Board choice for chancellor to be named

By Ray Robinson and Charity Gould
Staff Writers

The SIU Board of Trustees has scheduled a public meeting at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in Ballroom B to announce its choice for the chancellorship of SIU. Board Chairman Harris Rowe announced late Friday.

By all indications, the choice will be 40-year-old Kenneth A. Shaw, president of SIU-Edwardsville. A source close to the board confirmed last week that the board had chosen Shaw and completed salary negotiations.

Shaw has declined to comment on the reports. He said Sunday that he would be in Carbondale for Tuesday's announcement, but both campus presidents and all vice presidents were invited.

Some constituency leaders on the Carbondale campus have not waited for the appointment to become official to voice their opinions on Shaw's selection.

Faculty Senate President Lawrence Dennis released Monday a copy of a letter he sent to Keith Sanders, chairman of the Chancellor Search Assistance Council. In ranking the four finalists for the position, Dennis and the senate found Donald S. Main, vice president for academic affairs at the University of California, the most desirable and Shaw the least.

In assessing Shaw, Dennis wrote, "He is obviously a decent person ... but his liabilities are too great for me to rank him better than fourth ... In the first place, he does not have the academic credentials nor the experience that would suggest that he would lead dynamically."

Dennis also wrote, "With the solid achievements of the past few years, many enhanced by the leadership of President (Warren) Brandt, the faculty would feel slighted that someone of charm but considerably less substance than our ex-president, in effect, superseded him in the conduct of our affairs."

"The worst aspect of this," Dennis said Monday, "is that our reputation may be damaged nationally. After we advertise and spend the taxpayers' money, and then select someone from inside the system, what are we going to look like?"

"My quarrel is not with Shaw, it is with the process (Continued on back page)

Senate moving swiftly

Energy panel unanimously OKs Duncan

By William Kronholm
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Energy Committee unanimously approved the nomination of Charles W. Duncan as secretary of energy Monday, as the Senate moved swiftly to confirm President Carter's appointments to his born-again Cabinet.

Meanwhile, Carter's choice to head the Federal Reserve Board, Paul A. Volcker, pledged to the Senate Banking Committee that he will remain independent of the administration and take a tough line on inflation.

Volcker said the Federal Reserve Board — an independent body not part of the Cabinet — will not attempt to lower interest rates at a time of soaring inflation. He declined to speculate whether interest rates must go higher.

The nominees testified as the Senate moved swiftly to confirm the appointments made by Carter to the Cabinet he has overhauled drastically in the past two weeks.

Only two nominees, who were announced only last Friday, have not gone before Senate panels yet. They are Moon Landrieu, former mayor of New Orleans, named secretary of housing and urban development, and Neil Goldschmidt, mayor of Portland, Ore., appointed secretary of transportation.

Of Carter's seven key appointments, one already has won Senate confirmation — Patricia Roberts Harris as secretary of health, education and welfare.

At least three more are expected to go to the Senate floor this week — Attorney General-designate Benjamin Civiletti, Treasury Secretary-designate G. William Miller and Duncan.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is expected to approve Civiletti's nomination Tuesday after three days of hearings. The Senate Finance Committee has been holding hearings on Miller, former Federal Reserve chairman. Volcker's nomination as Miller's successor also could go to the floor this week. A Banking Committee vote on his appointment is expected Wednesday.

The Senate Energy Committee's 16-0 approval of Duncan's appointment came after the 52-year-old former Coca-Cola president, who now serves as deputy defense secretary, assured senators he had been promised direct access to the president and that he will not serve simply as a minion of the White House staff.

"I have a clear understanding that I will report directly to the president," said Duncan, who would succeed

DC-10 inquiry focuses on maintenance

By Kathy Osobe
Associated Press Writer

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Testimony at an inquiry into America's worst aviation disaster — the crash of American Airlines Flight 191 — focused Monday on maintenance of the giant DC-10 and the left engine that fell away on takeoff.

Michael Marx, a metallurgist for the National Transportation Safety Board, told board members that the airline's maintenance procedures caused a crack in the pylon support structure of the plane.

Marx's testimony, which concurred with earlier reports from the federal agency, was presented Monday, the first day of a two-week hearing into the disaster. The board also heard from a flight controller, who said he watched the aircraft takeoff and, at first, thought it was under control and returning.

The metallurgist, in often complicated and technical remarks, said American Airlines' maintenance crews removed both the engine and its supporting pylon as a unit rather than separately.

Then, in order to re-attach the engine to the wing, the maintenance men had to force the bolting mechanism to fit, thus causing a bend in the engine mounting structure and eventually a crack, he said.

"It's just common sense that they (mechanics) could very well have caused the crack then (when reattaching the engine)," Marx said. "That deformation had to be made while this thing (the engine pylon) was detached."

The engine, which is joined to the wing by a pylon, should be removed separately, according to specifications by the McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Co., which makes the DC-10.

By removing the engine and pylon together, American Airlines was able to save about 50 man hours of time on each engine it serviced.

The 10-inch crack that was discovered in the aft bulkhead assembly, then caused other fractures in the support structure, Marx said.

He added that the only other time such a crack could have occurred was when the plane was originally assembled in 1972. However, he said he doubted such a crack would have gone undetected.

Meanwhile, Richard Shafic, supervisor at the O'Hare traffic control tower the day of the crash, said he watched the ill-fated plane take off and thought it was under control and was returning to land.

"We were not aware that he had lost the whole engine," Shafic said. "As we observed the pullout, it appeared he had control of the vehicle.

Jury recommends death in electric chair for Bundy

MIAMI (AP) — A jury recommended Monday that Theodore R. Bundy die in Florida's electric chair for the 1978 murders of two sorority sisters. That left Bundy's fate up to Judge Edward D. Cowart, who has authority to override the jury recommendation.

The jury retired to deliberate after hearing Bundy's gray-haired mother plead for her son's life, saying that to execute her son "would be like taking a part of all of us and throwing it away." Bundy, a former law student, was convicted of bludgeoning and garroting two Florida State University students and savagely beating three other young women with a club.

Brown takes steps toward presidency

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California Gov. Edrnund Brown Jr. took his first formal step Monday toward a second plunge into presidential politics, moving at a pace that has little resemblance to his whirlwind campaign of 1976.

News Roundup

The Democratic governor announced that an "exploratory" campaign committee will take a look at his chances in the 1980 presidential race. The committee will be headed by Tom Quinn, a longtime Brown adviser who will resign as chairman of the State Air Resources Board.

Formation of the committee formally marks the start of Brown's second attempt to wrest the Democratic nomination from Jimmy Carter.

3 killed, 7 injured in refinery blaze

The three men killed and most of those injured were employees of Sheehan Pipe Line Construction Co., hired to do piping fabrication at the refinery.

Air fares to rise to offset fuel costs

GENEVA, Switzerland. (AP) — Air travelers face a new round of fare increases ranging from 9 to 15 percent, planned for Sept. 1 to help major world airlines make up for rising fuel costs.

The new fares and cargo rates, agreed to Monday by the airlines at the International Air Transport Association conference here, are subject to approval of the respective governments.

Chinese soldiers fought for Hanoi

By Victoria Graham Associated Press Writer

PEKING (AP) — Chinese officials, divulging a long-secret chapter of the Indochina War, said Monday that Peking sent 300,000 soldiers to Vietnam, including anti-aircraft crews, to help Hanoi defeat the United States. More than 1,000 were killed, they said.

The Vietnamese disputed the figures, however, saying the number of Chinese in Vietnam during the war was "tiny."

The statements came after an acrimonious and fruitless round of peace talks between the two countries. China reminded Vietnam of its past military help in order to underline what it says are its good intentions toward its smaller southern neighbor.

But the negotiations remained at an impasse, each side accusing the other of border provocations and preparing for a new war.

Yang Gongsu, deputy head of the Chinese delegation, said at a news conference following the talks that China had supplied more than 300,000 army personnel to Vietnam between 1964 and 1971. They worked as anti-aircraft artillerymen, road builders, railway workers and logistics teams to keep supply lines open, he said.

If the Chinese were on one-year rotation duty in Vietnam, this means 40,000 or 50,000 would have been there at any one time. At the height of the war, about 500,000 American servicemen were serving in the Indochina theater.

More than 1,000 Chinese soldiers were killed and several thousand others were wounded, he said.

Task force recommends housing plan be rewritten

By Cindy Michaelson
Staff Writer

In its final analysis of Carbondale's low-income housing needs, the Task Force on Changing Population recommended that the major document showing the city's housing needs be rewritten because SIU students living off Assistance Plan, which was compiled by city staff members in 1975.

In his written recommendations, Jack Marcum, an assistant professor in sociology at SIU, stated that students should be included in a plan to assess the city's housing needs because they compete for the same low-priced housing as other low-income residents.

"To leave students out of the HAP ignores this fact," Marcum said. "While in Carbondale, these students are low-income residents and I have seen little, if any, evidence that they are being provided large sums of money by parents or others."

Marcum added that the city's decision to include off-campus students in the HAP is a common practice at other university communities in Illinois.

One of the more vocal opponents of the Housing Assistance Plan was task force member Jim O'Donnell. In his written recommendations on housing, O'Donnell, who is an associate professor in psychology at SIU, said the HAP "seriously overestimates the true housing needs in Carbondale."

News Analysis

campus were included in the plan.

The document, called the Housing Assistance Plan, indicates the city needs 3,357 more low-income units and shows a vacancy rate of less than 5 percent for all existing rental housing. The HAP is used by the Illinois Housing and Development Authority and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to determine the amount of housing funds allocated to a city.

Critics of the plan say that including students distorts the picture of housing needs in the city and should be rewritten to more accurately assess the situation.

But one task force member disagrees with the elimination of students from the Housing

Man the loser in battle against machines

By Nick Sartal
News Editor

I am convinced that it is impossible for man to conquer machine.

No, I am not alluding to that titanic struggle every SIU student faces at the beginning of each semester, known in literature as "man vs. bursar."

Instead, my attention here is focused on the hopeless fray entered whenever I am hungry, want to make a phone call or photocopy a sheet of paper.

This conflict is known among literati as "man vs. coin-operated machine."

I have fallen victim to this force so often that should I ever receive a can of soda without paying at least twice the stated amount, I would feel guilty and put the can back up the opening and try another machine.

But the final straw came late one night in Morris Library. I set out to make photocopies of a friend's homework which was due the previous week. After successfully working the dollar changer, using a bill I had ironed, I was ready to take on the copy machine.

I put in a clean American dime and held my breath.

The copy was made and the clink in the change return told me I had received the customary five cents change.

But I was wrong.

Instead of being a nickel, the coin in the change return was the same clean American dime.

I have had dreams of such an occurrance, but never dared think it would really happen. So, like a gambler on a lucky streak, I couldn't quit when I was ahead.

Instead, I tried it again, even though I didn't need another copy.

The clean American dime dropped down the slot, the copy was made and the clean American dime returned. I was so elated that I made four more copies on the house.

Then I stood for a moment, savoring my conquest. Before long my victory trance was interrupted by laughter from a girl who was standing nearby. After checking my fly, which was closed, I asked her what was so funny.

"See that button above the money slot?" she asked. "When it's lit it means the machine is stuck. You didn't even have to put money in. Just hit the button and the copy will come out. Watch this."

She pushed the button and, sure enough, copy number seven of my friend's homework emerged. With this she resumed her laughter.

I mumbled something about being a new student and not being familiar with such advanced technology. In my haste to avoid further embarrassment, I forgot to pick up the homework or the copies. Once out the door I realized this, but, rather than return to face that laughter, I began formulating a story about how I left the homework on the counter and how my dog hadn't been fed in a week and...

Don't tear down old train station

I don't know how other residents of Carbondale feel about the new train station plans, and I don't know if it is too late to do anything about it, but I'd like to say a few things on this issue.

I appreciate the businesses that will be demolished if this plan goes through. We have few enough small businesses in our downtown area, and I believe these plans are the kiss of death for South Illinois Avenue 'redevelopment.'

I think the design of the proposed train station is ugly. I appreciate the structure and location of the present train station. With any money at all, this building could be completely restored or remodeled, and de-bugged at regular intervals. If we need more interior space, let's build an addition to the old building.

Federal contractors regularly take our tax dollars and throw them down the drain with projects that destroy a community's sense of self. Cost-utilization efficiency has not always been the highest priority of our federal representatives.

I would like to encourage others to express their views, and request that the gains of this project be carefully weighed against the losses.

CAIFI didn't win freedom in Iran

I note a few interesting things which have been happening lately in Iran. Ayatollah Khomeini has banned all music, from classical to pop, from Iranian radio, calling it "opium" and stating that music "stupifies persons listening to it and makes their brains inactive and frivolous."

Along with music, movies and co-ed sunbathing have been outlawed by the present regime, all of the above being called "satanic" and linked to the administration of Shah Reza Pahlavi.

Two American reporters, one of them bureau chief for the New York Times, have been expelled, and henceforth reporters cannot leave Iran's capitol without government permission. Also, interviews with Iranian citizens cannot be conducted without a government representative present.

Another code is under consideration for Iranian reporters. One provision of this code would require a prison sentence for any reporter who insulted a religious or government figure. Iranian reporters are planning to go out on strike if the government passes this bill.

I note all of this because I can't help remembering that, of the various groups at SIU calling for the Shah's ouster, one of the largest & most visible was the Committee for Artistic and Intellectual Freedom in Iran. Hopefully the group is still together, because artistic and intellectual freedom in Iran is more diminished now than under the Shah. CAIFI got what it wanted; now it's paying for what it got.

Undergraduate president issues challenge

To my fellow undergraduates:

I would like to thank you all very much for your exceptional support since Chrissanne Blankenship and I took office. Undergraduate Student Government is thriving this summer and it is all because you have chosen to get involved.

Undergraduate Student Government has accomplished many goals this summer—among them, the establishment of a Student Government newsletter (Informer), a new Constitution, new by-laws and statutes, and new credibility on campus and in the Carbondale community.

However, the hardest task is ahead of us. Undergraduate Student Government is changing its name to Undergraduate Student Organization in the fall in hopes of more adequately serving the Undergraduate Student Body. We will need your support more than ever to convince undergrads that student governments do work and do govern, especially SIU-C's student government.

Therefore, I am challenging you to come up to the third floor of the Student Center and get involved. If you are already involved, I challenge you to stay involved or increase your participation—join a committee, pick up a newsletter or just say "hi," but by all means come in and see what Undergraduate Student Government is all about. You elected us and we want your input. Undergraduate Student Government is not elitist—we care about undergraduate opinions and ideas; please share them with us. I am truly looking forward to a prosperous year with many undergrads who want to "Be Part of It!" Thanks again.

D.E. should run carpooling column

We heartily agree with Nancy Connors' article on carpooling (D.E. 7-26). We also agree with her observation that the "one-person car" is senseless and inefficient. Having participated in a carpool for the past year, we can attest to its economy and to the fact that it is not as inconvenient as many people think it is.

Ms. Connors' statement about looking for commuter ads on bulletin boards is a good one. She also suggests that many companies and schools provide this service or matching riders.

With that in mind, we recommend that the Daily Egyptian initiate a new service for energy-minded commuters. Here is our suggestion: The paper should sponsor free of charge a "commuters' column" in the classified section that would contain ads on the carpooling needs of the SIU community. Riders would find other riders; the Daily Egyptian would provide a needed service; and both the riders and the paper would fulfill their responsibility to energy conservation.

Remember, commuter action starts with commuter organization!

Jews for Jesus lecture set

Barry Rubin, head of the Los Angeles branch of Jews for Jesus, will speak on the mission of that organization at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Epiphany Lutheran Church, located at 1501 W. Chautauqua.

Jews for Jesus is a San Francisco based organization aimed at spreading the gospel of the New Testament to Jews throughout the United States. The group is characterized by its high visibility, distributing pamphlets on street corners across the U.S., holding musical concerts on campuses and in shopping centers and presenting parabolic preaching in its own form of religious street drama.

Rubin has been on the Jews for Jesus staff as a full-time missionary since 1974. He and his wife opened the organization's Chicago branch while he received his training for the ministry at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Deerfield. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Ohio University, and has taught communications at Howard University in Washington, D.C.

Rubin has also served as leader of the Liberated Wailing Wall, a Jewish Gospel music team of Jews for Jesus, and is a member of the Jews for Jesus Council, which formulates strategy and tactics for the organization.

William Pitkin dead at 80;

visitation set

By Jacqui Koszerek
Staff Writer

William Asbury Pitkin, associate professor emeritus in history, died Monday morning at the age of 80.

Pitkin, who came to SIU in 1945, taught history courses and supervised American history thesis research for graduate students until his retirement in 1967.

He was elected president of the Illinois State Historical Society in 1964. Pitkin, born in Ohio, was also a member of the Jackson County Board of the American Red Cross.

"He was really good at working with students, especially graduate students of American history," said David Conrad, associate history professor. "I know he was very well thought of in the department."

Pitkin's son, James, who is a geologist in Golden, Colorado, said that when his father was working on his dissertation at the University of Texas-Austin, his main research interest was early 18th-century American history. "But when he moved to Illinois, he became very interested in Civil War history, especially how the war affected Southern Illinois," Pitkin said.

Visitation for Pitkin is scheduled from 5 to 8 p.m. at Huffman Funeral Home in Carbondale on Wednesday. The funeral will be 1:30 p.m. Friday at Restland Memorial Cemetery in Dallas, Tex.

Memorial donations may be made to the William A. Pitkin Memorial Scholarship Fund of the SIU Foundation.

'Doctor' rocks Shryock steps

By Jordan Gold

House calls are rare, but Dr. Bombay made one to SIU Thursday night, with great results. Before the show, rain was falling and things did not look too promising for a Sunset Concert. Afterwards, however, the patient was fine. Thirty-five-hundred people had just danced their way to ecstasy powered by the jazz, funk and blues of the Doctor. The rain was nowhere to be found.

Doctor Bombay is a nine-piece Carbondale-based band that consists of lead-vocalist "Loose" Billy "Loose" Desmond; "Fast Jack" O'Boyle on lead guitar; Carlos Penny, the doctor himself, on congas; Ron Sorin on harmonica; bass-player Vyts Lauraitis; drummer Brian Reynolds; and a horn section consisting of Herb Krauss on alto sax, Kevin Cox on tenor sax and Mike Ridgway on trumpet. Robbie Stokes from Vision sat in, playing guitar. Stanley Turrentine's "Sugar" started off the concert. This song showed off the talented horn section, which Desmond referred to as "our purple-faced horn section." Desmond then sang some great blues vocals for B.B.

King's "My Baby She's Gone." Formerly the lead vocalist for the now-defunct Skid City Blues Band, Desmond's vocals and stage antics were a highlight to the show.

Sorin showed off his talents on "Cross-cut Saw," after which Desmond announced "let's start rockin'!"

Bombay never let up. There was hardly a break in between songs and there wasn't even an intermission. The group refused to let the momentum stop, which was fine, but the humidity made it kind of sticky for the horde of dancers in front of the stage.

The only bad point to the concert was that Desmond's guitar, a Gibson Firebird valued at $600, was stolen. He'd like it back, Desmond said that if the person brought the guitar to the Music Box on Illinois Avenue, no questions would be asked.

Fairground hosts rockin' concert

By John Carter
Entertainment Editor

It was hot and sweaty at the DuQuoin State Fair grandstand Saturday night and the bugs were thick as, well, flies.

That made no difference to the 3,000 or so bikers, teenagers and music fans who showed up for the Atlanta Rhythm Section and Joe Sun and Shotgun. They hooted and hollered appreciation for the country-blues of Sun and boogied and threw beer in adulation of the Section.

Opening the show, Sun and his recently-formed Nashville band ran through some "Flames" and some new material that will be used on a soon-to-be-released live album, "I'm Just Out of Your Mind."

When the Section took the stage, it only took about two chords to realize that the band had come to play some "rock and roll, Southern style."

The band played all of its hits, "Champagne Jam," "Not Gonna Let It Bother Me," "Do It or Die," "Imaginary Lover," "Spooky" and "So into You." The band threw in some other material, (e.g., the Beatles' "Rocky Raccoon"); but "Now It's Time to Rock" got the most spirited response of the night.

Throughout the night, Hammond interacted with the crowd either as a father image giving personable instructions between songs, or as a consumer of marijuana, beer and kisses. By the time the band played its first encore, the rhythm guitar player had a woman's nylon underwear hanging from the neck of his guitar, later handing it over to the bass player.

'Kate' to be presented again

"Kiss Me Kate," the Cole Porter musical about a temperamental stage couple, temperamental stage couple, will bring to a close the wint performances Aug. 2, 3, 4 and 5.

Fred Graham and Lilli Vanessi play an actor and actress that are "So in Love" with each other between fights, John Pape, who directed the "Ten Little Indians" earlier in the season, also directs "Kiss Me Kate." Performances will start at 8 p.m. in the University Theater. Tickets, priced at $5 for the public and $3 for students and senior citizens, can be obtained at the University Theater Box Office, Communications Building.

The Mississippi River Festival has announced that the Sha Na Na concert, scheduled for August 8, has been cancelled.

Six Salukis compete in Sports Festival

By Mark Pabich
Sports Editor

Saluki athletes made a strong showing at the United States Olympic Committee's Sports Festival in Colorado Springs last week. Two swimmers, including former All-American Greg Porter, two trackmen and a women's basketball player and javelin thrower all competed in the festival that brought together many of America's top athletes.

Sophomore Roger Von-Jouanne swam to a first place finish in the 200-meter individual medley, a race that he is currently ranked 16th in the world in. Von-Jouanne also scored a second in the 400-meter IM and a third in the 100-meter backstroke. Porter, a former Saluki star, finished second in the 100-meter butterfly and third in the 200-meter fly.

Both swimmers competed for the Midwest team, coached by SIU's Bob Steele. Steele coached the Midwest to an upset victory over the West team 370-360.

Besides the two swimmers at the festival, two other Salukis were making waves of their own. Conrado Porta is currently ranked 10th in the world in the 100-meter backstroke and teammate Pablo Estripo is 13th in the 200-meter breaststroke and 19th in the 100.

Aside from swimming, two trackmen, Stan Podolski and David Lee also made good showings at the festival. Both competitors finished sixth; Podolski in the hammer and Lee in the 400-meter hurdles.

Podolski, who has been one of Illinois' top hammer-throwers, threw the huge weight 190-feet. Emmitt Berry of El Paso, Texas won the event. Lee ran a lifetime best of 50.8 in the hurdles. The junior sensation, who was the 1979 winner of the Lonnie Brown Memorial Award, faced stiff competition and America's premier hurdlers.

Connie Erickson, the Lady Saluki cager's top recruit competed for the Midwest team that lost in the opening round to the East team. Although Erickson did not start, she received some playing time. Erickson's next hurdle will be surviving the final cut for the U.S. Junior National squad.

The national team will be made up of players from the four regional teams at the festival.

Six women signed to Saluki softball

By Tim Brodd
Staff Writer

Women's softball coach Kay Brechtelsbauer won't have to worry about replacing five starters after signing six top recruits to the SIU team.

All-American Linda Launer held a team-high .333 batting average at Illinois Central College and led ICC to the NJCAA tournament where she hit .400. Brechtelsbauer said the transfer student has an "exceptionally strong" throwing arm and will also give the Salukis some badly needed offense after last season's .220 team batting average.

Although the remaining recruits are freshmen, they show even more potential than last year's 24-9 squad that held top four finishes in the state and regional championships.

The Salukis will get greater team speed and aggressive play from Beth Stevenson, well-known in the Chicago area for her quickness. Stevenson, who plays either infield or outfield, stole 38 bases and bunted safely 22 of 23 times during her senior year.

Donna Dapson, from Scott Air Force Base, should have no problem finding a spot in the Saluki pitching lineup which lost three regulars from last year. Dapson compiled a sparkling 1.81 ERA at her high school last season.

"Donna is an outstanding all-around athlete who may also help us fill a couple of holes in the left side of our infield," Brechtelsbauer said.

The team will get plenty of outfielders. Karen Koltow, of Miami, had a hefty .450 average while leading her high school team to Florida Class AAAA championships in 1977 and 1978. Lauren Whaley, from Memphis, led her team to a 1977 sixth-place national finish while batting .402. Catcher-outfielder Valerie Upchurch, of Walden, N.Y., played on the Amateur Softball Association squad that captured the 1978 New York championship.

SIU sailor wins world contest

By Tim Brodd
Staff Writer

An SIU student dominated five of six races to win first place at the 10th Sunfish World Championship held in Medemblik, Holland, June 28 to July 4.

Dave Chapin, 19, of Springfield, won the first two races, finished second in the next pair, fourth in the fifth and did not finish the sixth to score 14 points for the championship.

The SIU sailor, a member of the Southern Illinois Collegiate Sailing Club, was awarded a gold medal and five trophies for his sailing feat. Chapin finished second at last year's Worlds in Ponce, Puerto Rico. He headed the field of 89 contestants in the one-throwout race series along with other top contenders Derrick Fries of Mississippi and Dutchman Cor Van Aanholt. Although he had never sailed a Sunfish prior to the competition, Van Aanholt took second place after a ruling eliminated Fries.

The Worlds, hosted by the Royal Yacht Club Hollandia, drew 37 U.S. sailors, 27 from the Caribbean and South America, 23 from Europe and two from Canada. The United States held seven of the top ten places in the first European championship.

The three-day event was held in northern Holland on the IJsselmeer, a fresh water lake 10 to 12 feet deep. The lake produced a continuous, steep chop, while winds averaged 30 knots and temperatures hovered in the mid-60s.

The racing became more of a challenge because of the heavy air and relative cold. Competitors were frequently snagged at the quay-type launching area.

"You had to give all you had physically and mentally and then not make any mistakes. All the races were different and not easy tactically. We had good races from the practice right on through," said Alan Beckwith, 18th-place finisher from Wayland, Mass.

However, many sailors, especially Americans, were unfamiliar with the widely-used of the Hookansen rig, which is designed for heavy air use, more stability and easier control.

Yankees deal away Mickey Rivers

By the Associated Press

Mickey Rivers, the moody, often brilliant catalyst on the New York Yankee's world championship teams the past two years, was traded Monday by the Yankees to the Texas Rangers.

In return for the 30-year-old center fielder, the Yankees will receive three minor league players and a player to be named later.

This season, Rivers has been slowed down by nagging leg injuries. He has appeared in 73 of the Yanks' 103 games, batting .289.

Committee OKs Duncan

James R. Schlesinger at the Energy Department.

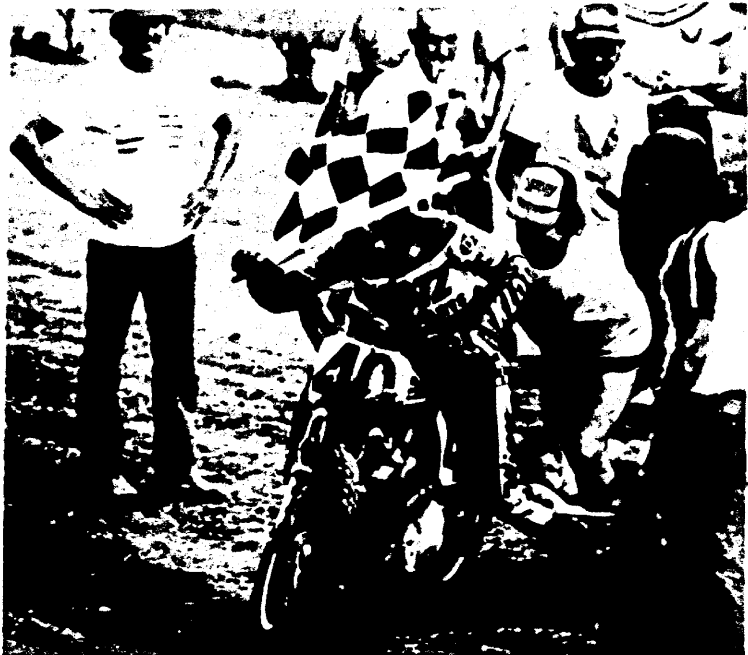

Senators reportedly have been concerned that Carter's shake-up would consolidate power in the White House and take Cabinet members out of the policy decision-making process. Duncan sought to assure the senators that he, not the White House staff, "will deal with policy."

Duncan also tried to mend fences with senators sensitive to the hostility that often marked Schlesinger's relations with Congress. Duncan promised to cooperate with Congress to create "the broadest possible national consensus" on energy matters.

Volcker's appointment is different from the other six. While the others will be members of the Cabinet, answerable to the president, Volcker will become head of the independent board that regulates major banks and sets the nation's monetary policy.

"I want to be clear that monetary policies ultimately are those of the Federal Reserve and they might clash at some point... with what the administration believes are appropriate in particular circumstances," Volcker testified.

Victory lap

Scott Parker, 17, Flint, Mich., gets a push start so he can complete the victory lap at the 1979 DuQuoin Mile National Championship motorcycle races. Parker, the youngest rider to reach expert status, literally took the checkered flag, along with the $3,000 purse, in the 25-lap feature race. An estimated 11,000 spectators turned out for the races Sunday at the DuQuoin fairgrounds. (Staff photo by Phil Rankester)

Two weekend thefts reported

By Andrew Zinner
Staff Writer

SIU Security received two reports of thefts over the weekend. Robert Lappin, 15C Lewis Park, reported a theft of his wallet, which contained $225, from the men's locker room at the Recreation Center Saturday. Lappin reported that he left his pants in an unlocked locker while taking a shower. He returned about four minutes later and found the wallet missing.

A theft resulting in the loss of $106 was reported by two juveniles temporarily living at 637 Neely Hall Saturday afternoon. The boys were attending a summer basketball camp. They left the room at about 1:30 p.m., locking the door but leaving the bathroom door open, according to reports.

When they returned, they noticed the money gone. It had been kept in a wallet, which was locked in a suitcase.

Carbondale police arrested two men early Sunday morning in the 500 block of East Walnut Street on charges of driving without valid driver's licenses, driving the wrong way on a one-way street and unlawful possession of drugs.

Mark A. Ayers, 25, Charleston, was charged with possession of LSD, amphetamines, and marijuana.

Steven W. Arthur, 22, of Hindsboro, was charged with possession of marijuana.

used to select him," Dennis added.

Gary Brown, president of the Graduate Student Council, also said Monday that the GSC had ranked Swain at the top of the list and Shaw at the bottom.

"I don't know if the search was wired for Shaw at the board's end," said Brown, "but certainly the way the search was conducted left them wide open for these charges.... And there's no way to disprove them."

Brown said he thought Shaw deserves the cooperation of all constituency groups.
