Bill to split SIU campuses 'still alive'

By Laura Coleman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A bill to make SIU's two campuses separate institutions fell three votes short of passage in the Illinois Senate Tuesday, but the bill is not dead.

Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, sponsor of the bill, said he took advantage of his power to postpone the bill when he realized that it had not received enough votes to pass. It was defeated 32-27.

"The bill is still alive and kicking and will be called up again," Vadalabene said.

Vadalabene defended his bill saying, "When Edwardsville began we were told that someday it would be completely autonomous. We've been told that time and time again, and I think it's time we cease being a stepchild of Carbondale."

He said Edwardsville's situation is different from Carbondale's because 75 per cent of its students are commuters.

SIU Board of Trustees Chairman Ivan Elliott, Jr., said Vadalabene's arguments "don't make much sense". "I don't know anything about a promise that Edwardsville would be completely autonomous. I've never heard any comment about it."

"Edwardsville is operationally autonomous," Elliott added, explaining that the Edwardsville and Carbondale campuses have constituencies of their own which are represented at board meetings.

Elliott was prepared to testify against the split last week at the Senate executive committee hearing which sent the bill to the Senate floor, but he was not allowed to speak.

He said he is "kinda disappointed" that he could not testify because he made a special trip to Springfield for that purpose and he was registered to testify. "They didn't even hear the proponents of the bill," he said.

Elliott said one of his main objections to the bill is that it would set a precedent for the rest of the public universities in Illinois who might want separate boards of trustees.

"We'd end up with more boards than can be effectively dealt with by the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE)," he said. Elliott added that the present method of governance provides for "better input for the individual universities with IBHE."

Elliott also said an IBHE committee is studying the governance system of state universities and will make recommendations to the legislature. "For the legislature to act on this bill would preempt the committee. They (IBHE committee) ought to have a chance," he said.

SIU President Warren W Brandt would not comment on the separation of two campuses. "I think the Board has a policy on it. It's a thing between the Board and Edwardsville and I'm going to keep out of it," he said.

Sullivan, Swinburne clash on activity fees

By Ray Urchel
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

A controversy concerning the use of unallocated student activity fees has caused a disagreement between student president Dennis Sullivan and Bruce R. Swinburne, vice president for student affairs.

Presently, unused student activity fees are transferred to the Vice President for Student Affairs Contingency Account, which is used for special student-oriented activities not funded by student government.

However, the Student Senate passed a resolution last week requesting a freeze on those funds until Swinburne can justify why he should be responsible for allocating the unused activity fees.

Swinburne said the SIU Board of Trustees holds him responsible for supervising the allocation of activity fees and that the Student Senate acts as a "de-facto" representative making recommendations to Swinburne on how activity fees should be allocated.

"They (student senate) do not have control over their money," Swinburne said. "The ultimate responsibility lies with the board." It is Swinburne's responsibility to submit all activity fee allocations to the trustees for final approval.

Swinburne said he has requested input from the senate on how the allocations should be spent but has not received any.

"They have never asked for those dollars or provided advice for those monies," he said.

According to figures released by Swinburne last week, $45,000 in unused activity fees was transferred into the vice president for student affairs contingency fund in May of 1974. The Student Life Office was given $20,000 of the money, the report said.

The vice president's account, which kept the remaining student activities funds, had $13,964.96 left as of March 31.

Harold Blum, fiscal officer for student affairs, said unused activity fees make up "about half" of the remainder.

If they do ask for funds, Swinburne said, "I think we ought to talk about it." "We'll talk about those funds any time they want to," he added.

Sullivan said he has spoken to Swinburne about the activity fee allocations and said the vice president for student affairs sees a need "to compensate for any acts of irresponsibility that Student Government might do or perform."

Student Government "winds up taking all the blame" for allocations "which they make (to campus organizations) as fairly as possible.

"If, however, there is doubt in some groups' minds over the allocation, they can go to Dr. Swinburne and he'll make everything all right," Sullivan said.

Swinburne said the Vice President for Student Affairs account is necessary because some decisions regarding expenditures have to be made promptly without sufficient time for the senate to act. For instance, Swinburne decided on March 21 to spend $641.00 for air fare to send the Salukis cheerleaders to the National Invitational Tournament.

The account also provides an alternative for students who are unable to obtain money from the senate, he added.

Swinburne said that he and C. Thomas Busch, assistant to the vice president for student affairs, told Sullivan last summer that they could provide input into how the money in the account was spent. The senate did not respond until the resolution last week, Swinburne said. Sullivan said the first time he heard about the unused activity funds in Swinburne's account was at the beginning of January.

"Since I do not work with him (Swinburne) on a day-to-day basis," Sullivan said, "I do not recall his every word. I do not recall him telling me this. My main contact with Dr. Swinburne last semester was at luncheons he held."

Sullivan said when he learned of the activities fees, he asked Swinburne for input. He said that after a series of verbal messages, Swinburne requested a committee "to handle financial dealings for Student Government under his (Swinburne's) control."

Sullivan said the student senate "will probably ask Swinburne to come to the senate and tell senators to their faces why they are not responsible enough to handle the student activity fees."

Field narrowed in quest for academic affairs VP

By Laura Coleman
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Less than 10 candidates remain in the running for SIU's new vice president for academic affairs, and President Warren Brandt is ready to join the search, search committee chairman Willis Malone said Tuesday.

Malone refused comment on the names or specific number of finalists, except to say that members of the SIU community are included. "We have some excellent people (as finalists)," he added.

Malone explained that previously, Brandt had not been involved in the committee's workings, but now Brandt will actively participate in the selection process.

Malone said Phillip Olsson, professor of music, had been appointed to fill the committee vacancy left by the resignation of JoAnne Thorpe, who applied for the vice presidential post, but was rejected by the committee.

At Friday's meeting, the committee plans to discuss how the finalists will be interviewed, Malone said.

Malone said he does not anticipate an increase in the number of meetings the committee will hold to meet its July 1 deadline for selection of a successor to Vice President Keith Leasure.

Leasure, who resigned in December, will remain in the post until a replacement is selected. The committee has been meeting twice a week since Leasure resigned, Malone said.

"We're doing the best we can. I can see an end to this thing coming," Malone said.

Abortion assistance available in area

Editor's note: This is the sixth article in a series on the availability of birth control, sterilization and abortion services for Carbondale area citizens. Today's article deals with abortions performed during the first three months of pregnancy. Tomorrow's article will discuss abortions performed during the fourth, fifth and sixth months of pregnancy.

By Mary E. Gardner
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Susan thinks she is pregnant. If she lives in the Carbondale vicinity and wants to have an abortion, what can she do?

If she is an SIU student, she can go to the Health Service for a pregnancy test. Or she can have the test taken at the Carbondale Clinic or at Family Planning at the Jackson County Health Department, regardless if she is a student.

If Susan has missed her menstrual period, but is not more than two weeks late, she can have a menstrual extraction.

A menstrual extraction involves the use of a vacuum source to "suck out" the contents of the uterus, said Dr. Roger N. Klam of the Carbondale Clinic. But the extraction cannot be performed if pregnancy test results are positive, only if negative results are returned, he said.

If tests indicate Susan is pregnant, but not more than three months (first trimester) pregnant, and she decides who wants to have an abortion, the nearest facilities to have it performed are in Carbondale and St. Louis.

A woman wishing to be referred to a clinic in St. Louis for an abortion may consult a pregnancy counselor at either Human Sexuality Services (students only) or at the Women's Center, Barbara Dahl, nurse consultant at Human Sexuality, said.

Abortions done in Carbondale are of the suction type, Klam said. This procedure involves sucking the fetus out of the uterus through a narrow tube inserted into the uterine cavity through the cervix. The doctor's fee alone for an abortion in Carbondale is $150 for the surgery plus $20 for a pre-surgical work-up, says Wayne Given, administrative director of the Carbondale Clinic. In St. Louis the total fee is $160. In Chicago the cost is $200.

However, in both St. Louis and

"This right of privacy...is broad enough to encompass a woman's decision whether or not to terminate her pregnancy." —U.S. Supreme Court.

Chicago, first trimester abortions are performed in clinics on an out-patient basis, whereas in Carbondale they require a day's hospitalization. Given said doctors at the Carbondale Clinic cannot perform abortions on an out-patient basis because the clinic does not have the proper facilities required under Illinois law to do so.

Total abortion fees for Doctors Memorial Hospital are about $250 "if there are no complications," said Jack Edmundson, administrator at the hospital.

This fee includes one day of hospitalization, drugs, laboratory fees, medical supplies, pathology fees and a fee for the operating room.

Coupled with the doctor's fee, this means that the total cost for an abortion in Carbondale is about $420.

Human Sexuality Services refers students to Reproductive Health Services in St. Louis and to Medical Concord Center in Chicago, Dahl said. She said both clinics require patients to receive counseling prior to having an abortion.

Another clinic in St. Louis, The Ladies Center, will perform first trimester abortions for a total cost of $160, said Shirley Hjort, former director of SIU Prevention Programs. She said this clinic does not require outside counseling because the staff is able to provide that service.

It is possible to have counseling done at Reproductive Health, Dahl said, but this sometimes requires the woman to make two trips to St. Louis, one for the counseling and one for the abortion.

Medical Concord Center is a "walk-in" clinic, according to Dahl. She said counseling is usually done at the clinic. Charges at the Chicago clinic include $160 for the abortion plus $40 for Rh-immune treatment to prevent Rh negative factor formation in the blood.

Klam of the Carbondale Clinic is one of two doctors in Carbondale who will perform first-trimester abortions. The other doctor requested that his name be withheld.

Klam said he personally counsels the patients for whom he performs abortions. He said he makes certain the women know what they are doing, that they really want the abortion and that they are not being "pushed into it" by either family or friends.

About four women each week have elective first trimester abortions in Carbondale, Klam estimated. Human Sexuality Services' Dahl estimated that 10 to 15 students are referred weekly to St. Louis, compared to five years ago when 150 women per month left Carbondale for illegal abortions. She said the sharp decline in the abortion rate was probably caused by the availability and knowledge of better birth control methods.

Klam estimated he performs two to four menstrual extractions each week, adding that he is the only doctor in Carbondale who performs them.

Counseling is done by Klam for the menstrual extractions, but not as extensively as he does for abortion patients, he said, because women can assume they are not pregnant at the time of the menstrual extraction.

Because the results of the pregnancy tests must be negative in order to perform a menstrual extraction, Klam said, they are usually performed as a precautionary measure.

St. Louis clinic reports doing 8,000 abortions

Nearly 8,000 abortions were performed by Reproductive Health Services in St. Louis during the first 22 months of the clinic's operation, its report states.

The report, as stated in The St. Louis American, said most (2,708) of the women were from 20 to 24 years old; the ages of the next largest group (1,425) were from 25 to 29; the group aged from 15 to 17 years old had 1,204 abortions. Twenty-one of the patients were 45 or older. The youngest was 11 years old; the oldest was 55.

Seventy-one per cent (5,646) of the patients were white; 28 per cent (2,229) of the patients were black; one per cent were Oriental (53); and less than one per cent (45) were members of other races.

Fifty-four per cent (4,310) were married; 27 per cent were married (2,186). The rest were either divorced separated or widowed.

Sixty per cent (4,761) were Protestants; 22 per cent (1,741) were Roman Catholics; one per cent (61) were Jewish; and 14 per cent (1,164) were nonreligious.

Seventy-four per cent were residents of Missouri; 24 per cent came from Illinois; the remainder were from elsewhere.

Only 587 out of the nearly 8,000 women had had previous abortions.

Justice asks concert rockers to roll at home

By Wes Smith
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

With this year's first bonafide hard rock concert sailing into town Wednesday night on the wings of Jefferson Starship, SIU Arena Manager Dean Justice is asking festive concert goers to make flight preparations before taking off from home.

"I realize some students think it's a big joke that we try to stop smoking and drinking in the Arena, but we're not trying to make any moral judgements about their actions," Justice said Tuesday.

Wooden bleachers, while providing good seats for viewing the concert, also provide fuel for danger when careless fans throw ashes and burning cigarettes on the floor, Justice noted.

"Our primary concern is with crowd safety and the condition of the building. I ask that students and others planning on going to the concert recognize the problems that accompany smoking and drinking and refrain from doing it."

"We have a blessing with so many wooden bleachers but they're not a blessing when people flick ashes on them or on the wooden floor. There is a real danger of someone being injured, if not from a fire then from the panic that would accompany a fire," Justice cautioned.

"Drinking becomes a problem too when people get uptight and start throwing bottles and cans. We had an example of that during the basketball season when someone threw a bottle at a ref. Someone could have been seriously injured."

Justice said students who insist on getting bombed during the concert often end up overshooting the mark and wiping out the enjoyment of fellow rockers.

"Believe it or not there are people who would like to come to a rock show but they don't want to be thrown up on by some drunk or made sick from all the smoke."

"The hard core fans make up part of the crowd but the success of a concert depends on those marginal fans who will come only if everything looks like it will be okay. They won't come if it looks like everyone will be drinking, smoking and standing up during the concert," he said.

"I've had people tell me they'll be damned if they'd come to another concert after paying $6 and not being able to see because of everyone standing up. You can't blame them for feeling that way."

Justice asked that concert goers get up for the music at home and stay in their seats in the Arena.

"I guess I'm saying that if people are going to drink please do it before the show and leave the bottles and cans at home. If they've got to smoke, please do it in the lobby."

"I think rock concerts are an important type of entertainment and I don't want to stop having them but it has happened. Illinois State University stopped having concerts for two months because of problems with drinking and smoking," Justice said.

Justice said the problem was not peculiar to Jefferson Starship or any one group and he regretted any inferences along those lines gathered from news stories on the concert.

Substitute accommodations found for evicted dormitory residents

Thirty student residents of 600 W. Freeman dormitory evicted April 7 with only two days notice, have been accommodated in other facilities.

The residents were forced to move out of the dormitory when the Freeman Street Land Trust, owner of the building, closed it due to financial difficulties.

Gary Wiszo-Waty, manager of Forest Hall which is presently housing about 15 of the evicted students, said the residents were moved out on such short notice because Cherry Realty felt the utilities would be turned off in the building. He said the utilities have not yet been turned off.

The evicted residents were given the choice of finding their own housing, or living in Forest Hall or the Egyptian Apartments, both managed by Cherry Realty.

Wiszo-Waty said improvements totaling $3,000 were made in Forest Hall to accommodate the needs of three handicapped students forced out of the Freeman facility.

A 40-foot ramp was built leading to the basement of Forest Hall, Wiszo-Waty said. There is also a new sidewalk leading to the ramp alongside the building. He said this was done so the handicapped students didn't have to use the possibly hazardous alley for access to the ramp.

"We remodeled the rooms to the specifications of the handicapped students," Wiszo-Waty said. This included widening doorways and placing safety bars for the students.

Students who moved from the Freeman residence to other Cherry Realty managed property received $50 for moving expenses besides their damage deposit, and any overpayment of rent at the Freeman facility, Wiszo-Waty said.

Residents who didn't move into Cherry Realty facilities only received their damage deposit and any overpayment of rent, Wiszo-Waty added. About 15 former residents of 600 W. Freeman did not move into Cherry properties, he said.

Harry Threlkeld, a handicapped student, a senior in psychology, said, "To help me personally Cherry Realty went out of their way." Threlkeld is now residing in Forest Hall. He said Forest Hall was about his only feasible choice of residence on such short notice.

Glenn Wolf, a graduate student in rehabilitation, said, "They did what I wanted them to do, and more."

Two handicapped students could not live in Forest Hall and were moved into Rawlings Street Apartments, Wiszo-Waty said. He said Cherry Realty made up the higher cost of rent which these students would have had to pay for the apartments.

Some residents are upset because Cherry Realty did not let them know about the sad financial situation of the building's owners.

John Allen, senior in journalism, said Cherry Realty told him the bankruptcy proceedings by the owners of 600 W. Freeman were underway last September. He said some of the former residents were upset at what they felt was mismanagement and negligence on the part of Cherry Realty.

Council votes to rehire city manager

By Mary Whitler
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Mayor Neal Eckert has announced that the city council voted unanimously to rehire City Manager Carroll J. Fry after the council's closed evaluation of the manager.

In announcing the council's decision at Monday night's city council meeting, Eckert praised Fry for improving communications between the manager's office and the community.

Noting that all public officials are subject to a great degree of controversy, Eckert said, "I compliment Mr. Fry on being tough, because in Carbondale you have to be tough to survive."

The council also voted to give 128 classified city employees a 6 per cent pay increase. The total cost of the pay increase amounts to $79,020 for salaries and $9,219 for fringe benefits, Fry said.

In a 3-2 decision the council voted to accept the Carbondale Area Transportation Study (CATS). The study indicates existing deficiencies in the street and highway system in Carbondale-Township and recommends a new transportation system to be completed by 1985. The recommendations call for, among other things, the construction of a U.S. Rte. 51 bypass.

Council members voting for the study, Hans Fischer, Archie Jones and Eckert, said that a plan for the city's future transportation needs is necessary and that they feel the CATS plan is the best available.

The major features of the plan include: completion of the east-west traffic couple; an underpass for the Illinois Central Railroad; a freeway to by-pass the city on the north; reconstruction of Lewis Lane between Walnut Street and Grand Avenue; construction of a U.S. Route 51 bypass; connection and reconstruction of Willow Street between Illinois Avenue and Wall Street; reconstruction of West Main Street between Sycamore Street and the west end of the recommended traffic couple; reconstruction of the Giant City Blacktop north to intersect with existing Illinois Route 13; reconstruction of Reservoir Road-Pleasant Hill Road between the Giant City Blacktop and the proposed U.S. Rte. 51 bypass; widening of U.S. 51 from near Reservoir Road south to near Unity Point School; construction of additional lanes on Illinois Rte. 13; and reconstruction of South Wall Street from Park Street to Pleasant Hill Road.

Councilman Clark Vineyard said he opposed the CATS plan because available data does not justify the recommendations.

Councilmember Helen Westberg said she questions whether a bypass is needed and said she would like to see all the details before approving the overall plan.

In other action the council voted to reject two low bids on contracts for maintenance material at the request of the city's Equal Opportunity Officer Cleveland Matthews. The company did not meet the city's equal opportunity regulations, Matthews said.

The council accepted five other project bids "subject to verification of compliance with equal opportunity laws."

The Carbondale Township Board of Auditors received a 30-day extension of its fire protection contract with the city. The current contract expires May 1.

The city will also check into possible use for the bricks in the Old City Hall, 222 E. Main. The council authorized the building to be razed.

Rebelling inmates surrender at Joliet prison

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—About 70 inmates who held eight hostages in cell block of the Joliet Correctional Center surrendered after six hours Tuesday. Seven guards were injured.

A statement by the Corrections Department said all prisoners were returned to their cells.

Corrections Director Allyn Sielaff said that, during the disturbance, one inmate was killed by another unidentified prisoner.

The inmates surrendered, the department said, after Warden Fred Finkbeiner promised them that three prisoners would not be transferred to a different institution.

Knots of relatives of guards waited hours outside the wall of the prison for word of their loved ones. One woman, who refused to give her name, emerged from a guardhouse and exclaimed: "He's all right, thank God for that."

The inmate killed was identified as Herbert Cutler. His throat reportedly was slashed and he was pronounced dead at a Joliet hospital.

Grocery price drop keeps living cost increase low

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp drop in grocery prices held the cost of living last month to its smallest increase in nearly two years, the government reported Tuesday.

Retail prices rose three-tenths of 1 per cent in March, half the rate of both January and February and the least in any month since a two-tenths of 1 per cent increase in July 1973, when price controls were in effect.

All figures were adjusted to account for seasonal variations. Unadjusted, the increase last month was four-tenths of 1 per cent.

The slowdown in the pace of inflation was anticipated, since wholesale prices have fallen steadily over the past four months and this was expected to be reflected at retail. It also provided further evidence of the effects of the recession, which has reduced consumer demand and discouraged retailers from raising prices.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said President Ford, though pleased with the March figures, does not expect that the lower rate of inflation will continue.

Legislation to aid unemployed defeated in House

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Legislation which would have boosted payments to unemployed workers in the state was defeated by the Illinois House Tuesday.

The measure, which had been the target of an intensive lobbying effort by labor organizations in the state, fell eight votes short of the needed majority.

A number of lawmakers said they favored increases in unemployment compensation benefits, but had been unable to persuade the measure's cosponsors, Reps. Zeke Giorgi, D-Rockford, and Thomas J. Hanahan, D-McHenry, to accept any changes.

"A number of us find ourselves in the position of not being able to vote for this measure because of the gluttonous attitude on the part of the sponsors to take all or nothing at all," said Rep. Ronald Griesheimer, R-Waukegan.

Opponents of the measure argued that large increases in unemployment compensation would be bad for businesses in the state.

Under state law, payments to unemployed workers are made out of a special fund, created through a payroll tax on all employees.

State elderly assistance bill signed into law

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A long-debated program to give cash grants to many of the state's elderly and disabled citizens became law Tuesday.

Gov. Daniel Walker, flanked by Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan, Democratic legislative leaders and representatives of senior citizens groups, signed the measure and handed the ceremonial pen to Hartigan.

The lieutenant governor has been a leader in organizing senior citizens groups in efforts to get the bill passed.

The bill provides grants ranging from $50 to $100 to persons 65 or over earning less than $10,000 a year, and disabled persons within the same income limits.

The measure is essentially the same as one the governor vetoed four months ago, saying it was too expensive.

"I was concerned about the price tag," Walker said when asked about his change in position. "I am told the other bill would have cost $60 million and this one $34 million. I also thought the other bill was premature... that we should not consider tax relief before the budget was presented to the legislature."

Korean official bracing for possible rebel coup

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Chung Hee Park, a tough former general, is expected to tighten his one-man rule over South Korea's 33 million people in the wake of Communist victories in Vietnam and Cambodia.

Since the fall of Cambodia to Communist-led forces, his political foes charge, the 57-year-old president has been fanning war hysteria to justify repressive measures.

Park maintains there is imminent danger from Communist North Korea, and he points especially to the current visit of North Korean President Kim Il-sung to Peking, which sent thousands of Chinese troops to aid North Korea in the 1950-53 war against South Korean and United Nations forces.

He said the North Korean leader might be planning something reckless based on a miscalculation following Communist military advances in Indochina.

Park's political opponents say democratic reforms are the best way to cope with Communist threats and that it was mainly the people's distrust of their governments that made the Communist advances possible in Indochina.

Cease fire chances still nil, Viet Cong say

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong attacked new South Vietnamese President Tran Van Huong as "a seller of the nation" Tuesday and indicated the resignation of Nguyen Van Thieu had done nothing to improve chances of a cease-fire. On the military fronts, Communist-led forces kept up pressure on areas around Saigon.

"Mr. Tran Van Huong is not Mr. Nguyen Van Thieu, but he is his brother," said Pham Van Ba, head of the Viet Cong diplomatic mission in Paris, implying that Huong's views are similar to those of Thieu.

French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues, warning that "a battle for Saigon would be catastrophic for everybody," called Pham and North Vietnamese diplomats to his Paris offices but did not indicate whether any progress was made toward negotiations.

Opposition politicians in Saigon expressed concern that the ailing 71-year-old Huong, who moved up from the vice presidency with Thieu's resignation Monday, will not act speedily enough to re-camp the government and bring about a lineup acceptable to the Communist side before the war is completely lost.

"We are down to counting in hours not days," said one politician.

Battlefield reports said government forces completed their pullback from the provincial capital of Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon, which they had fought for two weeks to hold. It was the 20th of South Vietnam's 44 provinces to fall since early last month.

Fighting continued just south of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. Field reports said government positions had been overrun along Highway 4, the main route into the delta.

An important roadway leading to Tay Ninh, a provincial capital 55 miles northwest of here, was under attack. But sources said government infantrymen wrested control of a 1.2-mile strip of the highway that had been in North Vietnamese hands for two days.

Military sources said a bomb depot exploded at Bien Hoa air base, 15 miles outside Saigon, but official spokesmen said they had no information on the blast. The base has been hit almost nightly by rocket and artillery rounds, including big 130mm guns.

Legislator to address women's day workshop

State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, will deliver the keynote address Friday at a free all-day workshop, "Women's Day and Career Fair 1975," at the Student Center.

Chapman, a strong supporter of equal rights for women, will speak at 10 a.m. in the Student Center Auditorium on "Choices and Challenges for Women: Today and Tomorrow."

The career fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Student Center River Rooms and Ballrooms C and D. The workshop is designed to give women an insight into career possibilities, educational opportunities, and individual development.

Counselors from SIU's Career Planning and Placement Center will provide career development information and administer self-directed interest tests. Representatives from industry and SIU academic departments will head 14 workshops throughout the afternoon in the River Rooms. The workshops will cover misunderstandings of feminism, community affairs, assertiveness training and new looks at homemaking.

Women's art work, publications and new learning resources will be displayed all day in Ballrooms C and D.

Beginning at noon, four films will be featured in the River Rooms including "Pack Your Own Chute," "To Be A Man," "Anything You Want To Be" and "To Be A Woman." Discussion about male and female roles will follow the films.

The day's activities are sponsored by Student Services, Student Life and the Division of Continuing Education.

A coffee lounge will be open all day in the Sangamon Room.

Cuban embargo

In view of the recent vote by foreign ministers of the Organization of American States (OAS), last November, in Quito Ecuador, it's time that Washington ended its 12-year economic embargo against Cuba. Retention of this unrealistic and ineffective policy can only serve to disrupt the future operations of the OAS and endanger U.S. relations with OAS countries.

The resolution to end the embargo failed to meet the required two-thirds majority of the 21-member nations. The resolution's failure caused a severe within the organization. The 12 nations which voted to lift the embargo accused the United States of using its power to influence five other member nations to abstain from voting, resulting in the defeat of the resolution.

This is not the only instance in which the United States has been accused of using its power to deter countries from trading with Cuba. Washington used its power under the 1962 Trading with the Enemy Act in an attempt to prevent Canada and Argentina from selling locomotives and automobiles to Cuba. This act prohibits any foreign subsidiaries of American firms from conducting any business with countries on Washington's "black list."

Under threats by Argentina to nationalize American subsidiaries if they weren't allowed to trade with Cuba, the United States issued an export license to Argentine subsidiaries of U.S. industries which sold several hundred million dollars worth of cars and trucks to Havana.

Under a similar threat by Canada, the United States condoned the sale of $18 million worth of locomotives to Cuba.

Pressure from foreign countries to end the embargo isn't the only resistance the United States is meeting because of its unrealistic policy. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the Commission on U.S.-Latin American Relations have both recommended the abolishment of the embargo and the resumption of trade and diplomatic relations with Cuba.

The Cuban embargo is inconsistent with our relations with other Communist countries. The United States maintains relations with China, East Germany and the Soviet Union, yet it attempts to embargo Cuba into isolation.

Critics of the proposal to end the embargo contend that relaxing the attitude towards Cuba would benefit the Soviet Union more than the United States and would give Castro the chance to play against the Soviet Union, as was done in the 1962 Bay of Pigs conflict.

The embargo on Cuba has had little effect on Cuban trade. This is evident in the number of countries (including American allies) which conduct foreign trade with Cuba despite the embargo.

The lack of action on the part of the United States to resolve the conflict over the Cuban embargo is causing disruptions within the OAS and other with American allies. The time has come for the United States to end this useless embargo before it further endangers our relations with our allies.

Better late...

It took the current Vietnam debacle to accomplish what should have happened years ago—President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam has resigned.

Among the greatest mistakes this nation has made in its foreign policy was the long support of Thieu, who, as head of a corruption-riddled government, thwarted any possible peace negotiations between his government and Hanoi. For years, the North Vietnamese have refused to negotiate with "Thieu and his clique."

Thieu bitterly denounced the United States, most notably Henry Kissinger, for leading his nation to "such a disastrous fate." Thieu was referring to a "secret" agreement between him and then President Nixon, where the former President pledged U.S. support in return for South Vietnam's signature on the Paris Peace Agreement in 1973.

It is highly believable that Nixon promised Thieu he would help if North Vietnam decided to invade the South. If Nixon did pledge unequivocal support, Thieu is correct—he was misled. But, Nixon did many things wrong that we cannot vindicate. As Sen. Frank Church (D-Ida.) said upon hearing of Thieu's resignation: "The war is finished. The cause is lost and the Vietnamese must now take charge of their own affairs."

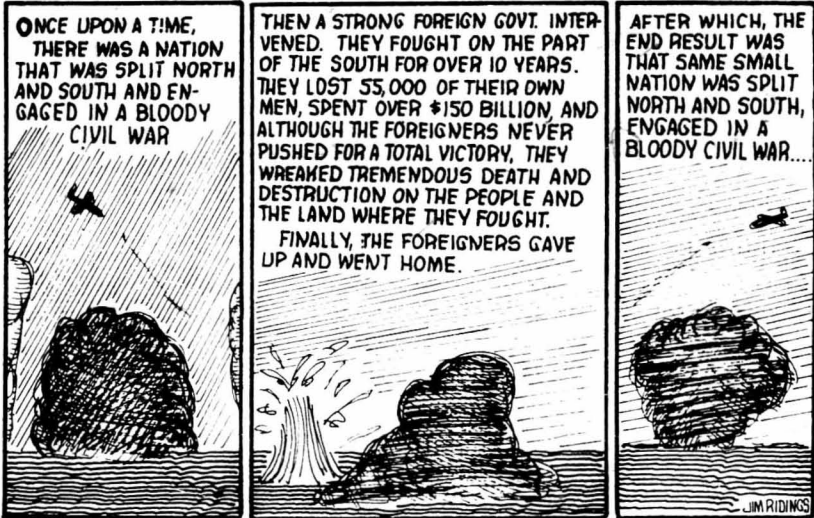

The war, however, is not over yet. As we sit here, 10,000 miles away, bullets fly and bodies fall. But if Thieu's resignation offers any possibility for negotiations between Saigon and Hanoi, it is well worth it. We cannot accept Thieu's placing the blame solely on us. This nation has made mistake after mistake in Vietnam, one of them was not asking Thieu to resign earlier.

The frill has gone out of our lives

By Arthur Hoppe

The instant success of "no-frill flying" spelled the end of America's frill-crazed generation.

The move by the hard-pressed air lines to cut prices by eliminating frills clearly made sense. Flying in the rear of an aircraft while munching on a cold mashed-potato sandwich became the status-conscious thing to do. And those few passengers who still insisted on paying double to ride first class were looked down upon as addle-headed wasters.

Overnight, frills were out. No-frills were in. Economically, cutting prices by eliminating frills seemed the obvious solution to the rising cost of living. And manufacturers vied with each other to keep up with the new trend.

Who will ever forget the 1976 Model U Ford? By eliminating such frills as streamlining, chromium, cigarette lighters, dashboards, automatic windshield wipers, windshields, roofs and self-starters, Ford was able to cut prices more than $1000. Everyone wanted one of these new status symbols.

Across the land, men discarded such frills as wearing jackets in hot weather or neckties at any time. High fashion designers brought out "the burlap bag look," employing authentic burlap bags.

The advent of Glunk was a boon. A tasteless paste composed of soy beans, alfalfa sprouts and assorted chemicals, cold Glunk and water provided all that was needed to keep a body alive. And it did away with the frills of shopping and cooking.

Young men seeking "a meaningful no-frill relationship" would simply approach young ladies with the question, "Will you or won't you?" And no one ever asked, "How are you?" unless they really wanted to know.

"At last," people said, as they cast the accumulated cultural bric-a-brac out of their lives, "we are returning to real values!"

Unfortunately, it appeared as though America was also headed toward becoming an incredibly dull society, with everyone wearing unadorned uniforms, living in unadorned barracks, forswearing such frills as music, art and the theater, and eating nothing but Glunk.

What saved the nation was the spirit of competition.

National Airlines added "a cold snack" on its no-frill flights. Ford offered a self-starter "for those tired of cranking" as an optional accessory on its 1977 Model U. An embroidered violet appeared on burlap bag dresses that fall. Chocolate-flavored Glunk proved a hit. And young swains began telling young maidens, "When I look into your eyes, I get a real frill."

Competition being what it is, in no time the air lines were providing free Napoleon brandy and topless symphony orchestras on their no-frill flights. And the country was back to normal.

"DAMN THOSE NO-FRILL FLIGHTS!"

Hunters are animals' best friends

By Nancy Lauts
Student Writer

Wildlife's best friend, game managements number one conservation tool, sports hunting, is in danger of being banned in the United States.

Is this sentence full of preposterous ideas? I think not.

Legal, regulated sports hunting offers a guaranteed annual harvest of the over-population of animals that would almost certainly lead to winter death if left alone.

A quick bullet or arrow to a controlled number of game is more humane than uncontrolled starvation of many when the food supply is gone in January and two more months of snow and ice remain.

Viewpoint

Hunting is clearly recongized by game management specialists as a vital curb on the free population increase of wild animals. The International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners has said, "Hunting is not only a major form of recreation but an absolute necessity for the proper management and future well-being of many (game and non-game) wildlife populations."

Yet hunting is being threatened now. The anti-hunting movement is a well-organized, well-financed one that is gaining strength among many Americans who respond emotionally to cries of "Save Our Wildlife."

One anti-hunting group, "The Fund for Animals," states that "Hunting is not a sport, for the simple reason that there is nothing sporting about shooting defenseless wild animals with a high-powered rifle...Hunters have helped to wipe out numerous species of once-abundant wildlife."

Another group, "Friends of Animals," with 50,000 members, calls hunters "kill-for-kicks-boys."

Are these arguments valid? In most cases they are not. There can no longer be a "natural" population control. At one time, all animals were regulated by predation. There were wolves, coyotes, mountain lions, bears and primitive human hunters to do the job. But now these predators have been eliminated or greatly reduced in numbers in every part of the country and much of their natural range is occupied human living space.

For many years where there haven't been enough predators to do the job, and where there has been no hunting, the populations of the prey animals (deer, elk, moose, etc.) has skyrocketed into trouble.

"DON'T BE SO MELODRAMATIC! MAYBE THE SENATE WON'T CONFIRM HATHAWAY"

And those who would say that hunting is "unsporting," because of the weapons available to today's hunter, haven't been in the woods recently trying to bag their one-limit deer.

The advantages of the hunter with a rifle or with a bow over the terrain-wise buck are grossly exaggerated.

Sports hunting has never endangered, much less destroyed, any species of wildlife on this continent. Commerical hunting has in a couple of instances, but sports hunters are the ones who demanded, got and paid for the protective programs that stopped it.

The point that needs refutation the most is that hunters are "kill-for-kicks boys." Hunters must certainly be the best friend animals have because they also fund the American system of wildlife administration.

It is hunters, fishers and trappers who supply the money that is the lifeblood of the game-and-fish programs in every state. There are some 20 million hunters in the United States who, with their duck stamps, deer licenses, and self-imposed taxes they pay on guns and ammunition foot the bills for wildlife conservation.

To allow anti-hunting pressure groups to make headway in their fight to ban hunting would be drastically harmful to the conservation movement in this country and would have even more direct consequences on the animals themselves, who would soon not grow their food supply.

Hunting is far more humane than the cruel balance of nature and it must be allowed.

Concert ticket policy unfair

To the Daily Egyptian:

It seems that the ticket arrangement for major concerts should be reevaluated after the farce that went on when tickets were sold for "Jefferson Starship". I can understand that there is a lot involved in the organization needed to put together a sensible way to distribute tickets. I can understand that SIU is just beginning to get talent suitable for students. But I can not understand why I should spend all my time sitting in front of the Student Center to get my number, and then come back both days to reconfirm my reservation, only to be at the Student Center for roll-call at 7:00 a.m. on the day tickets go on sale. If my number is low, why should I get such poor tickets? It is not that there has been any organization at all, it was OK until the last five minutes of the ordeal! Strange as it may be, they split up the individuals at the last minute into two lines and sold tickets in both lines. All the odd numbers went into one line and the even numbers into the other. What I am trying to say is that I stood in line for 17 hours and they gave me the shaft at the last minute. Numbers 1, 3, and 5 in line bought their tickets before number two (who was in front of me) bought his tickets. I was pushed back in line as a result of somebody's bright idea to sell the tickets faster. I look back and ponder if it was worth it... Maybe when I am there and listening to some good music I will forget about it! Also, thanks to those dear ticket ladies who don't know how to count.

Prisoner thanks

To the Daily Egyptian:

I would like to take advantage of this opportunity to briefly bring to the attention of SIU's student body, as well as the general population of Carbondale, the quite remarkable and very praiseworthy "Group Therapy and Encounter situations" which the members of SYNERGY, its female members in particular, have introduced into the prison situation which exists within Menard's Psychiatric Center.

In spite of the many limitations posed by the prison environment, limitations which are compounded and aggravated by the reactionary, casuistic disposition of the Center's Administration, the members of Synergy, under the guidance and counseling of Adrian and Brenda, have facilitated several very soul searching, very meaningful group sessions, and, undoubtedly, have provided, for many of the inmates incarcerated here, their very first—and only—group experience with quality direction and guidance.

We would like to pay very warm and humble tribute to Synergy, for their dedication to, and sincere concern for the growth and development of their fellow man, which has begun, in many significant ways, to bridge the gap between theory and practice which has marked correction's failure since its inception.

Puppets

To the Daily Egyptian:

This is a short response to Daily Egyptian staff writer Diane Solberg's column in which she set forth her biased opinions regarding the elections.

I would like to thank her for maliciously slandering all the Student Government candidates with the exception of those in "Tea Party Now". Through her actions she has just helped elect to Student Government a pair of puppet candidates. As proven from the past year, Tea Party Now has just sat in executive positions with things to do and nothing ever accomplished.

Wants pen-pals

To the Daily Egyptian:

I am a 29-year-old Black prisoner presently incarcerated in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas serving a 10 year sentence and I won't be released until the spring of 1977.

My reason for writing is this: after being confined for the past two-and-a-half years I have lost contact with friends and acquaintances and would like to renew my contacts with the outside world through correspondence. I would dearly love to keep abreast of the events and occurrences of the free world and be well informed of the mood of the people.

It's a lonely situation sitting here with the expectation of the release and not having any present contact with the people and events of the free world. Your help and consideration in regards to my plight will be sincerely and profoundly appreciated. Thank you

Military aid for Vietnam wrong

To the Daily Egyptian:

Do the other nations of the world suffer the problems the United States does because of the war in South Vietnam? I seriously doubt it. Why is our country brought down by a war that is none of our business? Is it a presidential promise that continues to funnel money to South East Asia or is it congressional stupidity? If the governments of both countries were asked to release a statement on why they think the war is going on, I seriously doubt that the statements would justify the lives lost.

I am tired of this war and especially its affects in our country. I believe that not only I don't care who wins this war, but also the people of South Vietnam don't care (excluding the power elite, of course). Daily, we hear of refugees fleeing the "insurgents" but nothing is said of the majority of the people who go north to the "insurgent's" camps. These people want peace and by continuing to supply money to the South Vietnam army we are only torturing the helpless common citizens and subsidizing the best fighting outfit in the South Vietnamese army, who barbarically stomped on helpless women and children, of their same country, to gain access to a flight to safety. I'm also tired of the baby sitter of the world policy that has prevailed in this country for God only knows how long, and may continue to prevail until it destroys our nation. I support and applaud the efforts to comfort the people of South Vietnam in peaceable ways only. If half the lives and money that have been wasted in Southeast Asia by us were employed to constructive development and solving of problems here in the United States these problems would no longer exist.

Two students slate recital on Wednesday

A student recital featuring trombonist Stan Adams and double bass player Clyde Bassett will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Old Baptist Foundation Chapel. The recital is free and open to the public.

Adams and Bassett will open the program together with G.P. Telemann's "Aria." During the first half of the recital, Bassett will perform Bettisani's "Arias for Double Bass and Piano" and Hugh Airken's "Suite for Solo Bass." Adams will play Ferdinand David's "Concerto, Op. 4."

Following an intermission, Adams will perform Paul Hindemith's "Sonata" and Bassett will perform Henry Eccles' "Sonata." To end the program, Bassett and Adams will play Thomas Morley's "The Cricket." Piano accompanists for the recital will be Patti Anderson and Terry Martin.

Film to be shown at Southern Hills

The Southern Hills Council will sponsor a movie April 25, "Executive Action," concerning the Kennedy assassination, will be shown on the outdoor screen if weather permits, or in the activity room.

Brian Auger and The Trinity brought notoriety to Auger in the United States and England. After Driscoll left the Trinity, Auger reorganized the group, and it simply became Brian Auger and the Trinity.

In mid-1970, Auger signed with RCA records and his first two albums were titled, "Before" and "Brian Auger's Oblivion Express." Oblivion Express became the name of Auger's new group, which has since released two additional albums, "Closer To It" and "Straight Ahead."

Ethos (Arduor) is an American group which has appeared in concert with such acts as Alice Cooper, YES, King Crimson, Black Oak Arkansas and The Byrds. The range of the group's material borders on the modes of jazz, rock, classical and particularly electronic musical expression. Ethos (Arduor) is the only group currently touring which features all four members playing separate keyboard instruments.

'De Profundis' to highlight SIU Chorale spring concert

The SIU Chorale, under the conductorship of Dan Pressley, assistant professor of music, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Thursday in the St. Francis Xavier Church. The concert is admission free and the public is invited to attend.

The Chorale's performance in Carbondale comes two days after the group's appearance at the Ft. Massac Arts Association premier concert in Metropolis Tuesday evening, according to Pressley. The compositions performed here will vary from those performed in Metropolis, he said.

Pressley said the highlight of Thursday evening's concert will be the performance of both Schoenberg's and Gluck's "De Profundis," two interpretations of the same text. The Schoenberg composition was written in 1961, and is prophetic of future chorale writing, Pressley said.

Also scheduled to be performed is Stravinsky's "Ave Maria," Zim-merman's "Motet II," Ravel's "Trois Chansons" and Gibbons' "The Silver Swan." The Chamber Choir, which is comprised of 15 singers and musicians from the chorale, will also be featured during the concert.

This SIU Chorale concert will be their first appearance here since last fall. Since then, the group has been performing throughout Illinois, including a January performance at the International Music Educator's Association convention in Chicago.

Aviation frat to give award, hold banquet

Arthur Godfrey, the "old red-head" of show business and radio fame, will fly into Carbondale to join members of SIU's Sigma chapter of Alpha Eta Rho, international aviation fraternity at their annual banquet Saturday, in the Student Center.

Godfrey, a 40-year veteran of flying, will be honored with the chapter's annual recognition award.

Godfrey has more than 60,000 hours recorded as solo or command pilot in airplanes ranging from his personal Beech Baron to DC-10 and Boeing 747 jetliners.

According to E. A. DaRosa, chairman of aviation technologies division at the School of Technical Careers (STC), Godfrey helped arrange a "substantial" 1968 gift of aircraft engines, fuel injection units and instructional mockups from Continental Air Cooled Engines Co. to the aviation technology program.

A within-chapter award for best active member will also be given to Godfrey.

T. Richard Mager, SIU vice-president for development and services will act as master of ceremonies for the banquet, which will also be the 1975 annual meeting of Wings of Hope, an aviation charity group which operates mainly in Central and South America.

A dance will follow the banquet in Student Center Ballrooms B, C and D.

Tickets for the banquet are $5.75 each.

Society starts new chapter for horticulturalists

A new honorary fraternity for students interested in floriculture and ornamental horticulture was officially chartered recently when 17 plant and soil students were installed as members.

The group, the Sigma chapter of Pi Alpha Xi, is open to students with "high scholastic standing and a professional interest in the subject," said Nancy Gannon, Plant and Soil Science Club president.

A three-step process prior to chartering was necessary, Gannon said. First, a petition was circulated among the plant and soil students to show interest among students, then a letter of approval from the dean was sent to the national organization and finally, copies of the plant and soil curriculum were mailed to the organization headquarters for approval.

Gerald Coorts, Plant and Soil Science Department chairman, and Raymond Maleike, assistant professor, members of the national fraternity, are acting as advisors for the new organization, she said.

Lecture tapes to be ready by end of Spring

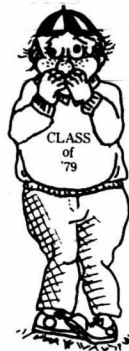

Fifteen one-half hour taped lectures are being produced by SIU Broadcast Services for use in classes on campus.

SIU faculty members are working with the Radio-TV and Instructional Materials departments in preparing the taped lesson.

Lessons in psychology, geography and political science are currently being taped. Lessons for many other subjects are also being planned.

Doug Bedient of the Instructional Materials Department said that the television projects should be completed by the end of spring semester. He added that when the TV projects are finished, they will be shown in various classes on campus and could, possibly, be distributed to some cable TV stations.

Originally, $17,090 was funded for the project with the money coming out of the Academic Excellence Fund. However, the total needed for the project will be higher than originally estimated because student worker salaries have increased since the budget was first prepared, Bedient said.

The council, composed of 21 faculty members, three graduate students and six undergraduates, serves as an advisory body to the dean of Liberal Arts. Ten of the faculty positions are open. All of the student seats are open.

Students with declared majors in Liberal Arts may vote in the main office of their departments. Students with undeclared majors may vote at the Liberal Arts Academic Office in Faner room 1229, entrance seven.

Write-in votes will be accepted. Requirements for student election are good academic standing and attendance at SIU in the 1974-75 academic school year. Elected students may apply for a tuition remission.

The first meeting of the newly elected council will be May 8. The council meets once a month.

Research team offers salaries to part-timers

The Illinois Public Interest Research Group (IPIRG), a volunteer organization which conducts research in student affairs, has been forced to offer part-time jobs with salary to bolster its membership.

IPIRG's total membership this year has never exceeded five.

"It's easier to get people involved when there's money involved," explained Jim Gambel, IPIRG secretary.

The three jobs offered are for committee chairpersons who will be responsible for research on various IPIRG projects. Though the jobs are offered through the student-work office, the funding comes from the current IPIRG budget.

Road rally needs drivers, navigators

The American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) will sponsor a road rally at 2 p.m. Sunday. Drivers will meet in the Arena parking lot at 1 p.m. for pre-registration followed by a 1:30 meeting.

The "scenic road rally" will take approximately three hours of driving through 75 miles of Jackson and Williamson counties' most scenic areas. The cost is $3 per car.

A road rally is not a race but requires navigation and timing in driving between checkpoints. Each car should have a navigator and a driver.

Proceeds will go to ASID to help sponsor student trips to Cleveland, Ohio in spring, 1976 to view an Interior Design Institute.

Prizes will be given to the top three cars along with a case of beer to the winner.

Friday's activities will be highlighted by a 12:30 p.m. luncheon attended by President Warren W. Brandt and Victor C. Uchendu, director of African Studies at the University of Illinois. Uchendu will also speak in Davis Auditorium at 2 p.m. on "The Changing Relations Between Africans and Afro-Americans."

An informal discussion headed by Walter Robinson, assistant professor of rehabilitation, is also planned for 6 p.m. in the basement of Grinnel Hall.

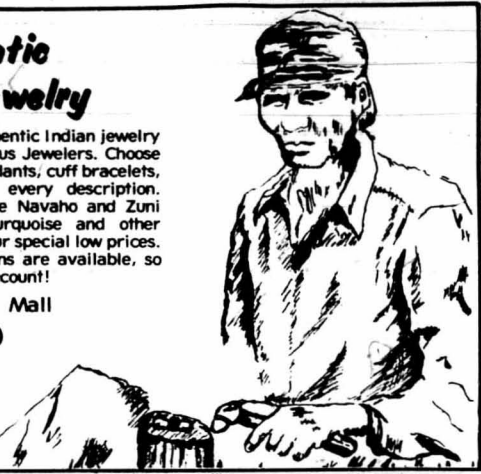

Saturday at 4 p.m., Uchendu will speak on the "Challenge of African Development" followed by a free dinner at 6 p.m. which will feature a variety of African dishes.

Activities will conclude with a dance in the University complex at 10 p.m. The student body is welcome to attend all activities.

Inter-fraternal Council plans SIU Greek Week festivities

By Peggy Sagona
Student Writer

Greek Week is an annual tradition at SIU and other universities to give the Greek system a degree of visibility and a sense of unity, said Eric Priest, adviser to the Inter-Fraternal Council.

Setting aside a week with this purpose in mind is an attempt to get the Greeks to work together and is also a good opportunity for the student body to visualize the Greek system, said Priest.

Priest considers Greek Week "quite an accomplishment." He said that the students do all the work. Nancy Harris, coordinator of fraternities and sororities, serves as an adviser.

The events for Greek Week are as follows:

On Friday Panhellenic Council will sponsor Woman's Career Day; Delta Epsilon will sponsor a goat's pud party at 2 p.m. The profits go to the Special Olympics. Beer and hot dogs for refreshments will be available.

On Saturday, a walk-a-thon for Archway School will be from 8 a.m. till noon. Sigma Kappa sorority will sponsor a comical track meet for the sororities from 1 to 2 p.m. behind Small Group Housing. Also that day, Inter-Greek Council will sponsor two bands at Giant City from 1 to 6 p.m. The bands will be Dixie Diesels and T. Harp Duo. The bands will be located at the first shelter. Shuttle buses will be provided for transportation by Inter-Greek Council.

On Sunday, the Inter-Fraternity Council will sponsor a track meet from 1 to 6 p.m. at McAndrew Stadium. "Greek Sing" will be at 8 p.m. in Ballroom B of the Student Center.

On Monday and Tuesday, Delta Epsilon will sponsor a sorority softball tournament at Small Group Housing. The games will start at 3 and 5 p.m.

On Wednesday, Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity will sponsor "farmer's follies" for sororities. It will consist of a cow milking contest, milk chugging contest, greased pig contest, tricycle race, wheelbarrow race and other activities. It will be held at Small Group Housing.

On Thursday Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity will sponsor a bar race. A representative from each fraternity will stop at each check point bar, chug a beer and the first one back wins. A Harvard chugging contest for men and a Radcliff chugging contest for women will follow the race. Afterward, Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity will hold a party at its house on Poplar Street.

On Friday, May 2, will be the Special Olympics, a project that Inter-Greek Council voted to participate in as one of their major projects for the semester.

On Saturday, May 3, will be "Sigma Shenanigans" sponsored by Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority for fraternities at 2 p.m. at Small Group Housing.

On Sunday, May 4, will be the Inter-Greek Council Awards Banquet.

The Greeks also are sponsoring a "Welcome Festival" for all high school seniors that have been admitted to SIU for the coming academic year. The festival will take place May 2 through 4.

The idea behind "Welcome Festival" is to give students an idea of what the SIU campus has to offer them.

The sororities and fraternities will provide housing for the seniors during the festival.

Sunday, May 4, a dance will be held from 7 to 11 p.m. at Small Group Housing for participants of the festival.

General Studies adds tapes, slides to classes

C.R. Craighead
Student Writer

Slides and taped music recently have been added to the list of tools used by advisers in the General Studies department.

Audio-visual programs are being used for the first time this spring as part of the new-student days held for high school seniors planning to attend SIU.

"We hope it is a way to make more students aware of what is expected of them," said Janice L. Yates, assistant to the director of General Studies.

The program begins with a 15-minute orientation slide show explaining the requirements of the General Studies department. An additional 15 minutes is then allotted for questions.

A second 15-minute show features a student going through the step-by-step procedure of registering and processing his forms.

After seeing the slide shows, each student has a 30-minute appointment with his adviser to plan out his schedule.

Reactions to the new program have been good from both students and advisers, Yates said.

"It gives the advisers more time to individualize each advisement appointment," she explained, "so that they can get to know the students, rather than repeating the list of General Studies requirements over and over."

The slide shows will be used extensively during the new-student days this summer, when the program will be run twice a day for seven weeks.

"It will make orientation consistent," said Yates, "All students will have access to the same information."

The slide shows were designed and photographed by the Learning Resource Center.

Beau lacks etiquette, though filled with facts

By Joanne Hollister
Student Writer

Beauregard is well liked by fellow workers at the SIU Law Library, but not for his sociability. He's not much on conversation. His face is a blank.

But for all that, he's a veritable computer of information.

That's because Beau is a computer—or, more accurately, an on-line cataloging computer terminal.

He is part of the Ohio College Library Center (OCLC), a cataloging process subscribed to by SIU. The main computer is based in Columbus, Ohio.

The OCLC retains bibliographic information on each book registered into its cataloging system. If a library has a book it wishes to catalog, a clerk can punch out the first four Library of Congress call numbers and/or the first four letters of the title. Beauregard's face (actually his cathode ray tube) will light up with the cataloged information.

The library clerk can edit the information on the screen to fit the needs of the individual library. When the information is complete, an order is placed with OCLC. Within a week to ten days, a packet of cards arrives, ready to be placed in catalog drawers.

"This saves us the time of having to catalog each book ourselves," Law Library clerk Susan Knetzger said. "This way, it takes maybe 10 minutes to catalog a book, when before it would literally take hours."

Included on each card is the number as it is cataloged in the OCLC system, a description of information in the book, a sub-head, and other basic bibliographic information.

The idea of the computer system is to slow down the rise in costs of cataloging books.

Geologist sets public lectures

Paul E. Potter, professor of geology at the University of Cincinnati, will give two lectures Thursday and Friday, in Parkinson 204.

Potter will speak at 2 p.m. Thursday on "Big Rivers: Their Petrology and Origin," and at noon Friday on "Clay Mineralogy of Modern Alluvial Muds of the Mississippi River Basin." Both lectures are being sponsored by the SIU Graduate Student Council and will be open to the public.

Bifocal or single vision contact lenses can be fitted now with the aid of a computer. Bifocal lens has no segment or line to distort the vision and looks like a single vision lens.

With the use of a PhotoElectric Keratometer called PEK where a photograph of the eye is made. The photo, along with the prescription is sent to the Visual Delta Center in Chicago where they are put into a computer. The computer calculates the structure, size, tear layer and the RX required.

The advantage of the lens is usually more comfort and longer initial wearing time.

AFROTC sets awards dinner Friday night

The Air Force ROTC detachment at SIU will hold its annual dining-out and awards program Friday evening in the Student Center Ballrooms.

Maj. Gen. Ralph S. Saunders, commander of Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., will be the guest speaker. A veteran pilot, Gen. Saunders has under his command more than 200 aircraft available for rescue-recovery operations in different locations throughout the world.

The 7 p.m. dinner will be preceded by a half-hour social gathering. Twenty-four ROTC cadets will receive awards for military leadership and scholastic achievement.

Traditionally, the event was called a "dining-in," indicating an all-male affair, according to Col. James R. Fenn, ROTC commander at SIU. Now it is called "dining-out" to encourage wives to attend and enjoy the festivities.

Delta Upsilon slates Greek Week kickoff

The fourth annual Goat's Pud Party, a benefit for the May 2 Special Olympics sponsored by Delta Upsilon fraternity, will be held on Friday outside of the fraternity's house at 705 W. Main St.

The party is open to faculty, administration, students and area residents. Beer and hot dogs will be sold with all profits going to the Special Olympics.

Alan Jacobson, committee chairman for the party, said the fraternity expects to raise $200 to $300 to donate on behalf of Delta Upsilon and Inter-Greek Council.

The party will start at 2 p.m. and last well into the evening, Jacobson said. A beer truck will be distributing beers which will cost either 20 cents for 12 ounces or 25 cents for 16 ounces, he said.

"In the past we have just tried to break even, but this year we want to make some money to donate to the Special Olympics," Jacobson said.

"We'll be giving out our traditional 'Goat's Pud' award for any group or organization having the most people there," Jacobson said. Past winners include Wilson Hall, Alpha Gamma Rho and Alpha Gamma Delta.

"Last year we had about 600 people and this year we expect about 800," Jacobson said. "We're the only fraternity I know of that throws an all-campus party every year."

This year the Goat's Pud Party will kick off Greek Week.

Lake festival to be held on May 3 at SIU

The annual SIU Lake Fest will be Saturday, May 3 at the Lake-On-the-Campus boat dock. Events planned for the fest include canoe races, cardboard boat races and swimming competition.

"This is the first year the women's intramural program has participated in the fest, said Jean Paratore, director of women's intramurals. "The fest is held every year and this year we are jointly participating with the men's program."

The intramural competition races will be conducted from 10 a.m. to noon. A two-man race, a two-woman race, and a mixed couple race compose the intramural activities planned.

The Design Department is conducting the cardboard canoe race. Students design and build their own boats for the race. This event will be held from 12 to 4 p.m.

Bob Steele, a physical education instructor of special programs, will conduct the Southern Illinois swim competition. The swim action is planned for 3:30 to 6 p.m.

Herrin car dealer receives plaque for aiding handicapped

By Pat Corcoran
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer
For his service to handicapped students, a Herrin car dealer was awarded a commemorative plaque by SIU President Warren W. Brandt in a ceremony Tuesday.

Clyde Brewster, owner of Brewster Motors in Herrin, was given the plaque for contributions to handicapped students and driver's education. Andrew McDonald Sr., evaluation and development coordinator who administers the driver's education program, said Brewster has supplied cars for regular drivers and special cars for handicapped students.

"He supplied not only the car for handicapped students but also helped us in getting the hand con-

Students need new ATC form for fall jobs

SIU student workers who plan to continue their education in the fall must fill out a new ACT Family Financial Statement as soon as possible, said Charles E. Gray, assistant to the director at the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office.

"The ACT Family Financial Statement is filled out every year, regardless of whether the student is just starting work or has worked previously," Gray said.

The student faces the possibility of losing his or her job if the matter isn't taken care of properly at least prior to the end of the current semester, said Gray. No set deadline has been given yet by the Student Work Office.

Gray said that notices are attached to the student pay checks recommending that the individual fill out the form.

trols which allow handicapped students to operate the car," McDonald said. Brewster expressed helpfulness, which the center did not receive from other area car dealers, McDonald said.

Brandt made the presentation at the Evaluation and Development Center in the University City Municipal complex. Brewster gave Brandt the keys to a 1975 Ford for use at the center.

"This is an example of when a university uses all of its resources and still can't quite make it without the support of concerned citizens in the community," Brandt said.

McDonald noted that the driver's education program will serve the entire community, and handicapped citizens in particular.

"It is an expansion of a previous program and is designed to make the handicapped citizen more employable by making him more mobile," McDonald said.

After the presentation, a luncheon was held in Brewster's honor.

Beg pardon

Last Wednesday's wheelchair billiard tournament at the Student Center was won by Stephen Cregue of Chicago, not by Leon Sturtz, as Saturday's Daily Egyptian had reported.

Sturtz finished second, and Tony Naples, an able-bodied student competing from a wheelchair for the first time, finished third.

How do we do it? Through sheer volume. Our giant box-like store sells more beer, wine, and liquor than any other liquor store south of Springfield.

We may be a few miles away from the crowd, but that doesn't seem to matter. We have steady customers from 100 miles around.

SIU wins

The SIU rugby team pulled another upset last weekend, twice defeating Illinois at Champaign.

In the A game, the Illini led at the half, 8-0. But in the second half SIU took control, as Scott McClain intercepted an Illinois pass and passed to Reed Baron to make the score 8-4. Then Jim Elderton kicked two field goals to make the final score 10-8, SIU.

In the B game, Jeff Coonrod tallied the only score of the game, as the Salukis won 4-0.

Next weekend SIU plays host to Fort Campbell, Ky., across from Abe Martin Field. Game time is 1 p.m.

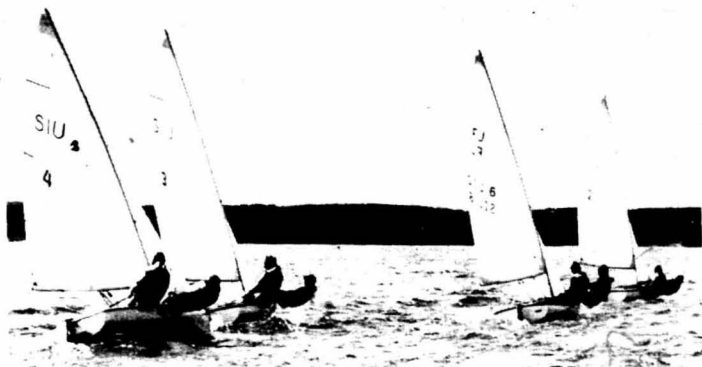

Gary Zintak, senior in administrative sciences, compiled 13 points for first place by sailing identical sets of two first, one second and one third place finishes. Second place Indiana compiled 16.5 points.

"It was really a great weekend here. The weather was fine and we had nice wind. Usually for our regattas, there is never any wind," said Jim Griffin, club commodore. The weather at Drake was a little different though, said Klaus Trieb, SIU A fleet skipper. The winds were blowing about 20 knots, with gusts to 40, and there were wind shifts every 30 seconds.

"The first race wasn't a race, it was a test of survival," Trieb said. "We had a long lunch break and while we were eating it started to snow. Everyone went to a laundromat to dry their clothes."

The B fleet skipper at Drake was the club treasurer, Rus VerNooy and that fleet compiled 51 points in 12 races.

At the start of the seventh race at SIU, the wind picked up so much that the boat with the Xavier team was dismasted and the Race Committee postponed the last two races until Sunday morning, said Griffin.

Diamondmen topple Hilltoppers twice

By Ron Sutton
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

It takes a thief. Unless you have the hitting ability of a Frank Hunsaker, the throwing arm of a Dan Herbst or the all-around stability of a Jim Locascio, you need speed to play for Itchy Jones.

The rest of the lineup had it—including Wayne Rueger who started in place of Herbst—and the result was the "theft" of a 6-1, 5-4 doubleheader over visiting Western Kentucky.

Bert Newman was the top culprit in a 13-stolen-bases attack, and his final one in the sixth inning of the nightcap keyed the sweep.

He walked leading off the frame, which started at 4-4, and advanced all the way to third when catcher Jim Feix fired the ball toward the centerfielder. With one away, dependable Steve Shartzter lifted a fairly deep fly to center, and Newman easily beat a good throw by centerfielder Steve Keck to the plate with the winning run.

"This team is perhaps a better baserunning one that I've had before," said Saluki coach Itchy Jones, who has had nothing but running teams since his arrival at SIU in 1970. "We're still not hitting the ball real well, but we're still running with good speed and helping ourselves get in scoring position."

"We've only had one runner thrown out since the spring trip," Jones said, "and we ran well there, too. We've always run well. I think in our 20-or-so games at the College World Series, we've only been thrown out once."

Never, though, has stealing bases been easier than it was Tuesday. After the Salukis had swiped eight bases in four innings in the opener against Wally Moss, the Hilltoppers replaced him with Feix, who "held" them to four the rest of the day.

But speed was helping in other ways. Down 4-1 in the fourth inning of the nightcap, the Salukis erupted with three runs—again based on speed—to even the score. Hunsaker, who ranks on the other end of the speed spectrum, reached second when rightfielder Terry Tedder misjudged his fly ball, starting the rally.

John Hoscheidt then scored him while legging out a triple to left-center, and Locascio's fly ball to left was enough to score him, making it 4-3.

Then Rueger—starting in leftfield, with Shartzter at first and Hunsaker catching—lined a shot to left-center which the diving Keck couldn't reach. He circled the bases, although only being credited with a triple, since the short-stop's bobble of the relay was ruled an error.

Jim Kessler, who relieved Bill Dunning in the second inning, picked up his fourth win in four decisions, best on the team, along with Ron Hodges, whose win in the opener put him at 7-1.

Hodges, who finished with a four-hitter, fell behind 1-0 in the third on Howie Mitchell's throwing error, but the Dogs came right back with four in their half of the inning.

Newman opened with a single and swiped second, then, worked a double steal with Mitchell after the latter walked. Shartzter drove in one run with a bouncer over the third baseman, before, with one away, Hoscheidt and George Vukovich walked, forcing in another.

Locascio's liner to left brought in the third run, and the fourth scored on Rueger's fielder's choice. An error led to the Salukis' fourth inning run, and two wild pitches brought Mitchell around in the sixth.

Friday Jim Adkins will start against Oral Roberts in the third game of the 13-game homestand which concludes the regular season. Hodges and Robin Derry will start the Saturday doubleheader against the Titans.

Women top SEMO, 11-4

By Martha Sanford
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

The women's softball team bounced back from Sunday's two losses to defeat visiting Southeast Missouri State, 11-4, Tuesday afternoon.

The Salukis came to bat after retiring SEMO's first three batters to score nine runs in the first inning.

Pat Matrecci and Nancy Rist walked and Marla Julian loaded the bases with a single. Then Jan Winkler singled to drive in the first run. Vicki King walked, and Julian was safe at home on a fielders choice for two more runs.

Hits by Denise Kelly, Carolyn Brady and Matrecci drove in three more, with the bases still loaded. To take advantage of the situation, Rist then hit a grand slam to push the score to 9-0.

SEMO managed to score one run in the second on a home run and one run in the third.

Salukas King and Gail Moschino then scored in the sixth, before SEMO mounted a small comeback in the seventh with two more runs, one another homer.

Carolyn Brady, the winning pitcher, only gave up four hits, while the Salukis scored their 11 runs on eight hits.

Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said she was "pleased that the hitting has picked up. I think they played a real good game."

For the second team, however, the story was almost reversed, as it lost to SEMO's second team, 14-3.

SEMO's hitting was pretty even, scoring in all but two innings. The Salukis scored two in the third inning and then looked as if they might threaten in the sixth with the bases loaded, but only scored one run in the inning.

"We knew SEMO's team would be strong hitters, but this game they played quite well," said Brechtelsbauer.

The Saluki third team will play John A. Logan this Saturday, with the first and second team finishing their season May 3 against Western Illinois at Macomb.

Sutton Death

Women can act now or pay later

By Ron Sutton
Daily Egyptian Sports Editor

Hindsight is always clearer.

Just ask Richard Nixon, who wishes now that he had become a sportswriter.

Not that he's alone. How many times have we heard, "If I had it all to do over again, I'd do this or that..."?

But foresight doesn't have to be a blur either. With a little care there, it can make hindsight a pat on the back instead of a kick in the pants.

That's right where the women's sports programs stand as of now. The fork in the road still looms ahead, with one branch leading to what the men's programs developed into early and the other leading to what it is now: Winner takes all (except his pride, sometimes).

Some of the remarks from those involved in women's sports at SIU have been encouraging, giving the picture that the program might be headed toward the fun-and-games attitudes of men's sports of the past. Other remarks are not so encouraging.

The women say that, in some respects, they don't want the same setup that the men now "enjoy." They don't want scouts, and they still see scholarships as play-for-school-financing instead of play-for-pay. Rah! Yeah! Sis-Boom-Bah! and all that other cheerleader lingo.

Except for one hangup—the women would prefer not to have male coaches. Now, that's not unfair or senseless, but their reasoning is a little scary. They would prefer a woman coach because of the "high emotional factor involved."

Does that mean the women already are in a situation of do-or-die emotions concerning their sports? Are they already too far down the road to all work, no-play? Do they already get all strung up when something goes wrong? That's not what sports was meant to be, is it?

This may sound idealistic, but what happened to the thrill of competition, instead of the thrill of win, win, win? Idealism is acceptable until realism proves it impossible, and the latter can't be the case with women's sports, which are still in their infant years.

Some women's sports obviously are already caught up in the swirl of "win, win, win." Women's tennis on the professional level has become a money maker comparable with many of the male sports, and with it have come the more and more extensive emotional impacts on the players.

Just this week, Billie Jean King—excuse me, Ms. Billie Jean King—lost a big match to Chris Evert. Now some deep disappointment certainly was in order, especially since a line judge perhaps blew a big call, but her remarks were ridiculous.

Concerning the line judge, her verbal repertoire included such dandies as "I could kill him," "If I met him, I'd wring his neck, I'm so mad" and other assorted gems.

Now, granted, those idle remarks are thrown around every day by people who aren't serious. However, they are not the run-of-the-mill comments of someone who lost, yet enjoyed the game.

Is that where women athletes wish to end up? I rather doubt it. I think they'd have a lot more fun turning the other direction—entering into their own Gashouse Gang era or some such thing.

Dizzy Dean was able to enjoy the game like few men have since. He still made his money too—and not by singing "The Wabash Cannonball," either.
