Clean-up Day set; largest dustpan to premiere Saturday

By Bruce Kirkham
Staff Writer

A lot of helping hands will descend upon the streets and alleys of Carbondale Saturday, filling trash bags with debris as a part of Carbondale Clean-up Day 1983.

The Helping Hands of You and Me is the theme for the fourth annual Clean-up Day, sponsored by the Undergraduate Student Organization, seven municipal units of Carbondale, WTAO and the Student Center. Registration for participants will be held from 8 to 9 a.m. Saturday at Turley Park on West Main Street.

Curtis McDaniel and Troy Brown, Clean-up Day coordinators, said Thursday that all plans for the event are finalized, and all that remains is for Clean-up Day to arrive.

The first three Clean-up Days removed 34 tons of trash from the streets of Carbondale, McDaniel said. Last year’s Clean-up Day netted 9.4 tons of debris, and McDaniel said he hopes that crews collect 15 tons this year.

McDaniel said he hopes to see 2000 participants at this year’s clean-up, an increase of about 500 from last year’s event. Transportation will be provided for participants to the day’s events at Turley Park and to designated clean-up areas in the city. Buses will leave Turley Park from the Student Center, Lent Hall and Neely Hall at 9 a.m.

The Illinois National Guard will provide transportation from the registration point at Turley Park to designated clean-up areas.

Prizes will be awarded to the fraternity, sorority, campus group and community group that gathers the most trash in their category. Prizes will also be awarded to the individual adult and youth who gathers the most trash.

Participants are eligible for prizes provided by Like Cola. The prizes include:

- DUSTPAN
- "Waging Peace" Poster
- "Time for talk" Poster
- "Waging Peace" T-shirt

See DUSTPAN, Page 3

Time for talk
Renita Daniels, talks to Amare Dawson, 16, on the basketball court at Evergreen Terrace after a rain. Friday’s forecast calls for an end to the week’s rainy spell although cloudy skies and a chance of drizzle is expected.

Staff Photo by Scott Shaw

USO approves bicycle safety resolution, recognizes group

By Bruce Kirkham
Staff Writer

A resolution that calls for improved bicycle safety measures on campus was approved by the Student Senate Wednesday.

The resolution designates the area between the Student Center and the south end of the student bicycle parking area as the "bicycle safety zone." The resolution also calls for the placement of "slow" signs at the base of the pedestrian walkway over U.S. Highway 51 and at other potentially hazardous places on campus, according to the resolution’s sponsor, Juanita Popper.

Speed tape will also be placed on the bike lanes of the overpass, according to the resolution. Speed tape serves the same purpose as rumble strips on highways, but is flat and therefore does not create a hazard to bicyclists.

The resolution also prohibits bicyclists from riding on the pedestrian walkway over U.S. Highway 51 and at other potentially hazardous places on campus, according to the resolution. Speed tape will also be placed on the bike lanes of the overpass, according to the resolution. Speed tape serves the same purpose as rumble strips on highways, but is flat and therefore does not create a hazard to bicyclists.

The resolution was approved in a 4 to 1 vote following lengthy discussion by the Senate. Senators who opposed the resolution said that they did not have adequate time to study the proposal. Five senators did not vote.

The resolution will now be sent to the University Traffic and Parking Commission for consideration.

In other business, the Senate approved a bill to recognize the Student Activity Council as a Registered Student Organization. The bill allows the council to use University facilities such as the Student Center for meetings and activities.

House votes to halt aid to Nicaragua

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitterly divided House on Thursday approved, by a 227-194 vote, largely along party lines, a cut-off bill identical to the one cited in the earlier tally.

Like the first cut-off proposal, the new one is seen as unlikely to win approval in the Republican-controlled Senate. There were 209 Democrats and 18 Republicans voting for the cut-off proposals.

The House vote came after a heated debate in which each side accused the other of risking America's war on Central America’s war.

"Military victory is the administration’s bottom line," charged Rep. Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., sponsor of the House Intelligence Committee, in his effort to defeat CIA backing for Contra rebels in Nicaragua. "Congress is determined to cut the support for leftist guerrillas in El Salvador and to accept new peace proposals from the so-called Costa Rican revolutionaries in El Salvador and to accept new peace proposals from the so-called Costa Rican revolutionaries in El Salvador.

Boland, sponsor of the cut-off amendment, said the Reagan administration must stop "waging war in Nicaragua. And make no mistake about it, this is exactly what the United States is doing.

But Republicans said the covert action had succeeded in pressuring the Nicaraguan government to curtail its support for leftist guerrillas in El Salvador and to accept new peace proposals from the so-called Costa Rican revolutionaries in El Salvador.

Purlear, declared Rep. G. William Whitehurst, R-Va., an intelligence committee member, if the covert action was stopped, "before this decade is out, you will see American blood splattered in ways no one can imagine." He suggested that if the covert action was stopped it could lead to U.S. military intervention.

The amendment to the 1984 intelligence authorization bill would eliminate the covert aid and replace it with $35 million in open assistance to help pre-U.S. nations in the region stop leftist gun-running.

At the State Department, negotiators were conferring with Foreign Minister Miguel Ivanic Thursday on the possibility of achieving peace in Central America. Secretary of State George Shultz was meeting with Assistant Secretary of State Langhorne Motley and other Latin American old reports. It was the first personal of its kind since Central American peace negotiations began nine months ago.

House votes to halt aid to Nicaragua

By Karen Torry
Staff Writer

The Illinois Senate on Thursday approved 38-15 an amended version of the Midwest Interstate Compact on Low-Level Radioactive Waste, but the vote did not guarantee that Illinois will share a waste dump.

One amendment, sponsored by state Sens. Kenneth Bushue, D-Makanda, and Paul McCullough, D-Dixon, mandates that public hearings be held in any state designated to host a dump site. The same amendment calls for host states to open a public access document room containing all compact-related documents in the state capital and at the county seat in the county where the site is located.

The compact is intended to form an agreement between Illinois and 14 other states to share a disposal site for low-level radioactive waste.

Another amendment directs the compact commission, in lieu of the state's refusal to amend the agreement, to "consider and adopt treatment, storage and disposal methods designed to minimize or eliminate the amount of waste requiring shallow land burial." This amendment also requires a dump-site operator to hold maximum liability insurance and ensures that all parties are warned of the onset of inspection, cleaning up and closing a dump site.

"You can't really prohibit it (shallow land burial) because there are very few disposal methods to shallow land burial and deep injection wells. You can't really prohibit it," said John Curnow, a member of the compact commission.

Curnow said he thought that the state will host a site longer than 20 years.

A third amendment requires that the regional management plan, which would determine how a dump site is operated, be located in Illinois and approved by the state's compact commission.

Curnow said he thought that the state will host a site longer than 20 years.

State Senate OKs nuclear waste compact

By Jennifer Phillips
Staff Writer

Three Murphysboro residents were arrested and charged with reckless possession and possession of a controlled substance early Thursday afternoon after about 10,000 assorted pills and capsules were discovered scattered about their home, as a prank.

Jackson County Sheriff Bill Kiwiskit said the drugs were being tested for content but at least 2270-194 pill bottle had been tampered with.

An estimated retail value of the drugs was not known as of Thursday afternoon.

Arrested were Richard Stearns, 26, Patty Ellis 17, and Roger Ratcliff, 25, according to the sheriff’s department.

The arrests were made after other businessmen called the parking lot of PJ’s Tavern in rural Murphysboro to look at a quantity of pills, according to the drug manufacturers who found them.

Bar employees described a van which had been seen

See Pils, Page 3

10,000 pills scattered in Murphysboro

By Jennifer Phillips
Staff Writer

W.A.R.

W.A.R.

W.A.R.

10,000 pills scattered in Murphysboro

By Jennifer Phillips
Staff Writer

Three Murphysboro residents were arrested and charged with reckless possession and possession of a controlled substance early Thursday afternoon after about 10,000 assorted pills and capsules were discovered scattered about their home, as a prank.

Jackson County Sheriff Bill Kiwiskit said the drugs were being tested for content but at least 2270-194 pill bottle had been tampered with.

An estimated retail value of the drugs was not known as of Thursday afternoon.

Arrested were Richard Stearns, 26, Patty Ellis 17, and Roger Ratcliff, 25, according to the sheriff’s department.

The arrests were made after other businessmen called the parking lot of PJ’s Tavern in rural Murphysboro to look at a quantity of pills, according to the drug manufacturers who found them.

Bar employees described a van which had been seen

See Pils, Page 3
State Senate approves deletion of provision linking aid to draft

By Phillip Piorini
Staff Writer

The Illinois Senate unanimously voted Wednesday to approve a James Thompson's deletion of a provision in a bill requiring students to sign a separate document proving draft registration before receiving state financial aid.

If the House duplicates the Senate action on the bill, the top grant available from the Illinois Student Scholarship Commission for the 1983-84 academic year would rise to $2,250 a year, up from $2,600. The Senators voted 58-0.

The House is expected to address the bill the first week in November if its fall veto session.

"If the House goes along with it, it will mean schools won't require a separate piece of paper before granting financial aid at the state level," said Robert Smith, director of the ISSC office of information services.

Clement said the state law would then "piggy-back" the federal system, which is already in place. The legislation, which will be signed into law, is being studied by the University Legal Counsel to see what other types of financial aid the bill may affect.

Thompson changed the original language of the bill in September to make it coincide with federal law, which requires students to sign a statement saying that they have either registered for the draft or are exempt.

The bill still includes a passage stating that applicants for any student aid funded by the state in whole or in part must submit to the institution documentation that he or she complies with the Selective Service registration as required by federal law. The bill permits to aid granted by the ISSC or any state-supported higher education institution used for a state-supported or private intake.

Presently, students must sign a statement of Educational Purpose-Registration Compliance form. Males not eligible for the draft and females who are exempt must complete that form.

That law will be in effect until the Supreme Court considers a formal appeal to a case of Carbondale's sign regulations, it was a loophole that needs to be addressed somehow," Thompson said.

Redmond presented a proposed test change prepared by the city's legal department which considers as a sign a "vehicle used primarily to support a sign." Vehicles used primarily to support signs affect about 5,000 SIU-C students, is being studied by the University Legal Counsel to see what other types of financial aid the bill may affect.

Thompson changed the original language of the bill in September to make it coincide with federal law, which requires students to sign a statement saying that they have either registered for the draft or are exempt.

The bill still includes a passage stating that applicants for any student aid funded by the state in whole or in part must submit to the institution documentation that he or she complies with the Selective Service registration as required by federal law. The bill permits to aid granted by the ISSC or any state-supported higher education institution used for a state-supported or private intake.

Presently, students must sign a statement of Educational Purpose-Registration Compliance form. Males not eligible for the draft and females who are exempt must complete that form.

That law will be in effect until the Supreme Court considers a formal appeal to a case of Carbondale's sign regulations, it was a loophole that needs to be addressed somehow," Thompson said.

Laws and regulations are known for having loopholes. In the case of Carbondale's sign regulations, it was a loophole big enough to drive a truck through.

Complaints from Carbondale residents about a pick-up truck with a sign in the back advertising a Village restaurant and parked at a busy intersection prompted the Village Planning Commission to examine the city's sign regulations Wednesday night.

Vehicles with signs in their beds do not fall under current sign regulations, Tom Redmond, city planner, said. Code Enforcement Director John Yow began receiving complaints about the Italian Village sign in March and the commission discussed the problem Sept. 21, Redmond said.

"It is a loophole that needs to be addressed somehow," he said.

Redmond presented a proposed test change prepared by the city's legal department which considers as a sign a "vehicle used primarily to support a sign." Vehicles used primarily to support signs affect about 5,000 SIU-C students, is being studied by the University Legal Counsel to see what other types of financial aid the bill may affect.

The change would not include "normal signs" such as signs on transportation, delivery or other vehicles used for regular business. Redmond said.

"It boils down to how the vehicle is being used," he said.

Commissioners say they will accept the change text and direct the planning and legal staff to reconsider its wording. "This is not written properly," Commissioner Self Schilling said.

Counilman Patrick Kelley, council liaison to the commission, suggested that the text change focus on whether signs are attached to vehicles, then specify certain exceptions such as detachable magnetic signs.

"When you get into the primary purpose of a vehicle, you're getting into a slippery area," Kelley said.

But another commissioner thought the group was considering an unconstitutional law and put the amendment on hold for a later date.

"We've decided we can legislate the aesthetics of what one can carry in his truck. What we're doing is wrong," Commissioner Jeff Pauline said.

"It's not our right to tell an individual how to use his truck. If he wants to put his truck on the parking lot and pay the meter, he has that right," Kelley said.

City debates legality of sign

By Paula J. Finlay
Staff Writer

The Illinois Senate unanimously voted Wednesday to approve a James Thompson's deletion of a provision in a bill requiring students to sign a separate document proving draft registration before receiving state financial aid.

If the House duplicates the Senate action on the bill, the top grant available from the Illinois Student Scholarship Commission for the 1983-84 academic year would rise to $2,250 a year, up from $2,600. The Senators voted 58-0.

The House is expected to address the bill the first week in November if its fall veto session.

"If the House goes along with it, it will mean schools won't require a separate piece of paper before granting financial aid at the state level," said Robert Smith, director of the ISSC office of information services.

Clement said the state law would then "piggy-back" the federal system, which is already in place. The legislation, which will be signed into law, is being studied by the University Legal Counsel to see what other types of financial aid the bill may affect.

Thompson changed the original language of the bill in September to make it coincide with federal law, which requires students to sign a statement saying that they have either registered for the draft or are exempt.

The bill still includes a passage stating that applicants for any student aid funded by the state in whole or in part must submit to the institution documentation that he or she complies with the Selective Service registration as required by federal law. The bill permits to aid granted by the ISSC or any state-supported higher education institution used for a state-supported or private intake.

Presently, students must sign a statement of Educational Purpose-Registration Compliance form. Males not eligible for the draft and females who are exempt must complete that form.

That law will be in effect until the Supreme Court considers a formal appeal to a case of Carbondale's sign regulations, it was a loophole that needs to be addressed somehow," Thompson said.

Laws and regulations are known for having loopholes. In the case of Carbondale's sign regulations, it was a loophole big enough to drive a truck through.

Complaints from Carbondale residents about a pick-up truck with a sign in the back advertising a Village restaurant and parked at a busy intersection prompted the Village Planning Commission to examine the city's sign regulations Wednesday night.

Vehicles with signs in their beds do not fall under current sign regulations, Tom Redmond, city planner, said. Code Enforcement Director John Yow began receiving complaints about the Italian Village sign in March and the commission discussed the problem Sept. 21, Redmond said.

"It is a loophole that needs to be addressed somehow," he said.

Redmond presented a proposed test change prepared by the city's legal department which considers as a sign a "vehicle used primarily to support a sign." Vehicles used primarily to support signs affect about 5,000 SIU-C students, is being studied by the University Legal Counsel to see what other types of financial aid the bill may affect.

The change would not include "normal signs" such as signs on transportation, delivery or other vehicles used for regular business. Redmond said.

"It boils down to how the vehicle is being used," he said.

Commissioners say they will accept the change text and direct the planning and legal staff to reconsider its wording. "This is not written properly," Commissioner Self Schilling said.

Counilman Patrick Kelley, council liaison to the commission, suggested that the text change focus on whether signs are attached to vehicles, then specify certain exceptions such as detachable magnetic signs.

"When you get into the primary purpose of a vehicle, you're getting into a slippery area," Kelley said.

But another commissioner thought the group was considering an unconstitutional law and put the amendment on hold for a later date.

"We've decided we can legislate the aesthetics of what one can carry in his truck. What we're doing is wrong," Commissioner Jeff Pauline said.

"It's not our right to tell an individual how to use his truck. If he wants to put his truck on the parking lot and pay the meter, he has that right," Kelley said.
Two burglaries reported to police

Two burglaries totaling over $1,500 in property losses were reported to Carbondale police Wednesday.

Edward F. Hitter, 26, 336 S. Graham St., told police his home was broken into late Wednesday morning and an AM-FM amplifier, a 30-inch color television and a cassette player were taken. The property’s value was estimated at $275.

In a separate incident, a 267 worth of stereo equipment was stolen from the car of William Lewis, 30, 221 Lynda St., police said.

An AM-FM cassette player, equalizer and two speakers were stolen sometime Tuesday night on Wednesday morning, police said.

DUSTPAN from Page 1

leaving the site where the drugs were found. A short time later, deputies stopped the van in Murphysboro and found a small quantity of pills and capsules in it, a spokesman said. Stearns and Ellis were arrested.

Deputies later obtained a search warrant and searched the home of Ratajczak, Qualls

PILLS from Page 1

McDaniel said.

The Clean-up Day will be of interest to not only Carbonale residents, but to writers of record books as well. The day will mark the debut of the world’s largest dustpan.

The dustpan, which measures 36 feet wide and 16 feet tall, was built by members of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. Also on display at Turley Park Saturday will be the world’s largest broom, which made its debut at Clean-up Day in 1980. The broom is 32 feet wide and has a 46-foot handle.

After the morning clean-up, participants will be treated to an afternoon of relaxing and entertainment in Turley Park at Clean-up Day Fest, which begins at 2 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by the rock group Spectrum, Tumbleton’s USA gymnastics team, the Black Fire Dancers and the Saluki Shakers. WTAQ is sponsoring the live entertainment.

COMPACT from Page 1

and burial.

"I want to prohibit shallow land burial sites because every one of them has become faulty," John said. "The state Department of Nuclear Safety has not even considered the possibility of problems." John denied that failure to

JSTRESS AND BURNOUT: COPING AND PREVENTION

Open to SIU faculty and staff, this 2-hour workshop will help you assess your present level of stress as well as develop coping skills. Call the Counseling Center (433-5371) for more information and a reservation.

WEDNESDAY NOV 2 7-9PM

"SHOP SMART" . . . AT

YOUR ILLINOIS LIQUOR MART

EASTGATE LIQUOR MART

Wall & Walnut

CARBONDALE

ABC LIQUOR MART

109 N. Washington

CARBONDALE

Take Charge With...

Visa

. . . From SIU Employees Credit Union.
No Better Place To Borrow.
No Better Place To Save.

1217 West Main St.
Carbondale, IL
457-3595

SIU EMPLOYEES CREDIT UNION

SIU EMPLOYEES CREDIT UNION

"SHOP SMART" . . . AT

YOUR ILLINOIS LIQUOR MART

EASTGATE LIQUOR MART

Wall & Walnut

CARBONDALE

ABC LIQUOR MART

109 N. Washington

CARBONDALE

Take Charge With...

Visa

. . . From SIU Employees Credit Union.
No Better Place To Borrow.
No Better Place To Save.

1217 West Main St.
Carbondale, IL
457-3595

SIU EMPLOYEES CREDIT UNION
Letters

You can't judge U.S. from campus

The Carbondale City Council has proven once again that morality what is right and what is wrong is in the eyes of the beholder.

It is morally more acceptable to drink in a nice, new, clean hotel complex, than in one of our very own bars along the famous, already established Strip. A nice, new, clean environment, where we can drink in a proper, clean, well-maintained, and sanitary place.

How can you not lose at a hotel or convention center, unless, of course, you are from out of town. We know the Carbondale City Council doesn't encourage or promote out-of-town partiers. That's bad for our image (unless money is to be made, like Halloween for instance.)

I, for one, would never be able to afford to book a hotel for a good time, unless there was a little sense and a few cent drafts. Besides, I can never find the bathrooms. They're always down the hall to the right, then left, and then it's too late anyway.

So, pretty soon, folks like you and me will have to hitch the roads for those relocated bars. And those cops will be busy busting those wandering souls, and God only knows who would benefit from that.

Except the Carbondale City Council and Stan Hoye, the Housing Staff, Trueblood Hall.

New hotel better for drinkers

I would like to write in reply to the letter of Kyu Ho Yoon, that who wrote in reply to the article about Mr. Cho and Mr. Shim isn't democracy because...

First of all, I will admit to being guilty of assumption on certain points, but good reason. Mr. Yoon states that Mr. Shim's and Mr. Cho's unfavorable comments about America were not meant to be as we confided between Korea and America. Yet, in the original article Mr. Shim says, "Koreans meet with their friends in cases of accurate things while here people meet to discuss fake things, maybe I don't know, is it only me?" Maybe Mr. Yoon has a better article.

The comments about violence and American neighbor were directly above the former comment, giving the impression of a paragraph a sense of contrast.

I also admit that I incorrectly assumed a contrast of Korean girls to American girls. This

Of cockroaches and men - cockroaches win

THERE DON'T occur very often in my life because one has to search desperately for one's mind to be occupied. It happened to me the other night while doing the dishes is a task which, you must admit, requires little mind-work and is often boring. Right, but grinding a coffee cup, I lost all my thoughts.

For an instant, I was in a panic. I looked about the kitchen, for I have a thing about bugs and might be living on something to ponder other than my normal thoughts. I was then马上 the remains of the previous night's chicken fricassee. At the moment, a tiny cockroach (one of many unwanted houseguests) crawled up the wall from under the sink.

MY USUAL reaction to the sight of a cockroach is typical of humans. A grimace followed by an exhaustive effort to destroy the bug with all available resources.

But in my desperation for something to contemplate, I forgot for that moment my normal reaction to the sight of a cockroach. Instead, I decided that there must be something in the life of a cockroach worth thinking about at least until I'm through scouring the bathroom.

We all know what humans think of cockroaches. But don't decide that not enough attention has been given the roaches' impression of us.

What if, for example, my roaches, in the hall, would have joined me and my friends at a hotel, while during the week, I was barefoot and seen in the Capitol rotunda awaiting passage of an Equal Rights Amendment. I doubt the roaches even have constitutions to stand the sights of America. Roaches eat, rest and have to have a reason to be anywhere. Wait a minute, you say. If that's all roaches do, doesn't that mean they're pretty stupid? Aren't eating, resting and reproduction fundamental instincts, common to all animals?

THAT'S RIGHT. But one cockroach trait convinces me of their intelligence. When we sense the presence of a roach, we grime. When roaches sense the presence of a human, they do the only thing any rational animal would do. They run.

Jay Small
Editorial Page Editor

We tried our best that night to enjoy the greats of religion: whether God exists, what God might be and how a person might justify playing with an imperfect universe. Philosophers have debated these matters incoherently for as long as we've had philosophers, and wars have been fought to decide which race has the better understanding of God. If all this conflict has failed to resolve the matter, the questions must be unanswered, we concluded.

But what would a cockroach say about religion? Very little, but the cockroach might fight over religion because they don't even discuss it informally, they don't make any race, they don't say to questions and make more roaches.

Our discussion shifted to earthly matters - relationships between nations. Though we agreed that the nuclear arms race is a dangerous overestimation of the safety of a balance of power, we couldn't decide on a way out, try as we might. We couldn't even agree as to how imminent a global nuclear war might be.

International arms control, negotiations should take heed of the cardinal rule of poker: Don't bet unless you're prepared to lose.

Despite four years of controversy and mounting international protests, the United States and its NATO allies are preparing to deploy new missiles in Europe.

Although the official decision on whether to put Pershing II and ground-launched Cruise missiles in Europe will not be made until mid-December, 35 missiles have reportedly been packed up and are ready for shipping to completed facilities in West German.

The decision to deploy the missiles was made by NATO leaders in December, 1979, along with an announcement of NATO's willingness to begin negotiations to reduce overall strength of intermediate-range nuclear missiles on both sides.

But with the steadily deteriorating state of Soviet-American relations, fueled by President Reagan's militarily rhetoric and heightened by the recent downing of a Korean passenger jet, it is almost certain that the first missiles will be installed early next year.

NATO leaders claim that 108 Pershings and 464 Cruise missiles are a necessary response to the Soviet Union's deployment in the late 1970s of an intermediate-range ballistic missiles aimed at Western Europe.

Deployment proponents say the missiles are also a necessary bargaining chip to be used at the negotiating table with the Soviets. Opponents point out that every Soviet target that can be hit by a Cruise missile can also be obliterated several times over by the United States and Europe.

And the prediction of Euromissile opponents that the Soviets will attempt to match the missile ante in Europe has already born true. Early this Fall, the Pentagon informed the NATO allies that if the Euromissiles are installed, the Soviet Union will deploy new nuclear weapons capable of reaching the United States in 15 minutes.

So what is to be gained by the Euromissiles? Undoubtedly the new weapons would provide NATO with a more flexible response. They also will more clearly link American and Allied forces and serve as a symbol of NATO cohesiveness that has often been neglected.

But strategic improvements can be matched by the Soviets, and the symbolic gains come at a costly and potentially deadly price.

The Euromissiles are considered to have sparked a week of massive protests in Europe. Last Saturday, tens of thousands of West German took part in demonstrations and blockades of U.S. military bases.

In the capital of Bonn, protestors formed a four-mile human chain between the American and Soviet embassies, while in West Berlin a crowd of 40,000 converged on U.C. E. military barracks.

This Saturday, in Carbondale and in cities across the United States, peace groups are staging demonstrations to coincide with the NATO meeting.

While it is almost certain that the demonstrations will not stop the Euromissile deployment, the protestors have a message that must be heard.

It's time for both players in this nuclear poker game to take a hard look at the cards and consider whether the price of the game is worth the payoff.

The Carbondale City Council has proven once again that morality is right and what is wrong is in the eyes of the beholder.

It is morally more acceptable to drink in a nice, new, clean hotel complex, than in one of our very own bars along the famous, already established Strip. A nice, new, clean environment, where we can drink in a proper, clean, well-maintained, and sanitary place.

How can you not lose at a hotel or convention center, unless, of course, you are from out of town. We know the Carbondale City Council doesn't encourage or promote out-of-town partiers. That's bad for our image (unless money is to be made, like Halloween for instance.)

I, for one, would never be able to afford to book a hotel for a good time, unless there was a little sense and a few cent drafts. Besides, I can never find the bathrooms. They're always down the hall to the right, then left, and then it's too late anyway.

So, pretty soon, folks like you and me will have to hitch the roads for those relocated bars. And those cops will be busy busting those wandering souls, and God only knows who would benefit from that.

Except the Carbondale City Council and Stan Hoye, the Housing Staff, Trueblood Hall.

How can you not lose at a hotel or convention center, unless, of course, you are from out of town. We know the Carbondale City Council doesn't encourage or promote out-of-town partiers. That's bad for our image (unless money is to be made, like Halloween for instance.)

I, for one, would never be able to afford to book a hotel for a good time, unless there was a little sense and a few cent drafts. Besides, I can never find the bathrooms. They're always down the hall to the right, then left, and then it's too late anyway.

So, pretty soon, folks like you and me will have to hitch the roads for those relocated bars. And those cops will be busy busting those wandering souls, and God only knows who would benefit from that.

Except the Carbondale City Council and Stan Hoye, the Housing Staff, Trueblood Hall.

How can you not lose at a hotel or convention center, unless, of course, you are from out of town. We know the Carbondale City Council doesn't encourage or promote out-of-town partiers. That's bad for our image (unless money is to be made, like Halloween for instance.)

I, for one, would never be able to afford to book a hotel for a good time, unless there was a little sense and a few cent drafts. Besides, I can never find the bathrooms. They're always down the hall to the right, then left, and then it's too late anyway.

So, pretty soon, folks like you and me will have to hitch the roads for those relocated bars. And those cops will be busy busting those wandering souls, and God only knows who would benefit from that.

Except the Carbondale City Council and Stan Hoye, the Housing Staff, Trueblood Hall.
Is fear of exploitation paranoia?

Women don't threaten any freedoms

I don't know whether rape can be attributed to pornography, but the sociologist who says it cannot, then who am I to disagree with their conclusions? I will simply continue to ignore magazines that portray a woman in a provocative way or covergirls, with headlines such as, "She begged me for it!" Not only does this sort of thing degrading to women, they're genuinely afraid of it. I grant you, Mr. Isaacs (Ron Isaacs letter, Oct. 19), that many women welcome the attention of men through their dresses. But don't we mean they want their clothes torn off and their bodies ravaged?

In addition, I don't know of any women who have explored the sexual fantasies of their own. I think that is a business reason. I think you've been watching too much Joan Collins type television.

Another view of yours I'd like to comment on is that women live in paranoid fear of men, to the extent of not going out or not wearing certain types of clothing. This tends to make me think you've been reading statistics too many and that you, in fact, resent women.

Isaacs is concerned about people who fear rape. I see that rape is a serious breach of freedom that women are justifiably afraid of. Until there are no more rapists, and that possibility is remote, it encourages violence against women, is degrading and exploitative to persons of both sexes.

No one said that "feelinists." No one said that the "feminist instinct" is not natural, but understand, Mr. Isaacs, that what he's discussing with the "matting instinct," it's not the fourth horseman.

Is the fear of exploitation 'paranoia'?

By Juliana Anastasoff

Viewpoint

Sexism 'fuels suppression of freedom'

By Juliana Anastasoff

Student Writer

Ron Isaacs' letter shrieked in disgust about a "paranoid, tunnel-visioned" feminist that he sees as a threat to his freedom, but his sexism, antedocentrism and Ignorance fuels the fire of his perception.

First, in the social sciences, of which feminist theory and criticism are a part, there is no phenomenon that is ever "intellecually laid to rest," as he assumes was the case of the relationship between pornography and violence toward women. No one can soundly communicate the final word on any issue. To endorse the state with such an absolute privilege and accuracy is to claim the very freedom he fears to lose.

Second, what he presents as a factual presupposition by pornography's readership is his own misguided belief. If he were to visit an establishment that peddled porn, he would find few "high school boys and other 'good girls'" in the crowd. Even a visit to a local book or liquor store's rack of porn magazines would give him a more realistic view of the consumers.

THIRD, he wrongly asserts that feminists wish to "purge all references to the admiration of feminine beauty from literature and art." Actually, feminists are among the first to distinguish between what is sexual and erotic and what is pornographic. Many female writers, artists and filmmakers are exploring sensuality and eroticism from a female point of view.

The Venus de Milo, which he suggests feminists would strip, is a far cry from pornography that depicts women bound, bruised and beaten, with their mouths and vaginas torn and bloodied from pistols and spiked phallic devices. Isaacs whines that feminists dismiss his First Amendment rights in wanting to ban pornography. If he were in fact familiar with the feminist issues he criticizes, he would know that banning is not a feminist objective.

DO YOU KNOW, Mr. Isaacs, what it is like to have the image of your body made into a commodity? To be defined in the world as a necessary component to the "natural mating instinct," as if it were just another body part? Feminists are supposedly above all animals in their ability to reason and control their animalistic instincts.

Just because a woman carries herself in a way that happens to turn on your mating instinct, if it doesn't mean she's inviting your attention or admiration.

FINALLY, Isaacs accuses feminists of being paranoid and narrow-minded. Does this apply to the men who call themselves feminists, who participate in feminist issues in practice and theory? The dictionary defines feminism as "the principle that women should have political, economic and social rights equal to that of men." Is this the narrow-mindedness and tunnel vision that threaten your constitutional rights?

We are forced into struggle daily because we have multi-racial friends, because we promote our ethnicity and because we refuse to stay locked up at night. We fight for our very lives. Must you fight for a freedom that is morally threatening to others?...
DFX2's 'Emotion' a good double for Rolling Stones music style

By Mike Nelson
WIBB DeeJay

DFX2 — "Emotion"

If you can't wait for the new Rolling Stones album, try the new mini-LP by DFX2, "Emotion." This New York City-based quartet sounds so much like the Stones it's amazing.

Led by brothers Douglas and David Farage, DFX2 favor a straightforward, guitar-charged approach that recalls the Stones at their raunchiest, circa "Some Girls." Singer Doug Farage has mastered Mick Jagger's vocal mannerisms.

On the opener, "Emotion," Farage pulls off a near-perfect Jagger impression, complete with a falsetto during the chorus, courtesy of "Emotional Rescue." David Farage's guitar work is raw and un-disciplined; he prefers power chords over ringing leads (check withKeith).

Stark rhythm and blues reworkings like "No Dough" and "Maurice" are saved by the band's sheer bravado and sense of raving energy. The best cut on the LP is "Down to the Bone," an aching-sounding tribute to the punk spirit of early rock and roll. DFX2 shakes off the Stones' enigma on "Down to the Bone," and at last emerges with a musical force of its own right.

Robert Christgau of the Village Voice said it best: "DFX2 is something the Rolling Stones will never be again, and that's hungry."

The Jam — "Snap!"

Many critics are ambivalent about compilations, or "greatest hits" albums. And deservedly so, since most are either released to fulfill an artist's contract or are an attempt to cash in on Christmastime record buyers. The resulting albums are often stale and generally unlistenable because of lacking concept or direction.

But there are a few notable exceptions. John Lennon's "Shaved Fish" comes to mind at once. The new Jam compilation, "Snap!" should be added to that minuscule list. "Snap!" is a marvelous collection of recordings from the most successful British band of the '70s. According to Polydor Records, in 1980 the Jam placed more singles in the U.K. Top 50 than any band since — you guessed it — the Beatles, whose record they tied. From their first single, 1977's "In the City," to the last studio work, "Beat Surrender," the Jam had over 20 hit singles make the U.K. charts.

After the "Beat Surrender" EP was released at Christmas in 1982, group leader Paul Weller announced he was splitting up the band. A posthumous live album followed, called "Big in the New Breed." After that, there was silence from the Jam.

"Snap!" is the Jam's last hurrah. With each of the group's former members firmly entrenched in solo projects, a reformation of the band, although hinted at in English music papers, is doubtful at best.

"Snap!" is a double album, a phenomenon usually reserved for such heavyweights like the Beatles and the Stones.

The song selection is sterling. From the Who-influenced mod material of the LPs "In the City" and "This Is the Modern World" to the political stabs of "All Mod Cons" and "Setting Sons," "Snap!" is an honest and satisfying portrait of this eclectic band.

As seems to be the trend for compilation albums, a couple of bonus tracks are added. A demo version of "That's Entertainment" from 1980, was included because, according to Weller, "I had a certain quality that was never captured again."

The last side of "Snap!" is probably the hardest to listen to, since it features the band's later material, which is heavily funk-influenced. But that's a relatively minor criticism of an otherwise excellent compilation. Maybe Polydor should have called the LP "Buy!"

Country Matters: selected seductions by Shakespeare

Friday, November 4, 3:00 P.M.
$10.00, 8:30, 7:50

A collection of scenes from some of the best Shakespearean works, all dealing with the theme of seduction. This is a major new American reading of Shakespeare. Included will be an excerpt from "Hamlet," "Othello," and "The Taming of the Shrew."

Calling all ladies: a special price of $6.00 will be available for ladies this evening with a male escort. This is a rare opportunity to hear one of America's most versatile actors, known for his Emmy Award-winning role as Lt. Trench on the Harry O series.
Comedy contest is Tuesday

So you think you’re funny? Prove it. Perform in the “Catch A Rising Star” comedy contest at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Ballroom D of the Student Center.

“Catch a Rising Star” will also provide the audience with an opportunity to witness undiscovered talents as student stand-up comedians showcase their humor in competition to be the funniest.

The comedy search is sponsored by SPC Center Programming and Lite Beer from Miller in conjunction with the New York Comedy Club of the same name—“Catch a Rising Star.” Bill Scheft, a regular from the club will emcee the show, as well as perform. Scheft will judge the show along with four local personalities: Jay Michaels, WTMJ deejay and “Friday Night Jive” host; Terry Lucey, Daily Egyptian Entertainment editor; Iris Topp, WSIU and Mark Johnson of Miller Brewing Company.

The winner of the Comedy Search will perform with “Catch A Rising Star” comedians J.J. Wall, Rita Rodner and Scheft at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 7 in Ballroom D.

Applications for the comedy search are available in the SPC office, located on the third floor of the Student Center.

Admission is free.

Sweet Adelines sound to come to Marion

The Singing Sphinx Chapter of the international four-part harmony, barbershop style, singing club for women is presenting “Have Song - Will Sing” at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Marion Civic Center.

The chorus will present a variety of songs, some old, some new, arranged in the barbershop style and directed by Kitty Malpas.

“Musically Yours,” a quartet comprised of Singing Sphinx and Chapter at Large will also perform.

The region’s newest chorus, The Giradot Rose Chapter from Cape Girardeau, MO, will also perform. The show won’t be entirely woman’s work, however. The male quartet, “Four Most Likely” from Mammoth Cave, KY, will be there.

In the “something for everyone” category, a touch of class, glamour, sophistication and magic is added. The Sweet Adelines quartet from Champaign, Illinois, “Magic,” which placed near the top-10 in regional competition will appear.

Tickets are $4 or $3 for senior citizens and children. They are on sale from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and will be available at the door.

Nightlife... an erotic look at the business of pleasure!

Starring Bridgette Monet, Loni Sanders, Dorothy LeMay, Nancy Winter, Ginger, Gale Sterling, A Monetica

Rated X Adults Only

Absolutely NO ONE under 18 admitted. I.D. required.

SHOWS DAILY
1:15 3:15 5:15 7:15 9:15
Halloween T-shirt draws fire

A campus fraternity hoping to reap some financial rewards from the sale of a Halloween T-shirt has met some grim opposition.

A T-shirt being sold by the Southern Illinois chapter of Delta Chi fraternity has come under fire for promoting violence against women.

A group of students has organized a march to protest the shirt, which shows the legendary Grim Reaper holding the blade of a sickle across the breasts of a scantily-clad woman. The march is scheduled to start at noon Friday in front of Quigley Hall, where the fraternity is expected to be selling the shirts.

Greg Lacina, the fraternity’s vice president, said the fraternity members would have changed the shirt’s design had they known it would be so controversial.

“Our intentions have always been strictly to raise money,” he said. “There was no intent on our part to make any statement about women and violence. We had no intentions of offending anyone.”

Lacina, a senior in political science, said the 46-member fraternity has $5,200 invested in the 2,000 shirts which they purchased. He said profits from the shirt sale will be used to refurbish the fraternity’s lounge area.

Lacina said he plans to talk to the people who are offended by the shirt and that fraternity members are considering volunteering their time or a portion of their profits from the T-shirt sale to Women’s Services.

The shirt, which was designed by Delta Chi member Michael Potter, has not escaped the notice of SIU administrators.

Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, said that although he would like the group to stop selling the shirts, he does not plan to force them to do so.

“While the T-shirts are offensive to many individuals,” Swinburne said, “I feel that censorship is also extremely offensive.”

Swinburne also denied rumors that his office had offered to buy all the T-shirts from the fraternity to avoid a controversy.

SIU vs. Indiana State

ON WIDB

LIVE! Saturday at 1:10pm

Your announcers will be Scott Wetzel/Dave Clifford play-by-play and Bob Mackay with field reports

After the game be sure to tune in SPORTSVIEW Call-in Sports program Sundays 9-10pm.

CARBONDALE CLEAN UP ‘83

The Helping hands of You & Me

Oct. 22 9am-4pm

Individual groups or organizations can compete for prizes. So enter your group today at 3rd floor Student Center. Free T-Shirts, concert prizes & more. Transportation will be provided. Meet at Lentz Hall or Needy circle at 9:00AM

Sponsored by: Undergraduate Student Organization, Like Cola & Carbondale Park District, WTAO

AMC UNIVERSITY 457-4733 UNIVERSITY THEATRE SUNDAY THROUGH WEDNESDAY

MIDNIGHT MOVIE EXPRESS

John Belushi Animal House

Fri & Sat 12:00

THE NIGHT OF THE LIVING DEAD

Fri & Sat 12:00

The feel-good movie of 1983

The eight star actors deserve one big Oscar...tiny this funny and ferociously smart movie.

How much love, sex, fun and friendship can a person take?

They’re eight old friends who haven’t seen each other since the 1960’s. Searching for something they’ve lost, and finding all they need in each other.

The BIG CHILL

Showtimes

Fri 09:00 11:00

Sat 09:00 11:30

Sun 09:00 11:30

Fox Eastgate WEinfenbacher Industries

457-4733 UNIVERSITY THEATRE

- - - - - - - - - - - - - -

BEEFMASHER’S

Sunday Champagne Brunch

Only $5.95

11-2pm

Sunday All You Can Eat Barbecue Ribs

plus salad bar and baked potato

Only $5.95

from 3-10pm

No reservations needed

SIU vs. Indiana State on WIDB

LIVE! Saturday at 1:10pm

Your announcers will be Scott Wetzel/Dave Clifford play-by-play and Bob Mackay with field reports

After the game be sure to tune in SPORTSVIEW Call-in Sports program Sundays 9-10pm.

WIDB - THE LEADER IN NATIONAL AND SALUKI SPORTS COVERAGE

CARBONDALE CLEAN UP ‘83

The Helping hands of You & Me

Oct. 22 9am-4pm

Individual groups or organizations can compete for prizes. So enter your group today at 3rd floor Student Center. Free T-Shirts, concert prizes & more. Transportation will be provided. Meet at Lentz Hall or Needy circle at 9:00AM

Sponsored by: Undergraduate Student Organization, Like Cola & Carbondale Park District, WTAO

Brooke Price for Student & Mr. Spirit with AMC, UBASS & THE WIDB SPORTS SHOW BELIEVES IN SPECIAL INDUSTRY AWARD EXCLUDED

UNDER FIRE

Fri at 5 (2:00/1:75), 7:15, 9:30
Sat at 4:00/1:75, 7:15, 9:35
Sun at 1:15, 4:00/1:75, 7:30

MIDNITE MOVIE EXPRESS

John Belushi Animal House

Fri & Sat 12:00

THE NIGHT OF THE LIVING DEAD

Fri & Sat 12:00

The feel-good movie of 1983

The eight star actors deserve one big Oscar...tiny this funny and ferociously smart movie.

How much love, sex, fun and friendship can a person take?

They’re eight old friends who haven’t seen each other since the 1960’s. Searching for something they’ve lost, and finding all they need in each other.

The BIG CHILL

Showtimes

Fri 09:00 11:00

Sat 09:00 11:30

Sun 09:00 11:30

Fox Eastgate WEinfenbacher Industries

457-4733 UNIVERSITY THEATRE

- - - - - - - - - - - - - -

BEEFMASHER’S

Sunday Champagne Brunch

Only $5.95

11-2pm

Sunday All You Can Eat Barbecue Ribs

plus salad bar and baked potato

Only $5.95

from 3-10pm

No reservations needed

SIU vs. Indiana State on WIDB

LIVE! Saturday at 1:10pm

Your announcers will be Scott Wetzel/Dave Clifford play-by-play and Bob Mackay with field reports

After the game be sure to tune in SPORTSVIEW Call-in Sports program Sundays 9-10pm.

WIDB - THE LEADER IN NATIONAL AND SALUKI SPORTS COVERAGE

CARBONDALE CLEAN UP ‘83

The Helping hands of You & Me

Oct. 22 9am-4pm

Individual groups or organizations can compete for prizes. So enter your group today at 3rd floor Student Center. Free T-Shirts, concert prizes & more. Transportation will be provided. Meet at Lentz Hall or Needy circle at 9:00AM

Sponsored by: Undergraduate Student Organization, Like Cola & Carbondale Park District, WTAO
Carbondale banker selected professional's woman of year

By John Stewart
Staff Writer

Local bank vice president Marjune Fletcher was named Woman of the Year by the Carbondale Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night at the Carbondale Elks Club.

Fletcher, who joined Carbondale's First National Bank in 1963 as a secretary, worked her way up to executive secretary, assistant trust officer, and acting trust officer. She is now a vice president, trust officer, and secretary of the board of directors.

"Her career growth is remarkable, she's an example to us all," said Lucy Odanell, chairperson of the award's selection committee. Odanell said Fletcher was chosen because of her community service and her career achievements while raising a family.

A lifelong Carbondale resident, Fletcher is active in Piophil Sigma Alpha, an international philanthropic sorority which supports St. Jude's childrens hospital in Memphis and its Midwest affiliate in Peoria. The group also raises money for Easter Seals who research cure an d help youngsters go to summer camp. She is a past president and is currently treasurer.

She is also active in the Egyptian Valley Chapter of the Bank Administration Institute. She was the first woman officer of the group when it was elected secretary in 1975, and she was subsequently elected president in 1977.

She managed to raise three boys while also working at First National, a stint at the University of North Carolina banking school, and her professional and community involvement.

She said it is necessary to keep up with the action. Only Nikon has the technology to create a shutter speed of 1/5000 sec.--the fastest ever in a 35mm SLR--to expose even fast subjects moving as fast as a speeding bullet.

Revolutionary new Nikon FM2 catches the action you've been missing.

Olympus XA 2 Demo
full warranty
-
$79.00-

SELECT GROUP of LENS CASES
-
1/2 OFF-

INVENTORY REDUCTION SALE!
(While supplies last)

Starts Friday 10/21

THE COLOR OF EUROPE
$1.00 Box
8-point Chrome 16 exposure Iron Man and pinhead included. (Not a per customer)

UNICOLOR
$1.00 a box
(any size)

SPIE! We've moved . . . . next to Campus McDonald's.
815 S. Illinois, Carbondale
457-2223

Hickory Smoked Bar-B-Que!
Spare Ribs and Rib Tip Dinner
All You Can Eat!
With Slaw, Steak Fries and Roll

local Photographers

All good ghosts & goblins will be gathered at SPC's Halloween Tail-Great Party Oct. 29, 11am Free Forum Area Activities Include: Beer can sculpturing Contest Face Painting Costume Contest Tail Gate Theme Contest GREAT PRIZES for Info call: 536-3393 SPC Center Programming, Fine Arts, Saluki Spirit

All good ghosts & goblins will be gathered at SPC's Halloween Tail-Great Party Oct. 29, 11am Free Forum Area Activities Include: Beer can sculpturing Contest Face Painting Costume Contest Tail Gate Theme Contest GREAT PRIZES for Info call: 536-3393 SPC Center Programming, Fine Arts, Saluki Spirit
Church seminar on wellness to consider holistic approach

By John Schrag
Staff Writer

"Die young...late in life." That is the goal being promoted by a local church working to increase people's awareness about the concept of wellness. The Church of the Good Shepherd, United Church of Christ, is sponsoring a seminar on wellness from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

The church is located on the corner of Schwartz Street and Orchard Drive. The seminar is free and nursery care will be provided.

Kosheva said there is a biblical foundation to promoting wellness. "Jesus said 'I have come to bring life and life abundant,'" he said. "What we need to explore is what is an abundant life in this age of consumerism and high technology."

Wellness can also be traced back to the Old Testament concept of shalom, Kosheva said, which literally means "I wish for you well-being."

Kosheva, who recently spent a four-month sabbatical studying wellness, said that people have become too dependent on the medical profession and need to look more toward community support in their effort to maintain a state of wellness.

The Rev. Ted Braun, minister of the Church of the Good Shepherd, said he is also dismayed by what he calls the "culture trap of negative health practices."

"The U.S. illness industry is the third largest industry in the nation, with only food and housing using up a larger percentage of the Gross National Product," Braun said. "And its costs have been estimated to be increasing at the rate of 10 percent a year." Braun said that the medical industry costs every person in the United States more than $600 a year, "whether we use it or not."

He-e-ere's Joanna — asking $2.6 million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joanna Carson, the estranged wife of "Tonight" show host Johnny Carson, says she needs $250,000 a month to keep up the lifestyle she was grown accustomed to. She is asking $2.6 million a year in temporary support while her divorce suit is pending against the entertainer who makes $1.5 million a month, Mrs. Carson's attorney says.

Mrs. Carson says she needs $7,000 a month just to pay for jewelry and furs. "Throughout the course of our marriage I have dressed stylishly," she explains. "I have averaged approximately $5,000 per month for clothing and department store purchases."

She also says she needs $71,000 a year to pay for maintenance guards for their home in Bel-Air.

She says the home has extensive landscaping and numerous plants indoors requiring a gardener and an "indoor plant service."

Also, she says, she and her husband "have been quite generous with our friends and relatives and have made substantial gifts to them," costing an average of $12,000 a month in 1982.

Monthly sums included: $4,945 for clothing and department store purchases. $1,400; home repair and maintenance. $2,650; guards, $7,120, and telephone bills, $5,527.

The Carsonos, who married on Sept. 30, 1972, both filed divorce petitions in Superior Court on March 9. They cited irreconcilable differences and asked that disposition of community property be decided in court.

Beefmaster's
FRIDAY NIGHT
FABULOUS SEAFOOD FESTIVAL
Flown in fresh from Boston
Live Whole Maine Lobster
King Crab Legs
Swordfish
Trot Almondine
Plus Much More!
Super Salad Bar with every entree.
Plus free oysters on the 1/2 shell.
Reservations not mandatory.

HAUNTING FOR A GOOD TIME?
Creep into DuMaroc's Sat., Oct. 22 for the first bewitching Halloween Party of the year.

Guys and Ghouls try your costume early and scare up some extra cash.
$50 for the Best Costume
$50 for the Wildest Costume
$50 for the Sexiest Costume

Special Chiller Thriller
Free Champagne 8-11pm
MEETINGS FRIDAY: Sigma Delta Chi, society of professional journalists, noon, Communications 1246 and Litter Day Student Association, noon, Thebes Room.

A Multimedia production titled "If I Should Die..." will be shown at 7 and 8:30 p.m. Friday in Ballroom B. Campus Crusade for Christ is sponsoring the show on the reality of death, which was created by Paragon Productions.

THE STUDENT Environmental center is looking for volunteers to help at 9 a.m. Saturday with the Carbondale Clean-Up. A potluck dinner will be held afterwards. Anyone who is interested may call 549-2364.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Army Thursday reopened 13 out of 23 military specialties it closed to enlisted women about a year ago when it ruled those jobs carried the risk of involvement in "direct combat."

The action follows strong protests from women's groups, particularly an advisory panel whose leader complained of the closure actions to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

The announcement did not mention such pressure, saying the reopening of the 13 career fields resulted from a six-month Army staff review.

The Army also announced adoption of a new Military Entrance Physical Strength Capacity Test which will measure the ability of both men and women volunteers to handle assignments they might receive in uniform.

The Army stressed that this test will be only a guideline and that it should not be used to bar soldiers from any particular job.

Specialties closed to women year ago reopened by Army

Puzzle answers

TOURING BIKE BLOWOUT

Save $50-$200
Sale Ends October 31
Layaway Now for Christmas

One of a kind designed Wedding rings for "you" by Allan Stuck

529-2341
218 S. Illinois
I buy or trade for scrap gold.
Poster entrepreneur’s hobby turns into growing business

By Sheila Rogers
Staff Writer

Four thousand dollars for a movie poster? Even the standard $1 is a little stiff for college students.

But people are willing to pay the price for their favorite movie poster, giving Michael Sauvageau a chance to be set for life with his original movie poster business.

The 23-year-old founder of Fo-Flake Productions visited the Student Center last week bringing his 2,000 original movie posters and a list of 500 "most asked for" posters for students to buy and browse through.

Sauvageau, originally from Ottawa, has been collecting movie posters since he was 16. While attending Illinois State University, he decided to sell some of his collection. He set up a display at the student union, which was such a success he decided to go out on his own.

During the past year, Sauvageau traveled the university circuit with his posters. He now has a full-time sales representative, who does most of the traveling, a full-time secretary and two part-time workers.

In this way he can stay in Normal and work out of his office, filling requests and locating and ordering more posters.

Original movie posters cannot be bought in stores. They can be purchased through private collectors and dealers like himself, of whom, Sauvageau said, there are few. Sauvageau gets his original movie posters from a distributor, the National Screen Service, and from private collectors.

When someone buys a poster from him, that person is put on a mailing list and may be tracked down in the future and given the option of selling their poster back. This is done when someone else wants that particular poster and it’s not available.

When a movie is released, posters are made and distributed to theaters in which that film will play. The posters are not to be sold to the public. Theaters rent the posters from NSS. All movie posters are printed in a limited edition and are only issued when a film is being released. Sauvageau said that about 30 percent of the posters released survive usage and theft. This explains the high price for the posters. He explains this with simple economics: supply and demand.

Sauvageau explained that about 5,000 posters were printed up for the movie "Return of the Jedi." He said that this was not a large number for a high-budget movie. Millions of people flocked to see the movie.

So far, Sauvageau has been collecting posters for life and is the founder of Flare Productions visited the Student Center Center. By his senior year in 1982, he decided to sell his original movie posters through.

In the fall of 1982, while at Illinois State University, he decided to sell his original movie posters through his Student Union Center.

During the fall of 1982, while at Illinois State University, he decided to sell his original movie posters through his Student Union Center.

During the past year, Sauvageau traveled the university circuit with his posters. He now has a full-time sales representative, who does most of the traveling, a full-time secretary and two part-time workers.

In this way he can stay in Normal and work out of his office, filling requests and locating and ordering more posters.

Original movie posters cannot be bought in stores. They can be purchased through private collectors and dealers like himself, of whom, Sauvageau said, there are few. Sauvageau gets his original movie posters from a distributor, the National Screen Service, and from private collectors.

When someone buys a poster from him, that person is put on a mailing list and may be tracked down in the future and given the option of selling their poster back. This is done when someone else wants that particular poster and it’s not available.

When a movie is released, posters are made and distributed to theaters in which that film will play. The posters are not to be sold to the public. Theaters rent the posters from NSS. All movie posters are printed in a limited edition and are only issued when a film is being released. Sauvageau said that about 30 percent of the posters released survive usage and theft. This explains the high price for the posters. He explains this with simple economics: supply and demand.

Sauvageau explained that about 5,000 posters were printed up for the movie "Return of the Jedi." He said that this was not a large number for a high-budget movie. Millions of people flocked to see the movie.

When you buy one order of ten Chicken McNuggets, we’ll give you another order free. Limit one coupon per customer, per visit. Please present coupon when ordering. Not valid with any other offer.

See POSTER Page 13

Staff Photo by Neville Loberg

Two students browse through movie posters in the Student Center.

We serve breakfast all day
PAPA C’S PRESENTS
BREAKFAST SPECIAL
99c
204 W. College
10/17 to 10/24
Egg, sausage on bacon & cheese on a biscuit

Coo-Coo’s
HAN SUPER SOWN
AND THIS WEEKEND THE
GRAND OPENING
OF OUR
SUPER VIDEOS
ON OUR 7 MONITORS
FREE ADMISSION
FREE POPCORN
FREE CHAMPAGNE
FOR EVERYONE ALL NIGHT!!
FRIDAY & SATURDAY NIGHT DOORS OPEN AT 9:00pm
IN THE
CARTERVILLE 527-3755
985-3755

McNUGGET MANIA IS HERE!
COME ON IN!
BUY ONE SIX PIECE CHICKEN McNUGGETS--
GET ONE FREE

When you buy one order of ten
Chicken McNuggets, we’ll give you another order free. Limit one coupon per customer, per visit. Please present coupon when ordering. Not valid with any other offer.

See POSTER Page 13

Staff Photo by Neville Loberg

Two students browse through movie posters in the Student Center.

West Roads
"Westroads, more than just another liquor mart"
Murdale Shopping Center · Carbondale · 529-1221
Open till Midnight Friday, Saturday
Sale good Oct. 21-23

Stroh’s 16oz. Returnable Case
$8.99

Tuborg 6pkg 12oz. NR
$2.19

Miller’s 6pkg 12oz. cans
$2.39

Busch 12pkg 12oz. cans
$4.49

Quality House Vodka
$4.29

Stroh’s 6pkg 12oz. cans
$2.39

Last chance to Buy Beer in Bottles
Halloween ban in effect Mon., Oct. 24th.
Each wanting a little souvenir.

In all cases, the number of movie fans outweighs
the number of posters.

All of Sauvageau's posters are originals. He said that a 1927 silent film poster was reproduced for a special poster by looking at the bottom of the poster for serial numbers.

If the movie is going to be good not by the amount of money put into the poster itself.

SAUVAGEAU'S PRIVATE COLLECTION consists of about 500 posters. Some of his posters go back to the silent film days of the 1920s. One section of his collection is worth $50,000.

He said the cookies probably would be destroyed after being returned to the plant.
The National Alpha Zeta scholarships to received the agricultural education, Alpha Zeta awards two scholarships

Page 14.

47 Fancies
58
50 Month: abbr. 11
33
54 Reared
24
C~~r ~~~~.
36
40
44
42 Iraq
Rep IN~k~

5 Room
Naval

A-8 money 4
Detum
Saltpeter
CondHion:
suff.
Water: Sp.
Fish sauce 70 Commuter
Design 62 Finally frame

Miehty

Kin of 21

No

Expunge
Preoccupied

ACROSS ·59GMIboI
16 Collina plane
14 lariat
19

40

33
73 Ribbon: suff.
72
71
75
73
72
71
70
69 Tropic8l tree
68
67
66
65
64
63
62
61
60
59
58
57
56
55
54
53
52
51 Poem
50
49
48 "Out'
47
46lnformed
45
44
43 Forms anew
42 Stupefy
41
40
39
38
37 Schedule
36
35
34
33
32
31
30
29
28
27 Rep lN~k~
26 Helton
25 Stupendous
24 Condition: suff.
23 "even" ship
22
21
20
19
18
17
16
15
14
13
12
11
10
9
8
7
6
5
4
3
2
1

Alpha Zeta awards two scholarships

"The National Alpha Zeta Foundation, a professional service and honorary fraternity in agriculture, presented two scholarships to SIU-C students. John Rabat, senior in agricultural education, received the $350 Leasure scholarship. The award was endowed by former agriculture professor Keith Leasure and his wife, Betty.

Charles Stitt, senior in agricultural education, received the $750 Diamond Anniversary scholarship. The award is one of the top four presented annually by the foundation.

Benefit ball slated to aid Carbondale day care program

A pre-Halloween benefit ball for Carbondale's child care program will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in Ballrooms A and B of the Student Center, WIDB, the Black Affairs Council, Iota Phi Beta and the Child Care Parent Council are co-sponsoring the event. The sponsors are trying to raise $200 for child care, which provides day-care service at the Farm Haynes Center for underprivileged families.

The benefit is intended to "offset some of the cuts for, "incoming" in the city's budget for the program, Brenda Mitchel, education monitor for child care, said. It is the third in a series of events that will include an international day and telethon.

Tickets for the ball are $1.50 per student and $2.50 for others. Music will be provided by WIDB. Refreshments will also be served.

Abbot show set

Abbot Hall is sponsoring the second annual haunted forest from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Friday between Thompson Point and Greek Row on Douglas Drive. No admittance will be charged. Children ages 4 to 12 may attend.

TJ's Discount Liquor
1224 W. Main
"The Coldest Beer in Town"

J & B Scotch
750 ml
$8.99

Tanqueray
750 ml
$7.62

Scheaffer
Case of cans
$5.99

Riunite
1.5 Liter
Lambroso
Roadie
Biondo

$4.49

Old Crow
1 Liter

$5.71

Old Style
6 pack cans

Sale Prices Good Fri., Sat. & Sun.

Hangar Inn
Friday Happy Hour
3:30-8:00

Professor Fun Keys
30c Drafts 754 Speedrails
No Cover

Friday & Saturday

The Chicago Blues of

Mighty

Joe Young

Hangar Hotline 349-1233

Pizza Inn

ALL YOU CAN EAT
Sunday night 5-9pm

$3.29

Buffet Hours:
Sun 11-2 and 5-9
M-F 11-2
Tues. Eve.
5:30-8:30
(Sun. night buffet at Carbondale store only)

For pizza out it's Pizza Inn.

Pizza Inn

FVIE FREE PIZZA
Buy any Original Thin Crust or Deep Dish Pan Pizza, and get the next smaller size style pizza with equal number of toppings. Free. Present this coupon with guest check. Not valid DE on any other offer. Expires: 1/1/85

FVIE SOFT DRINK
present this coupon and receive a nickel soft drink with every buffet purchased to your party. Expires: 11/1/83
‘Re-entry’ women’s situation assisted by program’s options

By Karen Terry
Staff Writer

You can usually pick them out of the crowd. They’re the older women, better dressed than the average freshman, who seldom miss class and sit in the front row, taking neat, copious notes.

Women’s Services calls them “re-entry students,” women who are returning to college after a long absence. But, although there is no typical person who fits that label, says Mary Finley, coordinator of the Women’s Services Re-entry Program, re-entry women do share a common, unique set of problems and needs.

Many re-entry women come out of unhappy marriages, are raising children and trying to survive on a low income, added Sally Prane, a graduate assistant with Women’s Services. Those factors often equal guilt, low self-esteem and “no concept of being able to make it,” she said.

The guilt is borne of an “illogical message” women are sold when they are young that “good mothers stay home with their children,” said Prane, 34, a Ph.D candidate in guidance and educational psychology. And women suffer low self-esteem, she said, because, unlike men, women are not taught to be assertive and self-sufficient.

“They’re on their own and they’re scared to death,” said Prane, who came to Carbondale with her two children in 1980 after she was divorced. Prane provides counseling for re-entry women.

Some women come for counseling in crisis situations—they’re broke and need food.

See PROGRAM, Page 16
Most regulations lifted for Bell's competitors

By Norman Black
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission ushered in a new era of "marketplace freedom" Wednesday by freeing the Bell System's long-distance competitors from virtually all regulation.

By a unanimous vote, the FCC decision leaves only the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and firms offering international telex and telephone services subject to full regulation by the FCC.

"As far as we're concerned, this is another incredible action by the FCC," said AT&T spokesman Jim Wagner. "The commission continues to try to encourage competition, but won't permit us to do this. Our competitors can run up and down the playing field as they choose, and the commission continues to make us stay behind the goal line. That essentially makes no sense."

30 killed in storm, resort devastated

Mazatlan, Mexico (AP) — Authorities Thursday declared this Pacific tourist resort a disaster zone and said 30 people missing after Hurricane Tico swept through the area with 150-mile-an-hour winds that forced 25,000 to abandon their homes.

Red Cross spokesman Antonio Velazquez said officials knew of no injuries or deaths in the storm. He said among the 30 people missing were seven fishermen who set sail before dawn Wednesday despite warnings from port authorities that the hurricane was about to hit.

Mazatlan Mayor Jose Rico said the emergency was declared because the winds blacked out the city and crippled the electrically-run potable water system.
By Sara Lyter
Staff Writer

Now that mid-terms are over and there are a few weekends left before the first real dump of winter weather sets in, it's time to be outside.

Autumn is beautiful in Southern Illinois and there are plenty of places to explore, hike, and camp.

Rimrock National Recreation Trail is located in the Pounds Hollow lake and recreation area. No camping is allowed in the Rimrock area, there are many opportunities to hike and explore.

Rimrock refers to the rim of cliffs surrounding the top of the hill on the sides. Prehistoric Indians made a complete enclosure of "hounds" by finishing the short fourth side with a wall of rocks. This structure was possibly used for defense or maybe as a chute through which stampeding buffalo were driven.

If you want to camp as well as hike, try the Johnson Creek Recreation Area on the northwest corner of Kinkaid Lake. Johnson Creek features a hike-in campground and trails. Boats may also be moored at designated areas.

For braver souls, Grapevine Trail in Alexander County offers the most primitive camping. The trail is a road with a campground nearby with no water or electricity. All but the most enduring campers avoid it in the winter.

The Trail of Tears State Forest in Union County is a network of 81 trails of more than 46 miles. Primitive tent camping is allowed. The Trail of Tears area terrain is formed by steep slopes with ridges 150 to 200 feet high running down into narrow valleys.

In 1838 and 1839, 10,000 Cherokees were forced to move from the Great Smoky Mountains to a reservation in Oklahoma. They passed through this area and tried to camp in Southern Illinois because ice floating in the Mississippi River barred their way. Over the severe winter, many of the Indians died, thus the name, Trail of Tears.

If you are planning to hike in the LaRue Pine Hills area, you are encouraged to be alert and wear sturdy, proper foot gear and attire. A three-mile stretch of road in this area is closed twice annually to accommodate snake migration, once in April and again in the last three weeks of October. Several thousand snakes migrate, moving in greater numbers on nice days. The snakes migrate from LaRue Swamp to dens in the rocky ground to hibernate for the winter. In April, they move from their dens back to the swamp.

Hundreds of rare plant and animal species inhabit the Pine Hills area. Among them are 35 species of snakes, as well as rare, endangered species such as the Blind Cavefish, and the Indiana Bat. The area is also the home of one-third of all Illinois plants, including 46 rare species. There are several campgrounds, trails, and some fishing areas.

Maps and more information is available from the Leisure Exploration Service in the Recreation center. Hours are 2 to 6 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, or call 536-5531 extension 25.

Study questions where AIDS originated

By Daniel Q. Haney
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON — AIDS probably did not exist in Haiti until 1978, about the same time the devastating disease erupted in the United States, Haitian researchers say.

Some U.S. experts have suggested that AIDS broke out first in Haiti and was taken back to the United States by vacationing homosexuals.

"The data in the paper are very clear," said Dr. Bernard LaRue, one of the physicians who conducted the study. "Apparently it appeared at the same time in Haiti and in the States. Here in Haiti, there is a lot of speculation that the disease probably came from the States through homosexuals."

Most AIDS victims in the United States are either male homosexuals or drug abusers, although Haitian immigrants and homosexuals in the United States are either male homosexuals or drug abusers, although Haitian immigrants and homosexuals are also considered to be at increased risk of catching the disease.

The latest study found that most of the victims in Haiti apparently are neither homosexuals nor drug users.
Two bedrooms. Furnished, air conditioned central heat. Close to campus and guest parking. P.O. Box 812, 85000.

FURNISHED Apartment. 2-Bedroom. $450. 549-9615 after 4:30 p.m.

APARTMENTS TO SHARE. Male. 2 bedrooms, 2 basements, 1 bath. Close to campus. 608-2022.

FREE ROOMS FOR RENT. 2 bedrooms, 2 baths. Close to campus. 549-2715.

Rental space for 1 bedroom, 1 bath. 2 miles from campus. Close to bus stop. Phone 490-2022.

CONCERNED ABOUT WINTER HEATING bills? One bedroom apartment with wood burning stove ideal for single, or married. Located in the La Cima Court area. University Mall, heat, water, trash pickup and snow maintenance included in rent of $75.00 per month. One month security deposit; 6 month contract. Phone 549-5545.

FREE APARTMENT. Close to campus. 2 bedrooms, 2 baths. Utilities and furniture included.

2 BEDROOMS COMPLETELY furnished, air conditioned, anchored. Close to campus. One month's rent and a $150.00 non-refundable deposit. Call 549-3211.

Furnished 2 bedroom apartment. 2950 W. St. Mary's Rd. 2 bedrooms, 2 baths. Available immediately. P.O. Box 3750, 85004 - 549-9445.

EXTRA NICE 2bedroom furnished, private setting, large yard, garage, off-street parking. 549-3041.

ONE MILE FROM CAMPUS. Two bedroom apartment - available immediately. Reasonable rent. Call 1-692-7325.

ROYAL RENTALS

APARTMENTS

Mobile Homes

Furnished & Air Con'd. No Pets

547-4423

CARDBOARD. CARDBOARD. CARDBOARD. PUBLIC SERVICE WORK. Call 549-2425.

LINDA BECKY ROSE. YOU AND ME WERE STRONG. BUT I KNOW YOU HAVE A GIFT AND NOW I CAN SEE IT. YOUVE MADE ME SMILES. YOUVE MADE ME LOYAL TO YOU.

DISHES, KITCHEN ITEMS, FURNITURE, good clothes, books, Sat., Sun. 7am 1:00pm Drive on Mission Road. 609-9292.

CARDBONDALE, CARBONDALE, CARBONDALE.

CARDBOARD. CARDBOARD. CARDBOARD. PUBLIC SERVICE WORK. Call 549-2425.

SALE, CARBONDALE, OCT. 22.

SALE, CARBONDALE, OCT. 22.

SALE, CARBONDALE, OCT. 22.

SALE, CARBONDALE, OCT. 22.
Two charged in assault case

Two Murphysboro men were arrested and charged with assault after they allegedly threw rocks and pulled a knife on a man at a Wal-Mart, 1192 W. Main St., during a confrontation Wednesday, Carbondale police said.

Arrested were Joseph W. Thorner, 17, and Gordon E. Moore, 17, police said.

The manager, Kevin Kelley, told police a fight broke out between the three about 6 p.m. after Kelley observed the two carrying a power hooster and then, upon leaving the store, no longer carrying it.

He approached Thorner and Moore, police said, and an argument followed, during which one reportedly pulled a knife on Kelley and the other threw rocks at him.

Thorner, charged with aggravated assault, was released from Jackson County jail Thursday afternoon after an initial court appearance.

Would-be thief injures woman

A 20-year-old SIU-C student was treated and released from Carbondale Memorial Hospital Wednesday after a man attempted to steal her backpack, then hit her in the face when she resisted.

The incident happened at 7:15 p.m. at the corner of Grand Avenue and State Street, according to SIU-C Security.

The woman said the man hit her once in the face, then fled when she resisted his attempt to take her backpack. She ran to Plaza Records, 606 S. Illinois Ave., to call the police and was later treated for a bruise on her face.

The man was described as black, about 20-years-old, about six foot tall and weighing about 200 pounds.

Medical student wins award

Kendra Smith of West Frankfort received a $200 award from the Dr. William Landecor Memorial Endowment Fund at the SIU School of Medicine. Smith has a bachelor's degree in zoology from SIU-C and is physical therapy from Washington University, St. Louis. She will now be given annually to a first-year female medical student of high academic standing.

---

LA ROMA'S GRAND ★ REOPENING ON THE STRIP 529-1344 FREE DELIVERY (AFTER 5 pm) WE'RE OPEN: 3:00-1:00 DAILY 3:00-2:00 WEEKENDS
Poor family jailed for illegal camping

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — A family from Arkansas, broke and looking for work, was back together again Wednesday after being jailed for camping without paying in a Washington state park. But their pet dog was still in the locked-up.

Freddie Brooks, 14, of Scarry, Ark., was arrested along with his wife, Kathy, 29 and 28-year-old brother, Gene, on Saturday when they didn't have the $7.50 fee at a park where they had set up camp.

The Brooks' 10-year-old son, Bobby, was turned over to the state Child Protective Services, and cars and camping gear were impounded, and their pet bull terrier, Smokey, was taken to the pound.

Bobby was returned to his parents Tuesday and was in a local school in the fourth grade Wednesday. Their vehicles also were returned.

"I'm starting to feel like I'm in America again," Freddie Brooks said Wednesday.

Historical society to tour old house

The Jackson County Historical Society will take a tour of the historic Agnew House in Makanda at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Members needing directions or a ride may meet at 2 p.m. at the society's headquarters in the basement of the old post office, 1401 Walnut St., Murphysboro.

Joe Covalis, who lives in the Agnew House, will lead the tour and display his collection of antiques and reproductions.

Offers of jobs, housing and money began arriving Wednesday after news of the family's plight spread.

About the only problem involved Smokey. He will be killed Sunday unless the family can get the $350 a day needed to get him out.

Freddie Brooks, who visited Yakima last summer, said he brought his family from Arkansas to look for work. They arrived Saturday.

As darkness approached, they pulled into Sportsmen State Park east of Yakima and set up camp. With only some change in their pockets, the family ignored signs indicating an overnight stay cost $7.50.

Yakima County Sheriff Dick Nesary said Wednesday a park ranger asked them to pay the fee or tear down their camp and leave.

The park was not full, but park officials say they often have problems with people trying to camp free.

Park Ranger Steve Middleton called the Yakima County sheriff's department and two deputies arrested the family for investigation of second-degree trespassing, Nesary said. The Brooks had no place to stay. The deputies placed them in jail until they could be arraigned.

Bobby was turned over to the state agency, the family's possessions were impounded, and the dog was taken to the pound.

A sympathetic jail official recognized the family's plight and called local public defender Fred Porter. On Sunday morning, Porter called District Court Judge John Nicholess, who ordered the Brooks released on their own recognizance.

When they went to retrieve Bobby, however, Child Protective Service officials advised them that all children taken into custody had to be held for 72 hours, not counting weekends, so the family's background could be researched. They refused to release Bobby.

You're Gonna Get Laughed Off This Campus.

Enter the Catch a Rising Star Talent Contest and Win a One-Night Stand With the Troupe.

New York's Catch a Rising Star, the country's number one comedy club, is going on the road. And without regard for our own personal safety, we'll be appearing at your school.

But we won't be the only ones up there taking abuse. Who knows, this could be the launching pad for your career in comedy.

So why not give it a shot. It's guaranteed to be the funnest event on campus since they posted your grades.

Talent Contest

Date: October 25, 1983
Time: 8:00 PM
Place: Ballroom "D"-Student Union
Free Admission

Comedy Show

Date: November 7, 1983
Time: 8:00 PM
Place: Ballroom "D"-Student Union

FREE ADmission

For more information contact: 536-3383

Catch a Rising Star on Tour Sponsored by Lite Beer From Miller, Everything You Always Wanted In A Beer And Less.

Airwaves Night Club

Friday & Saturday
McGirr said her club is capable of playing the course, "McGirr said. "I can understand what Pete is looking for and why he wants it. "I hope Pete finds what he's looking for, because he's been a good player and good for baseball," Howsam said. Other teams contacted by The Associated Press expressed similar reservations about signing Rose, who has been a first baseman since he left Cincinnati as a free agent in 1978. Rose also played some 30 games in right field this season, however. "If I had a position open, I'd take him," Chicago Cubs General Manager Dallas Green said. "I've got three first baseman now — Carmelo Martinez, Bill Buckner and Lew Durham. And over 162 games, it would be difficult for Pete to play every day in the outfield." John Schuerholz, the Kansas City Royals general manager, said his club still would have to evaluate Rose's worth, but he did not rule out the possibility of joining the Rose Parade. "I hesitate to say categorically that we would or would not be interested," Schuerholz said. "We haven't discussed Pete's availability yet. We expect to discuss this with everyone in the next couple of days." The St. Louis Cardinals and Atlanta Braves both said they were not interested at all. However, "We don't have any place to play him," Braves owner Ted Turner said during a break at a congressional hearing in Washington on Wednesday. Added Cardinals General Manager Joe McDonnell: "My first reaction is we're probably not interested. You have to apply yourself to your No. 1 priority, and ours is starting pitching. If he threw a 90 mph fastball and a Sandy Koufax curve, we might be interested." Rose, a native of Cincinnati who lives in the city during the off-season, told a Philadelphia news conference Wednesday that the Phillies had released him after he refused the club's offer to stay as a part-time player. Rose made a reported $1.2 million last year. Rose batted .245 this season with 121 hits. He had only 17 extra-base hits and stole just seven bases, spending a great deal of time on the bench while rookie Len Matuszek took over at first base. Dan Diiesen, 32, has been the Reds' regular first baseman since 1977.
FOOTBALL from Page 24

Wetzel, "We had a lot of players out during the Southwest game," Dempsey said. "We've been very fortunate that we've had only one major injury in John Heitbrink, where we have lost a player for the rest of the season. Nick Johnson was out for two and a half games, but we knew that he was coming back."

"It could be a lot worse. I've had years where a lot of guys were injured and we knew they wouldn't play again the rest of the year. The year that you have your so-called championship year, you need to be blessed in that area."

STEP INTO BLEYER'S SPORTS MART

STEP OUT WITH performing

It's FASHION

SATURDAY

DAY Sat. Oct. 22nd

FREE NIKE* POSTERS

GIVEN AWAY SATURDAY

EXTRA SPECIAL SALE!!

NIKE INTERNATIONALIST Reg. 52.95 SALE 29.95

WHILE SUPPLY LASTS!!!

ALSO INSTALLING HIGHER TECH BASKETBALL & RUNNING SHOES

SPORTSWEAR & SHOES PRESENTED SATURDAY BY THE "MODELING CONSPIRACY"

SALE STARTS THURS. OCT. 20th!

FREE NIKE SHOE CLINIC!!

1-4 pm SAT.

OVER FIVE DIFFERENT MEN'S & WOMEN'S STYLES ON SPECIAL SALE!!

Bleyer's Sports Mart

EVEN FOR THE ATHLETE

MALL LOCATION ONLY

457-6131
Salukis to try for best start in 53 years

By Jim Leva
Staff Writer

A win Saturday afternoon at Indiana State would give the football Salukis an 8-0 start their best since the 1936 squad finished 7-2-1.

More importantly, though, a win could move the 1-3 Salukis closer to a playoff berth. Saluki Coach Roy Dempsey said, "A win would move us another step closer to the playoffs." Dempsey said you need a lot of victories to make the playoffs, so you need as many victories as you can get. There's no assurance that seven wins will get you in the playoffs.

The Salukis would probably need more than seven victories in order to make the playoffs. A 7-4 record does not sound like a championship caliber team.

Beating No. 14-ranked Indiana State would knock the Salukis out of the Missouri Valley Conference title chase. Indiana State is 3-1 in the Valley, with a 5-2 record overall. If the Salukis beat the Sycamores, SIU-C would move to 5-4 in the Valley, with Indiana State dropping to 1-2.

Dempsey said his squad needs to win this Valley contest in order to stay undeFeated in the conference. He said that he does not think Tulsa will lose a conference game this season.

Tuba, 2-1-0-0, overall, is not on the Saluki schedule this season.

In order to win the game Saturday, Dempsey said he feels his team has to make the big plays, have a sound kicking game and avoid turnovers.

"We've been a big play team this whole season," Dempsey said. "There hasn't been a game this season where we haven't had a big play.

"Dempsey's big playmakers is cornerback Terry Taylor. Taylor has blocked five kicks this year, while intercepting one pass.

Last week, Taylor did not play because of a knee injury that he suffered against Drake. Dempsey said Taylor will start against Indiana State. "He doesn't look 100 percent," Dempsey said, "but he's doing better every day."

Taylor is needed, though, for he is a key player on the specially teams for two reasons, Dempsey said. "Terry possesses the ability to do something like block a field goal."

"And when his presence is felt, he seems to motivate the rest of his team more than anyone else," Dempsey said. "Many people do not know he's there."

The Salukis will try to follow in the footsteps of Tony Haywood, who injured his ankle against Southwest Missouri State last week and did not return to the game.

"Coach is driving me harder now," Haywood said. "And when his presence is felt, he seems to motivate the rest of his team more than anyone else," Dempsey said. "Many people do not know he's there."

The Salukis will have to try to stop Haywood. The Salukis beat Tulsa 30-24 last week, but lost to 2-0 in the Valley.

"Every team is unique," said Head Coach John Zich. "Some teams will try to beat you with a ground attack, some with a passing attack. We just have to stop them."

The Salukis beat Tulsa 30-24 last week, but lost to 2-0 in the Valley.

By George Pappas
Staff Writer

The Saluki men's tennis team will have a hard time winning its own tournament this weekend as it will have to outplay a powerful SIU-E team.

The Saluki four-team invitational will start on Saturday at 11 a.m. Along with SIU-C and SIU-E in the tournament field will be Memphis State and Vanderbilt University.

The tournament will have four different categories. Each team will submit four singles players in the top category and four singles players in the bottom. There will be a doubles competition where each team can enter four teams and there will be a consolation category. Each individual or doubles team will give three points to the team, except consolation where only a point will be awarded.

The Salukis will play Per Wadmark, Rolf Olguin, Gabriel Cochard and Chris Vincot in the top four. Saluki Coach Dick LeFevre said Coch is questionable, though, as Coch has conjured a bone in his hand. Coch fractured the bone over the summer and wore a cast. LeFevre said Coch will have to wear a cast again, but it is up to Coch if he wants to play this weekend with his hand wrapped in tape.

The bottom four will consist of Lars Nilsson, Paul Raech, Scott Krueger and Roulund deKort. LeFevre is still not sure about doubles pairings.

LeFevre said SIU-E will be the team to beat. "SIU-E is awesome," LeFevre said. "They've picked up some good players this past two years and have built a good tennis program."

SIU-E is coming off one of its best seasons ever as they finished the spring season of '83 ranked 12th in the nation. Coach of Scott Will is "Dempsey said. "In his 11th year as skipper, SIU-E finished 18-6 last spring, but lost its No. 1, 2 and 4 singles players to graduation.

See TENNIS, Page 23

Men netters play host in four-team tourney

Men netters play host in four-team tourney

By George Pappas
Staff Writer

The Salukis would probably need more than seven victories in order to make the playoffs. A 7-4 record does not sound like a championship caliber team.

Beating No. 14-ranked Indiana State would knock the Salukis out of the Missouri Valley Conference title chase. Indiana State is 3-1 in the Valley, with a 5-2 record overall. If the Salukis beat the Sycamores, SIU-C would move to 5-4 in the Valley, with Indiana State dropping to 1-2.

Dempsey said his squad needs to win this Valley contest in order to stay undeFeated in the conference. He said that he does not think Tulsa will lose a conference game this season.

Tuba, 2-1-0-0, overall, is not on the Saluki schedule this season.

In order to win the game Saturday, Dempsey said he feels his team has to make the big plays, have a sound kicking game and avoid turnovers.

"We've been a big play team this whole season," Dempsey said. "There hasn't been a game this season where we haven't had a big play.

"Dempsey's big playmakers is cornerback Terry Taylor. Taylor has blocked five kicks this year, while intercepting one pass.

Last week, Taylor did not play because of a knee injury that he suffered against Drake. Dempsey said Taylor will start against Indiana State. "He doesn't look 100 percent," Dempsey said, "but he's doing better every day."

Taylor is needed, though, for he is a key player on the specially teams for two reasons, Dempsey said. "Terry possesses the ability to do something like block a field goal."

"And when his presence is felt, he seems to motivate the rest of his team more than anyone else," Dempsey said. "Many people do not know he's there."

The Salukis will have to try to stop Haywood. The Salukis beat Tulsa 30-24 last week, but lost to 2-0 in the Valley.

"Every team is unique," said Head Coach John Zich. "Some teams will try to beat you with a ground attack, some with a passing attack. We just have to stop them."

By Sherry Chisenhall
Sports Editor

For their final tournament of the fall season, the Saluki men's tennis team will have to contend with a 22-team field and 60-degree weather when the squad tees off Sunday at the 1984 Indiana State Invitational.

The tournament is being played in Broadwater Beach at Lake Abraham, a yard par 72 course.

Leading the way for SIU-C in the 54-hole tournament will be brothers Dick LeFevre, who carries a 73.8 stroke average among several local players. Behind Schaefer is Scott Briggs, another senior, who leads the field in average with a 7.5 handicap. Two people, though, who are 7-5 handicap.

Coach Mary Beth McCollard said most of the players in the tournament are from local schools such as Indiana State, Illinois State and Missouri Valley Conference foes Tuba.

In the fourth slot will be the team's third senior, Tom Jones, who carries a 78.7 clip. Jones is followed by Paul Wadmark, whose fall average is 78.4.

J.D. Tyler and Daniel Park will make the trip south, but will play as individual and will not count towards the team score.

Pacing the field in Bixile, though, is defending tournament champion Howard Brace of Indiana State. Brace, who fired sub-80 rounds the past two years, is also returning-up is run by the first and second doubles pair.

Coach Mary Beth McCollard said most of the players in the tournament are either local or from nearby colleges such as Indiana State, Illinois State and Missouri Valley Conference foes Tuba.

As much as improvement and performance may mean to her team, though, the final outcome is not on her mind. "We're just trying to get into the state tournament," she said, "and we'll be ready for the spring season."