Fall enrollment record expected

By Karen Wells
Staff Writer

Enrollment is expected to reach a record high this fall, an admissions official said.

Officials expect 24,000 students to begin school this fall semester, an increase of 3.4 percent or 800 students more than last year. B. Kirby Browning, director of Admissions and Records, said.

The highest enrollment figure ever for SIU-C was in 1981 when 23,991 students attended the university.

The increase in student enrollment is mainly in off-campus programs in which approximately 2,850 students are enrolled. Off-campus programs are offered through the College of Education, the College of Engineering and Technology and the School of Technical Careers.

Students are becoming more attracted to the industrial and military off-campus programs because of the strong need for managerial-oriented technical degrees in the manufacturing business. James Orr, director of the College of Engineering and Technology's off-campus programs in Industrial Technology, said. The programs are offered in England, West Germany and the United States.

Because of the increase in student enrollment, additional classes have been scheduled to accommodate students, according to Henry Andrews, assistant director of registration and scheduling.

Most of the additional classes are in the general education curriculum, but the exact number of new classes is not available, he said.

Increased enrollment also has caused a shortage of dormitory space for students.

On July 27 there were openings for 49 men on intensified study floors, those floors where quiet hours are in effect 24-hours-a-day, Catherine Hunter of University Housing said. There are also rooms for 26 males and 45 females in University Park, but all are in resident hall basements or lounges that have been converted to dorm rooms, she said.

In addition, there was similar space for six men in Thompson Point, 14 spaces for men and eight for women in Brush Towers. She said there was space for 50 students age 21 and over.

Hunter said these figures change everyday.

In terms of off-campus freshman-approved housing, four facilities are available. They are Freeman Hall, 600 W. Freeman; Forest Hall, 820 W. Freeman; Stevenson Arms, 600 W. Mill Street and the Baptist Student Center, 701 W. Mill Street. As of July 27, there were openings for 10 females and six males at the Baptist Center. No figures were available at the other facilities.

Staff honors Swinburne with poetic farewell

By Jacke Hampton
Staff Writer

Anyone among the crowd of 350 at Vice President Bruce Swinburne's farewell dinner who wasn't aware of his penchant for poetry was quickly educated.

"I didn't know we would be getting so many," Jean Paratore, one of Swinburne's assistants, said after hearing four poems come from the first three speakers. "Obviously, his reputation has preceded him." Most of the speakers who followed Paratore also recited poems written in his honor.

President John Guyon told the crowd he was ready to "give him something he Bruce Swinburne left the tribute to his 17-year tenure with a night full of memories and a carload of gifts.

Virtually every student and faculty organization on campus, and a few off-campus groups, came bearing gifts for the vice president for student affairs. "It was overwhelming," Swinburne said. "It (SIU) has given me so much, I didn't expect this much more." He will leave in mid-August to become president of Mitchell College in New London, Conn.

Swinburne's gifts included a mirrored plaque to be engraved with the signatures of the 350 people who attended the dinner and the announcement that a $30,000 scholarship fund is being created in his name.

"We knew he was going to see the program, so we purposely left those presentations off," Nancy Hunter Pei, one of the organizers of the dinner, said. "We wanted some element of surprise."

"Was there anything that wasn't a surprise?" Swinburne was left wondering.

Student Trustee Phil Lyons also gave Swinburne a poetry reading and a box of tissues, saying, "We may all need it later."

"We all know of Bruce Swinburne's love of poetry," he said. "I'll try to destroy it with a poem of my own."

Assistant Vice President Harvey Welch called his poem, "A Tribute to Bruce Swinburne or The Revenge of the Student Affairs Staff."

Vice Chancellor James Brown brought a poetic message for Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit and one "on my own recognition."

Since no student affairs staff meeting was complete without a poem, said Lorretta Ott, an assistant vice president, she

Faculty panel votes to end 2 percent in June

By Jacke Hampton
Staff Writer

A faculty senate subcommittee has recommended the 2 percent plan be eliminated at the end of the 1988 fiscal year and has called for a senate vote on the issue.

"We're recommending it end after the third year," Robert Griffin, associate professor of English, said. "It was planned for five years and we are saying we don't want to plan for a fourth year."

The third year of the plan ends June 30, 1988.

The plan was designed to raise faculty salaries by reducing the number of faculty members and was instituted in 1985 by President John Guyon during his tenure as vice president for academic affairs. Members of the senate committee reported its findings to Guyon last week during a meeting called to discuss the effects of a reduced budget.

President Guyon asked the faculty senate at its July meeting to tell him whether it would like to keep the plan or scrap it. An informal poll showed senate members favored eliminating the plan by an 8-3 margin.

The 4 percent budget cut imposed by Gov. James R.

Thompson and increased enrollment are the reasons given by the subcommittee in its resolution to the senate executive committee to end the plan, Griffin said.

The resolution also will call for an evaluation of the plan and its effects on the University and request that the faculty be included in discussions on planning any similar action, he said.

Damaged Kuwaiti tanker may make return voyage

KUWAIT (UPI) — Kuwait officials waited Monday for the U.S. Coast Guard to decide whether the reflagged tanker Bridgeton, whose hull was pierced by a mine explosion while under American escort, can be loaded with oil and embark on its return voyage down the Persian Gulf. Capt. Saad Al-Mattouq, maritime operations director of the Kuwait Oil Tanker Co., said the mine, believed planted by Iraq, left a gaping 29-foot-by-4-foot hole in the hull of the 401,382-ton supertanker and cracked an interior structural beam.

USS Stark captain and officer leave Navy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The captain of the frigate USS Stark and one of his officers were reprimanded today and will leave the Navy for being unprepared for the Iraqi missile attack that killed 37 sailors in the Persian Gulf, the Navy said. The punishment meted out by Adm. Frank Kelso II, the head of the Atlantic Command in Norfolk, Va., means that neither Capt. Glenn Brindel nor his tactical action officer, Lt. Basil Moncrief Jr., will be court-martialed.

Group demands release of hijacking suspect

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — An underground organization Monday demanded the immediate release of Hussein Ali Mohammed Hariri, arrested last week in Geneva after an Air Afrique flight was hijacked and one of its passengers killed. An anonymous caller said he was making the statement on behalf of the Green Cells Organization, a group unknown until Saturday when it issued a threat to attack Swiss interests in Lebanon because of Hariri's arrest.

Man accused of WWII crimes denies charges

JERUSALEM (UPI) — John Demjanjuk took the witness stand Monday and denied charges he was "Ivan the Terrible" — a brutal guard who helped exterminate some 850,000 Jews and others in a Nazi death camp. It was the retired Cleveland autoworker's first chance during his five-month trial to answer charges that he was the feared "Ivan" who tortured thousands of prisoners before sending them into the gas chambers of the Treblinka death camp in Nazi-occupied Poland.

Communist guerrillas open fire on convoy

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Communist guerrillas Monday exploded a land mine in the path of a military convoy and opened fire, killing 18 soldiers sent to reinforce a beleaguered army detachment, the official Philippine News Agency said. The news agency said six other soldiers were wounded in the incident in the town of Luna in the northern mountain province of Kalinga Apayao 260 miles north of Manila.

Zambian president named to lead unity group

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) — Zambian President Kenneth Kaunda was elected chairman of the Organization of African Unity Monday. The post has been occupied for the past year by Congolese President Denis Sassou Nguesso. Before Kaunda's election, U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar and Norwegian Prime Minister Bro Brundtland joined African leaders in calling for the ending of apartheid and support for Africa's economic recovery.

Aquino blasts creditors for unfair treatment

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino, addressing the inaugural session of a new Congress, said Monday foreign creditors had taken "unfair advantage" of troubles in the Philippines by demanding harsh debt repayment terms. More than 10,000 demonstrators rallied in separate protests and troops were on alert for possible terror attacks during the congressional session, the first such meeting since ousted leader Ferdinand Marcos declared martial law and dissolved the legislative body in 1972.

Panamanian troops arrest ousted staff chief

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — Amid gunfire and tear gas, Panamanian security forces Monday stormed the home of Col. Roberto Diaz Herrera and arrested the ousted chief of staff whose accusations against strongman Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega triggered fierce anti-government rioting. Archbishop Marcos McGrath, Panama's leading Roman Catholic prelate, said Diaz Herrera was arrested, but there was no immediate comment by civilian or military authorities.

Actor still 'outstanding' after 20-year absence

By Michele Eskins
Staff Writer

An alumnus of the University who is a successful professional actor in plays, television shows and motion pictures returned Monday for the first time in about 20 years.

Peter Michael Goetz, a 45-year-old character actor, received the "Outstanding Theater Alumnus" award from the Theater Department during his one-day visit. A 1963 master of fine arts graduate, he also conducted an acting workshop for graduate theater students.

ATTENDING THE University enhanced his career, Goetz said.

"It really started here — this place offered me a chance to be on the stage the whole time," he said. "There's a whole slew of people of my generation that really did so well." Goetz appeared in the University's 1966 production of "Long Day's Journey into Night."

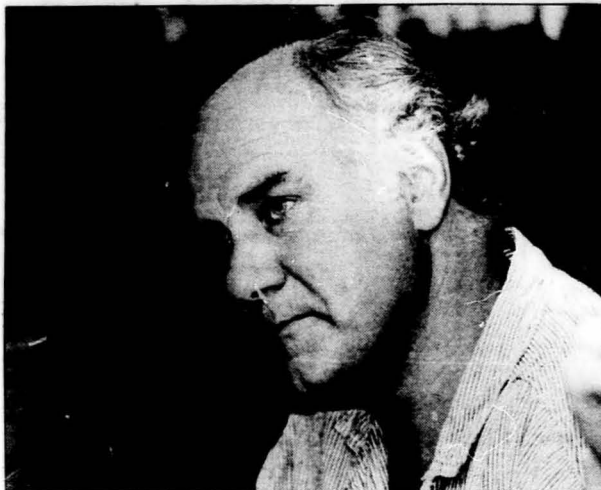

About 75 percent of actors come through the educational system, he said. For them, college is beneficial "not only for concrete training, but the whole idea of what it takes to get a degree," he said.

However, some aspects of "the business" aren't covered in college courses, such as how to get an agent or how to audition.

GOETZ SAID he doesn't enjoy the auditioning process. He compares it to interviewing for a job every day. He admits he's good at it, though.

"I have the ability to walk into a room cold and start acting," Goetz said.

His techniques obviously are successful. He has made guest appearances on television programs such as "Bronx Zoo," "St. Elsewhere," "Lou Grant," and the "Twilight Zone." Goetz, usually cast as a doctor or lawyer, has also worked in movies

"It really started here — this place offered me a chance to be on the stage the whole time."

— Peter Michael Goetz

HIS NEWEST projects include "The Right to Die," a television drama with Raquel Welch, and an upcoming movie, "King Kong Lives."

"I was terrible in 'King Kong Lives,'" said Goetz, who performs next year.

"We were thrown off and they gave us another chance," he commented.

ACTORS ON the series try to let the comedy come from the characters and writing, he said, rather than relying on sex and violence to get attention.

"There is a struggle going on there — the ones trying to make it (television programming) better aren't succeeding commercially," he said. "You have to go with what sells."

Before "The Cavanaugh's," Goetz was a cast member of the "After Mash" television show. He is considering a script written by Alan Alda next.

Goetz isn't always recognized in films or television programs.

"I'm one of those actors who wears a beard or toupee," he said.

Goetz, who started to bald and go gray in his early 30s, said he was "born looking old" in one interview.

IF HE HAD been discovered earlier, his career might have taken a different direction, he said.

Instead, he spent 10 years working at the Guthrie Theater until his chronological age caught up with his mature physical appearance.

Goetz went from the Guthrie to act in regional and Broadway productions.

He was well-received as Jack Jerome in Neil Simon's "Brighton Beach Memoirs," which played on Broadway for a year.

Not all his efforts were so successful though.

GOETZ RECALLS receiving praise from major stars for his portrayal of John Barrymore on the opening night of Colleen Dewhurst's Broadway production "Ned and Jack."

"Helen Hayes was at the opening night party at Sardi's (a restaurant in New York) and so were Lillian Gish and Ruth Gordon," Goetz recalled in one interview. "They'd all worked with Barrymore and they all told me, 'I saw Jack up there on stage tonight.' It was like a dream."

However, due to a negative review in The New York Times, the play closed the next day.

Faculty should give USO active voice

THE QUESTION HAS been raised: "Why give the Undergraduate Student Organization votes on the faculty senate's undergraduate education policy committee? USO members never show up anyway."

But in this case, "Why not," would be a better question. The only thing being hurt by the USO's decision not to vote is USO credibility. The faculty senate isn't being hurt. By not using its votes, the USO is wasting a great opportunity. With its votes, the USO can have a voice in matters that directly affect its constituency.

The faculty senate has a responsibility to itself as well as to the students to allow the USO votes on the committee. It will ensure that when the committee needs student input, it will be available.

It also keeps the committee from playing lord and master, deciding when student input is beneficial. Because students must live with the policy decisions, the faculty senate's credibility would be enhanced by always having student input available to it.

THE GENERAL EDUCATION council, which had representatives from each of the colleges as well as the USO, was dissolved last spring. Now the undergraduate education policy committee oversees the general education program.

The undergraduate education policy committee never has had members other than those already on the faculty senate.

Because the general education council, which had representation from all involved parties, has been dissolved, the faculty senate should look at reworking the undergraduate education policy committee to allow representation from the colleges and the students.

Another concern expressed is that student participation, when there, was very weak. Just because this year's USO is too apathetic to take advantage of its votes, next year's might not be. Apathy, on campus and elsewhere, seems to come in waves.

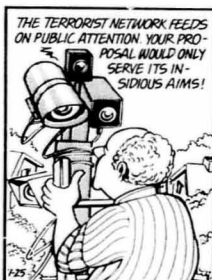

The undergraduate education policy committee may not have had voting input from outside the faculty senate in the past. But now that the general education council, which gave students and the colleges votes, has been dissolved, it should.

In an unexpected but welcome move, the House of Representatives has voted narrowly, 198-193, to ban cigarette smoking on all commercial airline flights of two hours or less. Of course it would be unpleasant and painful for cigarette addicts to forgo their nicotine fix for two hours. But between their inconvenience and lowering the cancer risk for non-smoking passengers, the choice is easy.

Pray for repentance

Four thousand yesterday, 4,000 today and 4,000 tomorrow. Children. All of them. With arms and legs, hearts and hands. Tiny, precious babies.

They were, until the doctors ripped their bodies apart with the scalpels, the forceps or the suction devices.

This is, of course, well-documented. Maybe you saw the film "Eclipse of Reason" in the Student Center last week.

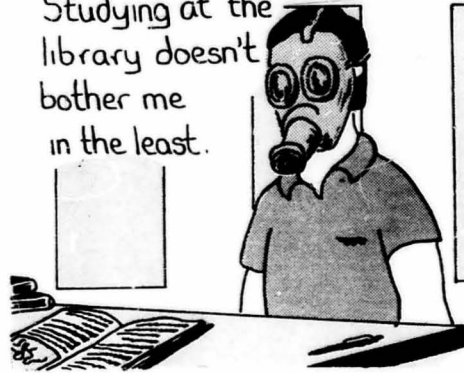

The killing goes on, day after day, to the magnitude of more than 1.5 million children killed every year. Many of our politicians are still playing games with children's lives. Sen. Paul Simon refuses to try to stop the killing; Sen. Alan Dixon refuses to try to stop the killing.

But you can do something. Write to Simon and Dixon and tell them how you feel. Support women's crisis pregnancy centers. And pray. Pray that our country will repent and that we will ask God's forgiveness for what we have done before God's judgment falls on our land. —Wayne Helmer, associate professor, mechanical engineering.

Although SIU has few problems, administrators are still to blame

Let it be known that two high-paid administrators does not a quality education make. It is becoming more obvious that the only people who are going to benefit from Lawrence Pettit's stay here at SIU are Lawrence Pettit and all of those who agree with his policies. Those who do not agree will be out of a job.

I will admit that I do not know much about student development. I do know that part of an excellent curriculum is assembling talented faculty members and paying them accordingly. Lawrence, do you actually believe that paying our high-ranking officials salaries comparable to that of the U of I's will make SIU a better institution? For those getting raises it will probably become the greatest place on earth.

Hello, John Guyon. I wonder how many faculty members would appreciate a raise. Of course if any of them asked, you would probably phase cut their colleges. What about all of those people waiting to hear if their jobs will be cut? I guess that is why you are paid $107,000 a year.

John Guyon, if you want to clear your name, give back the $17,000 plus in bonus pay you received. It looks as if Lawrence Pettit is attempting to buy yet another vote against collective bargaining. John Boy SIU will never be a U of I. Who wants to be? I believe my education here has been quite rewarding and unique. Don't take that as an indication to give yourself another raise.

The reason that some of the outstanding members of the faculty are leaving from time to time is not the fact that SIU is a bad school. The same is true of the outstanding students choosing to go elsewhere. The fact is that there is not enough incentive for these to groups to stay. Excuse me but if you do not have any of these groups, then you're likely to have problems.

I also want to know who regulates the Board of Trustees. Do these guys know how to party, or what? After all, we give them cars to drive to meetings and pay their expenses. Who checks their expenditures? Who are the Board of Trustees? Are they trustworthy? Who appoints them? Answer these questions and some of the budget woes on this campus may be solved.

Maybe we should just start making out our bursar checks to Lawrence Pettit so he can start pocketing our money without fuss. Hov, much money are you going to need this week, Lawrence? New pink flamingoes for the front lawn? New patio furniture? Going to buy the governor an ice cream cone?

I predict that by this time next year, a Sunset Concert will feature Lawrence Pettit and John Guyon singing their popular tune "You and Me Against the World." A crowd will be gathered, but not to hear the "Self-Righteous Brothers." They will be gathered around the statue of former President Delyte Morris in awe of the sight of a statue that is crying. I wonder why? —Chris Briddick, alumnus.

After a record-setting year, foundation raises its goal

By Deedra Lawhead
Staff Writer

The SIU Foundation raised a record $4.46 million in fiscal 1987, officials said.

The foundation, a non-profit fund-raising corporation for the University, exceeded by $163,000 its $4.3 million goal set by Anne Carman when she became foundation president in March 1986. It also has surpassed the amount raised the previous fiscal year by $1.4 million.

Next year, the foundation's goal will be $6 million.

THE FOUNDATION receives cash gifts such as checks and stocks as well as "gifts in kind" of equipment and supplies, Bryan Vagner, foundation controller and treasurer, said.

For instance, a local car dealer may contribute the use of an automobile, Vagner explained.

Contributions are raised by direct mail, telephone and personal contact. Carman credits the rise in contributions to volunteer work.

"The foundation staff doesn't raise the money — the volunteers do — and we're very grateful," she said.

VOLUNTEERS WRITE to all alumni four times a year or until they make a gift, after which the volunteers do not contact them again until the next year, Carman explained.

The foundation also has two telephone fund-raising sessions a year, one in the fall and one in the spring.

"Students and faculty get together in the evenings and call alumni across the nation and ask for donations," Carman said.

The telephone fund-raiser last fall brought in $144,000 compared to $12,000 four years ago, she said. Through an athletics drive, the foundation also raised $250,000.

DONORS CAN designate where their gifts go. Sixty percent of the contributions went to academic programs such as scholarships and support for the schools and colleges within the University, 20 percent to non-academic programs such as athletics and WSU-TV, 16 percent to build endowments, and 4 percent to miscellaneous programs such as student activities, the alumni association and night safety.

The foundation provides University schools and colleges with equipment, supplies and money for travel, Vagner said.

"WE EITHER grant money to the University for expenditures or deans make requests to us, and we pay vendors directly," he said.

The foundation provided scholarships ranging from $50 to $3,000 to 400 students in fiscal year 1987, Carman said. Three scholarships, the SIU Foundation Scholar Award, the SIU Foundation Merit Award and the SIU Foundation Presidential Award, are awarded through the Office of Admissions and Records to incoming freshmen based on their high school academic records. Those scholarships can be renewed if the recipients maintain 3.5 grade point averages.

WORKING WITH deans, department chairs and committees, the foundation also awards scholarships named after donors. It set a goal of 10 named scholarships of $10,000 or more for fiscal 1987 but received more than 30.

Through the foundation, anyone can establish a scholarship in someone's name for $10,000. The student who receives the scholarship actually receives the interest made from the $10,000, so "the scholarship lasts forever," Carman said.

THE PRESIDENTS' Council, established in 1984, recognizes individuals who contribute $10,000 or more and businesses that contribute $25,000 or more. The number of donors on the list grew from 88 in 1985 to 127 in fiscal 1987, Carman said.

read some of Swinburne's poems.

In a night of tears and laughter, Swinburne's trademark smile, blue suit and red tie was second only to his knack for a poetic rendering of any administrative situation in fueling the laughter. Noting the loss of a friend fueled the tears.

Ferrell Johnson, president of the graduate school council, recalled the first time he saw Swinburne dressed in a blue suit, shaking hands with everyone at a football game.

"It was quite different," Johnson said. "Dr. Swinburne is different, he's unique. He is always trying to get to know who he is seeing. Someone must succeed him — no one can replace him."

E.T. Simonds, representing the community said he couldn't say "enough nice things about nice people" like Swinburne.

"He has touched all of us in his own way," Simonds said. "We'll miss him."

Ott remembered Swinburne as the man who brought together an office staff divided in the turbulence of the late '60s.

Correction

An editing error improperly inserted a facetious comment in Friday's DE regarding a request by the Public Work's office that Carbondale residents conserve their water usage. The Daily Egyptian apologizes to Public Works officials and all city residents for the inappropriate comment.

Police Blotter

Two Carbondale residents were arrested by Carbondale police and charged with aggravated battery in related incidents Sunday.

Dwight Gamble, 28, Carbondale, was charged with aggravated battery after he turned himself in Sunday night. He is accused of shooting Julius Hollins, 31, Carbondale, with a .410-gauge shotgun about 2:53 a.m. Sunday at 210 E. Oak St.

Gamble was taken to Jackson County Jail and bail was set at $25,000.

Hollins told police he was approaching a crowd on East

Oak Street when he was hit in the chest by shotgun pellets. Hollins was taken to Memorial Hospital of Carbondale and later transferred to St. John's Hospital in Springfield.

Police were trying to calm the crowd that had gathered at the Carbondale hospital when an officer was pushed down. He was kicked in the chest when he tried to chase the fleeing suspect, police said.

At about 3 a.m., William Mathis, 26, Carbondale, was arrested and charged with aggravated battery in connection with the hospital incident, police said.

Murphysboro calls interrupted

Telephone calls to Murphysboro were interrupted for six hours Monday when a construction crew cut a telephone cable, a phone company spokesman said.

The crew was boring under old Illinois Route 13 near the Kroger store when it cut the cable, John Green, customer service manager for GTE, said.

Telephone conversations to Murphysboro were interrupted between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. while the cable, which carries all long distance and local telephone calls in or out of Murphysboro, was repaired, he said.

Murphysboro residents could call within the town but no calls could come in or go out of town, Green said.

Repairs began at 3 p.m. and were completed at 5 p.m., Green said.

Milwaukee may get overflow flights

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Mitchell International Airport will get more flights over the next two decades, some due to an overflow from Chicago airports, aviation officials said.

Mitchell hopes to get 77 to 438 new non-stop flights and up to 15 million passengers that experts predict two Chicago airports will not be able to handle by the year 2020.

In 1986, O'Hare had 795,000 take offs and landings.

High-energy 'Mame' to end '87 Playhouse with finesse

By Mary Caudle
Entertainment Editor

The last production of the 1987 Summer Playhouse season, "Mame," takes on a lot of complexity but pulls it off with professional finesse. Reminiscent of the extravagant musicals of the 1930s, "Mame" has a number of places where problems could occur — an intricate, moving set, split-second costume changes and lavish song-and-dance numbers — but if there are problems, they are scarcely noticeable during the high-energy production.

Director and choreographer George Pinney has done a fabulous job in his last production for the University, creating a slick production that runs the gamut from hilarious to downright heart-warming.

"Mame" is the story of a carefree socialite of the 1920s who has her ophaned nephew thrust into her guardianship in the midst of one of her huge cocktail parties. It has been an audience favorite since its Broadway run in the 1950s. It obviously has not lost its appeal in its latest version.

The story opens as young Patrick and his nanny, Agnes Gooch (played by Gabe Weldin and Beth Perry), unsuspectingly venture to New York and into one of Mame's decadent parties. What follows is a humorous, high-voltage song-and-dance number, "It's Today," complete with lavish costumes and a moveable Art Deco set.

The humor and energy of the opening number is maintained throughout the first act, only faltering in the second when the story line becomes less cohesive and numbers appear less polished. On all counts, the second act does not compare with the first — the most noticeable problem of the production.

Bridget Wiley, who also starred in "Life With Father," makes a venerable Mame, creating a character both sympathetic and believable in the midst of the many changes Mame undergoes.

However, it's the supporting cast that makes the show, a wacky collection of characters who surround Mame's colorful life. They range from her bosom buddy, Vera, a longtime "actress" and drinker, played aptly by Margaret Connelly, to Agnes Gooch, an "old maid" who is hilarious and pathetic.

Kenneth Lee, Andy Cook, Alban Dennis and a large ensemble round out the cast with solid performances, with many filling several roles as well as performing in musical numbers throughout the production.

Performances of "Mame" will continue at 8 p.m. Thursday through Sunday. Tickets — $7 for Thursday and Sunday performances, and $8 for Friday and Saturday performances, may be purchased at the McLeod Theater Box Office or by calling 453-3001. Student rush tickets may be purchased for $4 before each performance.

impressive players I've seen in five years here."

After Newark and Hagerstown, the Oriole ladder to success routes its way through Charlotte, N.C. (AA), and Rochester, N.Y. (AAA), before ending with the major league Orioles.

Finley said he hoped to be selected as one of the instructional league candidates.

"I know not everyone gets picked — it is a good thing to go," Finley said. "I'm 22 years old and I need to move up as fast as I can. I think it would help me out."

Finley, who sounds like a man who's taking everything in stride, said the biggest change for him since leaving SIU-C was not having to worry about classes.

"All I have to worry about is baseball now," Finley said. "It makes a pretty big difference. Heck, we only play one game a day — it almost seems easier than playing double-headers everyday like in college."

One difference that was supposed to impact on Finley's hitting prowess was the change from the collegiate aluminum bat to the wooden bats used in the professional ranks.

"I was a little worried at first," he said. "Everyone told me it would bother me, so I was expecting it to bother me. But now I think I like the wooden bats better. There isn't a better feeling or sound in the world than when you really hit one from the sweet spot."

Pitching in the minors hasn't hampered Finley, either. In fact, he says the more consistent minor league hurlers make hitting easier.

"In college, you'd face a guy throwing 75 mph in one game and a guy throwing 85 mph the next game," he said. "It makes it a little easier for the hitters to adjust."

Although pleased with his current pace, Finley said he can do better. He's hoping to get a shot at AA or even AAA when the Orioles begin spring training for the 1988 season.

"I want my shot," Finley said. "Playing here is great, but I want to move up and on."

With a solid senior year at SIU-C, Finley edged out former Salukis Robert Jones and Bert Newman to become SIU-C's all-time leading offensive producer. In career statistics, Finley ranks first in games played, at-bats, runs scored, hits and doubles. He also ranks second in total bases, sixth in triples, 13th in home runs, fifth in runs batted in and second in stolen bases.

Finley became the first Saluki ever to rank in all 10 of the statistical categories. Jones, a 1986 draftee of the Milwaukee Brewers, ranked in nine categories, while Newman ranked in seven categories.

Bulls vs. Lakers in Hall-of-Fame game

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — The World Champion Los Angeles Lakers will face the Chicago Bulls in the 15th annual Basketball Hall of Fame-NBA game Nov. 3 at the Springfield Civic Center, officials have announced.

The game is the major highlight of what is being billed as "NBA Day in Basketball City, U.S.A.," Hall of Fame Executive Director Joe O'Brien and NBA Commissioner David J. Stern announced this weekend. Other events during the day include a luncheon for players, NBA officials, Hall of Famers and fans, and an autograph session with three players from each of the two teams.

This year's game marks the seventh consecutive appearance of the defending NBA champion, O'Brien said. Since the first NBA-Hall of Fame game in 1972, each of the 23 NBA teams will have played in the benefit encounter, he said.

1987 SUMMER FINAL EXAM SCHEDULE

Because of the limited number of examination periods available, no departmental examination times are scheduled for the Summer. The following points are pertinent to the final examination schedule:

1. The class final exam period is scheduled based on the meeting time and days listed on the first line of the class entry in the Schedule of Classes book (which should be the same as the first printed line for the section on the registered student's schedule print-out). For example, a class section is listed in the Schedule book on two lines in the manner:

07:30 - 8:30	T	TH
08:40 - 09:40	W	F

The scheduled class time for the first line of the entry starts with "07" and the meeting days for that line are "T TH" only. Therefore the exam time is 8:00 - 9:50 a.m. Friday, August 7, as is indicated on the attached Summer Final Examination Schedule.
2. Classes should plan to hold their final examination in their regularly scheduled class rooms. The space scheduling section of the Office of Admissions and Records will forward to departments information relative to the location for examinations for those classes that cannot hold examinations in their regularly scheduled rooms because of a space conflict. This will be done sufficiently in advance of the final examination days to provide adequate notice for all.
3. Students who find they have more than three examinations on one day may petition, and students who have two examinations scheduled at one time should petition their academic dean for approval to take an examination during the make-up examination period on the last day. Provision for such a make-up examination period does not mean that students may decide to miss the scheduled examination time and expect to make it up during this make-up period. This period is to be used only for students whose petitions have been approved by their dean.
4. Students who must miss a final examination may not take an examination before the time scheduled for the class examination. Information relative to the proper grade to be given students who miss a final examination and are not involved in a situation covered in the preceding paragraph will be found in the mimeographed memorandum forwarded to members of the instructional staff at the time they receive the final grade listing for the recording of grades.
 1. One credit-hour courses, and classes scheduled for meeting dates less than the full 8-week session have their examinations during the last regularly scheduled class period prior to the two formal exam days.
 2. Other classes (those scheduled for the full 8-week session) should hold their final exams according to the following:

Finley swings into Orioles' organization

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Editor's note: The following is the first of a four-part series on Saluki from the 1986 and 1987 baseball teams now playing professional baseball in the minor leagues.

Outfielder Steve Finley — the most productive career offensive performer in Saluki baseball history — took up his new job right where he left off at SIU-C.

"Things really aren't that much different," Finley modestly admitted Monday morning. "There haven't been any big, major changes."

Now the starting centerfielder for the Newark (N.Y.) Orioles, Finley is playing with the same consistent, heady play that won him a four-year starting role at SIU-C.

Currently hitting .325, Finley is leading the team with nine doubles and two triples, and he trails only Don Buford Jr., son of the former Oriole great, for the team lead in steals.

With 27 runs scored, 23 RBI and 18 stolen bases, Finley is playing like a winner on a winning club.

"He covers a lot of ground in center and he's consistent at the plate," Arnold said. "It looks like he has a definite career in baseball ahead of him."

With a five-game hitting streak and hits in nine of his last 10 outings, Finley, a .331 career hitter at SIU-C, is proving to be worth more than the 13th-round draft pick the Orioles spent on him.

As members of the New York-Penn League, the Orioles play a 78-game schedule. The

Orioles are currently 23-14, and stand tied with their arch-rivals, the Geneva Cubs, for first place.

Players from Newark seldom get called up in mid-season, Arnold said, but he added that five or six of the best players are invited to a fall instructional league after the season ends on Sept. 3. He said Finley will be one of those five or six players.

"I'm sure the front office will want to see him at the Hagerstown (Md.) club next spring," Arnold said. "After all, he turned down a draft offer from Atlanta last summer. And he is one of the more

Ardent Master Swimmers break state, world records

By Darren Richardson

Approximately 100 swimmers from Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee and Illinois attended the Central Masters Illinois Long Course Championships at the Recreation Center pool Saturday and Sunday.

"The meet went extremely well," said Bill McMinn, assistant director of facilities at the Recreation Center and member of the Saluki Masters Swim Club. "The success can be attributed to excellent sportsmanship and the gracious manners of the participants."

"I would even go so far as to say it was one of the best-administered meets I've ever experienced, thanks to Mary Pohlman (key planner of the event) and the rest of the Master Swimmers," McMinn said.

St. Louis master swimmer Ardet Mueller, competing in the 45-49 age division, set two world records Sunday, one in the 400-meter individual medley with a time of 5:54.98 and one in the 400 freestyle with a 5:16.57 time.

In the men's 35-39 age group,

Saluki master swimmer Clay Kolar set two state records. Kolar swam the 50-meter breaststroke in 33.72 seconds and the 200-meter breaststroke in 2:44.89.

McMinn was very pleased with the response from out-of-towners. "Anytime you get participants from outside your area to visit your campus," McMinn said, "you never know what the paybacks might be. One participant said she was looking for a good school to send her granddaughter to, and thought she might have found it in SIU-C."

Roche wins Tour de France

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — Stephen Roche, the first Irishman to win the Tour de France bicycle race in its 74-year history, received a hero's welcome Monday upon his arrival in his native Dublin.

Roche, 27, completed his historic victory Sunday in Paris, scoring the second slimmest triumph in the history of bicycling's most prestigious race, holding off Spain's Pedro Delgado by 40 seconds.

Several thousand people crowded into Dublin airport to greet Roche, who came home on a "champagne special" courtesy of Aer Lingus, the Irish national airline.

Roche joins four men — Fausto Coppi of Italy, Eddie Merckx of Belgium, and Bernard Hinault and Jacques Anquetil of France — who have won the tours of Italy and France in the same year. Those four are considered among the greatest riders ever.

Roche completed the 26-day event — that started in West Berlin July 1 and covered 2,500 miles in 115 hours, 27 minutes, 42 seconds as he raced for the Italy-based Carrera team.

Roche, who finished 48th in last year's Tour de France, will earn more than $100,000 in prizes for the victory.

Canoe races, hot playoff slates provide sports break to students

Two-person canoe races are slated for Aug. 3 at Lake on the Campus boat docks. Signup is at the Recreation Center or on-site, with competition in men's, women's and corec divisions.

There also will be canoe obstacle course races.

The championship in 3-on-3 basketball tips off tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Center. In the men's B division, the winner of the Bangers vs. Touch-n-Go clash will battle the winner of the Hormones vs. Enthymemes cage war. The men's A division championship pits Cusourros against the DeCons immediately following the B title game.

Softball supremacy will be settled Wednesday in 12- and 16-inch play, both in men's and corec divisions. At press time, the teams still alive in the men's B division were Puff Divers, Bumbling Oafs, Team Mets, T-Point, Cusourros, Defenders, Alfors and the Longballers.

In the corec B division, the winner of the Motor Kings vs. Team Sports game will play the victor of the Aidless vs. Generics match-up for the championship Wednesday.

In 16-inch softball, the triumphant team in the Blue Bells vs. Longballers confrontation will lock horns with the winner of the Little Rascals vs. Defenders diamond war for the championship at 5 p.m. Wednesday.

In the 6-on-6 corec volleyball league, playoff draws will be held today at 4 p.m. in Room 158 of the Student Center, with playoff action starting Thursday.

The Domino's Pizza Team Tennis standings find Hutchinson's Hackers atop the field with 120 points, followed by Team Prince with 102, The Aces with 73, Down-the-Liners with 72, the Racket Heads with 51 and the Foot Faulters bringing up the rear with 22.

The Student Affairs volleyball title has been settled, with Student Services placing first and University Housing finishing second.

In the Disc-Golf tournament held last week, Kent Clizbe beat out Roger Jimenez in the men's division and Sarah Hardin Simonson held off Kathy Carpenter to capture the women's crown.

Flood damage ruins Rec Center cage floor

By Greg Huber
Staff Writer

The Recreation Center's basketball floor, soaked by floodwaters during a severe storm June 12, is buckling badly and may have to be replaced — at a cost of between $109,000 and $125,000.

Carpenters are trying to fix the roughest buckles as they occur, and the sounds of saws and sanders mingle with sounds of hoopsters as they practice for the upcoming 3-on-3 basketball championships.

The damage happened at about the worst possible time, two months before the floors would have received an annual cleaning and sealing in preparation for the oncoming season, assistant coordinator Brian Lukes said. Had the flood occurred after the sealing, the floor possibly could have withstood the water better.

A test done by Missouri Floor, a firm that has previously installed basketball floors at SIU-C, showed the maple tongue-and-groove floor still had 16 percent moisture 30 days after the flood.

The company said it wasn't possible to remove the buckled places with floor sanders because wood thickness was not great enough to withstand the amount of sanding required.

The Recreation Center is getting another opinion from a Chicago firm, but if the second findings concur with the original assessment, the floor would have to be replaced.

One problem there would be to time to do the work without interfering with the intramural basketball program, Lukes said.
