IBHE budget proposals may slash SIU-C funding

By Mike Anthony
Staff Writer

The Illinois Board of Higher Education approved a proposal by Gov. James Thompson's fiscal 1982 budget to fund SIU-C less money to operate with than in fiscal 1981.

Excluding retirement fund- ing, Thompson's budget of $94 million for higher education is $27.4 million less than in fiscal 1982. While the governor's budget provides an increase of $16.7 million in total funds, it is $117 million less than what the IBHE had requested.

"We're in a difficult time next year if this budget is approved," said IBHE Chairman John Baker, speaking in President Albert Semit for planning and budgeting. "We're in a big gap between what the IBHE has recommended and what we anticipate we need for next year."

The board's proposed allocation to SIU-C could conceivably lead to staff reductions, "but it's awfully early to say," Richman said. "The IBHE slashed its initial funding recommendation for SIU-C approved in January, to $61,180,000 less than SIU-C's projected fiscal 1982 expenditures of $118,180,000.

The IBHE's proposal provides no money for salary increases for staff at public universities, community colleges and state higher education agencies.

"The proposal does not provide funding for inflation-driven rises in educational costs or services purchased by public institutions and agencies. The IBHE reduced the amount recommended in the IBHE's initial 1982 budget by nearly $9 million. SIU University would have received $61,180,000. However, SIU-C still needs $8,319,700 to meet new expectations," Richman said.

White's investigation ends in no charges

By Jay Small

Circuit Judge Richard E. Richman has closed the investigation of Jackson County Sheriff Don Fullerton and alleged use of a prisoner to sign area campaign signs for his re-election bid.

Richman announced his decision Monday after he received a recommendation late last week from the county prosecutor Mary L. Collins that no charges be filed.

Collins was appointed as special prosecutor following a request by State's Attorney John Clemens to investigate the charges that a prisoner had been used to paint campaign signs during White's primary campaign for Sheriff of Jackson County.

Collins' report stated that after questioning 31 witnesses and reviewing Illinois statutes, no justification for criminal prosecution could be uncovered in the case.

"This has been a very uncomfortable situation for Sheriff Richman said. "It doesn't help the image of the prosecutor, the sheriff or anyone. People should be aware there are things that can happen."

Richman said he was not going to accuse Clemens of abusing his power as state's attorney in the case. Clemens' investigator is Mitchell Williams, who in 1980 defeated White in this primary. White has accused Clemens of using his position to embarrass the sheriff politically on Kilquist's behalf.

"I am certainly not ac­cusing John Clemens of abusing his office," Richman said. "I am the case. Clemens' investigator is Mitchell Williams, who in 1980 defeated White in this primary. White has accused Clemens of using his position to embarrass the sheriff politically on Kilquist's behalf."

Two contracts given, one held, for new city public library

By Bob Mundt
Staff Writer

Two contracts were awarded to help low-income public libraries in the Carbondale area build a public library building project Monday.

The library board awarded the general construction contract and architectural contract to the lowest bidder. Evergreen Nursery of Marion, for $1,351,900.

However, the board put off until its next meeting a decision on awarding a contract for furnishings, pending consultation with its attorney.

Dave Munson, from the Chicago architectural firm of Harry Weese and Associates, told the board that the problem with the furnishings bid was that the firm specified to provide the library board gave its price to Peterson only, which bid only on that portion of the specifications. The archi­tects had specified a certain brand of library furniture, available only from one company.

Desks Inc. bid only on the remaining portions of the specifications, while Meliah offered in its bid to do the necessary tooling and machining to make library furniture that would match the architects' specifications. Munson recommended that the board accept Meliah's bid, but board President Don Proser suggested that the board first consult with its attorney to avoid incurring a lawsuit.

The bid of Paul's Nursery was $133 less than that of the next-highest bidder, Evergreen Landscape Care of Mur­physboro. However, the board by a 3-2 vote initially had rejected Paul's bid because the landscape architect favored Evergreen's bid, although Paul's met project specifications.

Sandstorm postpones shuttle landing

Earth, astronauts Jack R. Lousiana and C. Gordon Fullerton, were in fine fettle with plenty of food, fuel and power.

"Sorry about that," Mission Control said over the scrub. "That's a breach of space, I guess," said Lousiana.

The scrub was a time in 20 years of space flight that a landing was scrubbed. Kennedy Space Center, at Cape Canaveral, in NASA's third- cousin for landing.

Equipment at Northrop Strip, hastily assembled to handle a shuttle landing, may have suffered some damage from the winds but the guts still were too strong to make an assessment, theClose.

Alex Pacyurzsky, a NASA official at Northrop, said and opportunity to land at Northrup at 8:33 a.m. CST on the 12th orbit "looks like the preferred target. That would give us another time to lock at. get runways, assess the damage and repair them if they are repairable."

At the scheduled time of landing Monday, as they passed over New Mexico, Lousiana said they were "down but not out" there ... I guess we kind of agree with your decision for today."

Capcom Brewer Shaw replied: "The visibility on the surface is about zero. The last gust report we got was 44 knots," a rigorous 56 mph.

Columbia was less than an hour and a half from its landing — and minutes from firing its engines to leave orbit — when the decision was made.

John Young, commander on the first space shuttle, flew a wind-testing mission and reported he couldn't see the end of the runway. First he recommended a shift in runways, then said: "I think we ought to knock this off."

"OK, John, we copy and we concur," said Mission Control. "Sorry about that, guys." Young replied.

"We may want to hold off," Gus Grissom said. "We never land and we don't put quite as much damage on the ground."

SCAM claims phone company misled customers with letter

By Jay Small
Staff Writer

Members of the Southern Illinois University faculty and staff movement Monday accused General Telephone of Illinois of misleading phone customers in 12 communities about the Usage Sensitive Service that GTI wants to implement in those towns.

SCAM spokespersons outlined the group’s policy on GTI’s proposal at a press conference in Murphysboro.

GTI’s proposal would initiate billing for local calls in Murphysboro, Metroplex and ten other Illinois communities on a per call basis. SCAM is concerned that GTI might hide a rate increase in the guise of the USS proposal, Willy Holton, SCAM spokesperson, said.

One particular fear is that the consumer can’t control cost and that the initial rates are possibly low to sell the system,” Holton said.

Holton and other SCAM representatives also voiced concern that some Murphysboro residents might be misled by a letter sent to them by GTI. The letter, signed by GTI Division Manager Harley Lietzke, said Usage Sensitive Service “won’t increase our rates.”

The statement is misleading, SCAM spokeswoman Cathie Leitzke, said. She cited a Illinois Commerce Commission report which estimates that although GTI’s overall revenues from the 12 cities will remain equal, Murphysboro residents would face about a 3 percent rate hike.

Lietzke agreed that the letter could be interpreted incorrectly when considering individual exchange revenue figures from the USS, but he said, “remember, we’re looking at the total picture.”

Holton outlined four SCAM proposals concerning the USS issue. He said SCAM intends to intervene in the case with the ICC, seek local hearings in Murphysboro, encourage such hearings in other towns and seek legislation to curtail USS implementation.

State Rep. Bruce Richardson, D-Southwest District, attended the press conference, and called for closer scrutiny by the ICC in cases such as the USS controversy.

Two panels to look at AP pay hikes

By Ral Fabro
Staff Writer

Two committees are being organized at SIUC to study the recommended pay raises recently announced by Hay Associates, a management consulting firm.

The firm was commissioned last spring to evaluate the duties, amount of responsibility, difficulty, title and pay of over 420 SIUC positions in relation to similar jobs at other universities and in private industry.

The firm’s report said that upper-level SIUC administrators earn less than their counterparts.

One of the committees that will study the firm’s recommendations is the Administrative Professional Staff Council. Spear, director of Personnel Services, is the other committee, which will study the recommendations separately, will represent the university’s five vice presidents, Mrs. Spears said.

Spears said that some committee members have been chosen but declined to name them.

Spears said she hoped the committees would be formed “within a week.” She said they would make recommendations before SIUC President Albert Smith, will meet to evaluate the recommendations and determine whether to implement them.

She has said that employees due salary increases under the Hay recommendations will get raises each year from available funds until the minimum recommended salaries for the positions are met.

Somt said she expected the salaries to be equitable with those for comparable positions within four years.

Explosion on French train kills 5

LIMOGES, France (AP) — A bomb exploded aboard an express train racing through the hilly countryside near Limoges Monday night, gutting one car and killing at least five passengers. Officials speculated that it was either a terrorist attack or an accidental explosion of a terrorist bomb.

Twelve people were injured, two of them seriously.

French television said police believed explosives being transported by the train might have blown up accidentally.

The broadcast said authorities were questioning a young woman passenger.

Salvadoran candidates lack majority

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The centrist Christian Democrats and their extreme-right challengers, both falling short of a majority in El Salvador’s election, scrambled for coalition partners Monday to govern the war-weary country.

Seventy miles southeast of here, leftist guerrillas pressed their bloody siege of the city of Usulutan, in one of the biggest attacks of the 25-year-old conflict. At least four soldiers were reported killed Monday.

The Reagan administration, meanwhile, sent a new signal on negotiations to end the civil war.

Reagan offers aid program for housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan proposed Monday a modest assistance program for the depressed housing industry that of its regulatory relief but rejects any “budget-busting bailouts.”

In a speech at the same hotel where he was shot a year ago Tuesday, Reagan asked the National Association of Realtors to support his economic plan, which he said was the only source of long-term relief for the industry.

“I stay with us, as I’m sure you will, as we pass through this dark corner in time,” he pleaded. “In your communities and in the Congress, spread the word that you have faith in these programs.”

Morris given honor

Former SIU-C President Delyte W. Morris has been induced into the Lincoln Academy of Illinois. Gov. James R. Thompson, the president of the academy, announced Morris' induction.

Morris, 74, was president of SIU from 1966 to 1979, when he retired and was given his presidential emeritus status. At that time, it was a teachers' college with slightly more than 3,000 enrolled. When he retired, the combined enrollments at the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses had topped 31,000 and the SIU system employed over 1,700 faculty members.

While president, Morris established the first independent SIU Board of Trustees, opened an "extension center" at Belleville which eventually led to the Edwardsville campus, and pushed for the expansion of SIU's educational program to include professional training and master's and doctorate degrees.

Don't ask feds to pay for college

I have yet to talk to a single person who does not state that inflation and interest rates must be decreased. Inflation is escalating. And if we spend more money than we have, we will not be able to support the current level of government. Inflation can do this by printing more money. Inflation has decreased the value of the 1940 dollar to 13 cents, according to a recent U.S. News article. Unless inflation is decreased, our dollar will become increasingly worthless and we will be in the same boat at the end of World War II when it took a bucket full of money to buy a pair of shoes.

In an attempt to decrease inflation, President Reagan is trying to decrease government spending and the Federal Reserve Board is limiting the amount of money in circulation. When inflation decreases, interest rates will automatically decrease. Both aspects improve the morale of the people.

opponent — the National Rifle Association, thought to be the most powerful special interest group in Washington, D.C. With its $10 million annual budget and 1.8 million active members, the NRA has blocked all attempts to strengthen federal gun laws. It also contributed heavily to the election of such pro-gun candidates as Ronald Reagan.

The NRA is also standing in the way of efforts to tighten the Gun Control Act of 1968. Although the 1968 law effectively banned imports of firearms, it failed to restrict imports of gun parts used to make cheap handguns. President Reagan was shot nearly a year ago by a gunman using a cheap Saturday Night Special.

For the time being, federal gun control laws are being fought to a standstill. And arguments that gun laws at the local level are unenforceable may be true.

But if the current wave of anti-gun legislation continues to increase, Congress will eventually have to remove its blinders and take notice. Perhaps it will enact legislation that will curtail the escalation of firearms and gun homicides in this country.

Tuition, fee bikes will keep interns from SIU-C

By Coesella Madsen

Senior, Speech Communications

In a story with more twists and turns than the plot of a Stephen King thriller, the SIU-C Student Council has found itself in the limelight for its recent tuition battle.

Last year, the council started a campaign to raise funds for student scholarships, a move that was seen as a moral victory. However, the recent squabble over tuition has raised questions and promises to send the council into a new round of battles.

"I have just come to a realization," said one council member, "that the theater budget was truly 'niggardly.'"

"I'm griping in my decrease," another member declared, "that we could get one of the "black groups" on campus for a real play. But I couldn't understand why I had been encouraged to get a black group in the first place when this obvious solution resided in the theater domain."

Several council members and members of the student body have expressed their disappointment with the council's handling of the situation.

Friendship stolen with a knife

I have just learned of the murder of Soni Raveed.

The first time I ever met Soni Raveed was the first day of a class on international marketing. I was bored as I sat in the back of the room. Then, the door opened, and there he was. He was the life of the party for four years of college to do that.

The last time I met him was during his graduation. I found him making copies of his resume. He had just been granted tenure and felt sincerely that this took the edge off my problems. When I think back about all the great things Soni Raveed did for the SIU-C, I first think of his.

This is not all I'll remember him for, however. I'll also remember him for his bizarre sense of humor be it in his classes or his play. I'll remember him for the soft radiant warmth he gave to everyone with whom he knew him.

Raveed was a casual friend and seemed to be the consummate theater student. The recent squabbles over tuition and the council's handling of the situation have left mebggled.

He was a realist and had the utmost respect. He was someone who I would have liked to have maintained a friendship with in future years. But his death was stolen from me by someone with a knife.

STUMBLING in the darkness, I eagerly and enthusiastically approached the500 seat Southoff Theater Department and try to get something done when they were faced with any and all decision making or complaint.

Keeping this in mind, I am always aware of the decisions about how much funding for educational projects, and when those decisions are made. I was one of the few people on the first council at the University of Southern Illinois, Edwardsville (USI).

Earlirer in the afternoon prior to the meeting I'd visited a Patricia McNiel, assistant coordinator for black affairs in the Office of Student Development.

"It was important to talk to someone if this feels like it can't happen in your lifetime," she said.

I took a copy of my play, explaining my situation. She said that she thought it was a good idea for me to get a meeting with the council. The next day. BAC receives funding through the office where she works. And there was no way this year.

"I also thought I should be aware of a few things," she said. "I think the first at least, I was told."

"I thought I was finally dealing with the BAC, but she meant, "our own," to refer to my own campus. "The BAC," she clearly said, "is merely the name of the "own," means "you know, Greeks" and our "members organization.""

If the BAC meeting was representative of what "our own," members and organization is in on this campus, it's a rather interesting meet. The BAC, which I do not attend, is representing on not only the BAC, but your college. The first would be my specialization. The meeting which covered the issue of black students vastly differed from the previous one as to why the majority of non-black students were unproductive quibbling over the "black students'" newspaper — sickened me to the point that I left with a temple-pounding headache.

So I saw that the SIU-C BAC is not for black students at all — in fact, you're one of our own."

Israeli terrorism result of fascism

Once again, the Israelis are proving to the whole world, especially to the United States, that they may be the best supplier of arms, that they are in reality a fascist state run by fascist leaders, worthy of any support or sympathy. The concentration camps of Palestinian youngsters by the "heroic" Israeli soldiers and arrest of the Palestinian demonstrators demonstrate among other things the duplicity of the Zionism mentality and its bestial and abysmal subjugation of other people.

The criminal course, which Israel has chosen for herself, gases the Jewish state on equal footing with such repugnant countries as Soviet Union, Syria, Poland, El Salvador and other dictatorships both on the right and left. It also reminds us of what President Truman said to the Jews that are like all un- derdogs. When they are licked, they are intolerant and as cruel as the people they are licked to when they were un-derdogs."

Today, Israel is holding some two million Palestinians hostage in their own country. It is an ominous silence which can be euphemism for acquiescence for the Israelis to the Soviet Union, Syria, Poland, El Salvador and other dictatorships both on the right and left — and sometimes during the boro scanty educational, cultural and en-tertainment value to the American students. The Daily Egyptian has conceded.

Fast-change act wins for Miss Gay

By Joe Walter
Staff Writer

Michelle McCausland is 5-foot-2, redheaded and weighs 130 pounds. And if you could believe your ears, she sings like Barbra Streisand.

She was the hit of the show, clearly the crowd favorite — and a loud and raucous crowd it was — Sunday at the first Miss Gay Southern Illinois Beauty Pageant.

She won first place, a $200 cash prize, the title of Miss Gay Southern Illinois and a trip to Chicago to compete in a Miss Continental U.S.A. contest in June.

The scene was The Bar, 213 E. Main, where Michelle and nine other contestants modeled evening gowns, performed in a talent contest and underwent one-question interviews.

The male contestants not only donned female attire but names and personas to match. None used their real names.

Kentuckian Joni Parker executed a truly original version of "I Love the Nightlife," dressed as a vampire with a coffin entourage and attended by an assistant — male — wearing a thin, glittering beret.

She won second place, which brought a much-hoped-for promotion: a trip to Chicago and the title of Miss Carbondale.

Vonna Vencent was third, collecting $50, for her routine done to the tune of "A Song for You."

But it was Michelle who won over the crowd of about 350, as well as the judges.

While lip-synching to a Streisand medley, she put on a quick-change show — darting in and out of a partition onstage — to don various costumes, one for "Secondhand Rose," another for "Brother Can You Spare a Dime," accomplishing about seven changes in all.

The University community has its chance to offer comments, suggestions, news, or comments to daily Egyptian staff and editors at 2 p.m. Friday in the Student Center Illinois Room.

In conjunction with Journalism Week, Sigma Delta Chi, Society of Professional Journalists is sponsoring a "Beat the Press" suggestion for dialogue between the campus paper and all interested parties.

"We want to hear firsthand from anybody who wants to tell us what they think the paper has been doing," said Bob Delaney, president of SDX, SPJ. "We hope in time that SDX can form a new council that will serve not only the University, but all of Southern Illinois."

News sources, subjects, campus organization officials and readers are welcome to attend the informal session.

The managing editor, student editors, news editors, editorial editor, sports editor and entertainment editor as well as other staff writers will be present to field criticism, questions or comments.

"We won't be there to argue with people, but listen to what they say, and answer questions," Delaney said.

Any performance experience, such as playing the piano or other instruments, tap dancing, ballet, juggling, acrobatics or gymnastics, will be helpful.

Auditions should prepare specific material for the auditions. This material is available at the Department of Theater office, 163 Communications Building.

Alstat sponsors revised inheritance tax statutes

By Jay Smell
Staff Writer

State Rep. Wayne Alstat, R-Vergennes, announced this week he is sponsoring a bill to increase the state inheritance tax exemption to $600,000, citing inadequacies in last year's inheritance tax revision.

Alstat's proposal would completely exempt a surviving spouse from inheritance taxes, he said.

"In 1981, the General Assembly voted to double the inheritance tax exemption from $200,000 to $400,000 and to allow a surviving spouse to exempt up to $100,000," Alstat said.

"That was a good beginning," he added. "Now what legislators need to do is complete the work begun last year." Alstat added that individuals should be entitled to tax incentives just as businesses should, because "those incentives work."
Priest seeks better care of disabled
By Charles Victor Staff Writer

"I love to work with people who have handicaps, but I want to change systems," says Father Flavian Dougherty, a Catholic priest of the Passionist Order, who has worked with handicapped persons.

Dougherty was in Carbondale to lecture on the problems of the disabled, spoke at weekend services at the Newman Center and lectured there Sunday evening.

"My work is the work of an advocate. I would enjoy working with individual handicapped persons or groups, but that is not enough. I want to use my contacts to influence persons and power structures to bring about changes in systems themselves," Dougherty sees this role of advocacy as very necessary. "The handicapped themselves usually are not listened to. The issue of disabled persons is not encough. I want to use my contacts to influence power structures to bring about changes in systems themselves."

As a former provincial of his order of priests, Dougherty built up many contacts both nationally and internationally. He is currently the United States director of St. Vincent International, an organization that promotes study in specific states director of the United Nations to the promotion of social justice as people dying in the world, though not all of them are handicapped.

He said.

Dougherty gave some interesting statistics on the disabled in the world. "One out of every seven persons in the United States is disabled, and there are 100 million disabled people in the world."

However, Dougherty warned that the number of disabled persons is on the increase throughout the world.

"I think Reagan's cutbacks are evidence of a basically immoral approach to people. Justice decrees that the state look after all it citizens, not make some of them objects of charity and then dump them on irritable organizations," he said.

Dougherty reacts very strongly to the Reagan administration policies. "It is so ironic that precisely in the year of the disabled, we see all our gains of the past eight years being attacked. Most of these gains have been in the area of accessibility of buildings, equal opportunity in education, work and other basic civil rights."

The Reagan administration is planning to introduce a new clause that would exempt buildings not used by handicapped persons from access regulations. This is ridiculous. How are we to determine which building is not going to be used by handicapped persons? The very occupants may become handicapped," he said.

Rally explains to crowds risks of nuclear energy

By Randy Rendfeld

Nuclear power and energy are sensitive issues, especially at a "Nuclear Awareness Rally" said Sandino.

Jim's Pub, 215 S. Illinois Ave, is the last intimate setting for the rally. And three speakers and a sideshow were greeted as they pub with occasional shout - "Hell no, we won't go!"

The rally was held to commemorate the third anniversary of the accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant, near Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Following the sideshow, the standing-room-only crowd thinned out some when it was announced that U.S. Rep. Paul Simon, D-4th District, would not speak at the rally. Karl Maple, an aide to Simon, explained that Simon had rushed to Washington, D.C. to attend a Senate meeting on educational budgets.

Maple said Simon is co-sponsoring a bill in the House to defund the arms race. The bill now has 142 co-sponsors in Congress, according to Bill Taplin, Simon's chief of staff. Supporters of the bill include Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and former Vice President Walter Mondale. Maple said.

The rally began with a sideshow, which would call "acceptable risk!" - sponsored by the Women's Environmental Support Group. The sideshow took a historical and environmental look at nuclear power and weapons. It featured a variety of people who have been affected by such things as nuclear waste explosions and people who have developed fatal illnesses by working with or living near nuclear plants.

Paciorek lifts Sox over Phils

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Tom Paciorek's bases-loaded single in the 11th inning Monday led the Chicago White Sox to a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in an exhibition baseball game.

Tony Bernazard and Leo Sutherland both singled off loser Ect Farmer and Greg Luzinski was given an intentional walk to fill the bases before Paciorek singled with one out to score Bernazard.

Veteran Steve Carlton pitched seven strong innings for Philadelphia and left with a 2-1 lead on a yield of four hits. The only run off Carlton was Ron LeFlore's leadoff homer in the first.

Starter Richard Dotson also went seven innings for the White Sox, giving up a home run to Ivan DeJesus to lead off the ninth. The Sox tied it in the ninth on Steve Kemp's pinch single which scored LeFlore who had walked and raced to third on a single by Bernazard.

The men's basketball team will hold its annual banquet Wednesday in Ballroom D of the Student Center. A reception at 5:30 p.m. in the Gallery Lounge will be followed by the 6:30 p.m. dinner. At 7:15 p.m., Joe Dean, vice-president for Converse, an athletic apparel company, will be the guest speaker. Netters easily beat Bradley

By Ken Perkins

After nearly two months on the road, the men's tennis team was looking forward to going back home. So happy in fact, that it wanted no time off in polishing off Bradley and winning the University Tennis Courts Monday.

Coach Dick LeFevre hopes the win is the start of something big.

"I think we can win at least four out of our next five matches," said LeFevre. "I'm pretty satisfied with the win. All of us did pretty handily."

The Salukis were so dominating in singles competition that they failed to lose a set. No. 1 seed Brian Sterling and No. 2 seed Lito Ampon both won with a singles victory. It was Jurgen who delivered the final blow with a singles victory to end the match and lifting the monkey from the Saluki's back. LeFevre said he did that because he decided to change the order of the matches.

"He had played in the first four matches of the trip. He was a little bit tired."

LeFevre said of the win that the Salukis were "on fire," and the chemistry is now back to normal.

"It was the same story with No. 2 seed Lito Ampon who was 'very impressive' in his win over Mike Penricker in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

It was also a great day for the Willets, who defeated the cold weather down here, we can play in anything now,"

Brad, and Jan Willets won with a 6-2, 6-4; Stanley and Gabriel Doering in a 6-3, 6-4. It was another great day for the Willets, who defeated the cold weather down here, we can play in anything now.

The Salukis' win was also a great day for the Salukis, who came back from a 1-0 deficit to win the match. They did it with a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Bradley.

The Salukis led 6-2, 6-4, but the Bulldogs came back to win the third set, 6-4, 6-4. The Salukis then won the fourth set, 6-2, 6-4, to clinch the match.

The Salukis are now 2-0 on the season and have won their first two matches of the season. They are now 2-0 on the season and have won their first two matches of the season.
