worth it

By D. Leon Feltz

Entertainment Editor

Live At The Hollywood Bowl, The Beatles, Capitol.

It's been 13 years now since four young Englishmen took rock and roll back to its roots, resurrecting the songs of Little Richard and Chuck Berry, and writing some fine ones of their own, (all coupled with three-part harmonies a la the Everly Brothers), to make musical history.

They caught the mood of the world's youth in the middle of what would prove to be a most troublesome decade, and their influence both culturally and musically is still being felt throughout the West. On August 23, 1964, and again on August 30, 1965 the Beatles played at the huge, prestigious Hollywood Bowl at the height of what the press labeled, "Beatlemania."

Both concerts were recorded on the most sophisticated recording device of the day—a mere three-track—and laid in the Capitol vaults, awaiting posterity until now. And no, the Beatles didn't release them, Capitol released them after the Beatles relinquished control of their records.

The reason the Beatles (or the four gentlemen who were once the Beatles) would never have released them is simply that they are pretty awful even after George Martin, the celebrated producer, remixed the original masters using the most contemporary recording equipment.

In fact, it may well be that the Beatles weren't that hot "live," in the way that the Rolling Stones were, although their studio work was "beyond compare." It is interesting to note that with the release of "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band," in 1968, the Beatles never bothered to perform "live" again, with the exception of a brief, rooftop performance in London during the filming of "Let It Be."

The screaming of 17,000 young, healthy voices throughout this album isn't the main problem, though, since Martin mixed it far enough down that it doesn't overly intrude into the music.

Poetry reading to be held at Student Center

Award-winning poet Colleen McElroy will give a reading of several of her works 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Student Center Illinois Room.

McElroy, winner of the Pushcart Prize for her collection, "The Griots Who Knew Brer Fox," is a native of St. Louis and assistant professor of English at the University of Washington at Seattle. McElroy's collection, "Music From Home," is the first publication in the new SIU Press Sagittarius Poetry Series.

McElroy is also a recognized authority on language development, and author of, "Speech and Language Development of the Pre-School Child." She has also produced two films on language development.

The poetry reading is co-sponsored by the SIU Press and the SIU English Department.

Unfortunately, the music itself is what suffers. It's not bad, but if you really care about these early songs—and they are good songs, great songs even, that are worth caring about and remembering—then get yourself a collection of the studio versions. This album is interesting from a historical standpoint, it's true, but not from a musical one.

A Review

For starters, this was 1964 and '65 and the Fab Four were using a modest bank of those old Vox speakers, a P.A. system that would seem pitifully inadequate by today's standards, and as Martin points out in the liner notes, the Beatles didn't even have the luxury of vocal monitor speakers, with which they theoretically could have heard themselves sing. As it happened it's doubtful that they were hearing themselves play, much less sing.

As a result, the harmonies are not always on key—certainly not what they were capable of being. Individual vocals invariably sound strained and or flat, and the instruments are distorted and somewhat off key.

To their credit, there are no glaring mistakes within—the Beatles knew this material well—well enough to play it under these circumstances even, and there are even some high points.

Ringo's drumming is solid as is McCartney's bass. Ringo sings his usual fine rendition of "Boys," and a fair version of the haunting (and under-rated) melody "Things We Said Today," is included. Lennon's voice sounds properly hoarse and possesses the desperate edge that is his trademark, especially on "Roll Over Beethoven," and "Help." And Harrison manages some tasty licks that are not on the studio cuts.

Still, this album seems suspiciously like a Capitol Records scam for making yet another million off the Beatles legend. It's interesting historically, but not musically. Strictly for the professional musicologist, or the hard-core nostalgia freaks.

1977 SUMMER FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE INFORMATION

Because of the limited number of examination periods available, no departmental examination times are scheduled for the Summer. The examination schedule attempts to avoid examination conflicts by providing separate examination periods for Tuesday-Thursday lecture classes. Some questions might develop for which answers can be provided at this time.

1. Classes that meet longer than one hour on Tuesday and Thursday, such as two semester hour classes, should use the examination period established for the earlier hours. (For example, a class meeting from 7:30 to 9:00 on Tuesday and Thursday would hold its examination at 4:00 Thursday, August 4.) This applies also to non-lecture type courses such as laboratory or seminar type courses.

2. Classes should plan to hold their final examinations in their regularly scheduled classrooms. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations for those classes that cannot hold their examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms in advance of the final examination days to provide sufficient notice for all.

The following points are also pertinent relative to the final examination schedule:

1. Students who find they have more than three examinations on one day may petition, and students who have two examinations scheduled at one time should petition their academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that students may decide to miss the scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for students whose petitions have been approved by their dean.

2. Students who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given students who miss a final examination and are not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.

1. One credit hour courses, and classes scheduled for meeting dates less than the full 8-week session have their examinations during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the two formal final examination days.

2. Other classes.

1977 babies' longevity rate highest ever

WASHINGTON (AP)—Today's girl babies can expect to live to 81 and boys to almost 72, nearly three years longer than expected before, because fewer people are dying of heart attacks, the Census Bureau says.

In a report released Monday on population projections of the United States, the Census Bureau said the death rate of adults over 35 declined much more rapidly between 1973 and 1975 than it did during the previous decade.

The decline was due largely to a reduction in deaths from major cardiovascular diseases, such as heart attacks, the report says.

Asked if this was a result of improved medical techniques and lower cholesterol diets, Signe Wetrogan, a demographer who worked on the report, said, "We just don't know. We don't know much about the mortality decrease of the last few years."

The median age of the population has increased from 27.9 in 1970 to 29 in 1976, the figures show. The report projects that by the turn of the century, the median age will range from 32.5 to 37.3. The median age means that half the people in the country are older than that and half are younger.

The report said unless there is a large-scale war, major epidemic or other catastrophe, the over-65 population will grow from an estimated 22.9 million in 1976, which was 11 per cent of the population, to 31.8 million in the year 2000, about 12 per cent of the population.

However, a major jump in the elderly population is predicted in 2030, when the combination of declining mortality and the aging of the post-World War II baby boom generation will swell the elderly population to 55 million. That means that anywhere from 14 to 22 per cent of the nation's population would be over 65, a situation that would have a major impact on social and economic institutions.

Social scientists say that as a result of this growing proportion of elderly persons, the country will have to consider changes in its pension, medical care and educational systems, as well as make decisions that will affect the quality of life the elderly will enjoy.

Campus Briefs

David E. Christensen, geography professor, had a book review, "Peter Plan: A Proposal for Survival," published in the May issue of the Professional Geographer.

Elwyn E. Zimmerman, assistant professor of higher education, attended the Institution for Advanced Study of Rational Cycle Therapy in New York City last week.

Juanita Anderson, producer-director of WSIU-TV, is currently attending a meeting of the National Congressional Black Caucus in Washington, D.C. Topics being covered at the meeting include blacks in media ownership, employment, advertising and programming.

The Illinois Association of Railroad Passengers (IllinARP) has been formed to lobby for improved rail passenger service in Illinois. IllinARP is an organization open to all citizens interested in using and improving intercity and commuter railroad service.

Phone workers, union agree on possible strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Telephone workers have given union leaders overwhelming approval to call a nationwide strike against the Bell System next month if contract talks fail to produce an acceptable agreement.

A formal strike date was left to union leaders to decide, but a walkout could come as early as midnight Aug. 6, when current contracts expire.

"We want a settlement, not a strike," said President Glenn E. Watts of the Communications Workers of America. "But the situation is very serious and it's getting very late."

He said the 6-1 margin by which a strike was authorized "makes it clear that our members... are ready to walk out if that action becomes necessary."

The CWA, which represents 500,000 Bell System employees, is the largest union involved in the negotiations and the pattern-setter. Also taking part are the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, representing about 120,000 employees, and a group of smaller unions with about 70,000 members.

The unions last week rejected as inadequate the company's initial offer of a new three-year contract providing a 10 per cent wage increase and an additional 10 per cent in cost-of-living raises.

A strike would affect the 32 Bell System operating companies across the country, Western Electric, Bell's manufacturing arm, and the Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Since most telephone service is automated, the public would continue to have service. But company spokesmen say there would be delays in installing new equipment and repairing existing equipment.

Commonwealth Edison loses battle opposing state pollution regulations

By Bill Demaree
Associated Press Editor

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Commonwealth Edison Co. has lost its three-year battle to oppose state regulations that would for the first time set limits at the source on coal-burning polluters.

The Illinois Pollution Control Board voted 3 to 1 recently to reinstitute regulations which had been suspended for almost three years while they were challenged in court by the utility.

The action means the rules, which set limits on the amounts of solid pollutants and sulphur dioxide gas which industry smokestacks can emit, will take effect on Sept. 1 following a 45-day period of public comment, officials said Tuesday.

"The primary effect will be to remove an uncertainty in industry's mind about what the legally enforceable standard will be," said

Gary L. Melvin, who is in charge of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency's air quality unit.

The regulations, originally issued April 14, 1972, were stymied by a legal challenge from Commonwealth Edison. The utility argued that the regulations were issued without any concern for what it would cost to install control devices on power plants.

An appellate court, in a Dec. 19, 1974 decision upheld by the Illinois Supreme Court, agreed with the utility and ordered the Pollution Control Board to either reissue the regulations or change them before they could take effect.

"There was no technical basis for them, nor were they accompanied by the necessary economic impact statements," A.O. Courtney, air quality director for the utility, said.

Commonwealth Edison is looking at the board's ruling, which it received Friday, to decide whether to take legal action that could further stall the regulations. Courtney said. But he said the utility has complied with the emission standards whenever possible.

The utility and a majority of the board's members disagree on whether the board should have had to study the economic impact of the rules, which are used by the EPA to decide whether coal plants get permits to operate.

The regulations depart from the way Illinois has so far attempted to regulate air pollution from coal, according to James Young, an IPCC member.

The state already has standards for air quality that are especially strict for the Chicago, St. Louis and Peoria metropolitan areas. The rules set a maximum level for fly ash and potentially corrosive sulphur dioxide in the air.

$1,524 stolen in three burglaries

Three burglaries and one case of vandalism were reported to Carbondale police this week. The losses in the four incidents totaled $1,524.

David Oberhofer told police his house on South Logan Street was broken into Sunday night. About $1,214 worth of stereo equipment was taken. Police said the back door to Oberhofer's house had been pried open.

In a separate report, a trash collector told police the main door to Buffalo Bob's, 101 W. College St., was open early Tuesday morning at 4 a.m.

Ralph Parrish, owner of the tavern, told police about $220 in cash and checks were missing.

In a third burglary report, Joseph Smith told police his trailer on East Park Street, was entered Sunday night, and $90 in cash was taken. Police found no signs of forced entry at the trailer.

Bob Stearns of Bob Stearns Construction Co. told police a house his company was building on Dogwood Lane was damaged by fire of unknown origin over the weekend.

Police said the fire department had not been called. Police suspect arson in the case.

Stearns told police he has not estimated the damage to the house.

IM softball tournaments start

By Jim Mianan
Sports Editor

SIU's summer intramural softball tournaments are underway and three division finals will be played Wednesday at the Arena fields.

At 4 p.m. Ballbusters plays Flight in the 12-inch men's division A finals. Division A is for players of better caliber.

Two other finals will be played at 5 p.m.

Wailers play Ragamuffins in the 16-inch men's final and Silverball Busters tangles with Lady Wailers in the women's 16-inch final.

Other contests Wednesday will be a pair of coed 16-inch games and two 12-inch men's division B games.

In coed, Our Team plays Sociopaths and Bobcats plays Goldmine Cohorts. In 12-inch men's B play, Summerbummers play Hellbenders and Courageous Few plays Walt's Auto.

Phil Kaplan, graduate assistant for intramurals, said at least one of Wednesday's championship battles should be a close game, while the other two contests pit favorites against underdogs.

"The 16-inch women's final should be a really close game," Kaplan said. "Lady Wailers has beaten Silverball twice, but it still should be one of the most exciting final games. The women seem to play with a honest enthusiasm, just like little leaguers."

Lady Wailers, 7-0, advanced to the finals with a win over Co-Co's, while Silverball downed LBJ. Kaplan said the Wailers and Ballbusters, both experienced teams rate as favorites in the other two games.

"The Wailers are on of the best teams playing," Kaplan said. "They have high run production and the best defense."

Wailers downed Oasis Brothers, 6-2. Wednesday as pitcher Steve Sackhoff throttled Oasis' offensive attack. Ragamuffins upset Wizard's, 10-9, to advance to the finals. Ragamuffins led, 9-1, before almost losing the ballgame to the rallying Wizard's.

In other results Wednesday, Our Team beat Anti-Victory, Bobcats beat Really Bogus, Goldmine Cohorts beat Tappers, CMS Airheads beat Quatros Cubbies and Glove Anesthetics downed Outlaws.

Cubs' Reuschel pitches win; Reds drop 8th straight game

CHICAGO (AP)—Rick Reuschel silenced slumping Cincinnati on five hits to become the first 14-game winner in the National League as the Chicago Cubs blanked the Reds, 3-0, Tuesday.

Jose Cardenal cracked a home run and a double, scoring two runs, to back Reuschel, who never has won more than 14 games in five previous seasons with the Cubs.

Reuschel, 14-3, hurled his second straight shutout and stretched his string of shutout innings at home to 34 2/3.

The world champion Reds, who didn't get a runner past first base until the sixth inning, dropped their eighth straight game and are just one game above .500 at 48-47.

The Cubs struck early against loser Fred Norman, 9-7. Cardenal started the first with a double and scored on Larry Bittner's triple down the right field line.

Cardenal hammered his second home run of the season and first since April 27 in the fifth.

After Cincinnati put runners on second and third with two cuts in the sixth but failed to score, the Cubs scratched out a run in their half of the inning.

Jerry Morales lifted a pop fly that fell among three Reds in short right. He slid under the tag for a double. Morales moved up on a sacrifice bunt by Steve Ontiveros and scored when George Mitterwald legged out a grounder to deep shortstop.

Rock Island's Mark Peelstrom won the mile run at the All-Comers track meet July 21.

All-Comers track meet held; 30 new records set, one tied

Thirty meet records were established and one record tied in the seventh annual All-Comers track and field meet sponsored by the SIU Road Runners and the Department of Physical Education.

Three Saluki trackmen who competed on the 1977 team were winners in the meet held last Thursday.

Junior Mike Bisase won the 440-yard dash with a time of 53.5, senior Scott Dorsey captured the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.3 and Mark Conard, who has used his eligibility at SIU, won the high jump at 5-10 and the long jump at 22-2.

Meet director Ron Knowlton said the meet was run without trouble although he said ran last Thursday kept the number of entries down. Seventy-four competitors ran at the meet.

"The meet went pretty good and the people had a nice time."

Knowlton said. "We would've liked more women and girl competitors though."

Several athletes were multiple record breakers and winners in the meet.

Jason Moore won four events in the 9-10 age group—50-yard, 100-yard, 220-yard and 440-yard runs.

Mike Houston and Ron Taylor each set three records and won three events in their respective age groups and Karen Rushing and Norm Seavers also won three events. Rushing set two records.

Double winners were Chris Scott, Tonya Seavers and Jeff Brower. Seavers set a 220-yard record and Scott ran a 52.8 in the 440-yard run for another record.

Two ex-Salukis also won events. Doug Smith won the 220-yard dash and John St. John won the two-mile.

Couple needed help, battled red tape

By Gabriella Ludwiczak
Staff Writer

Linda and Gary Schroll had saved enough money for the delivery of their baby daughter, but they weren't quite prepared for final medical bills that totaled more than $65,000.

Two hours after Jennifer, their daughter, was delivered at Carbondale Memorial Hospital on March 10, the couple was told she was suffering from a premature lung and would have to be transferred to a respirator at St. Louis Children's Hospital.

This was the beginning of a two-month hospital stay for the infant and an even longer, unexpected red tape battle for the young couple when they turned to the government's social service agencies for financial help.

Linda Schroll said they realized the gravity of the situation when the business office at the St. Louis hospital inquired about their ability to make medical payments. The cost of the respirator alone was $1200 to $1500 a day, and Jennifer was on the respirator for nine days.

Neither Linda nor Gary were employed at the time. Gary is a student in electrical engineering at SIU and is preparing to graduate in December.

Linda had taken a leave of absence from Herrin Hospital where she is a registered nurse. Her Blue Cross and Blue Shield insurance at the hospital did not cover the baby's medical bills because the policy is not effective for the first ten months, and she had not yet been working there that long.

The Schrolls took their troubles to the Jackson County Department of Public Aid in Murphysboro. The reception they got was somewhat less than cordial.

Linda said that as soon as the interviewer at public aid found out Gary was a student "he said, 'We're not in the business of putting guys through school.'" She added that the man did tell them how to get food stamps but "food stamps weren't going to help those medical bills."

After applying for food stamps, the couple called Rep. Paul Simon's Carbondale office. His secretary advised them to go to the Carbondale Relief Office, but the relief office sent them back to public aid. The relief office said they could not help them until the Schrolls filled out forms at public aid and received an official denial for assistance.

In the meantime, Linda applied for unemployment compensation. After talking to a caseworker there, she became confident that she would receive help from this office. Six weeks later she was denied unemployment.

Linda Schroll is pictured with her two children in her Evergreen Terrace home. The baby, Jennifer, was hospitalized for two months after her birth and accumulated a hospital bill in excess of $65,000.

but was told to appeal the case. Her appeal date was to be set in a week, she was told.

Back at public aid, the couple filled out forms and sent in old check stubs to verify Gary's past employment history. He also was sent over to the employment office to register. If a job was found for him he would have to quit school and work despite the fact that he would be graduating in six months.

Linda said the public aid interviewer warned her, "He said, 'Don't think we won't find him a job, there's plenty of jobs for farmers picking corn in this area.'"

But Gary said the contention that he would have to take any job available contradicted what his caseworker at the employment office told him. The employment officer said they find a person a job that is related to what he has done in the past or is presently doing.

While the couple waited for the public aid, Linda was calling the unemployment office every week to see why her appeal date had not been set, until she was finally given a June 1 date.

She later found out, however, she was not eligible for unemployment compensation. The caseworker had lead her to believe there was a program for persons who are "available but unable" to work when, in fact, there is no such program.

Linda said the caseworker was apparently new to the job. Unemployment is not granted unless you are "available and able" to work, she said.

Next, public aid was demanding more information about past employment from Gary. He had to submit check stubs from the beginning of 1973 because he had not been employed during his more recent years as a student. Linda said they were lucky they had them. "How many people keep check stubs for that long?"

Feeling discouraged and frustrated the Schrolls went to Springfield to visit their family over the Memorial Day weekend. Linda said she finally decided to call Gov. Thompson while she was there. "By this time I was taking shots in the dark." To her surprise, he returned her call the following morning.

"His office was really receptive," Gary said, explaining that they reached the head of the area Public Aid Office for the Schrolls and arranged a final interview for them which thankfully resulted in assistance.

The couple is now beginning to make ends meet. Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the Illinois Prenatal Program and public aid cooperated to pay the Schrolls' medical bills. Food stamps and the monthly assistance check are helping them pay their other bills, although Gary said they are still "delinquent" with their rent.

The couple's initial view of public assistance, however, has altered considerably. They feel most of their problems stemmed from misinformation within and between government agencies.

Linda said when she walked into the Public Aid office she got the impression that "nobody knows what anyone else is doing."

She also said because of the fraud cases some of the agencies handle, "they just don't want to help people any more. It took the governor to get anything done."

As for Jennifer, Linda added, "I'm just glad the baby's home, she's normal, and her lungs are healing."

Top SIU administrators enter Rec Building free

By Constantine Karahalios
Staff Writer

SIU's top administrators and deans have been placed on a list that allows them free entry into the Recreation Building at any time.

But the list "is not intended to give them free use of the building facilities," according to William Bleyer, assistant dean of student life and administrative director of the Recreation Building.

Bleyer said the list was composed to allow administrators to show the facilities to prospective faculty members and students without going through time-consuming procedures.

Currently, persons who have not paid $20 use fee per semester are charged $1 per day for the use of the building's facilities and must be a guest of a regular user.

Bleyer said he made the list after it "proved just a little embarrassing for people to stop and find out the procedures.

"That happened two or three times in the past," Bleyer said. "I made up the list according to those who would be in a position to show prospective faculty members the building."

The list, dated July 11, named 28 top administrators and deans under a heading that states, "The following administrators are to be allowed into the building at any time."

Bleyer admitted "there is a possibility" administrators could misuse the free access status, but he added abuse of the privilege would be "very unlikely."

"I don't think most of them even know their name is on any sort of list," he said.

Bleyer added that a July 7 interdepartmental memorandum states that students should be allowed free access status to show the building to family and friends.

Foundation responds on investments

SIU Foundation Responds to the University Community in Regard to Investment Policy:

A misunderstanding has arisen by reason of the investment policies of the Southern Illinois University Foundation. The Board of the Foundation and its executive officers ask that its position be made clear. The Foundation Board and its executive officers are charged by the articles and bylaws of the Foundation to assist in providing the best possible education to the students of this great University.

The Foundation solicits funds from the alumni, students, and friends of the University to invest and distribute to the University, its faculty and students, for financial assistance in the improvement of the University. The Foundation does not either directly or indirectly attempt to determine the policy of the University and is not in any manner engaged in establishing University policy.

Recently the investments of the Foundation have been under attack because a small part of the Foundation income is derived from investments in companies whose corporate policies are unacceptable to a part of the University community. The Foundation and its officers, not wanting to become a part of any political or policy disputes, have been quoted as not being concerned with the corporate policy in question. The Board of the Foundation and its executive officers regret that our position has caused this unfortunate contention. It is not our intention to either endorse or condemn the corporate acts of the corporations whose stock is a part of the Foundation's investments.

Our University community is so diverse that any action of the Foundation has the potential of being adverse to special interest groups within the University community. The Foundation and its officers are sensitive to the positions and concerns of each element of the University community and pledge that it will consider any suggestions and evidence of Foundation investments in corporations whose policies are unacceptable to legitimate concerns of human rights.

Personally, each member of the Board and the executive officers condemn any act that in any way interferes with the human rights of any individual. As a Foundation, we do not foster any corporation or any acts by any individual person or corporation that in any way infringes on the rights of any individual.

The SIU Foundation pledges to continue to make every effort to enlarge our assistance to the University and its students.

Demonstrators march on Foundation

Leland Stauber, associate professor of political science, addresses a group of protesters on the lawn in front of the SIU Foundation.

By Ron Morgan
Student Writer

More than 250 persons joined in a rally and march Wednesday to protest the SIU Foundation's investments in companies which operate in South Africa.

The protest was organized by a new campus organization, the Coalition Against Racial Exploitation (CARE), with the support of the Black Affairs Council and the Graduate Student Council.

After hearing several speeches in front of Anthony Hall, the group marched to the offices of the SIU Foundation at 909 W. Chautauqua St. and presented foundation officials with petitions demanding that the foundation sell its stock in companies which operate in South Africa.

Joseph Goodman, executive director of the SIU Foundation, was at lunch during the protest.

Goodman said in a telephone interview following the protest, "If someone can give us positive proof that these companies are discriminating against blacks then I think I can speak for the board in saying that the stock will be sold."

"Just because someone gets on a soapbox and says these corporations are doing certain things doesn't mean it's true. These investments make us good money and naturally we don't want to give them up," Goodman said. "I personally don't condone any kind of discrimination or racism anywhere in the world, and I don't think the board does either," he said.

Goodman said that the board is made up of 25 individuals, some of whom live out-of-state and haven't heard anything about the stock issue.

The next meeting of the board will be in October, Goodman said. There is "no way" to have a special meeting called before that time, he said.

The board would probably let a spokesperson from CARE speak at the meeting, Goodman said, but "they had better come with concrete evidence."

The foundation has received letters from a couple of companies which operate in South Africa, Goodman said, and these companies maintain that they are trying to help the blacks.

"They feel it would cause greater hardship on the blacks if they pulled out," Goodman said.

"I don't know who to believe," he said.

Bonet Mtukudzi, an SIU Ph.D. candidate in economics and a native of Zimbabwe, Rhodesia, drew applause from the protesters several times as he told of the plight of the black man under South Africa's apartheid regime.

"What we are talking about is extracting blood from African people."

And this is what is going on in South Africa today," Mtukudzi said.

These actions are subsidized by foundations and academic institutions, with people who are supposed to know better.

"They should have the wisdom to know that by doing this, to grind out a few dollars, they are enjoying the blood of black people—who get nothing," Mtukudzi said.

"We are not merely talking about one race sitting on another race, but what opportunities should exist for mankind everywhere."

"It's obvious that any kind of condoning of the racial policies of the South African regime is going to encourage them," Mtukudzi said.

Waldei Futur, an African student from Eritrea, Ethiopia, who also spoke at the rally referred to the foundation's statement which appeared in Wednesday's Daily Egyptian.

"They are not trying to cheat us, because we know what they are doing, but they are trying to fool the people who are not really well informed."

"Our role is to educate the public and inform them what the corporations and institutions like the SIU Foundation are doing," Futur said.

Eugene Aggee, assistant coordinator of the Black Affairs Council, said at the rally, "I read the SIU Foundation's statement in the Daily Egyptian and I said to myself, 'this is just some more lip service they're giving us. We're tired of lip service.'"

After a one mile march across campus to the SIU Foundation, Leland Stauber, associate professor of political science, spoke on the front lawn in front of the foundation.

Stauber urged the SIU Foundation to sell its stock in companies doing business in South Africa and to notify both the companies involved and President Carter its action.

"Underlying the priorities of the existing United States policies toward South Africa is the idea—within the American business community and within the American society at large—that the purpose of the United States in South Africa ought to be business as usual."

"What is involved in not a 'petty political issue, but the very large issue of what the priorities of the American policy toward South Africa should be," Stauber said.

Aggee closed the protest by saying, "We're going to wait for the SIU Foundation's response and if it isn't the response we want we're going to come back in the fall."

William Ogonowski, a member of the CARE coordinating committee, said "I don't think we can claim a victory today but this is not the end. We represent the majority of the people on this campus."

ABA will probe Law School

By Andris Straumulis
Staff Writer

SIU's School of Law will be inspected next week by a representative of the American Bar Association (ABA) to determine if the University has violated the ABA's standards for faculty promotion.

L. Orin Slagle, dean of the Law School at Ohio State University, will be at SIU Aug. 4 on a fact-finding mission for the ABA.

Hiram Lesar, dean of the Law School, said Tuesday, "His (Slagle's) job is to gather the facts and then report to the accreditation committee."

The ABA's accreditation committee will decide, based on Slagle's report, if the University violated the ABA's standards when it denied promotion to four law professors.

The four teachers are Donald Garner, assistant professor; T. Richard Mager, Taylor Mattis and Andrew Onejeme, all associate professors.

They were recommended for promotion by the Law School, but Frank Horton, vice president for academic affairs and research, and President Warren Brandt turned down the recommendations.

The Board of Trustees denied the teachers' appeals.

Lesar has said the promotion denials are in violation of the ABA's standards.

Lesar said he did not know when Slagle will report to the committee, but that it will be "as promptly as possible."

If the accreditation committee rules that SIU is in violation, the Law School could lose its provisional accreditation.

If the Law School loses its accreditation graduates of the school would not be able to take bar exams. If it were to happen, though, students enrolled at the time would not be affected.

Lesar has said he thinks the University will reverse its decision on the promotions, thus saving the Law School's accreditation, if the ABA determines that SIU is in violation.

Mitchell's morale high after five weeks in prison

By Jon Bixby

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Exiled from the rarefied lifestyle he knew as corporate attorney and Cabinet officer, John N. Mitchell is coming to terms with his new existence as an inmate in a federal prison camp.

His only familiar creature comfort may be the tobacco with which he stokes his everpresent pipe. Although pouches of Prince Albert are provided free to inmates, Mitchell sticks with Bond Street blend, available at the prison commissary.

The former attorney general began serving a 2 1/2-to-8-year sentence June 22 for his role in the Watergate cover-up. Those who have visited him say he is adjusting well to life at the Maxwell Air Force Base prison camp.

"I think he's tough as he can be," said one recent visitor to the minimum security facility, observing that Mitchell's morale is good after almost five weeks as a prisoner.

The camp has been described by some as having a "country club" atmosphere because of its bucolic setting along the banks of the Alabama River. But even a brief visit leaves no doubt that it is a prison, where personal freedom is limited.

The 62-year-old Mitchell is confronted with a myriad of unfamiliar conditions from the moment he awakens each morning in the bottom tier of a double-deck bed squeezed into a 6-by-7-foot cubicle in one of the camp's seven dormitories.

Warden R. W. Grunski insists that Mitchell is accorded no special treatment, an assertion backed by persons who have visited the camp.

As an example, the man who once had a direct telephone line to the White House switchboard must now wait his turn at a bank of four telephone booths to make contact with the outside world.

Mitchell was convicted, along with former Nixon chief of staff H.R. Haldeman and domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman, on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice, obstruction of justice and lying under oath in connection with the Watergate cover-up.

Grunski refuses to discuss specific details of Mitchell's activities at the camp. But the following description of the life he leads can be pieced together.

Mitchell's day begins at 6 a.m., Monday through Friday, to the sound of a "good morning" greeting carried by loudspeakers into the single-story stucco dormitory he shares with more than 40 other inmates.

On weekends, when there are no work assignments, the day starts an hour later.

He dresses in the khaki shirt and pants he received when he first entered the prison camp and heads for the cafeteria-style dining hall for breakfast, along with the some 300 other inmates.

Before reporting to the education office where he works as a clerk during the week, Mitchell returns to the newly airconditioned dormitory to make up his steel-frame bunk and clean his cubicle.
