50 Eggs to Match 'Cool Lake'

SIU's own version of Cool Hand Luke—who ate 50 hard boiled eggs in 60 minutes to win a bet—is Paul Reitman, a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Reitman, a pre-law major from Morton Grove, accomplished the feat between 11:30 p.m., Monday and 12:30 a.m., Tuesday morning.

Like actor Paul Newman, who supposedly did it first in a movie called "Cool Hand Luke" now playing in a Carbondale theater, Reitman managed to keep from throwing up and losing the wager.

Reitman admitted that he lost his appetite for the eggs when the count reached 21.

He was given a "neutralizer" at the Health Service after he finished.

Witnesses to the egg-munching were Housemother Oda Mulholland and numerous fraternity brothers including Ken Plis, Bob Turner, Marty Miller, Freddy Shapiro and Sam Stancil.

Gorging himself is not exactly a novel experience for Reitman, and he admits "trained" for the ordeal. He ate no food for 1 1/2 days prior to sitting down in front of more than four dozen eggs.

Reitman said, and he had stretched his stomach by drinking large quantities of water beforehand.

Formidable though his accomplishment was, Reitman recalls other king-size consumptions. In 1946, for example, he ate seven "whopper burgers" in his home town, and in 1946 he ate 15 ice cream cones. The latter involved cost him a frozen stomach, Reitman conceded.

"Is he fed up for a while?" he was asked.

"Nope," Reitman says. "He plans to eat 50 more eggs next Monday night, Only this time they'll be scrambled, ..."

Blame Public for Lewd Movies

Some time ago we attended a movie that was so low it caused us to blush repeatedly and to cast furtive glances around to see if any of our neighbors were present. We didn’t want them to catch us viewing such a torrid, sexy movie. And we sneaked out of the theater with our collar turned up and heads ducked for fear we’d run into some of our local teenagers on the street.

Now please understand, we’ve been around. But and know a few of the basic facts of life. We wouldn’t classify ourselves as kind of prude or puritan.

But holy smokes, some of the scenes on the movie screen today are outrageous. We can recall in yesteryears when a producer or the owner of a movie house would have been hamstrung, quartered and drawn by the League of Decency for exhibiting some of the movies produced today.

Incidentally we’re not going to mention the name of the movie we saw as some of our friends would know us speed law running to see it... if they haven’t already.

Maybe we wouldn’t have been quite so shocked if we’d been prepared for the sexy movie. But we’d been enticed back into movie going after seeing such classics as My Fair Lady, the Sound of Music, Up the Down Stair Cane, and A Man for All Seasons. In hopes of seeing other movies of this quality, we’ve taken chances on others and received the shock of our life from the loudness.

After seeing such movies, we were greatly intersted in the recent reply of John D. Gilliland, chairman of the Dallas Motion Picture Classification Board, to a query put to him by a mother who protested the showing of these sexy movies at drive-ins over weekends when a big percentage of the audience is composed of children.

Mr. Gilliland replied as follows: "In the motion picture business, as in any business, the name of the game is profit. To make a profit, in order to stay in business, must exhibit movies most likely to draw the biggest revenue. The same holds true for producers."

Frank and Fatal

It has been said that this is the continuing Republican dilemma: the presidential candidate they could nominate can’t be elected, and the man they might elect can’t be nominated.

Now, President Eisenhower has added additional intrigue to GOP prospects. Even if he had the power to select the next Republican presidential nominee, says Mr. Eisenhower, he "would not necessarily select the man I thought best qualified to be president."

My reason for that is that no matter how well qualified I may think a man to be, he still has got to be elected.

That’s very realistic, and certainly the ability to be elected is a big part of what is called "political availability." But it sounds cynical enough to put a damper on any eventual support Mr. Eisenhowe may offer a GOP hopeful.

Councils Off Base on Athletics

To the Editor:

In last Tuesday’s edition of the Daily Egyptian there appeared an article telling of the Faculty and Graduate Councils’ negative feelings about the expansion of the SIU football program. And from both of the councils came quotes which demonstrated to me, if not anybody else, a one-sided look at the proposition of building up something which can be considered a decent college football team.

The Graduate Council stated that they “opposed any expansion in football because in all of its aspects a large program would be unduly expensive.”

Of course rebuilding the present grid situation will be expensive, especially taking into view the state of the current program, but did this group consider the revenue which can be made through a sizable stadium and a major college football team that plays a respectable schedule?

One would be inclined to doubt it, in respect to the way sizable sums of money are being made by universities through gate receipts, television rights, and, if Southern be so fortunate, through revenue made in Bowl games. Remember, a businessman, when setting up an establishment, does not expect to be in the black the first year of operation.

Looking at the other hand, the Faculty Council likewise put forth a weak reason for not expanding. Our learned professors do not want “increased expenditures for athletics to impair the educational development of the University.”

Would it be feasible to say that the education programs of Notre Dame, Michigan State, the University of Illinois, the University of Wisconsin, UCLA, and others notable of playing “big time” college football to be hurting scholastically? I sincerely doubt it, and I also sincerely hope that the supportless statements of these two groups do not take from Southern the two things it sorely needs—a respectable football team and a stadium to play in.

Blocked Corridors

To the Editor:

Tuesday, Jan. 16, the corridor outside the Student Government Office was blocked by many students obviously in the process of solving the profound international and national problems of the modern age. It may have escaped through this group, I heard someone comment: “Get the hell out of the way.” (Not to me, fortunately.)

The corridors of SIU’s University Center would be full of appropriate observations that day. Maybe these observations will shake their impact, maybe some day we can walk through the center corridors instead of fighting our way through.

Student Ponders City-State Relations

To the Editor:

The City of Carbondale owes its existence to the students - SIIU - who have grown and the study body enlarged, more businesses have come to the people of Carbondale.

The students are paying for the services by being overcharged in the grocery stores and specialty stores, and by paying high prices and buying thrifty beef in the chain stores.

One can not even buy a six-pack of beer for less than $1.00, putting to pay 30 cents more than it would cost in their hometown.

To imply, however, that response to improving the community should be left to the people of Carbondale.

In return, the community offers students poor housing and arrreets without lights or sidewalks. Students are even going to have to pay for sidewalks. Nowasher would think this is a prosperous and active community.

The overflowing bank accounts of our businesses.

Last quarter, students were hit by cars on South Wall Street. The city fathers vowed to improve the condition and installed two blocks of sidewalks.

I wonder if Barke, Keene, John Lannin and our other leading citizens will think the day will ever come when walking Grand, South Wall, and East Park streets at night will be a choice of walking in mud up to their ankles or walking on the streets that have sidewalk lights.

For a moment, let's stop thinking of ourselves as individuals. Nothing of the ones we have in our own.
Commemorative Stamp to Mark Illinois' Oldest Post Office

A special six-cent U.S. stamp commemorating 150 years of postal service for Illinois will officially be issued on Monday, Feb. 12, at Shawneetown, site of the oldest continuous post office in the state. Governor Otto Kerner will purchase the first stamp from Assistant Postmaster General William M. McMillan to mark a full day of activity at the historic Illinois community located approximately 60 miles east of Carbondale. Gov. Kerner and Ralph G. Newman, chairman of the Illinois Sesquicentennial Commission, are urging all Illinoisans to participate in this philatelic event by having mail sent from Shawneetown on this date.

Bundled letters may be sent by parcel post to the Postmaster, Shawneetown, Ill., 62894, no later than Feb. 1. The parcels should be affixed with a letter requesting that the mail be handled as philatelic mail. A check should also be enclosed to cover postage for the mail.

Besides carrying the new stamp, all mail sent from Shawneetown on that date will also bear a covered hand cancellation from that post office. Chairman Newman said that the celebration is a major event in the schedule of sesquicentennial events planned for the year and has set two million pieces of mail to be sent from Shawneetown on that day as the target to commemorate the event.

Postal officials stated that 120 million of the commemorative stamps will be issued.

The Theta Xi Fraternity

Theta Xi was founded April 29, 1864 at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York. Here at Southern Illinois University, Theta Xi was founded as Kappa Delta Alpha in 1933 and became the 52nd chapter of Theta Xi in 1951. Nationally, Theta Xi has over 35,000 members in 73 chapters. At SIU our membership ranges from 50 to 75 actives and pledges. We choose not to lose our strong bond of brotherhood or our identities by becoming larger. Therefore, we strive for the highest quality in our selection of members. This can be seen by the outstanding leadership on the part of the group and individuals for the fraternal system, the college, and the community.

The quest for Theta Xi is a quest for brotherhood. This is, of course, the cornerstone of every fraternity. Yet, brotherhood is much more than a mere definition of a word—especially at Theta Xi. How much more you can't be told; that's something only you can discover for yourself. It encompass many feelings and meanings; close bonds of friendship, ideals, teamwork, social life—all of these and many more will have a personal significance to you as part of Theta Xi.

In the present era of changing conditions, the fraternity will continue to serve a true and real purpose. The purpose and objectives of Theta Xi are centered around building men, and providing these men with a truly cultural, intellectual, and spiritual college home environment in which to live, work, and grow.

Theta Xi means just another fraternity—to those of us who know, Theta Xi means a way of life, fellowship and spirit of brotherhood that extends far beyond the years of college life. We invite you to share this meaning with us.

Symphony to Perform Barber's Composition

A musical composition written in 1963 as part of the graduate requirement at the Eastman School of Music will be presented by its composer and the Southern Illinois Symphony at 4 p.m. Sunday in Shroyer Auditorium.

Joseph Barber, instructor and composer of music, says "Rhapsody for Viola and Orchestra" is probably the most successful of all his pieces.

Barber said the composition presented at a student symposium at Eastman was heard by Howard Hansen, director of Eastman, and subsequently was performed at the American Festival of Music by the Southern Illinois Philharmonic Orchestra.

The Fleisher Foundation in Philadelphia picked Barber's composition to be added to the files of works by American composers available for public performance.

The composition was donated to the foundation. Barber said this move acted as a springboard to get his name and work before the public eye.

Barber recently finished a commission in Tulsa for the Oklahoma City Symphony. He wrote a composition for the viola, cello, and piano. Only two sonatas for that combination had been previously written, said Barber.

He was principal violinist with the Tokyo Philharmonic for two years. The Japanese players wanted to know the latest techniques of performance and writing, he said.

Interprets Absurdity of War

"Each war has been the war to end the wars but we've never really solved anything," said Bill Parker, instructor of oral interpretation who is compiling and directing Interpreter's Theatre production, "Silence In Heaven."

In the production to be presented at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Feb. 2 and 3 on the Calibre Stage of the Communications Building, Parker will attempt to show the absurdity and horrors of war as seen through the eyes of the universal soldier.

Parker said the idea of whether or not the Vietnam war is right or wrong is being batted around, but that "the complete absurdity of war" is the whole issue.

The anti-war production with a cast of 22 will feature music, dance, speeches, poetry, prose and drama. An original sequence by Parker concerning the death of the universal soldier will be presented.

Speeches by such men as Roosevelt, Mussolini, Patrick Henry and Saint Bernard will be included. Speeches made by men on opposite sides with one side considered wrong and one side considered right said the very same thing, according to Parker.

A poem concerning the uselessness and destructiveness of war was especially written for the production by French poet Jean Jacques Carllier. Carllier, read the "Silence In Heaven" script during the Christmas holidays when he was visited by SIU student Blake Whittle, a member of the cast.

Parker said many of the selections are not in themselves anti-war works but the way in which he has used them and juxtaposed one against the other creates the anti-war atmosphere.

In summing up the compiling of the anti-war script, Parker said, "If we have progressed and are as culturally advanced as we say we are, then we could find other means of solving our differences."

Tickets for the production are available in the Department of Speech. Tickets may be reserved by calling 5-2291.

North Korea Captures U.S. Ship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. military was at a loss to explain why a North Korean patrol boat, which had been spotted near the coast of the South China Sea, was seized by four North Korean patrol boats Monday night because it was not known whether any help was needed.

The Pentagon said the Pueblo, armed with only two light machine guns, was captured without firing a shot. The Pentagon confirmed that the Pueblo, which was about 25 miles south of the Chinese coast, had not been engaged in any military activity.

Details of the encounter in which the Pueblo was taken were described as international waters.

``The last known word from the Pueblo, before it was captured, was a short radio transmission reporting that all was well on board the vessel. But it would not be more precise on that.``

Government spokesmen said they were still investigating the incident and had yet to determine whether the Pueblo definitely went all the way through the ice or if they sank to the bottom of the bay.

The presence of huge mounds of snow on the icy bay complicates the search.

Sources said the Navy has not yet been asked to attempt recovery pending an overall report of findings by the investigating team.

``At the moment, it looks as if the loss of the Pueblo, with all hands, is inevitable.``

Danes to Investigate Bomb Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Denmark's nuclear safety authority has ordered an investigation into the possibility that the Pueblo may have been nuclear-powered.

The authority said it would investigate reports that the Pueblo may have been equipped with a nuclear reactor.

Danish scientists will report back to their government after making a series of radiation checks to detect any radiation levels around the area where the Pueblo sank.

``The important thing is to find out if any radiation there," a spokesman for the Danish Intelligence Agency said.

``It is not clear at this stage what effect this may have on the resumption of normal activities in the area.``

``The Western powers rejected contact with the regime after Constantine fled to Scotland in January, 14 days after his effort to save the hostages collapsed.``

``But the powers eventually reached a low-level working contact and the regime became increasingly impatient for them to concede the presence of a nuclear weapon in the area.``

``The regime insists that he is still chief of state. During the day, Pueblo was re-engaged by Marshal Faraday of the Pueblo, who flew from Athens to Rome for an agreement of talks with him.``

``It was Potamianos' third trip to confer with the king, who was said to be happy to receive any help he could carry new terms for the king's eventual return to Greece in a date for its

Official Contact Resumed With Greek Government

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The United States dropped its boycott of the Greek regime Tuesday and resumed normal diplomatic relations with the leaders who overthrew King Constantine's government in December.

U.S. Ambassador Philip Talbot signaled the end of Washington's boycott by calling Foreign Minister Panayiotis Kalogeropoulos and telling him afterward: "This is really the resumption of normal diplomatic contacts." Thus the United States became the second member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to give de facto recognition to the Greek leaders running this NATO nation.

The group includes a NATO member and the Congo extended recognition to this nation. Spain did the same within an hour after Talbot's announcement.

``The Washington's action was an enormous relief for the ruling junta. It almost certainly meant that other Western nations like Britain, West Germany, and Italy would soon follow suit.``

Escaped Convicts Captured

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's top fiscal authorities asked Congress Tuesday to remove the requirement for a gold reserve behind the dollar so the gold can be free to back up U.S. international commitments.

A Treasury Department official coupled the request with a pledge that the administration would take any steps necessary to prevent a run on gold that would imperil the nation's supply.

Administration witnesses also sought a special Senate and House conference committee Tuesday to open a drive for the legislation.

That bill may be in line for a fast run when Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., senior Republican on the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee of the Treasury Henry, Ford, and William M. Chilton, Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, before the House Banking Committee Tuesday to open a drive for the legislation.

The administration, led by John H. Connally, Secretary of the Treasury, and Secretary of the Interior, and other Treasury officials, has already outlined the advantages that would result from removing the gold reserve requirement.

LBJ Asks End to Gold Backed Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Lyndon B. Johnson asked Congress Monday to drop the requirement for a gold reserve behind the dollar as a way of boosting the nation's economy.

Organizing Rice Co-op

Two Alumni Aiding West Africa Natives

Don C. Henson, Jr., and wife Jane are Peace Corps workers in Sierra Leone, West Africa, where they have been living in the bush village of Batuana the past three and a half months after training in the Virgin Islands and the island of Grenada in the West Indies.

Henson is from Hillsboro. Mrs. Henson, formerly Jane Pinkstaff of St. Francisville, studied mathematics at SIU and worked in campus offices. She told of their new life in a letter to Mrs. Joseph R. Zaleski, under whom she had been employed as a student.

Henson is doing community development work in the areas of agriculture and construction. His wife is lecturing on health and nutrition education.

She writes that her husband has just finished supervising the building of a road and presently is teaching primary school children to make gardens.

"Don is trying to get a rice cooperative organized. The farmers would store part of their rice at harvest time, then sell it during the "hungry season" when it's scarce and brings over twice the price. As extra money builds up, the farmers can afford to hire their plowing and combining done by machinery. There's all kinds of potential in such an organization, but it's hard to get people together for meetings and it will be hard for the farmers to give rice this first year for storage. Many already owe a lot of money for rice they obtained from traders last hungry season after their own rice supply ran out."

As for herself, she said, she's been working with the village midwife to form a child nutrition center.

Model UN Talks

Delegates Discuss Vietnam

By Terry Peters

Two SIU faculty members have favorable, opposed views on the Vietnam war in a preliminary session for delegates to the upcoming Model United Nations, Feb. 13-15.

Horacio B. Jacobini, professor of government, gave an analysis Monday evening of the historical situation in Vietnam which found the United States in position in the Southeast Asian nation "a reasonable" one. Opposing this was Bernard C. Flynn, assistant professor of philosophy, who condemned the U.S. military presence in Vietnam as a continuation of the French colonialist policy and called for an immediate withdrawal.

Jacobini's analysis was based on the idea that international political society is a society of states, not individuals, and that physical curiosity in the modern world is the responsibility of those very states. He described the United Nations as being "primarily an on-going diplomatic conclave."

Jacobini said South Vietnam's position is legally superior to North Vietnam's, primarily because "whatever the civil war aspects, the South has never been accused of attacking the North."

Consequently, Jacobini said that South Vietnam's legal position would justify an invasion of the North, although he hastened to add, "I am not arguing politically in favor of invasion."

Relating the war to the United Nations, Jacobini said bringing the issue to the Security Council "would have been of doubtful value" due to the belief of the Soviet Union that the UN is not the place to settle it.

Garrett Paces Saluki Cagers

Garrett has hit on 49 of 54 tries for a mark of 87.5 percent. Figures indicate this should be enough to put him in the top 15 charity tossers in the country.

The Saluki basketball captain has also increased his scoring average to 15.2 points per game following his 28 point performance against Wichita. His field goal shooting percentage is also the best on the team—.524. He has hit an even 100 shots from the field.

Garrett also leads the Salukis in the number of fouls committed, 31, although he has fouled out of only one game this season.

As a sophomore he became a starting forward with the varsity, “I had a lot to learn but because I used to play guard, I had outside shooting and that’s what we needed to loosen up the inside defense.”

Chuck Benson and Willie Griffin are the only other Salukis in double figures in the scoring column, Benson with a 12-average, and Griffin with 11.8.

Benson is also SIU’s leading rebounder with 122 in 13 games for an average of 9.4 per contest.

Following Griffin in scoring are Bruce Batchko (7.2), Bobby Keene (6.1), Howard Keone (5.9), Juarre Borrough (5.3), and Rex Barker rounding out the top eight scorers for SIU (3).--

St. Louis Students Seek Coach's Scalp

St. Louis University Basketball Coach Joe (Buddy) Brehmer has been under fire from St. Louis University students because of the Billiken’s 6-8 record.

Brehmer has received numerous letters from students asking him, in effect, to quit as coach of the St. Louis team which meets the Salukis Feb. 15 in Kiel Auditorium.

St. Louis opened the season with four straight victories but since then has lost eight of 10 games. Many of the losses have been of the hard luck variety.

The Billikens lost to Dayton by one point, lost to Wichita State by five after leading the Shockers by as many as 15 points in the second half. They also lost overtime to Iowa State in the third place battle at the Los Angeles Classic over the Christmas Holidays.

The Bills have also lost to UCLA, Kansas, Louisville, Bradley and Cincinnati.

“Att Wichita we played an excellent game for 31 minutes and fell apart the last nine,” Brehmer said. “We broke the press, but didn’t execute what we were supposed to after breaking the press.”

The Bills stand 1-4 in the Missouri Valley Conference, after being thought of as a contender earlier in the season.

“We’re playing the 13th toughest schedule in the nation,” Brehmer said, “and each game for us takes an extra effort.”

IT’S A TOUGH GRIND—Found sleeping in the SIU Arena earlier this week was a tired wrestler. The photographer had a lot of respect for the sleeper’s size and didn’t want to awaken him for identification purposes.

Toughest Part of Season Ahead for Wrestling Team

By Dave Falermo
Riding high on the basis of a 38-3 victory over South Dakota State, Jim Wilkinson’s wrestlers now face the toughest and busiest portion of their schedule.

“We’ve improved a great deal,” said the SIU coach, “but we’ve got a lot ahead of us.”

The Salukis will have 10 matches in the next 13 days with Iowa State and Oklahoma State, two of the top three wrestling schools in the country, highlighting the busy stretch.

Bloomsburg (Pa.) State will host the Salukis Monday and the following Thursday Wilkin son’s grapplers will fly to Iowa to grapple with the Cyclones.

Little rest will be given the Salukis as they extend the road trip through the weekend to compete in the Nebraska Invitational.

The Nebraska Tournament will include six dual meets and, according to Wilkinson, will either “make or break us.”

The Sooners, wrestling’s perennial power for the past few years, will invade the SIU Arena this Thursday. This is undoubtedly the toughest meet of the year for the Salukis and Coach Wilkinson is not very optimistic.

“If we do as well as we did against (Colorado State) I’ll be very pleased,” said the SIU mentor. “Steve Sarosy at 115 pounds, Allen Bultow at 191, Ben Cooper at the 170 spot and heavyweight Rich Solover should give us some good matches.”

“But I’m a little worried about the 123 through 145 spots,” adds Wilkinson. “In these four classes Oklahoma has us completely outclassed.”

“Because of the poor competition we faced in the previous meet, its hard to judge how much we’ve come along,” adds Wilkinson.

In the meet held Monday in the Arena, the Saluki grapplers completely outclassed Southwest Missouri in winning all but one match.

The only loss came in the 123 pound division where SIU’s Tom Strenglen fell to the visitors’ Allan Chaise, 6-4.

Strenglen, who has been plagued all season with a separated cartilage in his chest, was obviously hindered throughout the match and had to withdraw for a few seconds in the second period before continuing.

“Strenglen’s injury is a painful one,” said Wilkinson. “It’s hard for him to keep in condition and we can’t tell how far he’s come around until it’s cleared up.”

Other wins registered by the Salukis were by Rich Allan (130), Al Murdoch (137), Tom Duke (152), Julian Gabriel (160), Al Lipper (167) and Bulow (191).

“I was pleased with the condition and hustle we displayed and also thought we moved from the bottom position much better,” said Wilkinson.

The Salukis are now in the number three school in the country behind Oklahoma and Iowa State.

Evansville Courier Raps Saluki Cagers

By George Koeneyer

The Saluki basketball fans might as well forget winning again this season. If they believe what the Evansville Sunday Courier and Press reported recently, they are little more than wishful thinking.

In an article headlined "Saluki Don't Match Aces," written by Peter Swanson, the writer decided to match up the Aces and the Salukis—"with the Aces, naturally coming out on top."

Swanson pointed out that in the Indiana State game, the Salukis could not contain the Sycamores' high scoring center, Jerry Newsom, whereas in beating Kentucky Wesleyan, the Salukis did not have to worry about "the big animal in the middle," as Swanson put it.

While it is true the Salukis couldn't handle Newsom, not many other teams have, as witnessed by his 24 point per game scoring average.

Swanson continues in the article: "Against Evansville the Salukis are in double jeopardy. They cannot match up with 6-9 Tom Niemeier or 5-11 Howard Pratt, whose rebounding—tied to much better rebounding."

Swanson in effect is comparing both Niemeier and Pratt to Tomson of Indiana State. The combined scoring averages of the Niemeier and Pratt are just a little over Newsom's average.

Evanston forward fractures nose

"The nose is back in good alignment, it's good to take a little while to heal and it's hoped he doesn't bump it again," said Spackman. Benson will wear a mask during practice but will disregard it for the Evansville game tonight.

The fracture occurred when the high jumping Benson was elbowed midway in the second half. Although Benson finished the game his nose was crooked.

'Vampire Five' Thirsty For SIU Cager Blood

Don't expect the Evansville offensive attack to fall apart tonight when coach Arad McCutchan suddenly pulls his entire starting unit off the floor during the midst of a heated conflict. That'll be the signal for the Aces' formidable platoon squad to take to the court.

"They're both good," McCutchan boasted. "We call our unit the 'No. 1' unit and the platoon unit the 'A' unit."

According to the Evansville coach, the two units rarely practice against each other except to scrimmage. His practice sessions involve 17 players, usually divided in teams on different parts of the court.

"It takes a little longer to practice with such an arrangement," McCutchan says, "but the end results are usually worth the extra preparation." McCutchan decries that his team is up for the game after a Saturday night loss to Ball State University.

"We stunk up the place in that game," he commented wryly. "But our boys are used to winning and want to make amends against Southern."
