7-29-1992

The Daily Egyptian, July 29, 1992

Daily Egyptian Staff

Follow this and additional works at: https://opensiuc.lib.siu.edu/de_July1992
Volume 77, Issue 184

Recommended Citation

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Daily Egyptian 1992 at OpenSIUC. It has been accepted for inclusion in July 1992 by an authorized administrator of OpenSIUC. For more information, please contact opensiuc@lib.siu.edu.
Saluki gridders to get Nebraska QB transfer

By Jay Reed
Sports Writer

Matt Jones, a quarterback from the University of Nebraska, has decided to transfer to the Saluki football program. Saluki head football coach Bob Smith said he is anxious to see Jones compete for the Dawgs when he becomes eligible in the fall of 1993.

"According to his high school stats and his early progress at Nebraska, he has a chance to fill the position for us in 1993," he said. "We are very glad to have him, but the man of the hour is Scott Gubbert." Gubbert is the starting Saluki signal caller going into the upcoming season, according to Smith.

Smith said starting SIUC tailback Anthony Perry, a Michigan City (Ind.), Rogers High School teammate of Jones, told him about SIUC.

During Jones' senior season at Rogers he completed 120 of 244 passes for 1,510 yards and 10 touchdowns. Jones rushed 50 times for 453 yards and 10 touchdowns, and he graduated from Rogers as the ninth leading passer in Hoosier high school history with 5,297 yards and 46 touchdowns. He also was a member of USA Today's Top 100 high school football list.

While at Nebraska, Jones was the starting junior varsity quarterback this freshman season completing 40 of 74 passes for 734 yards and three touchdowns, but had eight interception returns for 61 yards and a fumble. He rushed 50 times for 141 yards and two touchdowns.

Jones, who redshirted last season, would have been a third-year sophomore quarterback for the Cornhuskers this year.

Jones was the leading passer at Nebraska's Spring Game in April completing 13 of 22 passes for 163 yards with no interceptions including a 59-yard touchdown bomb.

Smith said Jones' decision to leave the run

Saluki senior trains hard for spot on 1994 Olympic bobsled squad

By Norm Smyth
Sports Writer

The 1994 Winter Olympics in Lillehammer, Norway, seem a long way away, but for SIUC senior Terry Martinez who is competing for a spot on the Olympic Bobsled team, the training has already begun.

Martinez, who is from Denver, just returned from a training program for the U.S. Bobsled and Skeleton Federation. Martinez competed at the Lake Placid facility from July 16 to July 19.

Skeleton sliding was the world's first sliding sport and was developed in the late 1800s in St. Moritz, Switzerland. Skeleton appeared in the 1928 and 1948 Olympic Games.

The sport faded from popularity until a resurgence started in Europe in the 1970s. Bobsleds were developed when two skeleton sleds were tied together. The skeleton sled measures 3 feet in length and 16 inches wide, and weighs from 70 to 115 pounds depending on the slider's body weight. The bottom of the sled is a flat steel pan that is used to present the slider's nation, start number and sponsors.

The slider wears a downhill ski helmet with a chin guard, a neoprene suit and skintights for the 50 meter sprint at the top of the hill. The slider jumps on the sled head first and slides the track trying to obtain the fastest time. The sled looks like the childhood sled the "Flexible Flyer" which is made out of wood planks and attached to two rails.

"This was my first time on a skeleton and more or less was a learning experience," Martinez said. "My goal is to make the U.S. Domestic Bobsled Team and the 1993 National Skeleton Bobsled Team."

Martinez finished 21st out of 28 competitors. After four heats he posted a combined time of 24.52 seconds. The 28 competitors hurled themselves face first, inches from the concrete down the steeply banked track, which is designed to simulate the start of an ice-covered bobsled track.

Karlan Devlin, public relations director for the U.S. Bobsled and Skeleton Federation, said Martinez performed well for his first time on a skeleton at Lake Placid.

The Skeleton Push Championships is a two-part event. Each individual is administered a six-item physical before the heats are run. The physical consists of a

Staff Photo by Daniel Ketz

Pinball wizard

Mayur Patel of Carbondale plays "The Getaway" located in the pool room of the Student Center. Patel, a freshman in pre-med, was playing the game Tuesday morning and usually plays the game eight times a day.

Barcelona, Spain (UPI) — There was plenty of heat to go around at the Olympic Games Tuesday and not all of it came from the sun that relentlessly baked the Spanish landscape.

Some of it came from the pressure that is building around the world's largest sporting event as the long, hot day progressed, that pressure was applied most noticeably to the USOC officials making the critical decisions.

Well before noon Tuesday, temperatures on the clay court surface at the Olympic tennis complex reached 116 degrees. Three-time Wimbledon champion Boris Becker and Norwegian Christian Rodstrøm, the 312th-ranked player in the world, were exposed to the elements for four hours and 50 minutes before their overall victory.

"It was an experience," said Becker, who applied the near capacity crowd at the tennis stadium for sitting in the steamy conditions to watch him play.

The symbolic heat, meanwhile, appeared in many other places.

America's two big swimming gold medal hopes for the day — Matt Biondi and Janet Evans — failed to make it to the end of the pool first. Evans, the winner of three gold medals in Seoul four years ago, was edged by German Dagmar Hase for the first 350 meters of the 400-meter freestyle.

"I gave my best shot," said Evans, who cried throughout her post-race news conference. "Coming into my second Olympic Games, I had the cake. I've still got the world record, I've got my gold medal from Seoul and now I've got a silver.

Biondi, after reaching leading at the turn in the 100-meter freestyle sprint, faded to fifth in a race won by Alexander Popov of the Unified Team. Biondi was trying for the seventh gold medal of his Olympic career and up until the finish, he was in command.

It marked the only time in Olympic history other than the year of the American boycott in 1980 that the U.S. team could not place in a medal in the 100-meter freestyle.

The pressure was also felt by the America's women's gymnasts, who entered the final round of exercises in second place

see OLYMPICS, page 11

Saluki senior trains hard for spot on 1994 Olympic bobsled squad

By Norm Smyth
Sports Writer

The 1994 Winter Olympics in Lillehammer, Norway, seem a long way away, but for SIUC senior Terry Martinez who is competing for a spot on the Olympic Bobsled team, the training has already begun.

Martinez, who is from Denver, just returned from a training program for the U.S. Bobsled and Skeleton Federation. Martinez competed at the Lake Placid facility from July 16 to July 19.

Skeleton sliding was the world's first sliding sport and was developed in the late 1800s in St. Moritz, Switzerland. Skeleton appeared in the 1928 and 1948 Olympic Games.

The sport faded from popularity until a resurgence started in Europe in the 1970s. Bobsleds were developed when two skeleton sleds were tied together. The skeleton sled measures 3 feet in length and 16 inches wide, and weighs from 70 to 115 pounds depending on the slider's body weight. The bottom of the sled is a flat steel pan that is used to present the slider's nation, start number and sponsors.

The slider wears a downhill ski helmet with a chin guard, a neoprene suit and skintights for the 50 meter sprint at the top of the hill. The slider jumps on the sled head first and slides the track trying to obtain the fastest time. The sled looks like the childhood sled the "Flexible Flyer" which is made out of wood planks and attached to two rails.

"This was my first time on a skeleton and more or less was a learning experience," Martinez said. "My goal is to make the U.S. Domestic Bobsled Team and the 1993 National Skeleton Bobsled Team."

Martinez finished 21st out of 28 competitors. After four heats he posted a combined time of 24.52 seconds. The 28 competitors hurled themselves face first, inches from the concrete down the steeply banked track, which is designed to simulate the start of an ice-covered bobsled track.

Karlan Devlin, public relations director for the U.S. Bobsled and Skeleton Federation, said Martinez performed well for his first time on a skeleton at Lake Placid.

The Skeleton Push Championships is a two-part event. Each individual is administered a six-item physical before the heats are run. The physical consists of a

see BOBSLED, page 11

Chuck is the world's only 18-hit attack to destroy Pittsburgh 11-1

CHICAGO (UPI) — Steve Buechele hit a double, triple and solo homer Tuesday, and Sammy Sosa had three hits, including an RBI double, to power an 18-hit attack in the Chicago Cubs' 8-1 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Mike Morgan, 9-4, blanked the Pirates on four hits over seven innings, striking out three and walking one. Morgan now is 5-1 with a 1.34 ERA in 15 career starts at Wrigley Field, giving up just 16 earned runs in 107 2/3 innings.

Randy Tomlin, 10-7, took the loss for the Cubs as his seventh attempt to win his 11th game of the season. He now has lost his last four decisions. On Tuesday, he gave up nine hits over four innings.

The loss was the seventh in the last nine games for the Pirates, who now lead the Cubs in the National League East by 4-1/2 games.

Chicago, which has won six of its last seven games, totaled nine extra-base hits, including a pair of doubles by Rey Sanchez. The 11 runs were a season high.

Buechele, acquired from the Chicago Cubs on July 11 for pitcher Danny Jackson, hit his first homer for the Cubs with one out in the seventh off reliever Steve Cooke, opening an 8-0 lead.

Uechele went 3 for 5, flying out in the third inning, and just missed an infiel f single in the eighth, which would have completed the cycle.

After Buechele's home run

see CHICAGO, page 11
Washington (UPI) — President Bush met with congressional leaders and top aides early Tuesday as he bolstered U.S. military power in the Persian Gulf and set the stage for another showdown with Iraq's Saddam Hussein.

With Bush seeking to accelerate U.N. inspections of suspected Iraqi weapons facilities, the president conferred at the White House with Secretary of State James Baker, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and top members of Congress. A Pentagon official said Monday that the United States had boosted its military strength in the Persian Gulf by sending fresh Patriot missiles into Kuwait and another aircraft carrier into the region.

Although Saddam backed down and gave conditional approval to allow U.N. teams to examine a government ministry, Bush remains concerned that the merciful leader will again seek to thwart any meaningful inspection. Following the meeting with Bush, Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas was asked if it was the administration's judgment that there would be a confrontation with Saddam in the near future.

"I think it's pretty predictable it's probably going to happen, but we don't know when," Dole said. "It doesn't have to happen, if Saddam Hussein would play by the rules."

House Speaker Thomas Foley of Washington, told reporters it was emphasized during the meeting with Bush that "any use of force has to be approved by the United Nations Security Council." Foley also said in a separate meeting with U.S. leaders and representatives of the United Nations and with U.S. allies.

"I don't get the impression that immediate use of force was contemplated today, because of the actions that have been taken by the administration," Bush said.

"I think it's pretty predictable it's probably going to happen, but we don't know when," Dole said. "It doesn't have to happen, if Saddam Hussein would play by the rules."

Bo knows politics

President candidate on ballot in 24 states

By William Ragan
Politics Writer

Independent presidential candidate James "Bo" Gritz has been around before, and he has received more media attention, but local supporters say he has brought a fresh approach to his campaign.

"People need a decent income and get out of debt. Someone has to set an example," Gritz said.

Gritz's platform focuses on eliminating unnecessary spending in the federal government, balancing the federal budget, eliminating the Federal Reserve System and the Internal Revenue Service and opposing global government.

A major pillar of the Gritz program is the elimination of the Federal Reserve, a privately owned banking conglomerate that controls currency and credit.

Mike Weaver, a national spokesman for Gritz, said the Federal Reserve is unconstitutional and could be put out of business by reinstituting the JFK Executive Order authorizing the printing of $450 billion in no-interest "United States Notes."

"It's the Federal Reserve that was set up by our Constitution," Gritz said.

Gritz also wants to form a counsel to investigate if the 16th amendment, which gives Congress the power to collect income taxes, was properly ratified in all states, he said.

Because there is no statute of limitations on fraud, if it is found that the amendement was not properly ratified, it could be eliminated, along with the IRS, Weaver said.

Gritz also wants to eliminate unnecessary government spending and regulations, and he has directed Gritz's federal budget to be cut by 75 percent.

Gritz also wants to form a counsel to investigate if the 16th amendment, which gives Congress the power to collect income taxes, was properly ratified in all states, he said.

Because there is no statute of limitations on fraud, if it is found that the amendement was not properly ratified, it could be eliminated, along with the IRS, Weaver said.

Gritz also wants to form a counsel to investigate if the 16th amendment, which gives Congress the power to collect income taxes, was properly ratified in all states, he said.

Because there is no statute of limitations on fraud, if it is found that the amendement was not properly ratified, it could be eliminated, along with the IRS, Weaver said.
Deal of the week
7/29 - 8/4

KENWOOD DP-2030
Compact Disc Player
- Single Bit
- 8 Times Over Sampling
- Remote Control

Quantities Limited
Eastgate Mall  •  Carbondale  •  529-1910

BAD SAWDUST

All 12 pack Pepsi, Dr. Pepper & 7Up Products $2.99
Prarie Farm Orange Juice..........................1/2 gal/$1.49
Prairie Farm Bix, Dip & Sour Cream.......2 for $1.00
Field Smoked Pork Chops..........................$2.79/lb.

1 1/2 Miles South of Carbondale Bl.
OPEN 7-2 AM. WEEK-TAKE  •  8 P.M.

SIDETRACKS

Wednesday
Sidetracks Is Rolling Back
Their Prices On Weekdays!
No Cover
25¢ Drafts
65¢ Speeddrails
FREE Pizza and 8lb. Pizza Eating Contest at Midnight from Pizza By The Pound

Egyptian Drive-In

Friday, Saturday & Sunday
Gate Open 7:00PM Show 8:00
1. Steve Martin & Goldie Hawn in Housesitter (PG)
2. Woody Allen in Unlawful Entry (R)
Spin & win $100

Beach Bash '92

State Fair Grounds
Crestwood Park
Sunday, Aug. 1st
10:00 AM
Campus Beach

QUATROS

549-5326
Fast, Free Delivery

NEWSPRIMP

POPE LEAVES HOSPITAL AFTER TUMOR REMOVAL

—Pope John Paul II left the hospital Tuesday and was driven to the papal summer residence at Castel Gandolfo to convalesce from an operation two weeks ago to remove a benign tumor from his colon. The 72-year-old, looking pale and emaciated, but with a smile on his face, waved briefly to the media as he sat in a medical staff, hospital emergency and reporters behind security barriers at the entrance to the Gemelli Polyclinic.

Nation

State

Correction Clarifications

Vincent Boyhood contributed to the story on public indecency in Morris Library appearing in the July 28 Daily Egyptian.

Accuracy Desk

If readers spot an error in a news article, they can contact the Daily Egyptian Accuracy Desk at 536-3311, extension 233 or 228.

Daily Egyptian
Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

Daily Egyptian (ISSN 1076-1820) published daily in the Johnstonian and Egyptian-Liberal Mondy through Friday during the regular semester and Tuesday through Friday during the summer by Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill. Editorial and business offices located at Communications Building, Ninth Wing, P.O. Box 1583, Carbondale, Ill., 62901. Telephone: 536-8900. Subscription rates $20 per year or $35 for six months within the United States and $40 per year or $70 for six months in all foreign countries. The Daily Egyptian is published by the School of Journalism and Mass Communications of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill. 62901.
Infestation of fleas, roaches hard to kill

By John McCedd
Police Writer

While most people were wearing tank tops and shorts, Jay Fossier donned sweat pants, athletic socks and long-sleeved shirts to shield himself from an infestation of fleas in his living room.

"I was peeling skin off my ankles from scratching flea bites," said Fossier, a junior in speech communication. "For the first two weeks I didn't have any money to buy flea bombs so all I could do was sit there.

"Since it's really humid now, most people will have fleas or roaches," he said.

Fossier said he eventually bought a six pack of "flea bombs" from ACE Hardware, which usually would solve the problem within the first or second use.

Superior Termite Pest Control owner Jim Poole said fleas, roaches and termites create a profitable business opportunity in the summer, when pests' breeding is most active and homeowners' tempers are short.

"People don't want to be bothered when the weather gets hot," Poole said. "In the summertime, the moisture makes fleas and termites multiply a lot faster. They're our highest moneymaker because once they get started you're not going to get rid of them."

Poole suggested people vacuum frequently and keep their home environment clean to retard growth of pest populations.

Prompt removal of garbage also can assist in hindering the arrival of flies, frequently known to flock toward domestic garbage and Poole said.

Ben Bourdon, a senior in music education from Princeton, said the problems he has experienced with flies stemmed from household garbage, and have seemingly transcended the scope of the common consumer's bug spray.

"There's really nothing you can do about it," Bourdon said. "Flies only mess with you when you're trying to sleep. They're always buzzing with your eyes, ears and lips, making that annoying buzzing sound.

"Nothing attracts the flies, I think they just do it on purpose," he said.

Bourdon said the flies are frustrating because of their speed, which makes them difficult to see and kill.

Fossier said he also has dealt with the fly population when several invaded his garbage through screenless windows, a weakness that when left uncorrected can lead to infestation.

Poole said though flying insects such as flies, mosquitoes and gnats can become as big of a problem as fleas and roaches, they cannot be exterminated by pest control agencies, partly because of unstable nesting patterns characteristic to flying insects.

Bourdon said June bugs create another potential annoyance because of their oversize and often noisy wings.

"It's like they can't see and they'll run into wall with everything," Bourdon said. "Their wings always make that helicopter noise when they fly."

---

Computer-ease

Sarah Draeger, senior in photography and Russian, prepares a computerized language program for foreign students at the Center for English as a Second Language. Draeger, the laboratory assistant worked Tuesday in the Center where more than 150 International students are enrolled for the summer.

---

Medicare, Medicaid insurance different

By Chris Davies
General Assignment Writer

Medicare and Medicaid are two very different government health insurance programs, but many people tend to confuse the two or use the names interchangeably, said Dick Falat, Social Security Administration District Manager.

"Medicare is our nation's health insurance program for people 65 or older and for certain disabled people under 65," he said. "Currently over 35 million people are using Medicare benefits."

Falat said Medicare benefits are appropriated through Social Security funds, which employees pay into.

"Every employee who pays into Social Security is eligible at 65 to receive Medicare benefits which pay for hospital services," he said.

People with jobs who do not pay into Social Security may still receive Medicare benefits by filling out an application for the benefits and paying a monthly premium of $192, Falat said.

Primarily, the Health Care Financing Administration is responsible for running the Medicare program, but Social Security helps people enroll in Medicare, Falat said.

"Social Security also assists in administering the Medicare program by providing information about helping collect any monthly premiums that need to be paid," he said.

Medicare is less expensive than normal health insurance and unlike other health insurance programs, it operates from a much larger base, he said.

"It has been my experience that the $192 monthly premium is less expensive than the average health plan," Falat said.

"This is because we are operating with a consumer base of over 35 million people, as opposed to the average insurance company with a much smaller consumer base to help cover the risk," he said.

Medicaid differs greatly from Medicare in that Medicaid recipients pay nothing for their hospital services. The Medicaid program is funded by state dollars which are matched by federal dollars.

Medicaid is a modern day welfare program, said George Maroney, Memorial Hospital Administrator.

"Medicaid recipients have to meet a federal low-income criteria which allows them to receive free hospital services and pharmaceuticals," he said. Maroney said the hospital bills the state for Medicaid recipient charges.

"Memorial Hospital has trouble receiving payment from the state for its Medicaid patients, because the state is out of money," he said.

Maroney said Medicaid patients receive the same standard of care as Medicare patients in the hospitals, but not as far as individual doctors are concerned.
Disabled deserve workplace equality

THE AMERICANS WITH DISABILITIES Act, which went into effect last Sunday, is seen by many as the "civil rights act of the disabled." The implementation of the act will open the doors of the workplace to a group that has been discriminated against not because, but because of the inaccessibility imposed by an "able" majority.

The act's Title I provision makes it unlawful for companies with more than 25 employees to discriminate against individuals with disabilities in the workplace. The act offers a broad definition of "disabled person:" to include more than 43 million Americans, the hearing impaired—some 22 million people—to people suffering from learning disabilities, HIV and AIDS or who are recovering alcoholics and drug abusers.

Under the act, companies are also required to make efforts to be physically accessible to handicapped customers and employees, a requirement that the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has estimated at $212 per disabled person.

The ADA has several deadlines for businesses to adopt its provisions. These include railroad station accessibility by July 1993 and large transportation firms buying taxis, vans and buses accessible to the disabled by July 1996.

Companies that fail to have fair policies on employment, promotion, pay and benefits will face legal action. Under these suits, disabled persons can collect both punitive and compensatory damages, based on the number of employees in the company, and ranging from $50,000 to $300,000.

ALTHOUGH THE ADA PROVIDES the disabled with a deserved break in a route to equality marked by unfounded preconceptions and discrimination, the future is unpredictable for the enforcement of the act.

The ADA enforcement depends on the financial viability of any given company. Thus, a court decision based on the ADA for one year of a company may vary over time depending on its profitability. The act also may have an impact on health care benefits for employees, and could force small companies to cut these benefits altogether depending on raising costs.

THESE SETBACKS SHOULD NOT make enterprises or legislators back away from supporting the act. Disabled citizens have fought hard and for a long time to achieve a deserved equality in the workplace and in society. The cost of some basic ADA accommodations provisions, such as elevators or ramps in buildings or wheelchair-accessible doors, could have been saved if constructors and manufacturers had taken into consideration the needs of the disabled from the beginning.

If the ADA is the civil rights act of the disabled, legislators and citizens alike must fight to defend these rights. The initial cost of implementing the act's provisions should not be looked upon as an extra expense, but as the way to make businesses accessible to productive members of society who were denied jobs not because of their lack of ability, but because they were disabled.

Letters to the Editor

Drug war funds police state

For years I have watched this country's leaders reassure and pose on the 'drug abuse' issue. It seems that no matter what happens in the drug war, whether we are "winning" this week or "losing" the next, the prohibitory policy is justified.

If we are losing, then that justifies more concerted efforts. If we are winning, that justifies more of the same.

What about the harm done by the policy itself? What about the fact that I do not have the right to buy a car, a house, or a cafe, or large sums of cash, if I can be accused of having marijuana? I simply have no property rights in this country anymore, since I am a marijuana smoker. The Jews in Hitler's Germany lost their property rights after 1938. Too. They lost 4 billion Reichsmarks between 1938 and 1942, and then they lost everything. Is this what I and my 21 million fellow marijuana smokers can expect?

The National Household Survey on Drug Abuse (which is misnamed, since it only asks what illicit drugs are used, not what problems arise from that use) states on page 25 (1991) that about 67.5 million Americans have tried marijuana. That's almost one out of three Americans.

According to the same survey, 19.5 million people used pot last year. Marijuana is still the single most popular illegal drug, and yet three legal pain relievers—Aspirin, Aetamisul and Ibuprofen, each outrank marijuana in emergency room mentions reported in the Drug Abuse Warning Network: 25a for 1990.

So where is the national emergency if so many marijuana smokers are being admitted to emergency room or morgues with marijuana in their systems? Why do we arrest 350-450,000 people for marijuana every year? Why do we take billions of dollars in property away from current drug users without trying them? Why do we make selling an herb a felony along with raping a child or robbing a bank?

We do it to fund our police state, that's why. The fastest growing sector of employment is for police and security guards, public and private.—Drew Hendricks, SHU, Normal, Journalism

AIDS traceable to 'self-destructive lifestyle'

The Daily Egyptian editorial on July 24 serves to imply that the writer has been successfully brainwashed into political correctness. There has been a lot of disinformation and outright propaganda about AIDS, and it has come from both sides.

The stormtroopers of ACT-UP and Queer Nation tell us that AIDS is no longer a "gay disease." But the latest figures I've seen (June 1992) show that 80% of all AIDS patients in America are gay and bisexual men and their sex partners.

A 1984 study showed that the average AIDS patient has had 1,160 sex partners. For those of you who aren't math majors, that's the equivalent of two completely new and different acts of Russian roulette every weekend for 11 years. And that's only the average.

It's a fact that the first decade of AIDS in America saw the rapid spread of AIDS among gay men, compared to the much slower spread, delayed for years, among the rest of us. No reasonable person would deny a connection between that fact and the rampant promiscuity in certain segments of the gay community.

1992 figures show that AIDS is now spreading fastest among heterosexual teenagers. Overall, AIDS is a heterosexual disease. While the epidemic among gay American men is a tragedy, it won't be alleviated by accelerating the spread to straight Americans.

Unlike hepatitis, TB, and the other diseases referred to by the anonymous DE editorial writer, AIDS can usually be traced to irresponsible and self-destructive lifestyle choices. Part of the AIDS threat to the heterosexual population does indeed come from abroad. Curing the problems here in the US does not solve the spread of the disease.

Our streets aren't paved with gold. We lack the resources to be the world's caregiver. It's especially ironic that this is being vehemently denied by the same politically correct Thought Police who claim that we lack the resources (and the moral authority) to be the world's policeman.

It's impossible to adequately address the many distortions in the July 24 editorial in only 250 words. But I tried.—Bryan Hinnen, Graduate Student, Law

How to submit a letter to the editor:
A: You
B: Letter
C: Editor

---

AIDS can usually be traced to irresponsible and self-destructive lifestyle choices. Part of the AIDS threat to the heterosexual population does indeed come from abroad. Curing the problems here in the US does not solve the spread of the disease. Our streets aren't paved with gold. We lack the resources to be the world's caregiver. It's especially ironic that this is being vehemently denied by the same politically correct Thought Police who claim that we lack the resources (and the moral authority) to be the world's policeman.

It's impossible to adequately address the many distortions in the July 24 editorial in only 250 words. But I tried.—Bryan Hinnen, Graduate Student, Law.
SADDAM, from page 1

British and French weapons inspectors from entering the Agriculture Ministry. The Iraqi claims have irritated the Bush administration, with officials denying they'd been misled and making tough talk against the Iraqi leaders. Bush beefed up American military forces in the Mideast as a warning to Saddam and began calling him the "Baghdad bully." Meeting with congressional leaders at the White House Tuesday, the president made it clear he expects further confrontations with Saddam. But he has no desire to send ground troops back into Iraq to oust the Iraqi leader, he said. "Whose son do you want to go to Baghdad to try to find Saddam Hussein?" presssecretaryMarlinFitzwater quoted Bush as poignantly asking the international body. "Is that what America really wants?" The U.N. weapons inspection team — minus its two American members, who were to wait outside — entered the Ministry of Agriculture building at 3:30 p.m. local time and began an examination of the building and its contents.

"The team is inside to conduct the inspection," said NikitaSmidovich, the New York-based spokesman for the U.N. inspection program in Iraq. "It will remain there as long as necessary, there is no time limit." The nine-member team is accompanied by RolfEukes, head of the special commission that has been supervising the search and destruction of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction since the end of the Persian Gulf War in April 1991. Ekeus has said he holds little hope of finding any information about the Iraqi weapons program inside the building. Most evidence probably would have been removed by Baghdad during the 17 days it barred the inspectors from entering the building, he said. The Iraqi News Agency, monitored in Beirut, quoted Ekeus as saying, "We came to Baghdad to discuss future arrangements and the Iraqi government in such a way as to please Iraq and the (U.N.) inspection team." The more than 70 inspectors now working in Iraq have destroyed equipment and documents related to Iraq's nuclear, biological and chemical armaments programs since beginning their work at the end of the Persian Gulf War more than a year ago.

The destruction of equipment and documents related to Iraq's weapons of mass destruction was done by the U.N. Security Council as a condition for ending the war. The U.S. accepted the condition, but had been trying to prevent U.S. personnel from seizing important documents that would expose the extent of its nuclear weapons programs.

Obstacles raised by Iraqi authorities, and their refusal to cooperate with the United Nations to facilitate the inspection, prompted the United States, Britain and France during the weekend to threaten to use force against Baghdad. Iraq backed down Sunday and agreed to allow the inspection of the Ministry of Agriculture after barring its access to U.N. inspectors for 17 days.

The inspectors initially maintained a vigil outside the building, but they withdrew after a weekend that seemed to attack one of the inspectors.

Under the compromise formula reached between Ekeus and Iraq's U.N. Ambassador Abdul Amir Al-Ahmat at the United Nations in New York, six inspectors will be allowed inside the building.

Iraq is a country that did not take part in the 32-nation coalition force under U.S. command in the Gulf war.

MOBILE Audio
Car Stereo Experts
Blue-Pink-Purple etc.
Lence Vlal Frames $36 each Also, ground effect lights for under car Rt. 13 Across from Coo Coo's 985-8183

EDUCATION

"It is easier for a teacher to just teach classes in their specific field," she said. "We have to enforce more challenging courses." Money said the 2151 Century Plan called for a more traditional, rigorous GE program that she agrees with.

"General Education courses are important, which is something some people might overlook," Money said.

"They need to be rigorous, and from page 1 include broad areas of study," she said.

"I do not think people understand that the GE classes are their last weapon for structured learning," Money said the Committee hopes to get the recommendations to the SIUC Faculty Senate in the fall.

Final recommendations from faculty and student should be made, Carroll said.

The Student Center will be showing NBC's coverage of the Olympics on 2 large screen T.V.s in The Renaissance Room and The International Lounge

SADDAH, from page 1

Calendar

PLAYWRIGHTS WORKSHOP will spotlight "Jubilation and " and "Titus by and " at 6 p.m. in the Faculty Center. Tickets are $4.

For more information, contact the Office at 455-3001.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS - For the deadline for Calendar States in two days before publication. This also applies to the weekend and must include dates, time, place and sponsor of the events. Items should be submitted by the deadline. Classified ads or mailed to the Daily Egyptian Newsroom, Carbondale, Illinois 62901. An item will be published once.

Theatre

THE JAPANESE TABLE - Student and " by Grace imagery and " by Grace at Monroe Hall at page 5:00 p.m. For more information, contact France 455-5161.

GAYS, LESBIANS, BISEXUALS AND LESBIANS AND GAYS, LESBIANS, BISEXUALS AND TRANSGENDER COMMUNITY are hosting a meeting at page 5:00 p.m. on August 3 at the GLBT office. The GLBT office is located at page 202. The meeting is open to students, community members, friends and parents. For more information, contact the Directors office, issues 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Entertainment

Large one item Thin crust only $6.95

$8.95

$10.95

For Lunch Delivery Mon-Sun. 3:30 p.m.
ADVERTISING SUPPLEMENT—CARBONDALE

Double Coupons
Open 24 Hours a Day
7 Days a Week
Ice-T asks Time Warner to pull ‘Cop Killer’ song

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rap artist Ice-T told the company he has asked his record company to pull his rap song "Cop Killer" from his latest album that promises not to try making money on the comeback of gangsta rap.

Ice-T told a news conference at the luxury Hotel Sofitel Ma Morte that he has not sold a rap song free at his concerts.

This song is about anger and the movement is to try to get that way,” Ice-T said. “It is not a call to murder police.

Other rights holders and Ice-T’s record company, Time Warner Inc., were not immediately available for comment.

The song, which is included in the "LA to the Top" release by Ice-T, includes the lyrics, “’bout to dust some cops,” has been denounced by a variety of politicians after various police groups decided to make an issue over it by demanding its removal from record stores.

Civil liberties groups and Time Warner have defended the release of the song on the grounds that it is protected under the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Restrictions on recyclable goods clarified to categorize materials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government has issued new guidelines to clarify misleading claims that products are recyclable or otherwise less damaging to the ecosystem than others.

The guidelines follow a series of enforcement actions by the agency after unconfirmed, unsubstantiated claims about the environmental impact of their goods.

While not legally binding, the guidelines would resolve some of the mixed interpretations of laws which the FTC enforces.

In a landmark enforcement case, Mobil Oil Corp. agreed Monday to change its claims for plastic drinking cups by calling them beast recyclable “degradable” by no longer making such claims. While the bags could break up when exposed to the elements, they were virtually the same as another plastic trash bag when disposed of in conventional landfills.

The FTC said companies making environmental claims about their products have to support them with “competent and reliable evidence” and must clearly identify which materials are part of the product itself, a part of the product or its packaging.

“Environmental claims should not overstate the environmental attributes of a product,” the FTC said. “Marketers should avoid implying a significant environmental benefit derived from a product that is, in fact, negligible,” the FTC said.

The agency further issued guidelines for the use of environmental terms, including “degradable,” “recyclable,” “biodegradable,” “chemical,” “reprocessed,” “recyclable,” “ozone safe” and “recycled material.”

If a product is labeled degradable, the FTC guidelines said manufacturers should be able to substantiate that the product will break down within a reasonably short period of time after being in the environment because of it in the customary way.

A product may be labeled “recyclable,” if it can be collected, separated or otherwise recovered from the solid waste stream for use in the form of raw materials in the manufacture or assembly of a new product of the same type.

Claims that a product contains recycled materials should be supported by evidence that the raw materials used were “recycled” or “collected from the solid waste stream.”

“Our goal is to protect consumers and bolster their confidence in environmental claims made by marketers,” said FTC Chairman John Leavitt.

The guidelines were released in the wake of complaints by businesses, environmentalists and consumers.

“Manufacturers are labeling their goods and materials on a regular basis as a form of greenwashing,” said Alan Naiman, senior staff attorney at Earthjustice.

The regulations were released after the business community said the guidelines were inadequate.

“Some of the guidelines are weak and the regulations don’t cover all products,” said Naiman.

“I don’t think these guidelines will be accepted by the business community.”

Jackson’s injunction

LONDON (UPI) — Pop superstar Michael Jackson won a court injunction Tuesday barring the tabloids from publishing a racy photo of him as he rushed to the bathroom.

The seizure, first featured in a Mirror article alleging Jackson’s face had been ravaged by plastic surgery and that he was using a ‘flying machine’ in Tuesday’s paper in response to allegations by Jackson that the photographs were a fraud.

Jackson, who begins a series of concerts later this week in Britain, was represented by his attorney, the High Court of Justice in London, preventing the Mirror from breaching the reported terms of an agreement signed with photographer Ken Lennie limiting the paper to only one publication of the picture.

The 33-year-old singer, whose appearance has changed dramatically over the years through several surgical procedures, had filed a libel suit Monday in London against the tabloid, claiming the picture was not a true likeness.

Mirror editor Richard Stott, in an interview with the Associated Press International after Tuesday’s injunction, remained defiant, denying the authenticity of the photographs.

“If Michael Jackson doesn’t like it, that’s too bad.”

The Mirror backed the authenticity of the picture been questioned in the court today.

"We have not libelled Michael Jackson in any way," he said. "We don’t think it’s libel, it’s correct and we shall be contesting any libel action in due course.

The newspaper, a ‘stros’ story’ beginning one month ago, said Jackson had been “defigured by a desperate yearning for perfect locks.” It said his face was covered with acne scars, and it claimed Jackson had a hole in his nose and that one of his cheeks was higher than the other.

The Mirror responded to the lawsuit with a repeat of the offending photograph and a large headline on the front page of the tabloid’s second printing. "Face to face, it’s Michael."

The tabloid challenged Jackson to sue "every photographer in natural light" and then to take the photos to an independent forensic or medical doctor.

It also challenged him to submit to a forensic examination by a plastic surgeon "to determine the exact effect of your operations.”

In addition to the picture Tuesday, showing a close-up shot of Jackson’s face, the Mirror carried another photo purporting to illustrate his claims on inside pages.

Jackson was to arrive Wednesday in London to begin the British segment of a European concert swing.

San Francisco (UPI) — The question of whether certain animals remained legal in San Francisco Tuesday after the city’s Board of Supervisors shelved a proposal to outlaw the popular rap song “Cop Killer”.

Supervisor Carol Migden proposed the law banning the sale of farming after receiving a complaint that 50 animal were killed in such a manner in San Francisco.

The ordinance would have fined violators up to $500 or imposed jail sentences of one year for anyone caught killing animals “to appease a god or deity.”

“Society doesn’t allow humans to kill other humans for religious reasons, Migden said. “Why shouldn’t humans be allowed to exercise this right over animals when such practices are cruel, inhumane and socially unsupportable?”

But after several hours of lively debate Monday evening, the board decided to delay voting on the ordinance after members of the San Francisco Police Commission and others said the law was a violation of their constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech.

Santeria priest Pue Rivera told the board that his group supports this film, which he does not immediately available for comment.

The ceremony were carried out in a human manner and that the animals were then consumed.

The group successfully appealed the move and were not informed of a vote last week of the City Services Committee on the proposal to unanimously support the ordinance before the board.

Migden reluctantly agreed to delay the vote on the ordnance until either Aug. 8 or Aug. 18.

The delay was not well received by animal rights activists who jeered the supervisors members at the meeting claiming the practices were "savages.

Ritualistic animal sacrifices remain legal in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The question of whether certain animals remained legal in San Francisco Tuesday after the city’s Board of Supervisors shelved a proposal to outlaw the popular rap song “Cop Killer”.

San Francisco police have defended the release of the song on the grounds that it is protected under the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Rise-Bey Steak Sandwich w/Fries & Drink $4.40

Side Sandwich $3.99

Rice, Cheese & Veggie in Pitas & Drink $3.99

Quatro Originals

EVERY WEDNESDAY!

Come to Quatro’s on Wednesdays for 99c pitchers of any draft beer or soda from open to close with the purchase of a midsize or large pizza.

Lunch time 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.
FAIR

LEADING THE WAY

QUALITY AND VALUE

- PURINA DOG CHOW $7.49
- OPEN 24 HOURS
- 7-UP 87¢
- PLANTER’S SNACKS 78¢
- HEFTY FOAM PLATES 88¢

HI-DRI PAPER TOWELS

- SINGLE ROLL
- 2 FOR 98¢

VIVA NAPKINS

- 2 FOR $1.19

OHSE FAMILY PAK SLAB BACON

- 79¢

RED-RIPE WHOLE WATERMELONS

- $1.99

CAMPBELL’S TOMATO JUICE

- 88¢

BUSH’S DELUXE PORK ’N BEANS

- 3 FOR 89¢

PATIO BURRITOS

- 4 FOR $1.00

FRESH PEACH PIES

- $3.99

MILKHOUSE CHEESE SINGLES

- 99¢

ALL PEPSI PRODUCTS AND PEPSI

- 12 PK. CANS

MAULL’S BAR-B-QUE SAUCE

- $1.68

PARAMOUNT HAMBURGER DILL PICKLES

- 78¢

ANGEL SOFT BATH TISSUE

- 68¢

MAULL’S BACON WATERMELONS

- 84 OZ. ROLL

OHSE FAMILY PAK WHOLE TURKEY HAM

- 99¢

BROOK’S KETCHUP

- 78¢

TIMES SQUARE DISCOUNT LIQUORS

- CARBONDALE LOCATION ONLY — WE MATCH ALL COMPETITOR’S ADS

BUDWEISER $11.49

24 PK. Cans

CHIVAS REGAL $19.99

Scotch 750 ml

MILLER $11.49

24 PK. Cans

GORDON’S VODKA $5.59

750 ml

SCHAEFER $3.79

2 PK. Cans

JOS’ CUERVO MARGARITA $5.99

4 PK. Margarita Flavored Tequila

NATURAL HERBS & SPICES

ORLANDO’S HERB & SPICE CO.

563-3832

THE EMPRESS

304-2035

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

SUNRISE WINE & LIQUOR

333-3832

DOUGLAS WINE & LIQUOR

333-3832

RICHARD’S WINE & SPIRITS

333-3832

LOCALLY OWNED

COMPARE THE BOTTOM LINE
U.S. Olympic women hoopers go for third straight gold medal

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — Unlike their male counterparts, the U.S. women’s basketball team doesn’t have a nickname, though. The Dream Girls might be fitting.

However, as they prepare to attempt to win a third consecutive gold medal when the women’s Olympic basketball tournament opens Thursday at Paau E’sports with four countries, they are followed by: the Unified Team vs. Cuba (Pool A), China vs. Spain (B) and Brazil vs. Italy (A).

Each team will play three games with the top two finishers in each Pool advancing to the semifinals on Aug. 5.

The U.S. women have been the dominant force in international basketball for the past eight years, winning gold in two Olympics and at the 1986 and 1990 World Championships.

The Americans were riding a 41-game winning streak last year when they were handed shocking upsets at the Pan Am Games in Havana by Cuba and Brazil.

The team, led by Teresa Edwards, the only U.S. basketball player — male or female — to compete in four Olympics, will probably put the United States back on top. Cuba and Brazil figure to be the Americans’ toughest challenges.

Theresa Grentz of Rutgers, the U.S. coach, has called this collection of American women “the team for an era,” and rightly so.

The U.S. team is loaded with international experience. Nine members of the team have won gold medals or world titles.

Grentz said she’ll use a 12-woman rotation to force opponent’s to try to match up.

Olympics, from page 12

In the team event, they slipped to third behind the Unified Team and Romania, but it was still only the third Olympic team medal in women’s gymnastics for the United States. The other two were silver and third when most of the top gymnasts powered out of the 1984 Games.

Finally, the heat of trying to win a third consecutive gold medal appeared to be getting to the American volleyball players, who reacted in temper-tantrum fashion to a close loss that cost them a victory in their first match of the Games.

Marvin Scott, who was the center of what they said was a protest against the international governing body, had been scolded by his heads prior to playing Canada Tuesday.

The move was designed to inspire the team, but the Americans had to fight and scratch in the fifth set to pull out a win over the lightly-regarded Canadians.

“Tf we offended because representatives of 23 countries voted against us,” said team member Bryan Ivie. “They want us to lose, too.”

The United States won six medals overall Tuesday including Evans silver in the pool, the gymnastics bronze, a bronze by Lea Loveless in the wax, an 100-meter backstroke, a silver by Dennis Kosloski in the 100-kilometer swimming competition and a bronze by Kosloski’s teammate Rodney Smith in the 68-kilogram class.

The lone gold medal claimed by the Americans came from the women’s 400-meter freestyle relay team, which set a world record of 3:39.46 to fight off the Chinese.

America’s medal total for three day’s competition at the Games climbed to 16, one more than the Unified Team and two more than China.

But the Unified Team, represented by republicans from the former Soviet Union, had eight gold medals overall, while China and Hungary both had five. The Americans, their gold supply topped only by the French and Brits, who had won gold in the sport of swimming, had only four.

CUBS, from page 12

Derrick May singled, and one out later was walked on Sandberg’s second double. Sanchez talked on pinch-hitter Doug Dascenzo’s single to make it 1-0.

The Pirates spoiled the combined shutout bid in the eighth against Paul Assencio. Mazzaro, who had walked, reached third on Jay Bell’s double and scored on Berry Bonds’ ground out.

In the Cubs’ eighth, pinch-hitter Dwight Smith singled home Mark Grace, who had doubled, for the final margin.

JONES, from page 12

— oriented Nebraska squad, for the multiple still passing offense of SHU, probably influencing his decision.

“I wanted to go somewhere where they throw the football and we will certainly put it up,” he said.

Jones enrolled at SJC this fall and sat out the 1992 season as a redshirt and then became eligible for gridiron action in 1993 with two year of eligibility remaining.

Athletes continue to argue on U.S. track relay teams

BARCELONA, Spain (UPI) — With the start of the Olympic track and field competition just three days away, U.S. athletes and officials are still arguing about the makeup of the men’s two relay teams.

The situation in the 4 x 400-meter race is the most complicated, and the issue is further clouded by a new U.S. ruling, whereby anyone member of the track team (theoretically including shot putters, hammer throwers and anyone else) can be included on the relay squad.

The rule was introduced primarily to appease Michael Johnson, who was ranked No. 1 in the world both 200 and 400-meters in 1991, but was not able to run in the relay at the Tokyo World Championships because he did not compete in the selection trials.

Johnson is pretty sure he is going to be included this time, although his prospective teammates are far from delighted by the prospect.

BOBSLED, from page 12

30 meter run, 60 meter run, 100 meter run, vertical jump, long jump, standing hops and shot put. The athletes are ranked according to their scores.

Martinez was ranked eight after the physical, but fell to 21st after the skeleton heat.

Athletes who rank in the top 10 according to 1991-92 race points and the year’s Push Championship events are chosen to compete at a race-off in Altenberg, Germany, early this winter. The top six competitors will then represent the U.S. Skeleton Team on the World Cup Circuit and at the World Championships in the 1992-93 season, Devlin said.

“Marathon” and “Johannes” games are better than the Lillehammer games in 1994 because the more experienced, more serious games. “Just come out on top,” Martinez said.

“The more experience I get in the next two weeks, the more the experience is the key to the success of the team.”

As with all winter sports, the sport of skeleton depends on sponsors and the U.S. Olympic Training Center to keep the program active. Martinez is hoping to land a few sponsors along the way to help him fulfill his dream of competing in the Olympic Games.
2 Piece Square Deal

$1.99

- 2 Pieces of Chicken
- Ind. Mashed Potatoes with Gravy
- 1 Buttermilk Biscuit

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

2 Piece Square Deal

$1.99

- 2 Pieces of Chicken
- Ind. Mashed Potatoes with Gravy
- 1 Buttermilk Biscuit

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

3 Piece Meal

$2.99

- 3 Pieces of Chicken
- Ind. Mashed Potatoes with Gravy
- Ind. Cole Slaw
- 1 Buttermilk Biscuit

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

3 Piece Meal

$2.99

- 3 Pieces of Chicken
- Ind. Mashed Potatoes with Gravy
- Ind. Cole Slaw
- 1 Buttermilk Biscuit

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

15 Piece Bucket

$9.99

- 15 Pieces of Chicken

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

15 Piece Bucket

$9.99

- 15 Pieces of Chicken

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

Colonel's™ Dozen

$9.99

- 12 Pieces of Chicken
- Large Mashed Potatoes with Gravy
- Large Cole Slaw

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

Colonel's™ Dozen

$9.99

- 12 Pieces of Chicken
- Large Mashed Potatoes with Gravy
- Large Cole Slaw

Coupon good for any flavor of chicken. Includes whole and dark pieces. Not valid with any other special offers. Good at participating KFC restaurants. Limit 4 specials.

Offer Expires: Aug. 31, 1992.

---

Coupons Good Only At These KFC® Locations:

- ARKANSAS: Ashdown, Hope, Jonesboro, Mountain Home
- ILLINOIS:
  - Anna, Benton, Cairo, Carbondale, Chester, DuQuoin, Eldorado, Harrisburg, Herrin, Marion, Metropolis, Murphysboro, Sparta, Waterloo, West Frankfort
- KENTUCKY:
  - Benton, Calvert City, Mayfield, Murray, Paducah, Princeton
- MISSOURI:
  - Cape Girardeau, Charleston, Dexter, Fredericktown, Jackson, Perryville, Potosi, Sikeston, St. Genevieve, West Plains
- TENNESSEE:
  - Martin, Union City

---

KFC

---

COUPONS GOOD FOR:

- 2 Piece Square Deal
- 2 Piece Square Deal
- 3 Piece Meal
- 3 Piece Meal
- 15 Piece Bucket
- 15 Piece Bucket
- Colonel's™ Dozen
- Colonel's™ Dozen

---

OFFER EXPIRES: Aug. 31, 1992.
Family Feast

The perfect Take-out, Dine-in or Delivery feast that will feed a family of four!

- Large 2-Topping Pizza
- Breadsticks with Sauce
- Cinnamon Streusel Dessert Pizza

$10.99
(with coupon)

All-You-Can-Eat-Pizza, Breadsticks and Dessert Pizza

$3.19
(with coupon)

“NOW GET MORE OF WHAT YOU WANT!”
Free Second Pizza

Buy a large Super Specialty Pizza at regular menu price, get a second pizza of equal or lesser value FREE with coupon.

"IT'S A SUPER DEAL!"

We deliver right to your door!