10-22-1976

The Daily Egyptian, October 22, 1976

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: http://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_October1976
Volume 58, Issue 45

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1976 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in October 1976 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Percy discusses students’ political apathy

By Steve Hahn
DAILY EGYPTIAN STAFF WRITER
U.S. Sen. Charles Percy asked a group of SIU students Thursday why young Americans are politically apathetic.

Speaking in the Home Economics Building Lounge, Percy told the students that young people had a great impact on the passage of civil rights legislation, the Vietnam War and the environment.

The student responses ranged from a statement of disillusionment after Watergate to the quality of the American diet.

According to voting records, a little more than half of the voters under 30 years old voted in the 1972 and 1974 general elections.

He said student concerns in the 1960s were dominated by civil rights, in the 1960s by the Vietnam War, and in the late 1970s by the environment. "I've seen it with my own eyes," he said.

At a press conference before the student session, Percy said young people today are interested in two main issues: jobs and the quality of life.

He also told the press that Republican gubernatorial candidate James Thompson is "naive" if he runs a campaign making no promises.

Thompson has said repeatedly that the only promise he will make to the voters is not to make promises. Percy said politicians who make such statements are avoiding taking a stands on the issues.

Percy told the students it is illogical for people not to vote because the solutions to America's problems are then left to the "dams politicians." Student protest kept the U.S. out of Angola and is reforming the CIA, he said.

He said he admired the "Chicago Mayor Richard Daley Machine" because of its ability to get out the vote. "They vote 'em 10 years after they're dead. We only have live bodies to work with," he said.

One SIU student told Percy that Americans have lost interest in the political system because of the Nixon administration. Percy responded, "That could be a valid reason."

Another student said Americans do not vote because of "the crap they put in our diets. You (Percy) look healthy. Your intake of sugar must be very low." Percy responded saying the American people "are the biggest wasters and squanderers of everything. We're a fat and slabby (sic) people."

He said Americans are unwilling to make the sacrifice to conserve. "We're electing people to office who don't give a damn about these things," Percy added.

Besides tapping public opinion on political apathy, Percy responded to a number of other questions.

Percy said the U.S. should sell arms to Iran and Chile despite criticism that their governments are politically repressive. He said if the U.S. allows other nations to sell arms, the U.S. will lose its leverage to negotiate for change.

Percy said border patrols are unsuccessful in preventing the entry of the illegal aliens and said he favors passing a bill which would make it illegal to hire them.

Percy said the least desirable form of racial integration, but he said he is against a constitutional amendment to outlaw it.

Site has political history

Why are young Americans politically apathetic? When U.S. Sen. Charles Percy asked that question of a Home Economics Lounge audience Thursday, he got responses ranging from disillusionment with politics following Watergate, to dissatisfaction with the quality of the American diet. (Staff photo by Daryl Littlefield)

Carter to speak in Free Forum Area

The baseball field was ruled out because of its location on the outskirts of campus. Possible abuse to the new astroturf surface in McAndrew was the reason that site was discarded.

The Arena was dropped from consideration because the Elvis Presley concert is scheduled less than 32 hours after Carter's appearance.

In case of inclement weather, Carter will speak in the ballrooms of the Student Center, according to Pete Brown, director of the University News Service.

Carter is scheduled to arrive at Williamson County Airport in Marion at 11 a.m. Tuesday. He is expected to arrive on campus early enough to shake hands with the public before the address.
Charges against one in pot case dropped

By H. B. Koplowitz

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A preliminary hearing in a drug case involving 309 pounds of Colima marijuana took place in Jackson County Circuit Court in Murphysboro Thursday.

Probable cause was found against three of the defendants and another 22 were dropped against a fourth. Two more defendants in the same incident will be tried in Williamson County Circuit Court in Marion.

The defendants were arrested Oct. 3 when several police agencies and Southern Illinois Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) agents raided a rural Carbondale home after purchasing 100 pounds of marijuana for $3,000.

During questioning by State's Attorney Howard Hood, MEG agent Joe Mifflin said Jeffrey Bales, who lives at Lakewood Park, took Mifflin from the Marion Holiday Inn to the Sav-Mart parking lot where he told Mifflin to wait until he went to the "slush house" to pick up the marijuana.

Mifflin said a helicopter owned by the Drug Enforcement Administration was used to follow Bales to a house off Reed Street located near Sav-Mart. When Bales returned, he was arrested with 100 pounds of marijuana and taken to the Williamson County Jail.

Agents then obtained a search warrant and went to the house where Bales had been. Mifflin said that when they arrived they saw Al Parker and Elaine Shelton, both 26, sitting on the front porch of the house with a loaded peach in front of them.

Mifflin said the agents served the search warrant on Parker and discovered 100 pounds of marijuana in the kitchen and basement of the house. They also seized a small quantity of other drugs, drug paraphernalia, ledgers, checkbooks and photographs linking Parker, Shelton, and Charles Smith Jr., 23, to the residence.

Mifflin said the pot was packed in bulging bags with the word "Colombia" on them.

While the search was in progress, Mifflin said, David Potter, 24, arrived, and asked what was going on. Mifflin said Potter consented to have his car searched, which agent Joe Mifflin said was on a scale in the trunk of the car. Potter said he already knew Mifflin and was just coming up to visit a friend.

After the search of Potter's house, Mifflin said, he stopped at Parker's house again because he was suspicious that charges would be dropped for lack of evidence that he lived there or had knowledge of activities there.

Brockton Lockwood, representing Parker, moved for dismissal of charges because the prosecution had not proven that Parker had knowledge of marijuana at the house. David Watt, representing Elaine Shelton, also asked that charges be dropped against her because there was no evidence that she lived at the house or had knowledge of the activities. Richard Renzaglia, representing David Potter, asked that charges against his client be dropped because MEG agents did not have cause to search his house and because the testimony against Potter was "incridible and unbelievable."

Richman denied three of the motions but granted the motion to have the charges dropped against Shelton.

A second motion by Grace, that bail be dropped from $10,000 to $5,000 for Smith, was denied because his present address was uncertain.

Trial is set for the December docket.

Man declared innocent in lawsuit involving dog

By H. B. Koplowitz

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The case against one Murphysboro man was dropped for another Thursday in a $250,000 lawsuit involving a dog named Sue.

The case against Guy Renzaglia, director of the SIU Rehabilitation Institute was dropped at midday Thursday in Jackson Circuit Court. Circuit Judge Peteun directed the jury to declare Renzaglia not liable. Noting that there was "not a scintilla of evidence" linking Renzaglia to the case, Kunc removed a motion that was denied after the testimony of Renzaglia's son Danny.

The case was concluded in the case against Carbondale Community High School basketball coach Thomas Renzaglia who was taken into custody at 4:30 a.m. in the Arena parking lot south of the Arena. (Staff photo by Linda Henson)

Fueulish festivity

Lauren Brill, freshman in business and a Phi Sigma Kappa little sister, entertained her family and friends Saturday night which is later to become the Homecoming Bonfire. The bonfire, which is part of a pep rally being sponsored by the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, is scheduled to begin Friday at 8:30 p.m. in the gravel parking lot south of the Arena. (Staff photo by Linda Henson)

Daily Egyptian

Published in the Journalism and Egyptian Laboratory Tuesday through Saturday during University semesters, Wednesday through University vacation periods, with the exception of the two-week period before classes begin and legal holidays, by Southern Illinois University, Communications Building, Carbondale, Illinois 62901. Second class postage paid at Carbondale, Illinois.

Policies of the Daily Egyptian are the responsibility of the editors. Statements published do not reflect opinion of the administration or any department of the University. Editorial and business office located in Communications Building, North West, phone 762-3311, George Brown, Fiscal Officer.

Subscription rates are $3.50 per year or $3.75 for six months in Jackson and surrounding counties, $15 per year or $18 for six months in the United States, and $20 per year or $21 for six months in all foreign countries.

Student Editor-in-chief, John S. Taylor; Associate Student Editor-in-chief, Daniel K. Holt; Managing Editor, Mike Hefner; News Editor, Treva Wiest; Sports Editor, David Cock; Features Editor, Don Meyer; Art Editor, Joanne Jenkins; Photo Editor, Linda Henson; Business Manager, Dena Hefner.

Daily Egyptian

County to get over $26,000 for forests

CARBONDALE (AP) — President Ford has signed legislation that will provide $26,415 to Jackson County for its national forests and grasslands.

Rep. Paul Simon, D-III, announced Thursday. The bill sets a minimum federal payment of 75 cents-an-acre for counties with national forests or grasslands.

The congressman said that the Interior Department will staff the new center with 100 positions in 18 to 24 months. Congress clarified the situation in 1977 appropriations bills. Simon added between 35 and 50 employees should be at work at the facility by the end of fiscal 1977, with the rest expected by Sept. 30, 1978.

City mining center staff conflict resolved

WASHINGTON AP—The Interior Department has authorized the Bureau of Mines to staff the new Carbondale Mining Research Center, Rep. Paul Simon, D-III, said Thursday. Earlier this year, a conflict arose between language in the 1975 legislation that created the center and the federal Office of Management and Budget's reluctance to allow creation of new staff positions by the Department of Interior.

The congressman said that the Interior Department will staff the new center with 100 positions in 18 to 24 months. Congress clarified the situation in 1977 appropriations bills. Simon added between 35 and 50 employees should be at work at the facility by the end of fiscal 1977, with the rest expected by Sept. 30, 1978.
SIU begins search for chief fund raiser

By Bonnie Gamble
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A search committee has been formed to find a director of development, a position approved to coordinate the offices of the Alumni Association and the SIU Foundation.

George Mace, vice president for University relations, said Thursday the search committee will meet this week to see if the number of applicants can be narrowed. Mace said the committee has received 10 applications.

"If it's down to a manageable number, we'll attempt to begin interviewing immediately," Mace said.

Director of development is a nonenured position in the area of University relations. The job description pays salary is $11,000-$12,000, but $30,000 was appropriated in the internal budget for the position.

The director will be the chief fund raiser and administrative officer for development programs.

The position will begin January 1. August 15 was the closing date for applications.

The director of development will deal with all sources of support other than those from state or federal agencies, including alumni, corporations, general purpose foundations and other individuals and friends of the University.

Mace said the alumni and foundation offices will report to the director. "In the minute recess in hopes of having a quorum when the meeting resumed. Failing that, the meeting adjourned. Half the senate membership plus one constitutes a quorum. The only item of new business passed before the meeting was adjourned was the allocation of $165 to the SIU Public Relations Club for conference registration fees. The club was denied $255 for transportation fees for the conference.

Much of the meeting was spent in debate over a proposed finance committee policy for the 1976-77 academic year.

The senators debated over the new finance committee policy but did not approve it. However, they did agree on a statement which requires a statement of purpose, guidelines and financial policy be adopted by the Student Senate each semester.

The senators received word from Tom Jones, Student Government president, of the SIU-Edwardsville campus.

The acting president of SIU-E, Ralph Ruffner, was appointed Oct. 14 at the regularly scheduled board meeting in Brussels. Jones, student president Andrew Kochman resigned.

Ruffner was senior vice president for planning and review at SIU before his appointment.

One new item acted on

Absence-minded senate goes home early

By Bonnie Gamble
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Student Senate acted on only one item of new business Wednesday night before the meeting was adjourned for lack of a quorum.

The senators began their meeting at 8 p.m. with a discussion of absences and what to do when senators leave during meetings, but no decision was reached.

At 10 p.m., after several senators had gone, Don Wheeler, Student Government vice president, called a five-membered search for chief fund raiser

By Bonnie Gamble
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A search committee has been formed to find a director of development, a position approved to coordinate the offices of the Alumni Association and the SIU Foundation.

George Mace, vice president for University relations, said Thursday the search committee will meet this week to see if the number of applicants can be narrowed. Mace said the committee has received 10 applications.

"If it's down to a manageable number, we'll attempt to begin interviewing immediately," Mace said.

Director of development is a nonenured position in the area of University relations. The job description pays salary is $11,000-$12,000, but $30,000 was appropriated in the internal budget for the position.

The director will be the chief fund raiser and administrative officer for development programs.

The position will begin January 1. August 15 was the closing date for applications.

The director of development will deal with all sources of support other than those from state or federal agencies, including alumni, corporations, general purpose foundations and other individuals and friends of the University.

Mace said the alumni and foundation offices will report to the director. "In the minute recess in hopes of having a quorum when the meeting resumed. Failing that, the meeting adjourned. Half the senate membership plus one constitutes a quorum. The only item of new business passed before the meeting was adjourned was the allocation of $165 to the SIU Public Relations Club for conference registration fees. The club was denied $255 for transportation fees for the conference.

Much of the meeting was spent in debate over a proposed finance committee policy for the 1976-77 academic year.

The senators debated over the new finance committee policy but did not approve it. However, they did agree on a statement which requires a statement of purpose, guidelines and financial policy be adopted by the Student Senate each semester.

The senators received word from Tom Jones, Student Government president, of the SIU-Edwardsville campus.

The acting president of SIU-E, Ralph Ruffner, was appointed Oct. 14 at the regularly scheduled board meeting in Brussels. Jones, student president Andrew Kochman resigned.

Ruffner was senior vice president for planning and review at SIU before his appointment.

Russian exile Medvedev to speak at SIU

By Betty Bosco
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Zhores Medvedev, Russian molecular geneticist and political exile from the Soviet regime, will deliver two public lectures at SIU on Monday.

"The Molecular Aspects of Human Aging" will be the topic of Medvedev's first lecture in Room 309 of the Agriculture Building at 10 a.m. The second discussion, "Science and Scientists in the U.S.R.," will be in Davis Auditorium in the Wham Building at 4 p.m.

Medvedev, who joined author Alexander Solzhenitsyn in involuntary exile three years ago, is a specialist in the genetic aspects of the aging process. He developed the error theory of aging (1960-62) and the theory of aging rate control by gene repetition processes (1971-72).

Medvedev was born and educated in the Soviet Union and has authored 120 scientific papers in genetics, physiology, biochemistry and gerontology. He has also written three science texts and five science books for general readers.

From 1963 to 1970 he served as chief of the Laboratory of Molecula Radiology in Obnisk. From 1970 until 1972 he was the senior scientist at the Research Institute of Physiology and Biochemistry of Farm Animals in the Soviet Union.

Since 1969 Medvedev has been a member of the editorial board of scientific freedom and civil rights in the Soviet Union. In a number of essays, he argued against Lysenko pseudobiology, postal and general censorship and against restrictions on scientific travel and international cooperation.

During a trip to England in 1973, Medvedev was also deprived of his Soviet citizenship for political reasons. He is now a research scientist and the director of a research institute in London.

Michael Glenny, visiting research associate in the Center for Soviet and East European Studies at SIU, said Medvedev stands "considerably to the left of such emigres as Solzhenitsyn, who he is related to by friendship."

Glenny said that in addition to Medvedev's discussions on scientific topics, dissident movements in the Soviet Union is a topic of equal concern in his scientific work.

Medvedev's twin brother, Roy, is also a prominent scientist in Russia. He publishes an illegal underground journal in Moscow called "50th Anniversary." Medvedev's SIU visit is part of a quarterly lecture series. His discussions will be sponsored by the SIU Center for Soviet and East European Studies, the Molecular Science and the Department of Political Science.

By Betty Bosco
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Zhores Medvedev, Russian molecular geneticist and political exile from the Soviet regime, will deliver two public lectures at SIU on Monday.

"The Molecular Aspects of Human Aging" will be the topic of Medvedev's first lecture in Room 309 of the Agriculture Building at 10 a.m. The second discussion, "Science and Scientists in the U.S.R.," will be in Davis Auditorium in the Wham Building at 4 p.m.

Medvedev, who joined author Alexander Solzhenitsyn in involuntary exile three years ago, is a specialist in the genetic aspects of the aging process. He developed the error theory of aging (1960-62) and the theory of aging rate control by gene repetition processes (1971-72).

Medvedev was born and educated in the Soviet Union and has authored 120 scientific papers in genetics, physiology, biochemistry and gerontology. He has also written three science texts and five science books for general readers.

From 1963 to 1970 he served as chief of the Laboratory of Molecular Radiology in Obnisk. From 1970 until 1972 he was the senior scientist at the Research Institute of Physiology and Biochemistry of Farm Animals in the Soviet Union.

Since 1969 Medvedev has been a member of the editorial board of scientific freedom and civil rights in the Soviet Union. In a number of essays, he argued against Lysenko pseudobiology, postal and general censorship and against restrictions on scientific travel and international cooperation.

During a trip to England in 1973, Medvedev was also deprived of his Soviet citizenship for political reasons. He is now a research scientist and the director of a research institute in London.

Michael Glenny, visiting research associate in the Center for Soviet and East European Studies at SIU, said Medvedev stands "considerably to the left of such emigres as Solzhenitsyn, who he is related to by friendship."

Glenny said that in addition to Medvedev's discussions on scientific topics, dissident movements in the Soviet Union is a topic of equal concern in his scientific work.

Medvedev's twin brother, Roy, is also a prominent scientist in Russia. He publishes an illegal underground journal in Moscow called "50th Anniversary." Medvedev's SIU visit is part of a quarterly lecture series. His discussions will be sponsored by the SIU Center for Soviet and East European Studies, the Molecular Science and the Department of Political Science.
Endorsements

For President

Eugene McCarthy

The Daily Egyptian endorses Independent candidate Eugene McCarthy for President of the United States.

In this election year, many voters are dissatisfied with both major party candidates and their views. Some may vote for the candidate they feel is the lesser of two evils. Others will probably stay home on Nov. 2. But an alternative for the politically disenchanted which should be considered is the candidacy of third party candidate, Eugene McCarthy.

While Ford and Carter waste time trying to convince voters who is the most moral or the most forceful by slinging mud at each other, McCarthy has been fighting for soundly based, concrete proposals on his beliefs rather than upon winds of public sentiment.

He continues his support of the Equal Rights Amendment which he sponsored in 1965. He sees the energy problem in the United States as overconsumption of fuel and advocates acceleration and more stringent environmental controls.

And while Ford and Carter modify their stands to appease factions within their party, McCarthy has come out in favor of total amnesty for those who resisted partaking in the Vietnam war for moral reasons, an increase in the excise tax for luxury items, and a reduction in the work week to 35 hours in order to redistribute employment.

It is argued that a vote for McCarthy as a third party candidate would be a wasted vote, or that it would have the effect of a vote for Ford.

The second argument assumes that anyone interested in supporting McCarthy would otherwise vote for Ford. But this isn't necessarily true. People may vote for McCarthy instead of Ford, or more likely, may vote for McCarthy instead of not voting at all. A voter who makes a choice on the basis of whom he least dislikes isn't truly anybody's supporter, and can't be counted as a lost vote. In fact, we feel that a vote for the lesser of two evils IS a wasted vote.

The contention that a vote for McCarthy is a wasted vote is also unfounded. One major reason for voting for McCarthy is the effect his proposals may have on the programs of other parties. The goal would not be for McCarthy and his followers to become a strong third party, but rather to exert real influence in American politics. Historically, this is the effect third parties have had on Presidential elections.

The Populist Party which formed in 1891 grew out of a social reform movement of farmers and workers who supported such things as direct election of senators, eight-hour work days and the secret ballot. Although the Populist Party candidate did not win in the 1892 elections, the major parties - out of an instinct for survival - adopted the Populist platform. They saw the people's demand for a change manifest itself in the populist movement and changed accordingly.

Today, people complain about the lack of choice between the two parties and are disenchanted with what the parties have to offer. But instead of demanding change or partaking in a political movement, they throw up their hands exclaiming "What's the use?" McCarthy offers a means to effect a change in our political system.

Although we realize it is unlikely McCarthy will win in November, a sizeable showing for a third party candidate could jolt the two parties into realizing that people want more than what is being offered to them, such as an increase in alternative energy development, an equitable justice system, improved and effective social welfare programs for our people, a revamping of the military and industrial complex, and a revitalized political system that does not subordinate the welfare of the people to our standing in the arms race.

It is time for Americans to express a unified voice of grazet against an unfeeling, disaffected political system which is more concerned with maintaining the status quo than with finding dynamic, progressive leadership.

If McCarthy presents a sizable showing in the November elections, win or lose, the benefits derived from his candidacy will be enough to show the present power structure that Americans are ready for a long needed change. Make your voices heard in the loudest way possible.

Vote for McCarthy on Nov. 2.

For governor

James Thompson

We endorse Republican James R. Thompson for governor of Illinois.

Thompson, while serving as U.S. attorney for Northern Illinois, proved himself to be politically independent by his prosecutions of both Democratic and Republican public officials accused of wrongdoing.

Thompson's lack of experience in elective politics has been mentioned as a negative factor in his bid for the statehouse. We don't think it is. Political experience is not necessarily a guarantee of good government.

Not many clear-cut differences seem to exist between Thompson and his major opponent, Democrat Michael Howlett. Their stands on many issues are similar, such as efficiency in government, support of a "sunset law" for state agencies and a more equitable welfare system. The only major differences between them as far as issues are concerned are on abortion and the legalization of marijuana. Howlett favors a constitutional ban on abortion, while Thompson appears willing to let the Supreme Court decide on abortions stand-contradictions of the national party platforms in each case.

Howlett and Thompson are both against the legalization of marijuana; however, Howlett favors decriminalization for possession of small amounts, while Thompson opposes any change in the law. We feel the voters of Illinois generally are against it.

This is a positive factor for Thompson—his willingness to perceive what the wishes of the people are in certain matters and defer to them. Thompson represents, we think, a change in Illinois politics— a truly independent politician. However, we look upon Thompson's independence with some reservations remembering all too well the campaign of Daniel Walker, who presented himself as a political Messiah to the voters and became a major disappointment.

Thompson is forthright on many issues, and doesn't appear to have the insensitivity to ethics that Howlett appears to have. The Republican candidate does have shortcomings. His law and order stance seems to be somewhat harsh, and his recent propensity to turn around on issues such as school funding is disturbing. He has also shown an inclination to let things slide in his two-year term, as Howlett has. Of course, the two-year term itself is an invitation to immobilize state government.

But Thompson has run a truly energetic campaign, in contrast to Howlett's. Thompson went to the people first, while Howlett settled for organization dinners.

The issue of Richard J. Daley in this gubernatorial campaign has been called overrated. We don't think it is, especially where downstate voters are concerned. Howlett cannot escape the fact that he is the hand-picked candidate of the Mayor of Chicago, or that he was noticeably reluctant to run.

A governor who need not answer to Richard Daley is definitely an advantage to the people of Southern Illinois.

For these reasons, we feel that James Thompson has earned the opportunity to sit in the Governor's chair. If the two-year term has the potential for informing the people of the strengths and weaknesses of his administration, Thompson will have a chance to reevaluate Thompson, if necessary, in half the usual amount of time.

We vote for James R. Thompson.
Now is not the time to support a third party

By H.B. Koplowitz

Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Many see the elections this year as boring and lacking in substance. I disagree. Not only is there a choice between a conservative, Gerald Ford, and a liberal, Jimmy Carter, but there is also the option of voting for a third party candidate, Eugene McCarthy.

I will not pretend that the choice is an easy one. I shall only describe the processes I went through to decide to vote for Jimmy Carter and leave you to make up your own mind.

The decision this year is really a double decision: Is there a significant difference between the candidates of the two major parties, and is a vote for McCarthy's third party candidacy going to make a difference in the electoral process in the future?

In arriving at my own conclusion on the matter, I first considered the relatively easy matter of the uncontroversiality of Gerald R. Ford.

Ford, the man that supported and later pardoned Nixon, a supporter of the Vietnam War who as President almost got us involved in Angola. The man that spearheaded the drive to impeach former Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. An unexciting leader whose only perceivable domestic policy to date has been the veto.

The second consideration I made was Jimmy Carter, as the election nears. Many are saying of the two major parties, and is a vote for McCarthy significant between the two, and, I believe that he is more likely to follow through with some innovative policies than Ford after the election is over.

The most difficult decision was the conclusion that a vote for McCarthy would not significantly change the present political system nor add to the visibility of a third party. Furthermore, a vote for McCarthy is a vote for Ford, if one assumes a split in the liberal vote is an asset for the President.

The McCarthy campaign has every step of the way showed how corrupt the two-party system has become, and where it should be changed. The place to start is the campaign financing law which gives the organized groups the power to monopolize the advantages that can be measured in millions of dollar's. State laws should also be changed that obstruct third party candidates or prohibit independents who have not gone through the sham of a state nominating convention from placing their names on the ballot.

But would a vote for McCarthy change any of that? Unless he were elected it would not. And the symbolism of the McCarthy vote is that a foregone conclusion even among most who plan voting for him.

The way to change the electoral process is to demand that the elected legislators change the existing laws to allow third party candidates equal funds, equal time, equal coverage and equal consideration by the voters.

The McCarthy phenomenon, fits the classical definition of most third party movements, a splinter off a major party (Democratic), a personalistic or disdainful hero, a one issue platform (in 1968 the civil rights platform) in one issue platform (in 1968 the civil rights platform), the question of whether it is worthwhile to vote for Illinois voters. Illinois is a swing state with many important electoral votes, and the race is too close to call.

If taking a chance on laying the groundwork for a political party that may be drawn a crowd. But now the real political gamble is that the second consideration I made was Jimmy Carter, as the election nears. Many are saying of the two major parties, and is a vote for McCarthy significant between the two, and, I believe that he is more likely to follow through with some innovative policies than Ford after the election is over.

The most difficult decision was the conclusion that a vote for McCarthy would not significantly change the present political system nor add to the visibility of a third party. Furthermore, a vote for McCarthy is a vote for Ford, if one assumes a split in the liberal vote is an asset for the President.

The McCarthy campaign has every step of the way showed how corrupt the two-party system has become, and where it should be changed. The place to start is the campaign financing law which gives the organized groups the power to monopolize the advantages that can be measured in millions of dollar's. State laws should also be changed that obstruct third party candidates or prohibit independents who have not gone through the sham of a state nominating convention from placing their names on the ballot.

But would a vote for McCarthy change any of that? Unless he were elected it would not. And the symbolism of the McCarthy vote is that a foregone conclusion even among most who plan voting for him.

The way to change the electoral process is to demand that the elected legislators change the existing laws to allow third party candidates equal funds, equal time, equal coverage and equal consideration by the voters.

The McCarthy phenomenon, fits the classical definition of most third party movements, a splinter off a major party (Democratic), a personalistic or disdainful hero, a one issue platform (in 1968 the civil rights platform), and where a little girl.

Ten years ago, I would have listened. Fifteen years of age another's time. The police told me that.

The problem with Carter is that we do not know who he is. The police told me that.

I thought how well she summed up the attitude of so many of my generation toward this campaign. People seem far more cynical about everything these days. I'm not sure why.

On the way home, the radio was talking of another senseless shooting. There are so many more senseless shootings these days.

I tried to imagine what a man who shoots down an unarmed stranger on the street must feel. Rage? Hatred? Or is it the ultimate in nihilism - the ultimate in who-gives-a-damn-about-anybody-or-anything?

At any moment a bullet could splinter my windshiled and, But why? I don't know why.

At home, we talked of other things. We talked of where a little girl I love might go to college some day and where we might move some day. And tomorrow I will go to the nursery as planned to pick out the bulbs for next spring's flowers.

And I suddenly realized that while I often talk of world coming apart at the seams, I don't really believe it. I really believe that somehow we would muddle through again. I really believe that.

I don't know why.
"Car Wash"...where, between the hours of 9 and 5 anything can happen... and usually does!

"Car Wash" Guest Stars: Franklyn Ajaye - George Carlin
Professor Irwin Corey - Ivan Dixon - Antonio Fargas - Lorraine Gary
Jack Kehoe - Clarence Muse - The Pointer Sisters - Richard Pryor

A Universal Picture - Technicolor®

FREE 'Car Wash' albums and T-shirts for lucky patrons tonight at all performances! Also coupons good for a free car wash courtesy of our friends at the 'Motor Valet' car wash located behind the Murdale Shopping Center!

Special Bargain Car Wash on Sunday in the Saluki Lot!
Members of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity will wash cars in the Saluki parking lot on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. for one dollar per car! All proceeds go to local charities. Free 'Car Wash' albums, T-shirts and passes will be given away every hour!

VARSITY 1 DOWNTOWN 457-6100
2 P.M. Show Mon-Fri Adm. $1.25

"All the President's Men"

Gene Sholit, NBC TV

SHERLOCK HOLMES' SMARTER BROTHER
FRIDAY-SATURDAY-SUNDAY
10:45 P.M.

"A comedy of wit and imagination. Kahn and Wilder, never better in performance, carry the day with good humor."

-- Dom DeLuise, Leo McKern

Esquire

VARSITY 2 DOWNTOWN 457-6100
2 P.M. Show Mon-Fri Admission $1.25

After you've tried everything else...

Marty Feldman

SEX WITH SMILE

A Suburban Release
Of estate taxes by the IRS against Hughes' heirs could force sale of some of the properties, which also include extensive land holdings in Nevada and Southern California. Summa is not trying to establish a value for the assets, which have been said to be worth $2.5 billion or more.

One Summa source says the dollar value could be listed as low as $1 billion. The IRS will review the valuation in determining its tax stance.

Even more changes could result once probate judges sift through the stack of 23 wills filed since Hughes' death and determine which, if any, is valid and who the actual heirs are.

For the moment, "Hughes' hand is still strength to the firm," says Sederberg. "And those who run the company don't want to lose the value of Howard Hughes' pioneering spirit."

But even if Hughes' "spirit" persists at Summa, there's already a big difference in the company. "It'll never be one man's again," Sederberg says.

By Brenda Riley

Associated Press Writer

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) -- Howard Hughes has been dead for months, but his influence is still strongly felt.

Sederberg, his lawyer, says that the late billionaire's funds remain.

With changes have been made in the lineup of Summa is running much as it was before Hughes' death.

The Brigham team the late Hughes had put in control of the company in 1972 remains in control of today's operations despite a new name, The Summa chairman, Hughes' cousin, William Lummis, has again been described as

WSIU-TV & FM

The following programs are listed for Friday on WSIU-TV channel 6 and WSIU-FM channel 92.6 a.m. -- Today's The Day, 8 a.m. -- The Morning Report, 8 a.m. -- Instructional programming, 10 a.m. -- The Triage Company, 10 a.m. -- Instructional programming, 11 a.m. -- The Triage Company, 11 a.m. -- Instructional programming, 12:30 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 1:30 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 2 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 2:30 p.m. -- Musters' Neighborhood, 4 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 5 p.m. -- The Triage Company, 5 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 7 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 7:30 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 8 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 9 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 10 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 10:30 p.m. -- Instructional programming, 11 p.m. -- Instructional programming. 12 midnight, request call 453-4434.

WIDB

The following programs are listed for Saturday on WIDB-FM, 900, on cable FM, 800 on campus: 7:30 a.m. -- Job ringhouse, 10 a.m. -- Earth News, 11 a.m. -- Job ringhouse, 12 p.m. -- Job ringhouse; 1:30 p.m. -- Job ringhouse; 3 p.m. -- Job ringhouse; 4 p.m. -- Job ringhouse; 6 p.m. -- Job ringhouse; 7:30 p.m. -- Job ringhouse; 8 p.m. -- Job ringhouse; 9 p.m. -- Job ringhouse.

PRIZE NO USE

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) -- Patric Curley, an 80-year-old retired subway motorman, won a car in a fund-raiseraffle at a high school here, he had no use for it.

During 45 years of driving buses in New York, Curley never learned how to drive a car. "I wish I won it 20 or 40 years ago," he said. "I'm too old to fool around with that kind of car."

He arranged to sell the car.

Omaha

By day he is Woody Allen.

Lowell's

Wrestling's

In the ring, a new, more ambitious, more public-facing Steve Farber, the owner of the monthly "Play It Again, Sam!" has been released.

"Play It Again, Sam!" is a reworked film version of the hit Broadway musical "The Taming of the Shrew," starring Arthur Kennedy, Nana Bryant, and others.

"Play It Again, Sam!" is a film produced by Ted Kotcheff and Susan Anshef.

SUNDAY LATE SHOW

11:00 p.m. All seats $1.25

By day he is Woody Allen.

SUNDAY LATE SHOW

11:00 p.m. All seats $1.25

FRI-SAT LATE SHOW

11:00 p.m. All seats $1.50

FRI-SAT LATE SHOW

11:00 p.m. All seats $1.50

By day he is Woody Allen.

On October 12, 1975, Page 7 of the Daily Egyptian.
Storyville—the play moves as slow as a brand name ketchup in introducing the main characters. But that’s really a plus, since the characters are so wacky it takes a while to get used to them.

There’s an old codger from way west who believes he is really Jesse James. Rick Plummer portrays this rootin’-tootin’ cowboy six-gun-shoot-in-up style.

Plummer doesn’t rely solely on the witty lines Allen has created for him. Instead, he uses facial and body gestures that add to the action.

Allen gives Plummer the line which more or less summarizes the plot.

Spoken near the end of the third act, Plummer, talking about his life, says, “Story needs remembering. I’ve got to tell it, or else it’ll be forgotten.”

An entire section of a city is dying; the characters often ramble, telling wistful little tales of their past life. This rambling is necessary to the plot, yet creates boredom for an audience starved for action.

The little action supplied is from the old codger’s sidekick, a young boy, played by Robert Shreve, who is somewhat lacking in mental efficiency. His epileptic seizure ends the first act with a spark of excitement and his inebriation makes for a gory second act curtain.

An abundance of profanity is sprayed around the stage by the resisters (Kathy Raulston) and Conti (Sheila Colvin). All of them are pretty wicked women with stories to tell of the paths that led them to prostitution—sometimes for a penny, sometimes for nothing.

Their gutter language is justified by their profession in which a mere description of a tough day at work was never heard from a nurse or waitress.

“Storyville” is the Southern Players official entry in the original play competition of the American College Theatre Festival.

The play’s chances of going on to greater things are good if its drawn out stories can be compacted and its action increased.

Michael Heck, director of the play, says that he has already eliminated about 15 minutes of the play. With it’s three acts and two 10 minute intermissions “Storyville’s run time should be cut by about two hours and 35 minutes.”

New Orleans in 1817 is an extremely interesting time period rarely written about. Terry Allen

Looking for that prime cut? Look for Roger at The Barber Shop.

At the Emery Theater

Call 540-2822 for appointments.

A Review

Storyville—the play moves as slow as a brand name ketchup in introducing the main characters. But that’s really a plus, since the characters are so wacky it takes a while to get used to them.

There’s an old codger from way west who believes he is really Jesse James. Rick Plummer portrays this rootin’-tootin’ cowboy six-gun-shoot-in-up style.

Plummer doesn’t rely solely on the witty lines Allen has created for him. Instead, he uses facial and body gestures that add to the action.

Allen gives Plummer the line which more or less summarizes the plot.

Spoken near the end of the third act, Plummer, talking about his life, says, “Story needs remembering. I’ve got to tell it, or else it’ll be forgotten.”

An entire section of a city is dying; the characters often ramble, telling wistful little tales of their past life. This rambling is necessary to the plot, yet creates boredom for an audience starved for action.

The little action supplied is from the old codger’s sidekick, a young boy, played by Robert Shreve, who is somewhat lacking in mental efficiency. His epileptic seizure ends the first act with a spark of excitement and his inebriation makes for a gory second act curtain.

An abundance of profanity is sprayed around the stage by the resisters (Kathy Raulston) and Conti (Sheila Colvin). All of them are pretty wicked women with stories to tell of the paths that led them to prostitution—sometimes for a penny, sometimes for nothing.

Their gutter language is justified by their profession in which a mere description of a tough day at work was never heard from a nurse or waitress.

“Storyville” is the Southern Players official entry in the original play competition of the American College Theatre Festival.

The play’s chances of going on to greater things are good if its drawn out stories can be compacted and its action increased.

Michael Heck, director of the play, says that he has already eliminated about 15 minutes of the play. With it’s three acts and two 10 minute intermissions “Storyville’s run time should be cut by about two hours and 35 minutes.”

New Orleans in 1817 is an extremely interesting time period rarely written about. Terry Allen.

THE EROTIC ADVENTURES OF PINOCCHIO

Chase Warfield’s

Starts ALEX ROMAN + DYNANE THORNE + KAREN SMITH + EDUARDO RANEZ

with MONICA GAYLE + USH DISGAT + VINCENE WALLACE + DEBBIE OSBORNE + NEOA GERA

Directed by COREY ALLEN + Director of Photography RAY DENNIS STECKLER

Lighting Director RC GOSS + Set Designer KEN WARFIELD + Music Score MARTIN SLAVIN

Produced by CHIS WARFIELD

Friday

5:30, 7:30, 8:30, 10:15

Twi-lite 5:00 - 5:30 $1.25

A Robert R. Rodzine Film

starring

HAROLD SYKES

ETONY WRIGHT

TAI MAHAL

Friday

5:05, 7:00, 8:45

Twi-lite 5:15 - 5:45 $1.25

NOW THERE IS...

PART 2

SOUNDER

FOR THE 60 MILLION PEOPLE WHO LOVED "SOUNDER"

A Robert R. Rodzine Film

starring

HAROLD SYKES

ETONY WRIGHT

TAI MAHAL

Friday

5:05, 7:00, 8:45

Twi-lite 5:15 - 5:45 $1.25

IT'S NOT HIS NOSE THAT GROWS!

With MONICA GAYLE + USH DISGAT + VINCENE WALLACE + DEBBIE OSBORNE + NEOA JERA

Directed by COREY ALLEN + Director of Photography RAY DENNIS STECKLER

Lighting Director RC GOSS + Set Designer KEN WARFIELD + Music Score MARTIN SLAVIN

Produced by CHIS WARFIELD

Friday

5:30, 7:30, 8:30, 10:15

Twi-lite 5:00 - 5:30 $1.25

1 RATED X

DOTTI DAYTON'S

AGAINST A CROOKED SKY

They faced the ultimate test of courage and love... in a land that time forgot!

“Against a Crooked Sky is made up of solid themes of action and suspense, and a good mix of laughter and tears...” —Family Circle

From the producers of “Where the Red Fern Grows” and “Seven Alone”

RICHARD BOONE and STEWART PETERSEN

Fridaay

6:15, 8:00, 9:45

5:45 - 6:15

No one does it to you like Roman Polanski

Paramount Pictures Presents A Roman Polanski Film

THE TENANT

Friday

5:30, 8:00, 10:15

Twi-lite 5:00 - 5:30 $1.25

CREEP SHOW

THE EROTIC ADVENTURES OF PINOCCHIO

Chase Warfield’s

Starts ALEX ROMAN + DYNANE THORNE + KAREN SMITH + EDUARDO RANEZ

with MONICA GAYLE + USH DISGAT + VINCENE WALLACE + DEBBIE OSBORNE + NEOA GERA

Directed by COREY ALLEN + Director of Photography RAY DENNIS STECKLER

Lighting Director RC GOSS + Set Designer KEN WARFIELD + Music Score MARTIN SLAVIN

Produced by CHIS WARFIELD

Friday

5:30, 7:30, 8:30, 10:15

Twi-lite 5:00 - 5:30 $1.25

1 RATED X

DOTTI DAYTON’S

AGAINST A CROOKED SKY

They faced the ultimate test of courage and love... in a land that time forgot!

“Against a Crooked Sky is made up of solid themes of action and suspense, and a good mix of laughter and tears...” —Family Circle

From the producers of “Where the Red Fern Grows” and “Seven Alone”

RICHARD BOONE and STEWART PETERSEN

Fridaay

6:15, 8:00, 9:45

5:45 - 6:15

No one does it to you like Roman Polanski

Paramount Pictures Presents A Roman Polanski Film

THE TENANT

Friday

5:30, 8:00, 10:15

Twi-lite 5:00 - 5:30 $1.25

CREEP SHOW
By Mike Gansnam Student Writer

This is the first in a two-part series on black theater at SIU. This article deals with its history, and part two, in Saturday's paper, will deal with the present status of black theater at SIU—Editor's note.

The white spotlight hit the stage dissolving the darkness and revealing a lone actor whose face did not brighten after the spotlight hit it.

The Kutana Players had arrived. SIU's first black theater group was breaking the racial barriers that had kept the spotlight off of the black race for many years.

It was a cold, wet November night in 1971 when the Kutana (meaning 'to break away' in Swahili) Players premiered three plays dealing with the black experience. All three plays pelted the audience as hard as the sleet that was hitting Broadway. Kutana quickly realized that the theater at SIU deprived not only the black community, but the white as well since one race could not understand the other with inaccurate images being played.

Green and the Kutana Players set out to change this by producing quality plays written by contemporary black writers and presenting them to both students and the black community. This way, the blacks could reform attitudes of themselves and also attitudes of other races.

But obstacles had to be overcome before the black theater could move forward. Green contacted the SIU theater department and made arrangements to let the Kutana Players hold auditions in Cune Theatre, a small auditorium located in Pulliam Hall.

Then, monotony and boredom set. The players received $200 from the Black Student Union and $200 from the theater department.

The Kutana Players first performance began Nov. 8, 1971, with three one-act plays: 'The Gentleman Caller,' 'Contribution,' and 'The First Militant Minister.'

The Daily Egyptian did not review the trilogy, and there is no record on file to attest to the success or failure of the Kutana Players other than a thesis by Eugene Green in which he notes the theater as being packed with enthusiastic blacks from the campus and community.

Many of the older blacks viewing Green wrote, admitted that the plays had been their first exposure to theater which realistically portrayed the black lifestyle. Kutana felt that blacks from the campus and the black community. This was to follow 'Dream on Monkey Mountain.'

'There are so many fine, strong touches to this production that any kind of praise isn't praise enough,' Green said. And company have scored a knockout as thrilling as it is terrifying and as truthful as it is monumental theater.

One more production, 'Dream on Monkey Mountain,' was to follow due to a greater need for black theater in the St. Louis area. The Kutana Players moved north to SIU-Edwardsville leaving the Cune stage at SIU-C dark.

The highlights would not light the darkest stage for the following four years.

Informal, Relaxed Festival

Seating

J.T.S. and

T. Hart Trio

for Homecoming

Tomorrow 8 p.m.

Tickets go on sale 9 a.m. tomorrow at the South Lobby Ticket Office. $1.50; no reserved seats
Musical joy given to crowd by Nitty Gritty Dirt Band

By D. Leon Felts

Student Writer

The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band walked on the Marion Civic Center stage last night, 45 minutes late, and launched into "Cosmic Country"—it was well worth the wait.

"Cosmic Country" was followed by several rock, uptime County tunes including "The Fish Song" featuring a country guitar by Jimmie McFadden with piano and synthesizer by Jackie Clark. Synthesizer in a County band! Well, the Dirt Band is not a typical Country-Rock band.

A lilting Raggae time, "Mother Earth Provides Home" followed with John McEuen nailing away on mandolin, it hardly the usual Jamaican instrument, either.

After the Raggae the band took the highly enthusiastic audience through some expert Bluegrass renditions, such as "Rocky Top" and "Going Downstairs" during which Jeff Hannon brought the crowd to its feet with a spirited washboard solo.

John McEuen then came on alone announcing, "I'm gonna do a few banjo numbers, while they the band go to the dressing room and do a number." McEuen then launched into a long, rambling mandolin about a Georgia fiddle player called, "Whipporwill," then closed his portion of the show with some finely wrought banjo variations. The band returned and did their best known hit single, "Jamaica Lady."

Then it was near pandemonium as the crowd on their feet clapping and dancing in the aisles, as the band blended through "Bayou Jubilee," "The Battle Of New Orleans" and "Diggy, Diggy Lo." McEuen pranced to and fro across the stage playing hot fiddle lines that would have made a Cajun proud.

After a standing ovation the band returned for one encore and led the crowd in an inspiring sing-along version of "Will The Circle Be Unbroken."

They all sing well, except McEuen who plays fiddle, mandolin, steel, Washboard guitar and banjo, with consummate skill, John Cable, the Country-pickin' black man ever, plays guitar, grand piano, synthesizer and bass, whenever bassist John Cable plays guitar.

Add this versatility of talent to their unusual ability to transfer their musical joy to their audience, and the Dirt Band stacks up as one of the finest Progressive Country bands in the entertainment business.
Office, Woody Hall-B, third floor. Jobs available as of Oct. 20:

- Clerical, typing secretary—two openings, morning hours: one opening, afternoon hours: one opening, general office work, minimal typing, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. or noon-2 p.m. one opening, office manager, good office skills, 10 hours weekly to be arranged; one opening, clerical, sophomore or junior, must have good grade average, past office experience preferred, very accurate typing, three hour work block or more.

- Clerical, typing—three opening, general office work, minimal typing, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. or noon-2 p.m. one opening, office manager, good office skills, 10 hours weekly to be arranged; one opening, clerical, sophomore or junior, must have good grade average, past office experience preferred, very accurate typing, three hour work block or more.

- Clerical, typing—two openings, general office work, minimal typing, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. or noon-2 p.m. one opening, office manager, good office skills, 10 hours weekly to be arranged; one opening, clerical, sophomore or junior, must have good grade average, past office experience preferred, very accurate typing, three hour work block or more.

- Clerical, typing—five openings, general office work, minimal typing, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. or noon-2 p.m. one opening, office manager, good office skills, 10 hours weekly to be arranged; one opening, clerical, sophomore or junior, must have good grade average, past office experience preferred, very accurate typing, three hour work block or more.

Miscellaneous—one opening, map room, must be a geography major. 12 hours weekly to be arranged: one opening, key punch operator, experience preferred, prefer someone who may be staying for the spring semester, morning hours: one or two openings, nude modeling at the School of Technical Careers.

Career Planning slates interviews with three firms

The following are on-campus job interviews scheduled at Career Planning & Placement Center for this week. For interview appointments and additional information, interested students should visit the center located at Woody Hall, Section B, Room 204.

Friday
McDonnell Douglas Corp., St. Louis, MO: Research, design, and development engineering for aircraft and missile systems. Prefer to interview upper 50 percent of the class. Majors: BS in electrical sciences and systems engineering, electrical engineering technology. U.S. citizenship required.

Arthur Young & Co., CPA's, St. Louis, MO: Refer to Thursday.

Naval Surface Weapons, Silver Springs, MD: Check with Placement Center for their needs.

Stop in today and see this distinctive jewelry.
Safety analyst cites risks on campus

By Call Wagner
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A total of 278 accidents occurred on campus in September, an average of nine accidents each day.

Despite this, Oliver K. Halderson, University safety officer, says he does not agree with the adage "accidents will happen."

"People cause accidents, as a rule," he said in an interview Monday. Yet Halderson added that he does believe an "accident-prone" individual really exists.

Perhaps the best method of solving that problem is best illustrated by a small green sign perched on the cabinet behind his desk. It says "Pay Attention!"

As safety officer, Halderson receives and tabulates on campus accident reports from the Health Service. Scattered on his desk are typed reports containing September's accident statistics, enumerated down to the last abrasion and bruise.

Many colleges simply total their accidents and leave it at that "without keeping much of a record," Halderson said.

The University safety office in published quarterly reports on accidents, but that practice was discontinued because of a lack of interest, Halderson said.

A safety officer at SIU for almost 14 years, Halderson does compile monthly figures on accidents. Such statistics are important in spotting trends and pinpointing issues, he said.

Of the 278 September accidents, 253 of the victims were students and 18 were employees. The safety office does not differentiate among student workers, faculty and staff in its file of employee accidents. Student workers injured on the job are treated as employees, Halderson said.

Cuts and falls are the most frequent types of accidents, while chemistry, laboratories and food service areas are the most frequent sites of accidents, he said.

Bicycles are perhaps the leading cause of accidents at this time of the year and are one of Halderson's chief concerns. Checking through the stack of green accident reports in his office, Halderson found 38 bicycle accidents for that month. The causes of the bicycle accidents listed on the report included a broken chain, skidding on wet pavement or gravel, hitting a log in the trail around Lake-on-the-Campus, a snapped brake cord, most frequently, avoiding or colliding with a pedestrian or car.

"I keep saying we ought to have more bicycle paths," Halderson said. "The green paths aren't hardly worth anything. They don't lead anywhere."

Injuries resulting from intramural sports are also common, Halderson said. No equipment and poor grounds cause a lot of scrapes and sprains, he said.

Halderson periodically inspects areas of the campus. "If there's a bad injury, I check if there's something that caused it," he said. After checking the site of an accident, or a potentially hazardous area, he writes a report to "bring it to everybody's attention."

One major project he has requested is the construction of a new field center at the University Farms. The "dilapidated" building now there poses a risk, he said.

Halderson also meets with 20 to 40 departmental safety officers every three months. These safety officers, both faculty and staff members, relay information from Halderson to their departments and make suggestions of their own, he said.

Write for free information—without obligation.
Glenmary Missionaries, Room S-29
Box 46404, Cincinnati, OH 45246

1st Anniversary Sale
October 22 & 23rd
Free
food
and drink while it lasts!

Friday
and Saturday

"BECOME WHAT YOU ARE!"
A Free Lecture on Christian Science by
Harold Rogers of Rome, Italy
Monday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m.
in
Morris Library Auditorium

HAPPY HOURS
11 a.m. - 7 p.m.
25¢ draft beer
Ladies first draft
free
60¢ mixed drinks

Bacardi
Jim Beam
Lord Calvert
Smirnoff
Gordon's Gin
Passport

Mon-Thurs. 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Fri & Sat 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Sun 4 p.m. - 1 a.m.

"FREE"
Records
Records
Records
Records

1st Anniversary Sale
October 22 & 23rd
Free
food
and drink
while it lasts!

Friday
and Saturday

"BECOME WHAT YOU ARE!"
A Free Lecture on Christian Science by
Harold Rogers of Rome, Italy
Monday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m.
in
Morris Library Auditorium

HAPPY HOURS
11 a.m. - 7 p.m.
25¢ draft beer
Ladies first draft
free
60¢ mixed drinks

Bacardi
Jim Beam
Lord Calvert
Smirnoff
Gordon's Gin
Passport

Mon-Thurs. 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Fri & Sat 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Sun 4 p.m. - 1 a.m.

"FREE"
Records
Records
Records
Records

1st Anniversary Sale
October 22 & 23rd
Free
food
and drink
while it lasts!

Friday
and Saturday

"BECOME WHAT YOU ARE!"
A Free Lecture on Christian Science by
Harold Rogers of Rome, Italy
Monday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m.
in
Morris Library Auditorium

HAPPY HOURS
11 a.m. - 7 p.m.
25¢ draft beer
Ladies first draft
free
60¢ mixed drinks

Bacardi
Jim Beam
Lord Calvert
Smirnoff
Gordon's Gin
Passport

Mon-Thurs. 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Fri & Sat 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Sun 4 p.m. - 1 a.m.

"FREE"
Records
Records
Records
Records

1st Anniversary Sale
October 22 & 23rd
Free
food
and drink
while it lasts!

Friday
and Saturday

"BECOME WHAT YOU ARE!"
A Free Lecture on Christian Science by
Harold Rogers of Rome, Italy
Monday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m.
in
Morris Library Auditorium

HAPPY HOURS
11 a.m. - 7 p.m.
25¢ draft beer
Ladies first draft
free
60¢ mixed drinks

Bacardi
Jim Beam
Lord Calvert
Smirnoff
Gordon's Gin
Passport

Mon-Thurs. 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Fri & Sat 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Sun 4 p.m. - 1 a.m.

"FREE"
Records
Records
Records
Records

1st Anniversary Sale
October 22 & 23rd
Free
food
and drink
while it lasts!

Friday
and Saturday

"BECOME WHAT YOU ARE!"
A Free Lecture on Christian Science by
Harold Rogers of Rome, Italy
Monday, Oct. 25 at 8 p.m.
in
Morris Library Auditorium

HAPPY HOURS
11 a.m. - 7 p.m.
25¢ draft beer
Ladies first draft
free
60¢ mixed drinks

Bacardi
Jim Beam
Lord Calvert
Smirnoff
Gordon's Gin
Passport

Mon-Thurs. 11 a.m. - 1 a.m.
Fri & Sat 11 a.m. - 2 a.m.
Sun 4 p.m. - 1 a.m.
Panelists describe Hitler as trapped by his own power

By Greg Johnson
Daily Egyptian Staff

Panelist leader Adolph Hitler was a man trapped in his own power, said Donald Detwiler, associate professor of history, during a panel discussion recently in Morris Library Auditorium.

The discussion, "Perspectives on Hitler," explored how Hitler and the National Socialist ideology influenced Germany during World War II.

The four panelists: Harry T. Moore, professor of English; Peter A. Munch, professor of sociology; Detwiler; and Carroll L. Riley, professor of anthropology, described the enigma of Hitler from the points of view of their respective disciplines.

After a brief summary of Hitler’s rise to power, Detwiler described the personality of the dictator through the memoirs of Swiss historian Carl Berkhart.

Berkhart, who was a member in the League of Nations and had personally negotiated with Hitler, found it odd “How it was that Hitler would adapt his actions to changing circumstances, yet in doing so, would simultaneously divest himself of freedom of choice. despite the great power he possessed, that also possessed him.” Detwiler said.

Another perspective was offered by Munch who viewed first-hand the Nazi experience as a student at the University of Halle in Germany and later as a prisoner in a concentration camp during the German occupation of Norway in 1940.

Munch said even though he has had personal experience with the Nazis, he is frightened by his experience, because, he said “I repeatedly found it impossible to communicate the horrors of my experience in such a way that it is understandable to those who have some distance from it.”

Munch said he saw a religious aspect to the Nazi movement as it progressed. To Germans who had suffered defeat during World War I, and failed in establishing a democratic government, Hitler became a symbolic, unifying messiah whose development of a diabolical system of ritual and ideology seemed to be the answer to “alleviate the defeat that was interpreted as humiliation,” he said.

Moore, who served in the Pentagon as Top Secret Control Officer in the Air Force during the war, explained how National Socialism affected various writers remaining in Germany, and how exile changed those who left.

Riley, who confessed he had never been in Germany, described how the 19th century folklore and the Aryan myth became bases of Hitler’s racist, pseudo-scientific ideology.

The combination of a 19th-century colonization of European nations and century old traditions which also involved excessive nationalism led to a necessity to rationalize increasing ruthless behavior, Riley said.

The combination of a 19th-century colonization of European nations and century old traditions which also involved excessive nationalism led to a necessity to rationalize increasing ruthless behavior, Riley said.

Pregnant?
Need Help?
A counseling and referral is available at all times. Call 1-526-4545
All calls are handled confidentially by experienced counselors. Phone collect if necessary. If you have a friend who needs advice, urge her to call.

"The Energy Crises: Real or Imagined"

Stewart Udall, author of
The Quiet Crises, and former secretary of the Interior under Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, will speak on the energy crises and coal conversion as a possible solution.

Tuesday, Oct. 26
8 p.m.
Student Center
Ballroom D
FREE

Sponsored by the Student Environmental Center

"The American Tap"
Relax and enjoy
The New 8 ft. TV Screen

Sunday night is SPAGHETTI NIGHT 59
all you can handle!
1.89 at Corone's
LIKE GOING HOME FOR DINNER
(across from Merlin's on the strip)
Two County Board opponents endorse strong township rule

Editor's note: Jackson County Board candidates from the 1st District are Republicans Marvin D. Wright and Democrat Alvin Lange. Neither candidate favors county zoning, both feel the county should enforce strict land reclamation policies and both are school bus drivers.

Wright works for the Murphyboro School District while Lange has driven a bus for the Trico School District for 16 years.

Lange, who farms near Ava, said not many people are happy when someone tells them what to do with their land, referring to county zoning in rural areas.

Wright said, "I know zoning is something we have to deal with, but it should be handled by the townships. I don't think the county board should be involved in it right now." Wright said he thought it would be hard to write one law that would cover the entire county because the county is so diverse.

Wright, 45, said he is president of a school board association, said the diversification of the county makes it hard to have one full-time administrative assistant by the county board seem like a good idea. He argued that there were already eight officials elected from each township and that it would be better if the board could work through them rather than hire someone else if the board wants full-time officials. Wright suggested the possibility of changing to a three-commissioner form of county government.

Lange said an assistant could take quite a bit of responsibility, and make the board's job easier, but this seems like the wrong time to hire someone.

GPP QUADRUPLES

If measured in constant dollars, or 1947-1948 prices, the total national wealth of the United States increased by a factor of four between 1980 and 1988 as it rose from $55 billion to $2.1 trillion.

The Jackson County Board has consulted with area counties having similar problems and is considering hiring a full-time administrative assistant who would be paid by the county and would be responsible for coordinating board activities.

Lange, who has served as township supervisor and town clerk, each for eight years, feels that roads and bridges in the 1st District are in "pretty good shape." He does not favor more county responsibility for road maintenance in rural areas, because the county already has about 150 miles of road to maintain.

We can have better roads this way than with county maintenance," Lange said. "I just don't think outlying districts would get a fair shake" if township roads became the responsibility of the county.

Wright said some townships may need help from the county to maintain roads and bridges, but others have equipment and funds to adequately serve their areas. If equipment belonging to a township or the county is used in another township, it is rented. Wright explained that is what Pomona Township does. Because it owns no equipment. When equipment is rented, the supervisor from the township that owns the equipment should operate it, Wright said. He pointed out that many of the shoulders which suffer from poor roads have extensive non-taxable areas.

Lange said someone needs to hear down on strip miners as far as land reclamation is concerned, and the county board should get a firm hold on the problem. Whenever a coal company mines, it should put the needed back, Lange said. He cited a mining operation in his district which is doing a good job of reclaiming mined land.

Wright said he does not feel the county board needs to seek professional help to handle land reclamation problems. "The county board should be able to understand these problems," Wright said. He added that where help is needed, there are state agencies and organizations to give technical advice.

Wright listed the Illinois Extension Service and the Farm Bureau as two existing agencies which could, for example, make soil analysis and recommend fertilizers and varieties of vegetation suitable to an area being reclaimed.

State laws governing land reclamation have not been strictly followed in the past, Wright said, but with the present acceleration in mining activities, more attention should be given to the problem by the county board.

Lange, who served on the Jackson County Board from 1969 to 1971, when the county was redistricted, said that as a board member, he would like to serve his district and the whole county with the greatest service for the least amount of money.

Stock up for Homecoming Weekend
Shasta Soda
6 cans only 89¢ only
Southern Quick Shop
On the corner of Illinois & College

LEO'S WESTOWN LIQUOR MART
549-5513

HOMECOMING SPECIAL

BUSCH
$1.29

NO LIMIT

Executive Choice Vodka
$3.79

Quart

Barclays Bourbon
$3.59

Fifth

KAS CHIPS 25¢ size
2 for 29¢ Plain or BQ

Located Behind Westown Rexall
Sale Good Fri. thru Sun. 12-7

October 14 - November Donut Month
buy 1/2 dozen, get 1/2 dozen free

OLD FASHIONED OR
SPICE BUTTERMILK CHOCOLATE CAKE DONUTS

No other donut delivers the flavor of a Dixie Cream. Our cake donuts are light as whispers... never heavy... with Janet tantalizing tastes... and a tempting texture of appetites. Our secret recipe of Kobes' brand ingredients can't be matched anywhere. That's why Dixie Cream donuts are the world's best. Bring this coupon to today and treat youself to donuts so good you know mother's best is bound in their making.

Dixie Cream
World's Finest Donuts--made only of pure natural ingredients

COUPON EXPIRES OCT. 31, 1976
GOOD ON CAKE DONUTS ONLY

SEPTEMBER 22-28, 1976

Barbara y

October 14 - November Donut Month

LEO'S WESTOWN LIQUOR MART
549-5513

HOMECOMING SPECIAL

BUSCH
$1.29

NO LIMIT

Executive Choice Vodka
$3.79

Quart

Barclays Bourbon
$3.59

Fifth

KAS CHIPS 25¢ size
2 for 29¢ Plain or BQ

Located Behind Westown Rexall
Sale Good Fri. thru Sun. 12-7

DIXIE CREAM
World’s Finest Donuts--made only of pure natural ingredients

COUPON EXPIRES OCT. 31, 1976
GOOD ON CAKE DONUTS ONLY

SEPTEMBER 22-28, 1976

Barbara y
SIU HOME COMING OCT. 21-23

WHEN COMEDY WAS KING

9:00 AM CORNERSTONE LAYING CEREMONY, SIU-C Co-Recreational Activities. Location: SIU-C Rec Center.
10:00 AM-12:00PM “THE SU-C HOME COMING PARADE - WHEN COMEDY WAS KING.” Start at Illinois and Walton Streets, proceeds each year to the Student Center, where you will find the best in music from high school bands of Southern Illinois, plus our special guests - THE Marching Salukis, floats, bands, decorated cars, and many distinguished guests. YOU WONT WANT TO MISS THIS ONE.
11:00AM-12:00PM ALUMNI BUFFET LUNCH, Student Center Ballrooms.
11:00AM-12:00PM Performing Arts, New Student Community Theatre, Student Center.
11:00AM-12:00PM DANCE WORKSHOP, featuring the SU-C cheerleaders, Student Center.
11:00AM MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT, Duan Fert (vocal) and Susan Board (keyboard), Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM DANCE WORKSHOP, featuring the Southern Illinois Dance Theatre and the Southern Illinois University Theatre Department, Student Center Auditorium, Free.
12:00PM-1:00PM "The SIU Saluki" in Northern Illinois University, Niederriter Stadium, get your tickets early!!!
12:00PM TIME ACTIVITIES, Presentation to Lynne Holder, her long-standing dedication and service to the SU-C athletic program.
12:00PM-1:00PM "WAIT UNTIL YOUR FATHER GETS HOME," a unique theatre experience with dessert, coffee, and a trip to the best of comedy, sponsored by the SIU-C Homecoming Committee and the Student Center, featuring the Southern Illinois Student Ballroom D. Saturday, sponsored by the SIU-C Homecoming Committee.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE JOKES," smooth country music, sponsored by the Student Center, Student Center Ballroom.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE OTHER," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
12:00PM-1:00PM "THE LADY," sponsored by the SIAC Films Committee, Student Center Auditorium.
Physicians say hysterectomies are greater operational risks than tying

By C.G. McDaniels

CHICAGO (AP) — More and more women are demanding hysterectomies as a means of sterilization even though some physicians say the operation means greater risk than the usual method, physicians have reported.

This increased “consumer demand” poses a problem for physicians, who are trained to remove the uterus only if disease is present, they pointed out at the clinical congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Sterilization of women usually is achieved by tying of the Fallopian tubes in a relatively simple procedure. Hysterectomy to achieve sterilization has been likened to “cracking walnuts with a sledge hammer” in that it is excessive for that purpose, noted one of the physicians, Dr. Dale Danahoo, an obstetrician-gynecologist at Kessler Air Force Base, Miss.

But, he said, if one doctor will not do it for a woman “another one down the street will.”

The idea of “medical paternalism” is past, he said. In those days, he said, the doctor would sit down and say to the patient, “My dear, this is what you should have and what you will have.”

“Today, however, the liberated woman does not want this medical paternalism, but rather desires to make her own decisions as to whether she wants children, or, even more so, whether she wants to retain her uterus,” he said.

Danahoo said that “the further away we get from the treatment of a disease state, the more difficult it is for a physician to justify hysterectomy.”

But he told a news conference that if the patient has been informed of all risks and then decides she still wants a healthy uterus removed to achieve sterilization, then maybe the doctor should go ahead and do it. He said a growing percentage of women has been demanding hysterectomy for this purpose with the “liberation of the female.”

Dr. James P. Semmens, an obstetrician-gynecologist at the Medical University of South Carolina, Charleston, said that there are more complications and more blood loss than with tubal ligation, or tying of the tubes.

Women also are four times as likely to become depressed following hysterectomy than after other surgery, he reported.

The woman’s psychological state must be evaluated along with her physiological states in deciding whether hysterectomy is to be performed, Semmens said.

The physician, he said, must try to determine how the woman reacts to loss, such as death, because she also may react similarly to the loss of her uterus. And the physician must also try to determine how the loss will affect the woman’s sexual image of herself, he said.

Danahoo said 1 to 3 per cent of tubal ligation fail and these women subsequently become pregnant. The physician, he said, must weigh this possibility and how the pregnancy might affect the women psychologically in making a decision.

LUNCHEON SPECIALS

FREE FOUNTAIN REFILLS

11:00 a.m.—3:00 p.m. Mon. thru Sat.

Chicken Lovers

- 1 piece Golden Brown's Chicken
- French Fried or creamy Alfredo
- Bottomless Fountain Drink

Fish Lovers

Hot Dog Lovers

- Hot dog w/ everything
- French Fries
- Fountain Drink

Only $1.49

601 E. Main St.
Carbondale, IL

Mama Gina's

Italian restaurant

101 W. Walnut
Closed Monday except for deliveries
Call 549-1621

ROY-AYER'S UPLIQUITY CONCERT

Tickets

Go On Sale Today

FREE DELIVERY SERVICE

Now featuring a la carte items for delivery

Homecoming Weekend Special
Two free cans of Coke or Sprite with large pizza—delivery only

Delivery starts every day at 5 p.m.

PASTA

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Spaghetti</th>
<th>includes garlic bread</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Italian Beef</td>
<td>$1.55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sausage</td>
<td>$1.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meatsball</td>
<td>$1.00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Comb.</td>
<td>$1.50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pizza</td>
<td>$1.55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Garlic Bread</td>
<td>$0.50</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DINNERS includes salad, garlic bread, side of spaghetti</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Eggplant Parmesan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Veal Parmesan</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PIZZA

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>w/cheese</th>
<th>10&quot;</th>
<th>12&quot;</th>
<th>14&quot;</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$2.95</td>
<td>3.50</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

FRESH FLESH

Salmon, Halibut, Swordfish

FOOT-LONG

Italian Beef | $2.00

FREE DELIVERY

Stop in and try us out B.Y.O.W.
Leadership meeting features national management experts

By Bernie Remer
Student Writer
Leading national authorities on management leadership will meet at the SIU Student Center Tuesday through Thursday.

The College of Business and the Department of Administrative Sciences are sponsoring the SIU Fourth Biennial Leadership Symposium.

The theme of this year's symposium is "Leadership: The Cutting Edge." The purpose of the meeting is to examine the experience angle as well as the theoretical direction in leadership.

The program will feature selected works from those identified with the field of leadership and those outside the field. The symposium will provide a forum for scholars whose work has received attention.

This meeting is an effort to exchange leadership ideas and theories among participants through the use of small discussion sessions.

The symposium, which will include 18 guest speakers, will be highlighted by a discussion panel moderated by Lars Larson, assistant professor in the Administrative Sciences Department, at 8 p.m. on Thursday.

The panel will discuss "Some Neglected Leadership Aspects."

Larson, who is co-chairman of the Leadership Committee with J.C. Hunt of the Administrative Sciences Department, said the symposium is designed to draw together current ideas in leadership research.

Activities

Friday
Free School, exercise class, noon - p.m., Arena North East Concours.

- Southern Players, "Storystville," 8 p.m., University Theater, Tickets: $1.25, students, $2.25, public.
- SCAC Film, "City Lights," 7:30 & 11 p.m., Student Center Auditorium.
- Christian Unlimted, meeting, 7:30 p.m., Student Center Mackinaw Room.
- Celebrity Series, "Naughty Masquer," performance, 8 p.m., Shroyer Auditorium.
- Departmental Senior Banquet, "Charge Transfer Complexes," 4 p.m., Neckers C 208.
- Campus Crusade for Christ, meeting, 7:45 p.m., Student Center Activity Room C & D.
- Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship, meeting, 7:30-10 p.m., Student Center Activity Rooms A & B.
- Latter Day Saints Student Association, meeting, noon-1:30 p.m., Student Center Activity Room II.
- Bobbist pot-luck, 7 p.m., 712 8. University Ave.

The Promise and Challenge of Coal Conversion

An Environmental Conference Tuesday Oct. 26

Student Center Auditorium, 9-12, 1:30-5

Sponsored by the Student Environmental Center in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Education.

ALASKAN SILVER IVORY CO.

JEWELRY SHOW
Oct. 22-23
Distinctive Jewelry
Each piece a work of Art
Jewelers and Distributors
Scrimshaw-Jasper Fossilized Ivory

Elect
William G. Ridgeway
Republican candidate for Resident Circuit Judge
1st Circuit - Jackson County Election - Tues., Nov. 2, 1976

Qualified by Public & Private Experience
Former State's Attorney and Public Defender of Jackson County, Special Assistant Attorney General for Inheritance Tax Purposes, Active Office and Trial Practice. Deemed qualified by Democratic, Republican and Independent attorneys.

Paid for by Ridgeway Campaign Comm., David Kenney and Eliza Brantley, Co-Chairmen.

Hickory Log Restaurant
Muralote Shopping Center
549-7822
(cash ahead for orders)

How Open Till 10:00 p.m.
Friday & Saturday

- Sizzling Steaks
- Sandwiches
- Catfish
- Salads
- Wine
- Beer

- Hamburger and Chicken

THE PROMISE
AND CHALLENGE OF COAL CONVERSION

An Environmental Conference
Tuesday Oct. 26

Student Center Auditorium, 9-12, 1:30-5

Sponsored by the Student Environmental Center in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Education.

Daily Egyptian, October 22, 1976, Page 13
Assistant radio-television professor Jonathan Yoder will present a paper entitled "Broadcasting and Popular Culture: A Criticism of Gilbert Selde," to a conference of the Midwest Popular Culture Association Friday at Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio.

Dr. Yoder also will present a paper of a conference of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters Monday in Chicago.

A law enforcement fraternity will be formed at a general membership meeting at 1:30 p.m. on Thursday, in the Administration of Justice department, Paner B wing. Practitioners in the field and students, regardless of academic discipline or level of study, are invited to leave their telephone numbers with reception at the center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Correction, Paner B wing.

The SIU Counseling Center and Human Sexuality Services is sponsoring workshops for men and women Friday and Saturday. The workshop for men will be Friday, 8 to 10 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Woody Hall, group room, wing A. The women’s workshop will be 6 to 10 p.m. on Friday, and 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, in the lounge of the Home Economics Building.

Associate professor of philosophy, John Howie, participated in a program on "Crisis in Religious Belief" recently at Murray State University. Howie spoke on "From the Perspective of the Philosophy of Religion."

Alpha Phi Alpha will sponsors Miss Eboness Pageant at 8 p.m. on Saturday at Shryock Auditorium. Tickets are $2, and available at the Student Center ticket office.

Black Affairs Council will sponsor Black Expo, an exposition of arts, crafts and talents performed by black students, from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. Friday. Admission is free.

The Southern Illinois Art Resources Cooperative (S.IARC) metals trailer will visit the historic Huthmacher House in Grand Tower Sunday. The unit is part of a five- wagon S.IARC arts and crafts caravan that criss-crossed Southern Illinois during the summer. Campus artisans will demonstrate metal working and blacksmithing techniques from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the restored Huthmacher residence. The public is invited to attend at no charge.

Jack McKillip, assistant professor of psychology, recently attended the organizational meeting of the Evaluation Research Society at Harvard. A short report on this conference is available from McKillip.

Students can still register to donate blood in the solicitation center of the Student Center Tuesday through Friday. The Student Blood Drive is Nov. 2 to 5 donors may register for an appointment.

Grants offered, deadlines soon
The Schizophrenia Research Program of the Benefield Foundation of the Scottish Rites is offering doctoral dissertation fellowships for research concerning schizophrenia in the following fields; psychiatry, psychology, sociology and epidemiology, genetics, neurobiology, neuropsychology, pharmacology and physiology.

Come on in and create your own

 Halloween Fantasy
at The Thief Shop 108 S. Jackson
**
Tuesday, Wednesday - 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. (quality previously owned clothing at repriceable prices)

 THE 1ST ANNUAL S.G.A.C **
 "BEAUTIFUL MUSIC FESTIVAL" **
A two day affair
SATURDAY 7 p.m. - 11 p.m.
Sunday 12 noon - 5 p.m.
4th floor
Student Center
Big Muddy Rm.
Student Center

 Washington Street **
 Underground **
"The Lowest Prices in Town"

Happy Hour Daily 1-5
10 oz. Glass of Miller's 25c
16 oz. Mug of Miller's 35c
60 oz. Pitcher of Miller's $1.20
Bar Liquor Drinks 45c
Call Liquor Drinks 55c

We now have ice cold
 OLD STYLE **
 BEER **
Entertainment Every Sunday Night
8:30-12:30
109 N. Washington (Below ABC)
Sailors in raft rescued after weeks at sea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Darel Miller recalls a loud crash as he was hurled into the churning sea with a friend. That was the beginning of a desperate three-week fight for survival on a wind-tossed life raft.

Miller, a professional sailor from Oklahoma, said in a message from the Yokohama-bound Liberian freighter Oriental Financier that he was at the Spirit's helm during a storm with winds of 35 knots howling around him.

"I heard a loud crash or explosion and was immediately swept away from the wheel into the water," he said. "The boat was knocked over on its side."

The crew of the Financier plucked Miller, about 28, and Nancy Perry, 21, of San Anselmo, Calif., from their five-foot raft Monday about 800 miles southwest of here. They were said to be in good condition despite their lack of food.

The raft had only five gallons of water on board.

"The raft cabin hatch covers had been torn or r, and the cabin was completely full of water," Miller said. "The raft had only five gallons of water on board."

"The raft cabin hatch covers had been torn or r, and the cabin was completely full of water," Miller remembered. "The people of there, we found out. I could tell the boat was sinking and immediately started inflating the raft in the canister near the cockpit."

Both rafts were inflated and the five shipwrecked sailors clambered into them seconds before the Spirit vanished beneath the sea.

"It happened incredibly fast," he said.

Miller estimated that his raft, separated from the other shortly after the accident, traveled about 160 miles on the raging wind. He told rescuers that the other raft, which had no sea anchor, probably traveled even farther.

The cargo ship is scheduled to arrive in Japan next Tuesday.

Still missing are Camilla Arthur, 21, and Jim Ahola, 25, both of San Anselmo, Calif., and Bruce Collins, 26, of Walnut Creek, Calif.

---

Now you can make your own brilliant Cibachrome prints directly from your slides.

You've read about it. Now see Cibachrome for yourself. We have everything you'll need to make them. And our Cibachrome experts will show you how.

Demonstration: Sat. Oct. 23
10 a.m.-4 p.m.

204 W. FREEMAN CARBONDALE

---

Announcing Our

6 Hour Super Sale

Yamaha FG260 - 12 string
(a discontinued model) super sale price
reg. 251.00 list $84.95

(Grover Machine Heads $19.95
30% off all strings)

Pick from the pick jar 10/25c
See the super harmonica cabinet
All sale prices Saturday only

411 S. Illinois
549-5612

---

RAMADAINN

SEAFOOD BUFFET with LOBSTER & PRIME RIB
TEGA "Complete new sound" in the Lounge

New Noon Buffet Mon.-Fri.
All you can eat $2.95
Open nightly 9-1 2400 W. Main Corbandale

CABLEVISION
PROUDLY PRESENTS
"What you've all been waiting for"

THE

99C

CABLE INSTALLATION SPECIAL

WITH 2 MONTHS SERVICE PREPAYMENT & APPROVED CREDIT

12 Great Cable Channels of TV Viewing
For only 24c a day you'll enjoy:
24 Hour Time and Weather Ch. 13
Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman Ch. 30
St. Louis News Ch. 2, 4, 5, 11
Kiddie Shows and Cartoons Ch. 9, 11
Independent Sports & Entertainment Ch. 11, 30

Shop In and See Us at the Murdale Shopping Center
Office Hours M-F 8:30 a.m.-6:30 p.m.
Other Hours Monday Oct. 25
No Exceptional No Phones Ordered

Daily Egyptian, October 22, 1976, Page 19
Doctors doing improper, lazy jobs

By Daniel G. Haney
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) - A Harvard University study concludes that too many operations are being performed by doctors who are not specialists in surgery, while at the same time the nation's surgeons do not have enough work to keep them busy.

The researchers at Harvard Medical School drew their conclusions after reviewing 250,000 operations performed in four metropolitan areas across the country by 27,000 physicians.

The findings were scheduled to be published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. An editorial in that edition called the study "a landmark in the study of the delivery of surgical care in the United States."

Rita Nickerson, who directed the study, said the researchers found that general practitioners were performing operations for which they may not be qualified. Among these are hysterectomies and removing appendix and gall bladders.

"These are types of procedures that we feel should not be done by general practitioners," Nickerson said in an interview.

The researchers found that 31 percent of the doctors who did operations were performing less than 10 a year.

"We're rather short on family doctors in this country," Peterson said. "We ought to be putting our manpower where it's most needed."

Trustee candidates on ballot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Besides the national, state, local and judicial races on the Nov. 2 ballot, voters also will be asked to pick three members of the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The University of Illinois is the only state university or college whose governing board is elected statewide, rather than being appointed by the governor.

Membership on the nine-member board is staggered with three members elected every two years. The three seats up for grabs this year all belong to Democrats who were elected for the first time in 1978. And all are running for another term.

Study shows errors

Doctors doing improper, lazy jobs

By Daniel G. Haney
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) - A Harvard University study concludes that too many operations are being performed by doctors who are not specialists in surgery, while at the same time the nation's surgeons do not have enough work to keep them busy.

The researchers at Harvard Medical School drew their conclusions after reviewing 250,000 operations performed in four metropolitan areas across the country by 27,000 physicians.

The findings were scheduled to be published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. An editorial in that edition called the study "a landmark in the study of the delivery of surgical care in the United States."

Rita Nickerson, who directed the study, said the researchers found that general practitioners were performing operations for which they may not be qualified. Among these are hysterectomies and removing appendix and gall bladders.

"These are types of procedures that we feel should not be done by general practitioners," Nickerson said in an interview.

The researchers found that 31 percent of the doctors who did operations were performing less than 10 a year.

"We're rather short on family doctors in this country," Peterson said. "We ought to be putting our manpower where it's most needed."

Trustee candidates on ballot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Besides the national, state, local and judicial races on the Nov. 2 ballot, voters also will be asked to pick three members of the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The University of Illinois is the only state university or college whose governing board is elected statewide, rather than being appointed by the governor.

Membership on the nine-member board is staggered with three members elected every two years. The three seats up for grabs this year all belong to Democrats who were elected for the first time in 1978. And all are running for another term.

Study shows errors

Doctors doing improper, lazy jobs

By Daniel G. Haney
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) - A Harvard University study concludes that too many operations are being performed by doctors who are not specialists in surgery, while at the same time the nation's surgeons do not have enough work to keep them busy.

The researchers at Harvard Medical School drew their conclusions after reviewing 250,000 operations performed in four metropolitan areas across the country by 27,000 physicians.

The findings were scheduled to be published in Thursday's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. An editorial in that edition called the study "a landmark in the study of the delivery of surgical care in the United States."

Rita Nickerson, who directed the study, said the researchers found that general practitioners were performing operations for which they may not be qualified. Among these are hysterectomies and removing appendix and gall bladders.

"These are types of procedures that we feel should not be done by general practitioners," Nickerson said in an interview.

The researchers found that 31 percent of the doctors who did operations were performing less than 10 a year.

"We're rather short on family doctors in this country," Peterson said. "We ought to be putting our manpower where it's most needed."

Trustee candidates on ballot

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - Besides the national, state, local and judicial races on the Nov. 2 ballot, voters also will be asked to pick three members of the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The University of Illinois is the only state university or college whose governing board is elected statewide, rather than being appointed by the governor.

Membership on the nine-member board is staggered with three members elected every two years. The three seats up for grabs this year all belong to Democrats who were elected for the first time in 1978. And all are running for another term.
Appendectomies performed on intestinal disease victims

By Peter Slaven
Associated Press Writer

HOLLAND PATIENT, N.Y. (AP)—As many as 200 infants underwent emergency surgery in the past three weeks for appendicitis when they had another disease, an intestinal disease, treatable antibiotics, two physicians said Wednesday.

State Health Department officials said they believe a contaminated water system in this central New York village was responsible for the outbreak of the disease called yersiniosis, which is caused by highly contagious bacteria.

One doctor defended the surgery, however, saying it would have been "too dangerous" to have ignored the symptoms.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. David Slavens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient. Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.

Surgeons also performed three or four emergency appendectomies on children at City Hospital in nearby Rome. According to a hospital spokesman, all had been treated for yersiniosis, which is caused by bacteria highly contagious bacteria.

"In the judgment of the people who saw the patients initially, they all had the symptoms of appendicitis," said Dr. Daniel Strovens, director of the laboratory at St. Luke's Hospital in Utica, about 15 miles south of Holland Patient.

Dr. Slavens said his hospital had treated five or six appendix cases from the Holland Patient area.

"It was only two or three of them turned out not to have appendicitis that the surgeon deemed dangerous," he said.
Change of pace

Taking advantage of a student-designed recreation program for special populations on campus, Mark Geister, a sophomore in radio-television, bowls a ball at the Student Center lanes. Students majoring in therapeutic recreation in the Department of Recreation are operating on-campus and off-campus projects as part of their classwork in Activities for the Physically Handicapped, 347C. (Staff photo by Peter Zimmerman)

Program offers fellowships in doctoral work

The Inter-American Foundation on Social Change in Latin America and the Caribbean is offering a limited number of pre- and post-doctoral student fellowships to study the change process through affiliation with a host country institution. Application deadline is December 30.

The American Scandinavian Foundation (ASF) is offering scholarship grants to graduate students for study and research in Finland, Iceland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. The George Marshall Fellowship of $3,000 for short-term professional observational academic year research at the graduate level is being offered for study in Denmark.

Campus Briefs

“Murphy’s Law and Graduate Education for Nuclear Disarmament” is the topic of a speech to be given by Bill Wickersham at 8:30 p.m. on Friday in the Graduate Club at the New Life Center, corner of South Illinois and Grand avenues. Wickersham was a visiting associate professor in community development at SIU last year, and previously served as program coordinator for world order studies at the University of Iowa.

Stress Reduction-Relaxation Training, a five-week program dealing with ways to reduce everyday stress, will begin at 1 p.m. Wednesday at the SIU Counseling Center on the third floor of Woody Hall A in Group Room B. The program is open to interested persons who contact the Counseling Center at 453-5371.

The Newman Center will sponsor a volleyball tournament at 12 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 30 on the Newman Center lawn. The tourney is open to any religious organization that contacts the Newman Center at 457-2463.

John Kinnison, junior in music, recently won a district post on the executive board of the Illinois Student Music Educators Association for this academic year. This is the second consecutive year a student from SIU has won the district representative post.

Contact Lenses
See us for information on contact lenses including Bausch & Lomb Soflens. We also carry a complete line of hearing aids and supplies.

Mon. 10-8 Thurs. closed
Tues. 9-6 Fri. 9-4
Wed. 9-6 Sat. 9-4
Phone 549-7345

Dance ‘til Dawn in this beautiful jumpsuit by Miss Etellette. Nada’s has every accessory you’ll need for this Homecoming weekend. Come and see the new winter whites and designer original knits.

549-2212
101 S. Washington

Now at GATSBYS presents

Happy Hour 2:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m.
Free Popcorn and Peanuts
Cocktails made with the finest liquors

-WINE -IMPORTED BEERS -FOLK MUSIC -NO COVER

Open 11:00 a.m.
Now comes Miller time.
SEWING CLASSES: Day and evening classes, beginning in November. Check with us now! Marion Electric Company 950-4001
Sewing Saves...and it's a lot of fun, too.  7354-1411

FOR WHAT'S HAPPENING on campus, SAG hotline 536-5506. Films, parties, travel, free school concerts, home-coming, special events.
B378628C

HUMANITE FOUNDATION ANNUAL Benefit Dinner Sat. Oct. 3. 4 p.m. - 6 p.m. at Xavier Hall. Tickets $1.75 in advance or at door. Proceeds help the animals.
B7892445

CARPET SALE
MURPHYSBORO Oct. 25 at 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Go 2 mile south across 36th Street bridge.
7394-1445

AUCTIONS & SALES

THE SPIDER WEB: Buy and sell used furniture and antiques. 5 miles south on 519-1703.
7389842C

CAKES FOR SALE
MURPHYSBORO: Oct. 23 only. 4 a.m. - 5 p.m. Xavier Hall. Plants, antiques, chili lunch, and more. All proceeds help the animals.
B7892445

FREEBIES

FREE FIREWOOD - Bring hammer, crowbar, and a tempur. "Tear down part of our house over weekend. Help beautiful. 236 S. 9th. Murphysboro. 7356-1465

CUTE ONE GIRL is our long-suit. We have to get her a gift. Call Audry, 594-1015. 7392-1475

RIDERS WANTED

THE GREAT TRAIN ROBBERY. Round trip to Chicago, Oct. 22nd, end, 923, 594-7976 or Plaza Records. Sorry, no checks. 7356-1465

WHO NOSE? THE D.E. CLASSIFIEDS MIGHT HAVE JUST WHAT YOUR LOOKING FOR!

CHCS loses by field goal in overtime
By Doug Dorris
Assistant Sports Editor
In area high school football, Carbondale's hopes of winning a second consecutive South Seven Conference title were dimmed considerably last Friday night when West Frankfort upset CHS 17-14 in overtime.

Carbondale now has two conference losses, while four other South Seven teams - West Frankfort, Herrin, Benton and Harrisburg have only one conference loss.

"We're playing now for second place," said Tom O'Boyle, CHS head football coach. "We won't be playing any better or any worse. We've just accepted reality and are going to be playing for pride now."

In a pre season poll, conference coaches picked Carbondale as the favorite for the league title. "That really put the monkey on our back," O'Boyle said. "We've lost two games by a total of seven points, but it seems like we've had a disastrous season."

In Friday night's game, Frankfort tied the contest 14-14 with 51 seconds left in the game on a three-yard run by Scott Giles. Carbondale blocked the extra point attempt.

Carbondale's two touchdowns were off receptions by Frankfort's Andy Brown and Tom O'Boyle. Frankfort scored on a 10-yard run by Roger Ollie, 10-7, with 8:20 remaining.

O'Boyle said theCarbondale defense was just inconsistent. "We have a lot of potential on defense, but chose to give Carbondale the ball first," he said, according to Frankfort head Coach Gene Ernest. "We've had a disastrous season."

The Frankfort defense held Carbondale to 145 yards rushing and 226 yards passing. The Frankfort offense gained 341 yards in total offense.

Throughout the evening Frankfort held Carbondale to 145 yards rushing and 226 yards passing. The Frankfort offense gained 341 yards in total offense.

Carbondale's two touchdowns were off receptions by Frankfort's Andy Brown and Tom O'Boyle. Frankfort scored on a 10-yard run by Roger Ollie, 10-7, with 8:20 remaining.

O'Boyle said the Carbondale defense was just inconsistent. "We have a lot of potential on defense, but chose to give Carbondale the ball first," he said, according to Frankfort head Coach Gene Ernest. "We've had a disastrous season."

The Frankfort defense held Carbondale to 145 yards rushing and 226 yards passing. The Frankfort offense gained 341 yards in total offense.

O'Boyle said the Carbondale defense was just inconsistent. "We have a lot of potential on defense, but chose to give Carbondale the ball first," he said, according to Frankfort head Coach Gene Ernest. "We've had a disastrous season."

The Frankfort defense held Carbondale to 145 yards rushing and 226 yards passing. The Frankfort offense gained 341 yards in total offense.
Winter practice to help No. 1 Briggs keep undefeated tennis record intact

By Rick Murch

Sue Briggs is SIU's No. 1 women's tennis player.

She is also the singles champion of Illinois, the regional champion of Region 6, and she just finished the past season with an undefeated record.

So what else is there to look forward to?

"I'd like to continue that record," she said. "And I have the opportunity to win the nationals, but I don't envision it."

The nationals, which are held in June, is the only thing that has escaped Briggs so far, but she feels a lot of things would have to be in her favor for her to win it.

With the right preparation, lots of practice, the right frame of mind and the luck of the draw, it's possible that I could do fairly well," she said.

But she thinks this would take more than two hours practice a day to do so.

"I think I'd have to devote about five hours a day," she said. "And that's hard to do with school."

Briggs had a 1-0 record the past season, and she attributes it to getting better competition from both her opponents and her teammates, who for the first time, pushed for the No. 1 position.

"Marsha (Bladel) is a good player, and if she had it she'd go out and work, and try to work her way to the top of the ladder," said the 20-year-old junior. "Having other people push me for No. 1 really helped and also when that next year, there will be even more competition."

Briggs, a physical education major with a true love for the game of tennis, calls it "a rewarding sport.

By the end of the season, I start thinking that it's the same thing over and over, but it really isn't. There's a different goal every weekend.

Last year she finished second at the state tournament, but she didn't set the state crown as a "definite goal" this year.

"I had always hoped that I could win it, but I take one match at a time—I don't look toward a goal until I get there."

On the court Briggs gets totally engrossed in the game that she's playing. She considers it one of her assets.

"I try to mentally block everything out, focus on the game, no opponent, and that little ball going over the net," she said with a laugh. "I don't look ahead to winning or losing, I take one point at a time."

Briggs is a slow starter and sometimes drops her first few games, if not the first set in a match.

"It usually takes me a couple games to figure out what I have to do to win a point, and what my strategy will be," she said.

Briggs, and the rest of the team, will practice during the winter at the Southern Illinois Racquet Club.

Briggs, along with her coach, Judy Auld, have found a few weaknesses that she has to work on. Both feel she has to improve her volley.

"It hasn't developed to the point where I want it to be," she said. "I also want to work on my drop shot, and my serves."

Auld doesn't usually help Briggs with major changes of her game—"that usually comes from members of my family," Briggs said.

"Judy is great communicating with the girls, and she can really encourage and motivate me on the court. I'm always open for suggestions, but my game is already established."

Along with Auld and her family, Briggs feels he has "the best nucleus of coaches around."

"My family is behind me 100 percent, but they didn't push me into a game," she commented. "They just hoped my self-motivation would keep me going, and it has."

As the state champion, she admitted some of the girls from state schools "are out there just to best me," but she doesn't feel much pressure.

"I tell a little pressure at the state meet because I was expected to win, and I was also playing in front of a home crowd."

The state tournament was held two weeks ago at the SIU tennis courts.

The only thing during the fall season that didn't work out 100 percent for Briggs were two losses in doubles when she teamed with Bladel, although Briggs wasn't disappointed.

"Doubles is a game of teamwork and communication," she explained. "We didn't play very much this year (only eight matches for a 1-0 record), and we weren't quite as effective as a team."

"Doubles isn't as strong as my singles, but I think playing with Marsha has helped. We're a fairly effective doubles team." Briggs has played at SIU only ½ years. She went to the University of Arizona as a freshman, but transferred to SIU last year "although I had no idea how good the team was here," she laughed.

"But much to my surprise, everything has turned out okay, and I can't complain at all."

"I'd like to retire, but it's left to play tennis on the collegiate level. Briggs already has plans to coach a team in the future."

GRADUATE CLUB
Meets Tonight and Every Friday night at the New Life Center (corner of Illinois and Grand) 8:30 p.m.-1:00 a.m. Tonight: Discussion with Bill Wickersham at 8:30 MUSIC!

Washington Street Underground
Sunday 3 p.m.

Chicago Bears vs. Dallas Cowboys
$1.00 pitchers
of beer during the whole game
Friday and Saturday we will be open till 4 a.m.

109 N. Washington (Below ABC)
Women runners to hold time trials

By Lee Feinswig
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The women's cross country team will hold a team time trial in order to Water polo

finale Friday

The SIU water polo team will defeat its 6-2 record at 7:30 Friday night at Pulham Pool when it hosts Central Missouri.

Senior swimming co-captain Dave Swenson will run the team since Coach Bob Steele is in Brazil. It will be the last home game of the season for the team, which will probably start an all-senior line-up.

Included in that group is Swenson, backstroker Al- America Mike Sartore, former all-East selection Lee Feinswig, the man who has been in more lights in practice than a boxer, Tony Wickham, and the two fastest men afloat at SIU, Dennis Roberts, Steve Odenwald and Rick Fox. One senior who won't see action is Ken 'Dirty Ernie' Myers. Myers is recovering from a cut hand.

The only losses for the squad have been in non-league games against Principia (twice), Missouri­ Illinois, Principia (twice) Missouri and George Williams.

While five runners from the team made it to the nationals last year, Coach Claudia Blackman thinks about three or four have a shot to qualify for the national meet. The trials will start at 9:45 a.m. Saturday at McAndrew Stadium.

Ten women will run in the event, although Jean Ohy has already qualified for nationals. Ohy, who finished third at nationals last year, will be a pacer for Peggy Evans (52nd last year) Denise Mortenson (41st), Patty George, Linda Snook, Cathy Chiarelle, Linda Baldwin, Amy Kaiser, Trish George and Tricia Grandish.

The runners have an advantage in qualifying this week because running on the uniform track at McAndrew usually produces faster times for a three-mile course than the course at Midland Hills, so their chances of reaching the qualifying time of 19 minutes is increased.

Because there are not many state or regional meets to run in to reach qualifying times, the governing board of women's athletics, the AAU, has allowed the track times from Saturday's run to be official for cross-country.

Wristwrestling
meet slated

A men's intramural wrist­wrestling meet has been slated for Thursday Oct. 28 on the northwest corner of the arena.

All participants must register by 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Office of Recreation and Intramurals, Room 118 of the arena.

Trophies will be awarded to winners in seven different weight classes. For additional information phone the Intramural Office at 336-3221.

Both sides will be rockin'
'til dawn Friday
and Saturday

FREE in the Small Bar this weekend

Fri. Ricochet will start it off
Highway Dogs will take over at 11:00 a.m.

Sat. Ricochet & Vision at 11:00 a.m.

Come join the victory celebration after the game!

$175 pitchers of Budweiser

$300 pitchers of scotch-bourbon-gin- vodka or rum and your favorite mixers

free popcorn★ backgammon ★ fresh fruit creme drinks
35¢ Bud drafts ★ 1/2 priced mixed drinks ★ 25 inch color TV
Fans set to ‘tailgate’ before SIU football game

By Lee Felserweg
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

A group of football fans at SIU is trying to introduce the art of tailgating in order to boost the attendance and spirit at Memorial Stadium for Saluki home games.

Leader of the group is Ray Mulderis, an assistant swimming coach and a graduate student in physical education. Mulderis is a graduate of the University of Corpus Christi and says that tailgating is “real big” there.

“Tailingg is popular around the country,” said Mulderis, “especially at the bigger universities. It can really help attendance. At Wisconsin for example, the sell out every game despite having losing seasons.”

Mulderis said and went on to say that tailgating was the biggest reason why.

Tailgating is the practice of eating a good meal in the parking lot before a home game. The fans get together and bring both prepared food and charcoal grills to cook on. lots of good drink, tables and chairs.

The name originates from the tailgate that is on the back of station wagons. When the custom began, mostly at the more prestigious schools in the east, people would lay out their food on the tailgate and eat there.

Last week, according to Mulderis, a group of about 25 had terrayaki in chases, coke slaw, orange juice and divinity desert.

The only requirements for tailgating with the Saluki fans are: bring food, drink and a folding chair. The parking lot will start at 11:00 a.m. Saturday and last until 1 p.m. giving everyone enough time to get to the stadium by game time “to cheer the Salukis on to victory.”

The group meets in the gravel parking lot south of the Arena, adjacent to Saluki fans are: bring food, drink and a folding chair. The parking lot will start at 11:00 a.m. Saturday and last until 1 p.m. giving everyone enough time to get to the stadium by game time “to cheer the Salukis on to victory.”

The group meets in the gravel parking lot south of the Arena, adjacent to the bonfire. “The Salukis have been in only nine plays for the graduate physical education students, and the men’s and women’s swimming teams there at 11 a.m. before the game.

Lambert named to rules group

SIU basketball Coach Paul Lambert has been named to the All-Star NBA rules committee for the 1976-77 season. Lambert learned Wednesday.

“It’s an honor to be selected by your peers to serve on a committee that can have such a fundamental effect on the way the game of basketball is played,” Lambert said. “This will give me an opportunity to express some of my philosophies about rules changes and I’ll be able to stay better in tune with the thinking of other coaches around the country.”

The NABC rules committee accepts reports and recommendations from member coaches which it compiles, and turns them into recommendations to the NCAA during the championship tournament in March. If approved, those recommendations will be submitted to the American Basketball Rules Committee in June.

Fans: it’s time to watch the bouncing ball

The World Series will be over soon, marking the end of the baseball season. The football season is near it’s halfway point and hockey has just begun. And the old round ball started bouncing on the hardwood in the pro basketball season started Thanksgiving Day.

College fans have about three weeks to wait for the action to get back to the point ball again. A basketball game is an easier game to follow. It has continuous action, unlike baseball that hardly moves at all when a dominating pitcher is in the box. It is easy to follow the ball around, unlike hockey that demands more concentration if you want to see the scores or follow the puck.

It has five man teams on a compact court. unlike basketball that demands more concentration if you want to see the scores or follow the puck. It has five man teams on a compact court. Unlike basketball that demands more concentration and there is much less room on the field several times game. The team you are rooting for will never be shut out, and a basketball fan need not worry about rain.

Basketball games played in the rain are not to be boring (as we painfully found out when the Bulls and Hawks were here), because the players execution is not that bad. But the fun knows there is nothing at stake, so he doesn’t generate any excitement or enthusiasm into his cheering. When thousands of people gather in a gymnasium or arena to watch a game, they can generate incredible volume with their cheers. Many teams, pro and college, have a “super fan,” someone who lives and dies with every movement his favorites make as he watches the game in the aisles or racing around the arena in an attempt to get people psyched. And he usually leads the fans through the corridors or move to the Chicago Cubs bullpen in 1968.

Freshman quarterback Reggie Evans takes off on a run during Saturday’s game against Arkansas State. Although he has played in only nine plays, Coach Rey Dempsey named him to start Saturday against Northern Illinois. Evans, from Chicago, was named prep All-City last year. (photo by Jan Young)