Noted Stage Director Calls Campus Facilities Advanced

By Dianne Anderson

Jo Mielziner, the noted stage designer, was on campus this week as a consultant for the further development of the Communications Building.

He visited the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses to appraise their plans and facilities and to consult on the planning of the development of Phase I and Phase II of the Carbondale Communications Building complex.

"I've seen 13 theaters since lunch," quipped Mielziner. "I've walked through the Metropolitan Opera House in New York and it didn't seem as big as this."

Mielziner, born in Paris,

Sigma Pi Shares in National Program

To mark the 17th anniversary of the founding of Sigma Pi fraternity, Southern's Beta Nu Chapter of the fraternity will take part Saturday in a special program noting the occasion.

A telephone-speaker system has been installed in 16 Sigma Pi centers connecting each of the participating chapters with the National Headquarters and Alpha Chapter, both located in Vincennes, Ind. Speaking during the 25-minute program will be Grand Sage Lyle H. Smith of Minot, N.D., and Honorary Grand Sage, Judge Curtis G. Shake of Vincennes.

Speaking by tape from the NASA Headquarters in Houston will be Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr.

Members of Sigma Pi fraternity on Southern's campus will be among more than 2,000 brothers taking part in the anniversary celebration.

has designed sets for operas, ballets and musical comedies since 1924. He won an Oscar in 1955 for the color art direction in "Picnic."

The Carbondale facilities were "forward looking," according to Mielziner, and the only suggestions he would have would be small, final adjustments — like "hooks and eyes."

Mielziner had seen the Calipre Stage facilities and commented that he liked everything but the tag "experimental." According to Mielziner "all theater is experimental and artistic people should be experimenting all the time."

In his 40 years in theater, Mielziner said he disliked doing the same thing in the same way he had done it before. Mielziner has done such things as design the setting for the U.N. Conference in San Francisco in 1945 and the setting for the Michelangelo Pieta for the Vatican exhibit in the New York World's Fair.

Speaking of the Edwardsville theater facilities, Mielziner said he thought that the proposed building would be for live theater only rather than including radio and television studios as on the Carbondale campus. He said that he hoped the Edwardsville theater would seat 1,500 or less.

Architectural considerations such as seating space, offices, and shop areas were Mielziner's major concerns while here. He mentioned that students generally aren't here to learn theater architecture, but how to use these facilities once they are available.

"The art of live theater is dependent upon intimate com-

Faculty to Study Proposal to End Textbook Rental

A suggestion to discontinue the textbook rental system at SIU will be studied by the Faculty Council at the request of President Delyte W. Morris.

Making one of his infrequent appearances before the council, Morris Tuesday discussed a wide range of topics, including SIU's textbook rental policy.

The president exchanged views with the council for 1-1/2 hours before leaving for a meeting in St. Louis, Robert G. Layer, council president, said. The meeting was held on the Edwardsville campus.

In answer to the Faculty Council request that the president make known the recommendations by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools on SIU's textbook rental system, Morris not only did so but asked the council to look into the matter, Layer said. The gist of the North Central Association's recommendations, Layer said, was discontinuance of the rental practice.

No action was taken at the meeting on the matter. The next move is for the council to review the entire textbook policy, Layer said.

Some of the questions involved in the rental policy are whether the fee is high enough to cover administrative expenses, or low enough to be of real advantage to students, whether the service could be better operated by a private group or the University, and whether the policy of not changing textbooks before three years of use is warranted the council president said.

"In any event, I'm sure the Faculty Council would ask for

Contracts Not Let For Demolishing 22 SIU Buildings

Contracts for demolishing 22 temporary buildings have not been awarded, according to the SIU Purchasing Agent. Bids have been received, however.

No further information can be given until the contracts are awarded, an office spokesman said.

Most of the buildings to be destroyed are on the south side of Mill Street and along both sides of the closed section of Grand Avenue between Campus Drive and the Wham Education Building.

student cooperation," Layer said. "There will be no decision without student participation."

Another matter Morris discussed with the group involved some of the recommendations made by Layer before the general faculty meeting last December.

One was the right of the Faculty Council to go before the Board of Trustees when a disagreement arises between it and the president.

High School to College

Transitional Period Topic of Conference

Easing the high school senior's transition to college has been the subject of two days of meetings and conferences at SIU.

The annual High School Articulation Conference, held Monday and Tuesday, was specifically designed to seek solutions to this problem.

The conference's purpose was to exchange information, to identify problems of common interest to the University and the high schools, and to improve the transition process. Various high school counselors and teachers took part in a number of subject matter group meetings in the Arena.

Among those attending the conference were two representatives from one of the largest downstate Illinois high schools, Springfield Senior High School, Assistant principal John W. Turner and counselor Albert T. Plain commented on the problem of improving the high school-to-college transition.

"The problem of getting into a college is paramount to all others for the high school senior," Turner said. "Most high school seniors really do not get the opportunity to consider what lies ahead of them; they simply are concerned with finding an open door."

Concerning SIU in particular, Turner said about 40 Springfield High graduates enter SIU yearly. He added that the school's seniors always desire to see the University first, and that the high school allows two days out of the senior year for students to visit the college of their choice.

In addition to the size and

SIU Students Capture Top Speech Honors

Three members of the Department of Speech brought back honors from a recent statewide speech contest at Chicago's Loyola University.

Marvin Kleinau, professor of speech, said the Southern group won two firsts and one second in the contest.

Stan Hill, a senior from Marion majoring in speech, won the Illinois State-men's oratory state championship. He is now eligible for the national finals in Detroit, May 3, 4, 5 and 6.

His winning entry, "How To Handle Serpents," describes the relationship of man and God.

Senior Ron Hrebener, a government major from Rock Island, took first place in the Men's extemporaneous speaking contest. His speech, "Can We Neutralize Southeast Asia for World Peace?", will also be sent to the national finals.

Another winner, Norma Kettay, a freshman speech major from Peoria, won second place in the women's oratory speaking contest.

Her talk entitled "Ideal Masquerader" concerns 20th century love and hate.

"This is the first time for a long while that we've brought back some winners from the contest," said Kleinau.

varied offerings of SIU, Plain mentioned that the school's proximity and "easy" entrance requirements were major factors in determining a student's choice. "The best representatives for SIU are the students," he said.

As for any drawbacks to SIU Turner said that the school's fast-rising status has largely extinguished the old image Southern had — "that of an easy-going, not-too-serious university."

Turner, a native of nearby Anna, said that his own opinion of SIU has changed a great deal. "I used to have a rather strong dislike for Southern, but no longer. This is a school which encourages prospective students, rather than discouraging them as many schools do—and for this I'm full of praise for SIU."

Vietnam War Veteran Says Air Support Gives U.S. Edge

Capt. Edward Boyt, U.S. Army, spoke Tuesday in Shryock Auditorium to ROTC about his tour of duty in Vietnam with the 1st Air Cavalry Division.

The 1st Air Cavalry was developed and tested in the United States in 1963-64. It is comprised of three brigades of 2,000 men each with air combat support units.

"We were told to go play war in the Carolinas," Boyt said, "and the concept proved successful."

The Air Cavalry differs from other U.S. Army cavalry units in that it utilizes helicopters and close air support of ground operations.

"The French failed in Vietnam for lack of air support," Boyt said. "Five men can tear up a convoy without air support. One of Ho Chi Minh's basic military doctrines has been that Americans would never fly close air support. They cut off our troops and get close enough that air support would be impossible without injuring American soldiers. We had to figure out ways to get that support without getting killed."

Boyt participated in the 1st Air Cavalry's first major operation on Nov. 14, 1965. A North Vietnamese unit had fallen back into the mountains to regroup. They were being pursued by six American units. The 1st Air Cavalry landed in helicopters in front of the attacking units, and surprised the Viet Cong.

Boyt showed one slide during his talk in which there were 20 to 30 South Vietnamese who were starving to death with several tons of rice stored around them. Viet Cong had taken hostages whom they threatened to kill if the other villagers ate the rice.

"You cannot imagine the terror these people live with," Boyt said.

He said the land was rich. "It's lush, green ground with some nice beaches," he said. "It's beautiful from 40,000 feet."

SIU Activity Rated Lifeless, Survey Shows

By Kevin Cole

If opinion surveys can be trusted, SIU might as well give up; this place is out of the swing.

Ninety-seven college newspaper editors can't be wrong. The group, queried by McCall magazine, was asked to rank the reputations of colleges in several categories. SIU made none of the categories.

Vassar rated as one of the schools producing the "best wives," "the dullest girls," and the "most promiscuous women."

Girls are "most likely" to find a husband at UCLA. That university also rated among those with "greatest sexual freedom." The topic was dropped there.

Harvard develops the most liberal men, millionaires.

most promiscuous men, the survey said, SIU was not mentioned in any of these categories.

"Most drinking" is done at the Universities of Virginia, Wisconsin, Miami at Ohio and Colorado. Again SIU was omitted in the listings.

The editors placed Southwest Texas State College as the most likely breeding ground for presidents. STC came in second only to Harvard and ahead of Yale and West Point. One STC alumnus is Lyndon B. Johnson.

The young editors listed Northwestern as the school to which they would like to send their daughters, and Harvard as the school to which they would like to send their sons.

One editor said the University of Guam has the best-dressed coeds. Girls there wear sarongs, he said.

The Devil Returns To Division Street

Recently, Nelson Algren was arrested by narcotics agents in Chicago. Ironically, the Hollywood adaptation of Algren's novel on drug addiction, THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN ARM, was shown on Sunday night T.V. shortly thereafter. But perhaps the greatest irony is the fact that one of America's finest living novelists and former professor at the Iowa Writer's Workshop is now, by label of primary potency, a junkie, a criminal.

Last fall, I assigned my GSD English classes Algren's short story in alcoholism, "How the Devil Came Down Division Street." Students were assigned to write a theme interpreting the story and identifying the allegorical or symbolic "Devil." The answer varied then, but it is clear now; he is that same nefarious character who is bugging our phones, censoring our magazines, presenting our loyalty oaths—George Orwell called him "Big Brother."

In the January 1967 issue of Playboy, Phil Spector, commenting on the tragic death of comedian-social critic Lenny Bruce, said that "Lenny died from an overdose of police." The consensus of opinion in the Bruce article was that the very society that Bruce so savagely satirized, branded him as subversive and proceeded to torment him in a paranoid defensive reaction; a case of a criminal society creating crimes for its critics. William Blake wrote in 1793, "Prisons are built with stones of Law, Brothels with bricks of Religion." The stones of an irrational and inequitable law have now imprisoned Nelson Algren.

But Algren is not alone. In Soviet Russia it is not uncommon for men of letters to be imprisoned for dangerous writings or activities; witness Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuri Daniel. In our country, Henry David Thoreau was imprisoned for refusing to pay taxes to support the Mexican War. When Emerson asked in shock what he was doing in jail, Thoreau replied by asking of Emerson, "What are you doing out there?" Times have changed. Joan Baez refuses to pay that portion of her taxes which would go to support the Viet Nam war, but "Big Brother" has gotten smart; he "attaches" her taxes from a bank, "lets freedom ring" and gets money anyway.

Yet Algren pays his taxes, does not advocate the violent overthrow of the government, and writes about the problems of the individual in an indifferent society. Why has "Big Brother" chosen to persecute him? Perhaps such a killing by the narco agents is intended to have some shock value on the American campus. At the same time Algren was arrested, the Federal Government publicly announced that undercover narcotics agents were being "planted" on college campuses all over the country. Perhaps the arrest of Algren was planned to coincide with this announcement. In the modern folk-satire "The John Birch Society" the Chad Mitchell Trio sings: "We're after 'Rosy' Clooney, we've gotten 'Pinky' Lee—And the day we get 'Red' Skelton won't that be a victory."

Well they've gotten Nelson Algren; who are they after now? John Steinbeck? After all, he did write "In Dubious Battle," a novel about (oh my gosh) Communists. Who will be the next victory? Allen Ginsberg? He advocates the sensible legalization of "pot." Or maybe you, the college student who would like to try "grass" to see if you can get high without the noxious after effects of alcohol. Are you an addict? Are you a criminal? No? Better watch out anyway. The Devil returned to Division Street and his Mephistophelian disciples in drag disguises are now marching on Main Street, on Broad Street, Sunset Strip, and who knows, maybe South University Avenue.

WHY IS THIS MAN LAUGHING?

The Free School Controversy

Perhaps the greatest asset to America, the one thing that might stimulate change and progress in our society, is the ability of some of us to be able to look at ourselves and at our systems objectively, and be able to criticize and make improvements upon the fallacies which we find. Mr. Hitchens, in his editorial degrading Free School (KA, February 15, 1967) lacks this quality. He has obviously become so content with the status-quo, and so blind of anything different from what exists now, that he has hastily generalized to some invalid assumptions about Free School. Through clever manipulations of words, he has arrived at some conclusions which are wholly subjective, and are, in my opinion, false.

Mr. Hitchens has awkwardly concluded that conventional American education (and this includes your lecture halls at Lawson and Shryock) "impart(s) to the student an understanding of the greater body of human knowledge which our society has accumulated through the ages," and is the "finest and most comprehensive preparatory establishment in the world." Furthermore, he has classified myself and the staff on the NEWSLETTER as a "society of educational anarchists." And after putting this tag on us, he drops the Free School into a "maze, giving us only two directions in which to go: 'a supplement to education' or 'a source of agitation.'"

The high degree of confidence Mr. Hitchens has in conventional education is notable (he also has great confidence in Johnson's Vietnam War policy). However, he did not state by what criterion he classifies American education as the "finest" and "most comprehensive." Nor did he show how affective modern university education is in imparting to the student this "understanding." Mr. Hitchens did, however, conclude that Free School renounces the present system of education and could corrupt education by becoming a "source of agitation." How he could come to these conclusions after admitting that he has read what we said about not trying to organize

Three Grants Awarded To SIU Professors

We were pleased last week when we learned, quite by chance, of an event of major academic importance. The NSF's long-awaited counterpart, the National Foundation for the Arts and Humanities, has announced the awarding of 69 research grants for the next year. No school in the country received more than three grants, and only five received that number. SIU was among the five.

Paul A. Schilpp, Distinguished Visiting Professor of Philosophy, was awarded $15,260 for the continuation of the Library of Living Philosophers. The Library is an eminent series of critiques of the works of the greatest contemporary philosophical figures followed by their replies to the criticisms.

A second grant, in the amount of $10,000, has been awarded to the Co-operative Dewey Research Project for the pursuit of their compilation and publication of the complete works of John Dewey.

Finally, anthropologists C. L. Riley and Charles Lange have received $6,300 for continued research on a project which will culminate in the publication of an annotated edition of the Southwest Journals of Adolf Bandolier for the period 1880-92.

No grants were awarded for a period greater than one year. The Library and the Bandolier projects received the full amounts of their requests for that period.

KA congratulates the recipients of the grants, condemns the conduct of the war which has, to such a large extent, inhibited the growth of the Foundation, and castigates the Daily Egyptian for failing to print one of the most newsworthy stories of the year.

NOTES

From The Underground Bomb Shop

It's happening men. KA, the student opinion (any relation to Puck?) weekly, is growing teeth at last! The count is now two. So Welcome Comrade Maoist! Let's hear some more of that good jive; but loosen up a bit. One of these days we can have a real ideological dispute, or maybe a Sino-Anarchist Split (with lots of whip cream, ha ha ha ha!) Actually, that crap is best put off until after the Revolution—yeah man, when everyone is eating and thinking, and the Administration is put back in its rightful place—pushing paper clips.

Solidarity is far more important than ideology (which is just ego-games anyway.) That's something all you hairy people out there gotta tune in on. This whole damn society is built on suspicion, fear, hate, and greed.* Just think about it—what is the essence of business? Do the other cat in any way you can to get your profit. People hate each other, they hate themselves; man, they're down on everything. You gonna tell me that a society, and a world, which creates ulcers, insanity, and napalm is the "true and proper" state of man? Hell, that's not even a fitting place for comm-u-nists, much less human beings. We're born free, and society spends the rest of our lives making us ashamed of it! That's a real drag. As long as some cat down south has to shuffle, as long as the Vietnamese have to live and die in holes like rats—nobody's free! You've got to get together and trust one another—then we can do something about it. A handful of people who really trust one another (that's what solidarity means), could flip this school on its shiny dead electronic ear!

Slow down baby, slow down. What do we need now? (I can't finish this column without shooting somebody down.) Ah Ha! How about a Regional Fascist to represent the "good and respectable people" on campus; and an Ass Emeritus to represent Greek Row. Speaking of Greeks, that reminds me of a story. . . .

Some time ago, some of the fraternity cats were going to do something altruistic for the community—tear down a condemned house or some such thing. Anyway, they all showed up and stood around smoking cigarettes, throwing spit balls at each other, and all that jazz. Eventually a photographer showed up, the kids all assumed strenuous look-at-me-I'm-working-hard poses and the camera went click-click-and, all the kids went home to spiff-up for the evenings drinking. You dig?

It's wild: how things like religions don't really get rolling until the Man who starts it all is safely out of the way—think about The Great Society and it's new high priest. Take Christianity for instance. The other day, a St. Louis newspaper editorial on crime quoted Bishop F.J. Sheen (fair-haired boy and Prince of the Church.) Sheen is really down on "Social sloberbers" who think we should show compassion to "junkies, dope fiends, the throat slashers, the beatniks, the prostitutes, the homosexuals, and the punks." There's just no room left for decent men! (Egyptian St. Louis Globe Democrat, Feb. 2, 1967.)

Just who the hell are these decent men? Are they the thieves who wear suits and have businesses downtown? Are they the cats who have orgasms when they think of napalm? Are they the housewives who scream the vilest obscenities they can think of at Negro children trying to go to school or are they the nice quiet people who let it all happen? You'd think that Christ threw the money changers out of the temple just so the church could set up its own racket. If these are the "decent people," I'm pulling out and casting my lot with the crooks!

Think back. Just who did Christ jive with? As the book relates, He made it with crooks and prostitutes, lepers and thieves, bums and beggars. As far as the authorities were concerned, He was one of them. That's why they burned Him. But now the whole thing actually, since Rome, has been taken up by the establishment and twisted to its own ends. Our good bishop tells us all. What's even stranger is that he gets away with it! His statements are some of the most hypocritical and un-Christ like I've ever heard! Here's Dostoyevsky's Grand Inquisitor-in-a-business-suit all over again! Yeah! Christ brought freedom (But don't forget Buddha, Mohammed, Gandhi, Thoreau, and all the other people.) and the church has been in a panic for centuries to wipe it out. Really, when you get down to it J.C. was one of the first Anarchists!

O.K. kids, on the count of three, run to the nearest authority figure with your tails wagging, tell him that I'm evil and should be wiped out, and get your head petted.

All right people, I'll put away my hammer and bombs for the week and leave you with a joke. DIG THIS! Ayn Rand appeared in a thing called The "Objectivist" Newsletter! WOW!

'Peter Pan' Review

Keep The Faith, Baby!

There is an axiom in psychology which states that as we grow older we become more inhibited. The art of acting is concerned with creating the illusion that this law is false. "Good" actors give pleasure because they make us forget for a little while that we are not free; they help us to dream of freedom. In writing PETER PAN, J.M. Barrie attempted to demonstrate the infinity of the imagination, the reality of illusion. Therefore, he handed the play over to children. And in the Southern Player's production it was the children who kept faith with the playwright by communicating the heart of the play. Quite innocently, they displayed the necessary lack of self-consciousness by the casualness of their posture and voice. Unfortunately, it was some of the undergraduate and graduate actors who dispelled the illusion. E.g., Smee (Tony Seminerio) — with excessive make-up (which was too thick); with much jumping about in stiff-legged and stiff-backed fashion (which was obviously false); and with much hee-hawing and caterwauling—communicated to this observer a lack of belief in the truth of the story.

Carol Smith's Peter Pan was a sprightly and vivacious creature. If there was a fault, she seemed more sure of herself in the air than on the ground. Susan Ramp (Wendy) was a delightful free spirit who seemed at times to move the play ahead all by herself. She is a very talented young lady. The mellifluous tone of Loren Riggs (Captain Hook) was appropriate although difficult to hear. As Macy Dorf once said: "If you're going to go, you've got to go all the way." This would seem to be good advice for all self-conscious actors.

Much of the credit for a pleasant evening's entertainment must go to the director, Dr. Samuel Selden. He utilized the entire stage; provided us with a sensible cutting of the play; and allowed the children to move freely, trusting their instincts. PETER PAN is a difficult and complicated play; there are not many who would attempt it.

The settings designed by Thomas Norton were new and experimental, displaying a fresh imaginative approach which kept faith not only with the play but also with the physical possibilities of our new theater. Mr. Norton seems to reflect Antonin Artaud's concept of theater. That prophet of the modern theater defined the stage as "above all a space to fill and a place where something happens." For the first time, many of us saw actors displacing air high above us and not merely on the floor level. For the first time, many of us realized that the stage provides a tremendous area of which only a small part is ever used. The setting for the Home Under Ground clearly demonstrated the exciting possibilities of the forestage hydraulic lift. The exaggerated size of the trees and the pirate ship pointed up the smallness of the children. The flamboyant colors and free forms accentuated the make-believe quality of the story. The children seemed right at home. The adults found it awkward; it was not their world.

The clever use of film sequences during the scene changes was another imaginative touch. The lighting of the play was especially effective because of the difficulties involved in masking the wires needed to fly Peter. The great variety of color blended well with the various settings. The costumes were also very colorful and enhanced the production. (Why were the children all in light shades? It was hard to distinguish them.)

Congratulations should be extended to the crews which constructed and shifted the scenery and handled the mechanical devices. Time, money, labor, and talent can solve most of the problems of a production. This show seemed to need a little more of the first two items.

Marissa, Ill. (KA)—In the wee hours of the morning following our last publication, the offices of the Murphysboro "Current" burst into flames. Observers report a sinister figure in black cape and sporting a "Support Your Local Anarchist" button laughing as he fled the scene. Upon hearing the news, Jim Hood, a member of the "Current" staff, enunciated, in a clear and pleasant manner, "Oh?" Despite full-scale attempts by the local authorities to unearth the anarchist in his lair, he remains at large and continues to grace these pages with his polemics.

Marissa, Ill. (KA) — Due to the recent rash of bicycle accidents involving both autos and pedestrians, the university will revoke all bicycle stickers to students who have not owned the vehicle before Jan. 1, 1967. In the last week 42 pedestrians, 84 cyclists, and 5 cars were involved in accidents.

What California Is Today,
The Rest Will Be Tomorrow.

It came to me the other day as I was preparing to mount my Monday afternoon offensive against Fort Lawson—which is to say, while weaving my waverly way through pine trees, elm trees, short trees, tall trees, little trees, big trees, fat trees, thin trees, green bushes, brown bushes, undergrowth and overgrowth in desperate search of Lawson 151. I chanced to think of all that went into the manufacture, administration and/or regulation of this effervescent university. While thinking about this it occurred to me that the great state of California is in need of a strong hand to guide its faltering educational system.

Now I ask you who could serve better the recently revised standards of California's Political-Educational system.

Who else can solve problems of such magnitude as—what to do about the traffic situation in Carbondale with such an easy solution as a motor vehicle ban affecting only the politically ineffective students.

Who else can take a small school with a poor academic rating and turn it into a big school with a poor academic rating and a basketball team?

Who else could hold an election on the future of compulsory ROTC after an agreement to go voluntary, has been reached with the military?

WHO?? Who am I referring to? Why, of course! None other than that staunch defender of freedom, that arch opponent of any attempt to sacrifice the individual on the great altar of "for the betterment of the State, Community and/or school."

Out of Washington comes the word that SIU has been awarded a $2,874,369 research grant to study proposed federal bicycle safety standards. A list of devices has been suggested to stop the slaughter on pedestrian pathways caused by self-propelled twowheel vehicles.

The list includes:

1. mandatory helmets
2. safety belts
3. warning flasher
4. siren audible at 50 yards
5. handle bars that collapse 3 inches forward upon impact
6. non-glare fenders

A representative from the Schwinn Bicycle Co. is reported to have remarked that the proposed safety equipment additions should increase the average initial purchase price of a bicycle an estimated $243.

Stage Director Visits Campuses

Mielziner described himself as an "all-around theater man" not interested in just one aspect such as lighting, mechanics, or costumes.

He set a 70 foot maximal limit on distance between actor and audience. "Otherwise it is synthetic," he said, "I don't believe in amplification."

He also said he disliked method acting because of the tendency of the actor to get wrapped up in the "inner self" and forget that his purpose is to communicate to the audience.

Among Mielziner's present activities is the codesigning of a theater at the University of Michigan and one at the University of Rhode Island.

Following a tour of Shryock Auditorium with an eye to possible hints for redesigning the facility, Mielziner flew to New York for an opening Tuesday evening.

Exhibits to Feature Graduate Art Work

A series of five exhibits showing the work of 14 graduate art students will be held in the Mitchell Gallery, Evert Johnson, curator of galleries, has announced.

Two or three students will exhibit together in each of the shows, Johnson said.

Scheduled for the opening exhibit today are paintings in oil and acrylics, together with graphics, by Bruce Soderwick of Chicago, Jean Evans, of Santa Fe, N.M. and Carol Flaherty of Quincy, Mass.

In mid-March the work of Delmar Benedict of McLean and John Moninee of Evansville, Ind., will be exhibited.

Lab to Cease Daily Reports On Weather

The weather reporting service of the Climatology Laboratory of SIU will be discontinued when the laboratory is moved to the Agronomy Farm located about two miles southwest of SIU.

A definite date for the move has not been set, according to David M. Sharpe, an instructor in geography who is affiliated with the laboratory.

Sharpe said the service is being discontinued in order to give more time for basic research in energy and moisture relations. He added that the reports were duplication of the reports of the U.S. Weather Bureau, and the weather reports may be obtained from that bureau.

Weather data will be collected for research project, however, Sharpe said.

RFK Says Presidents Knew of CIA Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said Tuesday the Central Intelligence Agency operated under presidential orders when it financed student trips to foreign meetings.

"If it was a mistake, it was one of policy made in the executive branch and it should not be blamed on the CIA," Kennedy told a reporter.

Kennedy said that when he was in the Cabinet as attorney general he knew the government was paying bills for student travel abroad and he said the decision to do this through the CIA was made "at the highest levels" in the Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Diplomat Says Time Is Right To Negotiate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States should take advantage of the internal turmoil in Red China to negotiate peace in Vietnam, soldier-diplomat James M. Gavin advised Tuesday.

But don't do it by escalating the war, he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Such an escalation, the retired three-star general and former ambassador to France said, "might provide the very basis of bringing order into the Chinese situation, with a prompt and militant response to the aid of Hanoi."

Gavin, now chairman of the board of a management consultant firm in Cambridge, Mass., said the terms may "seem to us to be rather a stiff price to pay for peace." Some might call it appeasement, he indicated.

"But the alternative," he said, "is a protracted conflict."

Gavin said he believes "that we can negotiate with Hanoi and with the National Liberation Front confident that a free, neutral and independent Vietnam can be established with guarantees of stability from an international body."

The general said "many Americans still think of international affairs in terms of almost a generation ago, a world of bad guys and good guys."

"Actually the world is no longer like that, for the Communist conspiracy is shattered beyond possibility of recovery."

What the United States should do, he said, is make peace in Vietnam and get back to the business of building a better society where poverty is abolished and the standard of living raised for all citizens.

"I emphasize these national needs," he said, "because I believe that they are being grossly neglected while we continue to escalate our spending in Vietnam."

The CIA's activity was under executive supervision at all times, Kennedy said.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo. also said, in a separate interview, that the CIA was operating under instructions when it offered financial aid to the National Student Association.

"This is an operating agency and it operates under policies and instructions of others," Symington said. He declined to be more specific about who gave the instructions, but he presumably referred to the National Security Council which is headed by the President.

Symington is a member of a Senate Armed Services subcommittee which supervises the CIA. He spoke after CIA Director Richard Helms told the subcommittee in secret session that the agency is withdrawing financial support from some private organizations it has subsidized.

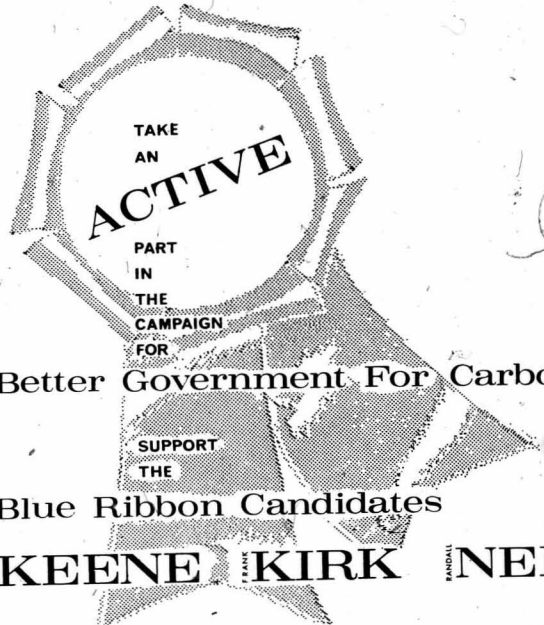

This word was relayed to newsmen by the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., who declined to identify any of the organizations affected.

Russell gave some indication of the extent of the CIA subsidy operations when he said: "They've had contacts with almost every facet of American life that has any connection outside the United States."

Russell said he has been aware from the start that the CIA had been channeling funds to the National Student Association. The NSA's supervisory board held an emergency meeting last week and said some of the group's leaders had been trapped into gathering intelligence for the CIA.

Russell said it would not have been possible to openly subsidize such groups. This would have cast doubt on the status of any Americans attending any international meeting, he said.

Russell commented that most intelligence is obtained, not by spies in foreign embassies, but by the compilation of many reports from many sources. The United States has compiled "a great deal of information," he said, by piecing together data offered by world travelers.

...Defending Richard Speck

Speck Trial Restrictions Attacked

PEORIA (AP)—The Chicago Tribune sued Tuesday for removal of certain restrictions on news coverage of the Richard Speck murder trial which, it said, were unconstitutional "judicial censorship."

As state and defense sought to complete a jury for the trial of Speck, charged with murdering eight student nurses, the newspaper filed a petition with the Illinois Supreme Court in Springfield.

The newspaper's petition asked permission to file for a writ of mandamus or writ of prohibition to expunge certain guidelines that Judge Herbert C. Paschen, presiding at the circuit court trial, set forth for newsmen. The Tribune called them unconstitutional and "judicial censorship and prior restraint upon freedom of speech and press."

Gerald Getty, Speck's defense council, made no comment on the legal action.

The Tribune contended these guidelines were onerous and exceeded Paschen's jurisdiction:

A ban against publication, until a verdict is returned, of names and addresses of selected, excused or prospective jurors.

A prohibition against official court reporters' selling or furnishing any transcript of the proceedings to anyone other than lawyers for both sides until a verdict is announced.

A rule against making sketches or drawings within the courthouse premises of anyone attending or participating in the trial.

Judge Paschen modified these regulations somewhat Monday. News media now are permitted to identify jury prospects excused from serving. Reporters also may refer to the official transcript when the court is in recess.

The Illinois Supreme Court will not be in regular session until March. However, in the past it has acted on emergency issues at special sessions and it appeared likely it would do so on the Tribune petition.

This was the first lawsuit growing out of the guidelines although newspaper and radio organizations have criticized them.

Informed of the suit, Judge Paschen declined comment on the action.

"I haven't seen the law suit yet, so I don't know what they are suing me for. I have no comment," he said.

Frontier Chinese Called On To Support Mao's Forces

TOKYO (AP) Radio Peking called on Chinese in frontier areas Wednesday to strengthen China's defenses by rallying behind Mao Tse-tung. The frontiers include Manchuria and Sinkiang Province, where four Soviet divisions were reported facing seven Chinese divisions.

A second broadcast issued in the name of Mao called on peasants in farming communities all over the mainland to begin "spring sowing and actively work to achieve production targets." This was an indication that Red China's power struggle had seriously hampered farm production.

Government Begins New Bond Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government unveiled Tuesday a new high interest savings note—the "Freedom Share," bearing 4.74 interest yearly when held to its 4 1/2 year maturity—and tied its existence directly to the Vietnam war.

President Johnson, in launching the 1967 savings bond drive, called the new security "creative, attractive and a cheerful companion" to the familiar series-E savings bond.

The new notes will go on sale May 1 and can be purchased on a one-for-one basis only in combination with series-E savings bonds through the payroll savings or bond-a-month plan.

Officials said it will be offered for a limited time to meet the Vietnam emergency—until the end of the war or for two years, whichever is longer.

It's hoped the new notes will attract up to $1 billion over the next year to help fight the war.

Series-E savings bonds now pay 4.15 per cent interest annually when held to their seven-year maturity.

Announcement of the new security came at a bond luncheon here which was carried by closed-circuit television to similar luncheons in 32 other cities. Johnson taped his talk in advance for use on the telecast.

The broadcast on the frontier situation, while carrying an implied warning to the Soviet Union, also seemed more concerned with production. It implied there had been work stoppages in the frontier area stretching from Sinkiang in the west to Heilungkiang Province of Manchuria bordering on Siberia.

The broadcast was an "emergency appeal" to workers and peasants to return to their posts and strengthen China's defense by holding "a gun in one hand and a plow in the other."

All through this area, opponents of Mao have been reported putting up armed resistance to the 73-year-old party chairman's attempt to impose austerity in the name of his great proletarian revolution—or purge. Many workers and peasants have been reported deserting their jobs in the frontier regions.

"We warn all reactionary elements both in and outside the country," said the broadcast in what appeared to be notice to the Russians. "If you dare cause disturbance or destruction, the Chinese people and army will destroy you."

DEE DEE DOLAN, CHICAGO

"I've ironed my hair...tried lots of torchery things to get rid of natural curl."

(This is how Dee Dee Dolan looked before using CURL FREE. And these are her own words.) "It's obnoxious...not so much the ringlets...as the frizzy ends. I've tried all kinds of things to get the curl out but nothing does it. I have to set it in great big rollers...and just keep my fingers crossed. Whenever it's even a little damp outside...the set comes right out. My hair just hangs sort of bushy.

"I've always envied kids who've had straight hair. I'd really love to wear those straight, collegiate styles. Do you really think CURL FREE can do that for me?"

DEE DEE DOLAN, CHICAGO

"My bangs! The sides! Curl Free really took the curl out."

"The bangs—that's the part I'm crazy about. And it's springy. You know...not limp or anything. I love it! It was simple, too. Mainly, I just applied CURL FREE and combed it through. Now I won't have to set it as much. It won't frizz up—fantastic!"—DEE DEE DOLAN.

Comb those natural curls right out of your hair with cool, creamy CURL FREE. Even if your hair is so curly it puts up a real fight—it will surrender to CURL FREE.

Just keep using it and you'll see. Styling Freedom that lasts for months. That's CURL FREE.

RECEIVES AWARD—Daniel Scates, SIU graduate student from Trezevant, Tenn., has received the mid-year installment of his $500 National Wildlife Federation award. Scates, one of two SIU graduate students receiving the award for the current school year, is majoring in plant industries.

Showing Scheduled Thursday of 11 Award-Winning Films

The Cine Roadshow, a program of award-winning films selected to represent the United States in foreign film festivals, will be presented by the SIU Film Productions at 8 p.m. Thursday in Davis Auditorium in the Wham Education Building.

The program will consist of 11 films with subjects ranging from humor to documentaries.

"Hello World," produced by New York University, is about a little boy who explores his world in the morning. "The Mural on my Street," produced by Kirk Smallman, is about children making a mural of tile in a neighborhood house.

"Help! My Snowman is Burning Down," produced by Carson Davidson, is a film on the humor of the absurd.

"Open Your Eyes" was produced by the Girl Scouts and shows how teenage girls serve their community.

"Study in Wet," produced by Homer Groening, documents surf-riding with experimental film techniques.

"Breaking the Habit," produced by John Korty, urges the stopping of smoking.

"Children Without" was produced by Charles Guggenheim and depicts how modern education works with culturally deprived children.

"Conquest of Light," produced by Owen Murphy Productions, documents the laser beam development.

"Cráyon" was produced by ACI Productions and it describes the art of film making with the use of crayons.

"Harry Bertoi's Sculpture," produced by OIP Films, tells a story of an artist's work.

"The Louvre," produced by the National Broadcasting Co., documents the world-famous Paris art museum.

Swimmers Grab Several Records at Invitational

The Saluki swimming team was in Athens, Ga., this past weekend to participate in the Southern Collegiate Invitational, a meet operated similar to the NCAA finals.

The Salukis broke the school record in the 800-yard freestyle relay, broke two meet and pool records and five Salukis swam the best times of their careers. Six SIU men swam their best times of 1967.

The 800-yard relay team of Ed Mossotti, Don Shaffer, Scott Konkel and Reinhard Westenreider swam the event in 7:28.1 which broke the school record set last season. The Salukis finished third in that meet.

Kimo Miles finished second in the 200-yard butterfly with a time of 2:00.6 which was his best this year. Miles qualified for the NCAA finals.

Gerry Pearson took two firsts and set a new meet and pool record. He swam the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:12.9 and the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:02.6—a new record. Both times qualified him for the NCAA finals.

Mossotti finished first in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 22 flat and finished fourth in the 100-yard freestyle with a clocking of 49.1.

Freshman Gar Schloetzer broke a pool and meet record in the 500-yard freestyle but finished second so his name won't go in the record books. Schloetzer swam the event in 5:03.7. He also finished second in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 50 seconds flat, his best in that event this year.

Shaffer turned in his best times of the year in the 400-yard individual medley and in the 200-yard backstroke.

Rich Evertz nailed down his career best in the 1650-yard freestyle with a time of 18:24.8. He turned in the best effort of his career in the 500-yard freestyle with a clocking of 5:14.0. His best performance of 1967 was recorded in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:10.8.

Westenreider bettered his previous mark in the 200-yard free with a time of 1:51.7 and recorded his season's best in the 100-yard free at 50.2. Eric Jones had his best performance of the season in the 100-yard butterfly with a 56.5.

Two New Coaches Join Saluki Football Staff

Two new assistant coaches have joined SIU football Coach Ellis Rainsberger's staff. Athletic Director Donald N. Boydston announced that Bill Mills and Ron Marciniak would be joining Southern's football staff immediately.

Mills will be a defensive line coach. He comes to SIU from Coffeyville, Kan., Junior College, where he led Coffeyville to a spot among the nation's top 10 junior college teams four out of his five seasons. He is a graduate of North-eastern State College of Oklahoma. He earned a masters degree at the University of Oklahoma. Mills is 35 years and has two children.

Marciniak was the line coach eight years at the University of Arizona. He will serve as an offensive line coach at SIU. Marciniak graduated from Kansas State University, Rainsberger's alma mater. He earned all-America honors as an offensive guard his senior year. He has played professionally with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian League and the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Marciniak is 34 years old and the father of five. He started his coaching in Pittsburgh, Pa., his hometown.

Mills and Marciniak will fill vacancies which have existed in Rainsberger's staff since he was hired prior to last season.

Local Intramural Tourney Begins

Eight teams emerged victorious in the first round of the Intramural Basketball Tournament Monday evening in the SIU Arena. The quarter finals will be held Thursday, semi-finals will take place Sunday, and the finals will be held on March 2.

The Boomer Bandits notched the most decisive victory of the evening trouncing Sigma Pi (B) 62-18. Joe DeMichiel's 26 points led the Pierce Panthers over the Fingertips 57-54. The Mummies dumped the Rejects 71-61, the Bills beat the Last Resorts 57-41, the Transfers edged the Magnificent "7" 53-49, Kappa Alpha Psi (A) stopped the Misfits 62-58, and the Draft Dodgers slipped by Abbott in a triple overtime 71-67.

Thursday, at 8:15 a.m., the Boomer Bandits will meet the Transfers on Court 2 and the Pierce Panthers will meet Kappa Alpha Psi on Court 3. The Mummies will take on the Draft Dodgers on Court 2 and the Bills will meet Stoke's Raiders on Court 3 at 9:30 p.m.

Terriers Keeps 6th Place Rating

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Benton and Collinsville, the only two teams to hold the No. 1 rating, remained in the 1-2 positions Tuesday in The Associated Press 10th weekly Illinois high school basketball poll.

The Carbondale Terriers were in sixth place. The local team has a win-loss record of 20-2. They received 182 poll points.

Grapplers to Face SE Missouri State Tonight

By Bill Kindt

The Saluki wrestling team will be in Cape Girardeau tonight to meet Southeast Missouri State.

The meet should offer little challenge to Southern which holds an 11-2 record this season.

"I expect Southeast Mis-

NFL Adopts New Rules

HONOLULU (AP) — The National Football League Tuesday changed its fair catch rule, adopted a new single standard slingshot type goalpost and set the dates and sites for its two division playoff games.

The division winners play for the league title Sunday, Dec. 31, in the park of the Western winners.

Under the revised rule a player signaling for a fair catch may not initiate contact with an opposing player. The penalty for a violation will be a 15-yard loss.

souri to be average competition and I feel we have too much strength for them," said Coach Jim Wilkinson.

Wilkinson initiated a completely changed lineup in the last dual meet with Oklahoma State and, although the Salukis were beaten by the rugged Cowboys, Wilkinson nonetheless was exuberant over his team's performance.

"We wrestled the best we have wrestled in two years in the Oklahoma State meet. Our boys did well in every match," said Wilkinson.

Wilkinson will be forced into shaking up the lineup for the meet with Southeast Missouri and the meet on Saturday with Oklahoma. Buck Deadrich, the only undefeated Saluki regular, will miss both contests due to two boils on his leg. Deadrich, who has been progressing rapidly in the 191-pound division, is expected to return for the Iowa State meet Feb. 28.

Wilkinson also expressed hope that Larry Baron, out more than a month with a broken hand, may rejoin the team in time for the March 2

Indiana State meet. Baron has been working out with the team with his cast but has not been able to wrestle.

With the loss of Deadrich, Wilkinson has inserted sophomore Tony Turek in the lineup at the 160-pound division. This means that Wilkinson had to move Joe Domko back to 167, Aaron Bulow to 177 and Al Bulow to 191 to replace Deadrich. All three wrestled in the Oklahoma State meet.

Wilkinson expects the Southeast Missouri team to be strongest in the 123-pound class, the 152-pound weight and the heavyweight division. Eli Carr will wrestle at 123 for the Salukis, Al Lipper at 152 and Rich Seloover at heavyweight.

After Deadrich, who owns a 12-0-1 record for the year, the leading Saluki wrestlers are: Joe Domkos 18-2-1; Terry Magoon, 14-5; Dave Pforr, 13-5-1; Allen Bulow, 14-5, and Seloover, 13-4.

SIU Players Note Additional Fans

Two of Southern's varsity basketball players have added one more member to their fan clubs recently. Both Walt Frazier and Jay Westcott became fathers; Frazier last Sunday and Westcott Feb. 1.

Frazier's wife, Marsha, gave birth to an eight-pound, nine-ounce boy named Walt III. Little Walt was one-foot, eight when born.

Reserve forward Jay Westcott's wife Lynn gave birth to a girl, named Valerie Ann, who weighed in at six-pounds, nine-ounces and was 19 inches long. She was born Feb. 1.

CENTENARY'S BEST—Janie Speaks, Centenary's outstanding gymnast, is seen performing on the balance beam. Miss Speaks scored well in every event to capture second in the all around and was largely responsible for her team's strong bid to upset SIU Friday night....

.... COMEBACK BID—SIU's Gail Daley, seen completing her routine on the uneven bars Friday, made her first appearance since suffering a severe knee injury in the World Games trials last year. Miss Daley is attempting to get back into competition in time for the Collegiate Open Championships in April.

Regular Season Ending

Hartman Braces for Evansville

By Tom Wood

The regular season is but three games from being over for Coach Jack Hartman and the 1966-67 Salukis and a lot is riding on each of those games.

Some of the things which will be at stake are: a shot at the school's all time best record, the longest winning streak in SIU history, a post-season tourney spot in either the NIT or NCAA College Division, Hartman's fourth 20-win season at SIU and third straight, and a quantity called pride, which the Salukis have shown they possess in abundance.

Tonight it's Evansville in the Arena. The Aces bring a 7-16 record into the contest. But whenever these two teams get together, particularly when the stakes are this high, records are reduced to small piles of print, which everyone might as well forget.

The Purple Aces have lost eight games by a total of 18 points, which qualifies them for recognition as "one of the most unfortunate teams in the country" according to Hartman.

Hartman said, "We can't afford to overlook Evansville, despite their record."

Hartman pointed out that his Salukis had used up a lot of luck in earning their record, which is the best Hartman has had at Southern.

Evansville has recently lost twice to Indiana State by a total of three points. The Salukis defeated the Sycamores early in the season by a slim 72-69 count.

Despite Southern's 55-41 victory at Evansville Jan. 9, the Salukis had trouble with the Aces. Both teams came through with outstanding defensive performances that night.

Probably the biggest factor influencing the game tonight is the rivalry existing between the two schools. The Aces will bring a large contingent to support their efforts and if either school has to name an official basketball rival it would probably be each other.

The last team to beat the Salukis in the Arena was Evansville, almost two years to the day and 26 games ago. The Aces have run into hard times this year, the first time that they will not earn a bid to the NCAA tourney in the event's history, but that could give them more incentive and make this game all the more important.

Evansville has gotten some scoring punch from their big boy Tom Niemeier lately to augment the big offensive production of Herb Williams. Niemeier has contributed a lot under the boards for Evansville on both offense and defense.

Varsity action will start at 8:05. A frosh game between Evansville and SIU begins at 5:45.
