British attack Atlantic island

By The Associated Press

Helicopter-borne British commandos recaptured the island of South Georgia Sunday after helicopter gunships attacked and severely damaged an Argentine submarine that detected the operation 800 miles east of the Falkland Islands, the British government said.

There was no immediate comment from Argentina, which reported earlier in a communique issued in Buenos Aires that its forces on South Georgia were "resisting intense shelling from British naval units and machine-gun fire from the air."

British Defense Minister John Nott, flanked by a beaming Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher outside her 10 Downing Street residence in London, said British forces "have successfully taken control of Grytviken," the main port on South Georgia's northeast coast.

He said Argentine troops ran up the white flag of surrender and that no British casualties had been reported "so far. At present we have no information on the Argentine casualty position." Nott said the British forces had landed by helicopter, were supported by British warships, and had met "only limited resistance" in an operation that lasted two hours.

According to Nott, the commander of the South Georgia landings operation sent this telegram to London: "Be pleased to inform Her Majesty (Queen Elizabeth II) the white ensign (of the Royal Navy) flies alongside the Union Jack in South Georgia. God save the Queen."

At the end of Nott's announcement, broadcast live on Britain's major television channels, Mrs. Thatcher turned to reporters and said, "Rejoice at that news, and congratulate our forces and the marines." She said earlier, however, "There is no declaration of war."

In Buenos Aires, the Argentine junta reported before the British announcement that Argentine morale and fighting capacity were high on South Georgia, "making the operation initiated by attacking forces very difficult."

The official Argentine news agency Telam said ham radio operators in Montevideo, Uruguay, picked up shortwave reports from South Georgia indicating the Argentines repelled the British and shot down a British helicopter. Another Argentine news agency reported Argentine casualties in the attack.

Argentina said its submarine — believed to be a U.S.-built Guppy class vessel — was unloading food, mail and medicine on South Georgia, a dependency of the Falklands in the frigid South Atlantic. The assault came three weeks after Britain launched a navy task force to retake the Falklands. A total of 61 ships are in the task force, led by two aircraft carriers.

There had been rising speculation the British would take South Georgia first and use it as a springboard for an invasion of the Falklands, the islands 800 miles to the west that Argentina seized from Britain April 2.

The British domestic news agency Press Association, quoting government sources, said the assault was preceded by a landing last Thursday of about a dozen British marine commandos, who radioed back that the Argentine defenders numbered 44 men plus a mortar team.

The agency said the landing party had been put ashore from a British submarine off the island, seized by Argentine forces April 3.

The British Defense Ministry said Sunday's operation began "at first light" near the harbor at Grytviken, on the island's northeast coast.

Children, elderly join SIU-C students in anti-nuke march

"Better active today than radioactive tomorrow."

"Nuclear free by '93."

"One-two-three-four, we don't want a nuclear war! Five-six-seven-eight, we don't want to radiate!"

Several children carried a Halloween skeleton which had been painted "radioactive" green. Someone had put in the skeleton's hand a sign that read, "I survived the bomb."

These were among the messages seen and heard Friday afternoon as about 250 people staged a "Ground Zero March" in Carbondale.

The march was one of the events of Ground Zero Week, a series of activities attempting to focus public attention on the consequences of nuclear war.

The marchers paraded from the Wesley Foundation, 816 S. Illinois Ave., north on Illinois Avenue. They turned west on Cherry Street and paraded south on University Avenue, ending up at the Newman Center, 715 S. Washington St.

After the parade, a silent, interfaith prayer vigil was held at the Newman Center.

Joe Proffitt, director of the Student Environmental Center and one of the organizers of the march, speaking to the crowd afterward, reminded them not to make the same mistakes that were made during the war in Vietnam.

He told the crowd they should keep a positive outlook on the issues of nuclear war and disarmament.

Proffitt said after the event that "the Viet Nam protest should have taken four years" instead of eight to achieve its aim. In the first four years of the Vietnam protest, people "were being very militant and aggressive. They weren't going along with the rules," he said.

"Remember our movement is young and small," Proffitt said. "We're not anti-Reagan. We're not anti-America. We're just pro-life."

He said the protest must be positive, to "keep it main-

Shaw says higher ed faces tough times

By Mike Anthony
Staff Writer

Conditions are not good for higher education across the country. Institutions are facing base budget reductions, no salary increases and shortages in what is needed for supplies and utilities.

These are some of the major problems facing higher education institutions in the 1980s, according to Chancellor Kenneth Shaw. Shaw spoke Friday to members of the SIU-C Post-Doctoral Academy of Higher Education in the Student Center Auditorium.

According to John Hawley, professor in higher education, the post-doctoral academy was established in 1978 to have alumni doctoral students "contribute ideas and notions about what higher education is about."

Shaw said, "How are we going to attempt to deal with these difficult times? Are we going to deal with them by across-the-board adjustments or are going to go about setting up priorities?" Shaw noted that SIU-C already has a plan to deal with the tight monetary situation for fiscal 1983.

"When the pie is shrinking, seldom will we ever be in the position where everyone is pleased," the chancellor said, "and seldom will we have a situation where no one is adversely affected."

But, despite the tough times ahead for higher education, "we have a lot to celebrate," Shaw said, "and I think it's time we did do some celebrating about higher education."

The value of higher education is inestimable, he said, "sure there are benefits to the individual, but the benefits to the larger society are far greater. Higher education has been a very important part of this country's prosperity, both social and economic."

However, how much will people tax themselves for higher education? Shaw asked. "Whoever is governor after November 1982 will have to deal with the issue of how much service do people want, and how much are they willing to pay for it?"

"By reminding ourselves and others that the value of higher education is there, we can do much to shape our own future."

In the coming years, institutions will have to deal with "a multitude of questions under this umbrella of fiscal austerity," including the issue of access.

What may be the biggest issue for higher education in the 1980s, Shaw said, is "the enemy within" — the question of institutional integrity, "or by the definition

I'm using, autonomy."

For the past 10 or 15 years, "we've talked a lot about our concerns that coordinating boards, legislators, the governor's office and even systems are going to take away our autonomy," he said.

When questions are raised about the current governing structure of an institution or its administrative structure, many will ask the Illinois Board of Higher Education to investigate the matter, Shaw said.

But Shaw said that calling the IBHE in to investigate could threaten an institution's autonomy. "Let's get an outside agency to tell us what to do — let's invite them in and take it out of our hands. We've only spent the last 15 years trying to define our turf."

"Say a state student group decides that legislation should be developed to tell institutions the way their personnel policies should be shaped — let's ask the Legislature to tell us what to do. Where does it stop? It doesn't stop, once it gets started."

"In short, there are problems and challenges facing higher education today, Shaw said, "but we must have the courage and the goodwill to face them. We must be willing to press our cause, because it's a cause worth pressing."

Cardinal Cody dead at 74; suffered apparent heart attack

CHICAGO (AP) — Civic and religious leaders mourned the death Sunday from an apparent heart attack of Cardinal John P. Cody, leader of the nation's largest Roman Catholic archdiocese who had been under investigation for his handling of church funds.

The 74-year-old prelate, who was praised by Pope John Paul II last December for "fostering human and social progress," was pronounced dead, "apparently of cardiac arrest," at 12:19 a.m., said Northwestern Memorial Hospital spokesman Curtis Thompson.

He had been rushed to the hospital after a private nurse at his residence discovered him asleep and "having some difficulty" breathing, Thompson said.

Later in the day, hospital spokesman James Henry issued a statement which said, "A post-mortem exam reveals coronary artery disease with findings consistent with congestive heart failure and pulmonary hypertension." More tests were to be performed during the next few days, Henri added.

Cody had denied any wrongdoing in connection with recent allegations that he diverted up to $1 million in church funds to a lifelong friend. A federal grand jury was looking into the claims — the first investigation of its kind into the finances of a U.S. prelate. The prosecutor handling the case said Sunday its status would be reviewed in light of Cody's death.

Cody, who suffered a heart attack in 1975 and had his gallbladder removed in 1976, had been hospitalized four times since June 1981, most recently in January.

He had been expected to relinquish his seat when he turned 75, the recommended age for bishops to retire.

Mayor Jane Byrne called Cody "a very human type of person who was especially concerned for the poor and disadvantaged," while Gov. James Thompson praised him as "a lighthouse during troubled times."

Born in 1907, the son of an Irish immigrant firefighter, Cody once said he dreamed only of being a parish priest. He entered the St. Louis Preparatory Seminary at 13 and later spent 13 years at the North American College in Rome, where he earned doctorates in philosophy and theology. He was ordained in 1931.

He returned to St. Louis in 1938 and was consecrated a bishop in 1947. He became coadjutor bishop for St. Joseph, Mo., in 1964 and the next year was named ordinary of the diocese. Cody became bishop of the Kansas City-St. Joseph Diocese in 1966 and went to New Orleans as coadjutor bishop in 1961.

Jury bias is concern in Hinckley trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prosecutors are worried that if jurors trying John W. Hinckley Jr., are not isolated and guarded, they may have to be questioned daily to ensure a fair trial for the man accused of shooting the president.

They worry, too, that reporters will contact the jurors, their families or friends and that television networks will carry psychiatrists' analyses of what the impact of testimony was — or should have been — on the jury.

Hinckley's trial is scheduled to begin Tuesday in an ornate, 200-seat ceremonial courtroom. The task of selecting 12 jurors and six alternates from an initial pool of 90 may take the rest of the week.

The sequestration issue is one of a multitude of questions before Parker in a final pre-trial hearing Monday. Most of the other matters deal with the insanity defense Hinckley will raise and what instructions the judge will give to the jury.

Explosion, flash fire kill 34 in Italy

TODI, Italy (AP) — An explosion and flash fire ripped through an antiques exhibition Sunday, killing at least 34 people and injuring dozens of others, police said. Many jumped from the roof of the four-story building onto mattresses piled up below.

"There was a tremendous explosion which shook the entire area," said Paolo Pianigiani, a reporter at a radio station across the street from the 15th century building housing the exhibition.

"For a minute we thought it was an earthquake, then we saw smoke, fire and there were people screaming, screaming," he said. "Fire spread quickly and the heat was so intense ... I saw a bronze statue literally melt."

Authorities said about 200 people were inside when the blast occurred. They said dozens of people leaped to safety by jumping onto the mattresses.

Israel returns east Sinai to Egypt

RAFAH, Egypt (AP) — Israel returned the eastern Sinai Desert to Egypt Sunday, ending nearly 15 years of occupation in emotion-charged ceremonies that brought cheers, tears, riots and vows of eternal peace.

Shouts of "Allah Akbar" — "God is Great" — went up from a throng of 2,000 Arabs watching as a huge red, white and black Egyptian flag was unfurled over the new Sinai border checkpoint outside Rafah. Trumpets, blared, drums boomed, fireworks puffed in the sky, Bedouin men on camels cheered and Bedouin women trilled in high-pitched ululation — their traditional tongue-warbling outpouring of deep feeling.

A few hours before the evacuation, about 70 Jewish nationalists opposed to the withdrawal came out of the obliterated Israeli town of Yamit. They wept, kissed the ground and rent their garments in Jewish funeral tradition. Anti-withdrawal activists claimed some of their people were still inside the Egyptian-ruled area and would try to stay there. Associated Press correspondent Larry Thorson reported

Fifteen minutes before the withdrawal deadline two Israeli Kfir jetfighters screamed over Rafah and headed southeast along the new 130-mile border.

The new Egyptian governor of the Rafah area, Yusef Sabri Abu Taleb, lit a memorial flame from a torch brought by runners from Cairo.

Time for an independent election commission

DAVE WILLIAMS probably didn't know what he was getting into when he was appointed election commissioner of the Undergraduate Student Organization.

He probably didn't know that the mudslinging, the party-machine politics and the trivial complaints that pervaded the recent student government elections would make his job one of the most controversial on campus.

The election commissioner is the administrator of the USO elections, a function that seems straightforward enough on the surface. As the administrator, however, the commissioner exercises broad discretion over the elections.

For example, the election commissioner is empowered to investigate and to rule on charges of election law violations. During this year's elections, Williams made decisions on charges ranging from the petty complaint that campaign T-shirts were worn around the polls to the more consequential pro-Maverick contention that write-in votes should be accepted only if both the presidential and the vice-presidential candidates' names were spelled correctly.

THE ELECTION commissioner and at least six other members of the commission — who advise the commissioner, but do not make final decisions — are currently appointed by the USO president. Now that party politics have invaded student government, the temptation exists for the president to appoint a commissioner who is favorable to his party. Whether or not a less-than-objective commissioner is appointed, accusations can be made that such has happened.

For example, the original Sting Party presidential candidate was disqualified from this year's race. Furthermore, the election commission forced Glenn Stolar, his replacement, to run a write-in campaign because a technicality kept him off the ballot, too.

Charges that political maneuvering ruled this decision permeated the rest of the campaign. It has been insinuated that Maverick pressure on Williams kept Stolar off the ballot, especially in light of the fact that the Maverick Party candidates overwhelmingly won the race.

The extent to which favoritism actually ruled this decision is open to question, but the fact that Williams was appointed by a Maverick president has fueled the accusations. In order to prevent similar future controversies, the method of selecting the election commission should be changed.

A TRULY independent commission, one appointed by an impartial person, would legitimize the election process. Perhaps the person to appoint the commissioner is the vice president for student affairs, whose office is directly in touch with student activities that include the USO.

Furthermore, the election commission should consist of three members with equal power — perhaps one each from the two leading political parties and a third who is unaffiliated with any party.

Such a three-member commission by majority rule could reach decisions that are more objective than those that the current system seems capable of.

An election commission appointed by an impartial person and having some checks and balances would be more able to preside fairly over the USO elections for the benefit of all SIU-C students — not for the Mavericks, not for the Sting and not for any other political party.

Book co-op decision shows University listens

MAYBE THE BUREAUCRACY at SIU-C isn't as insensitive as many students think.

Early this month Student Center administrators said they would have to charge the spring student book co-op $1,400 for use of the Student Center hallrooms. This move supposedly was necessary to meet requirements to bond holders that organizations which use space for income-generating activities be charged a fee.

Students, led by members of the Undergraduate Student Organization, protested loudly. They said the co-op, which earned a net profit of $33, was not operated as a profit-making venture. Charging the co-op $1,400 in rent would kill it, they argued.

Last week, their protests got results. Student Center Director John Corker and Student Center advisory board Chairman Stephen Alvin assured students that the next book co-op wouldn't have to pay rent.

THE CONTENTION OF student leaders all along was that the Student Center belonged to students and they shouldn't be charged for using it to cut their educational costs in ventures like the book co-op. This decision seems to vindicate their contention. Someone in the administration must agree with them.

This is a reassuring decision. It shows that students do, indeed, still have some clout left at their University.

Even more important, it shows that University administrators will listen, when students have a reasonable case and argue it forthrightly.

Viewpoint

Door-to-door campaigning won USO election, not dirty politics

By Todd Rogers
President, Undergraduate Student Organization

The only problem with mudslinging is that the mud you throw often sticks to your fingers, leaving your hands messy and your target unscathed. Such is the case with recent attempts by the Sting Party and the Daily Egyptian to slander and belittle the Maverick Party. Fortunately, students are more intelligent than we give them credit for and no one seems to be buying the bull.

I WANT TO GET one thing straight right off the bat. This is not a letter condemning the Daily Egyptian as a whole. In fact, as "Chico Esquala" of "Saturday Night Live" fame would say, "the Daily Egyptian has been very, very good to me," or in this case, the Maverick administration.

The Daily Egyptian has given the Undergraduate Student Organization extensive and positive publicity both by printing several supportive editorials and expanding the USO's news coverage. Two recent editorials' comments reflect this statement. In an editorial on April 13, the Daily Egyptian stated that "the efforts of the incumbent Maverick administration have been impressive." Two days later in the editorial entitled "Students losing friends in Brown and Rogers," the Daily Egyptian indicated that I have "presided over a rebirth of vitality in, and respect for, student government." I would like to share this credit with the entire USO staff because it is their teamwork and dedication that enables me to receive such support. (P.S. I clipped it out and sent it to Mom.)

Nevertheless, the Daily Egyptian's attack on the Maverick Party's recent re-election is so blatantly lacking in accuracy and objectivity that I feel compelled to set the record straight.

FIRST, THE EDITORIAL, published April 12, stated that the Maverick-appointed election commissioner would not allow Glenn Stolar to appear on the ballot, insinuating that we had purposefully kept him off the ballot to ensure a Maverick victory.

Well, folks, that's just not the way it is. The original presidential and vice-presidential Sting candidates, Joe Dietzler and Glenn Stolar, did hand in a valid petition and were going to be placed on the ballot just as all of the Sting senatorial candidates were. However, Dietzler was disqualified because he did not meet one of the requirements for being a candidate — he was either on disciplinary or academic probation. (I cannot tell which one.) I personally wish that Joe was not on probation or, at least, would have told Glenn that he was before the petition deadline or before the pre-election meeting so that Glenn could have found another running mate. But, unfortunately, he did not. Then the Sting Party tried to make students believe that we forced them off the ballot instead of telling the truth. But this tactic did not work as well as planned. The Mavericks still won by about 1,500 votes — over a 3-to-1 margin.

Secondly, the editorial stated that Stolar was stripped of about 500 votes because students misspelled his name. Wrong! Wrong! Wrong!

I ASKED THE ELECTION commissioner to separate the valid ballots from the invalid ones but then add them altogether afterward. If we had truly stripped Glenn of 500 votes, he would have lost by a 9-to-1 margin instead of 3-to-1.

Thirdly, a story printed the day before stated that the potential for multiple voting did exist. That is true. If someone wanted to carry bely oil around with them to remove the indelible ink so that they could cheat — so be it. I happen to have more faith in the integrity of the student body. Nonetheless, so that we may put an end to this question, the USO will change the election procedure and eliminate this potential even though it will be much more costly.

But the cheapest shot in the editorial was the statement that "the day after the election, the USO offices were festooned with balloons and posters congratulating the Mavericks." No one even bothered to ask who put up the posters or why. So I'll provide you with the investigative reporting the Daily Egyptian forgot to get.

The evil, underhanded culprit who put up all the balloons and posters was Mary Lavender, our civil service secretary. Mary simply enjoys making other people feel happy and appreciated. Some other dastardly deeds that this fine woman has done include baking birthday cakes for the USO staffers and designing and posting a large sign congratulating those staffers who were recently recognized at Honor's Day. Shame on you, Mr. Editor, for making such a good, caring woman feel so guilty.

THE PHILOSOPHY behind the Daily Egyptian's coverage of the elections seems to be "we will print the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth as long as it creates a controversy or — better yet — maybe even a scandal."

But you're barking up the wrong tree trying to nail the Mavericks. The students — even after listening to the B.S. thrown at the Mavericks for two weeks before the election — still voted them in office for the third straight year. No other party has ever been re-elected even once, let alone twice.

Why? Because the Mavericks have carried out their campaign commitments, and rather than accentuating the negative points of the opposing parties, the Maverick candidates went door-to-door for two weeks, meeting the students and explaining their ideas.

As every student of journalism will tell you, the end of a letter to the editor needs an impactful punch line, making the main theme of the article "hit home." But rack my brain as I may, I could not come up with a better ending than this quote from the master of rhyme and reason himself, William Shakespeare: "Oh, what a wicked web we weave when at first we practice to deceive."

Faculty need to speak out on today's issues

I want to congratulate the writer of the editorial in Tuesday's Daily Egyptian. I could not agree more with the writer that faculty involvement and leadership in debating today's issues are sorely needed.

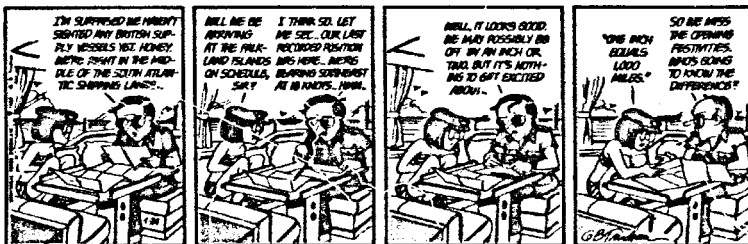

As a matter of fact, personally, when I was in the classroom, I hammered at this idea in every course in every year. I did not have to wait to get outside the classroom to do so.

At present, of course, I am an emeritus professor and have no regular access to students. But my heart is of the same opinion. After all, doing away with civilization, or even humanity itself, is much worse than what is going on in El Salvador. — Paul Schilpp, Professor Emeritus, Philosophy.

DOONESBURY

by Garry Trudeau

Thousands of people spent their Saturday afternoon in the warm sun and festive fun of Springfest '82.

Fest springs forth

A whiff of spring hit SIU-C Saturday.

Kids watched breathlessly as the morning wind yanked kites aloft. Comedian and Master of Ceremonies Paul Zimmerman spewed hot air and showed off some fancy juggling as he entertained between mainstage presentations by musical and comedy acts.

Merrymakers held their breath as Saluki patrolmen staged a valiant effort to control the ~~the~~ before being overwhelmed by the sheer volume of it. Bruce Swinburne, vice president for student affairs, probably gurgled some choice words underwater after being brought down by a skillful pitching arm in the Sphinx Club's dunking booth.

Soon the younger crowd, with their hands over their ears, left behind the blast of the music, the Big Wheels and balloons.

The older kids took over, working the Altgeld Hall restrooms overtime.

After the last "oohs" and "aahs" died down from the crowd that watched the closing fireworks show, members of Alpha Phi Omega and Student Programming Council volunteers corralled the debris in red, white and blue trash cans, leaving the Old Main Mall as clean as a whistle.

And as Springfest wound to a close, thankfully free of major carnage, it was estimated that close to 10,000 people had wandered through the festival area. The contingent of 50-some SPC volunteers who helped stage the mammoth event must have heaved a collective sigh of relief.

Bruce Swinburne takes one of many baths in the dunking booth.

Drum solos and a laser show didn't save Loverboy concert

By Joe Walter
Staff Writer

It was a night of generic rock and roll at the Arena Friday night.

Loverboy and Prism entertained the Arena crowd of about 9,000 with a succession of similar-sounding numbers.

Both bands' performances included the obligatory drum solos, on ridiculously cluttered nine- to 10-piece drum sets resembling Stonehenges in miniature, and of course — "Hey people, watch me make some noise!" — lead guitar solos, the type that sends teenyboppers on a trip to candyland.

Prism started the show with a pretty fair Kansas impression, including a "Solo" during one segment — how original — playing tunes like "Don't Let Him Know" and "Rain."

A laser light show ac-

Concert Review

companied a bevy of Loverboy tunes from the group's two albums. Most of the lyrics seem to deal with the same old trite lovey-dovey pap or the subject of lusty over teenage girls.

Bubblegum gems like "Turn Me Loose" and "Working for the Weekend" received so much cheering that it was hard to hear the songs. The audience obviously enjoyed Loverboy, and Prism received a polite reception. Loverboy's show was especially slick and obviously well-rehearsed, down to vocalist Mike Reno's asking the crowd, "Hey, you feel like getting lucky tonight?"

Both bands dripped of hype, a hype that is in my mind undeserved. They both sound like the bands one hears at high school proms playing from a Top-40 list. Bands like these have reduced rock and roll to trivial, high-powered elevator music about as runny as unseasoned gruel, and about as stimulating.

This is not to put down all Top-40 bands. Foreigner, when they played the Arena last December, did a great job of entertaining without the flashy laser shows and noisy, superfluous guitar exercises and drum solos.

Loverboy and Prism, two Canadian bands, might be a source of pride for those in the "Great White North" who feel the need to assert their national identity to combat the United States. But sounding like 100,000 other American bands is not the way to do it.

Sorry, hosers.

Rainbow set to play Arena

Rainbow, the international supergroup powered by decibel king Ritchie Blackmore, will appear at the SIU Arer a May 7.

Tickets to the concert are $7 and $9 and will go on sale at the Arena South Lobby Box Office at 8 a.m. Tuesday. A distribution point for line reservation cards will be announced over radio stations WTOA, WCIL and WIDB at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Heavy metal, high-intensity rock and roll is Rainbow's trademark, a legacy of Ritchie Blackmore's days with Deep Purple. Blackmore's brooding genius as a guitar wizard shone then in such rock standards as "Hush" and "Smoke on the Water."

Since forming Rainbow, Blackmore and Roger Glover have propelled the group to international fame, selling 6 million records worldwide and accumulating 18 gold albums.

"Straight Between the Eyes" is an apt description of Rainbow's latest hard-hitting release. The thunderous guitar of Ritchie Blackmore takes a commanding stance in tunes like "Power" and "Death Alley Driver."

The Arena engagement is part of an extensive American tour by Rainbow aimed at heavy metal fans.

Recital to feature works of Chopin, Liszt

Music student Roger Tyier will present his junior recital at 8 p.m. Monday in the Old Baptist Foundation Chapel.

Included in the program will be Bach's Toccata in E minor, Beethoven's Sonata in F major,

Op. 10, No. 2, Franz Liszt's Etude in D flat major, "Un Sospiro," Frederic Chopin's Etude in C minor, "Revolutionary" and Francis Poulenc's "Improvisations No. 7 and 8."

Faculty-choreographed dance show set

With the help of many friends, both in the University and in the community, the dance faculty of SIU-C and SIU-E will present a "Spring Dance Concert" at 8 p.m. Saturday in Shryock Auditorium.

Tickets, at $4.50, $3.50 and $2.50, are available at the Shryock Auditorium Box Office from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays.

"Spring Dance Concert" is a collection of contemporary works choreographed by the dance faculties of the SIU campuses and performed by the Southern Illinois Repertory Dance Company. Two SIU-C faculty members, George Pinney and Linda Kostalik, will perform in their own works.

The other dances in the concert are choreographed by Sally Idoine, SIU-C faculty member, and Audrey Tallant and Al Will, faculty members at SIU-E. Wiltz is also the artistic director of the Mid-America Dance Company, a St. Louis-based modern dance company.

According to Kostalik, who is also the director of the concert, this is the first recital of faculty works since the dance program left the Theater Department three years ago. When the move was made, Kostalik explained, the dance program lost the use of McLeod Theater, the facility previously used for recitals.

"With the help of Michael Wede of the Department of Physical Education, John Evans of the College of Education, and Michael Dingserson of Research and Development, financial support was found to resurrect the faculty concert program," Kostalik said.

Funding for one of Kostalik's works, entitled "The Journey," was provided by the Illinois Arts Council.

Local businesses also pitched in to help make the concert a reality. Kostalik said that 10 Carbondale businesses and one from Marion contributed a total of almost $500 to help defray promotional expenses and the cost of printing programs.

Whether or not the faculty concert program will continue depends upon the financial success of this spring's presentation. Kostalik hopes to possibly bring in guest artists for future endeavors, but says much depends on the level of student and community support.

Annette S. Queyrago, graduate student in dance, and Jerry Sullivan, freshman in music, are two members of the Southern Illinois Repertory Dance Company who will perform Saturday.

'Fiction House' opens Thursday

The Department of Speech Communication will present "Lost in the Fiction House" at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Communications Building's Calipre Stage.

The two-act play will center around the works of writers Kurt Vonnegut, Theodore Roethke, William Gars, Donald Barthelme and Robert Grealy. The script was adapted and directed by Ron Pelias, faculty member in speech communication.

The cast consists of Jacqui Anderson, Robin Curry, Keith Hoerner, Jeff Rensch, Sally Shelton, Frank Trimble and David Wendt, all undergraduates in speech; Dennis Jackson, undergraduate in theater; David Beal, visiting instructor in speech; and David Angel and Gene Ellis, graduate students in speech.

Tickets are $2 and may be purchased at the door. Seats may be reserved by calling the Calipre Box Office at 453-2291 between 1 and 4 p.m.

fiscal year, which begins May 1, sets aside $150,000 for the loan program, and $50,000 for grants.

The council will also discuss a recommendation by the Carbondale Planning Commission to reject a change in the city's zoning code, which would require that driveway areas for one-, two-, three-, and four-unit dwellings be paved with a minimum surface of chip-seal known as "A-1."

An ordinance requiring A-3 surfacing for all front yard parking areas for such dwellings was passed by the council in February, while the issue of requiring the surfacing of driveway areas not covered in the ordinance was left to the planning commission for recommendation.

The commission decided to recommend a restudy of city regulation of paving of driveway area for the one-, two-, three-, and four-unit buildings, recommending a different solution to the problem.

Indonesian, Thai guests to keep International Ed busy

By Charles Victor
Staff Writer

That SIU-C has gained international prominence can be seen this week by the large number of international visitors expected this week. Apart from many visiting scholars already here, the Office of International Education will be kept busy this week by two large groups of visitors coming here on study tours.

A first group of 13 from Thailand, led by the Arun Praedeelilok, deputy general of the Teachers Training Department, arrived here Sunday evening. The group, which is on a tour of universities in the United States, is here after a two-week crash course on computer programming at Kentucky State University.

According to Bundit Vongkeao said that the student in education leadership here, the group will visit the School of Technical Careers, Morris Library, the College of Education and the College of Communications and Fine Arts as part of their three-day program.

The group will also visit John A. Logan College and look at the computer market for a suitable computer they are expecting to buy from the United States, Vongkeao said.

The visit was arranged by the SIU-C Thai Students Association and the Office of International Education. Vongkeao said the Praedeelilok, who has a doctoral degree in education leadership from SIU-C, will stay two months at the University as a visiting scholar to research accreditation policies here with a view to adapting one for Thailand. He will also study methods of teachers training for adult education.

A second group of four from Indonesia is expected to arrive Thursday on a tour arranged by UNESCO to look at technical vocational education.

Beg your pardon

A phrase was omitted from the story in Friday's Daily Egyptian about a speech by William S. Minor, founder of a research group, the Foundation for Philosophy of Creativity.

The correct quote is: "Since military establishments are ultimately non-productive economically, they struggle as parasites on the people, and in their effort to survive, they demand such fantastic financial support that it is now evident that they will drive the nations' treasuries into international bankruptcy together with their own self-destruction unless we can quickly commit them to the graveyards of the dinosaurs."

It was incorrectly stated in a Page 3 story in Friday's Daily Egyptian that Steve Katsinas, graduate student in higher education, is the Graduate Student Council's president-elect. Paul Matalonis was elected GSC president for 1982-'83.

Specifically the group will be looking at ways to enhance technical education in Indonesia.

Norman Goodman, an associate professor working with the International Education Office, sees technical education as a major trend in the fast developing South East Asian region. Goodman has had experience working in the region both as a Peace Corps volunteer, and in his present capacity as director of international program development at SIU-C.

Goodman said, "These visits augur well for our involvement in education in the world."

China to be dominant influence in 21st century, prof says

By Mike Anthony
Staff Writer

"A major, perhaps the dominant, creative force in the 21st Century will be China," according to Oliver J. Caldwell, a professor emeritus in SIU-C's Department of Higher Education.

"Whatever happens, I believe history tells us that 3,000 years of Chinese history will endure," Caldwell said. "China as a nation, the Chinese as a people, have absorbed all enemies and overcome all obstacles for 3,000 years."

Caldwell's remarks, titled "China: Science, Discovery and Learning," were given as the 10th annual George S. Counts lecture Thursday night at Davis Auditorium. Caldwell was the first SIU-C scholar to deliver the lecture since its inception in 1973.

Caldwell, 77, was born in China, and after attending the University of Washington and Oberlin College, returned there in 1935 to teach. After the Japanese invaded, Caldwell left. He returned in 1943 for two years.

The lecture series began after Counts, a distinguished visiting professor in the education department, retired. He died in 1974 in Bellville.

remarkable scholars of this century, who has published 11 monumental volumes of a study known as "Science and Civilization in China." Caldwell said, "through the first 13 centuries of the Christian era most European science and technology originated in China, sometimes, as in the case of gunpowder and printing, centuries before they appeared in Europe."

Caldwell said that Needham "has corrected generations of ignorance in Europe of the original source of most basic sciences and technologies."

The Chinese people established the first "true prototype of a university" 1,200 years before the Islamic university in Timourtu was founded between A.D. 900 and 1100, and there were "a number of academies in existence at this time," he said.

One result of Needham's work, Caldwell said, "is that Western educators should seriously revise their concepts of the history of higher education in our world" because the Chinese were centuries ahead of anyone in the establishment of universities and academies.

Needham also asserts that the actual governance of China in the past 2,000 years, with a few exceptions, was in the hands of a meritocracy. Caldwell said that the concept of a civil service, in which people are chosen for jobs on the basis of their ability, "was borrowed from China by parts of Europe in the late 18th Century, and took another 100 years to reach" the United States.

In addition, the Chinese developed chemistry and, over a 700-year period, invented gunpowder. Indeed, China contributed to the formal development of the scientific method, Caldwell said, and "we can claim for the Chinese literary scholarship at the beginning of the 17th Century, a systematic application to the inductive reasoning method and a use of the very terminology which we associate with that method in the West."

But after the Ming Dynasty, the Chinese began to lag in their scientific discoveries. This was part to the Manchus, who, when they ruled China, "were more interested in preserving their own skins than in promoting the true interests of the Chinese people," and the fact that for about 200 years Europeans attempted to dismember the Chinese empire, he said.

Another factor was Marxism and "a long period of bitter civil war," Caldwell said. "Communism, as I have heard it taught in many schools in Russia, is a system under which each produces according to his ability, so that all may share according to their needs" — but it has never worked out that way." Caldwell said he believes that the form of Marxism in China is preferable to that used by the Soviet Union.

China's Sichuan Province has been a testing ground for an idea that is intended "to combine the planned economy with market forces," he said.

Chinese Prime Minister Zhao Ziyang believes "the state's control is too tight" and plans to loosen traditional communist central planning, Caldwell said. "This sounds to me like the system that has been so successful in Yugoslavia."

In closing, Caldwell quoted Needham: "We are living in the dawn of a new universalism, which, if humanity survives the dangers attendant on control by irresponsible men of sources of power hitherto unimaginable, will unite the working peoples of all races in a community both catholic and cooperative. The mortar of this edifice is mutual comprehension."

Undetermined amount taken in robbery of Super K store

Super K, a 24-hour store and gas station at 534 E. Main, was robbed early Sunday morning, according to Carbondale police.

A black male entered the store at 1:39 a.m., displayed a gun in the waistband of his pants and demanded all of the money in the cash register. Police said the suspect fled on foot and no arrests have been made. The suspect is described as 6 feet tall and about 28 to 30 years old, and had a moustache. The suspect was wearing a black calf-length leather coat, dark pants and a white crew neck pullover sweater. The amount taken in the robbery had not been determined Sunday.

stream, so that we have the women, we have the children, so that we have the older people from the community participating, and it won't just seem like a bunch of college kids."

Proffitt said march organizers were "grateful to all the community people who came." He estimated that about a third of the marchers were townspeople. There were a number of elderly people, children and some members of the clergy in the crowd.

Proffitt said he was especially pleased to see children in the march. "That's what the movement's about — their generation — staying alive and enjoying what we've had," he said.

Power co-op manager responds to questions

By Kathy Kamienski
Staff Writer

Aside from questioning whether a 19.2 percent rate increase was needed, a group of Egyptian Electric Cooperative members intends to ask trustees about the agency's finances and operations during its annual meeting Friday.

The newly organized protest group has circulated a list of questions and encouraged other members to attend the session to press co-op officials for answers.

Among questions raised — and answers from co-op manager James D. Holloway — are:

—Why were rates increased 19.2 percent?

Holloway said that across the electric power industry increases of 23 percent were prevalent during the past year. In Egyptian's case, interest rates and the cost of coal contributed most to the need for an increase in rates, he said.

—Did you know your board spent $92,089 last year on its own fees and expenses?

Holloway said board members are paid $100 per monthly meeting and for expenses. The figure also includes dues and membership in two organizations the board participates in: the Association of Rural Electrical Cooperatives and the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, he said.

—Did you know your board members and families receive paid-up accident and health insurance from the co-op?

Holloway said the trustees were covered by the same policy as the 42 co-op employees, and the cost was included in the $92,089 spent for fees.

—Did you know your board traveled to Atlanta, Washington and other cities at co-op expense?

Yes they did, Holloway said. Trustees attended conferences and workshops, relevant to running a co-op, which were offered by the organizations the board belongs to.

—Did you know your board voted to buy a $110,000 billing computer without competitive bids when only 25 percent of the co-op members get bills?

Holloway said trustees authorized him to research buying a computer system some 18 months ago, but no money has been spent. The co-op uses an IBM machine now and will probably buy something compatible, but more modern, he said. That would mean staying with IBM equipment, which precludes taking bids since there's only one manufacturer involved, Holloway explained. The board is also exploring joint computer use with other agencies, he said, and if a shared system is shown to be less expensive, trustees might approve that choice. The computer would be used more for day-to-day financial operations, not billing, he said.

—Did you know your board invested $1.3 million in money market funds while carrying investments of $1.9 million? Did they really need that rate increase?

Holloway said the co-op through the National Rural Utilities Cooperative Finance Corp., routinely invests its cash flow with the finance company and pays its bills with the interest earned. The maneuver is encouraged by the Rural Electrification Administration, the federal agency that funds and regulates rural co-ops. Egyptian receives funds from members a month ahead of when expenses are due, he said. The revenue earned from interest produced $110,220 for the co-op in 1980 and $210,382 in 1982. It's a standard business cash flow operation done with temporarily excess funds. The process was initiated when Harold Dycus of Carbondale, who has experience with corporate finance, joined the board, Holloway related.

—Did you know your board paid 42 salaries totaling $1,037,000 or an average of $24,690 per employee?

Holloway declined comment on individual salaries or on the average. But, he said all the co-op workers except for office and management staff are members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, same as CIPS workers, and those salaries are set in negotiations with the union.

—Did you know your board manager's salary is in the mid-$40,000 range plus benefits, auto and expenses?

Holloway said he is paid a bit over $45,000, the highest salary paid by the co-op. He added that he is on-call 24 hours, seven days a week, and he suspected that managers at CIPS and other investor-owned utilities receive much higher salaries. CIPS manager salary range figures weren't available.

—Did you know your manager and 41 employees served 10,400 members while the CIPS Carbondale district manager and 11 employees served 11,800?

Holloway said it would be unfair to compare the co-op to CIPS. One reason is that when there is a major storm-causing power outage CIPS has a large network to draw employees from while the co-op has only itself. The co-ops do have an emergency agreement, but help is available only if workers aren't needed in their own areas. A spokeswoman for CIPS' Carbondale office said the employee figure of 11 is "probably low." The staff is responsible for both electric and gas service, making it difficult to draw a comparison, she said.

—Did you know your co-op manager is serving the elected position of Democratic State Central Committeeman while on the co-op payroll?

That's correct, Holloway said. He was Randolph County treasurer and then a state representative prior to 1975. He added, "Committeeman is no

Williamson, Randolph and Perry counties. About 63 percent of the members are in the Carbondale and Carterville area, according to James D. Holloway, cooperative manager.

While there's no exact figure, Holloway estimates that some 2,200 of the owner-members are students or others connected with the University living in rental units.

Holloway acknowledges that rates have increased, but says some of the protesters' complaints are based on faulty figures and information.

If busloads of protesters attend the annual meeting it'll be in stark contrast from last year's session. Then, Holloway noted, the meeting started with "just barely" the 150 members needed to make a quorum.

Trustees up for re-election include Hubert L. Chapman of Carbondale, who has been a trustee three years; John E.

Steele of Campbell Hill, who has been a trustee nine years; and Dale A. Smith of Cutler, who has been a trustee 14 years.

Challenging the incumbents are Larry Broker of Carbondale who is running as a write-in candidate because his petition was turned in after the ballot went to the printer, according to Holloway; and Mike Durr of Carbondale, whose name will appear on the ballot.

Power co-op members claim their rates higher than CIPS'

A group of Egyptian Electric Cooperative members has claimed that its rates are 21 percent higher than those of CIPS. James D. Holloway, co-op manager, says the disparity may be closer to 12 percent, but a direct comparison is difficult because of varying rate structures and billing procedures.

However, Holloway says Egyptian's rates are lower than other cooperatives'. Of the 27 rural co-ops in Illinois, Egyptian's rates are near the bottom of the scale. Only six co-ops have lower rates, and two of them are seeking rate increases.

When comparing rates to CIPS or Illinois Power, some mathematical maneuvering is needed to arrive at average figures.

Using an average monthly electric bill of 1,200 kilowatt hours, there are still differences. CIPS has a standard rate for most of its customers and a discounted all-electric rate for the remainder. CIPS also has a winter rate and a higher summer rate. The co-op has the same rate all year.

A co-op electric bill starts with a $7.50 monthly facility charge. Rates are 7 cents for the first 500 kwh and 4.5 cents above 500 kwh. CIPS charges all residential consumers a $2.60 monthly flat fee. Rates are 5.96 cents per kwh in the summer and 4.96 cents in the winter. The all-electric rate is the same for the first 400 kwh, then drops to 3.5 cents for the next 400 hours and 2.2 cents for anything over 800 kwh. State and local taxes are added to the monthly charges.

That being the case, an average bill for an Egyptian co-op member would be $74 a month compared to CIPS' regular rate of $77.79 a month or $56.66 a month for the all-electric rate, according to a CIPS rate analyst. There's no difference for summer between the all-electric and standard rates bringing the monthly summer bill to $90.03, the CIPS rate analyst said.

different than being elected to a lodge office. It's a part-time, off-hours activity."

—Did you know your board spent $20,000 on Rural Electric News (a monthly magazine sent to members)? Why is there a lack of communication with no minutes, expenses and a complete annual report published in the magazine?

Holloway defended the magazine as an economical way to communicate with owner-members. The magazine, also printed for other co-ops, allows two pages for local Egyptian Electric articles. The space has been used to give notice of annual meetings and other topics, Holloway said.

Golfers start strong, but finish 13th at Drake, 6th at Western

By Paul Lorenz
Associate Sports Editor

The men's golf team got off to a promising start at Drake, but ended up 13th among 27 teams, and sixth of 14 teams at Western Illinois in weekend play.

Coach Jim Reburn wasn't pleased with the Salukis' play at the 18-hole WIU tournament Saturday, saying the quality of teams was "not good." Only three Division I schools besides SIU-C played at Western, and two finished ahead of the Salukis.

Bradley edged WIU, 313-314, to win the one-day tourney. SIU-C scored 325 in its sixth-place showing, while Luther College was third at 316. College of Lake County followed at 319 and Palmer College was fifth at 324.

Rob Hammond led the Salukis with a 79, followed by Craig Doiron's 80. Mark Young shot 83 and Tom Jones and Randy Harris each scored an 84 to round out SIU-C's total at Western.

Nebraska scored 899 to finish on top at the 54-hole Drake tournament Thursday and Friday. Iowa at 907 and Kansas at 913 placed second and third. The top Missouri Valley team at the tourney was fifth-place Illinois State at 920. SIU-C shot 955 to place 13th, just ahead of Bradley at 961.

The Salukis fired a 304 to open the Drake tourney Thursday, leaving them in seventh place. But then "the bottom fell out" for the Salukis, Reburn said.

They shot a 335 in round two, split between Thursday and Friday, and finished with a 316 on Friday.

"That second round blew us out," Reburn said. "Usually it's the first round a team has to get by. But we've started out well the last two weeks." The Saluki coach pointed to the team's youth as the probable cause of the erratic play.

"We're just not good enough yet to put three good rounds together," Reburn said.

Freshman Young led SIU-C with a three-round total of 238, and scored the low Saluki round of the tourney with a 75. Hammond, Doiron and Jones all shot 240, and Harris scored a 246. Every Saluki scored below 80 in the first round and above 80 in the disastrous second round.

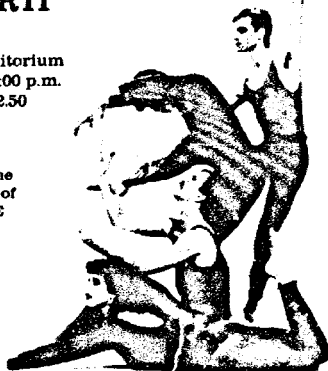

Hammond, a junior, leads the Salukis with a 76.9 average over 10 rounds. But Reburn said Hammond's and the team's average is too high.

"Our average is about 80; even our fifth man shouldn't average 80," Reburn said. "The conference leader is averaging 74. If we could average 74 to 78 per man, we'd lead the conference. But we're about four to five strokes per man higher than we should be."

Pitching good, but softballers lose 3

By Keith Mitchell
Staff Writer

If a pitching staff gives up no more than three runs and five hits per game, its team should win more games than it loses, right?

Wrong, in the case of the softball team.

At the Indiana Invitational this weekend, the softball pitching staff gave up five hits and three runs or less per game, and lost three of four games.

SIU-C lost to Indiana, 3-1, Central Michigan, 1-0, and Illinois State, 2-0, on Friday. The Salukis salvaged a game Saturday, beating Miami of Ohio, 4-0.

Shakey defense and inconsistent hitting were the causes of the Salukis' woes, according to Coach Kay Brechtelsbauer.

"We played well this weekend and were in every game, but shoddy defense and a lack of consistent hitting hurt us," Brechtelsbauer said.

The Saluki coach had a three-pitcher rotation, for the first time in a month, at Indiana. Meredith Stengel, the lone Saluki arm for the last week, was given a reprieve when Gena Valli and Donna Dapson returned to the rotation.

Valli, who has suffered from an arm injury much of the season and hasn't been on the mound for a month, returned to pitch against Central Michigan and lost a heartbreaking 1-0 game.

The game was scoreless going into the bottom of the seventh, but a leadoff single, an error and a wild pitch gave Central Michigan the win.

Valli's ERA is 1.10, and she gave up only five hits to the 27-2 Chippewas. Central Michigan's Linda Padjen won her 12th straight game without a loss this season.

Dapson, who hadn't thrown in a week, gave up just three hits but lost 3-1 to the Hoosiers. Two of those runs were unearned as SIU-C committed five errors. The Salukis managed just five hits.

Stengel was 1-1 in the invitational and earned the lone Saluki victory by blanking Miami of Ohio on three hits. SIU-C's bats came to life, as the Salukis scored four runs on eight hits.

Brechtelsbauer said she's pleased with the pitching staff's performances. She feels the amount of work Dapson and Stengel are seeing this season will be a plus for the two next season.

SIU-C's record stands at 14-21 as it prepares to meet SIU-Edwardsville on Tuesday at the Women's Intercollegiate Athletics Field in the final games of the regular season.

the NCAA Championships. The junior's clocking was 23 seconds lower than the previous one set by Tom Fitzpatrick.

The 800-meter relay team of Hinton, Geary, Adams and Franks, now have the fourth swiftest team in the nation, thanks to a third-place effort of 1:22.23. Despite the loss, it was a gratifying meet for Adams. The sophomore finally got his wish to compete against Georgia's famed football standout and world-class sprinter Hershel Walker. The result?

"He pulled up next to me and I burned him," said Adams. "After the race, he came over to me and said, 'that was a heck-of-a-leg, brother.'"

Senior Karsten Schulz, who finished second last year, got revenge against Drake's Chris Mares, beating him with a quick 3:46.1 to capture third in the 1500-meter run.

Tom Ross took fifth in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, clocking in at 8:59.6, good enough to equal his personal best. Koss also joined Javell Heggis, Mark Hill and Bill Moran in the distance medley relay. Pole vaulters John Sayre and Andy Geiger saw four vaulters clear 17-7, all shattering the meet record. Sayre leaped 17-2 while Geiger cleared 16-4.

Van Winkle signs 2nd JUCO guard

By Bob Morand
Staff Writer

Another junior college guard has been added to the Saluki basketball roster, completing this year's backcourt recruiting.

Roy Birch, a 6-2, 180-pound Atchinson, Kan., native, signed with the Salukis Friday. Birch, who spent the last two years playing for Coffeyville College, Coffeyville, Kan., signed the letter-of-intent early Friday morning with his junior college coach Gene Duke and assistant Saluki basketball coach Stafford Stevenson looking on.

Coach Allen Van Winkle, for the second consecutive day, announced the signing at a 9:00 press conference in his Arena office. Van Winkle said he is most impressed with Birch's attitude and temperament. And like Benny Smith, the guard from Volunteer Community College, Tenn., who signed Thursday, Van Winkle is also impressed with Birch's "poise."

"Roy has good poise. He seems to be very much in control on the floor," Van Winkle said. "His temperament reminds me of the temperament of John Wooden's players when he was at UCLA."

"Roy is such a classy kid," the Saluki coach continued. "People around here like to talk about Mike Glenn (former Saluki basketball star) and what a classy guy he was. Well, when people meet Roy Birch they'll feel the same way," he said of his third recruit this spring. The Salukis first signee, Carbondale's Brian Welch, signed two weeks ago.

Duke, who coached Craig Tucker at Coffeyville before he transferred to Illinois, reiterated Van Winkle's prospectus in a telephone interview after the signing. "Roy is an extremely poised athlete," Duke said. "He doesn't fluster when he is in an intense situation on the court. He has a very high threshold to stress."

"You will find him to be an extremely intelligent player," the junior college coach added. "Roy's a good outside shooter, can penetrate inside and post up on the boards like a good college-level player should be able to do."

At Coffeyville, Birch averaged 13.4 points per game his freshman year and over 22.4 points, nine rebounds his sophomore season. Birch shot 47 percent from the field last season, while grabbing 4.4 steals and dishing out 110 assists. In his first season he was used primarily as a ballhandler, Van Winkle said, but played a bigger role in scoring his last season. Besides basketball, Birch ran track at Coffeyville and lettered in five sports at Atchinson High School. He carried a grade point average of 3.2 in junior college and will enroll in the marketing program at SIU-C, Van Winkle added.

The new Saluki considered the University of Arizona before deciding on SIU-C.

"If I could guess for him (Birch's final decision)," Van Winkle said, "it was because he felt good about assistant coaches Stevenson and (Herm) Williams. I think he feels confident about our place."

With the addition of Birch, five guards will be competing for the two backcourt positions. Returning from last season will be James Copeland and Dennis

Goins. "We'll play those people who work their tails off to earn those spots," said Van Winkle in reference to the job battle for the guard spots. "That will be answered in October."

BASEBALL from Page 20

Saluki offensive power Sunday. "When you get shut out 15 innings it's hard to win ball games," Jones said. "But we can't spend the rest of the season looking over our shoulders at our losses. From now on we have to go out and concentrate on winning if we are going to get anywhere."

Strong pitching performances by Rob Clark and Ken Klump keyed the Saluki wins Saturday. Clark recorded his fifth victory against three losses when he went the distance in game one.

The Salukis jumped on ISU pitcher Greg Troemel for a run in the first inning, three in the second, and five more in the fourth.

Redbird Chris Horner relieved Toemel with the bases loaded in the fourth and walked Corey Zawadzki, P.J. Schranz and Kurt Reid to drive in two runs.

After left fielder Scott Bridges hit into a fielder's choice, shortstop Mike Mesh drove in another run when the Redbird shortstop couldn't handle his grounder. Back-to-back singles by Joe Richardson and Rick Koch capped off the Saluki rally.

Despite four runs — two of which were unearned — in the Redbirds' half of inning No. 4, the Salukis held on for the victory.

"I got my confidence back," Clark said. "Little things have been bothering me lately but I decided to just go out and throw to forget about them."

Clark had not won a game in two weeks but against the Redbirds he struck out five including the side in the sixth inning. The first game was highlighted by ISU first base Coach Eldon Warfield, who spent most of the early going heckling the first base umpire, claiming that Clark was talking.

Warfield kept up the ranting and yelled "You're terrible," to the first base umpire, who quickly responded by ejecting the Redbird coach from the contest.

In game two, Saluki pitcher Ken Klump had a no-hitter until the sixth inning when center fielder Bob Daggy lined a one-out single to center.

The junior was tagged for one run in the seventh, but it wasn't enough, as the Salukis had added one of their own in the top of the inning, to build their lead to 4-1, which proved to be the final score.

Ghanayem 6-1, 6-1. At the nos. 4, 5 and 6 seeds, Desilets beat Chuck Gibson 6-1, 7-6, Filer beat James Harris 3-3, 6-4, and Coch slipped by Chip Cunningham 6-1, 7-5.

In doubles, SIU-C won two-of-three, with Filer and Greif beating Wise and Gibson, 6-2, 6-7, 6-1, and Ampon and Desilets beating Clements and Ghanayem 6-3, 6-4.

The Salukis will have a chance to grab another win before next week's Missouri Valley Conference, when they face Illinois-Chicago Circle at 3 p.m. at the University Tennis Courts.

Houseworth was able to come up with such a good performance in the 10,000 after running the 5,000 Friday night.

"We finished the 5,000 at about 9 o'clock Friday night," the Saluki coach said, "and the 10x started at 10 a.m. Saturday. That's not much time in between races."

Sprinter Debra Davis had a busy weekend, running the 200 dash twice and the 400 and a leg of the 4 by 100 relay three times each. Davis placed second in the 400 in 55.3, and had a season best of 55.2 in the preliminaries of that event.

The sophomore ran a 25.7 in the 200, but didn't get past the semifinals in the event, Blackman said. Davis was probably "just plain tired" by the time the semifinals came up Friday night, according to the coach.

Cindy Joy placed second in the javelin with a toss of 40.58 meters, her best of the season by about two feet, Blackman said.

The 1,600 relay team of Cindy Clausen, Therese Kent, Rosa Mitchell and Monica Porter placed sixth of eight teams in 4:08.20.

Saluki hits come, go at Normal

By Bob Morand
Staff Writer

NORMAL — A rejuvenated hitting attack gave SIU-C two wins Saturday. The Saluki bats fell silent Sunday however, as Illinois State twice blanked SIU-C here at Redbird Field.

The Salukis swept Saturday's twinbill, 9-4 and 4-1, and the Redbirds took two Sunday, 1-0 and 5-0. The Salukis' overall record is now 24-14, while the Redbirds' is 19-9.

The Salukis still lead the Valley's Eastern Division despite the four-game split with a 5-3 conference mark. Illinois State and Indiana State are tied for second at 2-2. Bradley, 3-5, is in fourth after splitting a four-game set with the Sycamores in Peoria.

"We played nothing but good baseball," Saluki Coach Itchy Jones said after Saturday's twinbill. "When the pressure starts coming late in the season we play with a lot of intensity."

On Sunday, that intensity was lost, as the Saluki batting attack from the previous day was shut off. Both teams went seven innings without scoring.

Although SIU-C pitcher Rick Wysocki allowed the Redbirds just three hits, one of them came in the bottom of the eighth when catcher Jim Pakanowski drove in the winning run with the bases loaded to give the Redbirds a 1-0 victory.

Jones said after the tough first game loss that the Salukis just didn't come back.

In game two, the Saluki bats were again silenced by ISU freshman Doug Boehm, who tossed a three-hitter.

SIU-C pitcher Jerry Halstead struggled early, giving up three runs in the first two innings and was relieved by freshman Rich Koch in the fourth. Koch was touched for two more runs in his first inning of work to hand the Redbirds the lead for good.

"Yesterday we couldn't have beaten the sisters of the poor," said ISU Coach Duffy Bass Sunday. "Our pitcher Boehm is only a freshman but if we can settle him down like he was this game he will have a lot of good games to come."

Jones talked about the lack of

Netters have perfect weekend

By Ken Perkins
Staff Writer

Men's tennis Coach Dick LeFevre had nothing to frown about Sunday. The sun shined, the wind was calm and his netters had just defeated Eastern Kentucky to end a surprising four-for-four weekend.

"I put the Salukis ahead of the .500 mark at 15-13, and an ear-to-ear smile on LeFevre.

"I'm pretty surprised by it all," said LeFevre. "I'm glad about the winning record, especially with our schedule. And if things would have gone a little differently down south, where we lost six matches, and the weather would have been good to play the cancelled matches, we would have had a pretty respectable record."

In a do-or-die situation that meant either a winning or losing season, the Salukis decided that living was a lot better to playing dead. They upset Illinois

Saturday morning 6-3, beat Purdue by the same score a few hours later, and literally destroyed Eastern Kentucky 8-1 Sunday, to leap over the .500 mark.

The Salukis, at that point, were 14-13, but when Missouri failed to show up for its 2 p.m. date with the Salukis, it was called a forfeit.

"I said we had to win at least three-out-of-four to get a winning record," said LeFevre. "I didn't think we were going to win all of them."

The Salukis beat cross-state rival Illinois for the second time this season, SIU-C going by LeFevre's wishes of jumping ahead early in the singles competition, did better than an even 3-3, when they got an extra win and took a 4-2 record into the doubles competition.

At that point, it was a matter of winning one doubles contest, which was what Lito Ampon and David Desilets did. The pair defeated Illini's Neil Adams and Adam Ambielli, 6-3, 6-3 to secure the victory.

In singles, No.1 seed Brian Stanley defeated Jack Conlan, 6-0, 6-2, No.2 seed Ampon beat Tom Hendersen 6-2, 6-2, and No. 4 seed David Desilets took it to the wire before defeating Adams 4-6, 6-4, 7-6.

No. 5 seed David Filer beat Scott Sommers 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, and No. 6 seed Gabriel Coch knocked off Joe Daw 6-3, 2-6, 7-5. The only Saluki loser in singles was No. 3 seed John Greif, who lost to Ambielli, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

Several hours later, SIU-C was back on the court against Purdue. The impatient Salukis, still gearing for that winning record, had no trouble with the Boilermakers. SIU-C captured five-out-of-six singles to win it.

Stanley couldn't quite muster a victory against Adam Able, losing 6-2, 6-3, but the remaining troops made up the difference. Ampon beat Bro Ballantine 7-6, 6-3, Greif defeated Alan Kaufman 6-4, 6-3 and Desilets beat Matt Friedman 6-3, 6-1.

With a chance of evening up their record, the team pushed on. All they needed was one win in the doubles competition to be assured of victory. And they got it.

"I had a talk with them before the first match," said LeFevre. "I just said that they know what their record is and that this weekend will determine whether we'll have a winning or losing season. I left it at that."

The Saluki's took matters in their own hands, because after beating Purdue, they came in on Sunday and polished off Eastern Kentucky as if their lives depended on it.

SIU-C had won it before the first doubles were even played, sweeping all six singles. Stanley bounced back from the Purdue defeat to upend Todd Clements 6-3, 6-0, Ampon did the same with Todd Wise 6-2, 6-2, and Greif knocked off David

By Ken Perkins
Staff Writer

The 73rd Annual Drake Relays didn't turn out the way men's track and field Coach Lew Hartzog had planned.

First of all, he didn't expect that two potential champions, long jumper Terry Taylor and high jumper Stephen Wray, would miss the plane.

Second, he didn't anticipate that the 400-meter relay team of Marvin Hinton, Tony Adams, Parry Duncan and Mike Franks wouldn't qualify for Saturday's finals.

And third, he didn't dream that his prize 1600-meter relay would win the event in a sizzling 3:04.18, only to be disqualified for a lane infraction.

But anything can happen at the Drake Relays.

"I'm terribly upset," said Hartzog. "Outside of what happened in the relays, we did a pretty good job. It was a real tough field to run against."

The 1600-meter relay, running against the top relay teams in the nation, put in its bid for the national showdown: in June, leaving favorites Arizona State, Alabama and Oklahoma behind.

But if it was only after Duncan's leadoff of 47.28, and Randy Geary's 45.65, that Adams grabbed the baton, which was when the impossible happened.

Alabama's world class sprinter Calvin Smith, who had won the 100-meter dash, was step for step with Adams up to the 190-meter mark. But at the 330-meter mark, Adams, looking for an opening to pass, picked the inside and burst past him.

That gave Franks an eight-meter lead which he had no trouble holding on to for the win. But the Salukis victory lap was cut short when officials declared Arizona State, who had finished behind SIU-C, the winner. They said Adams had "bumped" Smith when he passed.

Both Hartzog and Adams disagree. "That's not true," said Hartzog. "I was right there. As a matter of fact, the Alabama coach came up to me after the race and said that it didn't make any difference: we had won."

Adams couldn't quite understand why he was called for the foul, saying that he "never touched Smith."

"If anyone should have been disqualified, it should have been him," Adams said of Smith. "He wouldn't even let me go by."

It was that kind of weekend for the Salukis in Des Moines, Iowa.

In the 400-intermediate hurdles is a good example, where neither Sam Nwosu or Brent Barth advanced to the finals, and in the shot put, where John Smith failed to qualify, she had sympathy.

Although lady luck failed to wear maroon through most of the events, she did have some sympathy for SIU-C.

Distance ace Mike Keane literally ripped across the SIU-C 10,000-meter record winning that event in 29:11.74, to become the eighth Saluki to qualify for

Tracksters place 8th at Becky Boone meet

By Paul Lorenz

The women's track team placed eighth among 20 teams and recorded 40 points at the Becky Boone Relays over the weekend Ohio State won the meet with 72 points.

The 40 points for the Salukis were their highest Becky Boone total since they returned to the meet in 1977, according to Coach Claudia Blackman. Their previous high was 38. SIU-C chalked up 12 personal season bests Friday and added two more Saturday, Blackman said.

"It was the kind of a meet we built up for emotionally, because we knew we were going up against the best," Blackman said. "Also, we had good weather this weekend for the first time. It wasn't so hot and there was little wind."

"In fact, the javelin throwers probably didn't do as well as they could have because of the stillness of the wind. But the javelin was the only event that may have been hurt by the conditions."

Distance specialist Patty Plymire-Houseworth, for the second straight week, set a school record and qualified for an event in the AIAW Outdoor Nationals, scheduled for the end of May.

The senior took the only first for the Salukis, winning the 5,000-meter run in an AIAW-qualifying time of 17:03.10 Friday. She returned Saturday to place second in the 10,000 in 35:40.4, breaking the school mark she set last week at the Midwest Invitational by about a minute.

Blackman said she was surprised Plymire-
