Student Petitioning Hectic For Government Positions

By John Eppehimeir

One thing was obvious at the conclusion of the first five hours of the week for student government positions Wednesday: this spring’s political scene is going to be intensely competitive.

Petitions were available beginning at 9 a.m. Wednesday, and by 2 p.m., five candidates for student body president had petitioned. There were also three candidates for vice president of the student body and two for first-year activities, according to lists posted for Senate seats.

One person took out petitions for all three posts, and nominating petitions were being circulated for another without his explicit approval.

The Action Party named its slate of candidates after a stormy convention Tuesday night, but the big news was in the activities of the people Action didn’t choose.

Action’s choices were Steve Antonacci for president, Jerry Finney for first-year activities, and Deryl Reed for vice president for activities, but the selection of Antonacci came only after Dave Fabian declined the nomination for president that had been voted to him. Antonacci, actually, was defeated in a vote for the presidential bid by Bob Carter, but Carter was disqualified when it was learned he wasn’t a member of the Action Party.

Senator Mark Hansen took out a petition for president for Fabian Tuesday. As far as can be determined, Fabian’s name could go on the ballot for the May 15 election without his approval.

Fabian would only say that he hopes “everyone can get behind one strong candidate.” He declined to say who he thinks would be the strongest candidate.

Carter took petitions for all three posts. He said he will decide later which office to run for or whether he will run. Senator John Haney, an often-mentioned possible candidate, took out a petition for president.

Senator Jerry Finney for the Action Party for president for activities is that the best candidate.

Carter took petitions for all three posts. He said he will decide later which office to run for or whether he will run. Senator John Haney, an often-mentioned possible candidate, took out a petition for president.

For vice president, it’s Finney for the Action Party and former Senator Patricia Nicholsson and Carter as independents.

Candidates for vice president for activities are Fred, Patricia Ward, president of the Student Association, which also has petitions for the candidates.

As far as the only thing that can be stated for certain is that the student body can expect an interesting campaign.

Moulton Reports to Senate

580 Coeds Have New Hours

The Student Senate heard a report Wednesday on the women’s hours experiments and received word of a project to beautify the Carbondale Library.

Wilbur Moulton, dean of students, said approximately 580 girls are authorized to participate in the hour's experiment. About 18 girls have been denied approval by their parents, he said.

Forty-one coeds used the new hours the first weekend Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Moulton said. He added that 50 per cent of those were in their residences and about half the girls not in the experiment had to be in.

In answer to a question, Moulton noted there is nothing to prevent off-campus dorms in the experiment from charging their residents a fee for keys.

Moulton also told of a project beginning Saturday in which 30 students will volunteer to help tear down condemned buildings in northeast Carbondale.

The students will work in two crews—one in the morning and another in the afternoon—and will be under supervision of city employees.

Moulton said the project will be sponsored by the city government.

Charles Rodocker, chairman of the Student Employee Association, told the Senate a grievance procedure has been set up for student workers.

They will report grievances to the Employee Association and its officers will take them to John Rendleman, vice president for business affairs.

The Senate adopted a resolution approving confidential status for membership records of the Employee Association.

Senator Paul Wheeler announced that as of now he does not intend to become a candidate for a Senate executive post.

Ray Lenz, student body president, announced he plans to notify those crossing the campus address next week.

The Senate announced the time and place later.

New Conservation Area Opening May 4

A 1,400 acre Conservation Education Land Area cradled between the Rolling Rock Conservation and Grassy Baynecks of Little Grassy Lake will be opened in an inaugural ceremony May 4.

The area to be operated by SIU under a memorandum of agreement with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and area sportsmen's organizations, is planned as the center of a conservation teaching and training laboratory. Ultimately it may include the entire 44,000-acre Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge.

Refuge and SIU officials say it will be the first linkup between a University and the federal agency for purposes of educating the public-school children and adults alike-about natural resources and conservation.

SIU President Delvyte W. Morris will welcome guests at a ribbon-cutting ceremony opening the area at 11:30 a.m. Included on the invitation list are Stewart Udall, U.S. Secretary of the Interior; John Gottschalk, director of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife; Robert Scott, chief of the Bureau's division of Wildlife refuge in Washington and William Burwell, regional director for the Bureau, Minneapolis.

Representatives of the Crab Orchard Sportsmen's Association, the Southern Illinois Open Hunt, Southern Illinois Recreation Council, Crab Orchard Field Trial Association and other regional outdoor organizations also are expected to attend.

Ceremonies will be at the SIU outdoor Education Center at the end of Rocky Comfort Road on the east side of Little Grassy Lake. A luncheon will be served on the ground to be followed by informal tours of the area.

Development plans and programming for the new conservation center have not been set. The memorandum calls for hiring a full-time agent to operate it, however, He will be responsible to an advisory committee made up of members from SIU, the Bureau and sportsmen's groups.

The Clamor to Touch Kennedy

Advisers to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey have discounted the crowds that Senator Robert F. Kennedy has drawn while campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination. But the pressure given seem to be rather farfetched even for the world of politics.

Vice presidential supporters say that squeezing and clutching members of Kennedy's crowds scare some voters since the American people are tired of domestic disturbance.

And Humphrey himself has assured his middle-aged followers that he is not going to arouse this country to further fits of emotionalism.

Perhaps the American voters will realize that the throngs of young people who clamor to touch Kennedy and to bear him speak are not riot mongers. They are young persons vitally interested in the future of their nation.

And it seems advantageous to the nation that the young people who reach to touch Kennedy, as it is happening in Kansas, have once again found a spark that can kindle a positive interest in their country's government.

This indeed is a step away from the dissidence of the youth who feel they have not been adequately represented in the government by the current administration.

Daley, Recruit Police From Ghettos

Mayor Richard J. Daley's order to shoot for killing if necessary to prevent arson and looting will hardly calm the already explosive conditions in Chicago.

What Mayor Daley and many other political leaders who publicly supported the mayor, fail to understand is that one of the major causes of riots is the open hostility of the Negro community towards the police.

The mayor also fails to understand that many of the rioters are not common criminals, but people who have become frustrated and angered by what they believe to be systemic violations of their human rights.

Last year's Crime Commission report said "anger, violence, despair, and cynicism prevail in the ghettos; the Negro America" and these conditions apply both to everyday crime and to protest riots.

The recent Rice Commission Report says that "a survey, an interview, an event in every riot was strain between the police and members of the Negro community."

The report continued that "almost every riot is occasioned by an encounter between police and a Negro, and that the majority of those encounters were essentially commonplace or even trivial.

It would seem absurd, therefore, to exacerbate an already uneasy situation by giving police, who in many instances were found to be racist by the Rice Commission, the authority to try, convict, and execute anyone suspected of disorder or rioting. Perhaps the police do not have this extreme authority, perhaps they do.

But by giving police orders to shoot rioters, Mayor Daley may have precipitated civil war into civil war, thus giving every rioter the self-justification of entering the streets armed with the police. HTE.

Should that occur, the results will certainly prove disastrous to all concerned.

The hostility between our cities' police forces and the Negro ghetto community have been known for some time. Perhaps in too now too late to avoid further disorders this summer. It is not too late, however, for Mayor Daley to rescind his orders and begin instead to actively recruit policemen from the Negro ghettos.

Communism Not Nazism

To the Daily Egyptian:

I found Mr. Hodl's letter in last Thursday's edition about the success of Germany particularly interesting for the cross-view of history and the television-educated understanding of the FDR and the Nazis. Mr. Hodl's letter is an excellent attempt to bridge the gap between the German Revolution and the American Revolution.

In short, the American Revolution was a struggle for the survival of freedom and the protection of individual rights, while the Nazi Revolution was a struggle for the survival of the state and the protection of collective rights. The American Revolution was a revolution of the people, while the Nazi Revolution was a revolution of the state. The American Revolution was a revolution of liberty, while the Nazi Revolution was a revolution of order.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the American Revolution was successful, while the Nazi Revolution was not.

Bank Robbing A Sucker Trick

Bank robbers went up more than 30 percent from 1966 to 1967, with small bank buildings noted as being especially vulnerable.

Somehow along the way, those involved in the business have gotten the idea that they can get away with small jobs more easily than big ones. Committee expressed its support of the weekend activities of the students, faculty and administrators to participate in the events. It is our resolve that they be rather farfetched even for the world of politics.

Unfortuantely for them, the same laws apply to bank branches, and enforcement is just as strict.

What's more, whenever a bank is invaded, the police are likely to show up, it's a case in which only local police agencies are involved. The banks are likely to be informed by the FBI, and the investigation is immediately called in, and the police get the benefit of the modern day "Bulge and Chop the Line of Investigation."

The FBI's nationwide telecommunications network has a computer to most of criminal data so vast that escape becomes virtually impossible—for any length of time.

This makes it a sucker trick to rob a bank, a branch or any other federally-protected institution.

No one can outrun, outdrive or outfly a computer.

Manners at Convocations Poor

To the Daily Egyptian:

Once more the students of SIU have displayed their fine maturity. They have proven that their mouths are many times greater than their mentality. By doing this, they have given a very poor impression of our entire student body.

At the latest convocation (both performances), there were too many outbursts such as: called for applause and even the crudest display of immaturity—a belch.

At this performance, there was a very fine guitarist, Miguel Rubia. It seems, however, that these students are so overcharged with pop, soul and "the hugolz" that they don't know how to appreciate fine music when they hear it.

I would like to assure you that there are some students who are so well educated that they appreciate the fine programs that are planned for our benefit.

Despite the fact that convocations are mandatory for freshmen, I don't feel that any student displaying less than appropriate respect for these fine personalities, should be sent home to find their gotten manners.

After a few lost convocation credits for bad manners, I believe that the behavior of the entire audience would be much more commendable.

Public School Teachers Professionals

By Robert M. Hutchins
Los Angeles Times

The first time I met Franklin D. Roosevelt after he was elected President he mentioned the only concern I ever heard him express about public school teaching. He said, "There are too many little girls in hanging around waiting to get married."

Mr. Roosevelt would be gratified by the course of history.

The public schools are filling up with young men, most of them married. The women teachers are getting older.

A new book, "Tumult in Teaching," by T.M. Stinnett, of Texas A&M University, shows how rapid the change has been. In the eight years between 1956 and 1964, the percentage of male teachers in the public schools increased from 26 to 32. The median age of all teachers dropped from 42.9 to 39.5. But the median age of the women increased to 44.3. That of the men was 34. In 1964, about one-third of the young men teaching in the public schools were under 30.

This is one reason teachers are becoming hard to handle these days. Teaching in the public schools is no longer a way station, a temporary resting place in which to while away the time until something permanent comes along. It is itself something permanent, it is a career.

As such, it is taken seriously by those who have entered upon it. A "little girl hanging around waiting to get married" presumably cares little about teaching. She is willing to put up with a low salary and no status because her interest and expectations lie elsewhere.

But a man or woman who expects to devote his or her life to an occupation has a natural interest in enhancing its rewards and reducing its hazards.

Stinnett says, "The traditional image-an image held by society generally and too often by teachers themselves-of the teacher as a sort of indented servum or often timid hired hand, something of a third-class citizen, inept and bumbling, who must be told by his betters what to do and when to do it, is not acceptable to this new breed."

Of course, this new breed is not acceptable to those who have exploited their predecessors. The new young men will not submit to the kind of treatment that seemed a matter of course to the little girls hanging around waiting to get married.

Governors, legislators, school boards and school administrators find the new young men offensively aggressive and "unprofessional," which is a synonym for militant. They have a certain new and alarming confidence. This may be partly because they feel themselves better prepared for their jobs. In 10 years the proportion of elementary school teachers without a college degree has dropped from a third to an eighth.

The new young men have not taken up public school teaching because of what the public school has been. They have taken it up because of what they think they can make it. All the figures show that the better college students in this country today have about the same attitude toward going into business as they have toward going into the war in Vietnam. Many of them have turned to teaching because they hope through education to do something to alter the aims and values of our society.

They may be, they probably will be, crushed by the system. Their struggle with it has just begun. I hope their struggle will result in the emergence of something we have never had in the public schools of this country, a teaching profession, with professional independence and professional control of the schools.

A team composed of Hill, Kathy Varas, a junior majoring in business education, and Willie Ann Hart, a senior majoring in business, won third place in the vocabulary relay contest.

Larry O'Dell, a senior majoring in accounting, was second in the "Mr. Future Business Executive" contest. Third place winners in the parliamentary procedure contest were John Gullo, James Matsunaga and Werner Kief, all majoring in marketing.

U.S. Prods Hanoi Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sent another message to North Vietnam in the still-unsuccessful effort to achieve a cease-fire on a site for preliminary peace talks, U.S. sources disclosed Wednesday.

It was understood that the new message went to Hanoi Monday and amounted to a diplomatic prod to the Reds to respond to earlier U.S. offers of any of its list of 15 Asian and European capitals as a meeting place.

Protests Arise Over Planned Nuclear Test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The mightiest nuclear blast to be fired in the United States this year is set for Friday, and the federal government is feeling shock waves in advance.

Protests against possible danger or damage have come from citizens, scientists, labor leaders, peace groups and from the organization of Nevada's biggest spender, billionaire Howard Hughes.

The test of a hydrogen device will pack the wallop of one million tons of TNT or more and is expected to be felt, earthquake style, for 250 miles or more.

Spectators may be in for a surprise. Last January's test at a little less than a million tons rocked buildings in San Francisco and Salt Lake City and residents of the Northern California coastal town of Eureka, 700 miles away, said they felt it. It cracked pavement on bridges 12 miles away, but caused no serious damage. Its purpose was to determine if even larger tests could be safely staged.

The Atomic Energy Commission says no damage is expected from Friday's test. It is set for 6 a.m. in a chamber, 3,802 feet under Pasubio mesa at the Nevada Test Site 100 miles northwest.

SAIGON (AP) — Intensive allied operations in the Mekong Delta have killed 1,943 enemy troops in the past six weeks and have flushed newly equipped North Vietnamese regiments, U.S. officers said Wednesday.

The attention devoted to this popu­lous, lush rice-growing region showed allied concern because the enemy has been rebuilding his forces since the Tet offensive that wrecked some of the delta cities.

A 15-mile stretch of the Mekong south of Sai­gon Tuesday was typical of the kind of fighting that has been break­ing out almost daily since the al­lies resumed their delta sweeps earlier in March looking for the enemy.

Columbia Quiet

After Disturbance

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia university’s campus

was still but sealed off Wednesday, after several hundred rampaging student demonstrators seized control of the building. They held a three school officials behind makeshift barricades for 24 hours, and wrecked the office of President Grayson Kirk.

Night classes were cancelled, the 70 buildings locked

All but two campus entrances, closed, amid reports that Harlem night owls joined to student sit-ins in the two buildings.

As 500 other students gathered in a rainy spring dusk to heckle the demonstrators and throw eggs,

Associate Dean Alexander B. Platt urged them to disperse. He told them: “If you try to handle this yourselves there will be violence and we can’t afford violence at all.”

During two days of disorder and vandalism, the demonstrators polarized into two groups—Negroes protesting a new university gymnasium, and whites opposed to the war in Vietnam.

Students from other universities in the city were described to have joined in, as well as some non-student

Negro militiamen.

White members of Students for a Democratic Society invaded Kirk’s office and a university spokesman said: “The place is a complete mess.”

Power Failure at Physical Plant

Power was restored to the Physical Plant garage at 4 a.m. Wednesday after a wire faulted in a conduit and curtailed electrical operations at 10 a.m.

Herman Summers, project engineer for the Physical Plant, said no damage was done except for the shorted-out wire.

“The greatest inconvenience was the unavailability of gas pumps for most of the day,” Summers said.

A spokesman for the garage said some University vehicles were driven downtown to be filled with gas. He added that workmen were limited to doing “routine repairs” and had to postpone plans for lubricating vessels.

schools were closed Wednesday because of bomb threats in the wake of an explosion that damaged the Monroe

Elementary Annex Building.

The building was damaged Tuesday night and anonymous callers said Wednesday bombs had been placed in two other buildings in the school complex. The school board has called a meeting to discuss the situation.

Power Failure at Physical Plant

Power was restored to the Physical Plant garage at 4 a.m. Wednesday after a wire faulted in a conduit and curtailed electrical operations at 10 a.m.

Herman Summers, project engineer for the Physical Plant, said no damage was done except for the shorted-out wire. "The greatest inconvenience was the unavailability of gas pumps for most of the day," Summers said.

A spokesman for the garage said some University vehicles were driven downtown to be filled with gas. He added that workmen were limited to doing "routine repairs" and had to postpone plans for lubricating vessels.

A symposium on programmed instruction designed for students and faculty of SIU will be held May 2 and 3. The symposium is being sponsored by the Faculty Lectures and Entertainment Committee, the Rehabilitation Institute, the Department of Psychology Learning Resources and Academic Affairs.

Richard M. Sanders, a Ph.D. in rehabilitation, will head a special group in discussion, to be followed by remarks concerning SIU's view of programming, particularly in the student response system by William McKeffe, dean of academic affairs. (Time and place to be arranged)

Robert Berger from Southwest Regional Laboratories, Ingelwood, California, will speak on instructional product development, and Jerome Lysaught from Rochester University, Rochester, N.Y., will discuss self-instruction for higher education and related problems. This will be held Thursday, May 2, from 1 to 5 p.m. at Morris Library Auditorium.

On Friday, May 3 there will be a data presentation by each of the discussants of their current research in Lawson 121. In addition there will be presentations by Leslie Woolin and Dean McKeffe. Time is available in the afternoon for scheduling individual sessions and special consulting activities. Students and faculty interested in participating or seeking further information, should contact Richard Sanders, 3-2703.

Instructional Symposium Planned

A total of 222 prospective junior college transfer students representing 15 community colleges attended the SIU Hosts Junior College Guest Day at SIU.

Jerry J. Johnson, assistant director of admissions, said attendance was twice as large as last year "and shows the importance the community college is playing in the growth of the state universities."

During the program, students heard William McKeffe, dean of academic affairs, and met with advisors from the University. Other meetings gave the students an opportunity to meet with former junior college students now attending the University who related their experiences about transferring to SIU.

Three SIU Students Enter

Guilty Pleas to Theft Charge

Three SIU students entered pleas of guilty in circuit court to charges involving the theft of goods valued at less than $150.

The students are: Thomas L. Ellickson, 18, Blue Island, and Stephen R. Sorensen, 19, and David L. Spangler, 18, both of Elgin.

They are to be arraigned before Judge Peyton Kuncie. The students were each fined $200 plus court costs and ordered to serve 22 days in the Jackson County Jail. In addition, they were placed on probation for a year by Judge Kuncie.

The incident reportedly happened at Lewis Ford's Discount Store in Carbondale.

State's Attorney Richard Sanders said the three were each ordered to make restitution of $3,753 to the store.

SIU Gymnasts Travel To National Competition

Several SIU gymnasts will be participating in widespread activities throughout the nation this weekend.

Gymnasts will compete in Memphis, Tenn., Lafayette, La., and in Terre Haute, Ind.

Six men and four women from SIU will compete in the United States Championships, sponsored by the U.S. Gymnastics Federation, in Memphis.

Rick Tucker, Stu Smith and Fred Dennis will compete in the all around competition, which will serve as an Olympic trial. Dale Hard, Joe Dupree and Bob Sardina will compete in the trampoline competition, a prelude to the World Championships. Both compulsory and optional exercises will be used.

A total of 104 points must be scored by the man in the all around in order to qualify for the final trials. This would mean an average of about 8.7 in each event, Dennis previously qualified.

SIU women who will compete in the all around competition will be Linda Scott, Karen Smith, Terry Spencer and Carol Donnally. Miss Spencer and Miss Donnally are high school students who have trained with the SIU team during the past year.

Both Miss Scott and Miss Spencer have qualified for the final Olympic trials, and this meet will be utilized to gain experience in the AAU championships.

SIU Sailing Club Wins Third Place

SIU’S Sailing Club finished third among four competitors in a regatta held this past weekend at Northwestern University.

A ship from the University of Wisconsin finished first and was closely followed by an entry from Northwestern. Marquette University was fourth.

The SIU entry was skippered by Ron Nornmark and Robert Kosher.

SIU Gymnasts Wills and Rogers will be trying to gain berths on the U.S. team for the World Trampoline Championships. Miss Wills is currently first among challengers for the three-woman team. Coach Herb Vogel says that Miss Wills should make the team, but Miss Rogers may have trouble.

"Susie is very much improved over the last meet (at the AAU) but others will have to falter before she can make the team. But she does have a chance," Vogel said.

Three other women gymnasts will be in Terre Haute this weekend to help judge the Indiana High School Championships in gymnastics.

Gail Daley, Donna Schanzer and Joanne Hashimoto will judge the competition Saturday to be held at Indiana State University.

Men’s Coach Bill Meade will be traveling the most of any this weekend, flying to Memphis Thursday, Los Angeles Friday morning, Denver Friday evening and back to Memphis Saturday with an NCAA Rules Committee meeting Sunday and Monday in Memphis.

SIU Gymnasts Finish First and Third at Wisconsin

Two SIU gymnasts, Mary Jo Moore and Marlene Lewis, will compete in Wisconsin among four competitors in a meet held this past weekend at Northwestern University.

Miss Moore was first and Miss Lewis was third in the women’s all around competition.

Miss Moore, now a senior, is the three-time Midwest Conference champion, and her highest finish in the national meet was seventh place.

Miss Lewis, a freshman, is the all around meet champion at both the Midwest Conference and the NCAA meet.

Stan Powles, a 6-8, 210-pound forward from Effingham High School, is the first basketball player to be signed by SIU for the 1968-69 season. Powles led his team this past season to an impressive record of 30-1.

Effingham Basketball Coach Jim Maxemond said: "Powles is a real fine defensive player and should fit well with SIU's basketball style. Despite his size, Powles is quick. He can shoot from the outside as well as from the front. His 75 percent field goal shooting average indicates this.

Powles was considered the best player on his team and won the most improved player award this year. Effingham won all its regular season games and lost its only game to Galesburg in the supersectionals of the State Tournament.

Despite his 10-point-per-game average, Powles can develop into an excellent shooter, according to Maxemond. He got 10-11 rebounds per game and collected many assists. His high total point game for the season came against Pana High School when he scored 21 points. Against Carbondale he scored 20.

Maxemond said Powles fought consistently during the season under the defensive and offensive boards trying to get the ball to the best shooter. "His excellent defensive play made up for his lack of scoring."

Powles is an average student in schoolwork. He will graduate this year (at 17) one year younger than any of the other graduating seniors. During his high school years he has also participated in baseball and cross-country.

Hundreds of students were mobbed around the Information Desk in the University Center Wednesday when tickets went on sale for the Bob Hope show scheduled May 12 in the Arena. The line began at the Information Desk and extended into Thompson Woods. By late morning, however, the line had dwindled and extended only onto the patio of the Center. Tickets are continuing to be sold on a first-come-first-serve basis.
Scholarships Available

The Daisy Powell Memorial Scholarship offers two scholarships for $240 for students majoring in government. Potential recipients must be at least sophomores and have a 3.5 overall average.

The George R. Kee Memorial Award offers $255 to any Johnson City high school graduate who plans to teach.

Open House
Set for VTI

Automotive technology is one of several two-year programs offered at the SIU Vocational-Technical Institute. Students in these programs receive associate degrees.

Services and repair work are available to students and faculty members at material and parts costs. The VTI campus is located east of Carbondale near Carterville.

An open house at VTI is scheduled Friday and Sunday. On display for the event will be a model of the planned new campus for VTI. The campus master plan was approved by the SIU Board of Trustees last week, with first phase construction scheduled to begin late this year.

VTI has occupied World War II ordnance plant buildings since it opened in 1952 as the first school of its type in the state.

Open House committee chairman Harry Sodstrom said more than 5,000 visitors are expected to tour the campus between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Friday and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Student guides will conduct guests on tours of classroom and laboratory facilities.

Cosmetology students will present a hair style show at 7 p.m. Friday, and students in the cooperative retailing program will show spring clothing fashions at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Lucian D. Willey, chairman of the Department of Automotive Technology, gives instruction to Vincent Riggle, a student from Du Quoin, on the final pressure testing of a transmission on a transmission dynamometer.

Gal Skippers Play the Wind

By Wanda Barras

A brisk wind swept across the boat deck as Crab Orchard Lake as Cathy Byerman, clad in faded blue jeans, dirty white sneakers and heavy corduroy jacket, bounded into a sailboat rigged with one sail. Miss Byerman, a sophomore from Chicago, is one of two women skippers of the SIU Sailing Club, which has 140 members and five sailboats. Beth Byerman, assistant from Sickeseton, is the other woman skipper.

"Sailing a boat takes both physical and mental skill," said Miss Byerman as she stepped into the boat. "Even more from Lake as Cathy Byerman, clad in a junior's boat rigged with one sail. Beny Berman's wind boat filled the sail, and soon the boat moved again.

As mariners do the young, red-haired woman skipper began to tell of her sailing experiences. "I remember one cold day last winter. Paul Nolan (a club member) and I had taken a sailboat out. We got on a 'creaming plane' (a broad wave which lifts a boat and makes a screaming sound under the boat) and couldn't get off. "Paul told me to move to the stern. I tripped over something and fell into the cold, icy water. "Since Paul was sitting on one side of the boat, it slid over and splashed into the water. "The water was so cold. It was about 30 minutes before anybody realized we hadn't come in."

Bringing the boat about and heading for shore, Miss Byerman again found her boat in "irona." A 'stinkpotter' churned up the water as Miss Byerman waited for the wind. It soon came.

Miss Stewart agreed with Miss Byerman that operating a motorboat doesn't compare to sailing. "It takes much more skill to sail," explained Miss Stewart.

Miss Stewart and Miss Byerman have been skippering the club's five sailboats since last summer.

Miss Stewart recalls the time she lost a sailing race for a friend, Howard Harris. Or so he believed.

"We were running a race with members of the Crab Orchard Sailing Club. We were going real good. Then Howard started to bring the boat about. He made the mainsheet (a rope to adjust the position of the sail to the wind) fast."

"A gust of wind caught the sail and the boat tipped. Now Howard thinks we are bad luck."

Enrollment Soars

Trustees Okay Edwardsville Construction Project

By Martha Epstein

In an attempt to keep pace with record enrollments of both graduate and undergraduate students on SIU's Edwardsville campus, SIU’s Board of Trustees has approved architectural preliminary plans for approximately $6 million in University construction projects at Edwardsville.

Twenty-eight students from fourteen foreign countries, 7,572 students from Illinois, and 928 from 26 other states comprise Edwardsville's total enrollment of 8,528. This total figure shows a 10 percent increase over the enrollment of 7,563 students in fall, 1966. Combined enrollment of the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses has gained 7.9 percent since fall, 1966 and stands at 27,788 as of the fall quarter, 1967.

SIU at Edwardsville is making plans for its first on-campus housing project. The project is for 248 family housing units to be erected at a cost of $3.6 million. It is hoped that $3.5 million will be paid for by the sale of general revenue bonds and that $100,000 will be allotted from University funds for utilities and site development. Construction is to begin May 1 and should be completed during September, 1969.

Construction of an estimated $2.47 million physical education building is expected to start on July 1 and be finished for the 1970 summer quarter. Construction for this building will be provided by a federal grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and Illinois Building Authority bonds, Instructional and gymnasmum space, exercise rooms, and locker and shower facilities will be provided in the new building. An "exceptional example of architectural quality" was the description given in the October issue of Fortune magazine of Edwardsville's University Center. The Center, which is the largest of the first five buildings on the Edwardsville campus, celebrated its first anniversary on March 1. Included in the $5 million dollar building are a cafeteria, billiard room, 16-lane bowling alley, barbershop, bookstore, student activities offices, and large lounge and meeting areas. Completion of the University Center with a bathroom on the second floor is now in progress.

Other construction at Edwardsville during 1967 included the dedication ceremonies for the $4.8 million University Center and a $4.2 million Science Building. Work also began on the general offices building at the cost of $3.5 million.

Significant grants received at Edwardsville in 1967 included the dedication ceremonies for the $4.8 million University Center and a $4.2 million Science Building. Work also began on the general offices building at the cost of $3.5 million.

SIU at Edwardsville began three new programs including a Labor Institute, a series of lectures in cooperation with the Department of Housing and Urban Development to inform officials of federal government programs, and a program offering courses in the care of preschool children.

Cultural events included Edwardsville's first annual Fine Arts Festival and a five-state competition of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra as a part of a symposium of contemporary orchestral music. In addition, two international field seminars in Europe were sponsored by SIU at Edwardsville during the summer.

Earl S. Beard, St. Louis, head of the social sciences division, Laurence R. McAneny, longtime SIU professor, dean of science and technology division, and Harry Reaves, dean of nursing, were among three new deans appointed to head academic units at Edwardsville.

Along with its increasing enrollment, academic growth, and construction, SIU at Edwardsville has begun a program of Intercollegiate athletics. Women competition now includes soccer and basketball. Baseball is anticipated in the sports lineup for spring, 1968.

Bumper to Bumper... We'll Serve You Best!
By Dave Palermo

It takes only a minute to see that the SIU International Soccer Club has been taking ballet lessons as part of its off-season training program this winter.

Frank Lumsden, a junior from Jamaica and captain of the Club, joined his fingertips over his head, leaped and tapped the toets of his born feet together three times.

"It improves agility, and through ballet we've learned many more moves," he said. "One of the important things we learned is that instead of pivoting the entire body to turn, all it takes is just a twist of the head. The rest of the body automatically follows."

Demonstrating the procedure, Lumsden took three enormous steps forward, quickly turned his head in the opposite direction and pivoted. All this was done to the delight of the evening crowd of students gathered at the Morris Library information desk.

The procedure looked simple enough, but when executed properly, it can be an evasive move on the soccer field.

For three months during the winter quarter, 40 members of the club twirled into the girls' gym every Sunday to receive lessons in the artistic dance from Miss Nellie Webb, a graduate dance student.

"The point of the class was to help the players develop their coordination," said Miss Webb. "Dance helps them control the ball, especially when they have to pivot. They use it already by about 50 percent."

"We also worked with controlling the l.o.k while the player is suspended in the air," continued the attractive instructor. "This is important to the soccer player."

Miss Webb, a graduate of the ballet school of the well-known ballet dancers Misses Nellie and Frank Lumsden, has acted with the famous London Ballet, and has acted in many operettas and Broadway shows. She is well-rounded in many arts, having been a dancer, actress, singer, and musician. She also has taken acting lessons around the country.

Miss Webb, the second of five children born to an English missionary in Africa, drew praise from the players when she danced for them at a reception for foreign students. "They were impressed with my footwork," she said. "They also saw a film of the Nutcracker Suite and were interested in the way the performers moved their feet."

Miss Webb's brother plays soccer with the club and encouraged her to take an interest in the sport. She saw the club play and suggested she might be of assistance in teaching the players how to relax their muscles when they fall, perhaps resulting in fewer injuries.

At first the players felt a little about the idea and were hesitant. "They thought it would be sissy," said the 23-year-old dance instructor. "But after one lesson they knew it wasn't."

The players' off-season debuts as ballerinas turned out to be a strenuous affair. After a few glissades (sliding steps to the left or right) the players tired and left the first session 40 minutes early.

The results of the ballet practices may be hard to determine since the team has lost only once in two years of competition. However, members of the team believe they will benefit from the dance sessions.

As for Miss Webb, she laughs and comments, "I never felt I'd be teaching so many men ballet."

Neither did so many men think they would be learning ballet.
