SIU officials' pay low, study says

By Paula Buckner
Staff Writer

Salaries for top SIU administrators lag behind national averages, according to a study by the University of Arkansas.

The study compared salaries of nine administrative staff positions at 33 universities, including SIU, and the university systems of Wisconsin, Hawaii and Texas.

Total salaries for the top nine SIU System administrators — chancellor, vice chancellor academic vice chancellor, executive assistant, financial officer, legislative relations officer, legal counsel, finance assistant and auditor — during fiscal 1986 were $88,554 below the national average of $637,674.

The largest difference, according to the study, was paid to the SIU academic vice chancellor, whose salary was $19,356 below the national average.

Staff in the chancellor's office received 5 percent increases, but some received equity adjustments, ranging from 2 to 14 percent, based on comparable duties and titles of peer administrators across the nation.

Richard Grunz, system legal counsel, received the lowest total increase, 7.96 percent. Donald Wilson, system financial officer, received the highest total increase, 19.93 percent.

Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit says the salary discrepancies were recommended before he became chancellor in July. The University was in a process of recognizing that the salaries were "out of line" with those of peer institutions.

"I suppose the salaries were kept artificially low to avoid the publicity they're generating now," he said.

Funds from vacant positions and reserves were used to supply the increases, Pettit said, noting that the position of chancellor was open for about six months.

The position of governmental relations officer has not been filled for fiscal 1987, which makes extra funds available for the increases, he said.

But John Pohlmann, president of University Professionals of SIU, a group seeking to represent SIU faculty and professional staff by collective bargaining, said a permanent change is needed to fund the increases.

"The money used is temporary," he said, "in that it was used from salaries of vacant positions. That's the problem with the 2 percent plan," he said. "It reduces

Protest ban defied in France

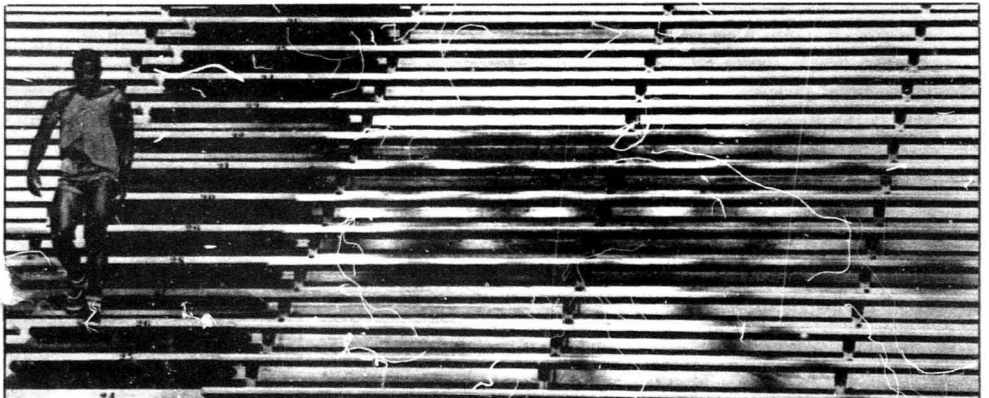

PARIS (UPI) — Hundreds of people chanting "Death penalty for terrorists" defied a police ban on demonstrations Monday and protested government policies dealing with a series of unsuccessful bombings.

Police also said 33 pounds of explosives and about 30 detonators were seized in a forest 120 miles east of Paris and that an Iranian man was arrested on explosives charges.

A crowd estimated at between 1,200 and 2,000 people packed the steps of the Paris Opera house and surrounding streets to hear Jean-Marie Le Pen, leader of the ultra-right wing National Front party, condemn the government's policies on terrorism and call for instituting the death penalty in France.

Police banned the demonstration as part of anti-terrorism measures enacted in a bid to halt a wave of bombings. Five bombings wracked heavily populated city areas between Sept. 8 and 17, killing eight people and wounding more than 150.

Police officers had warned they would not let the demonstration take place but did not confront the protesters. They mostly directed traffic around the crowd.

Auerbach energizes Emeritus College

By Ed Smith
Staff Writer

Arnold J. Auerbach, head of the Emeritus College, intends to "go with his boots on."

"I will never retire in the traditional sense," Auerbach said. "I want to be involved, to keep my creative juices flowing to the very end."

Auerbach officially retired from his position as head of the Social Work Department in 1979. Three years ago, with the encouragement of President Somit, he organized the Emeritus College. Auerbach came to SIU in 1972.

The college reflects Auerbach's philosophy of staying involved because its members hold pre-retirement seminars for local groups, give travelogues at public libraries, award a yearly scholarship, and speak to groups on the problems of aging.

Members also act as mentors to students. They may also become involved in a program to combat teenage pregnancy.

"Retired faculty members have the experience, training and time to serve the community," Auerbach said. "They are one of the best resources a community can have."

The Emeritus College is not Auerbach's only project. He is involved with long-term care for the elderly, interested in the development of China, and committed to human rights, affirmative action and peace.

He published a study of long-term health care in 1982. He will present a paper on this subject to a think tank organized by Senator Paul Simon in Chicago on Nov. 20.

Auerbach has visited China three times. He has also been to Ethiopia, Nicaragua, Cuba, Japan and the Soviet Union.

"The future growth and well-being of the world depends on developments in third-world countries," Auerbach said. "I am particularly interested in the economic and social planning in China."

"The African nations are suffering tremendously," he said. "I don't think the West is doing enough to help them."

Arms control urged at U.N. session

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The 41st session of the U.N. General Assembly opened Monday with calls by President Reagan and other global leaders for nuclear disarmament and a war against terrorism.

Reagan, in an address to the session, said recent progress could end the stalemate in arms control talks with Moscow, despite the pall cast on U.S.-Soviet relations by the arrest of American journalist Nicholas Daniloff.

Scores of security officers, including Secret Service agents, surrounded Reagan from the moment he arrived at U.N. headquarters. Reagan met with King Juan Carlos and Queen Sophia and Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar briefly before he addressed the assembly.

The king and Reagan received polite applause from the nearly 2,000 people in the cavernous assembly hall.

The king, who addressed the 41st session of the General Assembly before Reagan, condemned international terrorism, saying it "preys on innocent lives, stimulates catastrophic visions and deprives citizens of their peace."

Philippine President Corason Aquino received the warmest reception of the day when she told cheering Assembly members that black South Africans will win freedom.

"No government can indefinitely resist its people united against it," Aquino said. "It may have guns, goons and jails, yet as we found in the Philippines, there is no government that can indefinitely resist its people determined to be free."

Aquino compared the plight of jailed black African National Congress leader Nelson Mandela to that of her late husband, Benigno Aquino, the opposition leader who was assassinated.

Israel reinforces troops along Lebanese border

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel has sent more troops to its northern border and reinforced its Lebanese militia allies to help cope with increasing attacks by pro-Iranian gunmen in southern Lebanon, military sources said Monday. The Israeli Defense Forces spokesman in Tel Aviv said there was no new troop movement, but an IDF spokeswoman in northern Israel reported "more than the usual" amount of movement.

Philippine minister endorses U.S. presence

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile Monday endorsed the presence of U.S. military bases in the Philippines and said elections next year will help stabilize the government. Enrile's first substantive comment on the commission's work on drafting a new constitution followed approval of resolutions raising doubt about the fate of U.S. bases beyond 1991 and opposing nuclear weapons on Philippine soil.

Israeli, Soviet ministers discuss relations

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Shimon Peres and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze met Monday in what Peres described as an exploratory session on restoring relations between the two nations. Moscow broke off relations with Israel two decades ago after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. "I am content with the atmosphere and the way things were handled. There will be further contacts," Peres said following an hour-long meeting with Shevardnadze.

U.S. journalists join to protest Daniloff case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials of major U.S. news organizations, in an unprecedented joint effort, told Soviet officials Monday they want to send a delegation to Moscow to seek the release of U.S. journalist Nicholas Daniloff. "In addition, we intend to seek a meeting with (Soviet foreign minister Eduard) Shevardnadze while he is in the United States," said Michael Gartner, editor of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal and Times and president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Marcos' properties returned to Philippines

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Corason Aquino received a $1 million estate and a $300,000 check Monday on behalf of the Philippines, the first property of ousted leader Ferdinand Marcos that has been ordered returned to the nation by a U.S. judge. Lawyers for the Center for Constitutional Rights presented Aquino with a New Jersey judge's order that serves as the deed for Lawrence Township, N.J., estate plus a check for $300,000.

Doctors awarded for AIDS virus discovery

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American and French doctors who identified the virus that causes AIDS and another researcher fighting the deadly disease have been named winners of one of medicine's highest awards, it was announced Monday. The other winners of this year's Albert Lasker Awards are two scientists who discovered a way to control cell growth and an American doctor who virtually eradicated venereal disease in China.

Voyager takes final test flight around world

MOJAVE, Calif. (UPI) — The Voyager, an experimental airplane that looks like a toy magnified thousands of times, flew into clear skies Monday in its final test before a globe-hugging, non-refueled flight around the world. The spindly white airplane took off at 6:54 a.m. from the Mojave Airport about 60 miles northeast of Los Angeles in what was supposed to be a 48-hour test flight.

House passes power conservation legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House passed legislation Monday that could save consumers billions of dollars by requiring more efficient appliances and reduce the nation's power demand by the equivalent of 22 power plants. The bill, approved on a voice vote and sent to the Senate, is a compromise between environmental organizations and appliance manufacturers who wanted to avoid building different models to meet varying state energy efficiency standards.

Hispanic enrollment increasing, Baily says

By Catherine Edman
Staff Writer

Hispanic-American undergraduates at SIU are growing in numbers, says William Baily, the president's assistant for affirmative action.

Fall figures through Sept. 8 show enrollment to be 433 Hispanic students. There were 339 students enrolled in the spring and 240 last fall.

The increase is consistent with trends at other universities across the nation, Baily said.

Baily, a Hispanic-American, is aiding SIU efforts to recruit this group of minority students, he said. He has been establishing networks throughout the Midwest since he came to SIU last fall and has also helped to organize the campus-based Hispanic-American Student Unity League, to which he is advisor, he said.

The state of Illinois identifies Hispanics as persons of Spanish or Portuguese cultures with origins in Mexico, Central and South America and the Caribbean, Baily said. He said Illinois is third in Hispanic population behind New York and California. Its population is greater than either New Mexico or Arizona, he said.

Although recruitment of minority students is also a responsibility of the New Student Recruitment Office, Baily said that in the past it was a matter of Hispanic students recruiting Hispanic students.

There was no Hispanic professional that could be utilized as a resource, Baily said. Since he has been assisting the recruiting effort he has been to several national conventions as well as to predominantly Hispanic high schools to recruit students himself, he said.

Baily assists in improving all minority recruitment, but said his knowledge of the Hispanic population is why President Somit asked him to pay particular interest to that group.

A native of El Paso, Texas, Baily has said that Hispanic students were advised in the past not to continue to higher education because it would be of no use to them.

Baily was a high school dropout and received his equivalency diploma in the armed forces. His bachelor's, master's, and doctorate degrees were earned while he worked full-time to support himself and pay for his education.

Black S. African miners boycott memorial service

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Some 3,500 black gold miners Monday boycotted a memorial service arranged by mine owners for 177 victims of an underground fire.

After the service at Kinross mine near Evander, 65 miles east of Johannesburg, the black miners agreed to hold a separate memorial service under union supervision Wednesday, according to local black reporters.

Of the 177 miners asphyxiated by toxic fumes a mile underground Sept. 15, 172 were black. It was the worst accident in 100 years of gold mining in South Africa.

The 230,000-member black

National Union of Mineworkers criticized safety standards after the disaster, arguing that a welding team who sparked the fire had no extinguishers at hand.

About 2,000 black miners left the outdoor service Monday and jogged, chanting, to an impromptu union meeting nearby, reporters said. They were joined by about 1,500 others.

Union officials urged the miners, many carrying sticks, not to damage mine property. Officials said they will hold a memorial service Wednesday at the nearby town of Secunda under union supervision.

It was not immediately clear why the black miners boycotted the service.

Madlener's all talk but too little action

POOR DAVID MADLENER. He's upset because he hasn't gotten the favorable media attention he wants as Undergraduate Student Organization voter registration coordinator.

He has yet to learn that praise is earned, not handed out.

Madlener's latest political enterprise for self-gratification is the USO's voter registration drive, a Student Center-based solicitation effort he says ought to net 10,000 new voters by Sept. 30.

He wants to sell the drive through registration rallies in the Free Forum area, complete with performances by local bands.

HE SAYS STUDENTS SHOULD take the initiative to elect the local officials who will have a direct impact on their lives for at least four years, instead of voting an absentee ballot back home.

He's got the right idea. Students should register locally to help correct the representation imbalance prejudiced against the University's student community.

But that's where his sensibilities on the matter end. Madlener won't elaborate on the sources of funds for his rallies, and he says he won't until he sees "favorable press" on the registration drive.

IN A LETTER TO THE STUDENT SENATE, dated Sept. 17, Madlener attributed the drive's financial plight to "poor planning on my part" and "my lack of communication with USO executives."

"I'm not going to speak further on this matter until I know I'm going to get some positive press on this," he said in a recent telephone interview.

This is vintage Madlener. He'll put his name on a project as soon as he's sure it warrants press coverage. But once the project has been milked for all its news value, he'll let it slide into obscurity.

HE TOOK A VIABLE community bus system idea to the City Council, then retreated when complications set in. He did the same with a plan to change the current at-large City Council into an ward-aldermanic council, which could have improved student representation in Carbondale government.

In short, Madlener talks a lot but doesn't say much.

There's a small, wooden sign sitting on President Reagan's desk that says "There's no limit to how far a man can go, or what he can do, as long as he doesn't mind who gets the credit."

It obviously isn't sitting on David Madlener's desk.

Opinions

from elsewhere

Book gripes abound

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

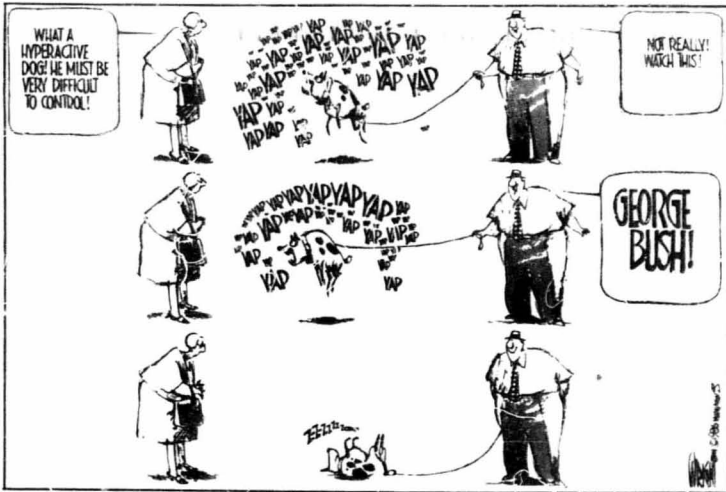

Add "The Merriam-Webster College Dictionary," Mark Twain's "Eucleberry Finn" and Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" to your unrequired reading list. These are among books that self-appointed censors found objectionable for some public schools during the past year.

But the objections here are part of a more disturbing trend of self-appointed groups that want to censor books, ideas, information and teaching methods. The objectionable books were taken from a survey by People for the American Way, a watchdog group that believes the new wave of censorship is undermining the drive for educational excellence.

American Way also points out that censorship attacks during the past year were not nearly as spontaneous as they seemed. The group's survey showed that 43 percent of the efforts against school curricula and 60 percent of the challenges to ideas, information and teaching methods were initiated by only four groups, all of which were on the far right: Concerned Women for America, the National Association of Christian Educators, Phyllis Schlafly's Eagle Forum and the Rev. Pat Robertson's Freedom Council.

Not long ago the Carnegie Commission issued a report that criticized rediocrity in our public schools, where rote learning leaves no room for independent thinking. Wouldn't society be better if our children were taught how to think and decide for themselves whether Arthur Miller and Mark Twain were obscenely second rate or men of letters who had profound things to say about the human condition?

Letters

Jesus, Bible aren't myths

In Robert Phillip's Sept. 11 letter advocating pornography, he makes a number of unfounded accusations, one of them being that Christianity is a "myth."

The person who rejects the historical reliability of the Bible and Jesus must throw away his intellect as well as an enormous amount of historical evidence.

For example, the New Testament is more reliable historically than any 10 pieces of classical literature. The time span between these original manuscripts and their earliest copies is around 1,000 years and most have less than 10 copies.

For the New Testament we have a time period of less than 100 years and over 10,000 early copies! In fact, the New Testament is more authentic than Shakespeare's works, and everyone quotes Shakespeare! If one discards the Bible as not being "reliable" then he must also discard virtually all literature of antiquity.

Jesus was a man of history, not only verified by the Bible, but by extra-biblical writers such as Flavius Josephus, a Jewish historian; Ignatius, Eusebius, Irenaeus, Papius, etc. Even David Strauss with his slashing, vicious, intellectual attacks on Christianity said on his deathbed, "This Christ is historical, not mythical; is an individual, not mere symbol." F.F. Bruce, the Rylands professor of biblical criticism, and exegesis at the University of Manchester has correctly said: "Some writers may toy with the fancy of a 'Christ-myth,' but they do not do so on the ground of historical evidence. The historicity of Christ is as axiomatic for an unbiased historian as the historicity of Julius Caesar. It is not historians who propagate the 'Christ-myth' theories."

Not only was Jesus historical, he was God. And as God he requires a response from us. We can hate him, despise him, ignore him, try to ridicule him, or fall down at his feet and worship him. Our response will determine our eternal destiny. — Wayne Helmer, associate professor, Mechanical Engineering and Energy Processes.

Violence not Rugby Club's fault

I'm extremely disappointed with the attitude city officials such as City Manager Bill Dixon have taken toward the University's Men's Rugby Club. Mr. Dixon has chosen to blame the majority of the raucous, violent activity that occurred during Carbondale's 13th Halloween festivities on the University's rugby team.

Mr. Dixon's solution was to try and prevent the SIU Rugby Club from holding its annual All Ghoul's Tournament. This wasn't a viable solution. Cancelling the tournament this Halloween would have meant taking away the club's principal source of income. Not only this, the tournament means a lot to rugby players throughout the midwest, although it probably doesn't mean much to Mr. Dixon.

As for the rugby players, there is a sense of pride among the team members when hundreds of people show up from several states for the tournament and enjoy it. The All Ghoul's Tournament is in its eighth year. Now, because of an unusually violent Halloween, the tradition could end after this year's tournament.

Mr. Dixon says rugby players are to blame for the violence behind the can tossing, based on information "sources" have given him.

Bill, were you there? What proof have you got?

I was there. I was hit by a can but there is no way I could point the finger only at rugby players. I can't say there weren't any rugby players involved in the beer can throwing, but I can say that the SIU club was not involved and did not encourage it.

The SIU Men's Rugby Club

has been trying to improve its image over the past few years and I feel they have succeeded. Mr. Dixon, you're wrong in believing that cancelling the All Ghoul's Tournament would thwart violence. It's a shame but there will always be violence on South Illinois Avenue and vicinity during the Halloween celebration.

The fact of the matter is, Mr. Dixon, you're afraid to reach a compromise with the club for fear of being proved wrong. Give us a chance.

In the meantime, Mr. Dixon and city officials, put your heads together and come up with a decent solution to making this Halloween safer and more fun instead of using the All Ghoul's Tournament as a scapegoat. — John Brodland, senior, Radio-Television and Vice President of the SIU Men's Rugby Club.

Letters submitted by mail should include the author's address and telephone number. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be made will not be published.

Americans corrupt words, says author, social critic

By John Baldwin
Staff Writer

Americans are corrupting the English language with words that have no impact because of poor education about language, said Ivan Illich, an Austrian-born author and social critic. Illich spoke to an audience of about 135 Sunday at the Newman Center.

"From all the evidence I have from the United States, education is used for the destruction of the literate mind," he said.

"School teaches you that learning is better when it is acquired when you can pick it up on your own."

"It teaches you that learning happens in pieces, a piece of this and a piece of that."

"It teaches you that people can be graded by their learning," he said.

"School teaches everybody to what precise class of drop-outs he belongs," he said.

He said he doesn't think schools should be such a strong determinant of success in this country.

"I am for the disestablishment of schools," he said.

He said people should not be discriminated against "because of their sex, their color, their father's profession or their educational certificate."

The burden should be on the employer to determine whether a person is qualified, he said.

Illich argued strongly against "amoeba words," which he says have no impact.

He likened words to stones being thrown into water saying they have impact, then they have an outward rippling effect, or connotations.

Amoeba words, he said, have only connotations and no impact.

According to Illich, communication is an amoeba word. He said almost anything, including leaves rustling in trees, can be described as communication. Because communication is "the exchange or transmission of information."

He insisted he wasn't communicating with his audience, but rather was conversing with them.

Another amoeba word, he said, is sexuality.

"Do we want to enjoy sexuality?" he asked.

"No! There are much better four-letter words in English."

He said of amoeba words: "You can put them any way you want, and they will always make sense."

The amoeba word Illich dislikes most, he said, is life. A group calling themselves pro-life is like a group calling themselves pro-sex. There isn't anybody against life. Everybody is pro-life, he said.

Illich was vice rector of the Catholic University in Puerto Rico. He was also a priest in New York, where he says he became interested in studying education.

Robertson will leave '700 Club'

DETROIT (UPI) — Potential GOP presidential candidate Pat Robertson Monday announced he was withdrawing as host of the "700 Club" on his Christian Broadcasting Network.

In his first appearance before a general audience since pledging to seek the Republican nomination if enough supporters back him, Robertson also urged President Reagan to veto congressional sanctions against South Africa, warning that sanctions could lead to dependence on the Soviet Union for vital materials.

Robertson said he was leaving the "700 Club" show because he will be traveling frequently next year. He said it was not because he was in violation of Federal Communications Commission rules that would require him to give equal time to other candidates.

He said the rules apply only when a campaign is in full swing but he does not want anything connected with his potential campaign to hurt the program.

"I've made a major step in that regard today," he said.

The CBN president said he will be succeeded as host of the religious talk show by a black and denounced South Africa's racial policy of apartheid.

Robertson said the African National Congress is in "control of dedicated Marxists" who could deliver the troubled nation to the Soviets.

"We have filmed footage of Winnie Mandela holding up matches and saying 'if anybody gets out of line we have necklaces,'" Robertson said. "We have shown films of necklacing, which has to do with putting a tire filled with petroleum around shoulders of innocent blacks and setting it on fire as a means of terrorism."

Winnie Mandela is the wife of Nelson Mandela, the imprisoned founder and leader of the ANC.

Should the South African government fail, Robertson said, the United States would be beholden to communists for materials to make "every automobile, every airplane."

"But I don't think South Africa is an extension of the United States civil rights struggle," he said in response to a question.

The religious broadcaster, whose first political success came in Michigan's GOP precinct delegate primaries this summer, talked primarily about economics in his address to the Economic Club of Detroit.

Warning that declining populations of Western democracies portends a time when active workers no longer can support retirees, he proposed tax deductions of up to $5,000 for each child. He also called for similar tax breaks for mothers who stay home and raise families to those mothers who work.

He said his nationwide closed circuit television appeal for campaign funds last Wednesday had raised about $5 million for his potential campaign.

STC associate dean named

Harry R. Soderstrom, director of the School of Technical Careers Division of Applied Technologies has been appointed associate dean of STC.

Soderstrom is replacing Dorothy R. Bleyer, who retired as dean Aug. 1. He was appointed by president Albert Somit on the recommendation of John C. Guyon, vice president for academic affairs and research. The Board of Trustees has ratified the appointment.

Soderstrom, who is a full professor, was chief academic advisor for the former Vocational and Technical Institute in the 1960s and acting director and assistant dean in the 1970s.

Soderstrom taught in the VTL machine shop in the 1950s and was later employed as a manufacturing engineer by General Electric in Evendale, Ohio. He joined the VTL faculty as an assistant professor after his return to SIU in 1962.

A Cobden resident, Soderstrom holds bachelor's and master's degrees in industrial education from Bradley University.

Geography chairman appointed

David M. Sharpe, SIU professor of geography, has been named chairman of the geography department.

President Albert Somit made the appointment, effective Sept. 1, upon the recommendation of John C. Guyon, vice president for academic affairs and research.

The appointment will be submitted to the SIU Board of Trustees for ratification.

Sharpe, who also chaired the department from 1976 to 1982, replaces David G. Arey. Arey has moved to the Coal Research Center as acting assistant director for program development and governmental relations.

John S. Jackson, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, welcomed Sharpe's selection.

"I am extremely pleased that Dr. Sharpe took this position. He is an able administrator and outstanding faculty member," Jackson said.

"I am looking forward to working with him and his department," he said.

Sharpe, 48, came to SIU in 1966 as an instructor before he received his doctoral degree in geography here in 1968. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees in forestry from the State University of New York, Syracuse, College of Forestry.

"Our department emphasizes environmental planning. My main task is to reinforce this emphasis and make it clear to the University and the outside public what we are doing, as well as to expand the program accordingly and to increase its effectiveness," Sharpe said.

A native of Orange, N.J., Sharpe has been doing research on landscape ecology in Wisconsin funded by the National Science Foundation.

He has also received a three-year grant from the U.S. Department of Education for development of computer programs for instruction in environmental sciences.

He is co-editor of the book "Forest Islands Dynamics in Man-Dominated Landscape," published in 1981. His research specialties are climatology, landscape ecology and general physical geography.

QUESTION #2

HOW CAN THE BUDGET-CONSCIOUS COLLEGE STUDENT SAVE MONEY?

- a) Save over 50% off AT&T's weekday rates on out-of-state calls during nights and weekends.
- b) Don't buy textbooks when "Monarch Notes" will do just fine.
- c) Save 40% off AT&T's weekday rate on out-of-state calls during evenings.
- d) Count on AT&T for exceptional value and high quality service.
- e) Hang around with the richest kids in school; let them pick up the tab whenever possible.

If you're like most college students in the western hemisphere, you try to make your money go a long way. That's why you should know that AT&T Long Distance Service is the right choice for you.

* AT&T offers so many terrific values. For example, you can save over 50% off AT&T's day rate on calls during weekends until 5 pm Sunday, and from 11 pm Sunday through Friday.

Call between 5 pm and 11 pm, Sunday through Friday, and you'll save 40% off our day rate.

Ever dial a wrong number? AT&T gives you immediate credit if you do. And of course, you can count on AT&T for clear long distance connections any place you call. To find out more about how AT&T can help save you money, give us a call. With a little luck, you won't have to hang around with the rich kids. Call toll-free today, at 1 800 222-0300.

Memorial held for retired prof

Memorial services were held Monday for S. Morris Eames, professor of philosophy, at the Church of Good Shepherd, Carbondale.

Mr. Eames died Thursday, Sept. 18, at Carbondale Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Eames, 70, of 512 Orchard Drive, Carbondale, retired in 1985 after 22 years at SIU. A specialist in American philosophical thought, Mr. Eames had a lifelong interest in John Dewey. His teaching and writings concentrated to a special extent on pragmatism, value theory, ethics and social philosophy.

Mr. Eames co-edited five volumes in "The Early Works of John Dewey, 1821-1898," and served on the advisory board for fifteen additional volumes of "The Middle Works of John Dewey, 1899-1924." Published by the SIU Press, both are definitive series on the American philosopher.

Mr. Eames taught at Culver-Stockton College, the University of Missouri at

S. Morris Eames

Columbia and Washington University in St. Louis before coming to SIU. He was also a former president of the Missouri Philosophical Association.

Mr. Eames received a bachelor's degree in religion from Culver-Stockton in 1939, master's degrees in philosophy and sociology from the University of Missouri in 1941 and 1952, and a doctorate in philosophy from the University of Chicago in 1958.

He was awarded honorary degrees from Bethany College in 1968 and from Culver-Stockton College in 1976.

Mr. Eames was born June 5, 1916, to Jesse Samuel and Velma Gazette Morris Eames, in Corso, Mo. He married Elizabeth Ramsder on Aug. 21, 1952, in Chicago.

Mr. Eames was preceded in death by his parents.

Survivors include his wife;

one son, Ivan Lee Eames of Columbia, Mo.; one daughter, Anne Eames Adamczyk of Chicago; and a grandson, Christopher Lewis Adamczyk of Chicago.

Memorial contributions may be made to the S. Morris Eames Graduate Award Fund through the SIU Foundation.

Retired education chairman dies

J. Murray Lee, former chairman of SIU's Department of Elementary Education, died at age 82 Friday at Carbondale Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Lee retired from SIU in 1973. He was chairman of the Department of Elementary Education from 1953 to 1968 and professor of elementary education from 1968 until he retired.

After serving in the Burbank, Calif., public school system, Mr. Lee served as a faculty member at Washington State University where he was dean of the summer session from 1941 to 1954, at the University of Miami, where he was chairman of the elementary education department from 1956 to 1966 and at the University of Wisconsin. He joined the SIU system in 1968.

Mr. Lee co-authored several books, including "The Child and His Curriculum," "The Child and His Development," the "Lee-Clark Reading Test," and "Elementary Education Today and Tomorrow."

Mr. Lee was listed in "Who's Who in America" from 1940 to 1986 and "Who's Who in the World" since 1978. He was a 1981 recipient of the Education Council of 100 Inc. Award of Merit for his contributions to education.

Mr. Lee received a bachelor of arts degree at Occidental College and a master's and doctorate at Teacher's College of Columbia University. He was a member of several professional organizations, including the Illinois Education Association, Phi Delta Kappa, the American Association of University Professors and the National Education Association.

Mr. Lee is survived by his wife Myrtle; a son, Lawrence K. Lee of Torrance, Calif.; a daughter, Lorra Bryson of Shady Cove, Ore.; and three grandchildren.

Memorial contributions can be made to the United Methodist Children's Home in Mount Vernon in care of the First United Methodist Church in Carbondale.

Funeral services for Mr. Lee will be held at 2 p.m. today at the First United Methodist Church in Carbondale. Burial will be at Oakland Cemetery in Carbondale. Huffman Funeral Home, Carbondale, is in charge of arrangements.

faculty positions and frees up money for increases for one year. Then that money is gone when that position is filled."

For fiscal 1987, faculty members received a base 6 percent increase and an extra 1.5 percent through the 2 percent reallocation plan, which is aimed at bolstering faculty salaries by redistributing 2 percent of the money each college or department budgets for faculty paychecks.

"The System Office has the power to handle equity problems with the stroke of a pen," Pohlmann continued. "It'll take the rest of the University years to get to equitable salaries. A 10 percent plan wouldn't be enough to do that."

Pettit has said the attempt to raise salaries is to bring SIU system office salaries to a level lower than the University of Illinois and higher than Board of Regents and Board of Governors universities.

"Within Illinois, SIU is in the same category as the University of Illinois," Pettit said. SIU-C and the U of I are members of National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, an organization of the top comparable research universities in each state.

SIU-E, the Board of Regents and Board of Governors, however, are members of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, an organization of more than 365 regional institutions that largely do not have doctoral

Average monthly salaries of SIU faculty members (based on nine-month year)

	Fiscal '86	Fiscal '87
Professor	$4,347	$4,726
Associate professor	3,376	3,645
Assistant professor	2,849	3,066
Instructor	2,510	2,697
Lecturer	2,173	2,303

Fiscal 1987 salaries include a 7.5 percent increase; 6 percent across the board and 1.5 percent through the University 2 percent reallocation plan.

programs.

Pettit said, however, that although it is difficult to compare universities, he considers SIU's "nearest peer institutions" the universities of Colorado, Missouri and Tennessee; university systems of Houston, Arkansas, Nebraska Central Administration; and the Texas A&M University System.

All of those universities appeared in the Arkansas study.

Pettit said in a telephone interview Monday that he considers the salary increases for members of his staff perfectly justified. "The salaries are for the positions, not for the incumbents," he said.

But Charles Zucker, an Illinois Educational Association representative, said recently that the increases for staff in the chancellor's office "are outrageous." IEA-NEA also is involved in the collective bargaining movement at SIU.

"It's outrageous that in a year when the budgets of Universities are cut to the bone to provide faculty members with half-way decent pay raises, that pay raises for several people in the chancellor's office should exceed faculty by more than 6 percent," Zucker said.

"It indicates once again the growing gap between high-level administrators and the faculty. If administrators were more in touch with the faculty," Zucker continued, "I think that pay raises like this would be unimaginable."

Faculty salaries at SIU-C have especially been below the national average. Figures for fiscal years 1985 and 1986 were not available, but SIU-C faculty salaries for fiscal 1984 were in the lower quarter of public community colleges.

According to an Illinois Board of Higher Education report, SIU-C faculty salaries were ranked at an average of $27,100 as compared to $36,700 for the U of I and $27,900 at statewide doctoral-granting institutions.

"Our group supports equitable salaries for all, including administrators," Pohlmann said. "And not all administrators have exorbitant salaries by any means. But you can't compare titles and positions unless the institutions have sizable programs and comparable student populations."

In the early 1970s, Auerbach was director of the ENKI institute in California, where he specialized in writing affirmative action plans.

Auerbach was born in New York, the son of Russian Jewish immigrants. He grew up on New York's Lower East Side, attended public schools and graduated from New York University with a major in marketing and a minor in journalism.

He wanted to be an advertising copywriter, but became a reporter for the New York Post and later an editor for The Negro Liberator in Harlem.

He was drafted in 1944 and served at a neuro-psychiatric hospital as a hypnotherapist. He was discharged in 1945 as a sergeant. After the war he worked for a Jewish welfare organization in the resett-

He left his job as executive director of Jewish Community Centers in Pittsburgh in 1968 to teach at UCLA.

"The Pittsburgh job became too political," Auerbach said. "I thought teaching would be a change. As it turned out, it was 'out of the frying pan'..."

Auerbach said he was denied tenure at UCLA because of his involvement in the anti-war movement.

Marion man gets DUI charge

Howard Dixon, of Marion, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol Sunday after he was involved in an accident on Route 51.

The Jackson County Sheriff's Office reported that at about 4:04 a.m. a motorcycle driven by Tony Ellis, 22, of Murphysboro, was traveling south on Route 51 when a truck driven by Dixon, 29, pulled out onto the road and struck the front left fender of Ellis' motorcycle. Dixon was cited for driving under the influence.

Ellis and Dixon were treated at Memorial Hospital of Carbondale.

Pettit to talk in economic development

By JoDe Rimar
Staff Writer

Chancellor Lawrence Pettit will speak at 9:15 a.m. today at the second annual Economic Development Fair in West Frankfort.

The fair, which is sponsored by the House Economic Development Committee, will include representatives from state agencies who will present information on various state economic development programs such as grant money.

The goal of the fair is to make educators and people responsible for economic development more aware of programs available, said Rep. Jim Rea, chairman of the Economic Development Committee.

Pettit, who was invited by the committee to represent SIU at the fair, will speak on SIU's role in local economic development and stress the importance of cooperation from both a local and global aspect, said Cuddy Walsh, assistant to the vice-chancellor.

Some of the agencies participating in the fair are the Department of Conservation, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs and the Department of Transportation.

Other speakers at the fair will include members from the House Economic Development Committee: Reps Jim Rea, D-Christopher; Bruce Richmond, D-Murphysboro; Larry Hicks, D-Mount Vernon; and David Phelps, D-Eldorado.

Registration for the fair starts at 8:30 a.m. The fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Coal Inn Smorgasboard, 216 W. Main. The fair is free and open to the public.

Welch breaks wrist; out six weeks

Brian Welch

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Brian Welch, expected to be the chief ballhandler on the Saluki basketball team, suffered a broken wrist Friday night. He is expected to miss at least six to eight weeks, said coach Rich Herrin.

Welch was a passenger on a motorcycle and suffered the break when the driver swerved to miss a pothole, Herrin said.

"Brian is in good physical shape and I'm sure he'll bounce back before the season is over," Herrin said. "It's just one of those unfortunate things that happens that you have to live with."

Practice officially opens on Oct. 15. Herrin said that although Welch will undoubtedly miss some of the preseason, he might even be ready for the Salukis' season-opener on Nov. 28 against Wisconsin-Stevens Point.

Welch, the starting point guard last season, averaged 5.1 points and 27.3 minutes per game for the 8-20 Saluki squad.

Welch has already used his redshirt eligibility and does not have that option to consider, even though the extent of the injury is not serious enough to keep the senior guard out for the season.

Spikers at home against the Aces

By Wally Foreman
Staff Writer

The Salukis spikers face Evansville today at Davies Gym in the first home volleyball game. Match time is 7 p.m.

The spikers go into the match with a 7-5 record against the 1-6 Aces.

Coach Debbie Hunter said the Salukis are excited about playing their first home match of the year.

"We're hoping for a big crowd and that the fans will support us," Hunter said.

Chris Seib, a sophomore for the Aces, leads Evansville with 65 kills. Seib is the third from her family to play volleyball for Evansville.

Another key player for the Aces is freshman Lauri Schulz. The stats on Schulz are 42 kills as well as the team-leading attack percentage.

Men netters unofficial third at Murray State exhibition

By Wally Foreman
Staff Writer

The Saluki men's tennis team finished an unofficial third at the Murray State Invitational this past weekend.

Eight teams participated in the tourney (Indiana, Louisville, Murray State, Southwest Missouri, Middle Tennessee State, Eastern Kentucky, Western Kentucky and SIU-C).

The Salukis' unofficial standing is due to a NCAA regulation that each college tennis team is allowed only 35 official playing dates. So during the fall semester the Salukis play only exhibition matches.

This exhibition format allows coach Dick LeFevre to watch his players in tournament competition and to work on doubles teams and singles rankings.

LeFevre said that the system is good for tennis development because it allows more playing time for the players.

However, when the Coaches Association calculates its national rankings they include the individual's exhibition record.

Four Salukis finished with 2-1 records in singles play for the tourney. No. 1, Jairo Aldana, No. 2, Fabiano Ramos, No. 3, Micky Maule and No. 4 Juan Martinez.

In the first round of the No. 1 singles bracket, Aldana lost to Doug Ely of Southwest Missouri 6-3 and 6-2. Aldana then entered the consolation bracket and won two matches.

Ramos played in the No. 2 singles bracket and started off with a victory over Scott Patrick of Eastern Kentucky 6-3 and 6-3. Ramos then beat Jens Bergham of Murray State 6-7, 6-4 and 6-2, but lost his third match.

In No. 3 singles, the freshman Maule won his first match 7-5 and 6-1 against Todd Arterburn of Louisville. Maule then lost to John Schneider of Murray State 1-6 and 2-6, but bounced back in the third round to defeat Ujgay Venkatasch of Southwest Missouri 6-3 and 6-4.

Martinez finished third in the No. 4 singles bracket with wins against Brian Marcum of Eastern Kentucky and Illmar Mutli of Middle Tennessee State. "Juan is our most improved player from last year," LeFevre said.

In No. 5 singles, Lars Nilsson compiled a 1-2 record and No. 6, Rolie Oliguino finished 0-3.

Nilsson was only able to win his first round match 6-2 and 7-6 over Craig Haslan of Middle Tennessee State.

In doubles competition, LeFevre said that his freshman combination at the No. 1 position, Maule and Ramos was coming around. Maule and Ramos finished the tourney 2-1.

Martinez and Oliguino, No. 2 doubles were 2-1 and No. 3, Nilsson and Aldana finished 0-2.

Philosophy of athletics on IAAC agenda

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Athletics Director Jim Livengood will discuss the state of intercollegiate athletics departments and progress made by SIU's athletics department since his hiring in October 1985.

The address will be made to the Intercollegiate Athletics Advisory Committee Tuesday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the balcony conference room located in Anthony Hall.

In this first of four fall meetings scheduled by the IAAC, new chairperson Roger Robinson, coordinator of student affairs for the School of Medicine, will preside.

The IAAC is an advisory body required by NCAA guidelines. It offers advice to President Somit and Livengood and is intended as a forum for discussion and evaluation of policies concerning the operation of the administration of and the implementation of policies involving the athletics departments.

Also on the agenda for the meeting are standing reports from Gateway Conference representative Margaret Matthias, of the Curriculum, Instruction and Media Department, and Missouri Valley Conference representative Jack Cody, chairperson of the Educational Psychology Department.

Robinson said that some discussion of a statement of philosophy for intercollegiate athletics at SIU-C might also be addressed. Robinson said that a statement has been in the works for several months and a final draft has been sent to President Albert Somit's office for final approval.

Montreal downs Cubs 5-2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Floyd Youmans, pitched a four-hitter over 8 1/3 innings and Andre Dawson hit a tie-breaking homer in the fourth inning Monday, leading the Montreal Expos to a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Youmans, 13-10, gave up two doubles and a single Ryne Sandberg and a single by Keith Moreland. He walked two and struck out eight before being relieved by in the ninth by Jeff Reardon, who finished for his 35th save.

Dawson's solo homer to center off starter Dennis Eckersley, 6-11, snapped a 11 tie in the fourth.

Payton and Hryn top GCAC players

By Steve Merritt
Staff Writer

Eastern Illinois quarterback Sean Payton has been named the Gateway Conference's offensive player of the week. Payton guided the Panthers to a 32-7 rout over the Salukis Saturday.

Payton threw for 400 yards (26 of 40, three touchdowns), shattering his own conference mark for total yards passing. Payton also tied another conference mark he had twice accomplished — throwing three touchdown passes in one game.

The only thing that Saluki fans may be pondering over is why Calvin Pierce, EIU's slotback, wasn't awarded the weekly offensive honors. Pierce nabbed 10 passes in the game for 199 yards, establishing a new EIU record for reception yardage and setting new conference marks for total catches and yardage.

The Gateway's defensive player of the week is Mike Hryn of Western Illinois, who racked up 10 total tackles in the Leathernecks' 27-10 win at Southwest Missouri State.

Hryn led a defensive squad that limited the Bears to just 78 total yards of offense in the final three quarters of the game.

With this week's Gateway action, Northern Iowa dropped to No. 11 in the first regular-season I-AA poll while Eastern Illinois moved up to No. 15. Northern Iowa was ranked No. 3 in the NCAA preseason poll while EIU was ranked No. 18. Arkansas State, who the Salukis lost to 24-7 to open the season, is ranked No. 2.

With the poor showing by the Saluki defense on Saturday, SIU dropped from fourth to seventh in the conference's total defense category (333.0 yards per game) and dropped to last in pass defense (228.6 yards per game).

The Salukis also dropped from second in scoring defense to sixth, allowing an average of 22.8 points per game.

The shutout didn't help the Salukis in any offensive categories either, as they dropped from third to fourth in total offense.

Crunch time

Saluki running back Mel Kirskey (2) is hit by Eastern Illinois' Greg Rhea Saturday night at Charleston. Kirskey went down on the play just as the Salukis went down to EIU.

Sailing regattas axed in future because of a lack of interest

By M.J. Starshak
Staff Writer

Towers.

Steve Pelrowski walloped five home runs Saturday in the intramural sports department's home run derby and was named champion, while Steve Pugh grabbed second place with three round-trippers.

The champion in the women's division was Lori Swanson, who hit one home run. Joanna Lawless placed second in the competition, which was held on the women's softball field in front of Brush

THE SAILING regatta, which was scheduled to be held last Wednesday on Campus Lake, was rained out. Due to the lack of interest, it will not be rescheduled. Further regattas will not be offered through the intramurals department, said intramural coordinator Buddy Goldammer.

The tennis and badminton singles tournaments are still underway, so no results are available. Tennis singles competition will end during the first week of October, said Goldammer. The badminton season ends next week.

The doubles competition for tennis began Monday. Goldammer said that twice as many people have signed up for tennis doubles competition this season than did last season. Badminton doubles will start next Monday. The entries for badminton doubles will close Wednesday.

A TOTAL OF 120 softball teams are participating in intramural 12-inch softball this season, said Goldammer. Team play is held on the Arena playfields. The regular season for softball will end Oct. 1 and playoffs start Oct. 4, said Goldammer.

Outdoor soccer, which was offered as a result of an expressed interest, will finish its regular season competition Oct. 12. Soccer teams compete on the playfields in front of Brush Towers.

A PUNT, PASS, and kick competition will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday in McAndrew Stadium. Men and women are invited to compete, said Goldammer. Brand new leather footballs will be awarded to first place competitors.

Restaurant wars now plague Bears

CHICAGO (UPI) — If the in-team bickering on the field isn't enough for the Chicago Bears, it may not be long before it turns into "restaurant wars."

The defending Super Bowl champions, flushed with the success and monetary reward is they earned from running roughshod over the NFL last year, have cashed in their chips in various ways.

The most popular — and most visible — appears to be the restaurant-saloon-bar-nightclub business.

Coach Mike Ditka has opened up "City Lights" and "Ditka's" restaurants and nightclubs in the heart of the city, right alongside the infamous "Hard Rock Cafe."

Not he outdone, Jim McMahon, the "outrageous" Bears' quarterback, took some of his endorsement money and invested in a restaurant on the North Side.

Those two new entries will have to compete with two established establishments. Gary Fencik, the 10-year veteran defenseman, had already opened the "Hunt Club" while Walter Payton got into the entertainment business two years ago with a suburban facility, "Studebaker's."

The club has already had its share of fights. Ditka and McMahon got into it at the start of pre-season drills; Payton is still smarting from a Super Bowl snub that saw him fail to score a touchdown; Fencik is looking over his shoulder about a possible youth movement on the part of the defense.

Now, they can argue about the price of a slab of ribs or a deluxe cheeseburger. Imagine the signs outside the Lake Forest training camp: "Eat at Ditka's, happy hour, two for one drinks." Go down a couple of yards and witness this: "Drive to McMahon's: Happy hour, two for one drinks, plus free nachos."

Payton's place — pun intended — could come back with this offer: "Happy hour, two for one drinks, free nachos, plus hot hors d'oeuvres."

Fencik's Hunt Club can try to do them all one better by giving away free drinks, free appetizers and cheap eats for dinner.

The competition could get pretty fierce: "Eat at Ditka's: try the nickel defense, all you can eat for 5 cents."

"Drop back at McMahon's: Go deep for a bowl of chili; don't get sacked; all persons wearing dark sunglasses get all they can eat."

"Payton's '34' special: All you can eat for 34 cents. Rush, rush, over. Don't fumble at those other joints."

"Fencik's '46' special. Free football cards featuring pictures of Ditka, McMahon and Payton given away along with all you can eat."

Now it just seems, with all that competition, that those establishments will have to rely heavily on the famous names involved to offset going bankrupt in the football celebrity eating market.

Of course the answer to all of this lies in the deep seeded football tradition of recruiting. You can bet that Ditka, McMahon, Payton and Fencik will be vying to land the No. 1 key to the success of their restaurants: convincing William "Refrigerator" Perry to eat at their places regularly.

It could spell the difference between victory and defeat off the gridiron and in the microwave.

Perry's patronage could determine the winner in the windy City eatery Super Bowl.

Retraction

The Daily Egyptian wishes to extend its sincerest apologies to Saluki head football coach Ray Dorr for any embarrassment caused by a fabricated quote that appeared in the Sept. 22 edition.

The error appeared in the story "Panthers eat Salukis alive in 52-7 rout."

The quote was erroneously inserted by a copy desk editor into a story written by Steve Merritt. Merritt is in no way responsible for the phony quote.

The copy editor has been relieved of editing duties.
