Food Price Reports To Be Circulated Soon

Price sheets listing food costs in Carbondale stores will be circulated Monday or Tuesday, according to a report to the Campus Senate Wednesday night.

The lists tacitly comparing food prices at four major food stores in town will be available at Daily Egyptian newsstands and other points of heavy student of the Senate Food Committee said.

Members of the committee will begin food-pricing today. The weekly publication will be distributed free of charge. Senator Hedayat Aminarsala urged the Housing Office to investigate housing overassessments in the on-campus housing areas.

He said the office should improve the conditions of those assigned to storage or basement areas.

The Senate accepted a committee report recommending no change in the credit hours requirements of mandatory physical education courses.

The report said that nearly all colleges and universities in SIU's accreditation district give similar credits to physical education courses. An increase of credit hours here would not transfer to other schools, it said.

The Senate tentatively accepted a Finance Committee recommendation to purchase a $1,300 Multilith Offset duplicator for use in the student government office.

Use of the duplicator would cut about $100 from the cost of a normal student government printing done at Printing Service, according to student body president Bob Drinan.

Drinan invited Senate criticism of the housing policies and standards ratified by the Board of Trustees in December.

The criticism should be directed to two areas: the action of Board of Trustees and their execution of the action, he said.

Student government's proposed newsletter, to be printed on the new duplicator, will attempt to channel student government topics and issues to SIU students.

Cyclist's Funeral Set Friday; Coroner's Inquest Planned

The funeral of Martin E. Moyer, SIU student, who was killed in a cycle-truck collision Tuesday, will be conducted at 1 p.m. Friday at the Dawson-Wicoff Funeral Home at 515 W. Wood in Decatur.

The Rev. W.W. Cutlip, minister of the First Methodist Church in Decatur, will conduct the service, and burial will be in Fairlawn Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday.

Jackson County Coroner Harry Flynn said Wednesday that an inquest will be held into Moyer's death. No date for the inquest has been set, Flynn said.

Fire Destroys Empty House Late Tuesday

A two-story unoccupied house belonging to John Widdows on U.S. 51 near the Boskydell curve was destroyed by fire Tuesday night.

Firemen from Carbondale battled the fire in high winds for nearly four hours. An unoccupied trailer next to the house was also extensively damaged. Cause of the 6 p.m. fire was unknown.

Carbondale firemen also fought a field fire at Crab Orchard Estates Tuesday at 11:20 p.m. The field was owned by Goffrey Hughes.

A false alarm was answered at 431 E. Jackson St. Tuesday afternoon.

At 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, firemen extinguished a television fire at 311 E. Birch.

Hopefuls Ready For Issue--Filled Local Campaign

By John Epperheimer

A hotter-than-usual City Council and mayoralty campaign is apparently ready to begin in Carbondale.

Four candidates for mayor and nine for City Council filed nominating petitions as of the deadline Tuesday. City Clerk Elizabeth Leighty said Wednesday that all the petitions were in order and the candidates are legally qualified to run for the offices.

Issues such as cooperation between mayor, Council and the city manager, possible relocation of the Illinois Central tracks and/or facilities, city planning and awarding of liquor licenses have already been raised by candidates.

A group headed by Robert Henderson which calls itself the Citizens of Carbondale for Progress is backing incumbents mayor D. Blaney Miller and councilmen Gene Ramsey and Joseph Ragsdale and newcomers Sidney Schoen and Archie Jones.

Another candidate for mayor, trucker David Keene, has characterized the Miller group as the "entrenched political machine" in Carbondale. Keene is running along with incumbent Frank Kirk, a coordinator in the president's office and Randall Nelson, professor of government. They have criticized Miller for what they call not cooperating to the fullest extent with City Manager William Norman.

The candidates endorsed by Citizens for Progress have promised to work for cooperation with the city manager, relocation of the Illinois Central station and warehouses only, investigation of the tax structure and better city planning.

Independent candidates for City Council are Kenneth Miller, director of the SIU Foundation; Lynn Holder, SIU golf coach; and William Eaton, incumbent.

Independent candidates for mayor are Thomas North, an employee of the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, and Jesse Groves, a mechanic, who wants lower student rent.

Mrs. Leighty said Wednesday that registration is not required for voting in the city election. Voters will be required to sign affidavits certifying residence in the state for one year, Jackson County for 90 days and the precinct for 30 days.

Mrs. Leighty said married students who have established permanent residence here will be allowed to vote. But students who do not make Carbondale their permanent, year-round, "bona fide" residence will not be able to vote, she explained.

A primary election will be held Feb. 28 and the general election April 18. Two candidates for mayor and eight for City Council will be nominated in the February election.

The mayor elected in April, and the two councilmen with the most votes, will serve four years. The other two councilmen will serve two years.

The system of staggered elections for councilmen instituted by this procedure was provided when Carbondale residents changed their form of government from commission to the council-manager system.

Class Drops After Monday To Get Grade

The Registrar's Office has reminded students that the last day to drop a course without receiving an evaluative grade is Monday.

After Monday all drops will receive evaluative grades, according to H.W. Wohlwend, assistant registrar.

An official drop after Monday will receive the grade of either WE or WP. WE means the student was failing the course at the time of withdrawal. It will count in grade-point average as an E. WP means the student was passing at the time of drop and will not count in grade-point averaging.

An unofficial drop after Monday will receive a grade of AB. AB is equivalent to an F when computing grade-point averages.

A student who attends all class meetings but fails to take the final examination and has made previous arrangements with the instructor to complete the work may receive an Inc. grade.

On the other hand, a student who fails to report for the final examination will receive an AB grade as an unofficial withdrawal grade, Wohlwend said.

Vitality of 'Carmen' Opera Stressed by Miss Lawrence

The Opera Workshop production of "Carmen" in February will be a repeat of the first opera directed at SIU by Marjorie Lawrence.

Miss Lawrence, former Metropolitan and Paris opera dramatic soprano, selected Georges Bizet's opera about the tragic life of a beautiful gypsy girl as her first production after joining the Department of Music in 1960.

"In seven years we have made tremendous strides in every phase," Miss Lawrence said. The 1960 workshop class had only four members; the standing class enrollment is now over 40.

Production of "Carmen" requires a cast of over 100 persons and only one performance was given in 1960. This year a double cast will stage presentations on Feb. 24, Feb. 25 and Feb. 26.

Present Draft System Requires Reevaluation

President Johnson has promised to send Congress proposals for revising the military draft to make it "as fair and as effective as possible." His recommendations will undoubtedly be based on the report he is about to receive from his National Advisory Commission on Selective Service.

One area of special complexity will be what to do about student deferments. For a long time a principal complaint against the draft has been that it discriminates against the poor by letting the sons of the well-to-do escape military duty through attendance at colleges and graduate schools.

Now equally insistent criticism of the deferment policy is coming from its supposed beneficiaries on college campuses. In their case, however, the objections are rooted in the disquiet felt by many students and faculty members over the Vietnam war and a belief that the existing regulations make the colleges unwilling arbiters in the selection of those who fight and those who remain to study.

One result has been a spreading movement to stop university administrations from releasing students' class standings to Selective Service boards to be used as a basis for granting or denying deferments. Wayne State University in Michigan and Haverford College in Pennsylvania have already instituted such a ban. Columbia's faculty has urged its board of trustees to follow suit, and students at several other institutions have taken up the cry.

If such a boycott became general, the draft authorities would have to rely on standard nationwide tests as the basis for deciding which students to defer. Such tests, with all the anxieties attendant upon them, would provide a far less trustworthy index of academic merit than do class standings.

The purpose of deferments, of course, is to assure the wisest application of the talents of America's young men in terms of a system of national priorities. The validity of the criteria for exemption are in need of particularly clear assessment in a period of shooting war.

The probability that the movement to withhold class standings will become increasingly widespread is bound to intensify pressure for a drastic curtailment of student deferments—not as a punitive measure but as a recognition that the basis for fair choice has been removed.

No obligation is more fundamental in a democracy than equitable sharing of the responsibility for national defense. The Administration and Congress will have to decide whether the imbalances in the present system can be effectively ironed out or whether fairness will be better served by recourse to a national lottery, with the most strictly limited of exemptions. —New

Parking Solution: No Cars

The problem of parking on the SIU campus may be "old hat," but there are valid reasons for discussing it again and again.

Recent moves by the University to remove parking spaces along Campus Drive near the new Technology Buildings have created a problem of finding an equivalent parking place for those drivers normally parked in that area.

The only alternative left to the users of those spaces is to park their cars in some remote area of campus or to make it to an ideal spot before 7:30 a.m.

There are usually parking spaces on the fringes of campus such as the Arena lot, but this does not really solve the problem because of the long walk involved. In fact it actually defeats the purpose of having an automobile when this is the only parking place that can be found.

Granted not everyone can or even should have the privilege of parking "behind the back door," but at least some kind of compromise could be made within reasonable walking distance.

The ever-increasing enrollment of SIU each year, with the granting of more and more parking permits, presents an evident need for some kind of additional parking facilities within the near future.

Few alternatives are left for the solution. One is to do away with automobiles completely, or another is to build the parking lots closer and closer to Cobden. The most acceptable, however, is to compromise the distance and the possible banishment of permits by building a large parking building as near the center of campus as possible.

Many schools, including the University of Iowa, have constructed such buildings and charge a nominal fee to students and faculty each time they park.

Such a solution to the existing problem here on campus could alleviate many of the inconveniences familiar to almost everyone who has hunted for that rare parking place. Parking buildings would eliminate a considerable number of cars using campus parking lots and still keep nearly everyone within walking distance to their classes.

British Service Shows Vision

In an emergency situation the need frequently is to summon the police, the fire department, or other aid as quickly as possible. It should go without saying that one's ability to reach the source of help should not depend on whether one happens to have the right change in his pocket or purse. Yet in American telephone booths it is not possible to reach the operator or an emergency number with-

'SIXTY MORE PARKING SPOTS ELIMINATED. . . I WONDER WHERE I'M GOING TO PARK THE CRUISER NOW?'

Soft-Sell Price War Might Be Effective

Campus and community groups will soon do their best to soft-sell Carbondale food stores into lowering their food prices.

The campus group is the new five-member Senate Food Committee.

The committee hopes to enlist the aid of HEI.P. (Housewives Efforts to Lower Prices), whose ill-fated boycotts of Carbondale food stores last quarter formed the first wave in the assault of food prices. The boycotts, though admirable in intent, did not succeed.

Now the Senate committee, hopefully with the support of HEI.P., will try a new approach—the power of suggestion coupled with a little free enterprise competition. Briefly, the approach involves publishing lists of food staples prices and letting consumers choose, from the information offered, at which store they would like to shop. Lists would be made available to students.

The competition comes in when a store manager realizes the effect of publication of the prices of competing stores. The lowering of prices is then left to the discretion of the manager; no action will be taken by any of the groups involved to actively induce managers to cut prices, according to Bill Potter, chairman of the Senate committee.

The theory behind this approach is that is students consistently patronize the food store with the lower prices, the lack of business will eventually force other store managers to cut prices.

This makes very good sense. The only questions are why the idea has taken so long to cross the Atlantic and how soon such a system can become standard practice throughout the United States. For the British have long been able to get a dial tone reach both the operator and a nationwide emergency number without depositing a coin.

Such a theory is indeed worthy of student support.

If the approach is successful, it would prove the adage that anyone can catch more lower prices with honey than they can with picketing.

Cycle Death Emphasizes Helmet Need

To the editor:

The death of Martin Moyer Tuesday afternoon should bring with it the realization that the University cannot simply dodge all its problems . . . the "motorcycle problem" defies dodging no matter how tricky and skillful the administration side-stepping. It is a problem which must be solved.

Marty Moyer's case is particularly relevant. Marty died of head injuries.

Last year, only days after the third SIU cyclist died of head injuries, the University Vehicle and Traffic Safety Committee said that the record of SIU cyclists did not warrant the passage of a mandatory helmet proposal pending before them. They were working on an even more inclusive "solution" at the time . . . they were working on eliminating most of the motorcycles.

Marty had a helmet. He was even quite proud of it. However, on Tuesday, he decided to make a quick trip to Speede Service. The suddenness of his decision, plus the fact that Tuesday was such a nice day, caused him to make his trip without a helmet.

If the University Vehicle and Traffic Safety Committee thought that mandatory helmets were warranted last winter as its members reviewed the fact that three of four SIU cycle fatalities were directly attributed to head injuries, maybe Marty would still be numbered in SIU's enrollment.

Do-Gooders Out of Order

The University of Michigan Cinema Guild was showing a film the other evening titled, "Flaming Creatures," which Ann Arbor Detective Lt. Eugene Staudenmeir thought to be just a bit too hot. In mid-reel he seized the film declaring it pornographic.

A spokesman for the Cinema Guild acknowledged that the film is "extreme in technique and subject matter" but denied that it is pornographic.

Well, we don't know whether the film is pornographic under existing court tests or not but the point which we think ought to be made now is that neither does Lt. Staudenmeir. Courts require questionable material to be taken in contest and for a film or book to be taken as a whole.

How can Lt. Staudenmeir presume to act for the courts by stopping a film in mid-reel?

Mass of Social Conflict Bewildering

Unsure Students Need Self-Reliance

By Al McCombs

(Chino, Calif., Champion)

The December issue of the Stanford University Observer presented a fascinating cross section of the student mind in its presentation, "Year of Change". The January issue carries my reply:

I think one of the problems facing our students today is their own sense of urgency, compounded by an unwillingness to take the time to thoroughly learn about history, and the causes and effects (a favorite phrase of professors in my generation) which are behind the problems which overwhelm them.

It is as though they are completely bewildered by the mass of social conflict which confronts them. It is only the degree of intensity that has increased, the result of new discoveries, of population increase, and of rapid communications. And because they are more aware of the social conflicts in the world than were their parents and grandparents, due to mass communication, and because they enjoy an environment of prosperity which frees them from the serious concerns of just staying alive, clothed, housed and fed, our students today find themselves free to cope with this vast array of complexities, tangible and intangible, which their forefathers had no time for, and so left to the philosophers.

The twin queries "Who am I," and "How Can I Be Myself," are actually subjects of concern that are a real luxury for so many to be able to think about, and our students should realize that it is a tribute to the progress of humanity that they are allowed to share in this luxury.

Nick Davis the student-faculty symposium committee chairman, says there are more people than ever before, but less communication between them. He is completely wrong. There is more communication and understanding among people and nations today than ever before, and for this reason we have not experienced the nuclear doom predicted for us years ago.

One has only to refer to history to realize how many silly wars and conflicts resulted from slow communications, and even slower responses on the part of the communicators.

Doug McConnell, chairman of the student-faculty board, points to growing hate and lack of understanding among people. But isn't it just a problem of a minority stimulating hate in others because it is militant, and threatens the economic Cubans All Set to Go-- Where?

Ninth Crusade Having Trouble Getting Started

By Arthur Hoppe
(San Francisco Chronicle)

Miami

I'm here, as you know, as advance man for the glorious, historic Ninth Crusade, which aims to save Christendom from the infidels by invading the Holy Land of Cuba. For starters. And already I've run into trouble.

The trouble I ran into was trying to recruit some Cuban refugees as Crusaders. It isn't that they wouldn't make fine Crusaders. Most of the more than 100,000 who now live in Miami are fine, well-liked, joyous, fiery patriots, united in their burning desire to see that Infidel, Fidel Castro, strung up by his beard.

Where I got into trouble was when I sidled up to my contact man, Senior Jomero T. Pettibono, on a dark street corner and whispered sibilantly:

"Take me to your leader."

"Sure thing, Mac," he said, taking out a handy 852-page Simplified Guide to Cuban Refugee Politics. "Which leader would you like?"

***

"Why, naturally," I said, "I wish to confer with the leader of the most powerful, active, respected and going refugee organization."

"Hmmm," says he, "that's a tough one. Now I'd recommend JURE, but they had a couple of splits since their leader, Manolo Ray, got arrested in the Bahamas. Anyway, he's down in Puerto Rico, practicing architecture."

"Of course, there's Manuel Artime. But ever since they busted up his guerrilla training camps for smuggling whiskey, he's been staying home nights."

"Now students are always militant. And I'd put you in touch with the militant Student Directorate, or PRE, but it's kind of dissolved. Or if you're looking for moderates, there's the Christian Democrats. But they sort of disappeared."

"Say, if you want a direct action group, what about the Cuban Nationalists? They're generally credited with trying to blow up the U. N. with a bazooka."

"What have they done to free Cuba lately?" I asked.

"Well," he said, "a year ago last August, they planted a bomb under the statue of Karl Marx in London. But it didn't go off."

"Or if you want someone prominent, how about Dr. Orlando Bosch of the Movement of Insurreccional Revolutionary Recovery? He's always being mentioned in the papers. See here? The Miami Herald mentions he's been arrested almost as many times for arms possession and extortion as he's made successful raids."

But wasn't there clearly one group who had the most members in the inner circles of militant refugees?

New York Bar Association Shows Understanding Of Press Freedom's Importance to Public Good

(Tampa, Fla., Tribune)

Findings by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York suggest that the legal profession may be taking more critical looks at the pell-mell rush to censor crime news.

Additional authority is given the metropolitan view from the fact that Judge Harold R. Medina of the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit is chairman of the committee which prepared a report on fair trial and freedom of the press.

A major point in the report says that courts lack power to control actions of press and police before a trial, a conflict with an American Bar Association committee view that courts may invoke contempt penalties against anyone who violates court orders before a trial.

Judge Medina commented that the effect of pretrial publicity has been greatly exaggerated. He believes that a trial judge may correct any prejudicial problems that might arise through the careful selection of an unbiased jury and control over participants during the trial.

The New York Bar report also disputes the authority of a judge to order the press not to report testimony given while a jury is out of the status quo of the majority, and this is one of the agonizing steps a group must take before there is understanding? The Negroes have merely replaced the Irish. The Mexicans find themselves in the position of the Orientals before them.

Fred Fink, senior psychology major, touches upon the luxury of sitting around and talking change, and points to the sterile use of freedom and leisure time. But he will learn that there are many people who are "doers", who have plenty of freedom but no leisure time. They aren't worried about being helpless specks in the universe. They have a sense of importance, knowing that single people working together, like single people voting together, can bring about radical changes.

I give credit to Carolee Nance, the senior history major for recognizing this inherent realization of the importance of self-respect. Perhaps Miss Nance, because she is a history major, has more peace of mind because of her knowledge that today's problems are mere magnifications of yesterday's, and that today's progress is also a pyramiding of what has come before.

To Miss Nance, God is not dead. He is a part of her. She has faith and self-reliance. It is lack of faith, rather than the loudly proclaimed frustration with the Old Order, that has failed and confused many of our students.

To be sure, the old generations may have failed today's students by neglecting to instill in them a sense of discipline and purpose, and by giving rise to technology which provides them with more instant knowledge and information than they may be prepared to handle, and by having created the environment of prosperity which affords them the time to be concerned.

But a thorough examination of the record of society (history) there was good cause for faith in the past, and there is a good cause for faith in the future.

In fact, I imagine there are some of my generation who, if they thought back on their old attitudes, would be surprised that we're all still around. But we are, because enough of us had faith and self-reliance.

Senior Pettibono shrugged. "Well, I'd say the FBI. But some would say the CIA."

I said I didn't see how I'd ever get an invasion going.

"An invasion," he cried happily. Why I can arrange a nice invasion for you for 50 gees—25 down and 25 when we're picked up by the Coast Guard as we leave port. Where do you want us fiery Cuban patriots to invade—Haiti, Santo Domingo or Guatemala?"

I said I was thinking of Cuba.

"Cuba," he said, aghast. "Why nobody's tried that in years."

courtroom — an authority which more and more trial judges are arbitrarily assuming. The committee says the judge may suggest to the press that certain matters be withheld, which is quite different from waving the threat of jail over the heads of newsmen.

To this extent the New York Bar shows a much better understanding of the separate responsibilities of the press and judiciary than do some others in the profession.

But it wants to set up a code restricting factual information that police may give and newspapers may print before a crime, and with this position we cannot agree.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association, reporting the other day on a two-year study, stated the issue well when it said:

"There can be no codes or covenants which compromise the principles of the Constitution (of the United States)."

"The people's right to a free press, which inherently embodies the right of the people to know, is one of our most fundamental rights, and neither the press nor the Bar has the right to sit down and bargain it away."

Florida's judges and attorneys, we hope, will give both reports a thoughtful reading without prereading prejudice.

To Talk Monday

A negotiating session between Lindsay-Schaub officials and bargaining representatives of the International Typographical Union local striking the Southern Illinoisan has been set for Monday.

John Gardner, editor-general manager of the Southern Illinoisan, said the union officials requested a meeting and the Monday date was suggested by him.

Gardner stated that no meetings are currently planned with the pressmen's union.

He termed presentation of Carbondale and area news as a special feature on the 10 p.m. nightly newscast of WPSD-TV, Channel 6, in Paducah, Ky., a "public service."

Gardner said officials of the television staff suggested that the Southern Illinoisan editorial staff write a news summary for the program. The Carbondale news was broadcast beginning Tuesday night.

Gardner added that the Southern Illinoisan would provide similar service to other stations if requested.

Sudents Vote to Keep 'Alestle' Name of Edwardsville Paper

SIU students at Edwardsville voted Tuesday to retain the name of Alestle for their campus newspaper.

Students picked the name Alestle over Spectator by a margin of about 100 votes in a runoff election. Last week the selection was narrowed down to two from a list of six names proposed.

Tuesday's voting resulted from independent action by Alestle editors in September to change the paper's name to

The Spectator. The paper was printed under the new name, but was confiscated by the administration before it reached the stands.

The four names that were eliminated last week are Southern Journal, Cougar Chronicle, SIU Times and Observer.

The name is derived from the names of the three campuses in the area—Alton, East St. Louis and Edwardsville.

Permanent Combat Team

GIs Open Drive on Delta

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The long-expected American effort to end the Viet Cong's 20-year domination of the Mekong River Delta began in earnest Wednesday with the commitment of a permanent combat team expected to grow soon to 30,000 or more men.

A reinforced battalion of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division — estimated at 1,000 troops — moved into a fortified camp on high ground near My Tho. This is only 40 miles southwest of Saigon, but deep in the paddy fields, canals and estuaries of the rice-rich, heavily populated delta, where years of campaigning by Vietnamese troops have won only a stalemate.

The announcement of the move came from Gen. William C. Westmoreland's headquarters at a time when ground warfare was slackening and thick weather severely curtailed air strikes on North Vietnam.

Highlighting political and military developments elsewhere:

—Generals of the ruling military junta sought to head off any critical reaction to their dismissal of an influential colleague, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, as South Vietnam's defense minister and deputy premier. Informed Vietnamese sources said 20 to 30 supporters of Co, mostly military men, were put under house arrest. Saigon was quiet, though a feeling of uneasiness was evident.

—Five Americans died in an aerial collision. A U.S. helicopter and an artillery spotter plane locked and fell at a Special Forces airstrip at Song Be, near the Cambodian frontier about 100 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said the plane's pilot and four soldiers in the helicopter were killed. One man in each of the two craft escaped with injuries.

—U.S. B52 bombers struck for the second straight day at enemy holdings within the old demilitarized zone, the six-mile-wide buffer area between North and South Vietnam which Hanoi has converted into a springboard for infiltration. The big jets also unloaded tons of explosives on a suspected Communist troop concentration 15 miles west of a Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng, in the central highlands 230 miles north of Saigon.

Bobby Baker Got $50,000 From Campaign, Court Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a tense courtroom scene, Fred B. Black Jr., long-time associate of Bobby Baker, testified Wednesday the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr D-Okla., told him in 1962 he had lent Baker $50,000 out of campaign funds. "Sen. Kerr asked me," Black related, "if in my opinion Robert Baker would be able to repay him the sum of $50,000 out of what he Baker might make on the Carousel Motel and from the Serv-U Corp., in which he had an interest."

"Sen. Kerr was concerned because he said he had advanced Mr. Baker $50,000 out of what he called campaign contributions and he would have to replenish it out of his own pocket if Baker couldn't pay."

"I told him I didn't think he could pay."

The testimony of Black, Washington public relations man and consultant, tended to back Baker's story that Kerr lent him $50,000, part of it out of nearly $100,000 in "senatorial campaign contributions" sent to Washington by California savings and loan executives, mostly in the form of $100 bills.

The government alleges, on the other hand, that Baker committed larceny by keeping $80,000 of the donations and spending it on his own enterprises, instead of turning the money over to Kerr.

Baker, also accused of income tax evasion, countered with a claim that the government owes him $687.37 in refunds.

"Keep the faith, baby."

Small School Get Research Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has unveiled a new research program aimed at giving smaller universities a bigger chance to get federal funds. It may spark another round of academic grants.

Officials said more than 400 universities — most of them lesser known — have been invited to bid for a share of $20 million available.

Up to 50 new defense-related research centers are expected to be funded on small campuses under the program — known as Project Themis after the Greek goddess of the law and harmony of physical phenomena. Deadline for applications is Feb. 15.

Former Gov. Wallace Asks Committee to Stop Fund Cutoff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Gov. George C. Wallace asked the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday to block a threatened cutoff of federal funds to Alabama and Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., promised to help all he can.

Wallace said the cutoff order by Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner is illegal and "just the beginning" of an arbitrary grab for power.

Gardner has ordered that Alabama get no federal money after Feb. 28 for public assistance and child welfare programs unless it gives assurance in writing that the programs are being administered without racial discrimination.

Wallace, appearing before the senators as special assistant to his wife, Gov. Lurleen B. Wallace, insisted there is no discrimination in Alabama. He said he is not being stubborn or arrogant, but wants the order shelved until the courts decide the validity of the order.

The former governor, testifying calmly with aides beside him in a packed hearing room, met a generally friendly reception from southern senators and some Republicans on the committee. Long praised his testimony.

But Wallace and Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., tangled in a sharp exchange over whether it is Wallace who is responsible for the threatened cutoff of federal funds. Hartke

Russian Satellite Sent Into Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched an earth satellite Wednesday into the kind of very low orbit that U.S. officials have previously said is often used for Soviet spy-in-the-sky devices.

Chinese Say Students Beaten by Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — The debate between Moscow and Peking came to Red Square Wednesday.

A Chinese journalist charged that Chinese students were "seriously beaten" there by Soviet police. Soviet spokesmen denied this and accused the students of rude anti-Soviet actions around Lenin's Tomb. The Foreign Ministry, protesting to the Chinese Embassy, warned it would use force to prevent further trouble.

The eruption of Soviet-Chinese hostility involved a visit to Red Square by 69 Chinese students going home from European universities.

The students wanted to place a wreath at the grave of Joseph V. Stalin and sing the Communist anthem, the Internationale, said the Moscow correspondent of Peking's New China News Agency.

He charged that Soviet uniformed and plainclothes police prevented this and roughed up the students. Ten of them were seriously beaten, the Chinese journalist said.

A spokesman for the Foreign Ministry, asked about the Chinese charge, checked and said: "All these assertions by the Chinese correspondent are slander and unpardonable lies."

Later the official Soviet Agency news Tass said Chinese transients and Chinese Embassy officials "rudely violated in Moscow's Red Square the established and universally known rules for visiting the Lenin mausoleum."

336 Practicing For Teaching

Department of Student Teaching has assigned 336 students to elementary and secondary schools of southern Illinois and Cook County to get on-the-job training for their future professions.

They are seniors enrolled in the College of Education who must meet the student teaching requirement before receiving their degrees. From January to March they are engaged in an actual classroom situation while under the supervision of an experienced teacher and the SIU department of student teaching, headed by Charles Neal.

The students come from 159 Illinois communities, seven other states, and Canada.

A similar group of students completed its student teaching requirement during the fall term, which ended with the Christmas holiday break. Another large contingent will use the spring term for student teaching. SIU is the third largest producer of teachers' among universities in the United States.

Irish Playwright's Papers Go to Morris Library

Ralph McCoy, director of University libraries, has turned over to Morris Library the collected papers of Lennox Robinson, the Irish dramatist.

McCoy collected the material for the library last May in Ireland. They were bought from the playwrights' widow.

The collection includes both manuscripts and typescripts of his plays and many of his letters.

The correspondence between Robinson and W.B. Yeats and Lady Gregory had been acquired by the library at an earlier date.

McCoy said that he had gathered all the letters and papers that were available. The new collection will be housed in the Rare Books Room of the library.

Clinic to Discuss Fertilizer Outlook

A regional fertilizer clinic for farmers and dealers in Southern Illinois will be held at SIU on Thursday.

The meeting is one of several sponsored through the state jointly by the Illinois Fertilizer Dealers Association, the State Department of Agriculture, and the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Representatives of the cooperative agencies will report on new findings in the use of fertilizers, and on the supply outlook and state regulation.

The sessions will start at 9:30 a.m. They will be held in the Seminar Room of the Agriculture Building.

Blood Bank Seeks Donors

The walking blood bank expects about 75 persons from the First Presbyterian Church in Carbondale Sunday for preliminary screening and blood testing.

The walking blood bank, sponsored by the Carbondale Hospitals Auxiliary and the Kiwanis Club, is located in the Doctors Hospital laboratory.

Organizations interested in appearing in groups for screening and blood typing should contact Mrs. Ralph Bedwell, 457-4662.

The new acquisition makes the SIU collection of Robinson's papers the most complete.

"We now have most of his things," said McCoy. On hand for the presentation was Eoin O'Mahony, Irish bar- and Thomas Kinsella, noted

Irish poet and artist-in-residence at SIU.

Sports Illustrated Has Story on Salukis

By Tom Wood

It took a long time for Coach Jack Hartman and his Salukis to convince people that SIU is for real in the game of basketball, but now the sports world is beginning to look at the facts and arrive at the logical conclusion Hartman and his team are becoming extremely popular.

For a long while the family breadwinner would pick up his newspaper during breakfast and think that the printer had obviously erred in recording the score of the Southern Illinois-St. Louis basketball game. And this reaction was justifiable, since the Salukis had somehow fooled the press into thinking there was something wrong in Carbondale, wherever that is!

Well, the facts just began to pile up and pretty soon people were beginning to look at their maps to see if there is a university at the bottom of the state. And pretty soon scores started striking the sportswriters, who had been devoting their time to giants in Los Angeles and scandals in Champaign, between the eyes.

Now there is actually a low rumble produced by the clamor of writers heading for Hartman and the Sports Information Office. National publications are trying to figure out how you get to Carbondale by way of TWA.

For the last two weeks Hartman and Fred Huff, sports information director, have had writers following them like bloodhounds. And the results of all this are beginning to show. Sports Illustrated will feature the Salukis in this week's issue, which hit the newsstands today or yesterday, depending upon which one you patronize.

Time magazine has had a representative on campus for three days. He met the Salukis in Wichita, probably because he didn't know how to get from Marion to Carbondale.

Sporting news will carry a story on the Salukis this weekend. It was written by the Southern Illinoisan's Lon Eubanks.

Several writers have asked for permission to do freelance work on Southern. On the electronics end, the Armed Forces Radio Network has expressed interest in piping the game with Kentucky Wesleyan in the Arena to their troops overseas. Chicago television station WBKB has been in touch with Huff. Of course, the local coverage list is too long to even attempt to mention.

Everywhere the Salukis play they are subjects of innumerable articles and columns.

How has all this affected the team and their coach, who could not claim such attention in the past even though they are doing nothing differently this week than they did a month or for that matter a year ago?

Hartman expressed pleasure and gratitude for the attention. But he said that he felt it would not "affect the team's confidence because of the way we approach the game. It is possible that there might be some effect on the boys' concentration, but not their confidence."

If there has been any effect on the team's concentration it is not an effect to be feared. The Salukis spent all last week under the questioning eye and pen of Sports Illustrated's Joe Jares and responded last weekend with what Hartman called "one of their best games to date, particularly offensively," in trouncing Wichita State in the Shockers' own fieldhouse.

The Salukis are approaching the stretch run of their schedule, with nine games left including the final two against Kentucky Wesleyan and Southwest Missouri, one point losers to the Salukis earlier. And its not even gambling to wager Hartman will still tell you that recognition doesn't put any points on the scoreboard for you.

Individual Scoring Race In Big Ten Close, Too

CHICAGO (AP)—The individual scoring race may be as snug as the battle for the team championship in the Big Ten basketball race.

The conference office reported Wednesday that less than a five-point spread separates current scoring leader Sam Williams of Iowa and fifth-running Chuck Nagle of Wisconsin.

Williams has a four-game average of 27.5 points, well behind the 33.2 average All-

America Cazzie Russell of Michigan maintained in 14 games for the 1966 league scoring crown.

Runnerup to Williams with 25.7 is Jim Burns of Northwestern, only undefeated contender at 3-0.

Third with 24.8 is Jim Dawson of Illinois, followed by Ohio State's Bill Hosket with 23.8 and Nagle with 22.7. Northwestern has a substantial lead in team scoring with a hot 95.7 average,

Illinois Open Meet Saturday

Trackmen Will Trek to Champaign

SIU's indoor track team will be in Champaign this weekend to open the 1967 indoor track season at the Illinois Open.

The Saluki will bring five defending champions into this meet Saturday. The Saluki winners last year at the open were: Ross MacKenzie; 300-yard run, Oscar Moore; 2-mile run, Mitch Livingston; high jump, Jeff Duxbury; 1,000-yard run and Ian Sharp, the long jump.

In addition, George Woods won the shot put last year with a heave of 60 feet 3 inches. All the individual winners will compete for the Saluki varsity Saturday except Woods who will compete with the Saluki Track Club which is made up of freshman and graduate students.

Al Ackman took fourth in the mile and the 880-yard run last year at Champaign. Rich Ellison was fourth in the pole vault with a leap of 14 feet and John Vernon was second in the broad jump at 22 feet 11 and one half inches.

Coach Lew Hartzog will take 18 men along for the varsity team and an additional 14 men will compete for the track club.

The remainder of the varsity lineup is as follows: John Quillen; 60-yard dash and 300-yard run and mile relay team, Robin Coventry; 60-yard dash and 300-yard run and mile relay team; Frank Whitman, hurdles; John Celuch, hurdles; Dale Gardner, 600-yard run and mile relay team; Dave Chisholm, 2-mile run; Joe Janezic, high jump; John Marucco, long jump; Ray Gluss, pole vault; and Ralph Galloway, shot put.

MacKenzie will also compete in the 440-yard run and the mile relay team for the Salukis. Moore will run in the mile Saturday.

"The team is doing real good," said Hartzog. "I have no idea of what we can do because we have no place for time trials. The boys are working real hard and I am looking forward to the meet. The distance runners and Ross MacKenzie are in great shape for this time of the season."

Besides Woods, Hartzog will take the following to Champaign to compete as the Saluki Track Club: Bill Jeffries, 60-yard dash; 300-yard run and mile relay, Al Deppe; 60-yard dash, 300-yard run and mile relay, Sylvester West; 60-yard dash and 440-yard run, Jim Thomas; hurdles, Kevin Bowden; 300-yard run and mile relay, Butch Hohman; mile, Gordon Rains; 1,000-yard run, Richard

AP Poll Moves
Tennessee Up
To No. 4 Spot

Southern Illinois won two games last week, one a squeaker, and retained the No. 1 position in The Associated Press small, college basketball poll.

The Top Ten, announced Wednesday, had a very mild shakeup and only one new-comer—Trinity, Tex., which replaced Lincoln, Mo., in 10th place.

The biggest stride in games through last Saturday was made by Tennessee State, which won three games and advanced from sixth to fourth. The Tennesseans won over Nebraska Wesleyan, Union and Ballarmine.

Southern Illinois beat Kentucky Wesleyan 52-51 and Wichita 77-55.

The No. 1 team received 13 of the 17 first-place votes cast by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, etc.
