Undergrad elected U-Senate VP

By Bernard F. Whalen
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Gary Dickerson, 20, was elected vice president of the University Senate Monday, becoming the first undergraduate to hold the position.

He was unopposed in the election although Senator Bob Peele made a tongue-in-cheek nomination of President David R. Derge. The nomination was refused because Derge is an officer in the administration and cannot by U-Senate rules be elected a senate officer.

A junior in environmental science, Dickerson represented Student Government as a senator. The Oswego native ran as vice president with Gary Peters in the student body elections in April. He was also a student senator last year.

Dickerson is chairman of the Student Health Consumer Council and a member of the Co-recreational Planning Committee. He also worked on the East Campus Executive Council, U-Senate Campus Planning Committee and Campus Management Committee. As vice president he will become a member of the Senate Executive Committee.

Dickerson succeeds Anthony Catanese, who recently completed graduate studies and is leaving SIU to accept a teaching position in Michigan. Catanese was the second graduate student to hold the office.

Besides working on the student health committee, Dickerson works part time for the Shawnee Regional Health Maintenance Organization.

After elected, Dickerson told the senate "this body has been organized for shared governance and is needed as a voice for the community at a time when it is being ignored.

"With the administration's attitude towards the senate," he said. "It is obvious we need a U-Senate more than ever."

Dickerson said he would like to see the senate act more as a voice in campus development and "pull the University community together."

"We need a senate as a voice of the community. People should be consulted in decisions that affect them and the senate is a good way to accomplish this."

Dickerson said he is not a representative of the "students per se" but of the whole community. However he did say he hoped to build student interest in the senate now that an undergraduate has been elected as an officer.

Dickerson will serve as vice president until November when regular senate elections are held. He will be given an office in the U-Senate building at 906 W. Grand.

In other action the senate voted 29-4 to eliminate the two alumni representative seats provided for in the campus governance document. The alumni association said it would not fill the seats. Representatives have not attended a senate meeting since Nov. 1, 1971.

The alumni association sent a letter to U-Senate President David Kenney stating they had trouble finding people to fill the two seats. The association also felt they were not involved in the "day-to-day activities" of the University and therefore decided not to fill the seats.

The senate voted unanimously to change the appointment of members to the senate joint standing committees. The members had been appointed by the senate executive committee and will now be chosen by the constituency bodies to which they report.

Anthony Catanese said the intent was to provide more autonomy for the constituency bodies and provide for more interest in the committees.

Kenney announced that Tom Pace, faculty council chairman, had agreed to act as chairman of the senate screening committee.

The senate's next meeting is scheduled for Aug. 14.

Taylor aide denounces fee proposal

A proposal which would put student organizations in competition with each other for student funds was denounced Monday by Joe Krzysiak, executive assistant to student body president Jon Taylor, as "a move to control Student Government."

The proposal, presented to the Board of Trustees Friday by George Mace, dean of students, would allow a student to allocate his fees to the organizations of his choice. Organizations would receive funds in proportion to the support received from the student survey. Krzysiak said Student Government does not "advocate what Mace is trying to do."

He said the proposal has brought a feeling of uneasiness to Student Government members who believe they will not receive enough student support and consequently not enough student money.

If Student Government does not receive enough money "we will have to go to him (Mace) in the end for more money," Krzysiak said.

Krzysiak contends the new proposal will usurp Student Government's financial powers and leave one administrator in control of a vast amount of student funds.

Mace was unavailable for comment Monday.

Under Mace's proposal, students would be mailed a letter asking them to indicate from a list which organizations they wished to support. After this survey is completed, funds would be allocated proportionately.

However, if the mailing occurs, Student Government would like to enclose a letter explaining its opposition to the fee proposal, Krzysiak said.

Mace said earlier, however, that the experiment would be scrapped if student responses to it is low.

Board of Trustees amends statutes on academic freedom

By Sue Roll
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The responsibilities of the faculty member as viewed by the University have been spelled out in a statement approved by the Board of Trustees at Friday's board meeting in Edwardsville. The statement amends board statutes on academic freedom.

The board's clarification of its statutes on academic freedom follows questions raised about the political involvements of faculty at SIU and universities all over the country.

The incident which brought the issue to focus at SIU was the case of Douglas M. Allen, assistant professor of philosophy whose contract was terminated in June after he was denied tenure by the board in December.

The denial of tenure for Allen has been criticized as a violation of his academic freedom and as based on his political beliefs rather than his capabilities as a professor.

The amendment to the statutes adds the words "and responsibility" to the title and heading of Section 6-A which formerly was headed "academic freedom" and which was taken from an AAUP statement of 1950.

This first portion of the statement, in which the text remains unchanged, declares that SIU shall operate under the principles that academic freedom is essential to teaching, learning and research but is subject to limitations.

The amendment adds nine paragraphs dealing with the teacher's obligations to his profession, university, students and the "community of scholars."

The statement also declares that "the professor has the rights and obligations of any citizen" but must balance "the urgency of these obligations" against his responsibilities as teacher, scholar and faculty member.

If conflicts between obligations become acute for the teacher, the statement says, he "should either request a leave of absence or resign his academic position."

The added paragraphs were drawn from two statements on teachers' rights and responsibilities approved by the AAUP in 1969 and 1970, according to footnotes in the statement approved by the board.

The new sections on the faculty member's responsibilities are as follows:

"The professor, guided by a deep conviction of the worth and dignity of the advancement of knowledge, recognizes the special responsibility to his subject is to seek and to state the truth as he sees it. To this end he devotes his energies to developing and improving his scholarly competence. He accepts the obligation to exercise critical self-discipline and judgment in using, extending and transmitting knowledge. He practices intellectual honesty. Although he may follow subsidiary interests, these interests must never seriously hamper or compromise his freedom of inquiry.

"As a teacher, the professor encourages the free pursuit of learning in his students. He holds before them the best scholarly standards of his discipline. He demonstrates respect for the student as an individual and adheres to his proper role as intellectual guide and counselor. He makes every reasonable effort to foster honest academic conduct and to assure that his evaluation of students reflects their true merit. He respects the confidential nature of the relationship between professor and student. He avoids any exploitation of students for his private advantage and acknowledges significant assistance from them. He

New fee plan blamed for IPIRG defeat

By Sue Roll
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Robert Peele, president of the Illinois Public Interest Research Group (IPIRG), said Monday the University's last minute fee proposal put before the Board of Trustees Friday was an attempt to undercut IPIRG before it could get off the ground.

The IPIRG proposal had been considered by the board last August but was delayed because of questions concerning its legality.

The new proposal defeated by the board answered questions concerning the legality of the University serving as a collection agency for the group and protected the University against being named in a suit initiated by IPIRG.

Peele said he was fairly confident that IPIRG would have been approved if it had not been for the new fee proposal.

"Personally I'm convinced that any proposal that emanates from the student sector from now on will be disregarded," Peele said. "If it's not the administration's idea, it won't have a chance."

Peele said the defeat of the IPIRG proposal and the threat of class action suits filed in objection to the allocation of the Student Activity Fee Budget by Student Government last year were reasons for the proposed new fee structure.

The fee structure takes all power away from Student Government and dilutes its position for dealing with campus groups, Peele said. Bill Anderson, former president of IPIRG, commented: "That was quite an

Discussion on dying to be held

Better understanding of the special needs of those about to die, and how to build an effective personal relationship with them, are the major topics of discussion when professionals in medicine and clergy gather for a day-long seminar here Thursday.

"Seminar on Terminal Illness," to be conducted by physician Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, medical director of South Cook County Mental Health and Family Services, will explore in depth the lonely and disconsolate world of the dying. Dr. Ross, author of a currently published book, "On Death and Dying," will lecture on the needs of the terminally ill patient, how to deal with him and his family and on special problems in a death-denying society.

Cosponsored by SIU's School of Medicine, Division of Continuing Education and the 14th district of the Illinois Nurses Association, the seminar will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Student Center Ballroom.

Youth group in leadership set for August

A group of high school students, chosen on the basis of their leadership qualities and academic credentials, are expected here for the annual youth leadership program, Aug. 20-25.

Called the "Youth World," the program—established in 1962 by a group of civic leaders, educators and government officials—provides high school youth with an opportunity to further develop their leadership potential through an array of activities including discussion-lecture sessions with government leaders.

A mock United Nations Assembly is one of the means used in the program to enhance the participants' understanding of the parliamentary procedures, problems of committee and legislative work, and of the vital issues in world affairs.

The program is presented by the Youth World, Inc., in cooperation with the department of government and the Division of Continuing Education at SIU. Leading the session will be Afak Haydar, originally from Pakistan, who received his doctorate degree in government at SIU and who is currently on the faculty at Arkansas State University.

A banquet and a plenary session of the UN General Assembly will conclude the six-day session, at which time participants will receive their certificates of attendance.

The participating students are all approved by school principals and are sponsored by local civic, professional, veteran or fraternal organizations.

Police search for slain student's car

By Daryl Stephenson
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

State police are still searching by air for the car of Michael Gerchenson, the slain SIU student whose body was found May 3 on the north-bound side of Interstate 57 about two miles north of West Frankfort.

A state police spokesman at District 13 Headquarters in DuQuoin said Monday that the air search, begun Thursday by three state police officers, has proved negative so far. He said daily flights over four Southern Illinois counties will continue throughout this week.

Local sheriff's departments are not involved in the latest air search, which is being conducted entirely by state police. It is the fourth air search undertaken since Gerchenson's body was discovered.

The main search is taking place in strip mine areas in Jackson, Franklin, Perry and Williamson counties. The spokesman said that surveys of the mine wastelands will be taken from the airplane, which is based at the Southern Illinois Airport. After the air search is completed, the spokesman said, a ground search will be undertaken on roads and mine pits in the area.

The spokesman said that there are no plans to use divers in some water filled strip mine pits, unless the car is found first.

In charge of the overall investigation is Capt. Clyde W. Oliver, Jr., commanding officer of District 25, Springfield.

Gerchenson's white 1969 Chevrolet Caprice has been the center of the police investigation. It is a two-door model with a white body and black vinyl top, and bears the 1972 Illinois license number NJ 6064.

Authorities say they are not discounting the possibility Gerchenson was killed by a hitchhiker, but theorize he was killed elsewhere and his body dumped at the spot where it was found.

Gerchenson had been shot twice in the head and four times in the body. Police found two kinds of slugs in Gerchenson's body, which has led to speculation that he may have been shot by two persons.

Gerchenson, a 19-year-old sophomore from Highland Park, was last seen alive shortly after midnight the morning his body was found, when he dropped a Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity brother off at Wilson Hall. Gerchenson had lived in Schneider Hall, and was returning from a meeting of the fraternity.

Information which may aid in an arrest of persons responsible for the shooting is being sought by state police. A $5,000 reward has been offered. Anonymous collect phone calls may be made to the Illinois State Police Command Headquarters at (217) 525-7762.

inauguration present for Jon Taylor to find he won't have any Student Government to head."

Peele said that the idea of students choosing the organizations they wish to fund sounds good in principle, but in operation it will be a disaster for many legitimate groups.

"If the same thing was done with the federal tax structure, for instance, the Department of Agriculture would go broke," Peele said. The selectiveness each person would have in determining his allocations for his own narrow interests would cause large organizations to flounder while some small ones would get even more funds than they need, Peele said.

Peele said the mere existence of the lengthy list of student organizations would cause many students to throw the list away. "Students are going to be baffled by it and let their whole six bucks a quarter be allocated by Pace," he said.

City Council to discuss 'street parties' report

By Monroe Walker
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A report concerning the closing of Illinois street this past spring is scheduled to be presented to the Carbondale City Council Tuesday night by the South Illinois Avenue Task Force.

The task force was established in March to study the problem of "street parties" in downtown Carbondale and to make recommendations regarding what should be done to avert such occurrences. Among the groups represented on the task force are SIU students from various living areas, Student Government, University administration, downtown merchants, local advisory groups and the police department.

Other action scheduled is further consideration of a request for financial support for a proposed Womens Center.

The Womens Center proposal was recently presented to the Carbondale City Council requesting "monetary as well as verbal support." The center will be designed to "handle the problems that confront women in this area."

Also scheduled for action is the mayor's appointments to the Central Safety Committee. The ad hoc safety council had previously recommended that the Safety Commission include a senior citizen, a handicapped person, a member of the Carbondale Council of PTA, a Northeast Congress member, a representative of the business community and two interested citizens.

Other action includes the mayor's appointments to the Senior Citizen Council; resolution approving and accepting plans for expansion of the Northwest Wastewater Treatment Plant; resolution commending Anna Carol Fultz for receiving the "Great Teacher Award" of 1972 from the SIU Alumni Association; an ordinance regulating traffic and parking on Park Street; budget adjustment; and a report from the city manager.

The council will meet in formal session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the second floor courtroom of City Hall.

Board of Trustees amends 'academic freedom' statutes

protects their academic freedom.

"As a colleague, the professor has obligations that derive from common membership in the community of scholars. He respects and defends the free inquiry of his associates. In the exchange of criticism and ideas, he shows due respect for the opinions of others. He acknowledges his academic debts and strives to be objective in his professional judgment of colleagues. He accepts his share of faculty responsibilities for the governance of his institution.

"As a member of his institution, the professor seeks above all to be an effective teacher and scholar.

Although he observes the stated regulations of the institution, provided they do not contravene the right to criticize and seek revision. He determines the amount and character of the work he does outside his institution with due regard to his paramount responsibilities within it. When considering the interruption or termination of his service, he recognizes the effect of his decision upon the program of the institution and gives due notice of his intentions.

"As a member of his community, the professor has the rights and obligations of any citizen. He measures the urgency of these obligations in the light of his responsibilities to his subject, to his students, to his profession and to his institution. When he speaks or acts as a private person he avoids creating the impression that he speaks or acts for his college or university. As a citizen engaged in a profession that depends upon freedom for its health and integrity, the professor has a particular obligation to promote conditions of free inquiry and to further public understanding of academic freedom.

"Membership in the academic community imposes on students, faculty members, administrators and trustees an obligation to respect the dignity of others, to express differing opinions, and to foster and defend intellectual honesty, freedom of inquiry and instruction, and free expression on and off the campus. The expression of dissent and the attempt to produce change, therefore, may not be carried out in ways which injure individuals or damage institutional facilities or disrupt the classes of one's teachers or colleagues. Speakers on campus must not only be protected from violence, but given an opportunity to be heard. Those who seek to call attention to grievances must not do so in ways that significantly impede the functions of the institution.

"Students are entitled to an atmosphere conducive to learning and to even-handed treatment in all aspects of the teacher-student relationship. Faculty members may not refuse to enroll or teach students on the grounds of their beliefs or the possible uses to which they may put the knowledge to be gained in a course. The students should not be forced by the authority inherent in the instructional role to make particular personal choices as to political action or his own part in society. Evaluation of students and the award of credit must be based on academic performance professionally judged and not on matters irrelevant to that performance, whether personality, race, religion, degree of political activism or personal beliefs.

"It is a teacher's mastery of his subject and his own scholarship which entitles him to his classroom and to freedom in the presentation of his subject. Thus, it is improper for an instructor persistently to intrude material which has no relation to his subject, or to fail to present the subject matter of his course as announced to his students and as approved by the faculty in their collective responsibility for the curriculum.

"Because academic freedom has traditionally included the instructor's full freedom as a citizen, most faculty members face no insoluble conflicts between the claims of politics, social action, and conscience.

Editorial Straight shooting?

McGovern—the odds are against him. Jimmy the Greek may still collect yet this November, though his odds have diminished somewhat. McGovern's grassroots organization accomplished a phenomenal feat in bringing in the delegate's votes at the convention. But the momentum they built wasn't good enough to sweep up within it those voters whose X will be a determining factor in the general elections—namely labor and the South.

These people are the ones who feel they've got the most to lose should they vote for defense cuts and a guaranteed income welfare program. McGovern's problem is essentially one of reaching a compromise, a middle ground between the constituency that captured him the nomination and that which could deny him the presidency.

Of the powerful votes, McGovern retains some hope and confidence that labor may yet turn sympathetic towards him. He can't win without it and he doesn't know how to win with it. How to make friends with such formidable leaders as Meany and Able, McGovern has as yet left undisclosed, if in fact he has a plan at all.

McGovern needs to regain some middle ground and thus some confidence from the anti-McGovernites. Though at the convention McGovern won the battle he may still lose the war should he fail to woo their vote. As one party regular, knowledgeable about labor said, "For the first time in years they see someone getting the Democratic nomination without any obligation to them, and that's almost as bad as a Republican President."

Another challenge to McGovern is facing the opposition from within his party from some of its most influential leaders. The active support of Wallace, Jackson and Daley would increase McGovern's odds at winning. He must unify the inner party circle before he expects to see the general Democratic populace rally behind him this November. He must regain some middle ground and show those opposing him that he is not as one labor political strategist said, "surrounded by people who are more interested in amnesty and pot than in jobs." He must do so without alienating the youth. McGovern needs the active support of party leaders not just a token vote of backing. As it stands now they're more concerned with putting Democrats in the House and Senate than putting one in the White House.

McGovern obviously needs more than what he has at present. His grass roots organization impressed the young, the minorities and the upper-middle class but, perhaps are out of tune with labor and other old line Democrats. He may be counting too heavily on a group to spread a gospel that anti-McGovern Democrats aren't ready to accept. McCarthy voiced a fear in '68 that maybe he was riding a wave that wouldn't crest till '72. That could very well be McGovern's problem. How can he get back to the center in time without losing some of his credibility and army. If anyone knew, McGovern would no doubt be eternally grateful.

Letters to the Editor Achievement praised

To the Daily Egyptian:

Ever since reading Seymour Hersh's "Chemical and Biological Warfare: America's Hidden Arsenal," I have been very concerned about the environmental effects of the Indochinese War and, more specifically, about University complicity and active participation in the massive destruction of the land and people of Indochina.

Several months ago, I ordered a 1971 Penguin publication, "Ecology of Devastation: Indochina," by John Lewallen. Since I expected to read of the ecological effects of American bombs and other weaponry, the desiccation and defoliation resulting from the application of herbicides, etc., I was surprised to find the following reference to SIU:

"Meanwhile, the American civilian advisory program has entered a holding phase. No one speaks any longer about winning the hearts and minds of the Indochinese people. SIU has been granted $1,000,000 by the Agency for International Development (AID) for 'Strengthening within SIU Competency in Vietnamese Studies and Programs Related to the Economic and Social Development of Vietnam and Its Post-War Reconstruction.' The head of AID, John A. Hannah, explained to Senator Fulbright that the SIU center would produce technical and professional personnel for assistance as requested in the post-war economic and social reconstruction of Vietnam—with particular attention being paid to Vietnamese and American veterans of the Vietnam conflict for such service.

"Postwar reconstruction is the new—and rather premature—civilian catchword. The SIU center is designed to maintain a pool of Vietnam 'other war' professionals and to train compliant South Vietnamese. Strong student and faculty opposition has emerged at SIU, and it may prevent establishment of this administrative training academy."

As one reads the writings of several of the past consultants and visitors to the Vietnamese Center, of professors with orientations not unlike those of Fishel and Sacks, one observes various proposals for drastically altering the environment of Indochina. The University, funded by and fulfilling the goals of American governmental agencies and corporations, will assist in restructuring traditional Indochina: Indochina will be transformed into a "modern," technological, anticommunist, pro-U.S., consumer-oriented society, which, incidentally, will be sympathetic to U.S. economic and political vested interests. If this involves the destruction of the traditional sociological, psychological, cultural and religious structures of the Indochinese people, so be it.

Fortunately, as SIU concedes in its last annual report to Washington, the Vietnamese Center has not been able to fulfill the potential for which the AID funds were granted. Because of the courageous and persistent resistance of thousands of people, both at SIU and throughout the world, all of the major objectives in establishing the Vietnamese Center have been thwarted.

With your support and participation, we shall continue to resist U.S. imperialist designs in Indochina and shall prevent this University from totally perverting any sense of progressive educational priorities. So, let us rejoice in what we have achieved and then rededicate ourselves to what must be done.

Workable theory?

To the Daily Egyptian:

The Democratic Convention has produced something new in American politics. It has assembled itself in a kind of sociological textbook mix of voting representatives, as if someone took a random sample of the U.S. population—an "X" number of women, blacks, Puerto Ricans, white collar and blue collar workers etc.

This mix, of course, is far from random. The delegates were there in Miami as a result of a rigorous process of "natural" selection. The delegates had to get nominated, make deals, show perseverance, determination, acquire mastery of political know-how, a feel for cooperation and display a degree of self-sacrifice that the normal voter is certain to lack.

The question that political analysts will ask is will such a textbook-mix work, will it bring out voters more effectively than the party bosses? That is—does this amalgam have meaning in America: is this the button that turns the American voter on? Or is it a theoretical abstraction doomed to collect dust in the aftermath of the November election?

The results whatever they are will certainly affect the character of American politics for a long time.

The Innocent Bystander

Treaty leads to rockpile stockpile

By Arthur Hoppe
Chronicle Features

June 25, 1984 — As church bells chimed and people throughout the world danced in the streets, the United Nations today realized an age-old dream of mankind by ratifying a Universal Disarmament Pact.

Under terms of the widely-hailed treaty, all nations agreed to destroy immediately every single weapon in their arsenals—from nuclear missiles to Billy clubs, from jet bombers to bows and arrows.

"At last man now enters a golden age of permanent peace," a jubilant President told the American people in a nationwide telecast. "At last we can divert our $200 billion defense budget to better the lot of every American. For man will war no more.

"After all," he said with a smile, "The only thing man can now hurl at his brother is a handy rock."

June 26, 1984 — Defense Secretary Melvin Ludd appeared before a joint Congressional committee today to ask for $1.5 billion in research funds to develop a "prototype rock."

Ludd pointed out that rocks, being indigenous to every nation's environment, were not banned by the treaty. "We can be sure," he warned ominously, "that the Russians and Chinese are secretly at work on an advanced rock that could make America a second-rate power."

April 8, 1985 — The Army today unveiled its new M-16 antipersonnel rock designed to fragment on impact.

Developed at a cost of $43.6 billion, it will replace the now-obsolete 125-pound M-15 rock, which failed in extensive tests to get off the ground. Some of the obsolete M-15s will be mothballed for emergencies, the Army said, while the remainder will be sold to "our friendly neighbors in Latin America" for three cents on the dollar.

The Army purchased one million of the new M-16 rocks for $1.39 each. The rest of the $43.6 billion went for new M-16 mobile rock haulers with white sidewall tires, new individual M-16 rock carriers with chromium handles, and other accessories.

November 3, 1985 — Secretary Ludd asked

Congress today for $64.5 million to develop an AntiRock Rock, plus another $82.7 billion to construct an AntiRock Early Defense Line (ARED).

He cited CIA reports that the Chinese were working on an Inter-Continental Ballistic Rock (ICBR) launched by a giant Chinese firecracker...

He said the proposed ARED, a mile-high net along the Canadian border, would intercept most Chinese ICBRs, while the new ARRrs, sent aloft by mile-long rubber bands, would shoot down the rest.

November 7, 1985 — A worried President today signed the Universal Draft Law requiring all Americans over age five to work on the Nation's rockpiles.

"Our freedom will never be secure," he said, "until we have the world's largest rockpile stockpile."

July 4, 1986 — The people of the world, fed up with working day and night on their national rockpile stockpiles, revolted today.

Chanting the stirring slogan, "We need rocks like we need holes in our heads," they marched on the U.N. and demanded an entirely new treaty. This one banned no weapons, but all generals in general and all defense secretaries in particular.

And so church bells are chiming and people throughout the world are dancing in the streets tonight—confident that they have at last found the key to a golden age of permanent peace.

Production of 'Anastasia' slated in Summer Theater

By Pat Nussman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Is the dazed, shabby woman who was rescued from the edge of a canal in truth Anastasia, the true daughter of Czar Nicholas II?

Only the Dowager Empress, still living in Berlin, can prove or disprove her identity. And she is hostile.

The "princess" meanwhile, is in the hands of three villains—a former prince, a former banker and a former painter.

The confrontation between the Empress and Anna, who may be the princess Anastasia, will be starting at 8 p.m. Friday at the University Theater as the third production of the Summer Theater—"Anastasia."

A climax to the play comes during a long scene in the second act where the ancient, tempestuous Empress confronts Anna, the fragile and uncertain possible pretender who may be granddaughter.

The embittered two warily circle each other, starting one another with echoes of the Winter Palace of the Czar.

The SIU production of "Anastasia" is directed by Terry Browne, who will be leaving Carbondale to take up a new college teaching post in Rochester, New York, in September.

The title role will be played by Leslie Ann Rivers, with the role of the Dowager Empress performed by Paula Parker.

Second house for Student Senate not favored by group

By Jan Tranchita
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Officers from Student Government and campus organizations met Saturday to discuss possible implementation of a second house in the Student Senate.

The proposal, first voiced by vice-president Sue Collett, stipulates a president's council, composed of student organization presidents to operate in conjunction with the existing Student Senate.

The group designated 17 parent sections under which all campus organizations fall, according to Joe Krzysiak, assistant to Jon Taylor.

Rather than form a second house in Student Government, the group amended the proposal to allow various parent groups representation in the existing Student Senate.

"Each of 17 major divisions would be responsible for selecting two representatives to the Student Senate," Krzysiak said. This eliminates the need for more student input into Student Government, he said.

The group divided campus organizations into a college division, school division and then recognized student groups into miscellaneous sections, including recreational organizations and civic and service organizations, he said.

Major divisions for parent sections include the following: Colleges: communications and fine arts, 28 groups; education, 10 groups, liberal arts and sciences, 18 groups; and new colleges, including wheelchair services and community development, 4 groups.

Schools: agriculture, 11 groups; business, 10 groups; and engineering and technology, 7 groups.

Special Interest groups: black affairs council, 17 groups; civic and service, 18 groups; and recreational, 16 groups.

Ruling to banish death penalty appealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court was asked Monday to reconsider its decision banning criminal executions and return 17 prisoners to death row.

The rehearings, sought by the attorneys-general of Georgia and Texas and Philadelphia District Attorney Arlen Specter, would affect 13 once-condemned men in Georgia, 2 in Pennsylvania and 2 in Texas if granted by the high court.

The prosecutors seek to restore the death penalties to the three prisoners directly affected by the Supreme Court decision—William Henry Furman and Lucius Jackson Jr., both of Georgia, and Elmer Branch of Texas—along with 10 others who had been awaiting execution on murder and rape charges.

Carbondale kids planning trip to 'Las Vegas'

Carbondale youngsters are planning a trip to Las Vegas Friday.

Las Vegas Day at Evergreen Terrace is the highlight of Carbondale Park District activities this week. Transportation is provided for all children six to 12 years of age for activities throughout the week at Evergreen Terrace. Pickups are slated at 8:45 a.m. each day at Attucks, Winkler, and Parrish schools; children are returned at 3 p.m.

Tuesday races will be held. On Wednesday, preparations begin for Las Vegas Day. Thursday the creative dramatics class will put on a skit in the morning and there will be a "water spray" in the afternoon.

But the big day is Friday when youngsters create their own Las Vegas at Evergreen by going to the wheel of fortune, a fortune teller, mice races, leap frog contest, dart games, and bingo.

McGovern names Illinois chairman

CHICAGO (AP)—Gene Pokorny, the man named Monday by Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern to head his Illinois campaign, is the first of the South Dakota senator's national campaign aides to be assigned supervision of a single state.

Pokorny, 26, native of Howells, Neb., managed McGovern's campaign in the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries.

In announcing Pokorny's appointment, McGovern said, "I think Illinois is a crucial state. I think it's going to be one of the most difficult for us."

He said Pokorny "is one of the two or three best field organizers we have in the entire campaign."

Microbiology to hold seminar

The Department of Microbiology will sponsor a seminar on "Glucosyltransferase Activity of Oral Streptococci" at 9:30 a.m. next Wednesday in Life Science Building II, room 330.

Dr. Ernest Newbrun, professor of oral biology at the University of California, San Francisco, will be the guest speaker.

To get the rehearings, the petitioners would have to get the support of five of the nine justices, including one who voted with the majority in the 5-4 anti-execution decision last June 29.

Rehearings are unusual in a court which has granted only four or five in the past five years, according to observers.

The court's capital punishment decision declared that the death penalty under most existing state and federal laws is unconstitutional because it violates an amendment prohibiting "cruel and unusual punishment."

The decision vacated the death penalty for several hundred prisoners.

The prosecutors argued in their petitions filed with the court clerk that the ruling constitutes a severe blow to the American jury system.

Furman and Jackson were given death sentences at Savannah in 1968 for, respectively, murder and forcible rape.

Attorney Specter asked rehearings in the cases of Anthony Scoleri and Frank Phelan as a pistol-whipping robber and murderer and Phelan as a hired assassin.

V.A. hospitals may treat army rejected drug users

A veteran who received an "other than honorable" discharge from military service because of drug use or possession may apply for a discharge review, according to an announcement made this week by the Veterans Administration.

Self-explanatory review applications (DD Form 293) are available at the VA office, 1401 Walnut St., in Murphysboro. Each review application must be submitted to the military department that issued the discharge.

The new policy is being put into effect as a result of an announcement made several months ago by Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird, who said that military departments would "review for recharacterization administrative discharges issued under 'other than honorable conditions' solely on the basis of personal use of drugs or possession of drugs for such use."

Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veterans affairs, said Wednesday in Chicago that the purpose of the review policy is to provide an opportunity for this group of veterans to become eligible for VA medical treatment. The VA is barred by law from treating veterans with dishonorable discharges.

The VA medical care program has six hospitals in Illinois—Chicago West Side, Chicago Research, Danville, Downey, Marion and Hines.

Of these, Downey and Hines will receive $385,000 and $325,000 respectively in 1973 for drug dependence treatment centers, Johnson said.

He said the money is part of $3,884,500 budgeted to Illinois' VA hospitals, which serve 1,634,000 veterans.

Johnson said that VA expenditures in Illinois have increased by $89 million in three years, to a total of $484 million in 1972. In addition to increases in medical care, increased enrollment under the G. I. Bill and increased compensation and pension payments were cited by Johnson as reasons for higher expenditures.

Johnson said that in six years of the current G. I. Bill, nearly one million more have trained than during the entire 13-year history of the Korean Conflict G. I. Bill. Trainees in Illinois now total 163,000.

VA has guaranteed more than 12,000 loans valued at $255 million for Illinois veterans during the past three years, Johnson said. This, he said, compares with national figures of 700,000 loans valued at $15 billion.

Johnson announced that a cost of living increase in compensation payments will become effective Aug. 1 (payable in Sept. 1 checks). Johnson said it will give beneficiaries a total overall increase of more than 20 per cent in two years.

'Duck' is 'dynamite' bandit film

By Ed Eaton
 Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

When Lee Marvin says, "Duck, you sucker!" you better believe him.

Marvin as an Irish explosives expert is his usual best in an unusual role in "Duck, you sucker!" playing this week at the Varsity. But Rod Steiger as a Mexican bandit is even better as the two team up for the best one-two punch to hit the movies since Sundance and Butch rode onto the set more than a year ago.

Steiger plays an amusing "Hokay" bandito planning to rob a bank that he has dreamed of hitting ever since he saw it as an eight year-old sidekick to his Pa who failed in his effort to knock over Mesa Verde "pot of gold."

When he meets Marvin, a cool, calm revolutionary who learned to use dynamite as a rebel in Ireland, he tries to enlist his skill with explosives in the bank job. But instead Marvin makes his colorful friend into an unwilling first class hero of the revolutionaries.

The pair provide great comedy, mixed with some good dramatic moments. Some of the shoot 'em up, wild battle scenes are as far-fetched (with every bullet wiping out at least a dozen soldiers) as Mayor Daley ringing doorbells for George McGovern but it's good entertainment for an evening.

Especially for the students and faculty of SIU

Police report arrest, thefts

An SIU student was arrested Saturday night in connection with a disturbance at the Crab Orchard Spillway. University police reported Monday.

Steven A. Davidson, 26, of 905 E. Park St., was arrested by two federal officers from the Fish and Wildlife Service and charged with disorderly conduct and obstructing a police officer. He is to appear at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 12 in the U.S. Commissioner's Office in Carbondale.

Police said the incident started when the federal officers asked Davidson and a group of people to leave a closed area near the Spillway. When the group refused, a disturbance between the officers and the group resulted and university police were called to assist.

Another SIU student, Jeffrey L. Valenta, 18, of 533 Neely Hall, told university police that he was robbed and beaten early Sunday morning while walking down East Grand Street by the Illinois Central railroad tracks. Valenta said that about 12:40 a.m., he was approached by two men who demanded he give them his money. Valenta said he refused, and one of the men struck him and knocked him to the ground. Valenta said both men then began kicking him in the upper body and head. He said they then took his wallet and $5 cash and ran southeast toward Brush Towers.

A wallet containing $75 cash was stolen Friday afternoon from an employee at the Center for English as a Second Language. The owner, Nancy A. Rushing, 19, of Marion, was away on an errand when the theft occurred.

Police said that five bicycle thefts were reported over the weekend. Chuck A. Coleman, 16, of 1535 Mae Smith, said his green, five-speed, men's Huffy bicycle valued at $50 was stolen Thursday night from the Mae Smith bicycle rack. Coleman is a high school student participating in a workshop at SIU.

A green, 10-speed, boy's Schwinn bicycle valued at $125 was taken Friday night from the Daily Egyptian parking lot behind the Communications building. The owner, Joe E. Sampson, 21, of 75 Malibu Village, told that a cable connecting the bicycle to a light pole was cut. Charles S. Steiner, 25, of 175-5 Evergreen Terrace, said his gold, 10-speed, men's Pemney's bicycle valued at $75 was taken Friday night from his residence.

Two bicycles valued at $300 were taken Saturday night from the residence of William A. Dickinson, 25, of 135-7 Southern Hills. Both the bicycles were blue, 10-speed Azuki Grand Sports, Dickinson said, but one was 23 inches and the other was 21 inches.

Jodine Chun, 17, of 1632 Neely Hall, said her green, 10-speed Schwinn Super Sport bicycle valued at $120 was taken Sunday night when it was parked in front of the building.

Airport awards work contract

By Rita Fung
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Illinois Department of Aeronautics recently awarded a contract for work at Southern Illinois Airport, Carbondale-Murphysboro, to the E.T. Simonds Construction Company in Carbondale.

The Simonds firm submitted the low bid of $142,276.60 for the project.

Construction work at the airport will include expansion of the aircraft parking apron and installation of taxiway edge lights around the parking apron and a parallel taxiway.

J.T. Blankship Associates, a Murphysboro engineering firm, will be in charge of planning the engineering work, according to John Schwinn, an associate of the Blankship firm.

"Hopefully the project will begin this week or within the next ten days," Schwinn said. "The project is contracted for 50 working days since it is not a major thing."

John Tippy, field engineer of the project, said the aircraft parking apron will be widened an additional 200 feet. The new apron will be about 360 feet in width.

"We are going to fill in the area between the existing parking ramp and a parallel taxiway," he said.

"I don't know how much the unit cost is going to be since we are still waiting for the contract to come back from the Department of Aeronautics," Tippy added.

Nixon orders drug arrests to be doubled next year

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon received a report of progress Monday on the government's narcotics crackdown but told officials heading the drive that he wanted the number of arrests for drug violations doubled in the next year.

During a meeting in his Oval Office, the president pointed to a chart showing 16,144 drug arrests in fiscal 1972—compared with the 1969 figure of 8,465—and said, "I'd like to see this number doubled next year."

"We very likely may do that," responded Miles Ambrose, special consultant to the President and director of the Office of Drug Abuse Law Enforcement.

As he looked at the chart, football fan Nixon said, "We were on the 10-yard line" when the drug crackdown began and "now we are up to the 50-yard line."

Namath wants $250,000; won't play for less

By Will Grimsley
AP Special Correspondent

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath is demanding a record contract—figured at $250,000 a year—from the New York Jets because, he insists, "I think I can play better than anyone else."

There will be no "live combat" until his terms are met, he told an informal news conference at Hofstra University's dining room Monday after his first workout with the National Football League team. He reported a week late, with permission of the club.

"I won't play under any option clause. I won't play an exhibition game until the contract is signed," says the 29-year-old superstar vowed. The Jets are scheduled to open their exhibition season Aug. 5 against San Francisco in Jacksonville, Fla.

Namath, whose contract is up for renewal this year, said his attorney, Jimmy Walsh, had conferred with Jets attorney Dick Barovick and further meetings are planned. Namath declined to discuss details, but he said he had little doubt the issue would be resolved.

Asked how far the two are apart, Joe stretched his arms as wide as possible, and said: "This far."

Wearing a red jersey and familiar white shoes, the former University of Alabama star whistled through a morning workout, moving well on taped legs that have bothered him throughout his eight-year pro career.

"My knees feel okay," Joe said. "I still have a dull pain in my left foot. I think it is a nerve. It developed after my injury last year."

Namath was injured in the Jet's first exhibition game of 1971 in Tampa Fla., and had to undergo surgery. His leg was in a cast for much of the season.

Broadway Joe, his black hair hanging down over his ears, sat at a small table, sipped coffee and toyed with a toothpick as he discussed his contract problems in a relaxed manner.

"I want to stay in New York—it's the best city in the country for a celebrity or a man wanting to make a good living," he said. "But, if I don't get the terms I want, I don't see why some other team wouldn't pick me up."

Joe admitted under questioning that he had been quoted correctly in saying that he should be paid more than any other professional quarterback because he regards himself as the best. Joe Kapp reportedly had a $200,000-a-year package with the New England Patriots.

"There are several reasons I think I should be paid more than any other quarterback," he said. "New York is the biggest city in the country. The Jets are the only team with a chance to win. The Giants are terrible."

"To win, the Jets have to hire me or get one who is as capable—out of a washing machine or something. Also, I think I can play better than anyone else."

"I could play tomorrow," he said. "I always have a good attitude. Football is fun. It's still exciting and New York is the only city to play in, but that doesn't mean I wouldn't change if I had to."

Gibson starts for NL

All-Star baseball tonight

By Hal Bock
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Manager Danny Murtaugh of the National League named a somewhat reluctant Bob Gibson Monday to start Tuesday night's 43rd annual All-Star baseball game and the pitcher's reported reticence drew an immediate blast from Earl Weaver, manager of the American League.

Weaver, who will open with Jim Palmer, ace of his Baltimore pitching staff, came up with newspaper clippings quoting Gibson as saying that he hoped he would not start the game.

"This game is important to me and to every player in it," the Orioles' manager said. "I don't think anybody should say he doesn't want to play. Ninety-five per cent of the gate from this game goes into the pension fund. This pays for my retirement and his, and he'd better not forget it."

Murtaugh seemed surprised over the furor. "I haven't seen any article," the former Pittsburgh manager said. "What did he say?"

Weaver produced the clippings and handed them to Murtaugh, who glanced at them for a moment.

"Well, Bob and I have different ideas," said Murtaugh. "I named him as my starter and I'm going to start him. It's an honor and I'm sure he'll do a good job."

The game, which will be telecast by NBC is scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. EDT. The National League has a 23-18 edge with one tie in the series which began in 1933.

Weaver supplied the only real surprise in the starting lineups, inserting Baltimore shortstop Bobby Grich, who was added to the American League team only Sunday. Luis Aparicio, starting shortstop in the balloting by fans across the country, will miss the game because of an injury and Grich was added when Texas' Toby Harrah also was scratched by an injury.

"When Harrah called me and said he couldn't play, I added Grich. Here's a .290 hitter doing everything for me and outitting all the shortstops in the American League. He deserves to start," Weaver said. That leaves Oakland's Bert Campaneris as the backup shortstop.

Weaver named second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota to lead off; New York center fielder Bobby Murcer to bat second; Oakland's Reggie Jackson, right field, third; first baseman Dick Allen of Chicago, fourth; Boston left fielder Carl Yastrzemski, fifth, and then Grich, third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, Detroit catcher Bill Freehan and Palmer.

Murtaugh came equipped with two batting orders. One for a left-hander, the other for a right-hander. With Palmer opening for the AL, Murtaugh's team will bat this way: Houston second baseman Joe Morgan, center fielder Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh, Atlanta's Hank Aaron in right field, Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh in left field, catcher Jonny Bench of Cincinnati, Houston's Lee May at first base, third baseman Joe Torre of St. Louis, Chicago shortstop Don Kessinger and Gibson.

Murtaugh retired after managing the Pirates to the world championship last October, beating Weaver's Orioles in seven games.

College All-Stars face uphill battle

EVANSTON (AP) — "We're going into the game to win," says Bob Devaney, coach of the College All-Star football team. "It'll be difficult but we're going into the game with that idea."

If Devaney, who has coached Nebraska to two successive national championships, succeeds he'll have accomplished something no other coach has since 1963 when Otto Graham guided the collegians to a 20-17 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Devaney's task is to upset the Dallas Cowboys, the National Football League's Super Bowl champions, in Chicago's Soldier Field next Friday night. The pros lead the series 27-9-2.

"We've still got a ways to go," said Devaney. "Injuries and the weather have slowed us down. Either it's been raining or it has been miserably hot."

Terry Beasley, the split end from Auburn and Clarence Ellis, defensive back from Notre Dame, have been lost because of injuries and defensive back Craig Clemons of Iowa has been suffering from muscle spasms.

"We're down to six defensive backs," said Devaney. "But the squad attitude has been good and the boys have been working hard. It's a good group to work with."

Devaney's own work has been lessened by design. He brought with him his entire Nebraska coaching staff and he also selected two of his own quarterbacks—Jerry Tagge and Van Brownson. The third quarterback is Pat Sullivan, the Heisman Trophy winner from Auburn.

"We've put in the Nebraska system on both offense and defense," said Devaney. "It certainly made things a lot easier. And we think we have some good football players."

Devaney has been especially impressed by Steve Okoniewski, an offensive lineman from Montana, tight end Riley Odoms of Houston, halfbacks Glenn Doughty of Michigan and Bobby Moore of Oregon and fullbacks Franco Harris of Penn State and Bob Newhouse of Houston.

"I know what the quarterbacks can do," continued Devaney. "and I've found out that Doughty and Moore can really go get the ball. So we should be able to throw very well. Harris and Newhouse have shown a lot of aggressiveness at fullback."

"We'll also have a good pass rush led by Walt Patulski Notre Dame and Sherman White, California. They were the first two players drafted by the pros."

Devaney also had praise for linebackers John Mendenhall of Grambling and John Babinecz of Villanova.

Although Devaney said he wouldn't name his starting line-up until the "middle of the week," it's a good bet his front four will consist of Patulski, White, Herb Orvis of Colorado and Greg Sampson of Stanford. "All the players will get a chance to play," said Devaney. "We're not a big squad as far as numbers go. But don't get the idea that we're going into the game just to play the players. If we don't have a chance to win with certain players, they won't play. We're going into the game to win it."
