The following year he began a two-year stint as line coach at Western Illinois, in Moline, before moving on to Washburn University in Topeka, Kan.

In 1963, his second year as head coach at Washburn, his team posted a 5-4 record for its first winning season in 12 years. The next year, Washburn finished with an 8-1 record and was ranked ninth in the country for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics schools.

He moved on to the University of Kansas last year to take over as a defensive assistant.

Lost City Ramblers Are 'Honest';
Keep Diversified Audience Happy

By John Goodrich

It took them a while to come on stage, but when they finally made it, the New Lost City Ramblers were superb in Shryok Auditorium Saturday night.

Sometimes it takes a certain mood and a certain type of person to enjoy folk singing, but the trio of Ramblers dressed simply and played simply and had that universal capacity of good musicians to entertain a diverse audience.

One thing you noticed in the audience right away was the number of bearded and long-haired youths. There were equal numbers of well-dressed students and faculty.

Some were perhaps overdressed, wearing coats and ties, and a similar number wore sweaters and skirts or slacks.

It didn't matter how you dressed, though, because of the folk singers' attitude toward the people who sat before them. They were unassuming in their self-introductions, when they described the story behind each song; the piece they were about to play, and most of all, when they simply said "thank you" to the applauding and appreciative audience.

They were dressed in different textured olive suits, without coats. They played different instruments, too, each in a "popular" style.

Shryok is a difficult place to perform when it is not filled to capacity. It was not much over half-filled Saturday, but the Ramblers could project and they didn't sound feeble, either.

The various songs were given proper moods by stage lighting that ranged from happy reds and yellows to a deep, mournful blue. On a few occasions one or another performer would miss his cue, but you couldn't tell if it was accidental or purposeful, because they were frequently kidding each other about cues and tuning their instruments for upcoming songs.

"Honesty" describes the trio in a word, and their honesty lasted right to the end of their two-hour performance — even afterwards, when they sold their albums in the orchestra pit.

More performers of the likes of Mike Seeger's Tracy Schwartz and John Cohen will be appreciated at SIU.

Botany Films to Be Featured in Morris Library

Botany films are being featured this week at the noon-hour movies being shown at 12:10 'o'clock in Morris Library Auditorium.

Wednesday's presentation features the film "The Flowering Plants," which describes the structural and reproductive characteristics which distinguish angiosperms from other plants.

On Thursday "The Growth of Plants" will be shown. This 8-minute color movie illustrates the dynamics of the plant growth process, and shows how plant cell division, elongation and differentiation assure both stem and root growth.

'Bacteria' is the title of Friday's film. It demonstrates the basic characteristics of bacteria.

WASHINGTQN'S BIRTHDAY
Death to Him Who Wars Up Our Woof!

He did it, again!

That editor of the Sparta News-Plaindealer has jumped on our Salukis once more, it’s plain to see that we may have to take some drastic action. I’m sure our friend up in Sparta, that notorious story of Elijah Parrish Lovejoy, the courageous and brilliant editor who was killed defending his press from a mob of frenzied racists.

If that editor keeps getting on our dogs he also may be immortalized in journalism.

Same Ol’ Problem: Making Up Minds

Have any classes you don’t like? Don’t do it! (After all, who ever heard of dislike courses?) But if you do and are pleased to change classes, you’d best act soon. You may even want to drop classes without paying a $4 fee for each class change.

It isn’t that the University figures to make big money on slow changing students, but it is a fact that we must work together to make our minds about classes by the end of next week so that we’re bringing the children up to follow in our footsteps.

“Let slip the dogs of war,” said Burydown Datta and Omrah (our favorite Salukis), quoting Shakespeare and growing impatient.

Burydown bellowed, “That man wants to see us turned out into the cold like common mongrels. My ancestors rubbed elbows with the Pharaohs of Egypt and this man wants to see us forgotten.”

Omrah then looked at her husband and cooed, “That’s my Burydown. You tell him how proud we are to be the University mascots and that we’re bringing the children up to follow in our footsteps.”

“I’ve a good mind to call the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (and Salukis) to lock that fellow up,” Burydown snarled.

“Calm yourself, old fellow. I’m sure that editor means us no harm. He’s just meaning, ‘It’s all in good fun,” said someone in the small crowd that had assembled to discuss the situation.

Burydown, shaking his sleek body, murmured, “Well, we’ll let it pass this time, but if that fellow keeps kicking us up a fuss about we’ll have to take some drastic action... R-R-RUFF!”

Jed Rapetti

Writer Beefeated at Rapetti; Cites ‘Defense of Vigilance’

To the editor:

In the Feb. 11 issue one of your editors produced an ingenuous defense of vigilance. He asked his readers to engage in name­ calling, and to take sides with the position expressed by an oppo­nent of a student who was one of the half of the students voting in a particular referendum agree with or not agree with a particular issue.

Apparently Rapetti did not accept the law, which in this case clearly establishes the right of a president to veto measures with which he disagrees. The fact that Palcido did not exercise this right, but clearly expressed his disagreement with the bill before signing it, is irirrevocable.

The point is that the writer for this page did not consider the expression of dissent with the expressed opinion of the majority to be improper. Logically such a position would imply that Rapetti himself would be denied the right to express any attitude on any question, and hence he first polled the student body.

And having done so he would be obliged to articulate only what I was permitted as a member of the college and receive more—30 per cent of the voting student body. Assuming that a proposal requiring students under the age of 19 to wear uniforms to class were to pass by a vote of 51 per cent to 49 per cent, would Rapetti himself remain silent?

history for defending the press from a mob of frenzied college students and a brace of Saluki dogs.

“To let slip the dogs of war,” said Burydown Datta and Omrah (our favorite Salukis), quoting Shakespeare and growing impatient.

International Relations Stem From Individuals

To the editor:

In an era when man has reached beyond his earthly domain toward the moon, explored the ocean depths and charted the movements of heavily stary stars, it is starkly ironic that convictions that should be fitfully and mis­ erroneously, in his relations with other men. The consequences are at times disastroum, when they need not be.

The deterioration of international relations stems essentially from the inability of man to comprehend fully his place in the social order and properly relate himself with others.

Many words have been said about the quest for international understanding and peace—that Holy Grail of every well-meaning leader, group and citizen. So much has been agonizingly put on the institutional and group level, towards achieving harmony between mutual na­tions. Some men, some na­tions, have lived in friendly and peaceful relations.

But too many have failed at this quest. It is logical to assume that nations have lived in friendly and peaceful relations.

The fruits of our ideals were best expressed perhaps by the Indian poet, internationalist and “citizen of the world” Rabindranath Tagore, thus:

When one knows thee, then art thou.

Oh, how many have failed at this quest. It is logical to assume that nations.

The problem is still and always will be rooted in human nature—subject to the virtues and weaknesses of the individual man. It therefore, depends upon the individual, each of whom is to be able to extend our hands to those who are misguided and to help them find the truth. It is logical to assume that nations.

IBM ‘Replies’ To Registrant

Dear B6747 (Mike Weintraub):

I read with considerable interest your article which appeared in the Daily Egyptian on Feb. 18.

You remarks concerning registration will not go unnoticed or unanswered. I have decided to make an example of you for having the audacity to even question the inherent infallibility of a computer­ oriented University system.

Please be advised that the following policy will be effective immediately. Thirty­ seven books have been checked out of the library in your name. Your fee records have been loaned and this indicates to me that you owe $76.34.

The Daily Egyptian has received an order in your name to send a copy of the school paper to all our overseas students. This amounts to $20 per day for the entire next three weeks.

And last but not least, you may receive a copy of this paper yourself overseas, for I have lowered your grade point to 0.5. I hope you will enjoy this opportunity to read the opinions of others.

Happy 1-a, fellow.

With malice towards none,

IBM-7040

Reactions Sampled

At least two Big Ten schools, Michigan State and Indiana have recently completed surveys gathering students’ reactions to their student government.

At Indiana, the senate committee making the survey has already presented suggestions to the administra­tion and faculty members.

At MSU, the survey revealed that students have a knowledge of services like the legal aid clinic or student discount cards. In addition, although freshman and sophomore women indicated by a two-to­ one margin that they wanted to participate in student government, male and junior and senior women said they were less likely to do so, also by a two to one margin.

At Minnesota, a similar survey described by the student government determine why many projects receive more support, why some programs are more popular than others and why students hold the attitudes they do about the government itself. Constituest views are always valuable.

Rockets Now Tested In Old Logging Area

By Ronald Thompson
AP Aerospace Writer

PIGAYUNE, Miss. (AP) — Rich in virgin pine forests, the section of southern Mississippi adjoining the muddy Pearl River seemed at the turn of the century to have been blessed with an endless source of raw materials for the thriving communities which were being built on the banks of the river, reigned as the hub of the logging industry that sent a steady stream of lumber to the Gulf of Mexico.

But it was the old story of too much, too fast. The forests along the river were soon worked out. The thriving communities withered, became poor fishing and hunting villages—until the space age came along.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided that the backwoods area around Gainesville was a choice location for testing the mammoth Saturn rockets intended to blast men to the moon.

So a $260 million establishment was carved from the woods and fields. In the process, centuries-old communities were wiped off the map.

The space agency purchased 13,000 acres of the old test facilities including the entire community of Gainesville. It took perpetual leases on their 128,000 surrounding acres to create a "buffer zone."

The Pearl River once again in playing an important role in the economic life of the area. It links the test facility with N.E. Michoud assembly plant in New Orleans, 40 miles away. The river is the "V" first stage — the world's largest rocket — is constructed.

The boosters from Michoud are carried across the river by a man-made channel, then up the river to a man-made canal that is 7 1/2 miles into the test facility.

Penetrating Study Recounts Tragic Lynching in Georgia

Harry Golden suggests in his foreword to this penetrating study of race prejudice in the South that there is a striking parallel in the stories of Leo Frank in Atlanta, Ga., and Alfred Dreyfus in France. Both were the victims of racial fanaticism. The American editor, Tom Watson, who whipped up the frenzy of a mob through his weekly editorials in his weekly Jeffersonian, was a blood brother of Edouard Drumont of Paris, who ranted against the Jews and represented the interests of the wealthy landlords. The great wave of reaction, marked by the imprisonment, signed his own death warrant as a political figure by the same stroke of his pen.

Ironically, the man who used the Frank case to rise to power, both in Georgia and nationally, became one of the tragic figures of the case. Tom Watson had been one of the founders of the Populist Party. In 1896 he was the party's nominee for vice president and in 1904 he headed the ticket. When the Populist movement went into the political wilderness, as it felt, it dropped out of sight and regained its political life, it was not as an issue to attack his enemies. It helped him spark the organization of the Ku Klux Klan and it enabled him to be elected governor of Georgia and United States Senator in 1920.

Golden succeeds in making his story of Leo Frank in Atlanta more than that, it is an illuminating study of a period in the history of the Deep South and the fears and hatreds that obsessed it then and persist today in the fight for civil rights for the Negro.

De Gaulle Poses Ultimatum To NATO Allies in France

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle confronted the United States and other Western Allies with this sharp military ultimatum Monday: After April 4, 1969, when in France, submit to French command. If not, he implied, the United States and all others must withdraw their armed forces from French soil.

De Gaulle, in his first talk with reporters since winning reelection to the presidency, spoke for 71 minutes to nearly 1,000 newsmen, aides and civil servants in Elysee Palace.

He asserted that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which he termed an American protectorate, had outraged its original purpose and usefulness. He again offered to replace it with bilateral accords but made it clear these would be strictly on French terms. "It is a question," he said, "of re-establishing a normal situation of sovereignty under which, whatever is French, on the ground, in the air, on the sea, and all French armed forces, and every foreign element which happens to be in France, will henceforth be subject only to the French authorities."

This seemed aimed at the sprawling Allied military command structure, including the Integrated Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, a European command headquartered at Fontainebleau, the vast American supply line across France, and various airbases in the country.

As De Gaulle put things, these would all have to come under French control by April 1969, or be moved to another country.

April 4, 1969, is the date when any of the 15 members of NATO can give notice of intention to withdraw from the alliance. De Gaulle's implication was clear: if necessary, France will withdraw from NATO and remove the legal basis for the presence of these bases and facilities on French soil.

De Gaulle spoke briefly but bitterly on the Vietnam conflict and warned that the adversaries there are not taking the road to peace.

One requisite, he asserted, was Birth Control Aid Support Increases

NEW YORK (AP)—Legislators prodded into action by the world population explosion and the tax burden of the prolific poor are starting to take a more liberal view of birth control.

The federal Office of Economic Opportunity has made grants totaling nearly $750,000 for family planning projects in a score of cities under the Economic Opportunity Act of 1965. Many applications are pending.

In obvious reference to America's refusal to recognize Communist China, he contat amid the opposing pow­ers, he said France, for its part, had established such contact, and he added, without mentioning China, "I am sure you all know what I mean."

He reiterated his position on Viet Nam—settlement there must be based on an end to all outside interference and on full neutrality.

Senate Hearings May Be Extended

WASHINGTON (AP)—Further public hearings on Viet Nam may be held by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated Monday.

Fulbright reported after a closed meeting of the committee that a decision was put off until Wednesday, but he said a majority of the members feel "there should be further hearings on overall policy."

The committee, whose hearings last week were broadcast nationally, relinquished the forum temporarily to the Senate which is debating an administration request for a supplemental $4.8 billion for the Viet Nam war.

Fulbright told newsmen he is in substantial agreement with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who said over the weekend that the United States should agree to accept a coalition South Vietnamese government in which the Communist Viet Cong would have a share of power and responsibility.

This brought adverse reaction from some administration officials, including Vice President Humphrey.

PENSIVE WITNESS—This photographic study of Secretary of State Dean Rusk was made during his defense and explanation of the Viet Nam policy when he appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

(Higher Education Schools

CHICAGO (AP)—The State College Board Monday took a stand against limiting capacity or size of state supported higher education schools.

Acting at the request of the Illinois Board of Higher Education to make a recommendation on proper size and capacity for such schools, the governing board adopted a resolution asserting belief "that the concept of orderly and systematic growth is paramount and that enrollment limits should not be placed on the institutions."

The college board approved insurance costs of three new colleges at Illinois State University, Normal; for liberal arts; Education and Applied Science and Technology. The recommendation goes to the Board of Higher Education.

The first president of Illinois Teachers College North, Chicago, the board decided, will be Jerome Sachs who has served as dean since 1962. The college formerly was under control of the Chicago Board of Education.

A committee was named to select a president for the south campus of the Chicago teachers' training institution.

Plans for a clinical office and lecture hall building at Northern were approved by the Board and bidding will be let for construction work April 13. The estimated cost is $4,285,000 to be financed by the Illinois Building Authority.

Contracts were awarded on construction of a nine-story women's residence for Eastern Illinois University at Charleston which will house 480 coeds and cost $2,850,000. The general construction work was given to J.D.P. Associates, Terre Haute, Ind., who bid $1,518,477 for the basic construction.

Another contract award of $579,000 for an addition to the heating plant at Western Illinois University, Macomb, was made to the Industrial Tank and Boiler Co., Chicago.

Sukarno Fires Foes of Reds In Indonesia

SINGAPORE (AP)—President Sukarno of Indonesia dismissed Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, chief of staff of the armed forces and defense minister, Monday in a power struggle with the armed forces, which have been purging Communists since the Reds tried a coup last October. Sukarno opposed the purge, which was aimed at "smack of trickery," and dismissed Nasution as minister and foreign minister. The new defense minister is Vice Adm. Marta Sarbini, the former army minister. Vice Adm. Marta Sarbini, the former army minister, also replaced the navy chief of staff. Also ousted was the former army minister. The president issued a statement last Tuesday that he had dismissed Sarbini in a power struggle with the Reds. The Reds have triumphed, at least for now, in their struggle to control the Indonesian army.

Wilson in Moscow For Top Parley

MOSCOW (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Wilson arrived Monday night in hopes of winning Blackhall's new bid to end the Viet Nam war—his second prospects seemed slender.

Wilson also has slated an attempt by President Alexei N. Kosygin to move forward the Afghan seizure. The armament accord. Wilson has in mind an extension of the first seven-year test treaty to include underground tests. The last test treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons.

In the sector of British-Soviet relations, Wilson hopes to win some Soviet orders for Britain's lagging aircraft industry. He wants to balance trade between the two countries which now find Britain buying around $280 million worth of Soviet goods yearly.

Meany Raps Wage Guides

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—At labor's bidding, President Meany said Monday the White House wage guidelines "smack of trickery," and told Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz that organized labor won't accept one-sided economic controls to curb inflation.

Wirtz said the Johnson administration was wrong to try to make voluntary wage-price restraint work because it doesn't want to impose outright federal controls.

Meany spoke at separate news conferences after Wirtz talked behind closed doors to the Executive Council of the 13-million member AFL-CIO, which has been showing signs of increasing discontent with some administration policies.

U.S. Troops Hit Reds In Coastal Operations

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. forces hit Communist positions with tear gas, B52 bombers, Navy guns and ground fighters Monday in two operations to snatch and destroy hard-core enemy regiments in a 50-mile stretch of South Vietnamese coastline.

Darkness fell before officials could determine the final results of perhaps the toughest blow yet in operations being carried out along the coast by the U.S. 1st Cavalry AirMobile Division and U.S. and South Vietnamese Marines.

At dusk, the South Vietnamese marines were reported successfully engaged with a Red force of about 400 men just south of U.S. Marine positions in Phuoc Long between the northern end of the coastal hunting ground. Details were lacking.

The day's heaviest attacks included the enemy 135 miles south of Dong Son.

Trading was active. Volume was 8,52 million shares compared with 8,49 million on Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 8.75 to 966.48, breaking a theoretical support level of around 970.

Humphrey Given Domestic Mission

MANILA (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will return home from his nine-month swing with a new mission—to alert the American people that Red China is a threat to peace in Asia.

Humphrey became known on the highest authority shortly after Humphrey arrived arrived Seventeen months ago to New Zealand for talks with President Ferdinand Marcos. Humphrey was watered out of the closely guarded airport without any sightseeing with a new mission—to alert the American people that Red China is a threat to peace in Asia.

"Dr. Zhivago," now the top honors this year in the academy, was once more nominated, this time for "The Sound of Music." Two other English actresses were nominated: Julie Christie for "Darling" and Samantha Eggar for "The Collector.

Another previous winner, Simone Signoret ("Room at the Top"); was picked for "Ship of Fools.

Sole American among the top actresses was Elizabeth Hartman for "A Patch of Blue."

Competing with them are Martin Balsam of "A Thousand Clowns" and dwarf Michael Dunn of "Ship of Fools.

Also representing the British Empire were two nominees for best supporting actress—Joyce Redman and Maggie Smith, both of "Othello."

The Laboratory of Applied Physiology has conducted a project to study the relationship between strength and endurance to muscles in different positions. The study, according to Jay Bower, professor of physiology, is primarily concerned with the development of new research techniques. An attempt is being made to determine if simple strength and endurance tests can be used to measure strength, instead of the more expensive equipment that is now being used.

Assisting in the program are members of Phi Eta Kappa, a social fraternity. Participating members visit the laboratory two or three times a week and do a few simple exercises that are measured on a 35-foot instrument developed for the project. The main purpose of the test is to ascertain the program did not finish, and we were left with very little data that we could record.

The results of the study may be put to use at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.
Meade's Gymnasts Win 2 Meets in 24 Hours

With astronauts Gordon Cooper watching from the ground, Southern's high-flying Salukis recorded their fourth consecutive victory by turning back the Air Force Academy 189-175,8 Saturday at Colorado Springs, Colo.

It was the second victory in 24 hours for the Salukis, who had defeated the University of Colorado Friday night in Boulder 187-167.35.

Southern finished first in every event against the Air Force except high bar, in which injured Rick Tucker finished second to Terry Higgins.

Tucker competed in that event with a badly sprained ankle suffered in the previous meet against Colorado. Tucker still managed a 9.0 which was just .6 point lower than Higgins at 9.6.

Frank Schmitz kept up his winning ways with winning scores of 9.35 in free exercise, 9.65 in trampoline and 9.35 in long horse. Mike Boeger was first in side horse with a 9.2, Ron Harstad first parallel bars with a 9.4 and Fred Dennis first in rings with a 9.5.

Southern had the top three finishers in free exercise, parallel bars and rings and the top four in trampoline.

Behind Schmitz in free exercise were Paul Mayer with a 9.4 and Steve Whittlock with a 9.1.

In parallel bars Larry Lin- dauer was second to Harstad with a 9.3, while Mauer was third with a 9.25 score.

In rings Dennis set the pace followed by Tom Cook with a 9.35 and Harstad with an 8.8.

In trampoline Schmitz grabbed the top four places, with Schmitz first, Dale Hardt second at 9.3, Harstad third at 8.7 and Brent Williams fourth at 7.85.

In the meet against Colorado, Southern won six of seven events, third in side horse, where Boeger finished second to the Buffalos' Jack Ryan.

Schmitz once again led with three wins, the second in free exercise, 9.4, and a win in side horse.

Tucker's 9.5 was good enough for first in high bar, Harstad was first in parallel bars with a 9.2 and Dennis, first in rings with a 9.65.

Southern had the top three finishers in free exercise, long horse and trampoline and the top two in parallel bars and free exercise.

In a trampoline Southern grabbed the first four positions.

The two victories increased Southern's total to 47 consecutive dual-meet wins. The Salukis will have two more meets this weekend, Friday night at second at 9.3, Hutch Dvorak Saturday afternoon at Louisiana State.

Gail Daley

Woman Gymnasts Gain Victory Over Twisters

Before every gymnastics meet, Gail Daley is positive that she will not be equal to the test.

Then, as the meet gets underway, Miss Daley calmly goes about her business and, more often than not, leads Southern's women gymnasts to victory.

Such was the case again. Friday night in the Arena as the gymnasts, behind three first-place finishers by Miss Daley, coasted to an easy 98.5-48.3 victory over the Oklahoma City Twisters.

Ignoring an ankle injury she suffered earlier in practice, Miss Daley's winning all-around score of 36.70 was based on a first-place score of 9.1 in uneven parallel bars and 9.05 in long horse vaulting, a second-place score of 9.35 in freestyle and a third-place score of 9.2 in balance beam. It was Miss Daley's third victory and second this season over Oklahoma City.

Miss Daley came in third this time, as she finished behind another Saluki, Donna Schaezner.

Miss Schaezner's all-around score of 36.65 was just .05 point behind her teammate, Miss Daley.

Miss Schaezner kept her record unbeaten in free exercise in six meets this season with a first-place score of 9.5. She was second in uneven bars and vaulting with respective scores of 9.35 and 8.85, and was ninth in balance beam with 8.95.

The Twisters' Miss Bailey, who has now defeated Miss Daley only once in five tries, was first in balance beam with a 9.25 and second in free exercise with a 9.35, but dropped to fourth in tumbling, balance beam and floor with scores of 9.2, 8.8 and 8.8.

Southern's Irene Haworth and Mary Ellen Thaxton each scored 8.85 in floor exercise and scored 8.8 and 8.6 respectively in all-around.

Sixth-grader Mildred Myrick, who has not qualified Miss Daley only once in five tries, was first in balance beam with a 9.25 and second in free exercise with a 9.35, but dropped to fourth in tumbling, balance beam and floor with scores of 9.2, 8.8 and 8.8.

Southern's Irene Haworth and Mary Ellen Thaxton each scored 8.85 in floor exercise and scored 8.8 and 8.6 respectively in all-around.

Sixth-grader Mildred Myrick, who has not qualified Southern may be the best basketball team in the remaining games at home, but on the road the Salukis are just another ball club.

Saturday's 85-83 loss to Indiana State was the fifth in 10 away games for the Salukis, who are unknown in 11 home games. This could be a crucial factor for Southern since the remaining three games are on the road against major colleges.

The Indiana State game was like no other Southern has played yet this year. The first half was extremely close before the Salukis took a 39-34 lead at intermission. The first half of the second half before the ninth Southern player took a 12-point lead at 57-45. The victory raised the Sycamore's record to 22-3 and was their 14th straight win at home.

The Salukis will carry a 16-5 record into tonight's game with Oklahoma State in Stillwater.

SIU Matmen Lose to Iowa State
But Not as Badly as Year Ago

Iowa State was victorious over the Salukis again this year in a dual meet at Ames, Iowa. The 25-11 loss was not as bad as the one the Cyclones handed the Salukis last year, however. In that meet, SIU was able to score only one decision.

In the meet held last weekend three SIU wrestlers won in decisions, and one draw. Team captain Don Schneider of SIU was a match winner, along with teammates Tony Kusmanoff and Larry Baron. The results:

10: Larry Baron of SIU decisioned Sam Espin, 8-1.
137: Don Schneider of SIU decisioned Dick Conley, 3-2.
145: Rich Wilhelm of Iowa State decisioned Tony Piersamani, 8-5.
152: Dave Stahle of Iowa State decisioned Jello Fuentes, 10-2.
185: Tony Kusmanoff of SIU decisioned Bob Buzzard, 7-5.
197: Vic Marcuccio of Iowa State decisioned Terry Appel, 8-0.
211: Tom Peckham of Iowa State won by default.
191: Don Buzzard of Iowa State decisioned Al Haerem, 1-0.
165: Heavyweight: Steve Shippos of SIU decisioned Bob Roop, 5-1.

The Salukis wrestling team Saturday for their next dual meet.

The Cowboy's third game of the season. The Sun Devils beat Southern 79-78 in overtime last month at Tempe, and Oklahoma State played on SIU home court. The Cowboys are currently in seventh place in the Big Eight Conference with only Missouri behind them. About the only thing consistent about the Cowboys this season has been their losses. The team is shooting only 34 per cent from the field and is averaging only 25.6 points per game. The Cowboy's have been able to hold the opposition to an average of less than 60 points a night.

Oklahoma State, SIU Game
Set for Tonight in Stillwater

The pupil will meet his teacher today at 7:30 p.m., when the Salukis meet Oklahoma State in Stillwater. Salukis' Coach Jack Hartman will be up against his old college coach in Oklahoma State's Henry Iba. Hartman played under Iba at Oklahoma State his freshman and sophomore years before dropping basketball to concentrate on football.

The situation tonight will be an odd one for both coaches. Hartman's team is ranked tops in the country with a 16-5 record while his old coach is in the midst of his worst season. The Cowboys have won only three times while losing 18 this year.

Oklahoma State has lost its last five games, and suffered its worst defeat in 37 years Saturday night when it was drubbed 60-47 by the University of Kansas.

Its only victories this year have been over Missouri, the University of California at Santa Barbara and Arizona State. Oklahoma State lost to Arizona State 61-49 in Oklahoma State's third game of the season. The Sun Devils beat Southern 79-78 in overtime last month at Tempe, and Oklahoma State played on SIU home court. The Cowboys are currently in seventh place in the Big Eight Conference with only Missouri behind them.

About the only thing consistent about the Cowboys this season has been their losses. The team is shooting only 34 per cent from the field and is averaging only 25.6 points per game. The Cowboy's have been able to hold the opposition to an average of less than 60 points a night.

Rainsberger 'Very Effective'
In Recruiting, Boydston Says

His defensive platoon held Oklahoma State and Kansas State scoreless in the Jayhawks' only victories during a 2-8 season.

Rainsberger and his wife, Shirley, have five children: Rebecca, 11; Ellis Jr., 10; Catherine, 8; Sandra, 5; and Chrisy, 3. The family plans to move to Carbondale in June, but Rainsberger will come here immediately, according to SIU athletics officials. Athletics officials said Rainsberger told them he was happy to return to the southern Illinois area and pleased with the opportunity to coach at SIU. He told them that he realized he has a lot of hard work ahead, but added that he was hopeful of success here, they said.

Dean Elmer Clark, chairman of the selection committee, told athletics officials he was delighted with the background Rainsberger brings to Southern Illinois.

Athletica Director Donald N. Boydston said Rainsberger's application was given great consideration and that the selection had been based on his previous success and recommendations.

Boydston also said that Rainsberger, who was in Chicago as assistant coaches Jerry Hart and Don Cross recruiting high school players, had been very effective in recruiting Illinois players.
