El Salvador protest draws vocal crowd

By Charles Victor,
Staff Writer

An interrupted rally, a short march, vivid placards, a makeshift coffin and a memorial service caused a stir in Carbondale on Friday as students and members of the Carbondale community took to the streets to protest U.S. involvement in El Salvador.

The rally, march and memorial service were part of the activities launched by a newly formed campus group, Coalition for Change, as part of a national week of protest program.

The rally scheduled for 3 p.m. was canceled when police instructed the protesters to start their march as participants were still gathering. The procession however, picked up more people as it wound through Carbondale to the Newman Center. About 250 to 300 people finally took part in the protest.

The march began at the Wesley Center and moved down South Illinois Avenue and West Cherry Street, past the Federal Building, then up University and East Grand avenues to the Newman Center. The marchers played taped revolutionary Latin American songs and chanted slogans as they marched.

Using a loudspeaker, protesters chanted "People united will never be defeated," "Jobs not war," "U.S. out of Salvador," "People who are poor don't need a Reagan war" and "If Nicaragua won, Salvador will win."

Mario Saenz, graduate student in philosophy said, "People were very enthusiastic. They shouted slogans all the way."

"We received a lot of support from passers-by too," he added. "Mostly they honked their cars and waved to us. Only once did someone shout something negative, but I didn't hear what it was."

Some of the slogans read "Attila the Haig" and "Freedom for Salvadoran people."

Organizers were confused over the police action. "We don't know why they asked us to move before we were ready," said Saenz. "We had a valid permit from 3 to 4 p.m." Carbondale police could not be reached for comment on their action.

Another organizer, Ray Mazurek, faculty member in the English department said, "It turned out well anyway. It was a moving experience for me. I am glad so many people turned up."

The service in honor of Archbishop Oscar Romero and the 30,000 people killed in El Salvador during the past two years was performed by the Rev. Steve Lobacz, the Rev. Jack Ferker and Deacon Garth Gillan. About 200 people attended the service.

Buzbee: Tuition hikes won't be stopped

By Mike Anthony
Staff Writer

State Sen. Kenneth Buzbee said Saturday that he doesn't think the General Assembly would stop tuition increases and make up those increases from general revenue funds.

Buzbee, D-58th District, made the remarks to members of the student advisory committee of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, meeting at Touch of Nature.

The committee evaluates the impact of IBHE policies on students and expresses student opinion, ideas and criticism regarding higher education.

U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-24th District, and Chancellor Kenneth Shaw also spoke to the committee. Their message was: higher education, both in the state and the nation, is in trouble and to stop the Reagan administration's proposed cutbacks in student aid, students and their parents must write their representatives.

Buzbee said that a few weeks ago he believed the General Assembly would have supported halting tuition increases averaging 15 percent at state colleges and universities, but "now I seriously doubt it."

A political coalition might be assembled to stop the increases, Buzbee said, but he believes that the General Assembly can't be convinced to cover the difference from the general revenue fund.

The majority of money appropriated for higher education comes from the general revenue fund, and Gov. James Thompson's fiscal 1983 budget calls for appropriating $18 million less than in fiscal 1982 from that fund.

Thompson's budget provides a $16.7 million increase in total funds for higher education, $117 million less than the IBHE had requested. Tuition increases totaling $22.5 million statewide and other revenues offset the decrease in general revenue spending.

However, excluding retirement funding, Thompson's budget of $94 million is $27.6 million less than in fiscal 1982.

The $22.5 million the tuition increases are expected to generate is needed, Buzbee said. "If you kill the tuition increases," he said, "programs will have to start to die."

This year's college seniors won't be affected, but freshman and high school seniors will be affected "because by the time they get to be juniors and seniors, the programs aren't going to be there," Buzbee said.

Debbie Brown, Graduate Student Council president, asked Buzbee if the General Assembly would support a bill that would put a ceiling of $60,000 on state administrator's salaries.

"I think that you might get some political support in the General Assembly for such a bill," Buzbee said, "but I don't think it's a good idea and I don't think it will pass."

Simon told the committee that he believes the Reagan administration's higher education policy "clearly is flawed," particularly the administration's proposal to eliminate graduate and professional students from the Guaranteed Student Loan program.

If graduate and professional students were eliminated from the GSL program, they would be eligible for the Auxiliary Loans to Assist Students program, but Simon said the ALAS program has "a number of serious flaws."

He said only three states offer the program and Illinois is not one of them. Secondly, ALAS loans require students to pay a 14 percent interest rate instead of the GSL's 9 percent rate and students would have to begin repayment 60 days after receiving a loan.

Shaw said that the current situation higher education finds itself in is a result of serious economic conditions at state and national levels, and cannot be changed until "the economy turns around and the populace is convinced that supporting higher education is in their best interests."

Kurt Karas, sophomore in marketing, made known his view on education cuts at Friday's "Education for Everyone" rally.

Fight cuts, students told at rally

Cold temperatures did not numb the enthusiasm of about 400 students when legislators and student leaders stepped up to the microphone at a rally protesting Reagan's proposed cutbacks in student aid Friday.

U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-24th District, State Sen. Kenneth Buzbee, D-Carbondale, State Rep. Bruce Richmond, D-Murphysboro, and several student leaders told the crowd what students can do to halt Reagan's proposed cutbacks in student aid.

The speakers said that writing letters to government representatives and registering to vote are the most effective means students have to voice their dissatisfaction with the education budget cuts.

Write, write, write was Simon's advice to students. "Write to Washington; write to congressmen from wherever you live; ask your parents to write; write a letter to the editor," he said.

Simon also said the 18-to-25-year-old age group has the lowest voter registration in the country. "You have to change that," he said.

Simon received the loudest greeting of the speakers from the audience, primarily students, when he took the stage. The crowd continued to voice its approval throughout his speech.

He said if Congress passes the proposed cutbacks in education and social programs, the people of the United States will be segregated by economics.

"We are talking about the future economy of this country," Simon said.

Buzbee said the Reagan

Columbia to 'buzz' Southwest before landing in New Mexico

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — For 14 whirlwind minutes, from LA to landing, Jack Lousma and Gordon Fullerton will share a unique view of America's rugged Southwest.

High over the southern Pacific, the space shuttle Columbia is to enter Earth's atmosphere on Monday, quickly glowing red-hot from the friction of reentry. After losing and then reacquiring contact with Mission Control, the ship will take a fast route home.

En route, flying supersonic, Lousma and Fullerton will take the shuttle high above downtown Los Angeles, sweeping across Arizona and over the Rio Grande.

Viewers may have trouble spotting the ship as it comes in, but Columbia will make its presence felt with a series of whirling contrails and a pair of raucous sonic booms.

Almost exactly an hour after starting its deorbit, Columbia will brake to a stop on the hard gypsum floor of New Mexico's Tularosa Basin.

Lousma and Fullerton, of course, may be too busy to enjoy much more than quick glances out the cockpit's six windows. But they should be able to see everything from majestic, snow-covered mountain ranges to lush agricultural valleys.

Don Bane, an experienced pilot and public information officer for NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said that if descent goes as planned on Monday, it should look like this:

Columbia will enter Earth's atmosphere over the southern Pacific Ocean, crossing the coastline above downtown Los Angeles. Eagle-eye Angelinos have little hope of spotting the shuttle — it will be 30 miles overhead travelling hypersonic at more than 8,000 miles an hour.

Approaching the ribbon of the Colorado River, Bane said, "All the Southwest desert would start opening up in front of them."

Soon after crossing the Continental Divide north of Silver City, N.M., the bright, gypsum flat called Northrup Strip will appear at White Sands Missile Range. Albuquerque and its nest of nearby mountains ranges will be to the north, but all four eyes will be trained on the gypsum.

administration can be forced to back off the proposed education cuts as it was forced to back off the Social Security cuts.

"The president has hit you in the pocketbook," Buzbee said. "And you have the intense interest again."

"If you folks get registered to vote you're going to have a major say in policy."

Two SIU-C skydivers, one with an American flag trailing his chute, landed in the crowd as the lead guitarist of the band Low Budget played Jimi Hendrix's version of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Todd Rogers, Undergraduate Student Organization president, pointed out a sign that said

"books not bombs" and led the crowd in that chant. Another sign said "Stop Reagan Madness."

Stan Irvin, student trustee, said, "We want a chance to succeed. We think everybody deserves an education."

Irvin said guidance counselors are advising high school students to consider military service instead of higher education, in accordance with Reagan administration proposals.

The crowd booted People were at the rally for several reasons.

One student, Ed Ozols, a sophomore in psychology, said he attended "because I'm afraid of losing money to continue my education.

Cheryl Pittman, a student senator, said "I'm here for my brothers and my sisters who haven't been here yet."

Debbie Brown, Graduate Student Council president, said "numbers and votes are the answers."

SIU-C will begin a letter-writing campaign on April 28, with the backing of the United States Student Association. Another student rally is planned on May 1 in downtown Carbondale, Brown said.

"Today is not the culmination of a campaign," Brown said. "It is the beginning of a movement."

News Roundup

Senate committee starts on budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Budget Committee begins work Tuesday on a 1983 spending plan that, unlike last year, is almost certain to displease President Reagan.

A year ago, the GOP-dominated panel moved in lockstep with the administration, approving more than $30 billion in spending cuts and a blueprint that left room for Reagan's three-year income tax cut.

This year, Republican and Democrats agree that Reagan's big-deficit budget has almost no support.

At least five of 22 members of the Senate committee are vying for support of their own budget plans to reduce a 1983 deficit now projected at between $96.4 and $121 billion.

Private hospital patients pay for poor

CHICAGO (AP) — Almost one-fourth of the money paid by privately insured hospital patients in Illinois last year went to care for the poor and elderly, a study shows.

The Chicago office of the Health Insurance Association of America found that hospitals in 1981 billed privately-insured and self-paying patients an average of $375 a day, while the government paid an average of $293, or $82 less, for its Medicaid-Medicare clients.

Salvadorans vote despite violence

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Attacks by leftist guerrillas, including rooftop snipers, made voting impossible Sunday in Usulután, El Salvador's fourth-largest city. But people turned out in large numbers elsewhere, sometimes casting their ballots within blocks of street gunbattles.

They were choosing a 60-member constituent assembly empowered to rewrite the constitution and name a provisional administration as a prelude to representative government.

Residents and the army said at least 24 guerrillas were killed in the capital, which resounded with street battles. Much of the fighting was near voting stations.

City files 20 lawsuits to get land for project

By Bob Bondurant
Staff Writer

Lawyers for the city of Carbondale have filed 20 condemnation lawsuits to gain titles to the remaining parcels needed for the proposed downtown parking garage and convention center.

The city's special attorney handling the lawsuits, James Zimmer, refused comment on the status of the lawsuits, as did other city officials.

The suits were filed March 19, with the Jackson County circuit clerk's office. The property owners were served summonses last past week, and have 30 days to respond to the suits.

The current property owners of two of the 27 parcels needed have agreed to the city's purchase offers, and five other settlements are presently in the process of acquisition. Community Development Director Donald Monty said that one more could be ready for City Council acceptance by the next council meeting on April 5.

Zimmer was hired as the city's special attorney during the March 15 city council meeting.

A city "quick take" ordinance passed in December permits the city to condemn the property and clear the site while disputes over the amount of compensation are resolved in court.

According to a timetable approved earlier this month by the city council, the city should have titles to all the property for the convention center and parking garage by June 1.

Demolition is scheduled to begin by Sept. 7, and the city faces a February, 1983 deadline in conveying the land, cleared, to convention center developers Stan Hove and Associates.

The parking garage is expected to be completed by Jan. 2, 1984, with construction on the convention center planned for completion by Dec. 1, 1984.

The lawsuits filed include those against:

— Board of Trustees of the Walnut Street Baptist Church, 218 W. Walnut St.

— C.E. McNeill, for 214 S. Illinois Ave. (McNeill's Jewelry).

— C.E. Cochran, owner of the property at 314 S. Illinois Ave. (Amoco gas station).

— Violet Mae Yehling, as trustee, Kathryn Silvaiva and Wilfreda Hieronymus, owners of 312 S. Illinois Ave. (Covone's Restaurant), 306 S. Illinois Ave. (International Fashions), 304 S. Illinois Ave. (Phoenix Cycles) and 201-205 W. Walnut St. (Barefoot Cobbler and Leather Works, the Book Depot, First Church of Christ Scientist and Phoenix Cycles).

— Thomas H. Mofield, Winifred H. Mofield, First National Bank of Carbondale as trustee, W.E. Kimmel and Eiline Kimmel, owners of 207 W. Monroe St. (Nutrition Headquarters)

— Winifred Hewitt, Phillip Hirsch, Thomas and Winifred Mofield, for 218 S. Illinois Ave.

(Weisser Optical).

— Archie Stroup, Stever Loomis Stroup as trustee, Jack C. and Mary Lou Atwood, co-owners of 224 S. Illinois Ave. (Atwood Drugs, Modern Beauty Shop, Karin's Alterations), Sandra Pasha and Harry Wright are listed as tenants of the building.

— Eleanor Steinbach, for 212 S. Illinois Ave. (The Fettiash and Tae Kwan Do Karate School).

— Attie G. Hunt, for 308 S. Illinois Ave. (Pizza King).

— Ernest Fligor, Archie Stroup, Steven Loomis Stroup, for 220 S. Illinois Ave. (Southern Barbeque). Tenants listed there are Victor DeFrank and Tom Fligor.

— Hugh D. McGowan and John R. McGowan, for 205 W. Monroe St., where the tenant is listed as Vicki Randall.

— James Cleland, 207 W. Walnut St. (Southern Illinois Gem Co.). Other tenants are Linda Bollenbach, Edward Varnell and Jeff Story.

— Paul F. McCoy and Mary F. McCoy, for 209 W. Walnut. The tenant listed is Wilda Rudmose.

— City National Bank of Murphysboro, trustee, for 310 S. Illinois Ave. (vacant).

— David L. Hoffman and R. Martin Spencer, for 210 S. Illinois Ave. (vacant).

— Harry S. and Lillian Goldstein, for 200 S. Illinois Ave. (vacant).

— George D. Barnes and W. Homer Lee, for 206 S. Illinois Ave. (vacant).

8 arrested in city for drug distribution

By Anita Jackson
Staff Writer

Eight arrests have been made in Carbondale following a six-month investigation by the Southern Illinois Enforcement Group into local distribution of cocaine and LSD.

About $7,000 was spent on drug purchases by undercover agents who posed as drug dealers during the investigation, according to an SIEG news release. The release also said that two other arrest warrants were authorized by the Jackson County State's Attorney as a result of the investigation.

Six of those arrested are SIU-C students. They were identified as: Brian E. Less, 19, of 302 Piersa Hall; William C. Pearson, 20, of 768 E. College; Jeffrey W. Geyer, 21, of a mobile home at 704 E. Park St.; Gary E. Wallace, 19, of 1234 Schneider Hall; Kent B. Simmering, 19, of 1234 Schneider Hall, and Matt Haynes, 19, of 1427 Mae Smith.

Others arrested were identified by the SIEG as Bret C. Olendorf, 21, of 510 W. Walnut, and Joseph M. Shemanske, 21, of RR 6, Carbondale.

Less was charged with two counts of delivery of methaqualone, one count of delivery of cocaine and one count of delivery of LSD. Pearson was charged with three counts of delivery of LSD. Geyer faces a charge of delivery of cocaine. Wallace and Simmering both were charged with two counts of delivery of LSD. Haynes was charged with one count of delivery of LSD. Olendorf was charged with one count of delivery of methaqualone and one count of delivery of cocaine. Shemanske faces a charge of delivery of methylenedioxyamphetamine.

Most of the LSD obtained was a paper variety referred to as blotter acid which typically sold for $2.50 per dosage, according to the SIEG. The sources of the LSD have been traced to northern Illinois and the St. Louis area. Cocaine was generally available at typical prices of $500 per quarter ounce.

Authorities said the investigation focused on local organized LSD and cocaine distribution networks. Undercover agents made several purchases of illegal substances from the suspects over a period of several months.

The investigation resulted in the later identification of other drug suppliers and their sources outside the Carbondale area, as well as the arrests of two suspects in late February after a $3,000 sale of cocaine to undercover agents, according to the SIEG release.

Information about the quantities of drugs bought during the investigation and arraignment dates for the accused was unavailable Sunday.

Opinion & Commentary

Europe and Japan freeloard on defense

AMERICA'S ALLIES are freeloading. While they complain about our failure to correct our economic woes, our friends in Europe and Japan contribute to those woes by making us pay much more than our fair share of the costs of European and Persian Gulf defense.

This unfair distribution of costs is partly to blame for the huge defense budget President Reagan is proposing. That, in turn, is part of the cause of the huge budget deficit that is strangling our economy. If America is going to get back on its economic feet, our European allies will have to shoulder more of the defense burden.

A RECENT RELEASE by U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-24, outlines some of the pertinent facts. The United States has 42 percent of the combined national income of the NATO countries and Japan. We contribute 57 percent of the joint defense dollars.

If Reagan's defense figures are adopted, we will have 42 percent of the combined national income by 1987, and we will be footing 57 percent of the defense costs.

Significantly, the greatest single portion of the U.S. defense outlay is spent to guard against Soviet troops moving into central Europe. It is not out of line to suggest that our European allies contribute their fair share of the cost.

THESE ARE NOT poor and impoverished countries. They compare favorably with our own in terms of national average income; several, in fact, are ahead of us.

The United States now spends nearly 6 percent of its national income for defense. The figure will be closer to 8 percent by 1987. Even at 6 percent, only Israel and the Soviet Union spend a larger percentage of their incomes on military expansion.

The negative effects of this imbalance extend to commercial competition. Germany and Japan, for instance, two of our most powerful trade rivals, spend about the same percentage of their national income on research as the United States does. We spend a much higher percentage of this money on defense, however.

This means that our allies in Japan and Germany frequently bear us in research areas that are important commercially and for exports — automobiles, for example.

AMERICA ALSO BEARS more than its share of the cost of protecting oil lines from the Persian Gulf. We do receive about 40 percent of our oil from the Persian Gulf through the Strait of Hormuz. Most of our allies in Western Europe and Japan, though, receive nearly 100 percent of their oil from sources there.

Once again, the United States bears more than its fair share of the defense burden.

A change is clearly in order. As Simon suggests, it's quite possible we could reduce our troop strength in Europe by 5 to 10 percent and maintain a strong presence there. It's possible, that is, if our friends in Western Europe start living up to that name and pulling their share of the weight.

Obviously, a strong U.S. economy is important to the security of Japan and Western Europe. The repeated pleas from leaders of those countries for action to lower interest rates here testifies to that.

Our leaders must make it clear to our allies that our economy cannot improve with the high budget deficits the President has requested. To bring the deficit down, however, we have to be able to reduce the defense budget. And that won't happen unless our allies start chipping in.

Letters

A shah at SIU-C?

Is it the Shah or "the Shaw" who is the chancellor here at SIU-C? Whatever the answer, it appears that our chancellor has the extravagant tastes more befitting to royalty.

In light of the projected $880,100 budget deficit, one would think that our administrators would be concerned about wasteful spending. This is not the case with our Chancellor Shaw.

It appears that Shaw replaced the lush, unmarred, wall-to-wall carpeting in the hallway and lobby of his office building because he did not like the way it looked when people walked on it. This discarded carpeting has been put into storage, but it will probably be thrown out eventually.

Perhaps our chancellor would be wise to heed the old saying,

"A penny saved is a penny earned." — Lisa A.J. Abramowitz, Junior, University Studies

Editor's Note: Chancellor Kenneth Shaw has said that the carpeting that was replaced in the lobby and hallways of his office was "eight- to 10-years-old and was showing signs of wear."

"It becomes an individual judgment as to what's wasteful or not," he said. "I thought it needed replacing. Somebody else might have thought it was fine."

He also said he did not know how much it cost to have the carpeting replaced. According to the report of purchase orders and contracts passed at the last Board of Trustees meeting, the cost of replacing it was $4,306.

Court is making police job hard

THE SUPREME COURT is at it again. In its blundering, blindfolded effort to provide understandable guidelines for the "exclusionary rule," the court still is groping through what Justice Powell has termed "this benighted area of the law." If the nine members of the court put their minds to it, surely they can do better than they seem to have been doing lately.

For those who may have just come in, the exclusionary rule is a rule governing the admissibility of evidence in a criminal trial. If a presiding judge concludes that certain evidence has been obtained in violation of the Fourth Amendment, the evidence must be excluded. The result is that in such cases, a patently guilty defendant often goes scot-free.

To be sure, only a handful of cases in a hundred turn on the rule, but these may be highly significant cases. John Hinckley Jr., charged with attempted assassination of President Reagan, may yet go free because evidence of his sanity was seized without a warrant. Significance to one side, the intolerable confusion surrounding the rule makes life miserable for arresting officers.

AS AN ESSAYIST in the current issue of "Judicature" makes clear, we have drifted far from the original purpose of the rule. This was to protect the integrity of the courts, by preventing them from contributing to violation of constitutional protections. A secondary justification for the rule then took root: The rule would deter police officers from trespassing upon our civil liberties. If the cops understood that evidence wrongly seized could not be admitted at trial, the cops would be more careful.

In recent years the Supreme Court has veered woefully away from both premises. Instead, the court has become preoccupied — obsessed might be a better word — with the kind of jesuitical hair-splitting beloved of theologians the world over.

On Jan. 13, a bitterly divided court flailed away at the "clear view exception" to the exclusionary rule. A police officer at Washington State University, having lawfully arrested a student for openly carrying a bottle of gin, accompanied the student to his dormitory room to get the student's identification card. While standing in the doorway, leaning against the jamb, the officer saw marijuana seeds and a pot pipe in clear view on a desk eight feet away. The Supreme Court of Washington ruled that the evidence had to be excluded because the officer had paused in the doorway before entering the room. The U.S. Supreme Court reversed. No Fourth Amendment violation here.

ON MARCH 1, the court heard argument in one more case in an interminable series of cases involving the "automobile exception to the exclusionary rule. The immediate issue had to do with a paper bag containing marijuana. The bag had been taken from the trunk of the defendant's car.

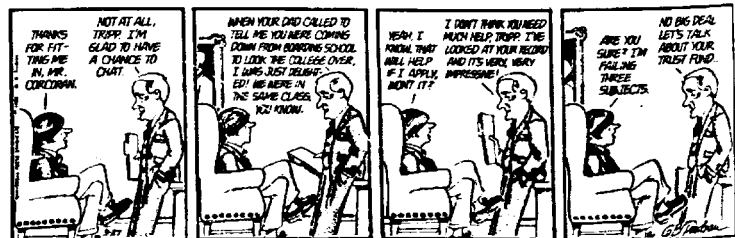

In what is known as the Chadwick case of 1977, the court ruled that a locked footlocker taken from a car trunk could not be opened without a warrant, even if it smelled to high heaven of marijuana. In the Sanders case of 1979, the court said that a small suitcase was similarly protected. In the Robbins case of 1981, officers seized two obvious bricks of marijuana in the recessed compartment of a station wagon. The bricks were wrapped in a green plastic garbage bag. Because the bag was opaque, said the court, the wrappings should not have been removed without a warrant, thus the evidence had to be excluded. Finally, in the Belton case last year, an arresting officer searched a jacket on the back seat of a car and found dope in a zippered pocket. This was held to be OK, though four dissenters passionately objected.

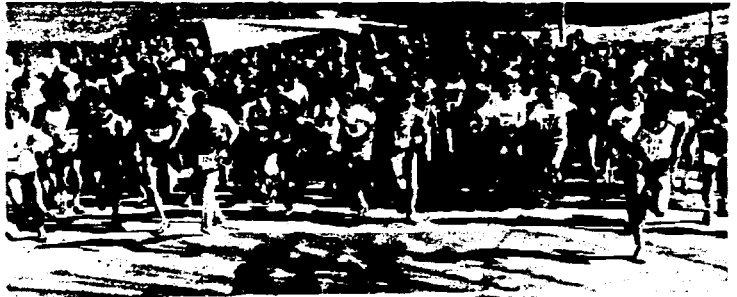

During the March 1 argument, Justice Stevens wanted to know if it would have made a constitutional difference if the paper bag had been stapled shut. Or suppose a blanket lay over everything in the trunk: Could the police lift the blanket? Justice O'Connor wondered if the bag had been on the back seat of the car or in the glove compartment. What then?

Trunks. Back seats. Door jambs. Jacket pockets. Garbage bags. The policeman's lot is not a happy one, but this court is making it worse. — (c) 1982, Universal Press Syndicate.

Plenty of energy and a lively step set 486 at the start of the Fifth Annual Lifestyling Roadrun Saturday, above. Nancy Owens, 22 had little of either after finishing the race. Left, in 41.21 to pace all women runners. Chris Waythomas led all Saturday with a time of 31.51. Other winners were: Ronnie Browning (16 and under), Tim McNamara (22-35), Lowell Jeter (36-39), Don Trowbridge (40-49), Andy Marcey (50-59), Stan Venoski (60 and over) and Don Redmond in the wheelchair division. Female winners were Lisa Hicks (16 and younger), Helen Auman (22-25), Becky Kaufman (26-29), Cheryl Martin (30-35), Janine Cox (36-39), Sue Teegarden (40-49) and Vera Whiteside (50-59).

Child health is topic of program

By Miriam Adolphson
Staff Writer

The 26th annual statewide conference on maternal and child health will be held Monday and Tuesday at the Student Center.

The conference, sponsored by the Illinois Association for Maternal and Child Health (IAMCH) and SIU's School of Medicine, is designed to highlight new ideas in maternal and child health.

Issues such as bringing the rest of the family into the delivery room during Caesarean births, replacing doctors with midwives and having babies at home will be discussed during the conference.

Other activities include group discussions of home birth, midwifery, the single parent, sudden infant death syndrome and the pediatric nurse-practitioner's role in caring for mothers and newborn children.

The conference is open both to health-care professionals and interested members of the public.

Registration is $25 per day for IAMCH members and $40 per day for non-members with a special rate available for students. A package rate, including meals, is available for both days.

Activities begin at 8:30 a.m. Monday in the Student Center auditorium with keynote speaker Gail Brewer, director of teacher services for the International Childbirth Education Association and author of "Right From the Start," "The Pregnancy-After-30 Workbook" and "What Every Pregnant Woman Should Know: The Truth About Diets and Drugs in Pregnancy."

Brewer will discuss the role of diets and drugs in a healthy pregnancy. Group discussions will follow at 9:45 a.m. and 11 a.m.

A 2:15 p.m. talk on midwifery by Ina Mae Gaskin, author of "Spiritual Midwifery," will kick off the afternoon session.

Gaskin is an outspoken advocate of using midwives instead of doctors during birth. She's also a practicing midwife at "The Farm," a Tennessee commune.

A discussion of family-centered Caesarean birth by Patty Brumbaugh, vice president of the National Caesarean Birth Group, will begin at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Group discussions of Caesarean births, the single parent and the outlook for high-risk infants will follow.

An awards luncheon will be held at 12:15 p.m., and the afternoon session will open at 1:15 with a discussion of the use of "birthing chairs" to help mothers through delivery.

Persons interested in registering for the conference should visit the registration desk in the lounge just outside the Student Center Auditorium.

Southern Illinois is example of needed business ties—Albert

By Joe Walter
Staff Writer

While most people spent their weekends at play, recreation or relaxation, Eddie Albert spent his promoting the commerce and ecology of Southern Illinois.

Albert, accompanied by U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-24th Dist., arrived on behalf of the SIU foundation late Friday afternoon at the Lakewood Center, east of Carbondale, to cut the ribbon at the grand opening ceremony of the Impact Advertising Agency. The next morning Albert and Simon made an appearance at the University Mall, where Albert presented an award to Marlen Radbill, an Ohio businessman.

Albert, who has appeared in numerous films such as "Captain Newman M.D.," "The Longest Yard," "Escape from Witch Mountain" and "Roman Holiday," and starred in the popular television series "Green Acres," said he had an interest in Southern Illinois ever since Simon introduced him to the area a few years ago.

Speaking about soil conservation, Albert said he supports a program to bring soil that is 15 feet underground to the surface so that the fertility can be replenished. Albert said a partnership of businesses and the community is needed to enact this idea because it is an expensive process.

Individuals without the help of corporations and businesses, Albert said, can get some things accomplished for bettering the environment. "But, it's tough," he said.

Albert said this community-business partnership means that corporations will have to start taking responsibility for their actions. "The days of ITT are over," he said. This partnership between business and the community, he said, is going on in Southern Illinois.

The Southwestern Illinois Coal Company, located near Percy, is reclaiming the land damaged by strip mining, Albert said. The reinvigorated land, he said, can then produce as many as 230 bushels of grain an acre. "That is 250 bucks of gravel,"

Albert said he hopes the rest of the country will notice what is going on in Southern Illinois and learn.

Albert said that six years ago 156 countries grew enough food to be self-sufficient. Now, he said, there is only one — the United States. America has to take care of its soil because it is "the lifeblood of our people," he said.

After he was taped by a television news cameraman, Albert was asked whether he thought Secretary of the Interior James Watt was doing a good job. "I don't respect his thinking at all," he said. "He is enhancing his popularity at the expense of our country."

David England, co-founder of the Impact Advertising Agency, is an August 1981 SIU-C graduate with a degree in marketing. He said he plans to expand the company to New Jersey within six months, and this growth would mean possible internships for SIU-C students in the marketing, art, journalism and radio-television departments.

Albert said he appeared at the opening of the agency because advertising agencies are communicators. "Advertising agencies do important work communicating all over the world," he said. Albert said that advertising agencies do not just sell products, "they sell ideas."

Saturday morning, Albert and Simon made an appearance at the University Mall, where Albert taped a public service spot on behalf of the Southern Illinois University Foundation. He presented an award to Radbill on behalf of the Eddie Albert Fund, an organization that is an extension of the SIU Foundation. Albert founded the fund to promote resource management and the ecology.

Radbill said he is considering opening a branch of his business, Ultimate Resources Inc., a recycling firm, in Southern Illinois.

Raveed investigation extended

By Anita Jackson
Staff Writer

Carbondale Police have extended their investigation of the murder of SIU-C professor Sion Raveed to Amsterdam and to other parts of the United States.

Although police have not determined a motive or identified any suspects in the case, Police Chief Edward J. Hogan said they are working on a few leads which may be significant in solving the case.

"Each and every lead must be identified as relevant to the case and followed to the point where it can be evaluated as insignificant," Hogan said.

Hogan said the case becomes more complicated as it is continued because Raveed's business, travels and personal associations were widespread.

Raveed owned solar companies in Albuquerque, N.M., and Rome. He was involved in fur exporting from South and Central America and served as a part-time consultant to several national and international businesses and corporations.

Raveed's body was found March 9 in the basement apartment of his home at 412 W. Oak St. by his property manager, Brad Kleindt. An autopsy revealed that Raveed had been stabbed several times and had been dead several days.

Romero was shot on March 24, while saying Mass in San Salvador, the capital of El Salvador. His funeral on March 26, two years ago to the day (of the rally), was the scene of another massacre.

Lobacz, director of the Westley Foundation, read a passage from Matthew's gospel. Ferker and Gillan followed with a burial service.

In a short homily, Ferker said people needed to do as Archbishop Romero had done. The memory of his sacrifice should always live in the minds of people, he said.

Despite ear-splitting volume, CDB fans seemed satisfied

By Tom Travin
News Editor

I was prepared to hate the Charlie Daniels Band concert Saturday at the Arena.

I last saw them in January 1978 at the Aragon Ballroom in Chicago, when they were a few thousand dollars poorer and a few thousand miles less road-worn. They were terrible — their pathetic sound system destroyed any hope of a good concert by wrocking what were pretty good songs. Even I, one of the original CDB fans, was permanently biased against them because of this show.

So when I went to see them Saturday, I was ready for the worst. When I noticed their new suspended sound and light system, though, I thought that maybe there was a sliver of chance they would play a good concert.

They surprised me. The CDB gave a 2 1/2-hour show and played 24 songs, enough to satisfy even the most dyed-in-the-denim, cowboy hat-wearing, Busch-drinking Charlie Daniels fan, and the die-hards who paid $9 a ticket seemed to be satiated.

A Review

Delbert McClinton and his band opened the show at 8 p.m. sharp and kept the partisan CDB crowd busy for about 40 minutes. McClinton's blend of country, rock and blues is similar to Daniels', but the crowd members were there to see Daniels, their hero, and about 9 p.m. they got what they came for.

The CDB opened with "Funky Junky" and "Trudy," two concert standards that got the crowd going early. This Arena crowd was one of the rowdiest I've ever seen, as they danced themselves sore and yelled themselves hoarse through the course of the show.

Two new songs from the group's latest release, "Windows," "The Lady in Red" and "Still in Saigon," were sandwiched around "Reflections," a mournful ballad about the deaths of Daniels' many friends in the music business and life on the road. Two more new songs, "Partyin' Gal." ("She'd been disappointed when it came to romance. But she was double-jointed and she sure could dance") and "We Had It All One Time," met with a good reaction from the crowd, as the band mixed new songs with tour standards effectively.

"Caballo Diablo" from "Fire on the Mountain" led into an unannounced rendition of the Marshall Tucker Band's "Can't You See," which sent the crowd into the first of many frenzies. A slow blues number, "I Don't Take No Tea for My Fever. I Don't Take No Potion for My Blues," showcased keyboardist Joel "Taz" DiGregorio's vocal ability, which is a pleasant change from Daniels' voice.

At this point, the band launched into a "greatest hits" set. "The Legend of Woolly Swamp" and "In America" drove the crowd into bedlam, and "Long Haired Country Boy," which has become an anthem for a generation of "southern rock fans," brought the house down the first time. "Uneasy Rider," Daniels'

'Deep Throat' campus showing canceled

By Laurie Landgraf
Entertainment Editor

Plans to show the film "Deep Throat" in the Student Center Monday night have been cancelled by order of Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs.

Sigma Tau Gamma, an off-campus fraternity, had booked the Student Center Auditorium for the X-rated movie, according to Lynn Andersen, public functions supervisor for the Student Center. The group did not disclose the title of the film when the room was reserved, she said, and Student Center officials did not make the discovery until last week.

"It was brought to my attention Friday afternoon," Swinburne said. "I spoke with members of the fraternity, who had gotten the impression one way or another that they could show the film." The group agreed to cancel plans to advertise and screen the movie, he said.

Several years ago, when another group tried to schedule the film, Swinburne said, "I discussed the matter with the state's attorney, who indicated the position that if we decided to show the film, it would be shut down and arrests would be made."

Swinburne said he has not spoken with the present state's attorney, but he indicated that the matter was also one of University policy. "We decided we weren't going to use University facilities for that," he said.

Most movies shown in the Student Center are sponsored by the Student Programming Council, which along with the Office of Student Affairs has worked out guidelines for scheduling movies. Andersen said. She added that other groups are normally expected to follow those guidelines.

Reid Kuzel, fraternity treasurer, said that when he asked Swinburne why the X-rated films "Pink Flamingoes" and "Last Tango in Paris" had been approved for Student Center audiences, Swinburne told him those films had artistic merit, while "Deep Throat" was hard-core pornography.

Cardboard boat race scheduled for May 1

The ninth annual Cardboard Boat Regatta will be held at Campus Lake from 1 to 6 p.m. May 1.

The race is open to the public and sponsored by the SIU-C design department. Regatta rules require that all boats be "person-powered" vessels made from corrugated cardboard and capable of executing a triangular 200-yard course four times.

Participants will be given kits containing material for boat construction and will be given two hours to construct boats before the race.

Robert Hunter, coordinator of the race, estimated that nearly 100 boats will be on the lake in the races.

Competition is set up in three classes: boats powered by canoe paddles, oars or kayak paddles; those driven by other forms of muscle-powered devices, such as bike pedals or sails; and those boats designed and built on race day.

Awards include the Titanic Award for the most spectacular sinking of a boat during a race, the Team Award for the most spirited and most organized team, the Vogue Award for the most attractive or spectacular design of a boat and the Pride of the Regatta for the most creative design.

More than 1,000 students to be honored for academics

More than 1,000 SIU-C undergraduates will be honored for academic achievements during the annual Spring Honors Day ceremonies Sunday.

Individual honors convocations are scheduled by each of the University's 10 undergraduate academic divisions. A buffet dinner will precede the ceremonies, and a president's reception for students and guests will follow the convocations.

The buffet is scheduled for 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. in the Student Center Old Main Room. The reception will be from 2 to 4 p.m. in the ballrooms.

Honors Day recognition goes to students who have maintained at least a 3.5 average on a 4.0 scale throughout their college careers.

Winners of special prizes, scholarships and awards given by the University and the SIU-C Foundation also will be cited in the program.

The individual convocations are scheduled for Sunday as follows:

- Agriculture—1:30 p.m., Agriculture Building, Seminar Room (102).
- Business and Administration—1:30 p.m., Browne Auditorium (Parkinson Laboratory).
- Communications and Fine Arts—1:30 p.m., McLeod

Theater, Communications Building.

Education—1:30 p.m., Shryock Auditorium.

Committee OKs nuke bill

By Jay Small
Staff Writer

operation of a low-level waste site, Buzbee said.

A two-bill package to prohibit unilateral approval of a nuclear waste storage facility in Illinois cleared a Senate committee last week, according to state Sen. Kenneth Buzbee, D-Carbondale, who sponsored the measures.

Buzbee said that upon passage of the bills, the General Assembly would have to approve all agreements which would result in the construction and operation of nuclear waste sites in Illinois. Currently, the executive branch could enter into agreements of this type without legislative approval, he said.

Illinois is one of 13 Midwestern states trying to find a site for the construction and

"No one knows, at least at this point, where such a site might be located," Buzbee said. "It could end up in Nebraska; it could end up in South Dakota."

"Some of the possible sites already mentioned are abandoned coal mines in Illinois," he said. "But before any abandoned coal mine is selected as a permanent repository for nuclear waste, people living in communities nearby should have their voices heard."

Buzbee believes his measures will allow citizens to be heard on the issue through the General Assembly.

"The fact of the matter is that there has been no legislative or citizen input into the matter," Buzbee said.

Beg your pardon

A story on Page 9 of Friday's Daily Egyptian incorrectly quoted Kathy Spofford, a member of the Women's Environmental Support Group, as saying that "only a small portion of nuclear power plants are actually power plants. The major portion of them are weapons plants."

The statement should have read that only a small portion of the budgets for nuclear development go to power development. The majority of the money goes to develop nuclear weapons, she said.

Also, her statement that "power is a cover for weapons activity" was taken out of context. It should have made clear that Spofford was saying that money the United States gives to foreign countries for nuclear power development actually goes for weapons activity.

SCAM call for moratorium on use of new phone system

By Jay Small
Staff Writer

The Southern Counties Action Movement is calling for a statewide moratorium on General Telephone's proposed Usage Sensitive Service system until the impact of the proposal can be studied, SCAM spokespersons said.

SCAM's proposal, which was to be announced at a press conference Monday, came in response to a General Telephone of Illinois sales campaign to bring the USS into 12 Illinois communities including Murphysboro.

Willy Holton, SCAM chairperson, said the group has been studying the GTI proposal for several months. The USS, ac-ording to Holton, is a "radical departure" from typical phone use.

Usage Sensitive Service would vary the rate for GTI customers on the basis of overall phone usage within their local exchange. A higher rate would be charged for increased telephone use, GTI has said.

"Mandatory USS, the most extreme form of measured service, has been proposed for Murphysboro and 11 other Illinois communities," Holton said. "Other states have options" besides implementing USS, he said.

According to SCAM, the Illinois Commerce Commission is calling for statewide measured service by the turn of the century.

Cathie Paull, a SCAM spokesperson, said that the USS system will increase revenues in the targeted communities, despite GTI claims to the contrary. She charged that Murphysboro phone users will see a 3 percent hike in rates, while Metropolis callers could pay as much as 10 percent more.

"Clearly as a community we would have to pay more under USS," Paull said.

SCAM called attention to differences between the USS system tried in experimental communities and that which is to be implemented in targeted Illinois communities.

Spokespersons said that SCAM intends to request a local hearing on the USS issue.

$4,500 raised for heart charity

If all sponsors pay up, over $4,500 will be generated by cyclists who participated in the 250-mile cyclethon for the American Heart Association this month.

The 28 cyclists, all SIU-C students, were taken by bus to Mammoth Cave, Ky., March 13, where they camped for two nights before heading back to Carbondale. Each bicyclist was required to have a minimum sponsorship of 70 cents a mile.

The group returned March 19 to a reception at Evergreen Terrace where they were served cake and soft drinks.

Pat Neal had the most pledges, a total of $575. If he collects the money by April 15, he'll receive a 12-speed Fuji bicycle worth $240 from Phoenix Cycles.

The second place winner will receive a gift certificate, and third-place prize is a bike bag.

"The trip was fantastic, and I encourage people to go on it," Neal said.

"We had a lot of dogs chase us and one day I was knocked into a ditch by a truck. But the weather was beautiful the whole way and everyone we stayed with was very nice," he said.

Program for study abroad set Tuesday

When you study overseas, you become a foreign student. "How the World Sees You," a program designed to provide information to American students who are contemplating studying abroad, will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Illinois Room of the Student Center. The program will feature one student each from Columbia, France, Germany, Great Britain, India and Japan, who will speak about how American students will be perceived in their countries, according to Tom Saville, international opportunities adviser for the Office of International Education.

Students will discuss behavior both appreciated and detested in their respective countries, how citizens of their country will react to Americans and how it feels to be a "stranger in a strange land," he said.

Foreign students will also fill out an International Peer Advising Directory which will provide specific information helpful to American students considering studying abroad, Saville said.

The program is free and open to the public. Saville requested that persons interested in attending call 453-5774 prior to the program so that he can get a head count of possible attendees.

Bleacher bums?

These SIU-C track team members were using the bleachers at McAndrew Stadium for a constructive purpose other than "catchin' rays" last week—after track practice Wednesday they decided to stretch their legs a little more by doing a few more "laps" up and down the stands.

Journalism Week begins; to feature speeches, banquets

A series of educational events has been scheduled to mark 1982 Journalism Week, on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The series begins at 3:30 Monday with Ira Jean Hadnot of the Milwaukee Sentinel talking with students about careers in journalism in the Mackinaw Room of the Student Center.

A presentation by Joel Satterfield, an 1972 SIU-C journalism graduate, on "Careers in State-Sponsored Public Relations" will be given at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Illinois Room of the Student Center. Satterfield is manager of business travel and special promotions for the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

At 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, journalism faculty and students will host an annual exchange visit with the Southern Illinoisan staff in the Communications Building Lounge.

At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, the Student Advertising Association will meet with Satterfield in Room 1213 of the Communications Building.

Thursday's events include a dress rehearsal of an advertising presentation for DuQuoin business leaders by the SAA at 12:35 p.m. Thursday in the Illinois Room. Klaus Ruege, president of Maxwell-Sroge International, Inc., will make a presentation on direct mail and direct marketing at 2 p.m. in the Illinois Room.

The Southern Illinois Editorial Association will have a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Holiday Inn.

On Friday the SIEA will have its annual president's breakfast at 7:30 a.m. at the Holiday Inn. Bill Morgan of the Sparta News-Plaineader will be the host.

Later, at 9 a.m. there will be "Switcheroo: Students Give Exam to Editors," where journalism students will administer an exam prepared by the journalism faculty to local SIEA editors, in Ballroom A of the Student Center.

Clyde Wills, editor of the Metropolis Planet, will discuss cable news at 10:30 a.m. in Ballroom A.

D.G. Schumacher, executive editor of the Alton Telegraph will discuss, "The Alton Telegraph Case: Chronicle of a Landmark Libel Suit" at 11:30 a.m. in Ballroom A.

SIEA will have its annual awards luncheon, and Better Newspaper Contest presentation and business meeting at 12:15 p.m. At 2 p.m., the public will have a chance to question the staff of the Daily Egyptian in "Beat the Press: The DE Meets It's Public," in the Illinois Room.

The SIEA Journalism Banquet, a presentation of scholarships, alumnus of the year, master editor and headliner awards, will be at 6:30 p.m. in the Old Main Room of the Student Center. Martin Duggan, editorial page editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat will speak on "Etaoin Shrdlu Revisited."

first AM hit, was met with surprise, and "Cumberland Mountain Number Nine," which spotlighted guitarist Tom Crain's vocal and guitar abilities, was met with polite disdain. "Rajin' Cajun," a fiddle extravaganza from "Windows," and "Texas" from "Nightrider" brought neutral reactions, but "The Devil Went Down to Georgia," the band's other AM hit, brought the house down again, as the crowd noise drowned out the band.

The band came out for four encores: "The South's Gonna Do It Again," which caused pandemonium; "Orange Blossom Special," which turned into an extended jam between Daniels and Crain; and the spirituals "Amazing Grace" and "Will the Circle Be Unbroken?," which brought a strange reaction from the crowd and an anti-climactic ending for the show.

As I said, I used to be a big CDB fan, but I've grown away from them in the last few years. They impressed me, though, and I'm sure that any die-hard CDB fan got his or her money's worth. The almost sell out crowd appeared to love the show, and I'm sure they can't wait for the CDB to come back. My major complaint, as with all Arena shows, is that the sound was just too loud. I realize that the Arena is a big place and that the noise must blare to reach the far corners and the cheap seats. But Saturday it was unnecessarily loud, to the point of being deafening.

I sure hope that all the Loverboy fans don't go deaf at that band's concert April 23; if Loverboy doesn't play as well as CDB did, there are going to be a lot of hearing-impaired, angry fans for Gary Drake and Company to deal with.

LeFevre wants to forget matches

By Ken Perkins
Staff Writer

The men's tennis team had more than Murray State, Illinois State and Austin Peay to worry about Friday and Saturday. They also had to contend with cold weather — 34 degrees of it — en route to a one-of-three match record at Murray, Ky.

"It was the worst weekend we ever had," said Coach Dick LeFevre. "We would rather forget about that one."

SIU-C can quickly erase any bad memories when it takes on Missouri Valley Conference foe Bradley at 2 p.m. Monday at the University Tennis Courts. LeFevre said the Braves will be tough to beat.

"Bradley has good, solid tennis players," he said. "They are playing quite well."

The netters' record is now 6-10, after defeating Illinois State, 5-4, and Austin Peay, 5-2. The Austin Peay contest had to be called off because of the cold temperatures. "When Austin Peay got the fifth point, we thought we'd call it quits," said LeFevre. "It was like torture out there. Much too cold."

"It was brutal for everyone," the Saluki coach said of the weather conditions. "I'm sure we'll make these matches up."

No. 2 seed Lito Ampon, No. 3 John Greif and No. 5 David Filer were all singles winners in the ISU match. Ampon defeated Jeff Wafner 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. Filer knocked off Jeff Love 6-3, 5-7, 6-3 and Greif beat Dave Mallon in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3. In doubles, the Greif-Filer and Ampon-Desilets teams were both winners.

"I'm not too disappointed," said LeFevre. "Of course, I would have liked to have done better. I thought we had Murray State, but it got away."

Against the Racers, SIU-C won three singles sets, but captured only one doubles win. Greif, Filer and No. 4 seed David Desilets were all winners, and No. 1 seed Brian Stanley teamed with David Coch to defeat Terje Persson and Jan Soegaard, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, in doubles play.

In singles, Greif defeated Finn Swarting 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; Desilets was victorious over Jan Soegaard 2-6, 6-1, 6-1; and Filer beat Bobby Montgomery 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

"We just couldn't get that fifth point," LeFevre said about the Racers, who came into the match undefeated. "It was one of those meets that could have gone either way. We could have had them."

LeFevre said he was pleased with the play of Filer and Desilets. Filer was victorious in three matches, while Desilets, coming off an injury, played well, according to LeFevre.

"Desilets is hitting the ball quite well," the Saluki coach said. "If we can just get everybody to play well all together, we'll be pretty tough."

Rutgers wins AIAW crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Patty Coyle scored 30 points, 18 in the second half, as Rutgers captured the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women national basketball championship Sunday with an 83-77 victory over Texas.

The loss ended Texas' 32-game winning streak.

Texas, behind 16 points by Annette Smith, took a 37-34 halftime lead and stretched it to 41-36 early in the second period.

Rutgers, which finished 25-7, tied it at 39-39 and 43-43, finally taking the lead for the first time in the second half at 50-49 on a field goal by Terry Dornier.

Women netters cool in home victory

By JoAnn Marciszewski
Staff Writer

The women's tennis team, like a good wine, continues to improve over time.

The Salukis, coached by Judy Auld, increased their spring record to 6-2 with a win over Indiana State on Saturday during cool and windy weather.

With the exception of Heidi Eastman, who remains on the injured list, other key Saluki performers on Saturday are still recovering from various recent injuries and surgery.

Lisa Warren, who had foot surgery last winter, scored a 6-3, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Sycamore Nancy Cispicay in the number one singles position.

"Lisa was serving well," Auld said of the junior. "She was happy with her game, and she really played well. She had to beat the girl, and she didn't give in to her at all. There were no errors by either player."

The number two through five singles positions all recorded victories for the Salukis, as did the number one and three doubles teams.

Alessandra Molinari won 7-5, 6-3 to increase her record to 4-3. The freshman from Sweden said she is "getting more used to playing" after surgery, and that she doesn't think about her foot while she's playing. Molinari said she started out slowly before coming on for the victory, adding, "I don't like to play much when it's windy."

Amanda Allen recorded a 6-3, 7-5 victory to aid the Saluki effort. Stacy Sherman defeated Indiana State's Laurie Glass, 6-4, 6-2, while at the number five position, Maureen Harney scored a quick 6-3, 6-2 win over Janet Rourice. Maureen Etchison suffered the only singles loss, bowing 7-6, 2-6, 4-6 to Jane Allen.

Auld said she wasn't surprised by the 5-1 singles record, adding that she expects them to continue to do well throughout the season.

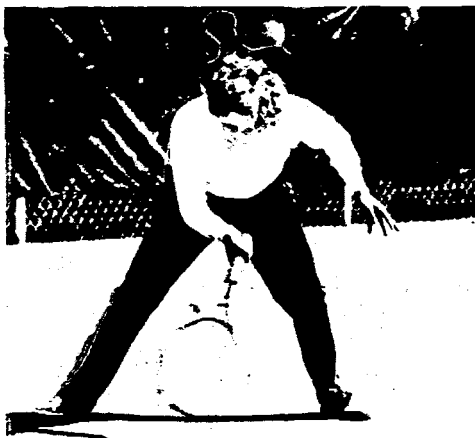

After her long and competitive singles match, Warren teamed with Molinari for a close doubles win over Cispicay and Glass. The number one doubles teams traded the lead frequently until SIU-C netted the win, 7-6, 4-6, 7-6.

Auld said Molinari seems to be gaining more confidence, but is not yet at the level at which she played last fall. The Saluki coach added that the freshman's leg may have stiffened in the cold weather and slowed down her doubles game.

The number three doubles team of Allen and Harney had no trouble in a 6-2, 6-0 win, but at the number two spot, Sherman and Etchison lost a tough match, 7-5, 6-7, 5-7.

Auld said the doubles sometimes have trouble with consistency, often running "hot and cold." She said the pairs get along well, though, and should improve as teams throughout the season.

Saluki runner sets record in 10,000

By Paul Lorenz
Associate Sports Editor

Cold weather at the women's Saluki Relays couldn't cool off Illinois State's Wendy Van Mierlo, who accounted for two of nine McAndrew Stadium track records Friday and Saturday.

Van Mierlo set stadium marks of 9:50.15 in the 3,000-meter run Friday and 16:43.32 in the 5,000 Saturday. The Redbird runner's time in the 5,000 qualified her for the AIAW Outdoor Nationals at the end of May.

Patty Plymire-Houseworth set a stadium and school record in the 10,000-meter run Friday while taking the only first for the Salukis at the two-day meet, not scored on a team basis.

Plymire-Houseworth, with a time of 18:03.15, finished fourth to Van Mierlo in the 5,000. Indiana State's Kris Haeckler took second in 17:52.49 and Southeast Missouri's Margaret Hertenstein placed third at 18:00.80.

Saluki Coach Claudia Blackman was not surprised at Plymire-Houseworth's fourth-place finish in her expected showdown with Van Mierlo in the 5,000.

"But I was disappointed for Patty," said Blackman. "It's hard to come back from running a 10,000 the previous day, and it's hard to run well with the wind we had today."

Indiana State set four stadium marks, including three in relays. The Sycamores won the 4 X 800 in 9:38.45, the 800 medley in 1:46.85 and the 1,600 in 3:51.3. Indiana State's Dancel Church beat out Saluki Debra Davis in the 400 dash in 1:05.5.

Murray State's Val Lemoigan and Glenvera Williams set the other stadium marks. Lemoigan won the 400 hurdles in 1:01.99 over SEMO's Candace Williams. Williams edged Sycamore Leslie Evans by one one-hundredth of a second in the 200 dash in 25.08.

SIU-C took three seconds over the weekend. Davis ran a 57.43 in the 400; Dyane Donley placed behind teammate Plymire-Houseworth in the 10,000 in 40:20.3; and Cynthia Joy had another good performance in the javelin with a toss of 124 feet, 10.5 inches, finishing behind Illinois State's Linda McDuffy.

Julie Leeper placed third for the Salukis in the high jump with a leap of 5-1, three inches behind first-place finisher Terri Killion of Indiana State. Fourth-place finishers for SIU-C included Lori Ann Bertram in the 3,000; Cindy Bukauskas in the javelin; Laurie Dvorak in the high jump; and Karen LaPorte in the 400 hurdles.

Blackman said overall she was disappointed with the Salukis' performance. She said she thought she'd been seeing improvement in the team, but she didn't see at this meet.

Indiana State's Chris Singer won the heptathlon with 4,708 points, and Bradley's Charlene Dewey placed second with 4,478. SIU-C did not have an entry in the event.

more. The foursome of Marvin Hinton, Duncan, Franks and Adams, won it in 40.57.

The Salukis also had a fine day in the field. Other than the triple and long jump, Andy Geiger led a 1-2 sweep in the pole vault, winning with a 16-6. He was followed by Jim Sullivan's 14-6.

In the shot put, John Smith and Ron Marks captured the top spots; and Smith's 164-3 was good for second in the discus. David Featherston took third with a 136-1 toss. Ken Mattias won the javelin with a 191-6, while Stephen Wray leaped 7-0 to win the high jump.

After winning the preliminaries, Duncan had no trouble in polishing off Lincoln's Ken Wilson in the 110-meter hurdles, winning it in 14.28. It was the same story for Adams, who defeated Indiana State's Ricky Gaitor and the Redbirds' Jerry Monix. The sophomore won the 400-meter dash in 47.6. Saluki Mark Hill, who Hartzog said has "improved immensely" was third with a 48.62.

Kaline, reached first after Boyd dropped a third strike. Third baseman Mike Patlovich followed with a home run over the 410-foot mark in center field to chop the lead to 5-3.

Left fielder Brian Koury was next, and he pounded Clark's next offering far over the left field fence to put the Redskins just one run behind. The lefty put a halt to the rally, though, getting the next two batters to ground and pop out. Clark is now 3-1 with a 2.29 ERA. Redskin Mike Carnegie, 1-1, took the loss.

The Saluki bullpen had the day off Friday thanks to junior Ken Klump, who followed Clark with a complete-game victory of his own.

Both teams tallied a run in the first inning. Klump and the Redskin hurlers silenced the batters afterward, until the Salukis pushed across three runs in the sixth to win, 4-1.

The Salukis' rally was an example of the kind of baseball Jones said they'll have to play all year if they expect to be a good ballclub.

Tar Heels, Smith hungry for title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dean Smith wants to win this one for the seniors, and the seniors want to win this one for Dean Smith.

"Every time we read an article about Dean Smith it talks about what a great coach he is and how he chokes when he gets to the Final Four," says North Carolina guard Jimmy Black. "We're tired of reading about that, and he probably would tell you he's tired of it, too."

The Tar Heel senior exuded a quiet confidence and determination Sunday, as did many of the other North Carolina players, on the eve of Monday night's NCAA basketball championship game in the Louisiana Superdome against Georgetown. Tipoff is scheduled for 7:12 p.m., with CBS televising the game.

Their determination stems from Smith's failure to win a national title in six previous trips to the Final Four.

Blackburn tried to pick off the runner at third, but threw the ball past the third baseman, enabling Bridges to score and Blumhorst to move to second. Shortstop Mike Mesh laid down a perfect bunt single, moving Blumhorst to third. Boyd drove a hit through the pulled-in Redskin infield to drive in Blumhorst.

Mesh, who had stolen second, moved to third on the hit, and scored when third baseman Mike Robertson grounded out to the pitcher for the third and final run.

"That's the way we have to play to win," said Jones of the Greenleaf on the three-meter. Consermiu, a sophomore, placed 28th in the field of 41 divers, while Greenleaf, a senior, was 31st in his event.

Restrepo finished 13th in qualifying heats for the 100 breast. Porta 24th and 21st in the 100 and 200 back, respectively, and Armstrong 14th in the 50 free.

Clump is now 2-2 with a 5.04 ERA.

No Salukis were hurt over the weekend, but Redskin righthander Randy Usenick suffered a badly bruised pitching hand after Boyd lined a base hit off him in the second inning of the second game Friday. Redskin Sports Information Director Dave Young said Usenick's hand will be X-rayed, adding that the freshman will probably miss his next turn.

Softball team ends loss streak; finishes second in tournament

By Keith Mascitti
Staff Writer

The softball team ended its seven-game losing streak by splitting a double header and finishing second in its own round-robin tournament at the Women's Intercollegiate Athletics Field over the weekend.

The Salukis won four of six contests to improve their record to 6-9. Besides the wins, the team also got the runs and hits it has been looking for.

On Sunday, the Salukis split a doubleheader against Northern Illinois, winning the first game 2-0 and losing the nightcap by the same score.

Saluki Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer decided to go with righthander Donna Dopeon in the first game and the junior responded by scattering five hits.

Brechtelsbauer said she was "tickled to death" with Dopeon's performance and said her effort helped the team not only by winning, but by giving pitchers Gena Valli and Meredith Stengel's arms a chance to rest. Both women had pitched Saturday.

In Sunday's second game, NIU scored two runs in the second inning which was all that Huskie freshman pitcher Laurie Miller needed. Miller held SIU-C to just three hits while posting her ninth victory against one loss.

Stengel, who only gave up five hits was the loser.

Brechtelsbauer said she was pleased with Stengel's effort but wishes SIU-C could have scored some runs for her.

The Salukis opened the round-robin tournament Friday by thrashing Chicago State 26-0 to end their seven-game skid. SIU-C scored 13 first-inning runs on just three hits. Chicago State's poor pitching and fielding helped the Salukis score eight runs without a single hit.

The Salukis' next victim was St. Francis whom the Salukis beat 7-3. The game was tied at three going into the last inning when the Salukis scored four runs in the last of the seventh for the victory. SIU-C senior pitcher Valli went the distance.

Gena Valli may have a 2-5 record, but the Saluki ace still boasts an ERA under one after the weekend's play.

Bradley, 12-2, in the semifinal game of the tournament Saturday. The game was called in the fifth inning due to the 10-run rule with Meredith Stengel getting the win.

Saturday's championship game was between the same two teams, but Bradley ravaged its earlier defeat by defeating SIU-C 2-1 in 10 innings. SIU-C had a chance to take the lead in the top of the tenth when they had the bases loaded with no one out, but came up empty handed. SIU-C lost the game on a mental error in the bottom of the tenth.

Bradley had a runner on third when the next Brave lofted a fly ball into left field. Saluki left fielder Kathy Richert and centerfielder Kim Satterly crossed their signals and the ball deflected off Richert's glove allowing the runner to score.

Valli was tagged with the loss. Her record is 2-5 but her ERA is under one.

Blues crunch Hawks; tied for third

CHICAGO (AP) — Brian Sutter scored two goals and became the fourth player in the St. Louis Blues' history to reach 300 points Sunday as he led his team to an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

Sutter's linemate, Bernie Federko, scored one goal and picked up two assists to help the Blues move into a third-place tie with the Hawks in the National Hockey League's Norris Division.

Each team has 68 points, with three games remaining.

It was the Blues' fifth win in their last 17 contests. They scored four goals late in the second period after Chicago's Doug Crossman brought the Hawks to within one goal at 4-3 with his 12th of the season.

Sutter opened the scoring with his 36th goal of the year from point-blank range on a pass from Federko. It was Sutter's 300th NHL point.

Five minutes later, Chicago's Tom Lysiak tied the score with his 30th goal of the year on a 55-foot slap shot.

Men's track team runs away with win

By Ken Perkins
Staff Writer

It's a good thing that Michael Franks got rid of those butterflies when he did.

After being nipped at the wire by Indiana State's Dwight Williams in the 100-yard dash, a "nervous" Franks came back to win the 300-yard dash, anchor the winning 1600-meter relay, and lead the men's track team to a quadrangular meet victory in its first home appearance of the season.

The Salukis collected 106 points to outdistance second place Illinois State, who ended with 38, Indiana State with 36, and Lincoln University with 15.

"I get a little paranoid sometimes," said Franks, who recorded a 10.56 in the 100. "It's just nervousness. I'm OK, though."

He was more than OK according to his stats. His blistering 20.99 in the 200 was only one tenth of a second off the NCAA qualifying mark, and his 47.0 was the fastest split of the 1600-meter relay team, a team that trotted their fastest time of the season in 3:07.76. Parry Duncan's lead-off leg was locked at 47.4, followed by Randy Geary's 47.2 and Tony Adam's 47.7.

"He's not a time runner, he's a people runner," Coach Lew Hartzog said about Franks, who leads the team in scoring. "He's going to be a great one."

The Salukis had no trouble securing 12 first places in 18 events, and placing first and second in four of the events. In the 5,000, Mike Keane led a four-place sweep with a 14:17.4. He was followed by Karsten Schulz, Tom Ross and Bill Moran.

The only events the Salukis didn't fare too well in were the triple jump and the half-mile.

Because of a stress fracture suffered by Gary Munson, Ross tried to double back from the 3000-meter steeplechase, where he took second in 9:13.15, but failed to score.

Kevin Baker was the surprise in the triple jump. The junior who has been hampered by injuries and out of action for three weeks, grabbed a third place in the triple jump after winning the long jump in 24-7.

"They ran pretty well," said Hartzog. "As matter of fact, we ran awfully well considering the weather. They all had a great attitude and didn't complain about it once. I'm pretty excited about this group."

The 44-degree weather was somewhat of an advantage for the Salukis, who are used to practicing in cold weather because of the lack of an indoor facility. Hartzog said it was like "another practice day" for his Salukis.

The Salukis 400-meter relay team couldn't have agreed. See RUNS, Page 18

Salukis swim to 12th-place NCAA finish

By JoAnn Marchlewski
Staff Writer

The men's swimming and diving team, led by Roger VonJouanne, set a school high by scoring 61 points in NCAA competition over the weekend.

SIU-C placed 12th at the meet in Milwaukee, won by UCLA with 219 points. Texas placed second with 210, followed by Stanford, 191; Cal-Berkeley, 170; and Florida, 121.

VonJouanne led the Salukis with 33 individual points. The SIU-C co-captain placed third in the 200 individual medley with a time of 1:48.44; third in the 200 butterfly in 1:46.41; and sixth in the 100 backstroke in 49.88.

VonJouanne, one of two Saluki seniors competing in Milwaukee, swam with Conrado Porta, Pablo Restrepo and Keith Armstrong on the 400 medley relay team which finished seventh in 3:17.80. He teamed with Carlos Henao, Kipp Dye and Armstrong on the 800 freestyle relay which finished 12th in 6:39.34.

The remaining 12 points were scored by Armstrong, with a seventh-place time of 44.15 in the 100 free, and Restrepo, with an eighth-place time of 2:01.07 in the 200 breast.

Other Salukis competing were divers Johnny Consenju on the one-meter board and George

Reid powers Salukis to 4-game sweep

By Steve Metsch
Sports Editor

Playing baseball when it's only 40 degrees outside isn't as tough as it may sound, according to Saluki first baseman Kurt Reid.

"You get numb," admitted Reid, "but the cold makes you tougher mentally."

Reid proved his claim correct as he blasted three home runs over the right field fence to help the Salukis sweep a doubleheader from Miami of Ohio at frigid Abe Martin Field Saturday.

The Salukis won that game, 10-5, after taking the first contest on Saturday, 3-1. SIU-C also took a twinbill from the Redskins, 5-4 and 4-1, on Friday.

"I think playing in this cold weather shows the toughness of our kids," said Saluki Coach Itchy Jones. "Miami is no slouch of a ballclub."

Jones praised his team's all-around effort in the four-game series.

"We had excellent pitching, played well on defense and ran well," he said. "We also were able to use a lot of kids and see our pitchers in crucial situations."

SIU-C has won six in a row to improve its record to 10-7. Miami of Ohio dropped to 4-4. The Salukis close out their six-game homestand with a game against Greenville at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Jones called Reid's three round trippers "the best I've ever seen" in one game by a Saluki. The first baseman's effort tied him with five other Salukis for the most homers in a single game.

Reid wasn't the only Saluki standout Saturday. Righthander Jerry Halstead came on twice in relief and earned two saves. He leads the team with three.

In the first game, the senior relieved Rick Wysocki with two out and two on in the Redskins' half of the sixth and SIU-C up, 3-1. Halstead got catcher Kevin Wright to fly out, and cruised through the seventh to protect Wysocki's second win against one defeat. Sophomore Kevin Davis, 1-1, went the distance for Miami.

Wysocki yielded one run on only two hits while recording three strikeouts. He said he pitched well because of the "confidence" he had in himself.

Halstead returned for an encore performance in the sixth inning of the second game with the score knotted at five. He struck out two and allowed just one hit in two innings to save freshman Rick Koch's first victory.

Koch was touched for just one run, in the fifth inning, in relief of starter Tom Caulfield, who was rocked for four runs in the second.

Jones said he hasn't decided whether Halstead will see more action as a reliever or a starter this season.

"Jerry's not necessarily going to stay in the bullpen. He hadn't pitched in a while and needed to get into a game," he said.

The Saluki coach admitted that Halstead was "very effective" in his two appearances, but added that the Salukis' freshmen also have pitched well in relief roles this season.

"I don't mind being a reliever, as long as I get a lot of work. I'd like to pitch in two or three games a week," Halstead said.

The Salukis benefitted from another home run Friday when freshman Steve Boyd helped them win the first game by driving in the eventual winning run with a two-run blast in the bottom of the sixth. The homer gave pitching ace Rob Clark a seemingly insurmountable lead of 5-1 over the Redskins.

But the scrappy tribe had other thoughts, roughing up the senior with three runs in the seventh inning.

With one out pinch hitter Mike Kaline, son of Hall of Famer and former Detroit Tiger Al
