Nixon's GOP base erodes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's base of support on the House Judiciary Committee eroded Thursday when two Republican members declared flatly for impeachment and others leaned in that direction.

As the opening phase of the impeachment debate neared an end, 12 committee members had declared their belief President Nixon should be removed from office.

After sitting most of the day, the panel took a three-hour recess for dinner and a series of House votes, with its proceedings scheduled to resume in the evening.

Some of the sharpest criticism of the President came from Rep. M. Caldwell Butler, a Virginia Republican, who had been regarded as uncommitted.

If the committee fails to approve articles of impeachment, said Butler, "we will have condoned and left unpunished a presidential course of conduct designed to interfere with and obstruct the very process he is sworn to uphold."

Shortly before Butler spoke during the nationally broadcast colloquy, Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan (R-Md.) said "It is impossible for me to condone or ignore the long train of abuses to which he (Nixon) has subjected the presidency."

Two days ago, Hogan told a news conference he planned to vote for impeachment.

In a dramatic, unexpected announcement, Rep. Harold V. Froehlich (R-Wis.) said, "I must confess I am deeply pained and troubled by some of the things I see," referring to the Watergate cover-up.

With his voice cracking, Froehlich concluded, "I am concerned about impeaching the President for his actions...My decision awaits the final wording of the articles of impeachment and the remaining debate."

Many members withheld judgment as they made their 15-minute opening statements, instead emphasizing the historic import and heavy burden of the ever-nearer decision.

Speakers were called on the basis of seniority and by the time the debate reached the bottom third of the committee ranks, 12 members had declared their intention to support impeachment.

In addition to Hogan and Butler, the most recent declarations came from Reps. George Danielson of California, John Seiberling of Ohio and Robert F. Drinan of Massachusetts, who was one of the first members of the House to file an impeachment resolution.

It would take 20 votes on the 38-member committee for approval of the proposed articles of impeachment.

In addition, two other Republicans indicated they could be leaning toward supporting impeachment.

Rep. William S. Cohen of Maine, in a speech highly critical of the actions of the Nixon administration, rejected arguments that the only ground for impeachment is a violation of a criminal law.

But Cohen, long regarded as leaning toward impeachment, stopped just short of saying how he planned to vote.

It also was learned that Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, second ranking Republican on the committee, was drafting a proposed article of impeachment that would accuse the President of violating the constitutional requirement that "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

McClory said he would offer his proposal as a substitute when debate begins on two articles already submitted by a Democrat.

While Danielson was speaking, the session was briefly interrupted once again by an anonymous call warning that there was a bomb in the room. Two such calls were received Wednesday night. Nothing was found after any of the calls.

Danielson was the eighth Democrat to declare his support for impeachment.

The views of most of the committee members have become well-known in the weeks since the impeachment inquiry began and most of the interest centered on members like Butler and Cohen whose votes were considered uncertain.

One of them, Rep. Walter Flowers (D-Ala.) said he often thinks of impeachment as "a bad dream."

"But unfortunately, this is no bad dream," said Flowers "it is the terrible truth that will be upon us soon."

Another Southern Democrat, Rep. James Mann, of South Carolina, said, "I have expressed no prejudgments."

While the committee moved forward, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski went to court and asked a federal judge to order Nixon to produce without delay tapes and documents subpoenaed as evidence in the Watergate cover-up trial.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica scheduled a hearing for 9 a.m. Friday.

The Supreme Court ruled Wednesday that the President must obey the subpoena and Nixon announced later that he would. The court's 8-0 decision brought demands from some Judiciary Committee Republicans for a halt in the proceedings until the panel could renew its bid for the same recordings.

During Thursday's debate, Rep. Charles E. Wiggins (R-Calif.) continued his role as leader of Nixon's defense within the committee and began offering a detailed analysis of the impeachment evidence. Wiggins sought to demonstrate that the material fell far short of grounds for impeachment.

The committee, composed of 21 Democrats and 17 Republicans, was scheduled to complete the opening phase of its debate on Thursday and turn to consideration of the specific charges against the President.

The climactic votes on the proposed articles could come as early as Friday night or Saturday.

If the committee, as widely predicted, recommends impeachment, the historic debate will move to the full House where a majority vote would be required to send the case to the Senate for trial.

A two-thirds majority in the Senate would be required for conviction and removal from office.

The opening sessions produced more a succession of speeches than the give and take of debate.

Two facing indictments

By David Kornblith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A Jackson County grand jury handed down two indictments Thursday afternoon. The jury, meeting in special session, had been investigating alleged liquor irregularities at SIU.

Lawrence Rippe, assistant state's attorney, said names of those indicted would not be released until summons have been served. He added that it is traditional for the state's attorney to hold the names from the public until those indicted have been notified.

The special two-day grand jury session was reviewing evidence of liquor purchase irregularities at SIU. In February, it was discovered that $5,000 was taken from a restricted University account to buy liquor.

The liquor was bought over a 19-month period from Carbondale Holiday Inn.

Shortly after the irregularities, Danilo Orescanin, former campus treasurer, resigned his post. He is now teaching at SIU.

David Derge resigned as SIU president man shortly after Orescanin stepped down.

Rippe said those indicted may appear in court Friday morning, after which time their names would become public.

Rippe also refused to comment on the indictment charges, saying, "If I gave you that information you would know who it was."

Call-your-computer becoming a reality

By Bill Layne
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Dial-a-computer is just around the corner for SIU.

Six computer terminals recently arrived and as soon as they are installed faculty and students will be able to hook up via telephone with SIU's main computer.

The six additional terminals—three terminals are presently in operation at Academic Computing Services—will be available for research and instructional programs.

Proposals for use of the terminals have been submitted to academic computing by faculty members and graduate students with faculty sponsors. A one-week training and informational session is slated to begin Monday for those who will be using the terminals, according to Ed Fisher, assistant director of academic computing.

The terminals are similar to keypunch machines and are about the same size. Each will be connected by telephone with the main computer located in the Wham Building.

To use the computer, a predetermined series of numbers is dialed on the phone and the computer becomes available for the desired program.

Fisher said he hopes individuals will continue to rent the terminals so the program can become self-supporting after the grant runs out.

The equipment and program is currently being funded by a $38,432 grant from former President David R. Derge's Academic Excellence Program of 1973.

The six terminals will be located in Parkinson, Neckers, Tech A, Faner, Wham and General Classrooms.

Nixon to cut budget in inflation fight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Nixon said Thursday he aims to trim $5 billion from the fiscal 1975 budget and continue spending restraints. He suggested "an anti-inflation lobby...in every home in America" to help win the fight against inflation.

He called on Congress, business and labor and every family to help.

Nixon said he had no intention of resorting to "the discredited patent medicine of wage and price controls," nor would he prime the pumps of inflation with new deficit spending, new easing of credit or with tax cuts "that would only make inflation worse."

Instead, he said he plans a "sensible, realistic course" and will monitor every sector of the economy to continue "steadily on our basic anti-inflationary course."

Nixon made his comments in a nationally televised speech before a gathering of businessmen and manufacturers at the Century Plaza Hotel.

He said he is determined to cut a proposed fiscal 1975 budget of $305 billion "toward a goal of $300 billion" and will veto congressional actions that would raise spending above that budget.

For his own part, the President said he has ordered a reduction of 40,000 in the number of federal employees provided for in the budget for the current year, estimating "this alone will save $300 million."

Nixon said the federal government will cut the growth of its spending and hold down the growth of money and credit to check private spending.

He asked state and local governments, businesses and consumers "to hold down their own spending and increase their own saving as their contribution to the fight against higher prices."

He said some Americans cannot cut their spending without real hardship and some businesses cannot cut without cutting production now or in the future.

"But," the President said, "most families could reduce or defer some expenditures—building their savings instead—without hardship."

"Every business has some fat in it, just as every federal agency has. And state and local governments, whose spending has been rising rapidly, should follow the lead of the federal government in cutting unnecessary spending."

In order to keep federal spending down, Nixon said he would "propose repeal of existing legislation that makes spending mandatory," when it became necessary. He had fought a battle with Congress over impoundment of funds they wanted spent in recent years.

There will not be a return to price and wage controls, the President promised, but he said he would use every influence of his office "to bring about hopeful, voluntary restraint on the part of both business and labor."

The nation must focus "above all on producing more so that we can have more goods and services without higher prices," the President said.

A number of "critical measures are necessary" to assure a vigorous growth of supplies, he said, pointing to agriculture, where he promised there would continue to be "a policy of abundance...rather than a policy of scarcity."

Nixon said the United States also must take all necessary steps to make sure that it has reliable supplies of energy and "will never again be hostage to a cut-off of vital energy supplies by any foreign country."

Observing that "burdensome over-regulation based on policies designed for an earlier era" often stifled today's economy, the President said he has directed "a sweeping review" of regulatory policies to meet current needs.

He urged Congress to enact regulatory reforms and pointed to some state and local regulations such as obsolete building codes that need updating.

Sears puts up fight against subpoenas

CHICAGO (AP)—Sears, Roebuck and Co. is fighting subpoenas ordering its officials to appear before a hearing by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights examining the relationship between sex discrimination and poverty.

Sears President Dean Swift said to appear before the committee would "jeopardize our legal position with other agencies." A spokesman said the statement referred to a report Sears is preparing for the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC).

Sears Chairman Arthur Wood and five personnel officials failed to appear at the hearing Thursday in Chicago and are in violation of the subpoenas, a commission attorney said. Sears could face possible contempt action, he added.

Sears attorneys instead presented petitions arguing that the inquiry duplicates a study by the EEOC. Sears attorney Lawrence M. Cohen said, "There is no reason at this time to single Sears out because of its size or any other reason." He added that Sears "questions the right of the commission to investigate private employment discrimination."

Lawrence B. Glick, acting general counsel for the commission, said the commission has taken the petition under advisement and will probably make no decision before mid-August. If the commission rules against the petition, failure to comply with the subpoenas could lead to contempt action by the U.S. attorney, Glick said.

The hearings were suspended until the question is settled.

In a letter to Commission Chairman Arthur S. Flemming, Sears President Dean Swift said the firm is compiling for the EEOC "detailed information, including manuals, records and other historical data relating to almost 130,000 Sears employees at 168 locations and will complete the task within the next few months."

"There is a duplication of purpose, if not interest, between competing federal agency investigations of Sears employment practices and policies," he said. "The probable consequence for Sears is that we are placed in the impossible position of having to jeopardize our legal position with other agencies in order to cooperate with the Civil Rights Commission."

The implication behind Sears being the only private employer subpoenaed, he said, "is that Sears' employment practices are unique and a major factor in maintenance of poverty among Chicago women."

Sears Affirmative Action Program is firmly committed to insuring a representative number of minorities and women at all levels and throughout all positions in the company."

Glick, who drew up the subpoenas, said EEOC is only concerned with individual and group employment complaints, and the two inquiries "are in no way duplicative."

Before the hearings were recessed June 19 to give Sears time to respond to the subpoenas, topics included public assistance, federal job-training programs, "traditional versus non-traditional" jobs for women, child care, social security and private pension plans.

Did You Know

By Steve Shafer

Did you know there's a team in professional sports today that has a husband-and-wife and a brother-and-sister combination on the team? It's Denver in the new World Team Tennis League. On the team are Jeff and Pam Austin who are brother and sister, and Andy and Daphne Parrison who are husband and wife.

Here's an oddity from baseball...They say that the best team in the league always wins the close games—yet did you know that the Oakland A's, even though they were the world's champions last season, actually did not come anywhere near to having the best record in close games. And oddly enough, Cleveland won the most games decided by the margin of one run in the American League last year, and Cleveland finished in last place.

Forest Hall will once again become a dormitory beginning fall semester.

Students sign up for rooms at Forrest Hall dorm for fall

By Charlotte Jones
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Students will again be living in Forrest Hall, the former Board of Trustees building, this fall.

The building is one of four that was vacated this summer when several SIU offices moved into the new Faner building and Small Group Housing.

The University has been paying $232,000 annually to lease the four buildings.

$1.06-billion school bill approved by governor

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Daniel Walker approved Thursday $1.06 billion to fully fund the school formula bill for elementary and secondary education in Illinois.

Although originally opposed to the bill, the governor said the money will increase state support of education from 37 per cent to 43.5 per cent of the education bill.

The legislature had originally appropriated some $1.075 billion for the bill, but Walker said $1.06 billion would be enough, based on new figures which show a lower enrollment. If it is not enough to fully fund the schools, Walker said he will seek more money from the legislature.

In Springfield, Senate President William Harris, (R-Pontiac); Sen. Harris W. Fawell (R-Naperville), chairman of the Senate Education Committee, and the committee's vice chairman, Sen. David C. Shapiro, (R-Amboy) issued a statement praising Walker's decision.

"The governor's capitulation today on the question of full funding for the state's public schools under the school aid formula, is a victory for the public of Illinois and the bipartisan membership of the General Assembly. By his action, Gov. Walker has resolved a question of paramount importance that has taken up too much of our time

The SIU Board of Trustees staff moved into Small Group Housing last month after spending four years in Forrest Hall.

Investor Landtrust of Carbondale decided six weeks ago to turn the dormitory back into rental housing, Charles Goss of Cherry Realty said. Cherry Realty, is the property manager for the 50-member land trust.

Goss said about 30 students already have signed contracts for fall semester.

The dorm will house about 80 students in private rooms. Some of the rooms have been converted into efficiency apartments with microwave ovens, sinks and a refrigerator. The efficiency apartments will rent for $550 a semester including utilities.

Students renting private rooms will have access to a communal kitchen area. Rent for private rooms is $450 a semester.

The former government building at 600 Freeman also was vacated last month when the department moved into the Faner building. It may remain empty a while, Goss said.

Goss said the Dormitory Land-trust, owners of the former dormitory, hadn't decided what to do with the building. He said they probably won't leave the building vacant very long.

Buildings A and B of the College Square Complex on Graham Street also are empty. The Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections has moved from the complex into Faner. The University News Service moved to the second floor of the Communications building and the Center for Vietnamese Studies was transferred to Pulliam Hall.

The two buildings are owned by a land trust. American National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, trustee for the land trust, refused to name the owners of the complex.

Rino Bianchi, director of facilities planning, said he didn't know the owners of the two buildings or what they planned to do with them.

during the past two years," the statement said.

Dr. Harold P. Seamon, executive director of the Illinois Association of School Boards, also lauded the governor's action, saying, "What this means is that school districts in Illinois can count on receiving monthly state aid payments equal to 100 per cent of what the formula calls for and equal to what the General Assembly has approved and what school boards across this state have been fighting for."

Earlier Walker had expressed opposition to "formula spending of any kind," saying it was not realistic when school enrollments were dropping.

The school aid distribution formula equalizes the amount of money various localities have available to spend on schools. The plan calls for a four-year program of increased aid to local districts resulting in a guaranteed minimum of $1,260 per pupil in combined state and local spending.

The 1974 school aid appropriation approved by the legislature last year was cut by Walker.

But a $12.3 million deficiency appropriation was passed by the General Assembly this spring to raise state aid to the level called for under the formula. Walker signed that bill several weeks ago.

Strip mine bill passes House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House approved a bill Thursday to establish the first national environmental and reclamation standards for the strip mining of coal.

By a 291-81 vote, the House sent to the Senate the bill creating a new agency in the Interior Department to regulate surface mining.

The Senate has passed similar legislation. Differences between the two versions are expected to be ironed out in a Senate-House conference.

The final House vote came after six days of heated floor debate during which environmentalists attacked the bill as too weak and energy-industry forces attacked it as too stringent. Sponsors described it as a compromise balancing environmental and energy interests.

States could enforce their own strip mining standards under the bill, but only if they were as strong or stronger than the federal regulations.

Shortly before approving the bill, the House overwhelmingly voted down a proposed 30-cents-per-ton severance tax on coal to be used to restore land scarred by abandoned strip mines.

Medical benefits

To The Daily Egyptian:

After recently going through the hassle of paying my fall fees, I was told that the Illinois State Scholarship that I'm using will not pay for my medical "benefits" even though the status sheet I received said it would pay $289 per term, the same amount that is on my fee statement. But I was told that I would have to pay another $17.25 for full medical coverage.

What I don't understand is why, when I said I would do without the medical coverage, I was told that my classes would be cancelled. Why should the states (and hence the taxpayers) be forced to pay for these so-called "benefits" and certain other fees that are not used that frequently, such as the activity and medical fees?

I have only used the Health Service twice in four quarters down here and can't understand why I should pay for a "service" that I don't use. I'm certain that there are other students who are victims of the same type of "price gouging."

If they would let their feelings be known in addition to mine we might be able to change this aspect of SIU life.

Series enjoyed

To the Daily Egyptian:

I have been enjoying your "It Happened In Carbondale" series very much. It seems to me that at the time you started this series that you stated that it would be available either in its entire form or as part of a book. I would like to have this information. If it is available in any form, whether in book, a pamphlet collection of the series or as a reprint may I and the others who must also be interested in the history of Carbondale please know how we may obtain a copy?

I am no historian, but I have learned through the years that I enjoy a place I have been to more if I know something about it's history, then it is just another town. However, if I know something about it, I tend to identify with it: especially if I have been there for some time.

Crime for profit

The horror of Watergate has turned into the greed of Watergate. The "farce" that stunned a nation, made a mockery of government and lowered the office of the president has turned into a money making operation. Yes, people are capitalizing on a scandal. Not that it hasn't happened before, but the reality of it all comes into clearer focus when you realize that people are out to make a buck—no matter what the situation.

First let's look at car to car communication. Bumper stickers. Everyone puts them on their car not just to be hip, (although that's a point, too) but to express a feeling during rush hour to their four door, two door, convertible or hard-top neighbor. But back to the point...At fifty cents to a dollar per bumper sticker, that's not bad business.

Posters are another gold mine. Very similar to bumper stickers with various sayings about our leaders in government and they go for two or three dollars a piece. Very nice investment.

But the strangest and perhaps the saddest way to make a profit is to capitalize off your own crime. Men who rank with Jeb Stuart Magruder and John Dean the III are writing books about their own involvement with the Watergate cover-up. Best sellers, no doubt. Take a look at the White House Transcripts. Hottest book on the market.

Well anything for a dollar—tax deductible of course. The only thing that comes to mind is that old and hypocritical saying—"Crime doesn't pay," because it certainly does.

Chlorine shortage critical

America's shortage craze has perpetuated one more—the chlorine shortage. Chlorine, used primarily in the purification of water, is now at a critical level with the shortages in at least 74 municipal water supply works. Without chlorine purification, untreated water could cause epidemics of hepatitis, typhoid fever and other bacterial diseases.

Congress has attempted to come to the aid of her country with a bill providing the federal government to allocate chlorine for safe drinking or waste water treatment and food processing purposes. But this allocation is restricted to only these three areas and excludes other public health services like public swimming pools.

Originally the bill was designed to give any public health service or anyone who lacks an adequate supply of chlorine to protect the public health, the opportunity to apply for emergency allocation. Congress decided that this was too broad and foolishly limited the bill thereby depending on the market system to fulfill the needs of the "not so important" leftovers.

Double standard funding

SIU administrators have been employing double standard tactics in dealing with student activity groups. The university allocates money yearly for those groups funded through the Student Activities Office. The money is allocated according to need, hence, the groups would be unable to exist without the university's assistance because they are supposedly non-profit organizations.

WIDB, an on-campus radio station, since its birth in 1970, has been funded by the university. For some time now, WIDB has been willing and capable of carrying its own weight financially through commercial sales. However, university officials have stated that it is unfair for groups funded by student activity fees to accept advertising income.

Why then, is it legal (in the eyes of the university) for Uhuru Sa Sa and Kol Shalom newspapers (both student activity funded) to solicit advertising space as opposed to WIDB soliciting advertising time?

According to the Joint Fee Allocation Board's recommendation of April 30, 1974, these two publications were fully funded for this year only. In the future the stipulation is that their advertising revenue be their only means of support. When asking for the same thing, why is WIDB being treated differently?

Self-sufficiency and independence go hand in hand. There is no doubt that by becoming self-supportive an organization becomes stronger and breaks the chains of financial exigency. Aside from helping themselves, the university is also released from extra budgetary hassles.

Kitty Loewy
Student Writer

Meanwhile the market system is running short as they are bound by contract to supply industries with chlorine materials. And we all know the importance of progress and industrialization over our own health. Sticking to America's quest for advancement, Congress forfeit the authority to aid public health services for the benefit of plastics manufacturers thus swimming pools and health spas close down and everyone has to swim in a too polluted lake.

New chlorine plants that the administration also counted on to fulfill these shortage needs are under construction now. However they won't be completed until the end of next year. What happens until then?

Public health services should have priority over industrial needs. The limitation of this bill (in an effort to be economical and "judiciary") has brought about new complications concerning the chlorine shortage for the many public services that are restricted.

Congress easily could have included allocation to every service that require chlorine for the benefit of public health and clean maintenance. So what if industry only mildly booms for awhile. Its summer and its very hot and its time to go swimming.

Marilyn Shonfeld

Makarios' task to maintain cease-fire

By The Associated Press

Greece opened the way Wednesday for the return of Archbishop Makarios as president of Cyprus as the island's newly installed head of state declared his main task was to preserve the fragile cease-fire between Turks and Greeks.

In Athens, the foreign minister of the newly appointed civilian cabinet, which succeeded the resigned military regime, said his government recognizes Makarios as the president and legal head of Cyprus.

There was no immediate comment from Makarios, who is in New York. The archbishop said on Tuesday, however, that he expected to return to the island as president within a few weeks.

The previous Greek military dictatorship is widely believed to have engineered the ouster of Makarios on July 15 in an unsuccessful attempt to replace the island's independent government with pro-Greek leaders.

The new foreign minister, George Mavros, said Greece "has accepted fully the United Nations Security Council decision on Cyprus. One of the points of this resolution is a call for the restoration of constitutional order. Since we accept that, we therefore recognize President Makarios as the legal head of Cyprus."

He added, "When Makarios will return is another question. That's his business."

On Cyprus, Glafcos Clerides, who was installed as president Tuesday, remained in office. In a news conference broadcast by Cyprus radio and monitored in Beirut, he warned that the truce was endangered by Turkish forces taking up new positions.

Regarding Makarios' return, he said this is a question for the Cypriot people to decide.

His job now, he said, is to avoid bloodshed. "Turks and Greeks must coexist in the Cyprus nation without fighting."

Preparations were under way in Geneva for the foreign ministers of Greece, Turkey and Britain to open talks Thursday aimed at averting war over Cyprus and working out a settlement for the island country in the eastern Mediterranean.

Britain, which proposed the meeting, stressed the need for speed to safeguard the cease-fire that took effect Monday.

Diplomats in Geneva welcomed Tuesday's government changes in both Cyprus and Greece as encouraging signs for the talks. Clerides and Constantine Caramanlis, who returned from 11 years of self-imposed exile to become premier of Greece, were seen as moderate civilian leaders identified with a policy of independence for Cyprus and guarantees for the rights of both Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

Caramanlis was sworn in as premier early Wednesday after the seven-year-old military regime resigned Tuesday in the wake of its failure to establish a pro-Greek regime in Cyprus.

Clerides replaced Nicos Sampson who had been named president just a week earlier by the Greek leaders of the coup which ousted Makarios.

Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes was quoted in an interview published by the newspaper Le Monde as also favoring independence for Cyprus. He disclaimed any Turkish interest in partitioning the island.

At the United Nations in New York Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has appealed to all parties to return to their positions at the time the cease-fire took effect on July 22.

Field narrowed to six in police chief search

Carbondale's police chief evaluation committee has selected six candidates out of more than 90 applicants for police department head, City Manager Carroll Fry announced Thursday.

The evaluation committee will bring the six to Carbondale over the next few days for individual interviews, Fry said. By the end of next week the committee will have narrowed the field to three contestants, Fry added.

Fry himself will choose the city's new police chief. All interviews and decisions will be made behind closed doors, and only the final choice for chief will be announced Sept. 1, Fry said.

"We had some very good applications," Fry said. "That makes the committee's choice harder."

Fry said he will look for an officer from a council-managerial city.

The six chosen all have police command experience, and five are from Midwestern communities, Fry said. While Fry refused to reveal the applicants' names, he did mention their home states: Michigan, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Connecticut.

It is probable that most of the six are under the age of 35 in compliance with Illinois' police pension plan. Fry refused to comment on this.

By the July 15 deadline for applications 74 persons had entered the competition. More than 16 additional applications were received after the deadline, Fry said.

Annual Agronomy Day draws 200 visitors

The 10th annual Agronomy Field Day was hosted at the SIU Agronomy Center Thursday. The regional event drew around 200 visitors.

The field day, serving farmers, agricultural teachers and students in Southern Illinois, featured several test plots of land from one fourth acre to an acre in size at the university's 40-acre agronomy center. The test acreage demonstrated different farming methods and different varieties of crops including soybean and corn weed controls, wheat and soybean varieties, pond weed control, double cropping of soybeans, judicious use of fertilizer, new forage varieties and zero tillage corn production.

Several wagons were used for the transportation of visitors to and from the test plots. The wagons took visitors on a tour of the center and stopped for 15 minutes at each demonstration plot for a brief presentation by a farm expert.

According to Gerald Coorts, chairman of the Department of Plant and Soil Science, the field day was a result of the cooperation of SIU and the University of Illinois in agricultural research.

Phone rate hike trimmed by ICC

BLOOMINGTON (AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission approved Thursday a rate hike for the General Telephone Co., but smaller than the amount requested.

Gen. Telephone, which serves a wide area in central and Southern Illinois, asked for increases which would generate an additional $10 million in revenues, but the commission trimmed the amount to $7.7 million.

It is the first General rate hike for local service in 14 years.

The increase becomes effective Aug. 1. Telephone officials said they will not know how the hike will effect the average customer's bill until next week.

Carbondale's 34-year-old Varsity Theatre will take on a new appearance when construction begins to convert it into a twin theatre.

Dennis Kuczajda, spokesman for Kerasotes Brothers Theatres Inc., said the conversion hopeful will begin in two weeks.

Unlike many movie houses that have been converted into twin theaters by making a division down the middle of the building, the Varsity will be divided into a main floor theatre and a balcony theatre, Kuczajda said.

The main floor section will seat about 650 persons, and the present screen will remain in place for that half of the theatre. The balcony section will seat about 300 persons, and a new screen will be erected to service that half. The two theatres will show films simultaneously.

time fall semester begins Aug. 27. As few seats as possible will be removed for the conversion, and no changes will be made in the lobby.

Kuczajda also said Kerasotes is considering using the balcony to show less commercially successful, but critically acclaimed films which ordinarily wouldn't be shown in Carbondale.

Touch of Nature deer prepare for life in wild

The deer at SIU's Touch of Nature are being gradually acclimated to life in the wild, according to Jim Lipe, supervisor of buildings and grounds.

Lipe said he hopes the deer, 11 adults and six fawns, will eventually join the wild herd. They were penned in a four-acre compound, but recently were allowed to leave the area at will.

"The herd's been here for seven years and they're getting inbred," Lipe said.

Too much inbreeding can cause recessive genetic traits to become prominent and weaken the offspring.

"We need to do something so they'll stay strong," Lipe added.

About three weeks ago Lipe opened the gates to the compound so the deer could wander in and out. He puts grain out daily so they can eat when they return.

"They've gotten more content," Lipe said. "They're getting the natural foods they really like—along with the grain."

Robert Kirstoff, a ranger at Giant City State Park, explained that the park completed a similar project several years ago and didn't run into any problems.

Illinois chili gets bipartisan endorsement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Impeachment proceedings aren't the hottest thing in town. Illinois made chili is.

Joe 'Chili Man' De Frates of Springfield dished it out in celebration of National Chili Day.

Except for having beans, it is the same recipe he used to win first prize this year in the annual Chili Appreciation Society International Cook Off in Terlingua, Tex.

"Texans frown on beans in chili so this year I left them out and won," said De Frates, explaining he got the recipe from his father and has been perfecting it for the last 45 years.

"In Illinois we prefer beans," De Frates gave a bowl to Rep. Jim Wright, a Texas Democrat.

Even with the beans, Wright exclaimed, "I don't know how Texas could beat that—it has character, flavor and authority."

De Frates, ladeling out his chili in the office of Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., gave a taste to Rep. John H. Kluczynski, D-Ill.

"Perfect," said Kluczynski, and he devoured two bowls of it.

Nothing has cut through party lines like De Frates' chili.

Job interview planned Aug. 2

The following is a on-campus job interview scheduled at Career Planning and Placement Services for Aug. 2. For interview appointments and additional information interested students should visit the Career Planning and Placement Center located at Woody Hall, Section A, third floor.

E.I. du Pont De Nemours and Co., Inc., Centralia: positions available in the growing field of agriculture. Agricultural marketing involving sales promotion in agricultural pesticides. These include herbicides (agricultural and industrial), fungicides and insecticides. Candidates should be willing to travel on a limited bases. B.S. and M.S. degrees in the field of plant and soil sciences including plant pathology.

"They stayed in the immediate area and didn't range as well. But deer are pretty adaptable and eventually they got spread out (with the wild herd)," Kirstoff said.

Opera scenes featured in matinee show

A matinee performance of scenes from six operas will be presented by the Opera Workshop at SIU Aug. 4 at 3 p.m. in the Home Economics Auditorium.

Workshop members will be assisted by Summer Playhouse personnel, according to Mary Elaine Wallace, SIU opera program director.

Scenes from "The Magic Flute" and "The Abduction from The Seraglio" by Mozart, from Puccini's "La Gioconda," Menotti's "The Globolinks," "Don Pasquale" by Donizetti and Verdi's "Don Carlos" will be performed.

Directors of the various segments are Mrs. Wallace; Marjann Marvin, associate director of the opera program; and Leonard McCormick, faculty member from Tarrant Junior College, Ft. Worth, Tex. a Summer Playhouse member.

Mrs. Marvin and McCormick each will sing in one of the scenes Sunday.

Most of the Opera Workshop singers are familiar to campus audiences for their former appearances. Appearing for the first time are Jeanne Brisey as Pamina in "The Magic Flute," Keith Drayton, faculty member at Rend Lake Junior College, as Rodrigo in "Don Carlos," and Mara Rice, also in "The Magic Flute."

Other performers from the Opera Workshop are Cassandra Carter, Michael Lee, Nora Bostaph, James Justice, JoAnn Harkins, Cynthia Rose, Brenda Luaidi and Alex Montgomery.

Summer Playhouse members who will participate are William Brewer, Nancy Boykin, Margaret Fones, Jeanne Drakulich, Mary Lynn Stout, James Gulledd, Michael Jones, and William Martin. Mrs. Drakulich and Jones previously have sung in other SIU operas.

The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

In order to show two films at once, a new projection booth will be built to show films on the main floor screen, Kuczajda said. The old projection booth will service the balcony theater.

The Varsity Theatre will remain open during the construction period for evening performances, he said. Work on the theaters will be done during the day, hence the afternoon matinee performances will be suspended until construction is completed, Kuczajda said.

If all goes well, Kuczajda said, both theaters will be ready by the

Woman to become new superintendent of Dupage Center

NAPERVILLE (AP)—Charlotte Sutfiff becomes superintendent of Dupage County's Illinois Youth Center Friday, the first woman in the state to hold such a job.

And she's one of those rare persons who says she took the position because she wanted to maintain the "status quo."

"I'm not a real aggressive person," she said almost shyly. "I took the job because I wanted to keep the programs going that we have now. The whole staff has a good feeling that we're helping kids and we want to keep the program as it is."

The program is something called Positive Peer Culture and the kids are youngsters more usually called "juvenile delinquents."

Her new job is heading up the all-male minimum security correctional institution northwest of Naperville.

Mrs. Sutfiff said the center has 54 teen-age boys.

"They have come through the juvenile courts and have been committed to the Illinois Department of Correction. Most are first offenders," she said.

She estimates that 70 per cent of the youths were prosecuted on theft charges, 75 per cent are black and from Cook County and most "are coming in reading at a level between second and third grade."

"Since we started this positive peer treatment program we have decreased the institutional stay and decreased the rate of recidivism," said Mrs. Sutfiff.

She described the program as an intensive, confrontative group therapy.

"The whole concept is kids helping kids solve each other's problems," she said.

Mrs. Sutfiff, who lives in Naperville with her news writer husband, said she became interested in correctional work as a high school volunteer.

High death count feared in blow-up

LIVINGSTON, Tex (AP)—An explosion rocked a work site along a natural gas pipeline north of here Thursday and authorities said 8 to 10 persons were feared dead.

The Department of Public Safety at nearby Lufkin said it was believed the workers were inside a hole working on the pipe when the blast occurred.

Making eyes

In this scene from Eugene O'Neill's comedy "Ah, Wilderness," Richard Miller (Richard Bryant), described as an incipient anarchist who hates capitalism, only has eyes for his neighbor, Muriel McComber (Marilyn Sommer). The troubles of the two lovers are presented by Summer Playhouse '74 at 8 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the University Theatre of the Communications Building.

Official says 'luck' cut explosion's toll

DECATUR (AP)—Illinois has been "incredibly, absolutely lucky" that incidents like the massive explosion a week ago in a Decatur railyards have not claimed more lives and property, says the Illinois Civil Defense Director.

Referring to the Decatur explosion and a massive acid cloud that hovered over Chicago's South Side for a week this spring, E. Eric Jones commented: "Would you ever figure that those could happen the way they did?"

The Chicago acid cloud was minimized, he said, when the spilled acid followed the path of a railroad truck. In Decatur, he said, if the worst of the problem had been anywhere in the railyards except the center, "We'd have had extremely high mortality, in my opinion."

The Four Rays mobile home court suffered considerable damage from the blast, he said, and there were several injuries. "But if the trailers had not been protected by a line of cars that happened to be on a side line outside the yard...judgement tells me the situation would have been much, much worse."

Jones said he wants stricter safety regulations and will press the matter with the General Assembly. Both Gov. Daniel Walker and Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott are proposing new regulations on the handling of dangerous chemicals.

"There will be many vested interests involved," Jones said. "But these things have to change. For one thing, we should not put railroad tank cars end to end. We're just asking for a chain reaction."

The N&W said Wednesday the Decatur explosion was caused by a rupture in a car carrying liquid petroleum gas connected to four other LPG tank cars. However, the others did not ignite.

A fifth N&W employee injured in the explosion died late Wednesday in the burn unit of Springfield Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials said Francis H. Ensign, 44, of Decatur, suffered burns over more than half his body.

More than 130 persons were injured by the blast. Damage was estimated at over $12 million.

Nixon was willing to tamper with IRS, Dean testifies

WASHINGTON (AP)—John W. Dean III says President Nixon offered in 1972 to tell then Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz to step in if necessary to obtain tax audits on some of Sen. George McGovern's presidential campaign contributors.

"He Nixon said something to the effect, well if Shultz thinks he's been put over there to be some sort of candy ass, he is mistaken," Dean testified to the House Judiciary Committee.

He said the President added: "And if you have got any problems,

Tri-state teens scheduled for SIU concert

More than 165 teenage musicians from 63 Illinois school systems, Jonesboro, Ark., and three Missouri schools will perform in a chorus, band and orchestra public concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Shryock Auditorium at SIU.

The young musicians are attending the 13th annual Music and Youth at Southern summer camp at SIU currently in session.

One of the "campers," Tami Kenward of Jonesboro, Ark., will be accompanist for the choral performance.

Guest conductors are Robert Fuller, chorus, and Ernie Simpson, band, both from Jonesboro, Ark., high school, and John Svoboda of Downers Grove, orchestra.

Faculty member of the University School of Music will conduct instruction in piano, acoustics, percussion, piano, string, woodwinds, brass and voice.

you just come tell me and I will get it straightened out."

Former White House counsel Dean also testified that Nixon did not direct making an alleged $75,000 hush money payment to convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr., but "the President felt it was desirable" to make the payment.

Dean appeared before the committee's impeachment inquiry July 11 and his testimony was released Thursday.

Dean testified Nixon made the comment about having Shultz intervene after Dean reported to the President at a Sept. 15, 1972, meeting that the Internal Revenue Service had rejected Dean's request for the tax audits of a list of contributors to McGovern's campaign.

Steamboat pilot hopes whiskey is 'shot' in arm

PEORIA (AP)—The captain of the steamboat Julia Belle Swain says whiskey may be just what he needs in an upcoming race with the Delta Queen from Cincinnati. But it's for the boat not himself.

"I will not deny that what is good for the bar is even better for the boiler," said Capt. Dennis Trone, in a telegram to Capt. Ernest E. Wagner of the Delta Queen.

Wagner recently said he understood that the Julia Belle Swain will use a special fuel additive, probably whiskey, for the race in Peoria on Aug. 4.

The race is part of Peoria's annual Steamboat Days celebration.

The Delta Queen won the previous two.

"Whiskey is cheaper than fuel these days," said Trone.

Shultz had become head of the Treasury Department, which includes the IRS, three months earlier.

"The President became quite annoyed," Dean testified. He asserted Nixon launched a long discussion about it effectively and from there we immediately went to the fact that we were not using the entire apparatus of the government effectively and the changes that would be made after the meeting with Nixon.

Dean said he did not know whether Nixon ever told Shultz to have the audits conducted.

He said former Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman had told him to make the initial request to Walters. Walters then had Shultz officially back up the IRS's refusal to make the audits, Dean said.

On the alleged hush money, Dean contended he went into the now-famous March 21, 1973 meeting intending to convince Nixon that what he called the blackmail money should not be paid but "I came out having been turned around.

"I had the impression," he testified, "that one, I had not convinced the President that that should not be done; two, that he had persuaded me that it was something that was going to be done, but three, I had no responsibility for it."

Transcripts show that Dean told Nixon at the meeting that Hunt had threatened to disclose White House plumbers' operations, including the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, if the money was not paid. Hunt has said Dean misunderstood and that it was not a blackmail threat but for counsel fees and support for families of the original Watergate defendants.

Home run contest brewing

By Tom Saladino
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA—A home run hitting contest between two of the world's greatest sluggers, Henry Aaron of the Atlanta Braves and Japan's Sadahara Oh, is close to becoming a reality.

"I am talking seriously with several individuals now," said Aaron's agent, Norm Brokaw of the William Morris Agency in Beverly Hills, Calif.

"We are considering a couple of offers seriously, and one could be finalized by next week," said Brokaw.

The National Broadcasting Co. reported during its telecast of the All-Star game Tuesday night that the contest had been finalized and would take place in Tokyo with $50,000 going to the winner.

Brokaw said the deal mentioned by NBC was one of two under consideration but that neither had been closed.

"We have accepted nothing," he added. "I haven't talked to Henry in a week, but nothing has changed since then."

The contest, which Aaron proposed in June in an Associated Press interview, was quickly accepted by Oh. When plans are finalized, it will take place in Japan after the World Series, said Brokaw.

Aaron, who became the alltime home run king April 8 when he surpassed the 714 drilled by Babe Ruth, will be facing an impressive foe.

Oh, 34, who is called the "Japanese Babe Ruth," has connected for 610 home runs in his 15-year career, including 25 this season. He says he will play until he surpasses Aaron's record.

The 40-year-old Aaron has cracked 12 this season for a total of 725 in his 21-year major league career. However, he has hit only one since June 15, the night he challenged Oh to the contest.

"It'll take me a couple of days to get back in shape," said Aaron of the event, tentatively scheduled for October or November.

"All I need is maybe three or four days to get my eye back," he said. "Then I'll take him on, and may be the best man win."

Brokaw said one offer is strictly promotional, with Aaron making personal appearances tied in with the home run hitting contest in four or five Japanese cities.

Schmidt drove in three runs with a triple and a double.

Catcher Bob Boone helped pave the way for Carlton by throwing out three would-be base stealers in the first two innings.

"I'm waiting on the ball and swinging down," said Montanez. "I've been working hard on my hitting by taking extra batting practice. The longer I wait on the ball the better I pop it."

"I hope he keeps popping it," said Schmidt. "When word gets around the league that he's hot, I'm going to see better pitches to hit."

Boone credited second baseman Dave Cash with making a fine play when he threw out Jerry Morales in the first inning and praised Carlton for holding the two runners he threw out in the second inning.

The triumph, spiced with a barrage of extra base hits, spoiled the managerial debut of Chicago's Jim Marshall. Marshall succeeded Whitey Lockman, who resigned Wednesday and took a front office job with the Cubs.

Carlton allowed seven hits and had no trouble boosting his record to 12-7, while Burt Hooton, 3-9, suffered the loss and was taken out in the fifth.

Schmidt tripled home a run in the third inning, then scored on Montanez's fourth homer of the year. Schmidt also doubled home a pair of runs when the Phillies scored five times in the sixth inning.

Chicago's Jerry Morales walked in the first and was thrown out by Boone on an attempted steal. Jose Cardenal and Bill Madlock both singled in the second and both were thrown out attempting to steal.

The Phillies scored a run in the second on singles by Del Unser and Jay Johnstone and a sacrifice fly by Tommy Hutton. Montanez' homer made it 4-0 in the third.

Chicago scored a run in the bottom of the third on a walk and Rick Monday's two-out double.

The Phillies kayoed Hooton in the fifth on a single by Larry Bowa and a double by Unser before they batted around in the sixth.

2 Squids win medals in Wheelchair Games

STOKE MANDEVILLE, England (AP)—The United States overhauled Britain in the medals race at the Stoke Mandeville Wheelchair Games Thursday with a total of 21 golds, 16 silvers and 10 bronze.

Britain had a medals score of 20-18-11, followed by Australia with 12-4-3 and the Netherlands with 11-9-5.

Gold medals in archery were won by Leon Sturtz of Cartersville, and SIU, with 608 points, and Rhonda July of Champaign, with 636 points.

Ray Clark of Carbondale, and SIU, won gold medals in the javelin, shot put and discus in Class 5.

The classifications are based on the degree of physical disability.

The U.S. basketball team defeated Britain 54-25. Leading American scorers were Don Vandello of Chicago with 24 points and Clark with 15.

Curtis Jones

Jones joins staff as fall football practice nears

Curtis Jones, newest member of the SIU football coaching staff, has arrived on campus and is preparing for the start of fall drills, Aug. 19.

Jones will coach the Saluki linebackers, coming to SIU from Beaumont High in St. Louis, Mo. A graduate of the University of Missouri, Jones spent two years playing professional football with the San Diego Chargers and a season with the Green Bay Packers.

"Curtis has made a strong impact on the programs he has been associated with," Head Coach Doug Weaver said. "He is an outstanding coach and joins our staff with strong recommendations."

Final sign-up day for intramural canoe race

Those interested in the men's intramural two-man canoe race should register no later than 5 p.m. Friday in the Office of Recreation and Intramurals, Room 128 of the SIU Arena.

The canoe race will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at Lake-on-the-Campus boat dock.

Bartow says Illinois can become contender

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Illinois basketball coach Gene Bartow says if fans give him the time, he'll build the Illini into a Big Ten and, possibly, a national contender.

"Naturally we think we can win, and maybe win big this year," said the former head coach at Memphis State. "But you've got to be realistic. They (the Illini) won five games last year." Bartow, 43, was named head coach at Illinois in March, replacing Harv Schmidt, who was given the axe primarily for his failure to recruit black talent.

Bartow made some impressive catches on his first try.

His biggest was Audie Matthews, who was named to several All-America high school squads as a 6-foot-4 forward from Chicago Heights Bloom.

"Matthews was one of the top four or five high school players in the country," Bartow said. "He's probably not going to jump in and dominate any league, but he can very definitely contribute to our program here."
