Reagan urges allies to fight against terrorism

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan said Monday he will press reluctant U.S. allies at the Tokyo summit to plan stronger action against terrorism.

Reagan also criticized France for not allowing U.S. warplanes to fly over French airspace as they sped to their attack on Libya last week.

In a 30-minute interview with United Press International and three other news agencies that was dominated by the subject of terrorism and the attack on Libya, Reagan said he hoped the economic summit of industrialized nations in Tokyo May 4-6 would "have a businesslike getting down to this problem" and that France's denial of its airspace to American planes is "a subject that must be discussed."

He revealed that some European nations already are talking about "a wider-based and more all-out effort" against Libya.

It was learned that Reagan was referring specifically to France. France said it could not support the U.S. attack because it was not a strong enough response to Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy and suggested that an even more devastating attack be launched.

The Washington Times reported Monday that French President Francois Mitterrand told U.S. officials he would support a U.S. strike only if it were strong enough to ensure that Khadafy would be ousted as a result. Officials confirmed the report.

It was Reagan's first extensive defense of the raid on Libyan targets a week ago, in which civilians, including Moammar Khadafy's 15-month-old adopted daughter, were killed.

"We've tried not only diplomacy, but then tried trade sanctions and so forth, and the violence not only kept on, but our intelligence revealed it was being stepped up," Reagan said. "So we decided they had to discover there was a price for what they were doing."

In criticizing France, Reagan said he still does not know why it refused the right of American warplanes to fly over its airspace — forcing the attacking jets to fly a circuitous route over Spain.

Greek Council stiffens liquor laws

By Lisa Eisenhauer
Staff Writer

In an attempt to prevent alcohol-related problems from occurring at Greek social gatherings and to improve the image of Greeks on campus, the Inter-Greek Council has tightened its policy on alcohol consumption.

According to an IGC resolution passed Thursday, the 24 groups governed by the council must have four members monitoring events where alcohol is served to prevent underage drinking. Groups are also now required to provide guests a ride home and to quit serving alcohol at 2 a.m.

The purpose of the IGC resolution, according to its text, "is not only to increase the alcohol awareness among our chapters, but also to provide a greater self-regulation and responsible attitude to alcohol usage and abuse."

Mark Glassford, president of the council, said the resolution was initiated by faculty advisers who said they were getting complaints about behavior at some Greek gatherings. The resolution was passed by IGC members by a ratio of at least 7 to 1, Glassford said.

Under University policy, fraternity or sorority members who live on Greek Row or in accepted off-campus living centers may possess and consume beer and wine in the house chapter room and/or in a private study area.

Eight of the groups represented on the IGC have houses on Greek Row and four have houses off campus. In all, approximately 750 students are members of Greek organizations, Glassford said.

GPSC election dispute scrubbed

By Catherine Edman
Staff Writer

A challenge to the validity of the Graduate and Professional Student Council election, submitted by six law students last week, will be withdrawn because the students don't want a "tooth-and-nail fight" over the challenge, said Student Bar Association President Dan Slayden.

The challenge, presented Wednesday, questioned the validity of the election held April 9 because of the election commission's decisions regarding student voting eligibility.

At the election were four new representatives to the Law School appointed by the SBA April 1 who sat through the GPSC meeting and election speeches only to be told they were ineligible to vote. The reason, said Mary Brown, GPSC president, was because they had not attended one of the qualifying meetings and they did not have proxies from departing members who were qualified to vote.

The GPSC constitution says that to be eligible to vote three requirements must be met. First, a person must be a voting member of GPSC or a designated proxy of a member. Second, a person must have attended at least one of three GPSC meetings immediately preceding the election or be an appointed proxy of a GPSC member who has attended one of the three meetings. Last, a person must present a currently validated student I.D.

The students argued that the rule should not have been applied to them for several reasons: they were appointed as representatives to the GPSC by the SBA on April 1, after the last qualifying meeting; they were not told they would need a signed letter of consent from a qualified voter to be a proxy; and although the GPSC election commission stuck firmly to its decision regarding the law students, it waived another rule for the current officers.

Slayden said that at the officer elections the list of eligible voters posted did not contain the names of the GPSC officers. A constitutional rule that says names cannot be added to the list without a written challenge was waived so that the officers, who had been omitted, could be added.

After receiving a letter from election commissioner Tom Marcinkowski stating that they would stick closely to the rules, Slayden contacted the GPSC office to point out the previous inconsistency with sticking to the rules.

Slayden said he spoke to Brown about the discrepancy and was informed by her that not only was that fact irrelevant to the challenge but that if the law students didn't feel they were properly represented and "are going to butt heads" on the issue, why not get out of the GPSC.

He said Brown also told him that "no one would care in that office that they pulled out."

Slayden said the students are not arguing that they are totally right, and he says they probably made a mistake in not getting the letters of consent that the students needed for a proxy vote. But he said he feels they have proven their point, which is that if the GPSC is going to overlook procedures for their officers then they should also do so for their representatives.

After the challenge was received last week, the GPSC executive board approved the formation of a committee consisting of five people not

W. Berlin disco bombing suspect arrested

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin police have arrested a Palestinian in the April 5 discotheque bombing that killed two people and prompted the U.S. air raids on Libya last week, authorities said Monday.

Manfred Ganschow, West Berlin security police chief, said a stateless Palestinian was picked up during the weekend and a warrant was issued citing him for involvement in the bombing of the nightclub, which was popular with American troops.

West German security sources said the suspect was arrested late Friday and that evidence found in a search of his apartment obviously indicated further terror attacks were planned. They said the suspect was in possession of a Jordanian passport and had been living in Berlin for some time.

Ganschow said the suspect was presented in a police lineup to "more than a hundred people" who had been in West Berlin's La Belle discotheque before the bomb went off there in the early morning hours, killing a U.S. soldier and a Turkish woman and wounding another 230 people, including 64 Americans.

Ganschow declined to identify the suspect or give any further details of the arrest for fear it could hinder the investigation. But the mass-circulation Bild newspaper reported the police witnesses identified the Palestinian "beyond doubt."

The newspaper said police found in the possession of the Palestinian sketches of many taverns, nightclubs and public places "against which further terror attacks were obviously planned."

"The trail is very hot. This is not a dud," Bild quoted an

Libyan diplomat arrested in Rome for murder plot

ROME (UPI) — Police said Monday they arrested a former Libyan diplomat and were seeking at least one other Libyan suspected in a plot to assassinate the U.S., Egyptian and Saudi Arabian ambassadors to Italy last year. The plot was uncovered last year but was kept quiet while police sought additional suspects, officials said. Authorities broke their silence on the plot Monday after seizing former diplomat Arebi Mohammed Fitri in Rome late Sunday.

U.S. ambassador's car bombed; no one hurt

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — A car bomb set by a pro-Cuban rebel group acting "in solidarity with the Libyan people" blew up in front of the residence of U.S. Ambassador David Jordan early Monday, causing some damage but no injuries. Radio reports cited police sources as saying a man and woman set off the car bomb with an electronic detonator and escaped on a motorcycle. The car, carrying what police said was the equivalent of 30 sticks of dynamite, exploded at 5:10 a.m.

Majority of oil ministers agree to cut output

GENEVA (UPI) — A majority of OPEC oil ministers agreed Monday to reduce the cartel's production to boost oil prices but failed to sway three dissident members who were seeking deeper cuts. In their final communique, the ministers said 10 members agreed to limit production to an average of 16.7 million barrels per day for 1986 but OPEC hardliners Algeria, Iran and Libya rejected that as too high to restore prices to the $28-per-barrel level.

Supreme Court rules in favor of news media

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court gave the news media a major victory Monday with a 5-4 ruling that the First Amendment rights of newspapers engaged in public debate are more important than the rights of individuals. The court ruled in favor of the publishers of the Philadelphia Inquirer, who have been battling charges they libeled operators of a beer and beverage company with reports they had links to organized crime.

Administration says some tax increases OK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration said Monday it can accept increased levies on gasoline, alcohol and tobacco if it is done in the name of tax reform, but other witnesses complained the increases would be devastating. Assistant Treasury Secretary J. Roger Mentz told the Senate Finance Committee the administration prefers that the panel concentrate on closing loopholes in its effort to draft a major tax reform bill. He noted that excise taxes on beer and wine have not been raised since 1951.

South African violence claims 19 more lives

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The bodies of two black men burned to death in "necklaces" of gasoline-filled tires were discovered by police Monday in a ghetto near Cape Town, bringing to 19 the death toll since Friday night. In other violence, police blamed Nelson Mandela's outlawed African National Congress for two landmine explosions Monday that injured three black men on farm roads about 125 miles east of Johannesburg. President Pieter W. Botha was quoted as saying Mandela would not be released from jail until he renounces all forms of violence.

Anti-nuclear protesters scrub trespass plans

FAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) — Anti-nuclear protesters canceled their plans Monday to infiltrate the Nevada Test Site in hopes of stopping the third announced underground nuclear test of 1986. Activists had to hastily redraw their demonstration plans because they were caught off-guard by the Department of Energy's announcement the weapons-related test will be conducted Tuesday. Protesters hadn't expected the test until Wednesday.

NutraSweet causes seizures, scientist says

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Scientists studying a popular artificial sweetener said Monday they have identified 82 people who say they suffered epileptic-like seizures after consuming the substance. The subjects suffered the seizures after consuming foods or beverages containing aspartame, which is marketed as NutraSweet, said Dr. Richard J. Wurtman, a neuroscientist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge. The subjects were examined after the seizures and found to have no brain abnormalities that would explain the attacks, said Wurtman.

Flying team soars to 3rd place

By Jim McBride
Staff Writer

The Flying Salukis placed third in national competition at the 38th Annual Intercollegiate Flying Association meet held last weekend in Waco, Texas.

The Salukis finished third in overall competition behind University of North Dakota and San Jose State of California. Twenty-six schools from around the nation competed in the event.

The Salukis, national champions in six of the past 10 years, tied for first place with San Jose State in flying events and one team member took home a national individual title, said coach Terry Wendling.

Jeff Alexander took first place and Dean Haviland placed third in power-off precision landings. Darryl Streit placed eighth in navigational competition and Andy Allen placed 10th in the pre flight inspection competition.

Wendling said Geoffrey Foster won a $6,000 scholarship from Beechcraft Corp. and special awards were presented to Randy Augsperger and Daryl Haider. The three were among 10 individuals in the nation who qualified to compete for four $6,000 Beechcraft scholarships, which were awarded on the basis of character, flying ability and grade point average.

The team also presented its Outstanding Team Member Award to Julieanne Pulfer. The award is based on an evaluation of the year's activities and is decided by a vote from team members.

Wendling said SIU-C was chosen as hosts of the 1987 national competition, scheduled for April 20-25. The event is expected to draw about 1,500 to 2,000 student fliers and ground personnel. SIU-C was host for the competition in 1973.

Competition at this year's event was "pretty tough," said Wendling, who added that the team may have worked "too hard" to return the national title to SIU-C.

"We worked awful hard and had a heck of a lot of fun doing it," Wendling said. "When you finish third in the nation it's no small thing. I'm pretty proud of these young people."

Five students find corpse near campsite

By Jim McBride
Staff Writer

Five SIU-C students Sunday discovered the body of an apparent suicide victim sought by Indiana police on rape charges.

The body of Keith Payton, 58, was found in the back seat of his car in Shawnee National Forest by the students, Saline County Coroner Wendell Lambert said.

Payton was sought by Park County, Ind., authorities in connection with a rape that occurred April 7, Lambert said.

Lambert said a "suicide-type" note was discovered in the car next to the body.

Initial autopsy findings were unable to reveal the cause of death, he said, and added that additional microscopic and toxicological tests will be conducted to verify the cause of death.

The five students -- Harvey Alter, junior in food and nutrition; Randy Long, junior in business administration; Dan Mading, junior in zoology; Kathie Beert, junior in plant and soil sciences; and Kevin McKinney, junior in photography -- Friday noticed a yellow car parked near their campsite in the Garden of the Gods Recreational Area and became "suspicious" after the vehicle had not been moved for two days, Alter said.

The students found the body while leaving the park and contacted police, Alter said.

Environmental issues focus of 'Earth Week'

It's "Earth Week" across the nation and the Student Environmental Center has organized a week of events on campus to prompt discussion of environmental issues.

The film "Renewable Tree" will be shown at noon Tuesday in the Student Center Orientation Room.

At 7 p.m. in Agriculture Building Room 102, the film

"Fate of the Forest" will be shown.

A lecture by Gerald Aubertin, associate professor of forestry, on the environmental effects of acid rain is set for 7 p.m. Wednesday in Ag Building Room 102.

SEC members will hand out biodegradable trash bags at noon Thursday and lead a cleanup of Thompson Woods.

The documentary "Power Struggle" will be shown at 7 p.m. Thursday in Ag Building Room 102. After the film, Robert Pauls, director of the city's energy division, will lead a discussion on the same topic.

A slice show titled "We've Got the Power" is slated for noon Friday in the Student Center Missouri Room. The show compares non-renewable energy sources, such as nuclear power, to alternative sources, such as solar power.

At 7:30 p.m. Friday, three panelists will participate in a discussion titled "Environmental Ethics and Spirituality with the Earth."

The discussion will focus on the development of human relationships with the Earth.

Panelists are Paul Yambert, professor of forestry; John Hayward, professor emeritus in religious studies; and Judith Casseday, graduate assistant in speech communications.

A potluck picnic from 3 to 10 p.m. Saturday at Evergreen Park will round out the week's events. Picnickers are asked to donate $5.

'Hail Mary' and academic freedom

IT WOULD APPEAR that the local showing of the film "Hail Mary" has not been the object of much local protest. Only one man showed up Sunday night to urge people not to see the film. But University administrators, who wisely chose not to interfere with the Student Programming Council films committee's showing of the film Sunday and Monday, deserves credit for going on the record as supporting the showing based on the University's First Amendment rights.

The film has been in the spotlight because of its modern-day treatment of the story of the Immaculate Conception. Various religious groups, most notably the Roman Catholic Church, have said that the film is blasphemous in its portrayal of Mary, particularly in that it shows her naked.

Left to its own, the film probably wouldn't have been noticed by many of the protesters who claim they are offended by the idea of a teenage, basketball-playing mother of God. They probably wouldn't have heard of it. After all, this is a foreign film, not something by Steven Spielberg. Usually only steady patrons of art and foreign films know what films are due to be released and what they are about.

A UNIVERSITY IS a place where freedom of ideas and freedom to express ideas is considered vital to students' academic and personal growth and the pursuit of truth. What's offered for entertainment, as well as what is offered in the classroom, ought to be protected under this philosophy. By taking a stand not based on the content of the film, the University reinforced this philosophy.

In keeping with its role as a forum for open discussion and disagreement, the University (as represented by President Albert Somit, Vice President for Student Affairs Bruce Swinburne and Student Center Director John Corker) provided anyone who wished to protest the film the opportunity to do so, just as they would to anyone protesting any other event or action — as long as such protest was done in a civilized manner that did not interfere with the film's showing or the orderly conduct of the University's business.

IF THE UNIVERSITY were to start banning films and other entertainment on content-based grounds, it is conceivable that nothing could be shown or played on campus. Anti-violence people could call for banning Clint Eastwood movies. Fundamentalist Christians could ask that rock 'n' roll bands be forbidden from playing at Springfest because the music offends them and allegedly leads young people down the road to ruin. An orchestra playing Wagner, a folksinger criticizing President Reagan in song — almost any performer or performance is going to be disliked or disapproved of by somebody. This shouldn't stop the University from providing a forum for such entertainment. If anything, it ought to encourage student programming to schedule thought-provoking films, speakers and concerts.

Israel walks in Hitler's footsteps?

Mr. Trubitt, Don Smith's letter was not an obviously slanderous letter, because Israel is to blame for terrorism in the Middle East and all over the world. All Israeli terrorist activity gets covered up real fast. A good example was the Sabra and Shatella massacre, where two refugee camps were attacked and over 3,000 women, children and elderly people were killed. This massacre wasn't publicized more than a day or two on television, but when one Jew got killed on the Achille Lauro, we didn't hear the end of it. That was on television for over a week.

I think that's a good example of what Mr. Smith means by Jewish-Zionist ownership of ABC, CBS, the New York Times and the Washington Post. So all this makes Israel innocent and the Palestinians the terrorists.

Another terrorist act by Israel was the attack on an Iraqi nuclear plant in 1979 for no reason but to stop Iraq from improving and expanding their technology. Another Israeli terrorist act took place in Kofe Quassem and Dare Yassen, which, led by Ariel Sharon (Israeli defense minister in 1982), killed innocent civilians for no reason at all.

Some of the things that the Jewish-Zionists were doing in the two villages makes me sick to my stomach, but just for you, Mr. Trubitt, I'm going to mention one of the incidents, where soldiers grabbed pregnant women and opened their stomachs and killed the fetuses.

What's happening in Palestine reminds me of Hitler in Germany when he had Jews wear the same clothes with numbers on their shirts to be recognized right away. Today the Jews are giving Palestinian cars different-colored license plates than the Jews, so they can be stopped and searched while the Jews are waved on.

I STRONGLY DISAGREE WITH YUL BRYNER, EASTWOOD! AND FURZBERG!

Also, a Palestinian can't grow a tree without getting the Jews approval or he will be sentenced to one year in jail. What happened to the Jews in Germany no one would want to happen to anybody else in this world, especially the Jews. But no, now that the Jews have power, they are walking in Hitler's footsteps.

I hope Trubitt can "personally see how this can be" now. He says, "So don't the Israelis deserve a homeland of their own?" Sure they deserve a homeland of their own, but why at the expense of other Palestinian land, lives and Zionist terrorist acts against Palestinians. So how could you even begin to call a Palestinian a terrorist for fighting for his homeland and for his rights? I think you are blind to the real problem. What I'm asking is to stop the U.S. military aid to Israel. — Ghassan Abdallah, senior, Pre-Med.

Good deed recognized

Hats off to the Delta Chi fraternity! Thanks to a project they recently assigned to their pledges, the North Piles Fork Creek, which flows north between Wall Street and Lewis Park Shopping Center, is now a fine scenic area to enjoy. Due to uncaring individuals, it had become unsightly with cans, papers, boxes and other litter marring the creek and its banks.

Two weeks ago, Delta Chi fraternity contacted the park district and asked for a community project that their pledges could carry out. The park district suggested cleaning up the creek banks. The pledges did so, and what a wonderful difference it has made. We hope that people have noticed it and will try to keep it clean.

We hope that the park district will be able to fund and install some permanent litter containers along the new Greenway Bikeway path soon. At the present time, there are none, which encourages people to drop their litter indiscriminately.

Our tax dollars should not have to be used to pay employees of the park district or the city to continually pick up after us, whether it's on the banks of the creek or any other area in town. I hope Delta Chi fraternity members have set a precedent that will continue with both individuals and other organizations. — Anne Roubos, Carbondale.

Thanks for student support of bus system

The USO City Affairs Commission would like to thank all those students who voted in support of mass transit in the April 2 referendum. Without your support mass transit would not be seeing the bright future it now holds. For those who did not support the referendum, we would like your input on the reasons why. With your input we can make mass transit more appealing. Since the referendum passed, the city has applied for federal funding to do research and feasibility studies. This fall semester, expect to receive a transit survey. This survey will be a primary method in developing the actual system. Your participation in the survey will be appreciated and needed. The approximate date to have the actual system planned is by June 1987. This will enable the city to apply for federal funds to get the system operational.

Once again, the commission would like to thank you for your votes on the transit issue. Without your support, progress would never have been made. — Dave Madlener and Drayton Roose, USO City Affairs Commission.

Bodybuilding contest judges were impartial

Anyone who is familiar with the sport of bodybuilding is aware of the controversy that surrounds the final decision of the judges. In almost every contest there is some discrepancy as to who should have taken what place. This controversy is present at amateur and professional levels.

For this reason judges must be carefully selected. The basic criteria that were used in the selection of judges for the Mr. and Ms. SIU contest were experience in the sport of bodybuilding and ability to make unbiased judgements of contestants.

The five judges selected for the meet fulfilled these requirements in that all had judged in contests previous to the 1986 Mr. and Ms. SIU contest. All judges were also brought in from out of town, relieving them of any favoritism or bias.

This discrepancy will always be present in the sport of bodybuilding. Therefore, I suggest that if any contestant cannot deal with this discrepancy and display some sportsmanship, they should terminate their interest in the sport. — Scott Hayes, senior, Management and Marketing.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors only. Unsigned editorials represent a consensus of the Daily Egyptian Editorial Committee, whose members are the student-editor-in-chief, the editorial page editor, a news staff member, the faculty managing editor and a Journalism School faculty member.

Letters to the editor may be submitted by mail or directly to the editorial page editor, Room 1247 Communications Building. Letters should be typewritten, double spaced. All letters are subject to editing and will be limited to 500 words. Letters of less than 250 words will be given preference for publication. Students must identify themselves by class and major, faculty members by rank and department, non-academic staff by position and department.

Letters submitted by mail should include the author's address and telephone number. Letters for which verification of authorship cannot be made will not be published.

currently affiliated with the GPSC whose responsibility it was to reach a decision about the challenge within 10 days.

The first committee meeting was Friday, two days after the challenge was submitted, and two of the law students — Paul Antonacci and William Connor — were present. Although not able to speak to the committee at that time, they did speak to Marcinkowski and Brown in the GPSC office.

Antonacci said that when he talked to Brown she got angry with him about filing the charges. He said the main reason he is in favor of dropping the charges is because of her hostility and the concern about any problems arising from this with the representatives for next year.

Antonacci was recently elected vice president of administrative affairs after being defeated for the office of president by Kelli McCormack from the Department of Health Education. Even though he is one of the students who submitted the challenge, Antonacci said that if the election was declared invalid he would not run again for the office of president.

Attempts to reach Marcinkowski and Brown for comments were unsuccessful.

said Monday he was not aware of the IGC resolution but he commended the council for passing it. He also said that if any alcohol-related problems have occurred at Greek gatherings he had not been told about them.

Under the IGC resolution, monitors must check the IDs of guests at Greek gatherings if alcohol is being served and stamp the hands of guests of legal drinking age.

The resolution also states that monitors must "maintain a level of order at the social gathering, dismissing people for abusive, disorderly conduct" and see that any underage drinkers are asked to leave.

In addition, the groups must allow guests to enter the gatherings through only one entrance and establish a line beyond which liquor cannot be taken.

Glassford, junior in political science and member of Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity, said that besides trying to avert any problems that could be caused by the consumption of alcohol, the council hopes the resolution will enhance Greeks' image on campus.

He said the resolution was not opposed by any groups out of fear that it would discourage students from joining them. "It's a known fact that beer does not do it," he said. "Beer does not get you a quality membership."

Glassford said members of Greek groups are often unfairly criticized by other members of the University community.

"I think a lot of people have misconceptions about what the Greeks are about," he said.

Glassford said that fraternity and sorority members "are in a glass house" because many students and faculty members have an unfounded negative opinion of them.

He said the groups have tried to put an end to that image during this semester and the one before by getting more involved in campus life. In addition to annual events such as the All-Campus Variety Show, he said Greek groups helped at two campus blood drives, co-sponsored a march on Martin Luther King's birthday and gathered more than 3,000 cans of food for needy residents of Murphysboro and Carbondale.

"The Greeks are trying to get more students involved in their programs," Glassford said. "We are trying to show that we are doing things."

He said that Greek groups offer students a tight-knit group of friends and a chance to gain leadership qualities.

unnamed high-ranking security expert as saying.

The arrest was the first clear break in the case. Until Monday, West Berlin police had been saying they had no firm clues to the identity of the culprit in the nightclub bombing that the United States, citing secret intelligence evidence, blamed on Libya.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Bernard Kalb said, "In general, part of the pattern of (Libyan leader Col. Moammar) Khadafy's terrorist activities is to use non-Libyan groups or individual Palestinians such as Abu Nidal," the leader of a Palestinian group implicated in the December attacks on the Rome and Vienna airports.

In Bonn, Michael-Andreas Butz, a spokesman for the West German Interior Ministry, told a news conference, "The arrest and warrant is a triumph for cooperation of international security authorities."

Asked whether the suspect had contact with the Libyan Embassy in communist East Berlin, which West German authorities had also implicated in the bombing, Butz said he assumed that was the case.

The spokesman said Interior Minister Friederich Zimmermann would discuss the arrest in a report to Chancellor Helmut Kohl's Cabinet Wednesday on anti-terror measures.

Ten days after the nightclub bombing, U.S. warplanes bombed the Libyan capital of Tripoli and the eastern port city of Benghazi in the largest American air strike since the Vietnam War.

The raids reportedly killed an adopted daughter of Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy and wounded two of his sons. Libya placed its official death toll from the April 15 air raids at 37, but Western diplomats believe as many as 100 people may have died in the attacks.

Modern thinking to be talk topic

The need for a philosophical approach to current world problems will be the topic of the inaugural University Honors Series Emeritus Lecture by Paul A. Schlipp.

Schlipp, a distinguished American philosopher, will speak on "Thinking in the Nuclear and Computer Age" at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Morris Library Auditorium.

Thinking becomes "even more critical" in the nuclear age, Schlipp says, something philosophers from Socrates and Plato on down have tried to explain.

A case in point, he says, is the American bombing of Libya April 14, which shows that more thinking ought to have been done, not just emoting.

Schlipp, professor emeritus at SIU-C, founded the "Library of Living Philosophers" series and edited it from 1938 to 1981. Each volume focuses on a contemporary philosopher.

Schlipp was born in Dillenburg, Germany, in 1897. After coming to America, he was educated at Baldwin-Wallace College, Northwestern University and Stanford University, where he received a doctorate in 1936. He taught at Northwestern and the University of the Pacific before joining SIU-C in 1965.

He is author of "Kant's Pre-Critical Ethics," "The Quest for Religious Realism" and "The Crisis in Science and Education."

His lecture is open to the public without charge.

Enterprise group off to promising start

By Darci Allen
Staff Writer

What started out as a sister organization to the Society for the Advancement of Management has turned into an award-winning group.

In January, Students in Free Enterprise was formed because "we wanted to broaden the scope of activities" people can take part in, says Ken Kraft, associate professor of management and one faculty adviser to SIFE.

SIFE, which is made up of students in the course Management 489A, took part in regional competition last week in St. Louis and returned to Carbondale with first place honors and $1,400 for its efforts.

The chapter was also named Rookie Chapter of the Year and earned a place in the national competition to be held May 19-21 in Memphis, Tenn.

Although SIFE is a class and membership is now primarily management students, those who would like to participate don't have to enroll in the course, says Bill Gardner, assistant professor of management and the group's other faculty adviser.

During the St. Louis competition, SIFE groups were judged on their annual reports.

SPC contest to provide winners a bird's-eye view of Springfest

By Patricia Edwards
Staff Writer

Fancy the chance of coasting through clouds in a hot air balloon? Then buy one.

Student Programming Council has created a contest in which the two people who come nearest to guessing how many balloons are in a jar will win a ride in a hot air balloon.

Guesses cost 25 cents each and must be submitted before Friday. The chances can be purchased in the Faner breezeway Monday and Tuesday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.; at the Springfest teasers in the Free Forum Area on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.; and all week in the SPC office on the third floor of the Student Center from 2 to 4:30 p.m. The charge for the chances will help pay for the rental cost of the balloon.

The winners will be announced from the mainstage at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday. Winners must be present to win.

The multi-colored balloon is scheduled to launch between 4 and 7 p.m. in the Free Forum Area or between Quigley and Wheeler halls, depending on the wind.

Colleges need global view, speaker says

By Patricia Edwards
Staff Writer

Higher education should assume a global perspective in the humanities, says philosopher Glenn A. Olds, president of Alaska Pacific University.

Without that presumption it is fragmented, parochial and limited. Higher education should be concerned with nothing less than the ultimate perspective, he says.

Olds, Alaskan Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, spoke Thursday at the combined observances of Founders Day and the George S. Counts Lecture.

His speech, "Humani Nihil Alienum," (Nothing Human is Alien to Us), was footnoted in the context of "Higher Education and the Citizenry, Reciprocal Responses."

The drop in oil prices has hit hardest the Alaskan school system, which receives 60 percent of Alaska's oil revenues.

"In this climate and in this context, I would say we have been virtually totally preoccupied for the last several years in Alaska with natural resources," Olds said.

"The problem with the price of oil has virtually nothing to do with the economics of the North Slope or of Alaska," he said. "It has to do with the perpetual ignoring of the unresolved Palestinian problem in the Middle East."

Olds recommended that people use urgency and interest in global revolution today to break out of parochial panic.

Olds said that according to reports on education, the United States is a nation at risk because it is alienated from a wider international community.

The perplexity of the task of higher education, Olds said, is the integration of parochial and global perspectives and the integration of public and private lives.

Also at the lecture, the George S. Counts Doctoral Student Award was granted to Carole N. Ryan, assistant dean of students at Illinois College. She is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Educational Administration and Higher Education. Her doctoral thesis is titled "George S. Counts, Global Vision for the New Cultural Pluralism."

Atom bomb scientist eyes future through molecular science study

By Mary Lung
Staff Writer

Morris Cohen is a man with an eye on the future. A world-renowned materials scientist, Cohen develops substances — materials — used in high technology. And although his work concerns improvements for mankind, Cohen was one of the developers of a force that may ultimately cause its downfall.

He was an associate director of the Manhattan Project, the World War II venture that resulted in the atomic bomb.

As a professor emeritus at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cohen studied internal structures, such as electric, atomic and crystalline, and external properties and performance of new materials, which can be used in jet engines, nuclear reactors and integrated circuits. During the second annual SIU-C Molecular Science Lecture Thursday, Cohen discussed "Rapid Solidification and Structure Property Relationships of Materials," the properties and strengths, through grain refinement, of rapidly cooled alloys.

THE FIELD of material science, Cohen said, is a multidisciplinary one. Metallurgy and ceramics are two disciplines that are entirely within the materials science field, he said, while subfields such as solid-state physics, chemistry, and electrical, mechanical and chemical engineering play very important roles. The SIU-C faculty has shown considerable interest in starting a material science program, he said.

The materials-and-mankind relationship has been evolving for some 50,000 years, Cohen said, with man utilizing wood, stone, metal, textiles and the like throughout history.

A BASIC MATERIALS

Modern Chinese art to be topic of Herbert Fink

Herbert Fink, a professor in the School of Art, will discuss modern Chinese art at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Carbondale Public Library, 405 W. Main Street.

Fink will also introduce the work of Zuo Yingxue, an art teacher in the Peoples Republic of China who is now a student at SIU-C.

The lecture will be augmented by slides of modern Chinese art.

Zuo, 32, has taught in Laoning and Changchun, China, and is a member of the Jilin Artists Association. He paints mostly with oils and will show some of his works at the meeting.

The program is free and open to the public.

cycle, Cohen said, can be described as raw materials being extracted and refined into engineering materials like chemicals, paper and fibers; processed into engineering materials like plastics and alloys; manufactured into products and used; and finally thrown away as waste or recycled.

In recent years, Cohen said, society has begun to worry about the recycling and storage of waste. In the United States alone, he said, over 25 tons of raw materials per person are consumed annually. The oil and coal we use as energy and for producing materials are terrible polluters of our atmosphere, he said, gradually heating the earth and causing a greenhouse effect. Solar and wind energy are clean but inefficient, Cohen added.

IT IS NECESSARY, Cohen said, to expend energy to produce materials, just as materials are crucial for making energy, and the only source of energy that can offset the present need for clean energy is nuclear energy. What he and other scientists didn't realize when developing nuclear energy was that many people would be inherently afraid of it because so little was known about it, he said.

"We haven't become adjusted to nuclear power, so there will be problems until experience is gained," Cohen said. People should realize, he said, that not one life has been lost in the development of nuclear energy.

THE DEVELOPMENT of the Manhattan Project during World War II, Cohen said, was a very large-scale, crash program. An associate director at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at the time, Cohen said he worked on nuclear fuels, such as uranium alloys, for generating energy.

"We had appreciation that we were on a dangerous course. If we succeeded we could win the war, but we knew there were vast implications beyond that," he said.

There was an element of urgency during the project, Cohen explained, both because the allies were racing to develop an atomic bomb before Adolf Hitler's Germany did and because "we knew if it were perfected it would be an extremely powerful weapon."

THERE WAS a lot of soul searching among scientists about the development of a nuclear bomb, Cohen said. His own feeling was that the United States should have shown the Japanese by way of a test what the bomb could do, he said. In the two cities that were devastated by atomic bombs, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, 105,000 people were killed and 94,000 injured.

Cohen made a personal pilgrimage to Hiroshima 25 years after the bombing. He found the city rebuilt, he said, and heard no criticism of the U.S. But there were still radiation patients in the U.S. hospitals here.

"It happened," he said. "The main thing is not to let it happen again."

SCIENTISTS WORKING on the project knew that the development of an atomic bomb would change the world, Cohen said, not only from the standpoint of energy, but how nations would relate to each other. President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative plan, commonly known as "Star Wars," would supposedly make nuclear weapons obsolete, Cohen says, and has no scientific merit.

"It's turning things upside down. Now there is testing of nuclear weapons for high-powered Star Wars lasers," he said.

The whole "Star Wars" idea, Cohen says, was dreamed up by Reagan himself, with no research into the effectiveness of the plan. "I think it is a very wrong thing to do," he said. "I think we're on a very dangerous course."

Oil businessman to receive honors for job excellence

Ronald E. Hall, president and chief executive officer of Citgo Petroleum Corp. in Houston, has been named Executive of the Day by the College of Business and Administration.

Hall will accept the honor Thursday. He will deliver a speech in the morning at the Marion Holiday Inn and one at 8 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom D. The evening lecture is free and open to the public.

Hall, a marketing strategist for Citgo, is a former resident of Johnston City. He received a bachelor's degree from Bradley University and a master's degree from Columbia University.

which include the groups' completed activities and an outline of activities for the coming year, Kraft said.

Students in the group work on projects to help inform the community about the freedom to operate their own businesses, Gardner said. They have worked on four major projects this year, he added.

Members of SIFE have helped organize the Women in Business conference, assisted the Carbondale Jaycees in selling their "Carbondale Monopoly" game and helped in a Lewis Park promotion.

The group's largest project, which Gardner says he feels won SIFE the regional competition, was the sale of coin wrappers.

A student who had already established a business of selling the wrappers was graduating and he offered the business to SIFE, Gardner said. SIFE designed the wrappers to have slogans such as "Change with Free Enterprise" and "Roll It Up with Free Enterprise."

Contacts made with the Bursar's Office, Pepsi Bottling Co. in Marion and area banks have sold more than 90,000 wrappers, Gardner said.

Saluki women's basketball team signs pair of top-notch recruits

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

Regina Banks, a star of the John A. Logan Lady Vols, and Eileen Richardson, of Indianapolis North Central High School, have signed with the women's basketball Salukis for next season.

For the first time in four years, a junior college player will transfer into Coach Cindy Scott's program.

The Lady Vols won national respect with a third-place finish in the NJCAA tournament, powered by forward Banks, who averaged 12.1 points and 7.5 rebounds during the year.

Banks, from Madison, leaves Logan as the fourth all-time scorer (778) and rebounder (515) in a two-year career.

Scott said, "I've watched Regina all year long. I felt like she possessed things which could help our ball club."

Scott named quickness and defense as Banks' strengths.

"She's one of those rare people who take more pride in defense than in offense," Scott said.

Lady Vols coach Gary Barton calls Banks the school's "best defensive player ever" and his squad tallied a 36-3 record, including an 8-1 post-season mark.

Banks paced the Lady Vols with more than 40 percent of her rebounds on the offensive end, 65 steals and just 60 turnovers while hitting 44 percent from the field.

Barton said Banks improved through her career, and Scott expects her to continue but cannot yet say just where Banks will play in the Saluki line-up.

"She can play inside or out. But I'd say her strength is inside around the boards, she's a very good rebounder," Scott said.

Scott hopes the local favorite will help generate even more interest in the SIU program and credits Barton as a fine coach.

"Coach Barton's done an outstanding job there and it's exciting to get one of his kids and give people around here a chance to follow her career," Scott said.

Banks chose SIU over

Illinois, Michigan State, Miami (Fla.), Florida International and many Division II schools.

Banks has played with several Salukis in the Prairie State Games and in AAU competition.

Richardson, a 5-8 swing or point guard, averaged 18.0 points and 7.0 rebounds. Scott said Richardson will add quickness to the Saluki backcourt, describing her as a highly recruited, very fast, good ballhandler.

Richardson narrowed her decision down to SIU or Indiana over Northern Iowa, Cincinnati, Ball State and Louisville, and told Scott Monday.

The Saluki staff awaits decisions from other recruits, who are still making campus visits.

"It's hard to say what position we'll try Eileen at," Scott said. "I think it depends on the rest of recruiting."

Banks and Richardson join two other signees, Cindy Farr, a 5-10 guard from Opelika, Ala., and Deanna Kibelkis, a 5-11 forward from Midlothian.

FATE OF THE FOREST

This film discusses the chain of ecological problems threatening the world's tropical forest as a direct result of deforestation and slash and burn practices. It concludes that only when land is used more productively and alternative energy is provided cheaply will the threat to the tropical forest be overcome.

Women's track team member to compete in Drake heptathlon

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

Saluki women's trackster Sue Anderson will participate in a heptathlon competition today and Wednesday in Des Moines, Iowa, as part of the upcoming Drake Relays.

"I think she'll be competitive in the event. Saluki Coach Don DeNoon said Monday, "Some of the best heptathletes in the country will be there. We'll look for her continued improvement and see where she finishes."

Anderson currently holds a personal best of 4,683 points in the heptathlon.

DeNoon had hoped that Kathy Raske, a sophomore from Calumet City, would also be able to compete in the event. However, even though Raske has turned in excellent performances in the pentathlon, she has never competed in the heptathlon and Drake officials were not willing to take a chance on a first-time performer.

"They just would not let somebody into the meet on speculation that they can do it," DeNoon said. "They had to have a performance beforehand."

The heptathlon competition is a preview of the larger Drake relays, which will get underway Friday. The meet is one of the largest in the nation, with over 70 teams being represented.

13 intramural records fall at track meet

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

The Office of Intramural-Recreational Sports Monday released the results of the intramural track and field meet held Saturday at McAndrew Stadium in which 13 SIU-C intramural records were set.

The records were set by Ellen O'Brien in the shot put (37-9); Jim Woodward in the discus (177-4); Carmen Robbins in the long jump (16-1'); Sheldon Knight (11.02) and O'Brien (13.08) in the 100-meter dash; John Dimiceli (23.08) and Robbins (27.45) in the 200-meter dash; Lee Halbert in the 400-meter dash (53.15); Colleen Wright in the 1,500-meter run (6:04.90); BCB and Co. in the men's and women's 400- (44.69, 54.6) and 800-meter relays (1:35.56, 2:00.54) and Express Ltd. in the corec 400-meter relay (51.80).

Buddy Goldammer, coordinator of intramural-recreational sports, said he was pleased with the level of competition at this year's meet. "The quality of the participants was excellent," he said. "There were some very good athletes."

Participation was up in all the events, he said, adding that the numbers probably would have been higher had it not been for the bad weather on Saturday.

In other intramural news: Softball and ultimate frisbee championships are scheduled for May 1. Playoffs in those events got underway Monday.

Deadlines for entry in the final two sporting events of the 1986 intramural season are fast approaching. The deadline for entering the canoe races is Wednesday; hacky sack tournament entries will close April 30. Those wishing to participate in the events may sign up at the Student Recreation Center information desk.

Netters down Indiana 5-3 for 5th win in row

The Salukis and Indiana University did not let the rain spoil their Sunday tennis meet, as they brought it indoors to the Sports Center where SIU-C topped the Hoosiers 5-3 for its fifth-consecutive victory.

The Salukis took four of six singles matches, losing only at Nos. 1 and 2.

Nos. 3-6 singles players Jairo Aldana, Lars Nilsson, Fabiano Ramos and Juan Martinez each won in two sets, with Aldana's being decided by two tiebreakers.

SIU-C and IU split the two doubles matches they played, with Per Wadmark and Rollie Olquino losing at the No. 1 slot, (6-1, 6-2), and Aldana and Chris Visconti winning the No. 2 match, (6-3, 6-4).

Since court time had expired, the third doubles match could not be played.

Saluki coach Dick LeFevre thinks the team will add two more wins to its 7-16 record 2 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday when the Salukis play host to SEMO and Tennessee-Martin at the Arena courts.

A's hurlers break strikeout record

SEATTLE (UPI) — The major-league record for total strikeouts in a game stood for 102 years before Jose Rijo of the Oakland A's took the mound Saturday night against the Seattle Mariners.

By the time Rijo completed 158 pitches and left the game after eight innings, he had fanned 16 Mariners.

Reliever Bill Mooneyham struck out two more Mariners, which added to the 12 strikeouts by Seattle pitchers brought the total for the game to 30.

Dogs hone bats for Billiken rematch

By Ron Warnick
Staff Writer

The St. Louis Billikens, which play the Salukis in a 3 p.m. Tuesday game at Abe Martin Field, have continued their reign of terrible but aren't as bad as when the Salukis beat them almost a month ago in the Gateway City.

When Dale Kisten and the Dogs walloped the Billikens 7-1 on March 27, it was St. Louis' 19th loss in 23 games. The team was batting an anemic .180, with outfielder Tom DuBois leading the team with a .256 average. The Billiken pitching staff had a fence-breaking 10.55 earned run average.

The Billikens have hit the ball a little more often since with a .249 team average, but the bat-blasting of the pitching staff has continued, as evidenced by a 9.66 ERA.

Their win-loss column hasn't improved much either, as St. Louis is winless in eight Midwestern Collegiate Conference games with a 9-37 record overall.

Understandably, Saluki coach Richard "Itchy" Jones has decided not to waste the energy of one of his better throwers. Instead, he will send rookie pitcher Tim Hollmann to the hill.

Hollmann started his first game at SIU-Edwardsville last Thursday. He tossed seven and one-third innings, allowed nine hits, walked three, struck out two and gave up five earned runs. Although a fair performance, as he reduced his season ERA from 13.50 to 8.74, he suffered the loss in an 11-1 blowout.

"I thought he did very well at Edwardsville," Jones said. "He deserved to win."

The likely starter against Hollmann is Matt Boxdorfer, who is 1-8 with an 8.45 ERA. He has been the victim of four shutouts this year.

The Billikens no longer have to rely on DuBois as the crux of their offense. Third baseman Phil Catalfamo has recovered from an early season slump and is having a fine season with 10 home runs, 41 RBI and a .283 average. He was batting just .140 a month before.

Designated hitter Charlie Vogt leads the Billikens with a .357 average with five homers and 16 RBI. DuBois has remained a consistent hitter with a .290 average and a team-high seven stolen bases.

6-7 forward picks SIU-C, former coach

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

The waiting is over and the reunion can begin.

Jay Schafer, a 6-7 power forward from Benton High School, announced Monday morning that he will attend SIU-C and thus be reunited with former coach Rich Herrin.

Schafer had signed a letter of intent in the fall signing period but was unsure if he would attend SIU-C or the Air Force Academy. Had Schafer decided on the Air Force, he would not have been bound to SIU-C by the letter.

The leading scorer and rebounder for this year's Benton Rangers, Schafer averaged 16.4 points per game on 55-percent field goal shooting and pulled down 9.6 rebounds per game.

Leaving the tutelage of Ron Herrin, Rich's brother, Schafer will once again be playing for Rich, who coached the new Saluki during his freshman and sophomore years.

Schafer was a selection to the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association Class AA South team.

Another apparent addition to the Saluki recruiting list is Erik Griffin, a 6-4 guard and All-South selection from Carrier Mills, Griffin, who was also considering the Air Force, has verbally committed to Herrin and is expected to sign once a financial aid package is worked out.

Griffin averaged 18.5 ppg and 10.8 rpg for Carrier Mills and is expected to be red-shirted his freshman year, giving him a chance to work out on the weights and develop his outside shooting.

Already signed are 6-10 Dave Busch of Hoopston-East Lynn, a UPI and AP Class A all-stater, Darryl Liberty of Chicago King High School and Tim Richardson of Coffeyville (Kansas) Community College.

Rugged ruggers

SIU-C inside center John Broadland pitches the ball down the line just before an Elgin Rugby Football Club player tackles him. The 3-7 SIU 'A' side was defeated 13-7

Saturday afternoon by Elgin at the rugby pitch behind Abe Martin Field. The only scorers for SIU were Art Brown, who scored one try, and Craig Johnson, who converted.

IAAC meets to continue March slate

The Intercollegiate Athletics Advisory Committee will meet at 1 p.m. Tuesday to continue its March 25 meeting.

According to chairperson Margaret Matthias, the meeting will be continued on the same agenda and will pick up where the last meeting left off. Matthias said the meeting will probably not include a discussion of the women's gymnastics issue since the committee passed a motion to accept athletics director Jim Livengood's proposal to recommend dropping the program at the end of this fiscal year.

Still on the agenda under new business are the topics of ticket prices and the booster club's role in intercollegiate athletics. Old business will include discussions on a philosophy on intercollegiate athletics and structure of the athletics departments.

Matthias said that due to previous plan Livengood will not be able to attend.

Softball team on hot streak; Panthers next

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

The Saluki softball team, 6-2 and 16-12 on the season, will look to extend a seven-game winning streak Tuesday afternoon at Charleston when they face Gateway foe Eastern Illinois.

If the Salukis win Wednesday, they will tie a record for consecutive wins set in 1979 (8). A sweep would enable the Salukis to establish a new school record.

The matchup between SIU-C and Eastern pits the No. 2 and No. 3 Gateway teams; EIU is ranked second with a standing of 6-2, 20-9-1 overall.

Illinois State, last season's GCAC champs and a No. 2 pick in preseason polls, is leading the Gateway pack with an 8-2, 25-10 record, followed by Eastern and SIU-C. Indiana

State is fourth with a 7-4, 19-12 record while preseason favorite Bradley is off to a surprisingly slow start, pulling in at fifth with a 5-3, 23-9 record.

Southwest Missouri, winners of their first 13 games, has cooled and ranks sixth with a 4-6, 23-10 record. Wichita State, Northern Iowa, Drake and Western fill out the second half of the Gateway standings.

Salukis 3rd in MVC; Sycamores lead

By Ron Warnick
Staff Writer

The baseball Salukis dropped to a third-place tie in the Missouri Valley Conference when they lost three of four games at Wichita State last weekend.

Coach Richard "Itchy" Jones cited a lack of hitting as the rea on for SIU-C's subpar week. It, as evidenced by just 13 runs scored in the four games.

"We played well. We just didn't hit with men on base," Jones said. "It wasn't a problem with our defense and pitching.

"On Sunday, we put 42 men to the plate and struck out 18 times. So we put the ball in play only 24 times. We just couldn't advance our base runners," he explained.

However, the Salukis lost no ground to MVC leader Indiana State, which also dropped three of four games to Bradley, which won three one-run decisions. The Dogs, 6-6, remained two games behind of 8-4 Indiana State.

Bradley, which the Dogs beat three out of four two weekends ago, moved into sole possession of second place with a 7-5 record.

Illinois State's pitching clamped down on the Creighton Bluejays over the weekend, allowing them just 12 runs to take three of four games. The Redbirds share third place with SIU-C and Wichita State with a 6-6 record.

Creighton fell into the conference basement with a 3-9 record.

Under the right circumstances, five of six teams, including the Salukis, could take the conference lead this weekend.

"This thing's up for grabs," Jones said. "But when we get down to the Valley tournament, I'm confident we can win it."
