Seminar to focus on information age

By Jonathan Sentf
Special Assignment Writer

A symposium on the emerging information age, to which Vice President Albert Gore has been invited, will show the importance of new communication developments, an organizer said.

The School of Journalism, Broadcasting Service, the Department of Cinema and Photography and the Department of Radio-Television is offering a free two-day seminar March 4 and 5 on new developments in communication.

Speakers will include alumni and corporate executives such as Marcia Bullard, managing editor of USA Today's Weekend magazine, and Sandy Welch, vice president for Public Broadcasting Service. According to Michael Mu'ie, the chairman of the programming committee, the symposium is an introduction to a new age of communication.

"The content of material can be manipulated much more in the future," he said. "Information will be transmitted with new telecommunication breakthroughs and through the use of new video imagery."

Gore has been invited by Illinois legislators Paul Simon and Jerry Costello because Gore has been an advocate on the development of new communication technologies.

But Gore's March schedule is not planned yet, so he has been unable to commit to an appearance.

William Elliott, head of graduate studies in journalism, said people are witnessing a convergence of informational technologies on a level that has not existed before.

"As recently as 20 years ago in schools of communication no one talked about computer and database technology. These developments are what the symposium will explore," said Elliott.

"Within the last five years, educators have started to recognize the new ways information is sent, specifically through the integration of telecommunications, computer technologies, and information communication — what Albert Gore calls an information highway," Elliott said.

Elliott also recognizes that Bill Clinton as the first president to introduce the information age. Monday Clinton visited the Silicone Valley to speak with

Waight case inquest date determined

By Joe Littrell
Police Writer

Dates have been set for both the inquest and the grand jury investigating the death of Jose Waight.

Jackson County State's Attorney Chuck Grace announced yesterday that a grand jury will be convened March 3 on Jose Waight's death.

Waight, a 24-year-old freshman from South Holland, died Feb. 5 following a confrontation at Checkers nightclub, 706 E. Grand Avenue.

Grace's office will now be sending out notices to witnesses interviewed by the Carbondale Police Department, he said.

"We will try to get as many of those witnesses on the stand and under oath as we possibly can," Grace said.

According to Grace, the testimony of the witnesses and Student group disputes plans for parking lot

By David R. Kazak
Student Writer

Two student members of a committee studying a campus parking garage project criticized the plan of charging $25 to $50 to park and even questioned the need for such a structure.

Members of the Parking and Traffic Committee, which authorized the feasibility study in the fall of 1991, said the proposal will need some revision before approval is given to the McAndrew Stadium Parking Project.

The plan calls for two six-story structures to be built on the east and west sides of McAndrew Stadium.

The west side would be connected to the Student Center by a skyway and have 614 spaces for faculty, staff and campus visitors, a preliminary study says.

The east structure would have 648 spaces and be reserved for students.

The cost of the west structure is estimated at $5.5 million. The east structure is estimated at $3.9 million.

The study suggests paying for the project by selling new maroon parking stickers, which range in price from $25 to $50, depending on which structure the parking space is located.

Currently, students pay $10 dollars for on-campus parking privileges.

Student leaders push people to polls

By Sanjay Seth
City Writer

Several crucial issues that could affect SIUC students, including raising the bar entry age and starting a rental licensing program, are reasons why students should vote in primary elections today, student leaders said.

Polls are open at 28 precinct locations from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Susan Hall, president of the Graduate and Professional Student Council, said 3,000 Jackson County voters were registered for the presidential election in November.

If one-third of the voters come out to vote in the primaries, it would have a direct impact on the elections.

"In the last election in 1990, the two seats up for election went uncontested, and the mayor went uncontested as well," Hall said.

The primaries have nine candidates on the ballot, and this will be narrowed down to four candidates today for the final elections.

Hall said matters that will have direct impact on students include council decisions on a mass transit system and a rental property licensing program.

"In addition to this, some council members are proposing raising the bar entry age to 19 or older," Hall said. "Another example is that the city and TCI are both not interested in public access television."

Bill Hall, vice president of the GPSC, said reasons for this were that TCI has to administer it, costing time and money.

Furthermore, the City government might not like what

Cagers break down in OT, lose to SLU

By Karyn Viverito
Sports Writer

Just when it appeared the Salukis would get on the winning track, they were sidelined with another tough loss Monday night as St. Louis University beat SIUC, 87-78, in overtime.

SIUC was able to pull off an impressive win in a rugged matchup with Wichita State Saturday, but the Salukis could not find that momentum against SLU, as the Billikens outscored SIUC 15-6 in overtime to seal the victory.

Saluki head coach Rich Herrin said the Saluki errors on defense in the overtime was the difference in the game.

"We didn't stop and check our shots on defense in overtime," he said. "When you let a team drive to the hoop, they are going to put it in the hole and win the ballgame."

The second half of regulation was a wild roller coaster ride as the Salukis came back to make a run at the Billikens after trailing most of the second half.

Down by four with 2:30 to play in regulation, junior forward Mirko Pavlovic hit a 3-pointer to put the Salukis within one at 67-66. A field goal by senior forward Ashraf Amaya put SIUC ahead, 68-67.

After trading baskets, the two teams were tied 72-72 when SIUC came up the floor with 42 seconds left to play. After the Salukis killed time, senior guard Tyrone Bell put up two shots in the last six seconds, but neither shot would fall.

Herrin said the plan went perfect, except the Salukis weren't able to get the winning shot.

"We killed the clock the way we should and started our offense at about nine seconds left," he said. "Tyrone got off some good shots, and I thought they would go and they didn't, but that's part of it."

Another factor in the Saluki loss was foul trouble, as SIUC sent SLU to the line for a total of 43 shots, of which the Billikens made 31 shots.

SIUC shot equally well, making 16 of 19, but its hard to win when you send the home team to the line that many times, Herrin said.

"We tell them to play aggressive, keep your hands off, slide your feet and don't foul, but we couldn't get it done," he said. "We were lucky to win at Wichita in that situation, but we couldn't do it here."

Amaya led the Salukis in scoring with 19 points with Pavlovic and Lowery picking up 17 points each.

Blang, SIUC silence Cowboys' guns, 2-1

By Dan Leahy
Sports Writer

The SIUC baseball team earned a split in a two-game stint at Oklahoma State with a 2-1 victory Monday. The Salukis left Stillwater, Okla. with a 1-1 record after playing the fourth-ranked Cowboys.

SIUC freshman catcher Tim Kratochvil gave the Salukis a 1-0 lead when he led off the second inning with an opposite field blast in his first collegiate plate appearance. Jeff Cwynar followed Kratochvil's dinger with a single, and advanced to third on a single by Clint Smothers. Jason Smith knocked in his first run of the season on a sacrifice fly, scoring Cwynar and putting the Salukis up 2-0.

Oklahoma State picked up its only run in the bottom of the second when Sal Bando Jr. hit a solo shot, his second home run in two days, off of Saluki hurler Mike Blang.

Blang shut down OSU's offense, limiting the Cowboys to five hits and one run in 6 2/3 innings pitched.

Nate Sheppard came in for the final 2 1/3 innings, and got the Salukis out of a two on, two out situation in the seventh. Sheppard allowed only one hit the rest of the way to earn his first save of the season.

SIUC head coach Sam Riggleman said he was especially impressed with Blang's performance.

"His pitching was bordering outstanding," Riggleman said. "He really did a great job for us."

To go along with the good pitching performance, the Salukis also played solid defense. A couple of double plays and sound execution helped make the one-run lead stand.

"We did a lot of little things that were important because we didn't give anything away," Riggleman said.

Riggleman said the split was a real confidence booster.

"Leaving there with a split is a great accomplishment," Riggleman said. "Our kids were not intimidated by Oklahoma State's reputation and proved that we're a tough ballclub."

SIUC netters take three titles at Kentucky invite

The SIUC women's tennis team opened its 1993 season on a winning note, as the Salukis brought home three championships from the Eastern Kentucky Invitational.

"I am very pleased with how we did," SIUC coach Judy Auld said. "We were very successful all weekend, and did better than my expectations."

Lori Gallagher won the No. 3 singles title with a 6-3, 6-4 victory, while Irena Feofanova reigned over the No. 5 singles division.

"Lori sort of struggled throughout the weekend," Auld said. "She was a little tentative, but mentally she won the match."

In doubles action, the No. 1 doubles tandem of Gallagher and Catherine Pietsch captured the top spot, 7-6 (8-6), 5-7, 7-6 (7-4).

"They played outstanding doubles matches," Auld said. "It was a really good win for us."

Wendy Varnum came up just short in her attempt to capture SIUC's fourth title. Varnum placed second at No. 1 singles, dropping a 6-2, 6-0 decision.

Three other matches produced consolation bracket victories for the Salukis.

Lucy Steele captured the No. 5 singles consolation championship with a 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 victory.

The doubles pair of Varnum and Leesa Joseph won the No. 2 doubles consolation championship by default, while Steele teamed up with a

Saluki men's tennis squad 0-3 in weekend play

By Dan Leahy
Sports Writer

The SIUC men's tennis team played three matches over the weekend and served up a bagel in the win column, losing to Drake and Iowa State on Saturday, and Santa Barbara on Sunday to drop to 0-6 on the season.

The matchup with Missouri Valley Conference powerhouse Drake proved to be too much for the Salukis, who were blanked 7-0 by the Bulldogs. Drake returns all four singles champions and their No. 1 doubles champions from last year's MVC title-winning squad.

SIUC coach Dick LeFevre said he expected Drake to be the Salukis' toughest competition to date.

"Unfortunately, Drake is overwhelming right now," LeFevre said. "I think with the way we are improving, we'll be much tougher team in the spring."

The Salukis almost upset Iowa State, but lost a close one, 4-3. The action against Iowa State started to heat up after SIUC's No. 1, 2 and 3 players had already lost.

Andre Goransson won at No. 4 singles for the Salukis, defeating Mark Jones, 6-1, 0-6 and 6-1.

Bojan Vuckovich played No. 5 singles for SIUC, and beat Mickey Ramsey, 6-2, 0-6 and 6-3.

Andre Garcia kept the streak of victories alive at No. 6 singles by beating Bryan Wagner, 6-3, 6-3.

Out of the three doubles matches, only the combination of Tim Derouin and Andre Goransson could notch a victory, leaving the Salukis one match short of winning the meet.

Jay Merchant lost at No. 2 singles by default after injuring himself in the doubles competition.

"We played Iowa State really well," LeFevre said. "The team agrees that we should have won that one."

The match with Santa Barbara on Sunday was another lost opportunity, as the Salukis lost three singles matches in third-set tie-breakers.

Jay Merchant came up short at No. 2 singles, 6-2, 4-6, and 7-6. Andre Goransson, the Salukis' No. 4 singles player, lost to Joe ARABIAN PRINCES HUNT PROTECTED ANIMALS — Pakistan has issued 20 Arab princes with special permits allowing them to hunt the protected houbara bustard bird, Minister of State for Foreign Affairs Siddique Kanju said Monday. Permits were issued to members of the ruling families of Saudi Arabia, Abu Dhabi, Dubai, Qatar and Bahrain in the past two years. A campaign by conservationists to save the bird from Arab royal hunters' falcons angered a Gulf state ruler.

SECRETARY OF STATE ARRIVES IN BEIRUT — Secretary of State Warren Christopher arrived in Beirut on the sixth leg of a Middle East tour aimed to break the impasse facing the peace process in the region. He flew to Beirut for a meeting with Lebanese leaders. It was the first visit by a U.S. secretary of state in 10 years. Official sources in Beirut said the Lebanese leaders stressed the importance of resolving the issue of more than 400 Palestinians deported by Israel.

MOB ATTACKS JUVENILES ON WAY TO COURT — Two 10-year-old boys appeared in a Liverpool youth court Monday accused of abducting and murdering two-year-old James Bulger. An angry crowd attacked the two windowless police vans in which the boys were driven away after a six-minute hearing. Police temporarily detained five persons. More than 300 people had gathered in front of the court building. Many were mothers accompanied by young children.

UNITED NATIONS TO SET UP WAR TRIBUNALS — The U.N. Security Council decided to set up the first international war crimes tribunals since World War II to prosecute those responsible for war crimes in the former Yugoslavia. Resolution 808, passed unanimously, says an international tribunal is to be set up "for the prosecution of persons responsible for serious violations of international humanitarian law." But observers said the resolution left several details open.

JURY SELECTED IN KING BEATING TRIAL — A jury was empaneled today to hear the federal civil rights charges against four men accused in connection with the police beating nearly two years ago of motorist Rodney King. It took nearly five days in the courtroom to select the panel, which was believed to include 10 whites and two blacks. Alternates were not immediately chosen. It was not immediately clear when opening statements would get under way.

CLINTON NAMES HUMANITARIAN AID LEADER — President Clinton named Thomas Simons, U.S. ambassador to Poland, to be the coordinator for humanitarian aid to the former Soviet republics. Simons, a career foreign service officer who has served in the Moscow embassy, will replace Richard Armitage, who last week made public remarks predicting the early downfall of Russian President Boris Yeltsin. Simons will work under the direction of Strobe Talbott, who has been named to oversee U.S. policy towards the former Soviet republics.

MUSICIAN ARRESTED FOR NUDDY ON STAGE — A rock musician whose group is touring with Ted Nugent was arrested after allegedly disrobing onstage at the Long Beach Convention Center, California state police said. Jesse James Dupree, 30, of the group Jackyl, was arrested after a concert Saturday night in San Bernardino, and booked in Long Beach for indecent exposure and "obscene live conduct." The Georgia native is a guitarist and singer with the band.

Planned federal cuts a spoonful of sugar

PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON has been masterful at convincing the United States he can lead the country out of its economic woes.

He skillfully prepared the nation for his economic proposals — including the ever-unpopular tax increases — by showing first that he was willing to cut some unnecessary jobs and programs out of the federal budget.

A week before his State of the Union address Clinton began showing the American people that he is willing to save some money within the federal government.

HE STARTED RIGHT AT THE TOP, promising to reduce the White House executive staff by 350, or 25 percent, by October.

Clinton also cut some of the costly perks for that staff, including limousine services for most Cabinet members, executive dining rooms and some flights on U.S. airplanes.

The savings from the White House cuts are minuscule when trying to reduce a $330 billion annual budget deficit. But including himself in nationwide sacrifice was a symbol of his dedication to share the pain while cutting the deficit.

The President further showed his dedication to make government share in sacrifice when he announced a decrease by attrition of 100,000 jobs in federal government to occur within the next four years.

Government long has been accused of wasting money on jobs and programs that accomplish nothing for the people. In reducing federal employees, Clinton captured the feelings of the people and made impending tax increases seem like a reasonable request.

IN THE STATE OF THE UNION ADDRESS last Wednesday, the President outlined further cuts, including those in major scientific and defense programs. All told through 1997, he believes he can save $253 billion in spending reductions within government.

And then he lowered the boom on the people in the form of the largest tax increases in history.

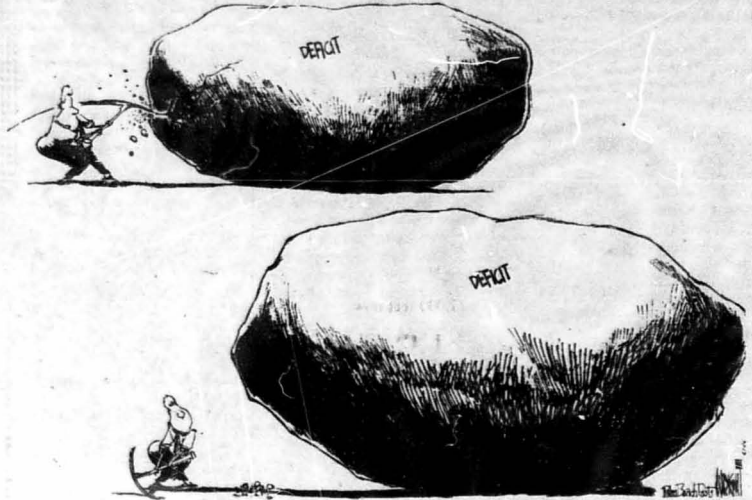

Those increases, which include an income tax hike from 31 to 36 percent for those families with a $140,000-a-year taxable income, a 10-percent surtax on individuals with incomes more than $250,000, a tax hike on Social Security benefits for retired couples with incomes of at least $32,000, a wide-ranging energy tax based on each fuel's heat content, are expected to raise $242 billion.

Clinton said $330 billion of the newly generated $495 billion income would go toward reducing the deficit and the remaining $165 billion would be used for economic stimulus.

PUBLIC OPINION POLLS SHOW THAT about 60 percent of the people favor Congressional approval of the President's plan. The people believe Clinton's changes will cut the deficit and improve the economy, and most of them are willing to do their part.

But while the people open up for a spoonful of taxes, government must counteract the bitterness with a spoonful of spending control.

Clinton's promise is that both spoons will be the same size, and he must keep that promise.

DE also misleads on abortion issue

The article "Alumni's abortion ad lacks justification" stated that SIU alumnus Ronald L. Isaacs printed an ad that was misleading and belittling. This article exemplified the hypocrisy and inconsistency of the DE. Here is my evidence:

Last fall, I and two other students petitioned against student insurance coverage for abortion. In two subsequent articles DE staff writers presented misleading information.

First, one of the editorial editors wrote an article saying Chi Alpha was the only student group opposed to abortion coverage.

This was not true. In fact, no DE reporter ever asked leaders of Chi Alpha of their positions on the issue.

Later, an administrative reporter questioned me about Chi Alpha's involvement. I specifically told him Chi Alpha was not responsible for the petition.

More than half of the signatures were from campus dormitories. Those who signed are the people who backed the petition. Nevertheless, he directly misquoted me and connected Chi Alpha with the petition. He also reported we had only "several hundred" signatures. In fact, after seven days, we had 1,000 signatures.

This writer misled readers by stating that SIUC President John C.

Guyon would not be affected by the petition.

Last, I wrote a letter to the DE explaining how the reporter's article was misleading. This article never got printed, and the misconceptions went unaddressed.

In conclusion, the DE should not criticize anyone for writing misleading and belittling information before they first consider their own similar conduct.

In two separate articles, the DE not only misled many readers, but the poor journalism belittled 1,000 students, Dr. Guyon, and every reader who trust the DE for truthful reports. — Catherine McCormack, senior, psychology

All students should take interest in USG

On March 3, Undergraduate Student Government will decide to accept or reject a housing increase for the 1993-94 school year.

Under this proposal, housing fees will increase by $72 a semester. This increase will affect almost all students living on campus — not just Evergreen Terrace or Southern Hills.

Given the financial hardships of most students at this time, it is important that all students affected make sure they are well-informed and that they explicitly voice their views before they allow their representatives in student government to make this decision. Student government needs to know how the majority of students feel about this decision before it can accept or reject this proposal.

In closing, I encourage students concerned about this issue to attend the Senate meetings on Wednesday evenings.

Remember, USG can only make just decisions if all views are presented. This affects your fees!!! What are you going to do? — Todd Hillman, senior, psychology

President breaks promises, insults people's intelligence

President Clinton's address to the nation was an insult to any American with average intelligence.

Bill tries to tell us how there is going to be a middle class tax hike, and that for once, we are in this all together.

He must have been referring to the 40 percent of Americans that voted for him. I am not sure.

Clinton and his aides smashed President Bush for the "read my lips ordeal," throughout the entire campaign. At least Bush admitted he had made a mistake. Clinton has broken at least seven promises before even being sworn in. The things Clinton attacked the Bush and Reagan regime on, he is trying to do all over again.

"No more gridlock," "Out with the special interest groups!" were Bill's major themes, but this is exactly what we are getting — a president who will create more gridlock and give in to special interest groups (gays, feminists, environmentalists).

Despite this, Al Gore appears on television taking credit for the rise in the economy.

How can he do this when it started happening even before they began campaigning? People gave Dan Quayle a hard time, but Gore is a bigger idiot than Quayle could have ever been.

It just goes to show how 40 percent of America could have elected a president who takes orders from his wife, just because he reminds them of JFK. — Mark G. Smith, junior, administration of justice

Kroger to expand in Marion

By Mikael Pyrtel
Business Writer

The Kroger company, owners of a national chain of grocery stores, is planning on doubling the size of its store in Marion.

Bob Wagner, marketing area real estate manager for Kroger in Louisville, said the expansion will benefit everyone.

"We have been in Marion for several years now, and we need a larger store to better service our customers," said Wagner.

According to Wagner, Kroger has stores of various sizes depending on the demand of the market. The new store will be one of Kroger's larger stores at 60,000 square feet. The store is 27,000 feet now. Wagner said Kroger had no plans on closing any other stores in the area because of the expansion.

Kroger officials are waiting for enterprise zone approval to begin construction of the new store north of Route 13 and east of Yale Street in Marion.

Ike Kirkikis, executive director of the commission of Greater Egypt Regional Planning, said the zoning approval is a two-stage process.

According to Kirkikis, if local governments approve the zone first, the recommendation will go to the state level for approval.

Kirkikis said the purpose of establishing enterprise zones is to entice business development in certain areas by offering tax incentives.

students and the public would have to say.

He said though SIUC has WSIU-TV, it is not a public access channel and seems to be rigidly controlled.

Joe Hill, vice president of the Undergraduate Student Government, said because students make up a large part of the Carbondale community, it would be in the students' interest to vote.

Hill said the city government has supported the student government in the past and he hoped students would respond by showing support for the elections.

Neither USG nor GPSC have formally endorsed any of the candidates.

City Clerk Janet Vaught said the 28 precincts that fall within city limits will have voting centers open today. Anyone needing help with voting centers can call the City Hall at 549-5302 for help.

presentation of other evidence will take a "couple of days at the very minimum."

Grace also expressed concern over what he called "inaccuracies" presented at the student forum Friday regarding the Carbondale Police Department.

"Having reviewed most of the reports, they (the Carbondale police) acted quickly, appropriately and without misconduct," Grace said.

Grace said he had not been invited to the forum.

He said he doubted whether he would have attended because of the unappropriateness of such an action.

According to Jackson County Coroner Jerry Thurman, an inquest into Waight's death will be at 2:30 p.m. March 2 in Jackson County courtroom No. 3.

Thurman received toxicology reports Monday but said he would not release the results to the public until the inquest.

and Parking Committee, said the sticker idea would not be a reliable way to finance the structure.

"Those figures are not even realistic," he said.

"Somebody else will have to propose what can be done to pay for the structure."

Hines also questions the need for the project.

"I thought the survey was a good idea," he said.

"I'm not totally convinced we need it, but we should look into it. There are a couple of other locations that could be looked at, too, that might appeal to the faculty and staff a little better than this one."

Student leaders also have criticized the proposal.

Jason Matthews, a law student who is the Graduate and Professional Student Council's representative on the committee, shared Hines' reservations about the need for the project.

"The timing doesn't seem good to me, with all the cuts in the budget we have been doing lately," he said.

"I'm not saying that this is a bad project, but maybe now is not a good time for it."

Federal grand jury indicts SIUC student for mail theft

A federal grand jury has handed down four indictments against an SIUC student.

Frederick J. Hess, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Illinois, announced that the grand jury, sitting in Benton, indicted Vincent S. Boyd, 24, of Carbondale on four counts of possession of stolen mail.

The indictment alleges that while Boyd was employed in a mailroom at SIUC on four separate occasions he unlawfully removed and converted mail addressed to other students at SIUC.

According to Assistant U.S. Attorney Gerard B. Schneller, who is handling the case, Boyd is being arraigned in federal court today.

Each count of the indictment carries with it a maximum penalty of up to five years imprisonment, a fine of up to $250,000 and up to three years supervised release, according to a release from Hess' office.

Professor applies scientific methods to writing

By Erick J.B. Enriquez
General Assignment Writer

When he was a talented young skier in the 1930s, John H. Wotiz had to make a crucial decision about his future.

Wotiz, professor emeritus of chemistry, became state champion of his youth class in downhill racing and entered a ski camp for the Olympics in 1935. Though he did not become an Olympic competitor, during those pre-war years he made his career decision.

"I had a private tutor who said, 'You're not studying very hard. You're spending your day playing tennis or going skiing. What do you want to be when you grow up?'" Wotiz said. "I was free to do anything since my older brother was to take over the family owned construction business and this particular tutor tried to interest me in something, so he brought in some chemicals and we started a chemical laboratory in my home."

His interest in chemistry resulted in a productive career and the creation of a book, "The Kekulé Riddle," that questions the credibility of the German chemist who said he conceived the structure of the benzene molecule during a dream. The concept resulted in the discovery of the first pharmaceuticals and synthetic dyes.

Wotiz, who was born in Ostrava, Czechoslovakia, came to the United States in 1939 and attended Furman University in Greenville, S.C. After two years, he graduated as a chemist, moved on to Richmond University for his master's degree and from there went to Ohio State University to work on his doctoral degree.

But during World War II, the U.S. government drafted him, delaying his academic career.

"Having accepted the draft, they had to make me a citizen," Wotiz said. "I was naturalized in 1944 and assigned to the Chemical Warfare Service. From there, I went to Officers Training School, got my commission and worked in research and intelligence."

Wotiz was sent to the Marshall Islands in the Pacific where he took part in the first atomic-bomb tests.

When the war was over he received his doctorate in 1948, and then he taught at the University of Pittsburgh for nine years. After leaving the university, he spent five years in industry doing research.

"I went back to academia as department chairman at Marshall University from '62 to '67 and came to SIUC as department chairman in 1967," he said.

In 1971 Wotiz set a precedent at SIUC by teaching a history of chemistry course at the places history was made such as Cambridge, England; Paris, France; and Heidelberg, Germany.

"Every other year, I took a group of students and we went to Europe for two months where we traveled constantly to locations where I, or the local people, could lecture to them about the history that was made at that particular place," Wotiz said.

Herbert T. Pratt, a retired chemist for Dupont from Delaware, attended the tour with his wife Mary in 1985 and found the experience enlightening.

"It was the greatest tour that we had ever gone on in our lives," Pratt said. "It gave us an opportunity to see places and do things that we otherwise wouldn't be able to do because of the contacts in Europe that John built. We visited Madame Curie's office in Paris and were able to handle her instruments. It was this way everywhere we went."

Pratt said that "The Kekulé Riddle" is a prime example of Wotiz's desire for the truth.

"I don't know of any man who has a greater desire to be truthful or exact," Pratt said. "He wants everything up front. No guile or deceit."

Wotiz said the Kekulé book was the result of gathering information and verifying facts.

"The Kekulé book resulted from visiting the Kekulé museums and archives, and picking up information," Wotiz said. "So it did not come overnight. There were a lot of things that seemed incorrect that back in my mind I realized needed to be verified or corrected one way or another."

In 1987, Wotiz a place where Kekulé taught, Bonn University in Germany, and gave a lecture about Kekulé's scientific misconduct.

"I started out with about 50 people in the auditorium. As I was talking and developing my observations, people were leaving and more were coming in," Wotiz said. "By the time I was finished the entire auditorium was filled to over capacity and there were thundering knocks of approval from the audience."

Last year Wotiz returned to Ostrava to attend a conference between SIUC and the local university about coal, energy and the environment.

John Mead, director of the SIUC Coal Research Center, said the conference was a chance for people from around the world to meet and discuss environmental problems.

By professor Wotiz introducing

SIU to the university at Ostrava, allowed researchers and industrial representatives from Eastern and Western Europe, North America and East Asia to come together and realize we have common interests in coal use, pollution control and coal-related problems," Mead said.

Wotiz is planning a world lecture tour to promote his book.

"For the first time in my life I'm really thinking retirement," Wotiz said. "I have no major project ahead of me except I'm going to the Galapagos Islands to see the giant tortles."

Wotiz' book is available at 710 and the University Bookstore.

POWER & CHOICE

You have the POWER to maintain a healthy relationship with alcohol. Most college students make healthy CHOICES when drinking. The more of these healthy behaviors you CHOOSE, the greater your POWER over your health.

83% of SIUC students surveyed report they would prefer not to have alcohol available at parties they attend. (Up 10% from 1991) (Core, 1991, 1992)

In a survey at SIUC, 90% of women reported that they would prefer not to date men who drink heavily.

Any positive effects of alcohol work only at low dose levels. (1-2 drinks)

By alternating alcoholic and non-alcoholic drinks you slow the rise in blood alcohol concentration (BAC) and increase your drinking time.

Drug use by college students nationwide has dropped by over 50% in the last 10 years. (NIDA, 1990)

☆☆☆☆

A 1989 survey of SIUC student attitudes toward drinking reports that 35% surveyed believe "you should never get drunk" and 95% believe drinking should not interfere with school.

Drinking party "punches" when you do not know the amount of alcohol present, increases your risk of over-intoxication, illness or injury.

Chugging drinks or playing drinking games increases risk of harm.

Barbaric, 7-6, 1-6, 7-6.
Andre Garcia was involved in the last tie-breaker at No. 6 singles, and lost to Ryan Radtke, 2-6, 6-0, 7-6.

Altaf Merchant won at No. 3 singles for the Salukis, beating John Bowerhunds, 6-2, 6-1.

The doubles combo of Derouin and Goransson won for the second time in three tries over the weekend, as they blasted their opponents for an 8-2 victory.

LeFevre said he was encouraged by the matches with Iowa State and Santa Barbara, but thought the Salukis missed a chance for two victories.

"The tie-breakers against Santa Barbara were really exciting, but we should've won the meet," LeFevre said. "We played both of those teams tougher than I expected and had a shot at beating both of them."

teammate from Louisville to take the consolation prize at No. 3 doubles (3-6, 6-3, 6-4).

"We got some good play out of them (the team)," Auld said.

"We are moving in the right direction."

The Salukis will take a brief break in their schedule before returning to the courts March 4 with matches at Memphis State University.

"We will try to work on some things we saw that maybe were weaknesses," Auld said.

"We will also continue conditioning. Some of the players are pretty sore after putting forth a lot of effort."

SIUC was scheduled to open the season last Friday at Louisville, but weather conditions forced cancellation of the match.

SIUC's first home match is April 9 against Chicago State.

"We got some good play out of them (the team)... We are moving in the right direction."

—SIUC women's tennis coach Judy Auld
