Tornado touches down in Ina; four injured

By Daily Egyptian Staff Writers and The Associated Press

At least four persons were injured, numerous trees and power lines were downed and several homes were reported damaged after a tornado touched down in Ina Tuesday night, authorities said.

The tornado knocked down a house in Ina, about 10 miles north of Benton, injuring four members of a family.

In very critical condition at Good Samaritan Hospital in Mount Vernon was Nancy Kidd, 30, who suffered a head injury, according to a hospital spokesman Chuck Schuette.

Also hospitalized in fair condition was her four-year-old son, Bradley. A daughter, Becky, 12, was listed in satisfactory condition. Schuette said.

Gene Kidd, 35, was treated and released from the hospital. Illinois State Police in DuQuoin closed several roads around the Ina area, including Illinois Route 37, because of downed trees and power lines, according to Trooper Randall Tolbert. He said police received a call at 8:30 p.m. confirming a tornado touchdown in south Ina.

Steve Piltz, director of Carbondale's Emergency Services and Disaster Agency, said there was "no damage in the immediate Carbondale or Jackson County area." All the severe weather missed the county he said.

Benton Central Illinois Public Service representative Bill Spencer said, "The damage isn't anything that great. A couple of houses were jarred off their foundations and the houses' gas lines were severed."

When the tornado struck about 9 p.m., Spencer said, about 2,000 customers were without electricity.

Authorities also said that citizens reported sighting at least three tornadoes in the Ina area, but added that those reports were unconfirmed.

The National Weather Service had placed much of Southern Illinois, southwestern Indiana and northern and western Kentucky under a severe weather watch until early Wednesday morning.

Day of protest

About 150 people protested outside of the north end of the Student Center Tuesday against Israeli and American involvement in Palestine. The event was for "The Day of the Land," a holiday honoring a Palestinian uprising six years ago against Israeli confiscation and settlement plans in Palestine.

Two cases settled in city's land suits

By Bob Bonurant
Staff Writer

Settlements have been reached in two of the 20 condemnation lawsuits filed by the city of Carbondale to acquire land for the proposed downtown convention center and parking garage.

Last Friday, the city came to an agreement with attorneys representing the City National Bank of Murphysboro, trustee, on compensation for acquiring a lot and vacant building at 310 S. Illinois Ave.

In addition, the city acquired the vacant lot owned by Harry and Lillian Goldstein at 200 S. Illinois Ave.

Carbondale, represented by attorney James Zimmer, agreed to compensate City National $62,000 for its property, and the Goldsteins will receive $28,000 for yielding title to their lot.

Carbondale police were unable to serve a summons on the Goldsteins, temporarily residing in Boca Raton, Florida.

Attorney E. Dan Kimmel, the Goldsteins' lawyer, said he was close to getting the case settled when the lawsuits were filed, and kept in contact with the Goldsteins in Florida by telephone as negotiations continued.

Zimmer was unavailable for comment on whether the compensation negotiated Friday was greater than the original offers to purchase sent out by the city in February.

The condemnation lawsuits were filed by Zimmer March 18. The defendants have 30 days to respond to the suits.

Atom plant steam tubes may be trouble: NRC

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weak steam generator tubes in 40 commercial nuclear units are "virtually impossible" to fix and are causing higher operating costs and radiation exposure for plant personnel, according to a Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff report.

The report, dated February 1982, says the tube problem in more than half the nation's nuclear units also is responsible for about 23 percent of nuclear plant shutdowns that are unrelated to scheduled refueling.

The report raises the possibility — characterized as an "extremely low probability" — that tube ruptures in more than one generator at a plant could cause inadequate cooling of the radioactive core, which could lead to melting of the uranium fuel.

Tubes are used only in pressurized water reactors, or PWRs, which have from two to four steam generators with 3,000 to 15,000 tubes each. Another NRC study based on 1981 data reported tube degradation in 27 of the 47 licensed PWRs, but the new report states the confirmed number is now "at least 40."

The nation's 25 other nuclear plants use boiling water reactors, which do not have steam generator tubes.

The report notes that faulty tubes have plagued the industry since the early 1970s and are "due to a combination of steam generator or mechanical design, thermal hydraulics, materials selection, fabrication techniques and secondary system design and operation."

Several accident scenarios, such as multiple tube failures and complications like the valve that stuck after a tube rupture Jan. 25 at the Ginna plant near Rochester, N.Y., "have not yet been rigorously studied," according to the report.

"There is a great deal of attention and sensitivity being paid to steam generator tube leakage and degradation," Robert Szalay, vice president for the Atomic Industrial Forum, an industry group, said Tuesday.

Gus says he hopes the power he gets from a nuclear plant is not in the form of an explosion due to faulty tubes.

Stolar says he was cheated off ballot

By Lyndall Caldwell
Staff Writer

Glenn Stolar has charged that the Undergraduate Student Organization administration has manipulated its bylaws to keep him off this spring's ballot.

Stolar, the Sting Party's vice-presidential candidate, said he intended to run for president after Joe Dietzler had withdrawn for personal reasons as the party's presidential candidate.

Before Stolar's accusations, USO Election Commissioner Dave Williams had chosen to remain silent. Now, Williams has decided to release further information.

Williams said that Dietzler failed to meet one of the requirements specified in USO bylaws for executive candidates — maintaining a 2.0 grade point average and being in disciplinary good standing.

Stolar has asserted that since his party had complied with the USO requirement of submitting a nominating petition with 200 signatures by the deadline, he should be allowed to choose a vice-presidential running mate and appear on the ballot for president.

The Sting Party endorsed Stolar as its presidential candidate on March 24, the day after the USO pre-election campaign meeting.

But Williams said he could not allow Stolar on the ballot because he had not submitted a petition to run for president by the deadline — March 11 — and because no extension of the petition deadline could be granted after the meeting.

Dietzler had asked Williams to use his discretionary powers to allow the Sting Party team to appear on the ballot despite its failure to meet the requirements Williams told Dietzler that he had no such powers.

Dietzler then requested time to appeal his case to an SIUC vice president, which Williams granted, but the appeal failed.

Williams then offered to remove Dietzler's name from the ballot, but Dietzler refused, saying he would withdraw "if special favors would be granted to the Sting Party that were not granted to other candidates," Williams said.

Those favors included the "unethical and illegal extension of the petition deadline for Sting candidates, even though the commissioner had already refused late petitions from other candidates," Williams said.

Williams finally said he would officially disqualify Dietzler, who then asked that his name be removed from the ballot.

Due to a typing error, two different versions of USO bylaws were floating around — one had almost an entire page missing. The missing information dealt with election guidelines.

USO President Todd Rogers said that Stolar's point was that he had been given incomplete bylaws and that he did not know the rules.

However, last fall, Stolar pointed out the omission in the bylaws to Brian Netols, last year's election commissioner. Williams said he has learned. Stolar was assistant election commissioner last spring, and had enforced the rule of 200 signatures by deadline.

Williams said that since the rules no longer served the interests of the Sting candidates, "The Sting's newly sponsored executive ticket would like to pretend that the rules never existed in the first place. The argument simply is not valid."

"The only scam was a typing error, said Rogers. If Stolar 'didn't know' and understand the rules, then why did he comply with them?" he asked.

A hearing was to be held Tuesday night to determine Stolar's eligibility to appear on the ballot as a candidate.

Tardy shuttle crowns longest, toughest, most ambitious flight

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — Framed by purple mountains and a brilliant blue sky, America's space shuttle sliced through desert breezes Tuesday to crown its longest, toughest and most ambitious test flight.

Three down, one to go and Columbia flies for hire.

Weight on wheels came at 10:05 a.m. CST on an unfamiliar runway, 22 hours past due. The landing ended an eight-day mission that demonstrated Columbia's versatility and stamina in space.

The weather was as kind to astronauts Jack R. Lousma and C. Gordon Fullerton as it was inhospitable the day before. Skies were relatively calm — a stiff headwind instead of the cantankerous sandstorm that made a Monday return impossible.

"Everybody in America started breathing again when you made that landing," President Reagan told the pilots in a telephone call. "Our thoughts and prayers have been with you every second that you've been up there."

At a runway ceremony, a beaming Lousma said: "I couldn't say it was a good flight, because it was a great, spectacular flight from where we sat. We had eight days of a great time and a great spacecraft."

He added, "Columbia has flown our colors around the world and all Americans can be proud of that."

Fullerton echoed those comments and said, "Everything was better than my wildest dreams could imagine."

After the ceremony, the astronauts headed back to Houston.

There, flight operations director Glynn Lunney said the spacecraft survived its trip better than the two-day second flight last November.

"STS-3 (flight 3) was a very powerful success," he said, and added that nothing stands in the way of "flying payloads for paying customers," beginning with the fifth flight next November.

The astronauts and their ship had been in space 8 days, 4 minutes and 49 seconds since launch from the Kennedy Space Center in Florida on March 22.

The shuttle — a rocket on launching, a satellite in orbit and an airplane on descent — has been in space and returned three times in just under a year.

House opens nuclear arms debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House on Tuesday launched a debate on nuclear arms control, pitting proponents of an immediate U.S. Soviet freeze on atomic weapons against supporters of President Reagan's longer-term approach toward mutual arms reduction.

To reject an immediate halt to nuclear arms proliferation "is to give up on the concept of reduction as well," said Rep. Jim Leach, R-Iowa, one of the prime sponsors of the debate. "The desire to maintain a freeze and to make it work would be an important new pressure to secure new reductions."

But the president — and supporters of a rival congressional resolution — say an immediate freeze would lock the United States into a position of nuclear inferiority.

Sponsors of the debate, led by an arms-control caucus known as Members of Congress for Peace Through Law, said they hoped the series of speeches would be likened to the first real congressional debate on the Vietnam War, which occurred in October 1969.

Rival, non-binding resolutions have been introduced in both the House and Senate in the last week. One, that garnered about 180 co-sponsors, calls upon the United States and the Soviet Union to immediately freeze deployment of nuclear weapons as the first step toward a mutual reduction in those armaments.

The other, backed by the Senate's bipartisan leadership and key Republicans and defense-minded Democrats in the House, calls on Reagan to make good on his pledge to "seek to negotiate substantial reductions in nuclear arms which would result in levels that are equal and verifiable."

Recession slowing, but not over yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key government forecasting gauge indicated Tuesday that the recession, though probably slowing, is not yet over. Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan conceded as much, telling Congress that "the economy continues in the grip of the second recession in two years."

Regan spoke confidently of recovery this summer. And private economists generally echo that forecast, though with less apparent confidence.

But a 0.3 percent February decline in the government's Index of Leading Indicators, a report designed to show future economic trends, seemed to indicate recovery was hardly at hand.

Herpes drug to be available in April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first drug to ease suffering from genital herpes should be available in drugstores in 30 days, following its approval Tuesday by the Food and Drug Administration.

Up to 20 million Americans are afflicted with genital herpes, a painful venereal disease that cannot be cured.

Dr. Arthur Hull Hayes Jr., the FDA commissioner, said the new prescription drug, acyclovir ointment, "is not a cure for herpes virus infections," but is "a step forward" in treatment.

El Salvador political scene unclear

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The right-wing National Conciliation Party, ousted 2½ years ago in the coup that installed El Salvador's ruling junta, emerged Tuesday as kingmaker in post-election maneuvering by six parties to form a new government.

A National Conciliation leader said one thing was certain — moderate Jose Napoleon Duarte, president of the civilian-military junta, would have to go. Duarte's Christian Democrats won the most votes in Sunday's assembly elections but fell short of a majority.

GSC to elect officers, hear talk on cutting six assistantships

By Doug Hettinger
Staff Writer

The Graduate Student Council will elect its president and vice president at a 7 p.m. meeting Wednesday in the Student Center Mississippi Room.

Paul Matalonis, a first-year law student and former Undergraduate Student Organization president, has been nominated for president. Laura Nelson, a graduate student in speech communications and current vice president of the GSC, has been renominated for that position.

"Unless people decide to run from the floor at the meeting, these will be the only candidates," Debbie Brown, GSC president, said.

Brown will graduate in May with a doctorate in English. The new president and vice president will take office May 15.

Guest speaker Sam McVay, director of Health Services, will talk about the possibility of phasing out six graduate assistant positions at the Health Services, Brown said.

The Health Services Policy Board, composed of students who advise the director of Health Services on policies, recommended that the assistantships be consolidated into two permanent staff positions. The GSC representative to the board, Chuck Basch, who voted against the move, said that eliminating the assistantships is meant to cut costs and improve professionalism.

A GSC Executive Board resolution that would recommend raising the service charge on short term loans from 1 percent to 2 percent also will be discussed by the GSC.

According to the resolution, the 1 percent service charge is not enough to finance the program that provides loans to needy students. If the service charge remains at 1 percent, some students who need loans may be denied them, Brown said.

If the GSC votes to recommend an increase in the service charge, Brown said, the Student Work and Financial Assistance Advisory Board would consider it and would make a recommendation to Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs. He would make a final decision.

A resolution directing GSC members on University-wide committees to work for reductions in student fees also will be discussed.

4 senators may be impeached

The Student Senate will act on bills to impeach four senators at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Student Center Ballroom C.

The Undergraduate Student Organization bylaws state that "a senator shall be allowed to miss two committee meetings per semester without proxy representation. A senator shall be subject to impeachment on the third miss for dereliction of duty."

Senators Ilyn Ivyn, Andrea Martin, Rebecca Osborne, and Bill Riley have all missed three committee meetings.

The senate also will consider a bill to approve USO President Todd Rogers' appointment of Dave Williams as election commissioner.

Opinion & Commentary

Banning 'Deep Throat' abridges students' choice

STUDENTS AT SIU-C who are looking for freedom of thought and intellectual liberty may have to start looking elsewhere. Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, has taken on the role of campus censor and decided students need to be told which films they can and cannot see at the Student Center.

In a repressive decision worthy of the Moral Majority, Swinburne cancelled a planned showing of "Deep Throat," a sexually explicit, X-rated movie, that had been scheduled to be shown Monday. The cancellation is indicative of a kind of intellectual and moral authoritarianism which has no place on a university campus.

The reasons for Swinburne's decision are confusing. Hinting at possible legal trouble if the movie were shown, Swinburne said he feared action against the University from the state's attorney's office.

AN ATTEMPT to show "Deep Throat" in 1975 was squelched by a reported threat of prosecution by the state's attorney under Illinois obscenity laws.

There has been no indication by the present state's attorney, however, that he would prosecute for a showing of the movie. Indeed, Swinburne did not even speak to the state's attorney about the film.

Any attempt to prosecute the University for screening the movie would be on shaky legal ground. Illinois obscenity law uses a "community standard" test to determine whether material is obscene. A community that shows, with no protest, movies like "Pink Flamingoes" and "Last Tango in Paris" has a standard that is probably tolerant enough to include "Deep Throat."

Both these movies were shown in the Student Center, both are X-rated, and both are shockingly explicit. "Pink Flamingoes," for instance, features a 350-pound male transvestite, the consumption of human excrement and the use of food as a tool in masturbation.

ANOTHER OF SWINBURNE'S reasons for cancelling the movie was the fact that "Deep Throat" constitutes what he called "hard core" pornography, and he felt University facilities should not be used to show such material.

"I don't think it enhances the image of the institution or education at the institution to show this movie," Swinburne said. "It's Student Center policy not to show hard core."

This arbitrary power to censor is the most frightening and potentially harmful aspect of the episode.

Swinburne's concerns with image and education are valid and appropriate. In the long run, however, both the image of the University and its goal of broad and effective education will be hurt more by this kind of repression than by showing a movie like "Deep Throat."

The University is ostensibly committed to intellectual growth and freedom of expression and opinion. To deny adults the right to decide what they want to watch flatly repudiates this commitment.

Don't trust the advertising; pills won't keep you thinner

It is becoming apparent that an alarming number of SIU-C students are taking over-the-counter diet pills advertised under such names as Dietac, Dexatrim, Appetin, Control, Orlistat and Prolamine. All of these pills contain a drug called phenylpropanolamine (PPA). The Center for Science in the Public Interest (CSPI) reports that a growing number of users have been experiencing disturbing side effects from this stimulant, including marked increase in blood pressure; restlessness, irritability, anxiety and insomnia; and severe headaches.

The increase in blood pressure caused by these pills may have particularly harmful effects. A CSPI spokesman states that since overweight individuals have a greater than average risk of heart disease and hypertension to start with, "taking these pills is like playing with a loaded gun."

To make matters worse, a recent study conducted at Pennsylvania State University suggests that those who lose weight with the help of over-the-counter diet pills are likely to gain more weight back in the long run than those who have simply changed their eating habits. It is clear that these pills simply do not promote lasting weight loss.

Don't be duped by the misleading advertising. Don't sacrifice your health for the sake of shedding those unwanted pounds. The fact remains that the most effective and health enhancing way to lose weight is to sensibly decrease calorie intake (often just cutting out or reducing greasy foods, sugary foods and alcohol will help) and increase physical activity.

Taking pills and/or engaging in unsound fad diets will not, in the long run, help you to achieve a healthy and attractive body.

Students who would like assistance in developing an effective and health enhancing weight loss program should call or stop by the Wellness Center, directly across the street from the Health Service. — Marc Cohen, Director, Wellness Center.

COUP COUP!

Waste exists in large House payroll

WASHINGTON — We hear a great deal these days from members of the House of Representatives who talk of cutting the Reagan budget. These doctors of fiscal medicine want to operate on extravagance and waste. Splendid! But they ought to listen to an ancient admonition: Physician, heal thyself.

Congressman James M. Collins of Texas has been trumpeting that sound counsel for the past three months. He is becoming the Republican member his Democratic colleagues most dearly love to hate — for Mr. Collins' crusade is against the waste that begins at home, in the grossly swollen payrolls of House committees.

Fifteen or 20 years ago, a plausible argument could have been made that congressional committees were understaffed. In those days experts from the executive agencies tended to outgun the legislative aides.

THAT IMBALANCE no longer obtains. Congress has equipped itself with its own independent Budget Office. An Office of Technology Assessment provides analyses on scientific issues. The Library of Congress has greatly expanded its research services. More to the gentleman's point: Committee staffs have grown . . . and grown . . . and grown.

The growth is astonishing. In 1973, House committees employed 308 statutory staff members and 570 investigators. Last year the committees had payrolls of 761 statutory and 1,063 investigative employees. If these same increases had occurred in an executive agency, the committee chairmen would be howling their heads off.

The gentleman from Texas makes some sharp points. In the 93rd Congress (1973-74), the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries had a staff of 22 persons. Last year the committee had a staff of 82.

In the 93rd Congress, the Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs had a staff of 46. Over the two-year life of that Congress, the committee reported 33 bills. In the 96th Congress (1979-80), the committee had a staff of 96. It reported 19 bills.

IN 1972, the House Rules Committee got along nicely with a staff of six persons. In 1981, the committee had a staff of 44.

Over in the Senate, bills affecting the District of Columbia are handled by a subcommittee with a staff of seven. In the House, it evidently requires a full committee with a staff of 41 to perform the same labor.

All this costs money. In 1971, the House committees had authorization to spend $6.8 million. The request for 1982 is $40.3 million. Granted, 10 years of inflation have blown up the comparative figures, but when full account has been given to that factor an indefensible increase is still evident.

It is this kind of thing that costs the Congress so dearly in terms of public respect. Out beyond the Potomac, the people probably do not know that the House Agriculture Committee has quadrupled its staff in 10 years. Such data have no remarkable impact. But the people are keenly aware of the totality of perquisites, special privileges, retirement benefits and opportunities for outside income that members of Congress have voted for themselves.

WHAT IT comes down to is the same old hypocrisy that infects special interests everywhere: Big business is agreeable to cuts in food stamps but not in export subsidies. Southern conservatives are very conservative indeed on housing loans but not on tobacco loans. Arms suppliers are full of reasons why the defense budget should be left intact. College president: see nothing amiss in cutting defense, but cuts in Pell grants are something else entirely.

In this regard, the House committee chairmen probably are faithful to the first principles of representative government. They are just as hypocritical as everyone else. We get the kind of government we deserve — a melancholy thought if there ever was one. Mr. Collins' figures remind us not only of some sound advice to physicians but of another maxim also. While the House rightly is concerned with the mote in brother Reagan's eye, it ought to be equally concerned with the beam in its own. (c) 1982 Universal Press Syndicate

County landfill owner calls fine of $3,000 "kind of stiff"

By Rod Furlow
Staff Writer

The owner of a Jackson County landfill Tuesday called his $3,000 fine for environmental-regulation violations "kind of stiff," but said he plans to pay it.

The fine was recommended last week by Illinois Assistant Attorney General Gwendolyn Klingler at an Illinois Pollution Control Board hearing. The fine's target was Everett Allen, owner of a 133-acre landfill located two miles northwest of DeSoto.

The recommendation was part of a negotiated settlement between Allen and the IPCB.

Klingler said the hearing resulted from routine inspection of the Jackson County Landfill by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

"I've heard of an individual who was fined $300 and another who was fined $675, but I've never heard of anyone getting fined $3,000," Allen said.

"But that's the way it is. We did commit a lot of violations, and I think it would be a bad choice for me to go public and say I've been mistreated."

Klingler said the settlement, which includes the fine and the violations to be corrected, must be approved by a five-member IPCB board.

According to Klingler's announcement, issued Friday, violations at the landfill were the failure to properly cover refuse with a dirt layer, failure to prevent dumping of unauthorized liquid waste, failure to control dust and animals, and failure to keep enough dirt to cover refuse.

Klingler said if the IPCB accepts the settlement, Allen will be given a series of time limits, varying from 30 to 120 days, to correct the violations.

Klingler and Allen agreed that most violations could be taken care of if a six-inch layer of dirt was used daily to cover newly-delivered refuse, as required by Illinois environmental regulations.

"I really think that if he applies the daily cover, it'll eliminate problems like dust, packs of dogs, and odor," Klingler said.

China justice system to be discussed

By Charles Victor
Staff Writer

Two members of the Center for Study of Crime Delinquency and Corrections, Elmer Johnson and Charles Matthews, have been invited to run a panel discussion on the criminal justice system in the People's Republic of China.

The discussion will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Mackinaw Room of the Student Center.

Johnson and Matthews toured the Republic as participants of a people-to-people exchange program last December to study the Chinese judiciary and prison systems. The tour included 38 other Americans involved in criminal justice work.

Johnson and Matthews will report on their observations of the work of mediation committees and a law school in Nanking, a work-study program in Shanghai, prison conditions in China and two research institutes.

Johnson said the mediation committees were unique to China and that the work-study program was equivalent to American reform schools. "We have tape recordings of a mediation committee at work," he said. "They are almost like village committees made up of ordinary citizens themselves and dealing with all kinds of problems from embezzlement to family quarrels."

The Nanking law school was holding its first class since it closed during the Cultural Revolution of the 1960s, according to Johnson.

"The crime rate in China is so much lower than in the States. Beijing (formerly Peking), the capital of China, has a population of six million people but only 2,400 prisoners," he said.

Both Johnson and Matthews said they were struck by the lax security even in the maximum security prisons. "Their prisons are clean and living standards comparable to standards of the people outside, but security is very low-profile and the prisoners are relatively free." Johnson also said there is currently an increase in the crime rate in China, especially among juveniles, but that this is "nothing" compared to the rate of increase here.

This is one band that doesn't fool around

By Laurie Landgraf
Entertainment Editor

For some reason, some people still seem to think America is the land of opportunity.

While we groan about corporate monoliths swallowing up the business landscape, entrepreneurs like Steven Jobs founded companies like Apple Computer on a shoestring.

And as major record labels threaten megabuck musical mundaneness, there are more and more upstarts bucking the trend and originating albums on their own.

One such enterprising group is Fools Face, a five-member band from Springfield, Mo., with two albums to its credit. With the most recent, "Tell America," the band has recorded on its own label, following the road taken by such artists as Quarterflash and the Police.

The musicians have attracted a strong following in Missouri, breaking attendance records in clubs in every one of the state's major cities. Friday and Saturday nights they played at

T.J. McFly's in Carbondale.

Throughout the life of the group, its members have shunned outside control in favor of maintaining a say in material and identity.

"People say, 'You guys are such a good band and you turn out good records — you should have made it years ago,'" drummer Tommy Dwyer explained. "But we've done nothing but make progress over the past seven years. Sometimes it's been slow, sometimes fast, but the point is that we've been in charge of everything the whole time. We don't owe anybody anything except the fans who support us."

"There's no record company that's pumping dollars into us where they get everything we make for the next five years and our first-born male child."

The band is a close-knit entity; its musicians seem to start every thought with a "we," and one member will frequently finish a sentence begun by another.

Their major achievement so far is their second album, a collection of 14 original songs, most of them written by band members Dale McCoy, Jim Wirt and Jimmy Frink, released on the band's label, Talk Records.

"Anybody can make a record. The thing is making a good one and then promoting it so that it'll sell," Dwyer said.

When asked how they financed such a venture, Dwyer responded, "We work. We play," as if the two concepts meant the same thing. And they must to a group of artists who for the most part have poured their profits back into the band.

"We don't split the gate at the end of the night," said Wirt, bassist for the group. "We just take a set salary, and a small one at that, and the rest is reinvested."

The group's first album, "Here to Observe," came out in December 1979 and the 1,000 copies that were pressed sold out in two months.

A friend in Springfield gave them a financial break in the form of studio time on credit for their second album, released in November 1981. The studio owner friend, Pat Shikany, also produced the album.

"We had to work only in his spare time, so it took an incredibly long time to complete it," said Wirt. The group's record promoter, Chris Nadler, estimates that the album has sold about 3,000 copies.

Tightly harmonized vocals, truncated instrumental solos and a bouncy lead guitarist to label the music as bland. But, incorporated into their live show, the music positively percolates, along with a staggering variety of cover songs which range from early Beatles to recent Clash to the Zombies to the Stones.

That's why plans for their third album, tentatively titled "Public Places," (after the old saw, "Fools names and fools faces are always seen...") are to take on a more raw, intense, "live" sound.

"We kinda went in with the idea to kinda get the old sound in," Wirt said. "We don't do a lot of extended solos, and we try to do everything really concisely and say it and get out as quick as we can."

Aside from record promoter Nadler and two sound-and-light

XTC is 'making plans for Shryock'

British rock band XTC will bring its music across the water to perform at 8 p.m. April 18 at Shryock Auditorium.

Tickets are $8.50 and will go on sale at 7 a.m. April 8 in the Student Center Central Ticket Office.

Loverboy to rock Arena April 23

Loverboy and special guest Prism will be turned loose at 8 p.m. April 23 at the Arena. Tickets at $7 and $9 go on sale at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Arena South Lobby Box Office.

Loverboy, Canada's current best-selling rock band, is nominated for the 1982 Juno Awards (Canada's equivalent of the Grammy) in five categories including best album, single group and composer of the year.

"Loverboy," the band's first album with Mike Reno on lead vocals, Paul Dean on guitar and vocals, Matt Frenette on drums, Doug Johnson on keyboards and Scott Smith on bass, gained worldwide exposure with the songs "Turn Me Loose," "The Kid is Hot Tonight" and "Always on my Mind."

"Get Lucky," one of Billboard magazine's top 10 best-selling albums of the year, has climbed the charts with hits including "Working for the Weekend" and "Take Me to the Top."

Prism's latest album, "Small Change," is positioned just below Loverboy's on the Billboard charts.

Office.

Andy Partridge, lead singer and guitarist for the band, said his band is seen more as a group rather than as individual personalities because the members are not "sensationalist in terms of dress or attitude. If anything, we're violently normal."

XTC, which has been around for over six years, has made top British singles such as "Generals and Majors," "Life Begins at the Hop," "Making Plans for Nigel" and recently,

"Senses Working Overtime."

The band has recorded five albums, the latest being "English Settlement."

The opening act for the concert will be Jools Holland and his Millionaires. Holland was formerly keyboardist with the English rock group Squeeze. The Millionaires play a pop-rockabilly format and record on the International Record Syndicate label. Holland's band has been described as Beatlesque by New Music Express magazine.

men, the group is almost totally self-sufficient, and that includes booking.

"We tried working through an agency out of Minneapolis for a couple of months. We went up for a tour, and they had us playing in country bars!" Wirt said. "We looked at how much money we made and said, 'Well, we made a grand total of $19 this month.'"

"Things were going nowhere fast," said Brian Coffman, guitarist. "The agents were the ones making the money, and we were playing the wrong rooms for the wrong people."

After that, keyboardist

McCoy took over booking duties, and the band's members said things have worked out much better.

"This is the first 'new place' we've played in not quite a year," Wirt said. "We've been concentrating on our Missouri markets because it's been real profitable. But the time has come to expand."

Although the band has in the past toured as far north as Minnesota and as far south as Texas, they've never played in Chicago, Wirt said. But, he added with a cheerful grin, "We're fixin' to."

Home heating grants are available

Funds are available to provide energy assistance to eligible applicants in Jackson County, according to the Western Egyptian Economic Opportunity Council in Steelville.

Since the beginning of the program in February, 504 households have been assisted. Grants have been issued totaling $95,800, averaging about $190 per payment. The grants range from $50 to $360 depending on the applicant's income and type of heating fuel used.

Applications will be taken at the Western Egyptian Outreach Office, 1011 East St., Murphysboro, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and at the Community Service Room, 207 N. Marion St., Carbondale from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday. Jackson County residents may also apply for assistance from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the Vergennes City Hall, and from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. April 8 at the Campbell Hill Village Hall. The intake sites at Grand Tower, Gorham, Elkville and Ava close Wednesday.

Those applying must bring documents showing the household's income for the previous 90 days and if the household pays its own heating bills, a copy of the latest bill. Low income renters whose heating costs are included in their rental payments may also qualify for a grant.

Eligibility status or the amount of the grant will not be determined at the time application is made. Applicants will be notified by the Steelville central office within 30 days of making an application whether they qualify for the program.

Sometimes arrangements can be made for a home visit for ill or homebound persons to sign up for the program. To arrange a visit call the Murphysboro Outreach Office at 684-3341.

A Computerized Listing of Seniors & Graduates

Looking for your first full-time job? Now there is a new and unique way to do it. A new employment information service, Career Placement Registry, Inc., is available that will give you exposure to the personnel recruiters of the top 8,000 businesses, service organizations and industrial companies in the United States and 55 foreign countries, who now subscribe to DIALOG, the nation's foremost information retrieval service.

No employment agencies are involved. No recruiting fees are charged. As an upcoming college graduate, you pay only $8 to be included in this new national database.

CPR offers you exposure never before available—you can be registered under any one of over 400 occupational descriptions, from Accounting through Zoology. But only if you request and return your Data Entry form.

The database is copyrighted, and use of the file as a mailing list is prohibited.

It costs nothing to find out more about CPR. Just complete and return the coupon.

Can't see the mines? Experts prefer trees

Up to 40 reclamation experts are scheduled speakers for "Post-Mining Productivity with Trees," a seminar at SIUC Wednesday to Friday.

Experts will be drawn from universities, state and federal agencies and industry to lead discussions on forestation and forest habitat on surface-mined land, according to Clay A. Kolar of the Department of Botany, which is sponsoring the seminar.

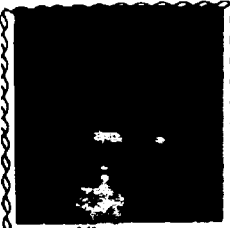

Other sponsors are the Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory and Coal Extraction and Utilization Research Center - the Kentucky Reclamation Association, Madisonville (Ky.) Community College and the University of Kentucky Department of Forestry.

The seminar, which is in conjunction with the spring

School of Music slates recital, concert

The School of Music will present two programs this week in the Old Baptist Foundation Chapel.

At 8 p.m. Wednesday, Beverly Hay, music faculty member, will give a recital of works by Schubert, Debussy, Bellini, Rodrigo and Ives. She will be accompanied by Margaret Simmons on piano and Ron Ford on piccolo. The recital is meeting of the American Council for Reclamation Research, opens at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday with a session, "Reclamation and Regulation," featuring William T. Plass, a retired ecologist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture; W. Clark Ashby, professor of botany at SIUC; and R. Scott Brundage, a reclamation specialist with the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

A Thursday afternoon session will be devoted to a meeting of ACRR. Seminar sessions are planned for the University Museum Auditorium in Faner Hall.

A Friday morning field trip to a reclamation site near Harrisburg is planned. Cost is $5. Registration fee for the seminar is $2.

A benefit April Fool's Day concert will be given at 8 p.m. Thursday. The concert will feature performances by a faculty ensemble, whose members will play instruments with which they aren't usually identified. Donations of $1 per person will be taken at the door. Proceeds will go to a scholarship fund for School of Music students.

"I don't see that there is any serious threat to the public in the near term. However, there is need for attention to be given to this issue - and it is being given," Szalay said, adding that more than $50 million is being spent by the industry on tube degradation research.

Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., whose energy subcommittee has been investigating the problem, termed it "widespread and persistent."

Gymnasts Levy, Slomski to vie for NCAA championship titles

By JoAnn Marciszewski
Staff Writer

Two Salukis are among the field of the nation's best gymnasts who will compete for the title of NCAA champion this weekend in Lincoln, Neb.

Tom Slomski will perform on the rings and John Levy on the high bar in specialist competition starting Thursday night. Twenty-four specialists will compete in each event, with the top eight advancing to the finals on Saturday night.

Coch Bill Meade said the two Salukis are capable of reaching finals and possibly earning All-American honors, which go to the top six in each event. Both Levy and Slomski enter the competition with a qualifying average of 9.62 and are doing routines at the level of difficulty needed for national competition, according to Meade.

High scores for the two gymnasts include a 9.75 for Levy on the high bar and a 9.65 for ring-specialist Slomski.

Slomski said consistency will be the key to doing well at the nationals.

"Whoever hits his routine will be up there," the junior said. Slomski has been working on his form during practice and hopes to straighten out some slight arm and knee bends during certain moves of his routine.

In the first round, Levy will perform a routine he has used during the season. The sophomore has been working on a variety of dismounts and may use a more difficult one if he makes finals, he said. Levy's feeling about his form as he performs will be the final consideration as to which dismount to use, he said.

A pair of two-time NCAA champions from Nebraska will return to be among the favorites in the high bar and ring competition. Phil Cahoy will try to retain his title on the high bar, and Jim Hartung will do the same on the rings.

Slomski said ringman Randy Jepson of Penn State, who has scored 9.9 this season, will be another top performer this weekend.

Levy anticipates Kevin Meeker of Minnesota, who has reached 9.9 on the high bar, to join Cahoy in being the ones to beat.

"There will be 10 to 15 people trying to make it," Slomski said of the eight spots in finals. If favorites Hartung and Jepson make a mistake on their routines, the event will be "up for grabs," Slomski said.

Levy approaches the NCAA meet with a feeling of "just getting up there and doing my job." He added that he felt good during recent practices and feels confident with his routine.

Before leaving for Lincoln on Tuesday, Slomski said, "There is no tension now. Five minutes before I go up, it may be different. I've been practicing hard and I hope I can reach finals. But my goal this year was to get this far. Anything more will be icing on the cake."

Luzinski singles White Sox to victory

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Greg Luzinski drilled a pair of singles to drive in one run and scored another Tuesday to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition baseball game.

Tony Bernazard singled in the Chicago half of the first inning, stole second and scored on Luzinski's two-out single.

Rookie Carlos Ibarra blanked Boston on four hits over five innings.

IM offers four more events

Golfers, fencers, cyclists and harriers will have the chance to practice their skills in April thanks to four events offered by intramural sports.

A 72-hole golf classic will begin Monday and continue through May 3. A meeting for interested golfers will be held in Room 158 of the Student Recreation Center at 5 p.m. Thursday.

The tourney will be held at the Crab Orchard and Midland Hills Golf Clubs. Golfers are required to complete four rounds of 18 holes by May 3. Pull carts will be provided by intramural sports, but golfers are required to assume all other expenses. Intercollegiate golfers since January 1981 are ineligible.

A fencing meet will be held April 6 and 7 from 6 to 11 p.m. at the west end of the Recreation Center Gymnasium. Individual and team entries are due at the SRC Information Desk by 6 p.m. April 6. A meeting will follow in the gym.

Preliminary and semifinal rounds will use conventional fencing equipment while final round competitors will use electrical foil equipment.

Team competition will consist of three-person teams. Men's, women's or any combination will be allowed. Accumulated individual points will reflect the team's total. Awards will be presented to the first and second place teams and to the first, second, and third place individual finishers.

Veteran, rookie shine in Cub win

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran Fergie Jenkins pitched six scoreless innings and rookie Ryne Sandberg hammered out three hits Tuesday to lead the Chicago Cubs to an 8-0 exhibition baseball victory over the California Angels.

Sandberg, who has taken the regular third base job from veteran Ken Reitz, started three rallies. He knocked out two singles and a triple and scored three runs. Jerry Morales drove in three runs with a single and a double.

Bill Buckner singled in a run in the first inning and the Cubs wrapped it up with four runs in the fourth featuring a two-run double by Jody Davis.

Jenkins allowed five hits in the six innings he worked and struck out five. Jenkins is slated to pitch the Cub home opener against New York on April 9.

The Tech-A parking lot will be the starting point for a cycling race at 11 a.m. April 10. Entries are due by 10:30 a.m. at the race site registration area. Advanced registration will be taken at the SRC Information Desk until 9 a.m. the day of the race.

The course is around the Lake-on-the-Campus Drive with three laps totaling about 75 miles.

Cyclists may use any speed bicycle with two working brakes and tight handlebars. Headgear or a helmet with a strap is mandatory although none are available from intramural sports. Awards will be presented to the first and second-place male and female finishers.

The 3.5 mile cross country "bunny run" starts at 4 p.m. April 13 at the Arena Fields.

Harriers can register until 3 p.m. on race day at the SRC Information Desk. A pre-race meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m. at the fields.

Medallions and "surprise" awards will be presented to the top male and female finishers. Medallions will also be presented to the male and female harriers who finish closest to their predicted time.

All currently enrolled SIU-C students are eligible for the intramural events. Student spouses and faculty and staff members and their spouses who have a valid SRC Use Pass or pay the tournament entry fee are also eligible. All of the above events have a $3 entry fee.

Meyer may stay, without star

CHICAGO (AP) — Ray Meyer, indicating he will remain as De Paul's head basketball coach for at least another season, is recruiting on the assumption that All-American Terry Cummings might turn pro.

Cummings, a 6-9 forward, recently told Meyer he might turn professional instead of playing out his senior year for the Blue Demons.

"I hate to say it but I think he might be going," said Meyer. "We have been recruiting the last week or so from that standpoint."

Cummings has until May 15 to notify the National Basketball Association of his intentions to turn professional if he is to become eligible for the NBA draft.

As for the possibility he might retire, the 68-year-old Meyer, who has 676 victories and 339 losses in his 40-year coaching career at De Paul, said, "Nothing is definite but I am leaning toward coaching next season. What I am thinking about now is how long I would stay."

When Meyer does retire, he will be succeeded by his son and top assistant, Joey Meyer.

Gymnasts seeded 11th of 12 teams

Vogel aims for top 10 at AIAW meet

By Steve Metsch
Sports Editor

Women's gymnastics Coach Herb Vogel said although there's "no way" his gymnasts can finish in the top four at the AIAW Nationals, he feels they can "hold their own" at the meet at Memphis State this weekend.

"It would be commendable if we came home with a 10th-place finish," Vogel said. "Anything above that would be frosting on the cake."

"Our objective is to beat the three teams in our rotation, which would move us into ninth place," he said. "Realistically, that may be the best we can do." The Salukis are seeded No. 11 in the 12-team field, and carry a 139.15 team average. The meet will be split into three four-team rotations. West Virginia, Ohio State, SIU-C and Washington State will compete against one another Friday. All-arounder competition will also be held Friday, with the top 10 individuals again battling each other Saturday.

Although the Salukis don't enter the meet with a high seed, Vogel is confident they can have a respectable showing.

"I know we can beat every team in our rotation," Vogel said. "Ohio State may have better depth, but we can beat them."

Ohio State edged SIU-C for the top spot in the Midwest Regional, 141.35 to 139.15, to earn an automatic national bid. The Salukis were one of five teams to receive an at-large bid.

This year marks the 18th in 19 years under Vogel's tutelage that SIU-C has qualified for the AIAW meet. Last year only Val Panton qualified, placing 46th in all-around competition with a 33.55 at Salt Lake City. The Salukis won the AIAW crown in 1970, 1974 and 1975.

Vogel said a team's seeding often influences scoring at the national meet, though all the teams are assumed to be "starting at ground zero."

"Judges are human, and since teams are supposedly seeded by quality they will think the better performances will be last," he said. "Due to this, the first-round scores will be a bit lower than they should be, since the judges' attitudes will be to save space for the later and possibly better scores. It happens this way every year."

Georgia, Utah State, Oral Roberts and Minnesota are the second-round teams. Florida, Brigham Young, Alabama and Oklahoma make up the third and final round.

The Salukis will start on the balance beam Friday since they are the third seed in their rotation. Vogel is glad SIU-C will start on its "strongest event," saying the team should score well if his gymnasts hit their beam routines.

Vogel said the Salukis' scores would benefit should the "very solid" all-arounders who compete prior to the Salukis do well. He said they would "set a level" for the first-round teams to shoot for.

SIU-C, however, is not without its own top-notch all-arounders. Vogel said Pam Turner and Panton "are as good as any of the all-arounders entered."

Turner, Panton and Lori Erickson all had averages above the individual cutoff mark of 34.10 and would have qualified for the national meet had the team not.

Vogel said he wasn't that surprised that SIU-C qualified as a team.

"I've said all along that the team would qualify if Turner, Panton and Erickson did. I knew it would be close, but I don't think anybody believed we would make it as a team."

Vogel is happy the Salukis will be traveling to Memphis State as one unit, saying the gymnasts seem to have more confidence performing as a team as opposed to individually.

Besides his "big three" all-arounders, Vogel plans to use Joanne Openheim on the vault and bars; Patty Reeves on all events but bars; Mary Runck on the beam and bars; and Lisa Peden on the beam and floor. He said either Runck or Peden will also compete on the vault.

Panton admitted SIU-C has "no chance of winning" the meet, but thought the team would "make a decent showing." She said she's improved the difficulty on her floor exercise and will use a different vault.

"I think I'll do OK," said the senior. "I'll have a big incentive to do well, since this is my last meet and my parents will be there." Panton is making her fourth trip to the AIAW meet.

Turner, the team's leading all-arounder with a 36.2 average, said she is "psyched up" for her first national meet, and thinks she'll do well as long as she hits all her routines.

"I should get my average. The judging will be tough on everyone, but I'll try not to look at the scores too much," said the sophomore standout.

Salukis hope to resume domination of Panthers

By Steve Metsch
Sports Editor

The Saluki baseball team hopes history doesn't repeat itself when SIU-C meets Greenville College at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Abe Martin Field.

Last year the NAIA team took advantage of seven Saluki errors — three of them in the ninth inning — to edge Southern, 8-7, in Carbondale.

"We were lucky last year," said Greenville Coach Dave Altopp. "But I think beating Southern was one of the worst things to happen to us."

Altopp said the Panther ballplayers suffered from a severe case of "big heads" after the upset victory and thought they were "world-beaters." The Salukis had defeated the Panthers in each of the two teams' 12 previous meetings.

"I was disappointed in the way we handled it," Altopp said of the surprising victory.

Altopp said he feels this year's edition of the Panthers is a "more mature" ballclub than the team that finished 17-27 a year ago.

"We've been playing good defense," he said. The defense failed the Panthers Monday, however, as they allowed Evansville seven unearned runs en route to their first defeat of the season, 13-9. Greenville is now 7-1.

Left fielder Brian Martie is the Panthers' big man at the plate. He hit .394 last season to earn an NAIA All-American honorable mention.

"On the mound, the Panther "ace" is Glenn Hobbie, a junior who was 4-5 last year. Altopp said the Salukis won't see Hobbie, since Greenville has an important doubleheader with Quincy Friday.

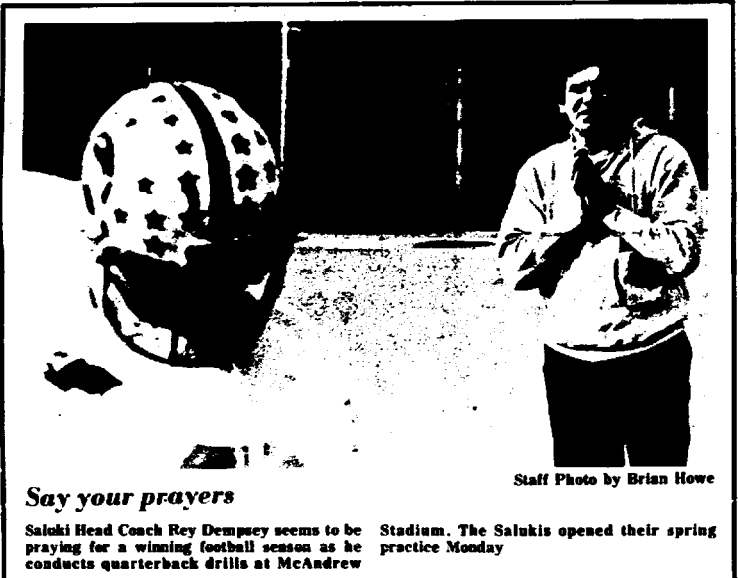

Instead, reliever Maurice Almon, who is 2-0 and has yet to allow an earned run this year, will get the call.

Saluki Assistant Coach Jerry Green said the Salukis don't hold a grudge against the Panthers, adding that Greenville has a "good baseball tradition." He warned that the Salukis shouldn't take the Panthers lightly.

"Anytime a team has a pitcher on the mound as good as Almon, they'll be tough to compete with," said Green.

Freshman hurler Jeff Irvin will try to keep SIU-C's win streak, which now stands at six, alive.

"We are starting Jeff because we want to see if he's better as a reliever or as a starter," said Green. Irvin, 0-1, has pitched in four games in relief and has a 6.75 ERA.

Softball team splits with SEMO

By Steve Metsch
Sports Editor

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Salukis looked like two different teams Wednesday as they split a softball doubleheader with Southeast Missouri State here at windy Arena Park.

In the first game, the Salukis couldn't buy a hit and were shut out, 1-0.

But the Salukis "exploded" for seven hits in the nightcap for a come-from-behind 4-3 win. SIU-C is now 7-10, while SEMO fell to 9-15.

Donna Dapson allowed just four hits in game one to the Lady Otahkians, but one of those was a long home run by third baseman Debs Kennedy in the second inning.

"I threw a changeup at the wrong time," said Dapson, whose record fell to 1-2. "The batter saw the way I was holding the ball and waited on the pitch."

Saluki Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said her team hit the ball hard, but right at people.

Both games were played with a strong wind blowing in from right field, but Brechtelsbauer said "both teams had to play in the wind, so neither had an advantage."

The Salukis managed just three hits off Lady Otahkian Kathy Williams.

In the second game, the Salukis played poorly in the field, committing three errors in the first inning to hand SEMO a 2-0 lead.

SIU-C wasted several chances to tie the game by again not getting hits when they were needed. Twice SIU-C left the bases loaded.

The Salukis finally broke out of their slump in the sixth inning by pushing across two runs to tie the score. Diane Broe and Karen Koltnow each drove in a run.

SEMO took advantage of an error by shortstop Val Upchurch to score a run in the bottom of the sixth.

The Salukis didn't give up, though, coming back with two runs in the seventh inning for the win. Gena Valli scored the winning run when the SEMO catcher bobbled a throw from right field.

"This is the most pleasing aspect of this team. They refuse to quit," said Coach Brechtelsbauer. "It would have been easy for us to lower our heads and go home after SEMO went up in the sixth inning, but we kept battling away."

Meredith Stengel went the distance for the Salukis to up her record to 4-3.

Brechtelsbauer wasn't pleased with the Saluki defense, and said she should have pulled Upchurch earlier than the sixth inning, when Chris Brewer replaced Upchurch after the junior committed her fourth error.

Brechtelsbauer concluded that the Salukis made a good "all-around effort" in the second game and the bench performed well.
