French ambassador recalled from S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — France ordered its ambassador home Wednesday to protest a four-day state of emergency that has led to 665 arrests. A banned guerrilla group vowed to attack white areas "to make the entire country ungovernable."

The government immediately condemned the French decision and rejected foreign criticism of its state of emergency. At France's request, the U.N. Security Council called an emergency meeting Thursday to review the South African situation. French U.N. Ambassador Claude de Kemoullaria said France is "deeply concerned by the persisting aggravation of human sufferings as a result of the apartheid system in South Africa."

In Paris, Prime Minister

Laurent Fabius said France recalled its ambassador to protest the "new and serious deterioration" sparked by the emergency.

France "cannot stand back and allow fundamental human rights to be flouted in such a way," Fabius said. "We hope many other countries will join us in order that justice and wisdom may at last prevail in this part of the world."

Fabius said new French investment in South Africa "under any conditions is to be immediately suspended," but made no mention of current investments.

He said his government presented to the Security Council a resolution "condemning the practices of South Africa and proposing a series of precise measures to the international community."

President Pieter Botha condemned the French decision, saying he was amazed that a government that professed an interest in the welfare of blacks "can take exception to a government which restores order when communist powers and communist-inspired powers murder black people and try to disrupt the normal life of black communities."

Botha repeatedly has

Gang member tells of murder plot

By Bob Tita
Staff Writer

A member of the El Rukn street gang testified Wednesday that he arranged for the murder of Marie Azevedo at the request of her ex-husband, Dr. Allan B. Azevedo of Murphysboro.

Bobby "General Rashid" Lewis testified that he was approached by Azevedo about killing Mrs. Azevedo in 1981 when he was an inmate at the Menard Correctional Center in Chester. Azevedo worked at the prison as a dentist.

"He told me he wanted his wife killed," Lewis said. "He said he heard that I was a person who could get things done." Lewis has been in Illinois prisons since 1976 and was an inmate at Menard from 1978 to 1981.

Azevedo is accused of contracting for the murder of his former wife on or about March 25, 1981. Mrs. Azevedo's body was found near the Carbondale city limits on April 1, 1981.

Lewis said that Azevedo told him that his ex-wife was a bad influence on their children.

Allan B. Azevedo, left, and John Speroni, one of his defense lawyers, leaving the Jackson County Courthouse Wednesday afternoon. The trial continues Thursday.

According to Lewis, Azevedo characterized his wife as a "street person" who was sexually promiscuous and used drugs.

Lewis testified that he made an agreement with Azevedo that $5,000 would be paid to the person who carried out the murder. In addition, Lewis said Azevedo told him that he would also give him land in return for the murder.

Lewis said he contacted people in Chicago who could find a hit man to kill Mrs. Azevedo. He said he believed the murder was handled by Eddie "El Chamez" Aiken, from Chicago.

Lewis said that Aiken would be paid the $5,000, and said Azevedo paid him $1,500 before the slaying. He said that Aiken is not an El Rukn member.

Although Lewis admitted that he never talked with Aiken to confirm whether the murder had been carried out, he said he talked with Aiken's girlfriend over the phone and she told him that "the business with the doctor had been taken care of."

Lewis, however, contends that Azevedo never paid the remaining money that he owed for the job. "We made an agreement and he didn't uphold that agreement," he said.

Carbondale attorney abducted, then set free

CARBONDALE (UPI) — A former president of the Illinois Bar Association, abducted at gunpoint, was released unharmed in Chicago Wednesday afternoon.

A law partner of attorney John C. Feirich said a man identified as James Russell called the Southern Illinoisian and wanted a reporter to pick up an envelope at the Ramada Inn.

A three-and-a-half-page typewritten letter said Russell was taking Feirich to Chicago and planned to release him at the Daley Center Plaza around 4:30 p.m. Russell, a former law client of Feirich's, claimed the attorney owed him $6,000 and he was going to turn him over to Chicago police. The law partner, John Ryan, said no ransom was involved.

Ryan said authorities were waiting at the Daley Center Plaza and arrested Russell as he walked across the plaza with Feirich. Police took both men to Area One headquarters for questioning.

Russell was charged with aggravated kidnapping and unlawful restraint.

Feirich, 50, a prominent Southern Illinois lawyer, was president of the IBA in 1982-83.

Ryan said Murphysboro Mayor David McDowell was waiting at the center with the FBI and police when Russell and Feirich arrived.

He said McDowell

telephoned Feirich's law office of Feirich, Schoen, Mager, Green and Associates, at 2001 W. Main St. in Carbondale from the center and said Feirich was all right and then asked the attorney if he wanted to say anything.

John K. Feirich, 75, a Carbondale attorney and father of the abducted man, said he had talked to his son for four or five minutes. "Everything is fine," said the elder Feirich.

The father said his son and his new bride had just returned Sunday from a honeymoon trip to Europe and a meeting of the American Bar Association.

The elder Feirich said when he drove by his son's condominium later in the morning, he thought it was strange that his van was still parked there. Later, he said, "the FBI and Carbondale police were all over the place."

Richard Green, another law partner of the abducted man, said members of the firm started to get concerned not long after Feirich was scheduled to show up for work.

USO legislative liaison resigns; says constitution panel dead

By David Sheets
Staff Writer

Lack of interest among Undergraduate Student Organization members has led to the demise of the USO Constitution Redraft Committee and brought about the resignation of USO Legislative Liaison Mark Case.

Only Case, chairman of the committee, and two other USO senators attended Tuesday's redraft meeting.

"I can't afford to put 20 hours into USO when this sort of stuff happens," Case said.

The committee was organized at the close of the 1985 spring semester to examine the effectiveness of USO's constitution in light of senatorial election and appointment dilemmas not specifically addressed in the constitution.

The discrepancies were magnified in the aftermath of the USO's general election in April, when a review of questionable election practices delayed the release of the voting results for more than a week.

"One bad thing about this is that we, as USO staff putting our efforts into this project, appear to have wasted our time," said John Rutledge, USO senator and one of the three voting members present at the committee meeting. "But we did have some good ideas."

Tuesday's agenda for the redraft committee included finalizing proposals for the constitution's first seven articles and a new name for the undergraduate government.

Contras fire on passenger boat carrying four American tourists

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Contra rebels opened fire on a passenger boat carrying four U.S. tourists through the jungle of southeastern Nicaragua, killing one soldier and wounding 17 civilians and a second soldier, the Defense Ministry said Wednesday.

A government official said the Americans were not among the passengers who were wounded in Tuesday's attack near the town of Santa Fe, 115 miles east of Managua. "There are several gravely wounded civilians, including two children," said the official, who requested anonymity. "But the Americans are fine."

A Defense Ministry

statement said Contras opened fire with machine guns on the water around the boat. When its navigator refused to stop and the Sandinista soldiers aboard returned fire, they fired on the boat itself.

The boat, a substitute for a vessel burned by rebels three weeks ago, kept to its original course on Rio Escondido and arrived four hours later at the Caribbean town of Bluefields.

One person, a soldier, was reported killed in the attack.

The 17 wounded civilians, including two 9-year-olds, and the wounded soldier were being treated Wednesday in a Bluefields hospital, the ministry reported.

Lenin Picado, a Sandinista

official in Bluefields who talked to survivors, said the rebels also used mortar fire to try to stop the boat.

"It was going calmly along the river when all of a sudden the rebels opened fire," Picado told United Press International in an interview over two-way radio. "The soldiers returned fire, and the rebels shot at civilians."

The boat carries passengers daily along the narrow river, replacing the famous "Bluefields Express" that was destroyed July 5. Rebels reportedly boarded the express, robbed its 101 passengers and set the vessel on fire. No civilian casualties were reported.

Nuclear cooperation pact expected of Japan, China

PEKING (UPI) — China and Japan are expected to sign a nuclear cooperation accord this month similar to a Sino-U.S. nuclear pact concluded earlier this week, Japanese diplomats said Wednesday. The agreement, which would allow Japanese manufacturers to sell nuclear plants and materials to China, is expected to be signed at a Sino-Japanese ministerial meeting in Tokyo July 30-31, a Japanese diplomat said.

Israel releases 70 Shiites, 30 Palestinians

TYRE, Lebanon (UPI) — One-hundred Lebanese Shiite and Palestinian prisoners whose freedom was demanded by hijackers of a TWA jetliner were freed by Israel Wednesday and bused home to southern Lebanon for a happy reunion with relatives and friends. Cheering crowds of relatives and well-wishers greeted the 70 Shiite Moslem and 30 Palestinian prisoners as they were taken by bus to Lebanon after their release from an Israeli military jail, where 335 Arab detainees remain.

Gandhi, Sikhs reach accord to end violence

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi and Sikh political leaders agreed on an accord Wednesday aimed at ending four years of bitter strife that led to an army attack on the Sikh's holiest shrine and the assassination of Gandhi's mother, Indira. Gandhi told Parliament that an 11-point agreement with the Sikh political party, the Akali Dal, was a "very concrete step forward" that "will bring to an end a very difficult period through which the country has passed."

Government scraps inquiry of Teamster boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has scrapped a fraud investigation of Teamsters President Jackie Presser, sources said Wednesday, amid reports the probe was compromised by the union chief's role as a FBI informant. Government sources confirmed a Los Angeles Times report that the Justice Department concluded the politically sensitive case lacks "prosecutive merit" and aborted the investigation, which had gone on for more than two years.

Turner tries to keep CBS takeover bid alive

ATLANTA (UPI) — Cable television magnate Ted Turner, trying desperately to keep his hostile takeover bid for CBS alive, asked a federal judge Wednesday to block the network from trying to buy back 21 percent of its stock. Attorneys for Turner and Turner Broadcasting System argued in U.S. District Court that CBS management would be acting in its own self-interest to the detriment of company stockholders with its buy-back plan.

Recurring leg pain prompts Wallace surgery

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace underwent hours of spinal surgery Wednesday to alleviate leg pain that has dogged him since he was shot and partially paralyzed 13 years ago. He told doctors he felt some relief. Dr. Daniel P. Lammertse, the governor's attending physician, said a small cyst was found in the area of Wallace's gunshot wound during the 4-hour, 50-minute surgery at Swedish Hospital, but he called it "an incidental finding" which was probably not related to the pain.

Reagan calls hospital to offer Hudson comfort

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Rock Hudson received a phone call Wednesday from an old Hollywood friend — Ronald Reagan — at the Paris hospital where Hudson is undergoing tests for conflicting diagnoses ranging from inoperable cancer to AIDS. The president called Hudson "to wish him well" and told him that "he and Mrs. Reagan were thinking of him," said Mark Weinberg, assistant White House press secretary.

Ex-alderman candidate indicted for eavesdropping

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former alderman candidate James "Skip" Burrell Jr. has been indicted for secretly taping recording a political discussion with Mayor Harold Washington. Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley announced Wednesday. Burrell, 44, who was defeated in the special 3rd Ward aldermanic election last February, was indicted by a Cook County grand jury on two counts of violating the Illinois eavesdropping statute, Daley said.

Hrvatins' sentencing postponed because of agreement to testify

By Michael Cavanagh
Staff Writer

Sentencing of Jack and Judy Hrvatin of Carbondale, convicted June 18 of drug trafficking and related charges, has been set by Chief U.S. District Judge James L. Foreman for Sept. 18 in Benton.

Foreman on Monday sentenced eight others guilty of conspiracy to distribute in excess of 1,000 pounds of marijuana, but postponed the Hrvatins' sentencing at the request of Fredrick J. Hess.

Hess, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, made the request because the couple has agreed to testify about their involvement and the involvement of others named in the trial by government witnesses.

In addition to the drug charges, the Hrvatins were found guilty of filing false income tax returns.

Sentenced to a federal penitentiary were: Sidney Keith Hall, 40, of Murphysboro, 10 years imprisonment; Robert "Doc" Hinkle, 40, of Carbondale, former SIU-C employee, 10 years; Patrick Tharp, 41, Murphysboro, eight years; Marshall Marks, 34, Corpus Christi, Texas, six years; Thomas Pals, 27, Belleville, six years; John D. Taylor, 44, Anna, six years; William J. Campbell, 28, Anna, six years; and Patrick Schaeferle, 30, Belleville, six years.

Foreman ordered all eight defendants detained under provisions of the Crime

Control Act of 1984, which states that convicted defendants may be sent to prison during the appeal process unless the court finds that they are not a danger to society and there is a "likelihood of a meritorious appeal."

Three other defendants in the case, William Barrow, Jim Sharos and John Buchanna, pleaded guilty before the start of the trial and will be sentenced at a later date.

Foreman has sentenced 119 people from the Carbondale-Anna area since January 1983 on drug distribution charges. At Monday's hearing he said that "the heat is on" drug traffickers in Southern Illinois and that dealers sent before him can expect to be sent to prison.

Governor OKs $110 million for SIU

By David Sheets
Staff Writer

Somewhere in the pile of 30 bills signed into law by Governor Thompson last week was the SIU System budget.

There was no fanfare or cheering crowds, but from that total budget for all SIU campuses, more than $110 million will go to SIU-C for operating expenses.

"We're certainly happy with that figure," said Don Wilson, SIU system financial officer.

The governor's office in Springfield said Thompson signed the budget with "straight approval," meaning there were no last-minute cuts made through executive authority.

"The budget was very close to what the governor had wanted when it came out of the legislature," said Wilson. "I didn't expect there to be any major changes."

Chancellor Kenneth Shaw said in an earlier interview that the SIU System budget for fiscal year 1986 "is the best overall budget package we have had since I have been here."

Included in the budget are funds for SIU-C salary increases totaling $6.3 million — an 8-percent increase from last year — and more than $2.7 million for new and expanded institutional support and academic programs.

"We will also get a little less than $800,000 for general cost increases," said Wilson. "These include University commodities and contractual needs."

The $800,000 is the approximate figure of a 4-percent increase, over and above the $19.5 million general cost total for fiscal year 1985.

General cost is part of the overall "support cost" at SIU-C, or the basic cost needed for operation. Included in basic operations is the library materials budget and utility costs.

Property taxes increase 3 cents for library fund

By Scott Freeman
Staff Writer

Property taxes will increase about three cents per $100 assessed valuation in fiscal year 1985 in a levy plan passed by the Carbondale City Council.

The increase was enacted Monday to help shore up the Carbondale Public Library's book acquisition fund and to increase employee salaries.

The rate boost, accomplished under the city's home rule power, and is designed to give library employees salaries that are comparable to other area library workers' wages.

Library professionals had been receiving $5,000 to $8,000 less per year than other area library employees, according to the Carbondale Library Board.

The council also approved the fiscal 1987 library operating budget of $295,293 as part of the 1985 Tax Levy Ordinance in the amount of $227,093.

The library portion of the levy increased from 15 cents to 17 cents per $100 assessed property value.

This was accomplished through a $100,000 abatement of the 1981 tax levy designed to pay off library construction bonds.

The 4.8 percent increase on $2,019,147 was not a large enough increase to warrant special publication under the Illinois Truth in Taxation law and was passed by the council without argument as a necessary fiscal matter.

Only $1,155,855 will actually be collected through property taxes from city property owners, with $593,378 to be abated through the city's municipal privilege tax.

Aid denied to vets

FORTY YEARS AGO in the New Mexico desert, the atomic age began. In the atomic tests that followed for the next 30 years, in which scientists tried to figure out just what they had discovered, 250,000 military personnel were exposed to radiation.

Today, thousands of vets are suffering the effects of that exposure. Numerous ailments, including cancer and birth defects, have resulted from the tests. The Veterans Administration isn't doing much about it.

For the VA to aid the atomic veterans, the vets have to prove that they were exposed to harmful amounts of radiation from the tests and that their ailments developed as a result. However, faulty records and inaccurate radiation measuring has made that burden of proof difficult. The agency reported in June that only 15 claims have been awarded to atomic veterans while over 1,800 have been denied.

WHILE THE VA DENIES THE NEEDS of atomic veterans, Senator Paul Simon, D-Ill., is trying to help them by introducing a bill that would remove the burden of proof. Simon has repeatedly proposed legislation to provide government aid for the victims of its atomic testing. Preparing to testify before the House Veterans Affairs Committee last week, Simon said "progress cannot be bought at the expense of ethical and moral principles."

Another supporter of veteran's rights is Rep. Lane Evans from northern Illinois. "It is only reasonable that the federal government, which called upon these veterans to serve us in the military, should make certain that they're cared for — particularly when their health problems are precipitated by actions of the government," Evans told the VA committee.

While billions of dollars are being poured out in entitlements and defense procurements, the injured veterans are being denied aid for their injuries. This haggling over pennies while denying the needs of those who have served the country, and who have suffered crippling and lethal consequences, is deplorable. For their efforts to overcome that denial and stand up for the atomic veterans, Simon and Evans deserve to be commended.

Christians gave help

When I read your article "Live Aid" defies Moral Majority" (July 18, by Mike Frey) unfairly attacking Christians, I couldn't help but notice that your attitude was as self-righteous and "holier than thou" as any Moral Majority member you've ever condemned.

For years, many unassuming Christians have been tirelessly working to feed the hungry and help the sick around the world, with no credit or publicity whatsoever given to them from the mass media. There are plenty of selfless doctors, nurses and relief workers in Ethiopia who have been sacrificing their entire lives for months.

Of course the rock stars generated a lot of money and publicity for Ethiopia. Their public relations agents are experts in getting them access to the powerful mass communication channels that Christians do not have much access to.

When Christian groups do ask for donations to help worthy causes, they are blasted by people like you for being money-hungry. Many Christian people with far less money than those rock stars give of their limited personal incomes to help. Christian Children's Fund has fed hungry children around the world for years, providing health care, schooling and food, at a cost of $15 a month per child.

The rock stars involved in this concert are millionaires many times over. How much of their personal fortunes went to the Ethiopians? And who is going to be in charge of seeing that the money gets to the actual starving people, and not into the pockets of corrupt Ethiopian government officials, who are deliberately starving these people for political reasons.

Yes, it's commendable that a bunch of rock stars got together and staged a benefit concert. They donated what they had to donate. However, let us also give credit to the many people in the Moral Majority who so unfairly condemned their donations of what they have to donate — their incomes, their time and their prayers. — Dorothy Lawson, Carbondale.

Cubs easing 'fear of the unknown'

AS SOON as I saw him sitting there, I veered off and went to the other end of the bar. In the best of times, Wally the Worrier sees potential disaster lurking around every corner.

And now, with our tattered heroes sagging to fourth place, he could make severe depression seem like a New Year's Eve bash.

But I was amazed to see him smile cheerfully and wave me over.

"Nice Day," he said.

"Are you OK?"

"Of course. Feel terrific. Let me buy you one."

"Are you on some kind of tranquilizers?"

"Of course not. Why do you ask?"

Nothing. I just thought that...well, with the way things are going, I thought you'd be kind of down in the dumps.

"You mean because of the sad plight of the Cubs?"

"Sure. Last year, you were almost a basket case, and that's when they were rolling along in first place."

"Yes, I suppose I was kind of nervous."

I'd say that a person who would go to the ballpark only if accompanied by his psychiatrist is more than nervous.

"Well, it was a stressful season."

FOR YOUR neighbors, too. Are they still upset because of the way you'd emit those primal screams all night after a loss?

"It's not a bad way to let off steam."

Well, I have to say you seem to be holding up amazingly well.

"Of course. There's no reason not to."

But if there was a time when I would expect you to be beyond consolation, it would be now.

"Just the opposite. Now is when I can sit back and relax, worry-free, at peace with myself, the world, and the National League standings."

Mike Royko
Tribune Company

I don't understand. "It's simple enough. Tell me, what is it that man fears more than anything else."

"Baldness?"

"No."

A tax audit?

"Think. What has man feared most, from the time he lived in caves and dragged his knuckles on the ground, throughout recorded history and into the modern age. What one thing, more than anything else, has struck terror in his heart."

His wife or girlfriend is playing around?

"No. The most frightening thing to man has always been...the unknown."

IGET YOU. Like darkness.

"Yes. The strange sounds in the night. The creaking floorboard. The rustling in the tangled forest. The mysterious stranger standing in the shadows. The scratching at the door. The..."

What the heck does that have to do with being cheerful when our lads are mired in fourth place after the humiliation of losing 13 in a row?

"It has everything to do with it. Tell me, did you worry the summer of 1949? Did you worry in 1955? Or 1975? And most of the years before, after and in between?"

I'm beginning to understand. No, I didn't worry because I knew what was going to happen.

"Of course. We always knew what was going to happen. We knew that victory and success were transient illusions, that failure and defeat were inevitable, that behind every dark cloud was an even darker cloud."

Yes, we expect the worst and anything less made us giddy.

"You got it. Are you afraid of heights? If you look out of a 20-story window, do you get nervous?"

That's one of my many phobias, yes.

"What about a first-floor window?"

OF COURSE NOT. The worst I could get if I fell is a sprained ankle.

"Exactly. And that was the source of my constant misery last season. The higher we climbed, the greater the terror of the dizzying fall."

But now...

"Yes, only a sprained ankle."

And the unknown is known. Therefore, it is not unknown and not to be feared.

"You understand. Good. Then you, too, can cope."

Say, I'm glad I ran into you. I feel much better.

"Here's to a relaxed, stress-free season. Fourth place really isn't that bad, you know. Not the best, but not the worst. Sort of like the rest of us, really."

I guess so. Of course, there are still a lot of games left to play. And anything can happen.

"Cut it out."

You can still get hot. If everybody is healthy...

"Please stop. My nerves. I can't handle..."

It's been done before. All they have to do is make up one game every 10 games the rest of the way.

"I beg you, don't talk that way."

Look, in September they'll be playing most of their games at home. If they can just stay close until then, anything can...

"Bartender! Can you put some Maalox in my martini?"

Panel agrees to advise council to disallow SIU IDs for bar entry

By Art Maton
Staff Writer

The Carbondale Liquor Advisory Board agreed Wednesday to recommend to the City Council that SIU-C identification cards no longer be allowed for use in establishing proof of age when entering city bars.

The board agreed to Assistant City Attorney Patricia McMeen's suggestion that dropping SIU-C ID cards from the list of acceptable forms of identification would help alleviate confusion created by the amended version of the city liquor code, which went into effect July 1.

The board's recommendation will come before the city liquor commission at its Aug. 5 meeting. If adopted, only vehicle operator licenses, state photo ID cards, firearm owners cards, visas and passports will be accepted as proof of age for entering bars or purchasing liquor in Carbondale.

The current code prohibits the use of SIU-C ID cards for establishing proof of age when purchasing liquor, or when entering a bar that has committed nine violations of the liquor code within a six-month period.

The code, however, does not prohibit use of the SIU-C ID's by 18-, 19- and 20-year olds for entering bars with less than nine violations if it is the policy of those bars to accept them.

Board Chairman John Mills said that students have been "spoiled" by using SIU-C ID cards. "No one intended that a student ID should be a passport through life," he said.

Board member Jim Romano said that the city may have "struck a nerve" when it prohibited the use of SIU-C ID cards, in light of the strong opposition from the Undergraduate Student Organization to the move.

Romano said that in the long run, prohibiting the use of the cards may help maintain the right of 18-, 19- and 20-year olds to enter bars in the city.

The USO was not represented at the board meeting, Mike Shannon, former board member and USO city affairs commissioner, resigned both posts at the July 15 City Council meeting in protest of the city's handling of the liquor code in regard to SIU-C ID cards.

PLOT: Gang member gives testimony

gang that evolved from the Black Peacestone Nation gang. Lewis is considered one of the gang's leaders, as is Randy "General Ruby" Dillard, who also testified Wednesday. Dillard was also been in prison since 1976.

Dillard testified that Lewis phoned him in 1981 from Menard to discuss whether he should become involved in the murder. He said he gave his approval to the job because the thought that Mrs. Azevedo was involved in vice activities. He said the El Rukn gang does not usually arrange contract murders on law-abiding people.

In March 1981, Dillard was incarcerated at the Metropolitan Correction Center, a federal prison in Chicago. He was later transferred to Stateville Correctional Center in Joliet, as was Lewis.

Both men testified that they tried to get Azevedo to pay the money that he owed, but were unsuccessful. Taped phone conversations from the spring of 1984 between Azevedo and Dillard were played in court.

Dillard said he needed $15,000 to post bond for his wife who was being held at the Randolph County jail for attempting to bring marijuana into Menard. Azevedo was uncooperative in paying the money and denied knowledge of the murder.

"I don't think I should pay for something I don't know anything about," Azevedo said during one of the taped conversations. Azevedo later called the police and complained that Dillard and Lewis were trying to extort money from him.

In return for their testimony, both men were given immunity from prosecution in the Azevedo case and will be assigned to the same medium security prison.

Another government witness, David Byrd, an inmate at Menard for 11 years, refused to answer questions concerning a statement he made to members of the Jackson County Major Case Squad.

A report from June 1984, which was presented in court, indicated that Byrd introduced Azevedo to Lewis.

"I refuse to answer based upon the Fifth Amendment and my right to remain silent," said Byrd, who is former member of the El Rukn.

He did say, however, that he believed he was harassed by the Illinois Department of Corrections for not cooperating in the case. He claimed that he was moved from the prison farm outside the walls where he was a prison trustee to the general population section inside the prison.

Ron Umbdenstock, correctional captain at Menard, said that because there was a possibility of new charges being brought against Byrd, he was moved from the farm to the Menard Special Unit, a section of the prison which is still outside the prison walls. He said Byrd was moved into the prison because he could more easily attend religious services.

PANEL: USO legislative liaison resigns

Rutledge said one problem that may have contributed to the committee's demise was its carrying "a greater connotation of leadership than it had," and that it was deciding policy proposals for people who were not there to speak for themselves.

Case said he felt his services would be better used in one of the other projects to which he is committed, namely the Inter-Greek Council or the Student Orientation Committee.

Case said he is paid for his services to USO in the form of a grant-in-aid, but added that he "could care less about getting paid. My sole purpose is to serve the students."

"I want to express sorrow at Mark's resignation because he is a good worker," Rutledge said.

Rutledge said the redraft committee was at a "critical moment" because it had reached the point of defining USO executive powers.

"Even so, no real constitutional action could be pursued until at least a month after the summer finals," he said.

"All the constitutional ideas will be submitted to the senate and the Committee for Internal Affairs for their input," said Mike Zurek, USO senator.

Case said he had suggested to the USO office in the past the names of a few people who would be effective as legislative liaison.

"I'm not worried," Case said. "The USO will be able to fill this position in a day."

S. AFRICA: France recalls ambassador

blamed communist agents for 11 months of black political violence that has claimed at least 480 lives.

In a separate statement issued before the French sanctions were announced, Foreign Minister Roelof "Pik" Botha rejected foreign condemnation of the emergency declaration and said "supporters of the Marxist doctrine" sought to create chaos in South Africa.

"They are not concerned about the millions of starving people in other parts of Africa or the lack of political rights and press freedom in most African countries," he said.

The French recall was the first major diplomatic action taken against South Africa since President Botha declared the state of emergency Sunday.

U.S. Ambassador Herman Nickel was ordered home for consultations in June after a South African raid on neighboring Botswana, and remains in Washington.

The Reagan administration maintains a policy of "constructive engagement" in South Africa and is opposed to any congressional sanctions against Pretoria.

In an interview with NBC Nightly News, dissident South African Bishop Desmond Tutu denounced the Reagan administration, which he said provided the South African regime "with a great deal of protection against the consequences of their quite stupid policies.

"What would the Reagan administration have done if the casualties that have occurred in South Africa were not black but white? Are you saying that black people are in fact expendable?" the Nobel prize-winning cleric asked.

At the U.N. Women's Decade conference in Nairobi, Kenya, representatives of the African National Congress, an outlawed anti-apartheid group, said violence in South Africa "now has to be taken into the white areas."

Administrative job changes announced

Thomas A. Bila has been named director of annual giving for the SIU Foundation. Bila, the external affairs director at Cathedral Preparatory School in Erie, Pa., began work Monday. He replaces Anne Carman. Stan McAnally, Foundation president, said Bila will be responsible for continued development of the Foundation's annual giving program. Several University administrators changed job positions Monday also. Samuel Goldman, director of the Office of Regional Research and Service, said he will step down from the job to return to full-time teaching.

J.C. Garavalia, director of the Alumni Service and executive director of the Alumni Association, is now the acting director of the regional service. C. Thomas Busch, will fill Garavalia's positions in an acting capacity, while retaining his title as assistant to the president.

Intramural champs named

The champions have been crowned in tennis, table tennis, badminton and racquetball, the Office of Intramural-Recreational Sports has announced.

In tennis singles, Rene Crespo won the men's advanced division; Paul Minkus won the men's intermediate division; James Hoffman won the men's novice division; and Karen Grenman won the women's intermediate division.

In table tennis, Lin Ken Quek won the women's division; Poh Chuhh Gan won the men's open division; Owoseni Baba won the men's advanced division; and S.K. Ramesh won the men's intermediate division.

In badminton, Thong Chindavong won the women's division; Frank Arokiasamy won the men's open division; Pava Mjeet won the men's intermediate division; and Craig Taft won the men's novice division.

In racquetball, Troy Koehler won the men's novice division; Igor Nermaloff won the men's intermediate division; Mike Hertz won the men's advanced division; and Maureen Madden won the women's division.

The team of Jorge Orozco and Sam Meyers won the men's racquetball doubles competition.

Championship games in team sports are scheduled for Monday.

Tudor, McGee lead Cards

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — John Tudor pitched a six-hitter and Willie McGee blasted a three-run homer Wednesday, pacing the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants and a sweep of their three-game series.

The victory was St. Louis' fourth straight and moved it 3-and-one-half games ahead of the second-place New York Mets in the National League East.

Tudor, 11-8, struck out eight and walked none in pitching his fifth shutout and seventh complete game.

The Cardinals scored four unearned runs in the fifth inning. With one out, Ivan DeJesus lined a single off starter Jim Gott's right forearm, forcing Gott from the game. Mark Davis came on to relieve and Tudor reached first when catcher Alex Trevino misplayed a bunt for an error. One out later, McGee ripped his fourth homer, a shot into the right-center field seats.

Gott, 4-8, was the loser. Tom Herr then walked, stole second and scored on Jack Clark's single to center.

The Giants threatened in the seventh. With one out, Jeff Leonard singled and Chris Brown was hit by a pitch. Trevino then bounced into an inning-ending double play.

Milner stars in Reds' win

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eddie Milner drove in the game-winning run, scored twice and threw out a runner at the plate Wednesday, lifting the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 victory over the New York Mets and a sweep their three-game series.

With two out in the ninth, shortstop Rafael Santana mishandled a ground ball for an error, allowing Dann Bilardello to reach base. Pinch-hitter Wayne Krenchicki was walked by Roger McDowell, 5-4, and Milner singled up the middle to score Bilardello.

John Franco, 9-1, pitched two hitless innings of relief. Ted Power got the last three outs for his 18th save.

Reds player-manager Pete

Rose went 2-for-4 to move within 31 hits of breaking Ty Cobb's career hit record of 4,191.

Keith Hernandez's eighth homer tied the score 2-2 for the Mets in the sixth. Hernandez hit an 0-1 pitch from starter Ron Robinson just over the reach of right fielder Dave Parker.

The Mets closed to 2-1 in the fifth on back-to-back leadoff doubles by Howard Johnson and Santana.

Cincinnati took a 1-0 lead in the first off Rick Aguilera. Milner walked and stole second and Rose singled to score Milner.

The Reds moved ahead 2-0 in the third when Milner and Max

Venable smacked consecutive doubles.

Robinson went six innings, allowing eight hits while walking two and striking out three. Aguilera pitched seven innings, giving up five hits while walking four and striking out six.

The Reds made two fine defensive plays in the third inning. With one out, Santana doubled. Aguilera then grounded a single to center, but Milner came up throwing and nailed Santana trying to score. Len Dykstra then sent a hard smash to right-center but Parker made a running, shoestring catch to end the inning.

CAMP: Attracts campers close, afar

JUDY REYNOLDS, a junior at Herrin High School, said she'd like to pattern after Wallace on the floor because, "she knows what to do in a split second."

Counselors in addition to Noble, Wallace and Jenkins, are current Saluki players Anne Thouvenin, Ellen O'Brien and Mary Noble along with former Saluki players Lynn Williams and Sandy Martin, who also have coaching experience.

Saluki head coach Cindy Scott, coordinator of the camp, accepted the honor of coaching the Southern region team at the National Sports Festival VI in Baton Rouge, La., this week. But Beck, who has been more involved each year in the camp, said it was no problem for her to assume the duties, although the campers were disappointed not to have Scott, too.

"BUT THEY understand it was an opportunity she couldn't pass up and they're proud and excited for her," Beck said.

Beck personally enjoys the camp from a sentimental perspective.

"It means a lot to coaches like me who came up in the 70s when they didn't have a lot of these things," Beck said. "These kids are enthusiastic, humorous and fun to be around. And they're here for the same basic reason — to learn basketball."

Each day sessions on the fundamentals of the game have included lectures on shooting, rebounding, player-to-player defense and screening. Beck said the counselors start teaching subjects like correct footwork and basketball position from the outset of the camp.

BUT WHEN awards are given at the end of the week, the emphasis won't be on who scored the most points. Beck said in stressing motivation and what it takes to be a college basketball player, the awards will be given for qualities like "best defensive player" and "best hustler."

With the league games as favorites for campers

Reynolds and Pontillo, they were in agreement on one thing they dislike. "I can't stand drills in the morning," Pontillo said.

All-star games will close out the week of camp. The games will begin at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Long ball lifts Angels

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Rufino Linares cracked a three-run homer and Mike Brown and Bob Boone added solo blasts Wednesday to power the California Angels to an 8-4 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Ron Romanick, 12-4, worked six innings for the Angels, allowing eight hits, to pick up the victory. Jerry Cliburn and Donnie Moore worked the final three innings for California.

Linares, formerly of the Atlanta Braves, had been called up from the Angels' Triple-A affiliate in Edmond last Thursday. His homer put the Angels ahead 4-2 in the fourth, a blast off Ted Higuera, 7-7. Linares' second homer of the season scored Doug DeCinces, who had doubled, and Brown, who had reached on a fielder's choice.

The Brewers scored two unearned runs in the first. Shortstop Dick Schofield's throwing error allowed Paul Molitor to reach first. Robin Yount doubled to score Molitor. Left fielder Brian Downing misplayed the ball as it caromed out of the corner, allowing Yount to go to third. Ben Oglivie then lifted a sacrifice fly.

Brown's fourth homer closed the gap to 2-1 in the second inning.

California added five runs in the fifth. Boone led off with his fourth home run. Schofield and Juan Beniquez singled to chase Higuera. Downing greeted reliever Pete Ladd with a run-scoring double. Beniquez scored on DeCinces' sacrifice fly.

Girl's cage camp attracts distant, local participants

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

From as far as Wisconsin to nearby Southern Illinois, girls from grades 7-12 have traveled to the Saluki girls basketball camp, which is in session at Davies Gymnasium this week. Sweating around the tape covering blisters and muscle strains, their bodies tangle, diving and crashing to the hardwood as the squeaks of gym shoes, shouts of "Help!" and "Shot", thumping of balls and screeching of coaches' whistles can be heard.

But beyond even the ordinary atmosphere of basketball competition, SIU-C assistant coach Julie Beck, head of the camp, said they stress overall motivation.

CAMP DIRECTORS talk about what it takes to become a college basketball player, including an emphasis on academics through high school and further.

Since the camp is in many ways a showcase for the University, campers also have the opportunity to experience and learn about college life by staying in the dorms, eating Student Center food and touring the campus in their free time.

"One of the things I enjoy most is that I feel like I'm taking on more responsibility being by myself," camper Lisa Pontillo said.

Saluki basketball players serve as counselors, and even more than helping girls get better at basketball, they want the campers to have fun.

"Seeing them improve within the three or four days they're here makes it all worthwhile," Saluki point guard Marialice Jenkins said. "But watching them have fun while they work hard or while they relax makes it worthwhile, too."

"IT'S MORE than basketball — it's also making new friends and having a good time."

The counselors' voices are raspy and hoarse from camp sessions, games and drills, which Jenkins and Cozette Wallace find to be a great experience.

"Even though you holler and holler and you don't think they're picking it up, you see one person doing the thing you taught them, then that's a good feeling," Wallace, a Saluki forward, said. "Especially if they're on your team."

competitive teams, Jenkins said, also "gives us a chance to see where our coaches are coming from. It lets us see both sides."

Pontillo, a junior at Case High School in Racine, Wis.,

said she would enjoy modeling her game after counselors Mary Noble and Jenkins because "they're fun to watch and to be around. And they're having fun with us."

Baseball owners have offer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major league baseball owners have an offer ready to make on pension contributions but will not put it on the table until the players make concessions to slow down salary increases, the owners' chief negotiator said Wednesday.

The pension plan is one of the issues stalling contract talks with the players.

Negotiators for the players and owners met for a third day in a row — a bargaining pace which has quickened since the players set an Aug. 6 strike deadline. Like Tuesday, the discussion at the 2-and-one-half-hour session was of several smaller non-economic issues.

Donald Fehr, acting executive director for the Major League Baseball Players Association, said the negotiators hope to finish dealing with the non-critical issues, such as licensing and scheduling, in another meeting Thursday and then move on to the major economic problems.

He said Thursday's agenda included "salary arbitration and, we hope, the benefit plan and some of the free agency questions."

The benefit plan has been one of the major stumbling blocks.

GPA figures for men athletics not all inclusive

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

According to figures released Wednesday by the SIU-C men's athletics department, male athletes compiled a composite 2.38 grade point average during the overall semester of 1985. The overall average, which encompasses the athlete's entire career at the University, was 2.53.

In Tuesday's meeting of the Intercollegiate Athletics Advisory Committee, director of men's athletics Lew Hartzog

"challenged" members of the committee to compare the academic excellence of both the men's and women's departments.

However, the figure released by the men's athletics department are not all inclusive because one sport in the men's department was not included in these averages.

"Certain factors have effected the academic performance of our athletes in one area of our department that does not allow our athletes' academic performances to be indicative of their scholastic potential," said an administrator within the men's department who asked for anonymity. "It simply would not be fair to include those figures in the overall average of the entire department."

The official refused to identify which individual program was not included in the figures released.

In figures released from the women's department, female athletes compiled a composite 2.73 GPA during the spring semester with a 2.88 overall average. All sports within the women's department were included in these figures.

"I feel we've ridden that horse to death," Hartzog said, commenting on the academic "problem areas" within the men's department.

"We've only had two coaches here in this department who didn't care about the academic progress of their student athletes and they're both gone now," Hartzog continued.

Hartzog said that he is presently compiling a listing of graduation rates from the men's department and "those results will be released for public consumption at that time." The same figures have already been released by the women's department and comparisons will be made when Hartzog's work is complete.

"I think the results from the men's graduation rates will surprise a lot of people."

"I'm growing tired of the battle going on between the men's and women's athletic departments," Hartzog said. "It's pitiful that the campus has become so divided over the issue and I think it's time that we all start working together."

West should lead athletics

Although the Intercollegiate Athletics Advisory Committee has approved a proposal for President Albert Somit to evaluate, the future of the two existing athletics departments at SIU-C is still up in the air.

On Tuesday, the committee met, amended and passed "Plan C," a proposal that would set up an interim executive director for intercollegiate athletics with a director for both the men's and women's departments.

The proposal will now go to the president for evaluation. Somit will hear the thoughts and opinions of special assistant Dean Stuck and the heads of the two departments, Charlotte West and Lew Hartzog.

However, it should be remembered that the IAAC is only an advisory committee as required by National Collegiate Athletic Association guidelines. The president undoubtedly will have the ultimate word when a final decision is made, with Stuck having the greatest power of influence on the decision.

From the Press Box

WHY IS there such a rush to find an executive director, if indeed there is a need for such a person at all?

Many of the major decisions that would have been delegated to the "super athletics director" have already been settled. A new men's basketball coach has been hired, a new conference has been formed for football and a full-time fundraiser has been hired. With these important decisions already made, what would this super director, after all the haste to get him or her here, do?

It would be a crying shame to see a lot of University dollars spent on a national search for interim administrators, especially when capable people are already present on campus. These positions, if filled externally, would not only displace present athletics administrators but would also create a period of transition (and possibly bad continuity) within the athletics departments when full-time administrators are put into place.

IF AN administrative department is functioning well, why should it be changed? The women's athletic department has functioned efficiently under the supervision of Charlotte West since 1975, when it separated from the physical education department and gained its own identity.

It would seem that West's experience in sports management and athletic administration would make her an obvious choice for the position of a super director or a similar interim position. She has proven her qualities and capabilities and to see her demoted or displaced would be a great and unreplacable loss to everyone at this University.

BUT STRANGELY enough, when all the facts and figures are compiled, it is obvious that West and her people stand to lose the most in this restructuring fiasco.
