President Kennedy Killed By Sniper; Shot While Riding In Dallas Motorcade

★ ★ 2nd Johnson Holds Highest U.S. Office

The United States of America now has its second President with the name of Johnson.

Both have succeeded to office following assassination of their predecessors. Friday, Lyndon Baines Johnson of Texas succeeded John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Nearly 100 years ago, Andrew Johnson of Tennessee succeeded Abraham Lincoln after John Wilkes Booth's bullet felled the President in Ford's Theater in Washington. Andrew Johnson served from April 15, 1865, until March 3, 1869.

The nation's new President was sworn in about 2:30 p.m. CST Friday at the Dallas airport; a federal judge administered the oath of office to Johnson in his home state.

He then prepared to fly to Washington.

President Johnson was born near Stonewall, Texas, on Aug. 27, 1908, and is a graduate of Southwest State Teachers College in San Marcos. He attended Georgetown Law School, and was a teacher in the Houston public schools from 1930 to 1932.

He was secretary to Rep. Richard M. Kleberg of Texas from 1932-1935, and state director of the National Youth Administration in Texas from 1935 to 1937.

He was elected to Congress to fill an unexpired 1937-39 term, and served in Congress from 1939 to 1949 prior to his election to the Senate in 1949. He was majority leader prior to his election as vice-president in the 1960 election.

SIU Students:

Grief, Disbelief Follow JFK's Death

The strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner" floated through the crowded University Center Friday afternoon... a grief-stricken roomful remained seated in stunned silence.

The President of the United States was dead—it was official now. The national anthem was a dirge.

Groups of students sat and smoked. Some talked. Some didn't. All were still. Some wept.

One girl sobbed in a rest room, "Isn't it awful?" No one bothered to answer.

Stunned beyond comprehension, some walked slowly through a driving rainstorm,

Six Died In Office:

Every 20th Year Since 1860 Was Ominous For Presidents

Every 20 years since 1860, the President elected that year has died in office.

Abraham Lincoln won his first election in 1860 and died by an assassin's bullet early in his second term.

In 1880, the nation elected James A. Garfield as its chief executive officer. He also was assassinated, and died Sept. 19, 1881.

President William McKinley, elected in 1900, was shot in Buffalo, N.Y., on Sept. 6, 1901, and died Sept. 14.

Warren G. Harding, who won the election in 1920, died Aug. 2, 1923.

Franklin D. Roosevelt won his unprecedented third term in 1940 and died Apr. 12, 1945, while in his fourth term.

John F. Kennedy was elected in 1960 and was assassinated Friday, Nov. 22, 1963.

DALLAS

By The Associated Press

A furtive sniper armed with a high-powered rifle assassinated President John F. Kennedy Friday.

Barely two hours after Kennedy's death, Lyndon B. Johnson took the oath of office as the 37th President of the United States.

Kennedy was shot through the head and neck as he rode through Dallas in the presidential limousine in what had been a triumphal motorcade.

When the shots were fired at about 12:30 p.m. CST and the chief executive slumped forward, Mrs. Kennedy turned in the seat ahead of him and cried, "Oh, no," in anguish and horror.

She tried to cradle his head

Campus Activities

Resume Today

Most normal activities at SIU came to a halt Friday with the death of President John F. Kennedy.

The word of the assassination spread like wildfire throughout the campus. Shortly, after, classes were closed and University activities came to a halt as the shock of the incident hit home.

Vice President John E. Grinnell said the University activities ceased Friday out of respect to the President. They would be resumed today, he added.

News stories on regular campus activities appear on Pages 2, 3, 7 and 8 of today's Daily Egyptian.

in her arms as the limousine took off at top speed for Parkland Hospital where Kennedy died about half an hour later.

Johnson, who was Kennedy's vice president, automatically succeeded to the presidency.

The new chief executive took the oath of office at about 2:39 p.m. CST. For the first time in history, the oath was administered by a woman—U.S. Dist. Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

Johnson was sworn in aboard the presidential plane at Dallas' Love Field. He then flew to Washington to take over the government which

In his inaugural address as President, Kennedy said the American people could bring to the cause of freedom an energy, faith and devotion which would light the nation and set up a glow that "can truly light the world."

"And so, my fellow Americans," he went on, "ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

Kennedy had directed since Jan. 20, 1961, Kennedy's body was aboard the plane.

The same volley of shots that killed the President struck Gov. John Connally of Texas who was riding beside Kennedy.

Like Kennedy, the stricken Connally was sped to Parkland Hospital and wheeled into surgery for an emergency operation.

Connally was described as being in "very, very serious

President Kennedy Killed By Sniper In Dallas Friday

but not critical" condition. Julian Read, an aide to the governor, said Connally suffered three wounds—one in the right arm, one in the right leg and one in the back that pierced his body.

Kennedy, who was 46, was cut down by a flurry of bullets shortly after his open-topped car had left the Dallas business district, where thousands had massed 10 and 12 deep along each curb to cheer him and Mrs. Kennedy.

This was the first presidential assassination since 1900 when a half-crazed gunman shot William McKinley at close range during a reception in Buffalo, N.Y.

Kennedy was the first president to die in office since Franklin D. Roosevelt succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage in April 1945.

The Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Dallas police swung into action within seconds and launched what was perhaps the biggest, determined manhunt in the nation's history. A number of suspects were picked up during the next few hours.

The Dallas Police Department arrested Lee H. Oswald, 24, in connection with the slaying of a Dallas policeman.

He was also being questioned to see if he had any connection with the slaying of the President.

Kennedy was administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church shortly before he was carried into Parkland Hospital. He was the nation's first Catholic President.

Emergency treatment given the dying President was described for newsmen by two physicians, Drs. Kemp Clark, 38, and Malcolm Perry, 34.

Dr. Perry said Kennedy suffered a neck wound—a bullet hole in the lower part of the neck. There was a second wound in Kennedy's head but Perry was not certain it was inflicted by the same bullet.

The physician said the President lost consciousness as soon as he was hit and never revived.

Clark, a brain surgeon, reported that Kennedy was given oxygen and blood transfusions, then was administered an anesthetic so an emergency tracheotomy could be performed.

During this procedure, surgeons cut a hole in the President's windpipe in an attempt to ease his breathing.

Police believed the fatal volley was fired from a textbook warehouse overlooking the expressway down which the President's car was heading.

Bob Jackson, a photographer for the Dallas Times Herald, heard one shot, then two rapid bursts as he rode in an open convertible in the presidential motorcade.

Political Achievements:

Kennedy's Career Marked By 'Firsts'

The youngest man ever to be elected President, the first to face the imminent possibility of nuclear war, the first Catholic chosen for the highest office of the U.S. — this was President John F. Kennedy.

Inaugurated on Jan. 20, 1961 at the age of 43, Kennedy was thrown into the confusion of international affairs immediately after his election with the fiasco Cuban invasion and didn't leave it until his death, the latest crisis being the overthrow of the Viet Nam regime.

The crises he faced at home and abroad ranged from the threat of nuclear war over Russian missile bases in Cuba to a stand-off with steel manufacturers over price increases and the most vigorous campaign for Negro rights since Lincoln.

Kennedy began his political career at 29 when he entered Congress in 1946. After winning reelection twice, he ran for the Senate in 1952 and defeated Senator Lodge.

Though still a freshman, politically, he was a strong contender for the Democratic nomination for President in 1956, giving the experienced Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee a run for his money.

During the next four years, he prepared for the next election by conducting a whirlwind campaign, travelling all over the country, making speeches, speaking with local politicians and making friends.

Despite the fact that a Catholic had never been elected to this office, Kennedy felt this would be no handicap. When this proved to be true, Kennedy, thanking the voters said, "I had no doubt that you would cast your vote on the basis of the issues and not on any religious prejudice."

'Bay Of Pigs' Invasion Throws President Into International Crises

Shortly after his inauguration, Cuban refugees began filtering back into Cuba, determined to wrest the island from the control of the Communist and Castro. The activity came to a head in May when the Bay of Pigs invasion ended in tragedy. Despite the blame attributed to Kennedy for the failure, he repeated his intentions of protecting the country when he said, "In the event of any military intervention by outside force, we will immediately honor our obligations under the inter-American system to protect this hemisphere against external aggression."

To prove his point, Kennedy pushed through the adoption of a $600 million aid program for Latin America and the creation of the Alliance for Progress.

A strong believer in internationalism and American's obligations to under developed countries in danger of Communism, Kennedy's administration also passed the Trade Expansion Act which gave the President unprecedented power in tariff-cutting to bargain for mutual tariff concessions by the European Common Market and other non-Communist countries.

In domestic policies, Kennedy strove for economic growth without inflation which brought the steel crisis. Led by United States Steel, steel manufacturers announced a $6 a ton price increase after signing a wage agreement with the United Steelworkers Union. Kennedy himself met with U.S. Steel president Roger M. Blough to discourage the action, and the President won, adding that "this administration harbors no ill will against any individual, any industry, corporation or segment of the American economy."

Racial Strife Leads To Martial Law In Birmingham, Alabama

Perhaps the greatest internal crisis of all, however, began in Birmingham, Ala., when Negro and white Freedom Riders, in the spring of 1961, sought to break down bus station racial barriers. The movement grew and violence broke out until the President's brother, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, ordered U.S. marshals to Montgomery, Ala. and martial rule was declared.

Still worse rioting broke out in September, 1962, when Negro James Meredith attempted to enroll at "Ole' Miss" in Oxford, Miss. Again, despite the attempts of Governor Ross Barnett, Kennedy won, and Meredith was admitted.

The most tense crisis of all came just about a year ago, when, convinced of Soviet nuclear build-up on Cuba, the President appeared on television to announce that a quarantine would be put in effect around the island to prevent further delivery of weapons. He then called for the removal of existing weapons from the island. Tense days followed until Khrushchev backed down.

Kennedy was born in Brookline, Mass., May 29, 1917. He received his bachelor of science degree cum laude from Harvard in 1940, then studying at the London School of Economics.

He served in the Pacific Theater during World War II, rescuing his crew of the PT 109 after it was hit by a Japanese destroyer.

In 1953, Kennedy married Miss Jacqueline Lee Bouvier in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church at Newport, R.I. A daughter, Caroline Bouvier, was born in 1957, and three years later a son, John F. Jr.

A millionaire due to his father's trust funds for his children, Kennedy annually gave his salary to charity.

Chief Executive Called For Strength While Campaigning Here In 1960

Attired in a blue-grey suit, the ruddy complexioned Democratic nominee told the throng of students and Carbondale residents that "the question facing America today is how can we retain our relative strength against Communism."

This was a statement by President Kennedy during his one and only visit here, before the 1960 election.

Travelling by auto to the Murdale Shopping Center and McAndrew Stadium, he captured the interest of 10,000 on Oct. 3.

Kennedy held the attention of the enthusiastic gathering saying that "we must have a president who will sign a re-development area bill.

"A new government must devise a way to stimulate growth in these islands of unemployment," said the 42-year old senator, "unless the federal government devotes all its energy to this cause,

I don't think we can look to the future with confidence."

Looking directly at the SIU student body he said, "you are the future rulers of our country and it is the obligation of all men and women such as you to take an active part in our government. This job will not be an easy one and we must be willing to make sacrifices."

In closing, Kennedy quoted Thomas Paine, saying the "cause of America is the cause of all mankind." "Today the cause of all mankind is the cause of America," he concluded.

The program began at 1:30 p.m., with the SIU Marching Band, under the direction of Don Canedy.

Several county officials and state dignitaries were on hand for the memorable occasion. Senator Kennedy stopped at the Marion Veteran's Hospital after the McAndrew Stadium appearance.

luncheon on Pi Delta Epsilon, the collegiate publications fraternity whose biennial convention is being held on the SIU campus.

The convention luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. in Ballroom B of the University Center, and the convention banquet is scheduled for there at 6:30 p.m. today.

Douglas Stuart, chief of the Washington Bureau of the British Broadcasting Corporation, will be the speaker at the banquet. Special guests will be 11 Washington correspondents of foreign news media.

Delegates from throughout the United States are attending the convention. Its agenda includes discussion periods, communications workshops, business sessions, contests and campus tours. A dance from 8:30 p.m. to midnight in the Roman Room of the University Center will close today's activities.

Experiments With Personnel:

Piccone Takes New Wrinkles For Salukis' Use In Texas Game

SIU Head Coach Carmen Piccone had a few new wrinkles in mind when he and his football squad flew to Denton, Tex., and he'll be using them this afternoon at 2 p.m., when the Salukis engage the Eagles of North Texas State in the season finale for both teams.

Piccone didn't introduce any new plays at this late stage of the season in the past week of drills, but he did plan a few experiments with his personnel. Senior Dave Harris got the starting nod at quarterback with Jim Hart on the shelf, with the rest of the backfield remaining intact.

Charlie Warren will start in the left halfback slot, with Harry Bobbitt ready to go in his flanker back position and Irv Rhodes scheduled for the power plays at fullback. Changes in the line also were in Piccone's plans. With regular right tackle Jack Langi nursing an injury, Paul Della Vecchia, a sophomore from Philadelphia, moved into his first starting role this season. Della Vecchia weighs exactly the same as Langi—225—and should fill the vacancy adequately.

Freshman end Tom Massey didn't make the trip to Denton due to his still-sore back, and Piccone might experiment a bit at the split end position. Bonnie Shelton will likely start in that job, but Piccone may introduce a former defensive specialist before the game gets too far along.

The newcomer is Mike McGinnis, who started the season as a quarterback, but the sophomore soon was shifted to a flanker back role on defense. He hasn't played on offense all season, but he may get his baptism as a split end today.

Other positions in the forward wall have remained fairly stable in the past two games, and will be the same today. Bill Lepsi is listed as the starting tight end, but may share it with Shelton if McGinnis gets in.

Sophomore Vic Pantaleo is ready at the other tackle, and senior Jim Minton and junior Earl O'Malley have been called for guard duty. Working in the pivot slot will be second-year men Ben Hill and Gene Miller.

Nine seniors will be playing their final game in a Saluki uniform today—or they would be if they were all able to play. Injuries have sidelined four of them and they already have recorded their final minutes for Southern.

In addition to starters Harris and Minton, three others will see plenty of action as they bow out. The trio includes fullback Jerry Frericks, Overland, Mo., Bobby Hight, place-kicking ace from Centralia and halfback Pete Winton, Williar town, Mass.

The wounded foursome represents four key positions in the SIU lineup. Dave Mullane, St. Louis, was lost at center early in the year, and halfback Carl Kimbrel, Peoria, guard Larry Wagner, Overland, Mo., and end Don Ventuolo, Cranston, R.I., all were broken or bruised out of action in the last few games.

'Friendship Night'

Dance Is Saturday

An International Friendship Night Dance will be staged from 8:30 p.m. until midnight Saturday in the University Center Roman Room.

The Sting Rays will provide music. Also entertaining will be a comedy folk singing team, a Latin American dancer and a folk singer.

Magazine Editor

Speaks At SIU

Writers' Parley

James Palmer, executive editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, will be the featured speaker for the fourth annual Writers' Conference which opens on the SIU campus this morning.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. at the Faculty Club.

Palmer, whose topic will cover the demands of editors where free lance writers are concerned, will speak at both morning and afternoon sessions.

He has served in the past as a member of the staff of the Evansville Courier, as columnist for Theater Arts magazine and as a staff writer and non-fiction editor of Cosmopolitan.

James L.C. Ford of the SIU Department of Journalism is directing the conference. He will be assisted by John J. Leonard, Charles Neal and Frank Samuel, all SIU staff members who specialize in free-lance writing.

The conference is annually sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, national professional fraternity for women in journalism.

Students Will Vote On Plan For Health Service Building

New and improved Health Service facilities is the goal of a project put in motion by the Student Council Thursday night.

The Council authorized a referendum, to be held in January, to determine if the students would favor an increase in fees for the purpose of financing construction of a Health Service building.

Dr. Richard V. Lee, director of the Health Service, spoke to the Council briefly and answered questions of the student senators about possibilities for expanded health facilities and services.

Dick Moore, student body president, has been pushing the student hospital idea since he was elected to his position last year.

"With the approval of the students, we can have a new building in two years," he has said.

Moore explains that the first step probably would be to construct a building for dispensary service, on an outpatient basis only.

"But this university needs a 50-bed hospital," he added, "and I would hope that this could be a second step to follow as soon as possible."

The bill authorizing the referendum was sent to the Community Development and Services Committee. A referendum will be prepared and a date selected before the bill is reported back to the Council.

The bill states that the referendum should give the students "a range of alternatives."

A special building fund fee of at least a dollar per student per quarter has been proposed. This would probably be increased a dollar a year until the total Health Service building fund fee is about $5 per quarter.

The payment would be mandatory, as is the current University Center building fund, under the plan presently under consideration.

The Health Service has three doctors now. The ideal number would be one for each thousand students. This would be a total of about 12, Dr. Lee said. Even half that number would be a great improvement, he added.

Two physicians are on duty at any one time during daytime hours. More than 200 students a day are being seen by two doctors.

SIU Vocal Trio

Will Play Benefit

The Kinsman Trio, an SIU folk-singing group, will appear on the seventh annual Crippled Children's Telethon starting at 10 p.m. tonight over WPSD-TV, Paducah, Ky.

Part of the proceeds from the telethon, sponsored by Lions Clubs in Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri and Tennessee will go to therapy for area children and for camping at the Little Grassy Lake Camp.

Members of the Trio are Larry Brown, Carbondale; Mike West Champaign; and Dennis Jackman, Lawrenceville. Also appearing from Carbondale will be Mrs. Mildred Holland executive director of the Southern Illinois Association for the Crippled.

Varsity Vs. Frosh:

Intrasquad Skirmish To Open Cage Season

SIU's basketball teams get into the act here Tuesday night, when the Saluki varsity takes on the freshman squad in their annual intrasquad battle to kick off the new season.

The game is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. in the Men's Gymnasium, with an added attraction for fans who arrive early with the Southern Illinois Women's Gymnastic Club performing at 7 p.m. Admission prices have been set at $1.75 for adults and 50 cents for SIU students with activity cards.

This will be the second annual game sponsored by the SIU Spirit Council, which also sponsors all pep rallies, the card section at football games and the "Noisy Nomads." All proceeds of the game will be turned over to the Athletic Scholarship Fund and the Spirit Council.

Coach Jac Hartman's varsity crew is expected to get a stiff argument from freshman coach George Lubelt's outfit, which he has called "the best we've ever had."

Hartman has indicated that he may employ three sophomores in his starting lineup against the frosh, along with the steady influence of some upperclassmen. Ready to take over at the center slot in Hartman's high-low tandem post offense is Lloyd Stovall, 6-6 sophomore from Memphis, Tenn.

Boyd O'Neal, a 6-5 forward from Philadelphia and George McNeill, 6-2 guard from St. Louis, are other tentative varsity starters. Senior Eldon Bigham, 6-1, Pinckneyville, may have the edge on McNeill.

Paul Henry, second-leading scorer a year ago, is set at another guard position. Henry, Indianapolis, Ind., averaged 11.8 points per game last season. Joe Ramsey, 6-5, Sandoval, Ill., is Hartman's probable starter at the other forward.

The freshmen will attempt to put the skids under the veterans, with Walt Frazier, a promising 6-4 sharpshooter from Atlanta, Ga., leading the charge. Frazier has been converted into a guard, where Lubelt has high hopes for the youngster.

Others who could get starting calls Tuesday night are Roger Bechtold and Dave Renn of Belleville. They're both heralded as top SIU recruits, but they'll have to share game time with other good prospects Ray Krapf, Highland, Ralph Johnson, Trenton and Joe Klosterman, Breese.

Coach Meade Predicts:

Rookies To Give Gym Squad Tough Competition On Monday

SIU gymnastics coach Bill Meade has been highly impressed with the work of his freshman recruits this year, so impressed that he feels his varsity squad will have to be at its best when the two teams tangle in their annual intrasquad meet here Monday night. Starting time is 7:30 in the Men's Gymnasium.

Stock in the fortunes of the varsity picked up considerably Friday, however, because Rusty Mitchell, senior standout in nearly all events, was apparently ready to participate in the free exercise competition. Mitchell had broken a toe a few weeks ago, and it was doubtful that he'd be able to perform in free exercise.

Mitchell actually was a tumbling expert when he came to Southern, but has since developed into one of the finest All Around talents in the nation. He was an NCAA tumbling champion as a sophomore, finished second last year and is considered a near shooin this season.

Other proven performers ready to test the frosh in free exercise are Bill Hladik and Dennis and Bill Wolf, John Probek, a transfer from Iowa, will do most of the trampoline work for the varsity.

In parallel bars, it will be Mitchell, Dennis Wolf and Ray Yano. Steve Pasternak, H. Schafermeyer and Mitchell will have a shot at the side horse action. Mitchell, of course, will pace the varsity in the tumbling event.

In the still rings, the Wolf brothers have proven their tremendous abilities, as have veterans Chuck Ehrlich and Tom Geocaris. This is the varsity's strongest position, with Geocaris placing second in NCAA competition two years ago.

The freshman will come back with standouts Joe Nappi, Columbus, Ohio, and Frank Schmitz, Lafayette, La. Nappi is a top All Around first-year man and Schmitz will enter in trampoline and tumbling at least.

Brent Williams will probably go in free exercise, tumbling and trampoline, with Bob Dvorak slated for duty as a tramp man. On the horizontal or high bar, John Kavooras will test his skills, while Mike Voegler is set in the side horse event and Ken Wiegand in parallel bars and Warner Mertz as another tumbler.

A NEW DYNASTY? — When the Animals Swimming Team won the 1963 Men's Intramural Swimming Meet recently, other intramural teams took more than normal notice. The victory was the second triumph of the week for the off-campus organization which had won first place in the Intramural Wrestling Tournament only two days earlier. Members of the team are (left to right) Bob Taylor, Alec Pulley, Allen Eskonen, Joe Zimmer, Jon Shiddler and Bill Connott.

Animals Dominate IM Tourneys, Prepare For Basketball Events

Mention the "Animals" to most intramural teams and they'll almost automatically cringe--and with good reason. The Animals, an off-campus team, has just completed dominating both the intramural wrestling and swimming tournaments. And basketball just may be next.

In the swimming tournament, all records but one were smashed by the Animals. In fact, two of the swimmers, Jim Izetta and Phil Slotness won two first place awards each.

In the wrestling match, Animals took four of the seven weight divisions to capture the team trophy.

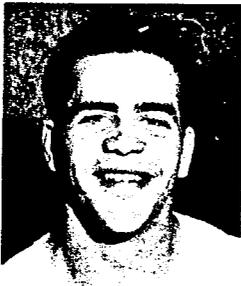

Tilford Felchlin and Sam Fazio of Granite City won the 136 pound and the 155 pound weight divisions respectively.

Jim Petruzzi of Maywood won the 165 pound division. Alex Pulley of Evanston captured the 175 pound division trophy.

Other division winners included: Denny Schrock of Peekin, Ill.--128 pound division. Jim Templeton of Evanston--heavyweight division. Fifth-eight wrestlers competed in the three-day event.

Intramural play now will concentrate on basketball with a meeting of managers set for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Men's Gym. Attendance at the meeting is mandatory.

Deadline for entering a team has been extended to 4 p.m. Monday in the Men's Gym. The $2 fee is payable at the same time.

300 High School Girls Attend Basketball Clinic Today

More than 300 high school girls from 33 southern Illinois high schools are on campus today for the annual SIU Women's High School Basketball Clinic. A service to area high schools, the clinic opens at 8 this morning with registration in Room 114 of the Women's Gym.

According to Charlotte West, instructor in women's physical education and the clinic general chairman, the girls will be divided into eight sections for the days activities. Each section will go by bus to one of eight gymnasiums in Carbondale where they will receive tips on how to improve their play.

Area schools represented include Anna-Jonesboro, Benton, Cairo, Carbondale Community, Dahlgren, DuQuoin, Flora, Freeburg, Harrisburg, Herrin, Marion, Marquette High School at Alton, Mascoutah, McLeansboro, Murphysboro, Nashville, New Athens.

Also North Gallatin High School at Ridgway, Pope County Community High School at Golconda, Sumner High School at Cairo, Tamms, Thebes, Trico at Campbell Hill, Waterloo, West Frankfort, La Grove High School at Farina, East St. Louis, Bethalto, Cartersville and Mount Vernon.

Design Department Lecture On Tuesday

Gerald Mason Feigen, doctor, writer, poet, artist and diplomat, to name a few of his fields, will give a lecture on "Choice or Chance" at 8 p.m., Tuesday in Muckelroy Auditorium in the Agriculture Building.

Feigen will arrive at SIU on his return trip from an interview with the President of Haiti.
