Marcos flees nation; Aquino takes over

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Ferdinand Marcos flew into exile early Wednesday, leaving President Corazon Aquino to govern the nation he ruled for 20 years.

The White House said Marcos, who surrendered the presidency Tuesday, was flying to the American Pacific island trust territory of Guam.

Assistant White House press secretary Michael Guest said he did not know Marcos's final destination. Secretary of State George Shultz said earlier Marcos could find "safe haven" in the United States.

Marcos fled the nation about eight hours after a helicopter flew him and his family from the presidential palace to Clark Air Base.

Within hours of his abandonment of Malacanang Palace, thousands of jubilant Filipinos stormed the gates of the ornate Spanish-style mansion and began a frenzied spree of looting and destruction. At least one person was reported killed and 27 were injured.

In the streets of Manila and other cities across the Philippines, millions of people took to the streets in jubilant celebrations.

Marcos' flight, ending a four-day rebellion led by two top military leaders, came after he reached agreement to exchange his office for safe passage for himself and his family. He was flown with his entourage to the U.S. Clark Air Base, 60 miles north of Manila, for the night.

Only hours earlier, a tearful Marcos took the oath of office as the disputed winner of the fraud-tainted Feb. 7 election against Aquino. His inaugural was knocked off on a John Wayne movie instead.

At the same time, Aquino, widow of slain opposition leader Benigno Aquino, took the oath of office as the nation's seventh president in a rival ceremony.

The announcement of Marcos' decision to quit came in Washington, where Secretary of State George Shultz said the United States is "prepared to offer safe haven" to the former president, his family members and close associates.

"President Marcos is welcome to come to the United States but I don't believe any decision has been made by him about where he will go," Shultz said.

The 53-year old Aquino — sworn into office as the mother of her slain husband silently watched — appealed for national reconciliation in a brief inaugural speech and appeared on state-run television early Wednesday to issue a brief statement.

"The long agony is over," said the nation's first woman president. "We are finally free and we can be truly proud of the unprecedented way we achieved our freedom, with courage and with determination and, most important, in peace."

"A new life starts for our country tomorrow, a life filled with hope and I believe a life that will be blessed with peace and progress."

Scott Sargent, a seventh-grader from Glendale, jumped for his health and for the American Heart Association's "Jump Rope for Heart" program Tuesday. Scott was one member of a six-person team attempting to jump rope for three hours straight. Program coordinator John Williams said the event would raise about $850.

World leaders hail Aquino

By United Press International

Governments around the world hailed Corazon Aquino's rise to the presidency of the Philippines Tuesday following the resignation of Ferdinand Marcos as another triumph in a growing "democratic wave" sweeping the globe.

The governments of Britain, Portugal, the United States and Canada and legislators from Peru and Italy joined France in recognizing the Aquino government soon after Washington announced Marcos resigned in the face of mass demonstrations and a growing military mutiny.

Embassies in Italy, the Vatican, Israel, Sweden, Pakistan, China, Thailand, India and the United States announced they switched allegiance to Aquino, who claimed she was robbed of victory in the fraud-marred Feb. 7 elections.

The United States praised Marcos for departing with "dignity and strength."

But French Prime Minister Laurent Fabius condemned what he called the "dictatorship" of Marcos and other repressive foreign governments.

Shultz said in Washington, "We praise the decision of President Marcos. Reason and compassion have prevailed in ways that best serve the Filipino nation and people."

Fabius told a banquet at the southwestern city of Tarbes that France was "on the side of all peoples who struggle, on the side of all democratic Filipinos, on the side of Cory Aquino."

"... We condemn, as we have always done, dictatorship in all its forms and in particular, the one taking the form that is called Marcos," Fabius said.

Ciriaco de Mita, leader of Italy's largest political party, the Christian Democrats, said his organization "expresses all its solidarity with the new government," and Portugal's President-elect Mario Soares invited her to his inauguration March 9.

"Marcos' resignation represents the conclusion of a difficult and courageous battle conducted by Corazon Aquino and the opposition for respect of democratic law and the will of the Filipino people against fraud, corruption and violence," de Mita said.

Soares expressed his "joy" with the "democratic and pacific transfer of power from the dictator."

Peruvian legislators called Aquino's presidency the triumph of a "democratic wave that has set upon the world."

In recent years, a number of Latin American nations have returned to civilian rule, including Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay and Peru. And last month, Haitian dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier fled his homeland following a two-month wave of unrest.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher told Parliament, "I am sure that we will wish her well."

The Philippine Embassy at Stockholm said it had sent congratulations by telex to Aquino as did Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney's government.

By Jim McBride
Staff Writer

The City Council has reaffirmed its support for continuing the Railroad Relocation Project.

The council Monday approved continuation of the project by a 4-1 vote.

Councilman Keith Tuxhorn, who opposes the project, said he was "appalled" to read in a confidential memo from City Attorney Patricia McMeen that the city's ability to pull out of it was limited. The memo was not made public.

"I can't say how the rest of the council feels, but it doesn't sit well with me for having been played the fool for my entire time on the council, never - not once - being told that there was no way I could stop or change this project," he said.

Responding to Tuxhorn, McMeen said the city has two legal avenues should it want to discontinue its involvement in the project, but she did not say what they were and later declined to expand on her remark.

Mayor Helen Westberg said she wasn't surprised that the city's ability to pull out of the project was limited and reaffirmed her support for it.

She said the project would bring about 690 full-time jobs

U.S. cruise missile strays, crashes in sea off Canada

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (UPI) — An unarmed U.S. cruise missile strayed off course during a test flight Tuesday and crashed into the frozen waters of the Beaufort Sea, the second crash of a cruise in less than five weeks. Canada immediately suspended testing. The missile crashed into the Beaufort Sea, north of Alaska and Canada, early Tuesday, moments after it was launched from the wing of a B-52 bomber for a 1,500-mile test flight across northwestern Canada.

Pieces of Challenger main engines recovered

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Large pieces of Challenger's three liquid-fueled main engines have been hauled ashore and debris from the shuttle's left-side booster rocket has been tentatively identified, officials said Tuesday. Three Challenger engines, "or the major portions of them," were recovered, said Rear Adm. Richard Truly, named last week as chief of the shuttle program. He said he was "absolutely confident" the space agency will be able to pin down the cause of the disaster.

Eastern deal 'done,' Borman vows to stay

MIAMI (UPI) — Eastern Airlines Chairman Frank Borman said Tuesday the agreement to merge with Texas Air is "done" and he intends to remain with the nation's third largest air carrier. Borman denied reports Eastern had received two new offers Tuesday morning and that he had promised Machinists Union President Charles Bryan he would resign. Texas Air Chairman Frank Lorenzo has valued the complicated stock transaction at about $600 million.

Protesting parents to post bond in AIDS case

KOKOMO, Ind. (UPI) — Parents trying to keep AIDS victim Ryan White from attending school with their children were ordered Tuesday to post a $12,000 bond to cover the 14-year-old's legal costs in case they lose. Howard County Judge Alan Brubaker said the bond was appropriate because many issues in the case remain unresolved. Brubaker scheduled a hearing for March 11 on a permanent restraining order keeping the youth out of the classroom.

Students take over Smith College building

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI) — Students at Smith College seized control of the administration building Tuesday to protest the school's refusal to divest stock in companies doing business with South Africa. About 100 singing and chanting people turned away employees, who were later told by President Mary Maples Dunn to go home. Dunn said she would not evict the protesters immediately but would assess the situation on a day-by-day basis.

Miners strike world's biggest gold mine

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — About 12,000 black miners walked off their jobs Tuesday at the world's biggest gold mine, where 14,000 blacks were arrested last year for striking for improved wages and work conditions. An Anglo American Corp. spokesman Jones said work came to a halt on three of the Vaal Reefs mine's 10 shafts after police arrested eight miners for the murder last week of four black team leaders.

U.S. children's health declining, group says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The health of American children is declining because of child abuse, teen pregnancy and lack of medical care, especially among minorities and the poor, and infant deaths are increasing, the American Public Health Association said Tuesday. The group said there is no coordinated national effort to help suffering children or an effective way of monitoring health trends. Researcher Sharon Adams-Taylor said death rates are rising for infants who survive the first month of life, reversing a post-World War II trend.

Funding hurdle removed for Chicago transit line

CHICAGO (UPI) — Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole has removed a major obstacle to the planned Southwest Side expansion of the city's rapid transit line, city transportation officials said Tuesday. Dole agreed to eliminate a requirement that the city put $50 million, equal to about 10 percent of the cost of the project, into a capital reserve account to cover cost overruns, said David Larson, director of the extension project.

City to continue with hotel plans, city official says

By Jim McBride
Staff Writer

The City of Carbondale will stay the course on the proposed hotel-convention project, despite developer Robert Joblin's involvement in a lawsuit in Racine, Wis., City Manager William Dixon said Tuesday.

Joblin was named last week in a lawsuit filed by the Pioneer Savings and Loan Association claiming that he is $267,876 behind in mortgage payments on his Inn on the Lake Hotel in Racine, Wis.

"The city is aware of the situation in Racine," said Dixon. "At this point, there has been no formal movement to change" the course of action proposed by the city council.

Joblin was selected by the council Jan. 22 to develop an 11-story, 175 room hotel-convention center in downtown Carbondale at a projected cost of $11.8 million.

Dixon said that the lawsuit arose out of a fire at the hotel and that three other related lawsuits are pending.

Dixon said he had been informed by Joblin "that things were going to get sticky in Racine," but added that the city wasn't informed that Joblin would be named in the suit.

Joblin was unavailable for comment.

Aviation seminar set for Thursday

A forum on the aviation industry will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Thursday in the Student Center Auditorium.

The forum is being presented for students by the Aviation Advisory Committee of the SIU Flight Training program. The committee consists of representatives of the aviation industry and exists to promote excellence in aviation.

Members of the committee will speak about aviation and their own occupations.

Three major airlines, a major manufacturing company, corporate flight departments, general aviation operations, insurance company aviation writers and the military will be represented.

Blacks need new perspective, speaker says

By Darci Allen
Staff Writer

Blacks in this country must return to a "collective perspective," says a doctoral candidate in psychology.

Darlene Shelton, who spoke Monday at a women's studies colloquium on the historical role of women in the development of the black family, says the way of life for African people centered around "groupness, sameness and communality."

While groupness and sameness de-emphasize the individual, communality stresses living together and tribe survival, she explained.

Blacks must return to this emphasis on communality or the collective perspective, she said, if they are to have a better future.

Tracing the role of black women through history, Shelton, who is black, said that before slavery, polygamy was a way of life.

Seniority depended on the order of marriage, she said. Women had influence in the politics of the tribe, but their main jobs were child rearing, and trading, collecting and preparing the food.

During the era of slavery, black women became the backbone of the black slave family, Shelton said. The black woman was stereotyped as being more dominant, harder and stronger than white women, she said.

Shelton said contrary to what television programs show, most slave families worked on small or medium sized farms and not big plantations.

During reconstruction, the black family felt more stable, Shelton said.

"The black woman didn't let racism stop her from trying to educate her children, keep her family together or support her man," Shelton said.

After World War II, the blacks remained segregated, but more of them worked mainstream jobs, said Lavada Austin, doctoral candidate in psychology who also spoke at the colloquium, a Black History Month event.

Austin said black women had more refined skills and held occupations such as laundresses and seamstresses.

The Civil Rights Movement was helped along by the Humanitarian Movement, Austin said. Supplemental grants increased, and government programs and services such as Affirmative Action and Head Start began, she said.

Shelton said that if blacks are to have a better future, they must return to the collective perspective.

"To strengthen the black woman is to strengthen the black family," she said.

Five engineering students receive top honors

Five students have received top academic honors from the College of Engineering and Technology. The awards were given at a banquet, which was held last Thursday.

A Minority Engineering Program Outstanding Senior Award, given for the first time, went to Francis Villalpando of Mundelein. The award goes to the senior minority student with the highest grade point average. Villalpando studies electrical engineering.

Amy Harrell of Cairo received the David Edgingfield Award, given to encourage women in the field of engineering. The award goes to the junior or senior female engineering student who has earned the highest grade point average. Harrell majors in electrical engineering.

David Swanson of Libertyville earned the Outstanding Senior Achievement Award. It is given in cooperation with the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers and goes to a senior who exhibits scholastic achievement and participation in Engineering Club activities. Swanson majors in electrical engineering.

Tracy Lawless of Franklin received the Herman J. Stoeber Award in Engineering, given to the senior with the highest grade point average. Lawless is majoring in engineering mechanics.

Robert Kellogg of Matteson won the E. Leon Dunning Award, which goes to a senior in engineering technology or industrial technology with the highest grade point average. Kellogg majors in electrical engineering technology.

Also at the banquet, five engineering and technology faculty members were recognized as outstanding teachers of the year.

The winners were Chia-Lun John Hu, a professor in electrical engineering at SIU-C since 1983;

Atmesh K. Sinha, a professor in mining engineering; Aslam Kassimali, an associate professor of civil engineering and mechanics; Thomas B. Jefferson, a professor of mechanical engineering and energy processes; and Mark Pagano, an assistant professor in technology and a native of Herrin.

Men's basketball enjoys fine season

NEW SEASON, NEW COACH, new attitude. That's what this year's men's basketball team is all about. What a difference a year makes.

Under the guidance of first-year coach Rich Herrin, who only a year ago was coaching the very successful Benton High School Rangers, the Salukis have put together a rather remarkable season, especially in light of last year's scandal-ridden program.

It is hard to forget the entire Kenny Perry pay-off scandal, or the Saluki team that never lived up to its preseason billing as one of the Missouri Valley's best.

Herrin's club has made nearly everyone at SIU and in Southern Illinois forget most of last year's problems, and has provided some new memories for Saluki basketball fans.

BESIDES TWO STARTLING near-upsets of nationally-ranked Bradley, the Salukis notched a victory over highly-regarded Chicago State and have beaten Wichita State at home, in itself a notable accomplishment.

It was obvious to anyone who knows anything at all about basketball that, at least on paper, this year's team would be lucky to win more than a couple of games. But basketball isn't played on paper.

Thanks to the outstanding play of guard Steve Middleton and overachievers like forwards Randy House and Billy Ross, the Salukis make up in hustle what they lack in overall talent. Herrin has inspired his players to play a level of basketball clearly considered over their heads at the beginning of this season.

ATTENDANCE, THOUGH NOT at the level it should be, has also been greater than anticipated, up about 500 people per game over last year. This can also be attributed to Herrin, who has generated area interest in SIU basketball, due to his immense popularity in Southern Illinois.

For those who have not seen Coach Herrin's team yet, your last chance to catch them at the Arena will be Thursday night's home game against Illinois State. Or you can get motivated and take a trip to Terre Haute to watch the Saluki's last game of the season against Indiana State on Saturday.

Letters

Give priority to right to life

There must have been a mistake in titling the Feb. 3 letter of Ms. Shar Rednour. The title should have read "Wave The Flag While Having An Abortion."

It's not enough to be called mad bombers and women haters (my wife loves that one), now she says that pro-lifers are invalidating children's rights as well as being un-American. As if abortion was not a violation of the child's rights.

The lists of so called falsehoods in the "Silent Scream" are in themselves falsehoods and simply an attempt to do away with the real issue, which is watching an unborn child being torn to bits. I doubt that Ms. Rednour would stop to wonder the extent of her pet cat or dog's pain if they were being sucked apart before her eyes. The doctor who invented ultrasound has certified that the "Silent Scream" is sound from a medical-technical standpoint.

Our society is based on individual rights, with the law being an attempt to put those rights into priority. Is a woman's right to privacy higher than the unborn's right to life?

Another example comes to mind. Is a man's right to obtain degrading pictures of naked women higher than a woman's right to not be degraded?

Contrary to Mr. Phillips rantings of Feb. 3, the Bible teaches that women and men are equal. A woman has a right to equal standing with men, but the man who views pornographic materials cannot help but have a lowered view of women.

My answer to both these questions is the: all human life is equal, born unborn, black or white, male or female, rich or poor, handicapped or not, and this equality should always be given priority when ranking other's rights. — Dean Davis, Carbondale.

Please be polite, workers!

This letter is intended for all international students who have not been exposed to much of the working environment in America. Take it from a foreign born U.S. citizen with an eleven-year record of business growth, and loving every minute of it, serving your customer's interests before your own is the recipe for any successful business. I remember a time when my supervisor sat with me and asked, "Do you know who paid your salary?" My immediate answer was incorrect. His response was our customers paid our salary.

Americans are very serious in competing for customers. They want to please all of their valuable customers so they will come back time after time with a feeling of being wanted. A welcoming smile at your doorstep can certainly enhance your business growth. Your customer's interests had better be in stock for the sake of your survival in the business world. If you ever travel in the South, you will see what I mean.

Last Monday, I came to the Apple Computer Room in Wham to help a friend out with her computer work. An Asian graduate student working at the lab chastised me for helping her. I had a talk with her supervisor and explained my good intentions. He found my presence acceptable and knowledgeable.

There is no reason to ignore the needs of your fellow students. Computer work is hard for some of us, and a helping hand will certainly spark more interest in the dynamic growth of high technology.

Mrs. X certainly thinks she is a hot shot graduate student in dealing with the customer-students, in this case, as she deals with them back home. Well, Mrs. X, I suggest you find out from your supervisor who paid your bill. Your attitude toward your fellow students certainly needs to be polished. Maybe after you learn more of the business ethics in American culture, you can mention to your folks back home how sophisticated we Americans do business. — Minh D. Nguyen, senior, Electrical Engineering.

Who's to decide the unborn's fate?

This letter is in response to the letter "Abortion film facts deceiving" (Feb. 3). Ms. Rednour, I was very impressed with the facts you presented concerning the film, "Silent Scream." However, it is too bad you contaminated your informative letter with your own opinion of abortion. You stated "This film is lying to the viewer, obviously grasping straws, trying to get people behind a movement that unjustly wants to violate the privacy and rights of a woman to her body."

Ms. Rednour, this is obviously not a fact but your narrow-minded opinion of how things should be. And who are you to say that children should not "enter, perhaps, a life of unnecessary abuse, homelessness, being made fun of, or simply going without?" Tell me, who hasn't experienced unnecessary abuse, who hasn't been made fun of, and who hasn't ever had to do without? I'm sure, Ms. Rednour, that sometime in your life, you've experienced these, but according to your statement, maybe you shouldn't have been born.

Finally, in regards to your statement "Whatever you think is right and whatever you want to do with your body is up to you, because in America the beautiful, we have freedom of choice": Ms. Rednour, if that's the way our society is set up, why do we have police and courts of law and prisons? My advice: the next time you write a letter with the word "facts" in the title, please make sure that is what they are — facts. — Cheryl Kula, junior, Elementary Education.

Sidewalk conditions obstacle for disabled

I have helped disabled people twice in the last two months cross the tracks at Grand Avenue and at College Street. Prior to that I have either assisted or seen someone else help a variety of disabled people to get around the obstacle courses in the student ghetto that in other cities might be called sidewalks.

The University is to be commended for its efforts to provide facilities for all members of the population. Everyone benefits from this practice. The City of Carbondale could learn from SIU, however.

Low hanging branches, broken, missing and uneven sidewalk slabs make walking difficult under the best of circumstances. Perhaps members of the City Council and the Code Enforcement

Bureau would like to walk around blindfolded for a few days in order to get a feeling for what many people have to put up with every day of their lives, if they can tear themselves away from presiding over the destruction of the downtown "business" district, the creation of new parking lots and wiping out what little bit of local color remains there. — David Beglinger, 303 S. At the International Fest

Over 100 countries were represented in the 1986 International Festival, held Friday through Saturday at the Student Center.

About 4,000 people attended the festival over its three days, according to John Corker, Student Center director. Jared Dorn, International Programs and Services director, said last week that he expected 1,000 people to attend the festival, which showcases the cultures, talents, music and arts of the countries represented.

Festival events included an international artifacts exhibit, an international fashion show, a dance party, an international buffet featuring foods from India, Europe, Greece and South America, and a reception which highlighted the spouses and children of international students.

The festival has been held for over 25 years and was founded by I. Clark Davis, according to Dorn.

The festival was sponsored in coordination with International Programs and Services, the International Student Council and the Student Center.

to Carbondale curing construction with a projected payroll of $20 million over a four-year period.

"I think that's a good deal for the city," she said. "I would like to see the project continue."

Tuxhorn said he was concerned that federal funding for the project could be discontinued before completion of the final phase — the lowering of the tracks below ground level — and asked where funding for the city's $1.6 million share of the cost would come from.

City Manager William Dixon said funding could come from the city's cash flow, issuance of bonds or short-term financing.

Tuxhorn also expressed concern that the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad would discontinue its Carbondale operations, despite a letter to the city from an ICG official stating that the railroad had no intention of pulling out. ICG also sent the city a promotional report detailing the railroad's plans.

Referring to the report, Tuxhorn said that it contained no guarantee that the railroad would not discontinue its service.

"I'm not going to use this as my bible concerning this project," he said calling the report "ad fluff."

Councilman John Yow said he still had some concerns about the project but noted, "The positive aspects of this project outweigh the negative aspects."

Councilman Patrick Kelley said reviewing the project had been sensible in view of concern that the railroad would pull out of Carbondale, but said he was satisfied by the ICG's letter of intent to remain.

Councilman Neil Dillard, a long-time supporter of the project, also voted in favor of continuing it.

it," Dourlet, an advertising major, said of the work of the volunteers, mostly students. "If it works for him, I would look at it as a cure for MS."

Students should be concerned about MS, said Dourlet, because they are in the age group most affected by the disease, which attacks the central nervous system. Nitz, 32, was stricken when he was 14.

Dourlet has been encouraging fraternities, sororities and other organizations to put on fundraising events and says that it's almost like a full-time job, so the support of all of Southern Illinois is needed.

Organizations interested in setting up fundraisers for Nitz can reach her at 536-1302.

Contributions to a David Nitz Fund are being accepted at the Bank of Carbondale.

"Last year a benefit concert was held at the Hangar. Sigma Kappa helped out there," Dourlet said. "Neely Hall sold bagels and raised about $100."

Disabled Student Recreation is sponsoring a bowl-a-thon at the SI Bowl beginning at 4 p.m. March 1. A $4 donation will cover bowling, a buffet and dancing.

of the election, Marcos and his party of about 30 boarded two U.S. Air Force helicopters and flew to Clark Air Base, one of two major U.S. military installations in the nation.

Reagan administration officials said Marcos planned to spend the night at Clark but "gave no word on his final destination. Marcos has large land holdings in the United States and was expected to seek asylum there."

Marcos' military chief, Gen. Fabian Ver, was believed to have fled with Marcos. Shultz indicated Ver would also be permitted in the United States.

Shultz praised Marcos for deciding to step down, despite repeated vows that he would remain in the office he first won in 1965.

"President Marcos was reluctant to leave his post, but at any rate he has decided to do so," Shultz said, "so it has been possible to resolve this issue in a way that is peaceful and non-violent and in a way that allows an emergence of a consensus in the Philippines."

"... president (Reagan) is pleased with the peaceful transition to a new government of the Philippines," Shultz said.

"The United States extends recognition to this new government headed by President Aquino," he said. "We pay special tribute to her for her commitment to non-violence, which has earned her the respect of all Americans."

Marcos' departure sparked a sacking of the presidential palace and an adjacent administration building, where thousands of people brushed aside seven military guards and began carting off everything in sight. Soldiers shouting "Cory, Cory" removed barricades on approaches to the palace.

The mobs, screaming "Long live Cory," and "Marcos is a thief," tore portraits of Marcos and his wife, Imelda, off the walls and set them on fire, ripped chandeliers from the ceilings and hurled government records out the windows.

Much of the palace, including the president's study, the Marcos' bedrooms and his specially built medical clinic, was secured by Aquino supporters and kept intact. In the clinic was found a dialysis machine, lending credence to persistent reports that Marcos suffered from a degenerative kidney ailment during the final years of his rule.

Bursts of automatic weapons fire peppered the air. State-run television reported people identified with a left-wing labor union broke into the palace armory and carted away an undetermined number of M-16s.

Marcos loyalists briefly attempted to drive demonstrators away from the palace, opening fire on the crowd and throwing stones, wounding 27 people and killing one before troops backing Aquino arrived on the scene and drove them away.

As word of Marcos' flight spread, millions of persons jammed the streets in celebration with thousands of motorists honking their horns.

Sculptures cast in Carbondale seen in Memphis

"Cast in Carbondale IV," an exhibit of bronze and other metal sculptures cast in the School of Art's foundry, is on display in the Frank T. Tobey Gallery at the Memphis College of Art.

The exhibition features works by SIU-C students, faculty and staff, as well as nationally known artists.

The exhibit will close March 7.

University exhibitors for the show are John A. Richardson, director of biomedical communications and research photography; Walsh, art professor and sculpture program head; and Edward Shay, associate art professor.

Graduate students with work in the show are Thad Duhigg, Roger Colombik, Matthew Aarvold, Eddie Pogue, Timothy Doyle, Colleen Hoppe, James Gottuso, Carol Pressler, Mark Pessler and Matthew McCracken.

Owner claims trailers best

By John Tinda:
Staff Writer

Jim Sinnott, owner and manager of Park View Mobile Home Park in Carbondale, said that contrary to an article on mobile homes in the Daily Egyptian Housing Guide Monday, many mobile homes are not only cheaper to rent than houses or apartments, but are also less expensive to heat and cool and are, in many cases, better places to live.

Sinnott said the mobile homes in his park are inspected by city officials according to housing codes every year, at his request. He also said trailers are no more of a "fire trap," as one trailer occupant had stated, than other forms of housing.

The cost of utilities depends on the type of insulation the trailers have, said Sinnott. The shade trees in Park View also help keep cooling costs down in the summer, he said.

Mobile home parks are like any other form of housing, he said. "There are some good ones and some bad ones."

Correction

Landlords with five or more units in a mobile home park are required by state law to provide an itemized list of damages within 15 days after a tenant vacates.

An article in the Housing Guide in the Tuesday issue of the Daily Egyptian failed to make clear that the law applies only to mobile homes.

Theta Xi sets annual variety show

By Maureen Cavanagh
Staff Writer

"SIU Revue," the 39th annual Theta Xi All Campus Variety Show, will be presented at 8 p.m. Saturday at Stryock Auditorium.

The show's performers, who auditioned in February, have been preparing for the revue since fall semester. Acts sponsored by and featuring members of the Alpha Gamma Delta, Sigma Kappa and Sigma Sigma Sororities and the Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Tau Gamma, Theta Xi and Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternities will be presented during the 2-hour show.

Also, the Black Fire Dancers, the Vocal Jazz Ensemble and various singing and dancing groups will perform.

The show is sponsored by the Inter-Greek Council and the Student Programming Council.

Performance awards will be presented for "Best of Show," "Best Choreography," "Best Director," and "Combined Best Set and Best Costume" for large groups. Medium-sized groups will be judged for "Best Overall" and "Most Original" performance, and one trophy will be given for the best performance by a small group.

The "Service to Southern" award and the Leo Kaplan scholarship award will also be presented during the show. The "Service to Southern" award will be given to one student for outstanding service to the University and the Kaplan award will be given to an outstanding student in the College of Science.

Tickets for the show are $3.

'Richard III' to be presented

The Renaissance Drama Society will present a reading of William Shakespeare's "Richard III" at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Morris Library Auditorium.

The story centers on the ascension of Richard, Duke of Gloucester, to the English throne and his struggle to retain his position.

The performance is open to the public without charge. The auditorium is located in the basement of Morris Library.

Open house set at center

By Darci Allen
Staff Writer

The Southern Illinois Center for Independent Living at 780 E. Grand Ave. will hold an open house from 3 to 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Staff members will be present to answer questions about the center's operation and programs.

The center helps disabled individuals achieve and maintain a more independent lifestyle. Carol Potter, executive director, said in a press release.

The SICIL staff and volunteers will set up peer groups, an informational library, and an information and referral service.

Correction

The name of one of the four remaining chancellor candidates was misspelled in Tuesday's Daily Egyptian. The correct name and the spelling is John Keiser, president of Boise State University in Idaho, not Ke.ssel.

Kiss, King Kobra to perform at Arena

Heavy metal maniacs Kiss will perform at 8 p.m. March 22 at the Arena.

Tickets are $11 and $13 and will go on sale Saturday. Line reservation cards will be distributed at 8 a.m. and tickets sales will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Joining Kiss will be King Kobra, which features former Vanilla Fudge drummer

Carmine Appice

Kiss, known in the 1970s for its blitzkrieg stage show and the deliberate disguising of its members with face makeup, is on tour to support its latest LP, "Asylum." During the last few years the band has abandoned the makeup and recruited a new drummer, Eric Carr, and a new lead guitarist, Bruce Kulick.

The band has had 20 albums released in the United States, including "Destroyer," "Alive," "Alive II," "Hotter Than Hell" and "Double Platinum."

The group has also enjoyed a string of hits, including "Beth," "Detroit Rock City," "Rock and Roll All Night," "Lick It Up" and the recent "Tears Are Falling."

Clip-n-Save

We specialize in good quality housing both near campus and in family areas. Our houses are well insulated, clean and have many special features, such as oak cabinets, refinished hardwood floors, ceiling fans in cathedral ceilings, large frost-free refrigerators, cedar-beamed ceilings, decks and ceramic tile tub-showers. Stay in your own room. You won't need a roommate to make it affordable - just another housemate. We will have a few houses available for June occupancy and a few available in August. We lease for a one-year term. As much as we love animals, we have found they cause many problems - Sorry, no pets. Before you sign on the dotted line with one of the "Big Guys", Give us a call. We hope you'll be pleasantly surprised.

Up With People offers travel, 'special things,' ex-member says

By Sandy Merlie
Student Writer

It was a chance to travel across the United States and to a handful of foreign countries in a year's time.

And Ken Frye took it. Frye, an SIU-C senior in cinema, was part of a 100-member cast of Up With People, a non-profit educational and international organization that entertains at various events and places.

Up With People "builds bridges of understanding for people around the world," Frye said. He toured with the group from January 1983 to December 1983.

During his year with the organization, Frye performed at nursing homes, hospitals, prisons, the Special Olympics and the Easter Seals Telethon.

"They do a lot of special things," Frye said, adding it is a "good-will" type of organization.

Frye sang, danced and played the trombone. "I really wasn't that great of a dancer, but I really like it," he said.

Admission to the group isn't based on talent, but on personality, the ability to get along well with people and a willingness to travel, according to Frye. Members must also be high school graduates.

Frye got involved with Up With People when his mother encouraged him to see one of its shows. After the performances the group interviews prospective members.

When Frye was accepted, he took a year off from school to tour with the organization.

"I was at a point in my life when I'd been testing several majors. I needed a break."

That break included performing in California, Oregon, Colorado, Louisiana, Texas, Massachusetts, Finland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark -- to name some of the places.

"I enjoyed seeing different parts of the country and seeing places I'd heard and read about," Frye said, adding that it was a great way to learn about different cultures.

Cast members stayed with volunteer sponsor families, who provided them with a place to sleep and one or two meals a day.

Frye said the host families were his favorite part of his involvement with the group.

"The residents showed us the intricate part of town that no one knows of," he recalled.

While in Norway, Frye went camping in the mountains with his sponsor family. "You really learn how to adapt to situations," he added.

Though the organization pays the bulk of the members' costs, Frye said each member contributes about $5,800. Up With People funds the rest through receipts from shows and sales of promotional items such as record albums.

Frye, a Student Resident Assistant in University Park, plans to apply for a staff position with the organization when he graduates from SIU-C. He hopes to work either in the admissions area, interviewing prospective members or running the sound mixer during performances.

Women gymnasts Texas bound

By M.J. Starshak
Staff Writer

After a not-so-disappointing 180.15-179.00 loss to Southeast Missouri State University, the women's gymnastics team prepared to take on Texas Women's University Wednesday in Denton, Texas.

The Salukis' loss to SEMO was not as upsetting as it might have been because the team performed very well scored its highest team total of the year, said coach Herb Vogel.

Texas Women's University is the first of three opponents the Salukis will participate in during their five-day stay in Texas.

SIU will take on Southwest Texas State in San Marcos on Friday and will meet Houston Baptist Sunday before returning to Carbondale.

The Texas road trip will give the Salukis a chance to achieve two important team goals: to gain some respect on the university competition circuit and to attain at least two team totals of 171 points or more.

Vogel explained that in order to qualify for NCAA post-season competition, the Salukis must have a high seasonal average score (SAS). This score is determined by averaging the totals of the team's two best home scores, two best away scores and one score earned either at home or on the road. Only the top six SASs can qualify a team for post-season competition.

Currently, SIU has one respectable home score of 176.65 which it earned in a victory over Jacksonville State University. The Salukis will add the JSU score to the three away scores (179.00 against SEMO, 171.30 in Illinois Collegiate Classic, and 171.00 against Iowa State University) which they will carry into their SAS formula.

Vogel said that TWU, which is ranked 12th nationally in Division II, should not pose as great a threat to the Division I gymnastic Salukis as Houston Baptist, also a Division I school.

At a recent quad-meet held by Southwest Texas, Houston Baptist won with a score of 171.50. S.W. Texas placed second (171.40) and TWU finished fourth with a score of 170.30.

SIU's current team average of 172.80 is higher than any of the scores at the quad-meet.

Vogel was pleased with the results of the Texas quad-meet, not because the Salukis have scored higher, but because the scoring indicates that good performances will be rewarded with fair and good scores, he said.

Vogel said that he is optimistic about the trip because the Salukis have been performing well.

Men netters' matches look good; losses over weekend misleading

By Martin Folan
Staff Writer

Saluki men's tennis coach Dick LeFevre ascribes to the motto, "numbers are deceiving," in explaining the team's triple-loss weekend against Indiana, Ohio State and Illinois Universities.

"The guys played great this weekend," LeFevre said, speaking proudly of the team's performances.

SIU-C lost its first meet Friday against Indiana University, 8-1. The only Saluki victory was Fabiano Ramos' No. 6 singles match against Jeff Cohen. Ramos defeated Cohen in straight sets, 7-6, 6-3.

Per Wadmark, No. 1 singles player for SIU-C, lost well-played first set to Panok Kambadellis, then blanked his opponent in the second set, 6-0. Wadmark broke Kambadellis' serves in the third set to hold a 4-1 lead before losing the set, 7-5.

"Per was up in that match, but he just got overconfident," LeFevre said. LeFevre said No. 4 singles player Lars Nilsson should have won his match. Nilsson split sets 6-3 and 4-6, before taking the lead in the third set, 3-0, then dropping it, 7-5.

Freshman Jairo Aldana played well over the weekend, LeFevre said, but lost all three of his matches at first singles.

"Jairo played Eoin Collins from Indiana. Collins was the guy Jairo beat at the Orange Bowl Tournament last year," he said.

The Salukis met with Ohio State University Saturday and

Intramural wrestling needs more wrestlers, Rec Center official says

By Toby Ecker*
Staff Writer

Although only 20 people have signed up so far for the upcoming intramural sports wrestling meet, intramural-recreational sports officials say they hope to get at least 100 students signed up for the event by the March 5 entry deadline.

"Nothing is certain until people begin weighing in," Kathy Hollister, assistant coordinator of intramural sports, said Tuesday. Last year, 80 people participated in the event, she said.

The meet will be held March 5 and 6 in the Student Recreation Center Gymnasium. Participants will be weighed in from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. March 5 in the Student Recreation Center men's locker room. There are ten weight classes, ranging from 118 pounds and under to heavyweight. Everyone must weigh in to be able to qualify, Hollister said.

Also Tuesday, the Office of Intramural-Recreational Sports released a list of the top 20 intramural basketball teams.

Heading the men's open A division was the Blue Moon, with a record of 5-0, followed by Cosmic Dust (3-0), Da Whip (3-0), Nightmare (3-0), the Vice Squad (4-2), Hi Five (2-1), the Law (2-1) and Tau Jammers (3-2).

In the men's open B division, the Bulls were on top with a 3-0 record, followed closely by the Politicians (4-0), the Empire (4-0), the Scoregasm (3-0), Whiteshadow (4-0), Q City (4-0), the Sikulas (4-0), Sphinxes II (3-0) and Bad Bolus (4-0) and Fastbreak (4-0).

Heading the men's 6-foot and under A Division was the Touch N' Go with a record of 4-0, followed by the Sober (2-0), the ICBMs (4-1), the Graphics facied similar results, losing 7-2.

The top four singles players for SIU-C lost in straight sets, including Wadmark. Losing the first set 6-2, the No. 1 Saluki was down 4-3 in the second set when he turned his ankle and had to forfeit the rest of the match.

The doubles team of Wadmark and Nilsson could not play because of Wadmark's ankle injury.

Wadmark will rest his ankle until spring break, LeFevre said.

Freshmen Juan Martinez and Ramos played consistently against their opponents, Dale Wynkoop and Luis Strohmair, to win No. 3 doubles for SIU-C, 7-6 and 6-2.

Martinez also defeated Ted Glavas at No. 5 singles, 6-2 and 6-2, to score a second point for the Salukis.

Saluki match play improved against Illinois, moreso than the 6-3 loss stands for, LeFevre said.

No. 2 singles player Chris Visconti outlasted Andrew Lobb, 6-7, 7-6 and 6-3, as did Ramos, slipping by his opponent, Eric Schantz, 7-5 and 7-6.

Aldana, at double match point against Nicole McKenzie, was on the verge of his first victory, but lost the match on two powerful shots returned by McKenzie.

Martinez served match point in his match, but lost, 6-1, 4-6 and 7-5.

(2-0), the Untouchables (3-2) and the F Troop (3-2).

The Connection, Tom Gunners and McMonkeys topped the men's 6-foot and under B division, each with a record of 4-0. Following them were Cool Breeze (3-0), SI Express (4-0), the Bulls (4-0), Tasmania (4-0), the Wright Brothers (5-0), Paperchase (4-0) and the Mob (3-0).

In women's action, the 86ers (4-0) and Volleygirls (2-2) topped the women's A division, while Just for Fun (3-0) and the Beer Busts (2-1) headed the women's B division.

The Red Riders (3-0) were on top in the corec league, followed by No Doze (4-0), the Jammers (3-0), Msis (1-0), the Ats (3-1) and the Scrappers (3-1).

The men's open C division was topped by the Midnighters (4-0) and the Clampets (3-1).

Lipton tennis tournament fights to establish prestige

BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPI) — The Lipton International Players Championships, the big bucks tournament battling to establish itself as tennis premier non-Grand Slam event, "took a couple of steps" this year toward that goal, the tournament's director says.

But some players, including Ivan Lendl, the No. 1 player in the world and winner of the Lipton last Sunday, voiced doubt about that claim, arguing the two-year-old tournament has a long way to go before it is recognized as the fifth most important stop on the tennis circuit.

"Last year, we were born. This year, we took a couple of steps — and I think in the right direction. We came a long way," director Butch Buchholz said.

"This year, we improved our operations (and) improved our credibility with the players — this tournament is here to stay. We have a success story to tell.

"The tournament was seen on television in five continents and 28 countries and we had a tournament attendance of about 193,000. We were 15 tickets short of a sell-out (for the men's final Sunday) and I'm buying those, so it's a sell-out," Buchholz said.

Despite Buchholz's optimism, the tournament must address several issues before it can be mentioned on equal terms with any of the Grand Slams — Wimbledon, the U.S. Open, the French Open and the Australian Open.

The biggest knock against the Lipton has been its lack of continuity. The tournament was played in different sites in 1985 and 1986 — and is slated for a third move in 1987. It was played in temporary facilities last year and this year — and will be played in temporary facilities next year and, perhaps, every year until 1990, Buchholz said.

Only then is it likely that a $15 million permanent stadium, along with ample courts, and lockerroom facilities, will be constructed at the tournament's new permanent home, the Weston resort community about 30 miles from the Boca West resort, where it was held this year, Buchholz said.

Weston, a planned community under the auspices of the massive Arvida-Disney organization, is situated in an obscure, currently undeveloped location in Fort Lauderdale. Access to the site is hampered by a network of small roads and there are far from adequate numbers of hotels and restaurants.

Buchholz said tournament officials and Arvida-Disney, the Florida land development giant, did not want to move out of Boca West for next year, but problems with developers at the Boca Raton resort community forced the transfer.

Lendl, who beat Mats Wilander for the tournament title in four sets Sunday, said tournament officials need to work out several kinks.

"There were problems, there is no question about it," Lendl said. "If we say it was fantastic, we are going to be lying to ourselves. (But) I understand and I think the other players understand, also, that this was a one-year temporary set-up and therefore it cannot be as perfect as 10 years from now in one spot. I think the organizers deserve credit for doing their best — and that's about all you can do."

But Lendl added: "If it's a 'players championship,' I wish it would be in a place where there is a permanent stadium and things like that. That's how it's supposed to be in the future, so I'm hoping."

The tournament handed out $1.8 million in prize money this year, including $112,500 each to the winners in men's and women's singles, making it one of the richest events on the tour. And the purse is expected to jump next year.

Critical to the continued growth of the Lipton is its contract with the ABC television network, and 1987 is the option year of the pact, when the network officials decide, whether to stick with the tournament.

"ABC has an option for 1987 and we believe they will pick up that option and they have expressed interest in picking up that option," Buchholz said.

The tournament also needs to draw all of the top names. Martina Navratilova, the No. 1 woman in the world, skipped this year's Lipton, as did No. 3 Hana Mandlikova and Claudia Kohde-Kilsch. On the men's side, No. 2 ranked John McEnroe did not participate.

The upheaval in the tennis calendar starting next year could work in the tournament's favor, Buchholz said.

"The 1987 and 1988 calendar will change dramatically. In the past, January to March was the indoor season, but that's going to reverse. The first quarter of the year will be the outdoor season," Buchholz said.

"The Lipton and Australian Open will help each other by having outdoor tournaments to open the new year. Next year, the Australian Open will be in January and the Lipton will be from Feb. 23 to March 8," he added.

Lendl said for the Lipton to get the respect it craves, it must hold best-of-five set matches throughout the men's draw, not just starting in the quarterfinals.

That wasn't possible the last two years because of a lack of courts at the temporary sites, Buchholz said.

"If we end up with 15 courts (at Weston), then we could possibly play best-of-five matches. It just depends on if we can get that many courts," the tournament director added.

St. Louis Blues' right wing facing diagnostic arthroscopic surgery

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — St. Louis Blues right winger Greg Paslawski is scheduled to undergo diagnostic arthroscopy surgery Wednesday for a knee injury that could keep him off the ice for six to eight weeks.

Paslawski suffered the injury last week against the New York Rangers.

Dr. Jerome Gilden, the Blues' orthopedic surgeon, examined Paslawski's knee Monday and made a partial diagnosis.

"There's definitely a medial collateral tear," Gilden said of the ligament that runs along the inside of the knee.

"We want to be abso'oly sure the rest of the knee is okay. If it's just a medial collateral tear, we'll put him in a limited range-of-motion brace rather than operate."

Gilden said he wants to check out the anterior cruciate and cartilage in the knee. If it takes six weeks, Paslawski could rejoin the Blues by the Stanley Cup playoffs, which open April 8.

Paslawski suffered the injury Thursday night in New York when he collided with Rangers center Mark Pavelich in the third period of a 3-2 Blues loss. Paslawski was the Blues' third-leading goalscorer at the time of the injury with 22 goals. That figure tied his career high set last season.

Gilden also examined left winger Eddy Beers, who sustained torn rib cartilage when he was checked heavily into the boards by Rangers defenseman Barry Beck.

Gilden said Beers' return to action would be on a day-by-day basis but estimated Beers would be out for at least one to two weeks.

Blues captain Brian Sutter also remained sidelined.

It was thought Sutter, who has been out six weeks with a fractured shoulder blade, might return to the lineup by Saturday when the Blues play the Chicago Black Hawks. But Gilden said he was not sure when Sutter would return.

Women swimmers aspire for fourth-straight NIC title

By Sandra Todd
Associate Sports Editor

The Saluki women's swimming and diving teams begin competition Wednesday with aspirations to capture their fourth-consecutive title at the 13-team Metro-National Independents Championships in Columbia, S.C.

The Salukis will be hard-pressed to win the meet by the 128-point margin they accomplished last year because of the losses of All-Americans Wendy Lucero, Amanda Martin and Jamie Coonitz.

Another disadvantage for the team is the absence of 100- and 200-yard breaststroker Patsy Mullen. Mullen, who sprained an ankle, is also an integral part of the 200- and 400-medley relays.

Some of the top teams which SIU will be facing are South Carolina, a traditionally strong force to reckon with at the NIC's and No. 14 at the NCAA Championships last year; Cincinnati, which the Salukis beat 62-51 in dual competition earlier this season and No. 20 at the 1985 NAAs and Miami, a team with a powerful diving program.

Events included on the first day of the three-day, preliminary meet are the 200-medley relay, 500 freestyle, 100 butterfly, 200 backstroke, 50 free, 200-individual relay and 800-freestyle relay.

The Salukis will be looking to qualify as many individuals, and the 200-yard freestyle relay, for for the upcoming national meet.

Thus far, SIU has qualified the 200-medley relay, 400-medley relay, 400-freestyle relay, 800-freestyle relay and sophomore Lori Rea in the 50-yard freestyle and the 100-yard butterfly for NAAs.

Cagers still GCAC's top dog; national rankings improve

By Anita J. Stoner
Staff Writer

The Salukis moved up a notch to 22nd in the nation in the USA Today women's basketball poll published Tuesday.

The Salukis received 120 poll points compared to 84 points last week. However, in other polls the Salukis lost votes and were not ranked.

SIU presently holds the second-longest winning streak in the country, with 19. No. 1-ranked Texas has the longest with 26.

In other national statistics, the Salukis climbed to seventh in scoring defense (55.5 points per game) and eighth in rebounding margin (10.2).

Saluki forward Bridgett Bonds slipped from 14th to 17th in field-goal percentage with 60.1.

The Salukis (21-3, 14-0) stayed a game ahead of Drake (18-6, 13-1) in the race for the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference championship. Bradley (14-10, 9-5) remained third, followed by Illinois State (13-12, 9-6).

If the Salukis beat eighth-place Northern Iowa (9-14, 4-10) Friday, they will be in position to clinch the title in Carbondale with a win over Drake Saturday night.

Drake's Wanda Ford will try to put Drake into a tie. The Bulldog superstar continues to lead scoring and rebounding (30.6 ppg, 16.9 rebounds per game), in the Gateway and the country.

Ford collected Gateway Player of the Week honors for the fifth time, which surpasses her own record of four titles.

The best seventh-place Southwest Missouri could do was hold Ford to 16 rebounds Saturday — probably because she was too busy scoring a whopping 54 points. Prior to that, Ford's 35-point, 25-rebound performance seemed mellow in Drake's win over fifth-place Wichita State Thursday.

The Salukis lead in five of eight Gateway statistical categories — field-goal percentage offense (49.6); field-goal percentage defense (41.2); scoring defense (55.5 ppg); scoring margin (15.2) and rebounding margin (10.2).

Drake leads in two categories, rebounding (46.9) and scoring (79.1 ppg). SMSU leads free-throw shooting (71 percent).

Among Salukis in top-10 Gateway individual statistics, Bonds leads field-goal percentage (60.1); rates fourth in rebounding (7.9 rpg) and sixth in blocked shots (13).

Senior-Saluki leader Petra Jackson holds fourth in scoring (17.5 ppg); eighth in rebounding (6.9 rpg); fifth in field-goal percentage (50.4); eighth in assists (3.4 pg) and ninth in steals (2.2pg).

Point guard Mariali, Jenkins rates third in assists (4.6 pg) and center Mary Berghuis ranks fifth in blocks (17 total).

Saluki coach Cindy Scott was one of three nominated for Converse District Coach of the Year honors. Karen Langeland of Michigan State and Nancy Darsch of Ohio State are the other nominees for the district, which includes the states of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. A vote will be taken to determine which of the three candidates will be eligible for national Coach of the Year.

Braves clinch third MVC title for Versace

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

Sporting the nation's best record, longest win streak and best road record, the Bradley Braves wrapped up the MVC title race last weekend by defeating Drake 88-79 on Saturday night.

With a conference record of 15-0 and a 20-1 overall mark, the Braves won their third MVC title in the eight years of the Dick Versace regime.

With a win over Indiana State on Thursday night, the Braves would become only the second team to go undefeated in MVC play since 1950 and the first team to go undefeated since Larry Bird led the Sycamores of Indiana State into the NCAA championship game in 1973.

On the line for the Braves in Thursday night's matchup will be the nation's longest winning streak (19 games) and a No. 9 ranking in the UPI Coaches Poll. With North Carolina losing on the road over the weekend, the Braves are now sole owners of the nation's best road record.

Elsewhere in the Valley, Drake continued to lose ground, beating Indiana State while losing to Bradley and Creighton. Drake's 17-8 overall record marks the first time since 1980-81 that the Bulldogs have won 17 regular-season games. The Bulldogs haven't won 18 since 1970-71.

Winning two of three games last week, Tulsa needed a three-game sweep to vault into a tie for second place with Drake. The Golden Hurricane lost a close one 65-62 to Wichita State before winning over SIU-C and Indiana State. With one more win, Tulsa will have had three consecutive 20-win seasons. The Redbirds of Illinois State split last week's action to keep on the heels of Tulsa, while Creighton upset DePaul and downed West Texas State before losing to Illinois State.

Wichita State won two of three games, keeping the pace behind Illinois State and Creighton.

Indiana State and SIU-C were both swept last week, losing two games each to tighten up the race to keep out of the MVC cellar. The Sycamores have now lost six straight games, the longest losing streak since 1982-83.

West Texas State claimed the dubious cellar-dwelling honors once again this week; a split in last week's action was not enough to boost the Buffaloes ahead of either SIU-C or Indiana State.

Tulsa to host Valley tournament ; NCAA tournament berth at stake

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

With the Bradley Braves having already clinched the No. 1 seed for the Missouri Valley Conference post-season tournament, a scramble is on for the remaining seven tournament berths.

The tournament bracket will pit Bradley against the No. 8 seed in the opening round on March 3 at noon (game 1). Other first-round action will pit the No. 4 and 5 seeds at 2:30 p.m. (game 2); No. 3 and 6 seeds at 6:30 p.m. (game 3); and the No. 2 and 7 seeds at 9 p.m. (game 4).

With SIU-C on probation, all

MVC teams will compete at the tournament except the Salukis.

Second round will pair winners of games 1 and 2, with the winners of those games advancing to the finals.

Second-round action games are scheduled for March 4 at 6:30 p.m. and 9 p.m., with the championship game scheduled for March 5 at 6 p.m.

The championship game, which awards an automatic berth to the NCAA regionals, will be televised live on ESPN sports network.

Drake could wrap up the No. 2 seed by winning its two remaining games, while Tulsa could take the No. 2 spot if Drake loses on Thursday to West Texas State. The Drake-Tulsa matchup on Saturday will help determine the No. 2 and No. 3 seeds.

Illinois State has the No. 4 seed sewed up while Creighton and Wichita State will battle it out for the No. 5 and No. 6 spots.

Indiana State and West Texas State will try to outdo each other for the remaining two spots. Indiana State, however, faces Bradley on Thursday before hosting SIU-C on Saturday. Indiana State must win both games to lock up the No. 7 seed.

Santos named MVC Player of Week

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

For the second time in three weeks, Gus Santos of Wichita State has been named the Missouri Valley Conference's Player of the Week.

Scoring 58 points and grabbing 17 rebounds in three games last week, Santos helped guide the Shockers to wins over Tulsa and Illinois State, but even a 18-point performance could not help Wichita to shock the Braves of Bradley.

The 6-foot-7, 225-pound junior forward pulled down 22 career-high 12 rebounds against Illinois State and scored 21 points and scored 19 points against Tulsa.

Santos ranks seventh on the MVC scoring list this season and 13th on the league's rebounding list, averaging 14.7 ppg and 5.1 rpg.
