Spraying plan for weeds to be studied

A recommendation by the Campus Natural Areas Committee to begin spraying herbicide to control honeysuckle in Thompson Woods will be considered by the Graduate and Professional Student Council at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the 7 p.m. Wedne Student Center.

Also, in the wake of a SIU-C administration decision not to buy the Bracy Building in Marion, the GPSC will consider a resolution to reaffirm its preference for an on-campus library storage facility. GPSC will also choose five Graduate Council representatives from the eight graduate students nominated.

An letter to President Somit from Natural Areas Com-Robert Chairman Mohlenbrock, professor of botony, suggested that Roundup herbicids be sprayed in Thompsen Woods to control Thompson Woods to control undergrowth which was hampering reforestation of the woods. The GPSC has previously asked for the Natural Areas Committee to examine possible effects of the spraying on wildlife and humans before spraying takes place.

GPSC President Ann Greeley said she has been assured by Diame schroeder, a site planner at the Physical Plant, that spraying would not begin until after May 12.

Monday to cancel $4.2 million worth of unused 1981 parking garage bonds, the tax, which is scheduled to expire April 30, 1987, will no longer be needed to finance the bond debt service.

Money from the canceled bonds will be used to buy securities. Earnings from the securities will pay for the bonds, which were issued at a 12.5 percent interest rate. The city can reissue parking garage bonds at an interest rate closer to 9.5 percent.
The council authorized the cancellation process, called defeasance, in October, but waited for the bord market to improve, said Paul Sorgen, finance director. Even if the garage were under construction now, defeasance would be recommended because it will save the city money, Sorgen

The council indicated that it will allow the tax to be used to pay for the nearly $340,000 it would cost to cancel the bonds, which should be completed by May 1. If that money doesn't come from the privilege tax, City Manager Bill Dixon said, it would have to come from the city's general fund, ultimately from property taxes.

Representatives to back University in storage search

State Reps. Ralph Dunn and Bruce Richmond will co-sponsor action to reword the $1.6 million appropriation for an SIU-C library storage facility to allow for purchase of a facility or construction on campus.

Dum, R-Du Quoin, said Tuesday that he and Richmond hope to change the appropriation "to leave the University's options open."

"We want to give them the right to build, if they want to," Dunn said regarding SIU-C's three-year struggle to acquire a place to house the overflow of books from Morris Library.

Speaking by phone from his Springfield office, Dunn said he is taking the action because his "constituents didn't want a library storage facility in Marion."

Rubmond D.Mumphyshom, was in Seminafield and unapplicable.

Richmord, D-Murphysboro, was in Springfield and unavailable for comment on Tuesday.

Dunn said that he has met with SIU-C officials, and that he thinks the action can go through despite an ongoing construction freeze on

"All that the freeze meant then, and all that it means now is that you can't build a building for any purpose — there has to be justification," Dunn said.

Woody Mosgers, an aid to Gov. James R. Thompson, said Monday that it was too early to tell what the fate of the two legislators' actions would be.

"Right now the only construction money that is available is for projects dealing with energy or public safety," Mosgers said.

Les Pauly, a spokesman for the Capital Development Board, gave official word Monday that regotiations between the CDB and the owners of the Bracy Building is Marion have broken off.

The negotiations ended, Pauly said, at the owner's request after CDB offered to purchase the building for STS 900 and the purchase of the CDB offered to purchase the building for STS 900 and the support of the suppor

Melvin said last week that he would look into filing suit against SIU-C, and that University officials had exercised their option to purchase the building through letters exchanged in August 1982.

peaceful as they come, and uner attack is strictly academic.
The "gang" is composed of five faculty members who will be offering an interdisciplinary course during the fall semester titled "War and its Alternatives: A 20th Century Survey." The instructors plan to help students investigate the causes of war and explore alternative, non-violent resolutions to conflicts which typically lead to war.

The five are Lionel Bender, anthropology: David Christensen, geography; Robert Hallisey, history; John Howie, philosophy; and Leland Stauber, political science. The course, which can be taken as a liberal arts elective, will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. It will be offered on a temporary "experimental" basis, with its permanent status dependent upon enrollment.

THE CONCEPT OF studying peace is not new, but its arrival has been slow at most college campuses, including SIU-C. While the armed services have their military academies and ROTC programs to teach young people the principles of combat, there are few places where people can go to learn how to prevent the situations that lead to combat.

The Pentagon has the money to pay for the education of prospective military officers, but few educational institutions will spend money on peace studies. Indeed, the "Gang of Five" will be donating the time they spend on their course at SIU-C.

Peace studies are not an anti-American pacifist endeavor. Wars may not be inevitable, but they are a reality and this country needs a strong military and people trained in combat. But it also needs people trained in the prevention of war. With the technological advancements made in weapons, wars are no longer glorious adventures with clear-cut winners and losers. War signifies a failure of the diplomatic process.

We owe it to our nation and the world to teach people the alternatives to war. For taking a step in that direction, the "Gang of Five" is to be commended.

Cubs' title prospects laughable

Concerning Dan Devine's article on the Cub's title hopes...Tee hee.

This is the first time I have been away from the Chicago area at the start of the baseball season. I was curious as to whether people down here, 300 plus some miles from "The Friendly Confines," would have the same naive optimism as the Chicago press. Thank you Mr. Devine, for satisfying my

Stolen sidearms are precious

The weekend of April 13 was the weekend of the infamous re-enactment battle at Makanda. Re-enactors from all over came to participate. A party was held in honor of the event at my apartment at Lewis Park on April 14. My dad, Lt. Boeckman and his troops attended in full uniform with their sidearms. All of the weapons were put in

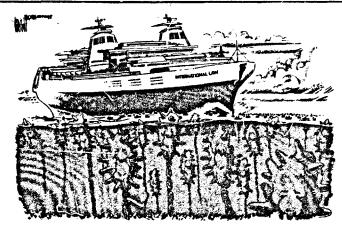

All of the weapons were put in an upstairs bedroom to avert any potential hazardous situations. Karen, the "camp" photographer put away her camera when the last picture was taken.

In the morning, the troop awoke to gather their sidearms and prepare for battle. We discovered the screen popped out of the bedroom window. Someone found an opportune moment during the party to toss a musact, sword, dagger and camera out the window. They then quietly left with the stolen

I am writing now to make a plea to whoever did this or anyone who might be able to find our stolen things. The camera was a graduation present to Karen, who graduated in January. She's not in a position to replace it at this point in her career. The weapons could be of little value to anyone but someone as avidly interested in the Civil War, as dad and his troops are. Their value couldn't really be figured when you consider the time and effort put into assembling the musket by hand.

Perhaps if you had stayed at our party a little longer and gotten to know us a little better you wouldn't have thought to do what you did

Maybe I'm too naive for this day and age, but I will continue to hope that someone will be good enrugh to help us recover some things that are dearly precious to us.—Christy Beeckman, Senier, Communication Disorders and Sciences

Reagan deservedly acquiring image of international outlaw

By C. Maxwell Stanley

The United States, a nation founded on the sanctity of the rule of law, is behaving like an international outlaw. In a series of actions, the Rear, an administration, has shown that it will not allow international law, which this nation was instrumental in developing, to get in the way of its questionable policies in Central America.

Disturbingly, there appears to be a pattern of lawlessness emerging in our actions toward our Latin neighbors. It began with the domestically popular, but legally inexcusable, invasion of Grenada last October. Since then the administration has supported El Salvador despite the way it ignores internationally recognized human rights, covertly supported efforts to overthrow the Sandinista government in Nicaragua, and built milihary facilities in Honduras large enough to support an American invession force.

NOW THAT THE CIA has mined the ports of Nicaragua, the administration has vetoed a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning the mining and announced that the United States will not be bound by any World Court decision concerning Central America.

Perhaps even more alarming than this recent behavior is what the Reagan administration may have in mind for the future. A recent New York Times report cites administration sources administration sources administration policy shift whereby U.S. combat forces would be used in Central America if present strategies do not defeat the leftist forces in the region.

*≤Viewpoint*__

Secretary of State George Shultz, in a recent speech, called for the use of preemptive military force abroad as a desirable and necessary means to achieve U.S. foreign policy goals and protect U.S. interests. He went on to accuse those who oppose these militaristic tactics as people who seek alibis for inaction or who advocate "formulas for abdication."

NOT ONLY DO our actions represent a breach of the international law we helped create, but they also cost us dearly in credibility as a nation. We were alone in blocking the Security Council resolution against our mining of Nicaraguan harbors. We have strained our relationships with two of our close allies — Great Britain and France. In fact, our behavior has been denounced by prominent leaders in Great Britain as "terrorist action."

Britain as "terrorist action."
Adding to our lack of credibility is the self-contradiction of our own actions and pronouncements. We highly condemn Iranian threats to mine the Straits of Hormuz, but we mine the ports of Nicaragua. We properly deplore Soviet overt and covert military activities in Afghanistan and Africa, but we invade Grenada, using the same "we are invited" excuse as the Soviets in Afghanistan, and we covertly aid rebels attempting to overthrow the government of Nicaragua.

THE UNITED STATES

properly seeks friendly and democratic governments in Central America. Will they be achieved by means of covert and military action contrary to the concepts of international law? Are they not more likely to be gained by seriously pursuing negotiations as proposed by the Contadora nations—Colombia, Mexico, Panama, and Venezuela— and by extending a strong, helping hand to overcome the poverty and disillusionment that nourishes the rebels?

CIA actions and the Pentagon's contingency plans besmirch the image of the United States as the paragon of the rule of law in domestic and international affairs. These actions appear more like those of a bully threatening the local citizenry with violence while boasting to the authorities that he is above the law.

SURELY OUR legitimate goals can be achieved within the boundaries of agreed upon internstional law and without shedding the blood of our youth in ill-conceived military adventures. Neither the CIA nor the Pentagon should be permitted to carve the destiny of the United States contrary to the accepted patterns of international conduct. The end sought dees not justify the meass used. We are made of better stuff. We must remembe: that right makes might and not the other way around.

Senate to approve revised document

The Faculty Senate will hold its last meeting of the semester at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in the Student Center Kaskaskia and Missouri rooms.

A vote is scheduled on a revised grievance procedure document. At its last meeting, the senate agreed to separate grievance procedures for the faculty and the administrativeprofessional staff, but approval of the entire document was delayed until Thursday's meeting.

Director slated to speak at banquet

"To prevent tie-ups here, they'll just use the phones when submitting a file," Schilling said. "We'll have only one or two phones for use at the store '

Computer Enterprises hopes to purchase a version of Pascal similar to SIU-C's version.

Co-owner Mike Britt, a graduate student in computer cience, said that students will be able to run and debug Pascal programs on computers at the store, but the final program will still have to be phoned into the University's system. Students will need their own access codes to tie into the University's system, Schilling said.

Horseshoeing clinic attracts blacksmiths from six states

BLOOMINGTON (AP) Hammer rings out against anvil. Brawny arms control iron-sculpting tools.

Critical eyes inspect the handiwork, piercing the dim light cast by glowing, hissing forges.

Often labeled folk art today, the finer points of horseshoeing recently took on a form akin to science when a small group of horseshoers — or more horseshoers — or more properly, farriers — from six states invaded the McLean County fairgrounds.

Pulling their vans and pickup trucks inside the rabbit and dairy building, the artists shared trade secrets, competed in shoe-making contests and demonstrated their fare for curious onlookers.

Each year, the Land of Lincoln Horseshoers Association conducts a clima for its more than 40 members and for guests from neighboring states. The clinic in early April was the first gathering at the McLean County site, but association member and farrier John Clauden of Lexington hopes there will be more

The age-old art of shoeing, or blacksmithing as it once was more commonly called, is a thriving business in Illinois. About 450 people earn heir livelihood at the occupation.

Until a year ago, Illinois horseshoers were the only farriers in the nation required to obtain a license from the state before they could nang out their shingles to do business But now, farriers can upgrade their art by completing tests offered by the American Farriers Association.

Student captures top honors in national music competition

By Shella Rogers Staff Writer

Lynn Trapp, a junior in organ performance in the SIU-C School of Music, won first place in the National Undergraduate Organ Playing Competition held in Ottumwa, Iowa. held in The con contest is the only national organ competition for undergraduates. students from across the United States sent a tape of their organ States sent a tape of their organ playing to judges who chose five finalists. Each finalist per-formed for 40 minutes at Ot-tumwa. Trapp was the only SIU-C student in the competition

As first-place winner, Trapp received $600 and a spot to perform in the 1984-85 Concert eries of the First Presbyterian Church of Ottumwa.

Trapp, a native of Perryville, Mo., is a student of Marianna Webb. In 1983 he won the American Guild of Organists Open Competition in St. Louis and in 1982 the Tri-State Organ Competition in Evansville, Ind.

Trapp said that he began taking piano lessons when he was about 8 years old. When he

The 20-year-old Trapp said that he practices the crean about three hours a day.

"Taking up a degree in performance takes a lot of preparation and requires a lot of work," Trapp said. Trapp said that he learned how to budget his time at the last competition.

'Each contestant had three hours to practice on an unfamiliar organ. That may seem like a lot of time, but it isn't."

He said that his plans for the future are indefinite. He would like to obtain a master's degree in music and eventually a doctorate.

"What is good about competitions is that you get to meet the competitors. The name of game is to meet contacts. We're the next generation of performers and we need to reach out and find out what we are accomplishing in music and in our schools. That's where the success in music comes from," Trapp said.

Study: Carbondale residents' taxes up more than incomes

By John Racine Staff Writer

Carbondale residents' taxes have increased at a slightly faster rate than their income during the last four years, a survey of taxes in 10 Illinois cities shows.

The survey, done by Cook County Tax Commissioner Patrick Quinn, found that state and local tax bills have risen about 10 percent higher than income in the cities studied.

The study shows that in 1980, state, local and federal taxes averaged $4,791 and have risen $1.028, or 27.5 percent. The median family income in Carbondale has risen nearly 25 percent to $23,192 in the past four years, the study shows.

The study indicates that in Carbondale, local taxes have gone up 30.4 percent, state taxes have risen 34.2 percent and federal taxes have increased 25

Quinn said the study also indicates that taxes have been weighted more heavily against middle-income families than other groups.
"The decade of the 1980s has witnessed a fundamental shift in the overall tax burden," Quinn said. "The average taxpayer is forced to pay more and more, while the rich and the big corporations get away with paying less and less." "It's not hard to figure out why people are so frustrated with our tax system," Quinn said. "Even though services get cut and deficits go up, taxes for average families keep rising, while loophole-mania has swept the ranks of the wealthy."

Quinn, a proponent of the Taxpayer Relief Act of 1984, which is before the Legislature this week, noted five recent state and local tax increases he said have hit middle-income taxpayers especially hard:

- an increase in the state sales tax from 4 to 5 percent. an increase in the state motor fuel tax from 7.5 to 11 cents per gallon.

the state's "continued reliance" on the 5 percent utility tax.

doubling of some city utility taxes.

- as increase in the local sales tax from 2 to 3 percent.
He said there are several bills before Congress and the General Assembly which would redress what he labeled "inequities" in taxes. He said that bills like the Taxpayer Relief Act would be a step in the right direction.

Outnn charged legislation such as the Kemp-Roth tax cut would benefit higher-income families more than middle- and lower-incom

Specifically, the Clinton franchise has begun making daily deliveries for lunch and supper to meet the demand of thousands who work at Illinois Power Co.'s nuclear power station under construction 5 miles west of town.

"I think what you've got there is fairly rare," said Steve Leroy, senior manager of media relations at McDonald's Leroy said he knew of only two McDonald's — the one in Clinton and another in Baltimore — that deliver.

"It's fun," said Rita Ishmael of Wapella, who will become the Clinton manager May 1. "The crew loves to go out there.'

The restaurant uses an oven to keep biscuits warm in the morning and insulated coolers for drinks. Deliveries will be made in a small U-Haul van until a local auto dealer prepares a van for McDonald's to rent, Mrs. Ishmael said.

Niekro wins fourth straight

NEW YORK (AP) - Unbeaten Phil Niekro scattered eight hits Tuesday for his fourth American League victory and was backed by Butch Wynegar's two-run single and Don Mattingly's solo home run as the New York Yankees blanked the Kansas City Royals Niekro, 45, who signed a two-year contract with the Yankees after being released by the Atlanta Braves following the 1983 season, is the oldest pitcher in the major leagues.

He struck out eight, walked one and allowed only one runner to reach third base in gaining his 44th career shutout. He has not allowed a run in his last 21 1-3 innings. It was the veteran knuckleballer's 272nd career victory and first complete game this season.

The Yankees, who had been scoreless for 25 innings, collected two unearned runs in the second inning off loser Bud Black, 3-1.

Tigers continue winning ways

DETROIT (AP) • Lou Whitaker's RBI single capped a three-run rally in the bottom of the ninth that gave the red-hot Detroit Tiger: a 6-5 victory over the Minnesota Twins in the opener of Tuesday's twi-night double-header. Last Thursday in In-dianarolis, U.S. District Judge William Steckler assumed jurisdiction in the dispute over the Colts and ordered an immediate dissolution of an in-junction against the NFL obtained by the city in a Baltimore Steckler's ruling followed a Steeker's ruing tollowed a two-day hearing on the con-flicting claims by the City of Baltimore and the terms of the Colts' 20-year lease with the Capital Improvement Board to play in the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

Steckler's ruling also said the NFL could go ahead with all operations involving the Colts, including approval of player agreements and local radio and television contracts.

2 spikers make touring teams

Lisa Cummins and Jill Broker, a pair of volleyball players at SIU-C, have been named to the Athletes in Action international touring teams which will compete abroad this summer.

Cummins, a sophomore setter from Willard, Mo., will compete on a squad which travels to Japan and the People's Republic of China. Broker, a native of Carbondale, will be on a second AIA team that tours Latin America. Latin America

AIA. a ministry of the Campus Crusade for Christ, organizes international tours each year in acveral women's sports. Team members are chosen on the basis of athletic ability as well as Christian religious beliefs.

religious beliefs.
"It will be a real eye-opening experience." said Cummins, who participated in the National Sports Festival last summer. "It will be challenging and exciting to play against women from other countries and to witness to them.

In China, which has one of the world's best vollevbail programs. Cummins and her teammates will play against top club and regional teams.

Cummins is one of 12 players who will compete in China. Other team members include outside hitters Karen Daline ourside inters Karen Darine (Minnesota), Linda Grensing (Iowa), Nancy Rowland (In-diana) and Coleen Koop (California State-Bakersfield), Joining Cummins as setters are Shellie Higgins (South Carolina) and Sandy Perkins (Georgia)

This year marks the first time that AIA will compete in China. Plans call for the team to train in Honolulu June 16-24 before heading to Hong Kong for orientation practice and one or two matches. After that Cummins and her teammates will compete in Canton. Peking, Shanghai and Hangchow between June 30 and July 10. The group will then travel to Tokyo for additional training and competition July 11-23.

In Japan, which is also well-respected for volleyball, the AIA team will be competing against top university teams. Broker, a defensive specialist who can be a back row setter, will train at Georgia Tech before leaving on a Latin American tour June 16-25.

"From what I understand, we'll be competing and holding clinics," said Broker, one of six All-America Volleyball first team by the College Sports Information Directors of Information Directors of America earlier this school

This should be a real good learning experience for Lisa and Jill." said SIU-C volleyball Coach Debbie Hunter. "Lisa will be playing against tougher opposition, so she will really be challenged to do well.

Hours: 10-10 seven days a week

Hopefully, all of this experience will pay dividends when our season opens this fall.
"This is a fine example of blending Christianity and athletic ability. I feel we are fortunate to have athletes such as Lisa and Jill who will represent us."

In the next several weeks Cummins and Broker each will be trying to raise about $3,500 to cover their expenses for the tour. Each team member is responsible for paying her own way. The money will be used for air fare, food, uniforms and similar expenses.

Broker and Cummins are trying to raise money through churches, clubs and in-dividuals. All contributions should be made payable to Athletes in Action, and mailed to Cummins or Broker in care of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women, SIU-C.

Runner is one-woman team

COULTERVILLE, III. (AP) Runner Betsey Gimber doesn't have a track to work out on, or a teammate to practice with. She's Coulterville High School's age manner. School's one-woman track

"It's kind of lonely," the 18-year-old athlete said Tuesday.
"I usually have to explain to usually have to explain to people why I'm just the only one running. I usually have to go through this long spiel about how our school is not big enough."

But loneliness hasn't hampered Gimber, who's one of the area's top prep female runners, having posted times of 12.75 seconds and 27.40 in 100- and 200 meter races, respectively. Gimber said she might try to run at Southern litizois University this fall without an athletic scholarship. But for the time being, she just wants to place at state.

She said there are advantages to being the only team member.

Soviets soften Olympic boycott threat

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — United States and Soviet delegat a said Tuesday the Soviet Union would attend will very soon disappear."

But Peter Ueberroth, president of the Los Angeles Clympic Organizing Committee and the chief U.S. representative at the joint talks, refused to characterize the meeting as a "breakthrough" guaranteeing Soviet attendance.

"There has been some progress, but this is not a breakthrough," Ueberroth said after a face-to-face meeting with Soviet Olympic Committee chief Marat Gramov in which he guaranteed that the LAOOC would comply with the Olympic Charter.
"The Soviet Union's National

Olympic Committee declares that Soviet athletes have the firm intention of participating in the Games in Los Angeles at the 23rd Olympiad under the condition that the Olympic Charter is enforced," a joint communique said.

"The Los Angeles Committee

"The Los Angeles Committee gave its assurances in declarations that the Olympic Charter would be entirely respected."

The communique followed a four-hour meeting between Ueberroth and Gramov at International Olympic Committee headquarters. Samaranch, who had called the session in response to Soviet charges that the United States had violated the Charter, said

"I'm very happy with the results of the meetings."

The Games are scheduled to

The Games are scheduled to begin July 28.
When asked if this meant that the Seviets would definitely attend the Summer Olympics, Gramov said only, "A step forward has been made, by getting rid of some impediments which had been accumulating recently. I'm satisfied with the assurances given by Mr. Ueberroth. But a number of questions have still to be discussed. I'm sure that to be discussed. I'm sure that with further close contact with the LAOOC, the problems will be solved."

None of the three officials would declare or legorically that the Soviets would definitely that the Soviets would certificity commit themselves to at-tending the Olympics by the June 2 IOC deadline for declaring intent to participate.

The Soviets repeatedly have said they do not intend to boycott the Olympics as the U.S. did in 1980 at Moscow in protest of the Soviet Union's military invasion of Afghanistan, but they have not fully ruled out witholding their athletes over alleged U.S.

Softballers in midst of offensive splurge

The Saluki softball team, which once scored runs one at a time and maybe twice in a game, suddenly has more runs than it even needs. SIU-C has scored as many runs - 23 - in the 1 st five games as it nad managed to score in its first 16 Boosted by all that run production, the Salukis have won four of their last five games and bettered their record to 8-13. The only loss in that span was a 2-1 setback by Northern Iowa. Every other time out, the hitters have made the final score a lobsided one.

SIU-C hopes to continue its hitting surge Wednesday, when it plays a double-header at ast Missouri. The Salukis split with the Indians in early April, winning 4-3 and losing 4-0.
At the time, the team was in the midst of its drought at the plate, and it continued to starve for runs until its most recent road game, a shutout at the hands of Western Illinois. That marked the ninth time SIU-C had been shut out.

Now it's Saluki ace Sunny

Clark who is throwing blanks. Perhaps emboldened by all her supporting artillery, Clark has three shutouts in her last four Clark, who will start at least one game Wednesday (Eileen Maloney may pitch the other game) has a 7-10 record and an earned run average of .76.

The hitters' statistics are still modest but most of them have increased their batting averages lately. The big gainers have been catcher Toni Grounds, who was in a deep slump, and the usually consistent Pam Flens, who bats third in the team's lineup.

Both players have had eight hits in their last 15 at bats. Flens has raised her average to .262 and she still leads the team in runs, with eight, and in runs modest but most of them have in runs, with eight, and in runs batted in, with 10.

Nancy McAuley, Chris Brewer and Kathy Freske have also hit well lately, and lead-off patter Tonya Lindsey has kept her team-leading batting average up. Lindsey has had 7 hits in her last 17 at bats and leads the team with a .342 batting average. Like Flens, she has also scored 8 runs.

Bridges has big day at plate as Salukis split with Evansville

By Daryl Van Schouwen Staff Writer

The Saluki baseball team split a non-conference doubleheader at Evansville Tuesday, winning the first game 7-6 and dropping the nightcap 8-7 in nine innings.

The Salukis, now 12-17, were led by senior left fielder Scott Bridges, who went four for four with four RBI in the opener before adding two hits and two RBI in the second game. Bridges cracked a home run in each of the contests. Mike Blumborst also had two home runs for SIU-C, and Terry Jones collected five hits to boost a 21-hit day for the visitors.

SIU-C returns home to face Eastern Illinois Wednesday in a 1:30 p.m. double header at Abe Martin Field.

Gary Bockhorn, 3-5, who gave up six runs, five earned, in five and two-thirds innings, picked up the win in the opener with relief help from Mark Wooden. Wooden finished the game unscathed to earn his fifth save.

SIU-C roughed up loser Jim Riggins with 11 hits and all of its runs in five innings. Evansville jumped on Bockhorn for a 5-1, second-inning lead, but Bridges' two-run homer and Jones' run-scoring single trimmed it to 5-4 in the third. The Salukis added a run in the fourth, and advied two in the fifth on Steve Boyd's double, giving SIU-C a 7-5 lead. Bockhorn's two-base throwing error in the sixth on an at-tempted bunt single led to the Aces' sixth run. Wooden then entered and snuffed out the threat to seal the win.

Evanaville, 25-18, won the second game in the ninth when Mike Blumhorst had trouble handling a one-out, bases loaded ground ball. The error followed a single and two walks - yielded by Wooden — who had relieved Rich Koch in the Wooden, 0-4, allowed two runs in for and two-thirds innings and was tagged with the lors.

The first run off him came via a home run in the seventh by Ty Cheisa — his second of the game — which tied the game at 7, sending the contest into extra innings.

The Salukis had spotted noch to a 3-0 lead on back-to-back home runs by Bridges and Blumhorst in the first inning.

Ron Kremer quickly retaliated with a homer for the Aces, a two-run shot in the Evansville half of the first.

The Salukis padded their lead to 5-2 in the second on a sacrifice fly by Jay Burch and a run-producing single by Bridges. Evansville continued to play long ball with SIU-C in the second, as Mike Burger poked a two-run four-bagger to cut the Saluki lead to 5-4. The Aces tied it in the third on a wild pitch and grabbed their first lead, 6-5, on Cheisa's leadoff solo homer in the fourth.

The Salukis regained the lead in the sixth with a pair of runs. Dan Cassidy's single scored Jones from third. Steve Finley's base hit moved Cassidy to second before Bridges ripped a double into the left field corner. double into the set field corner.

Cassidy scored to give the Salukis a 7-6 lead, and Finley would have crosse home plate, too, but the ball went out of play. Finley had to return to third on the ground-rule double.

Pat Heck, he eventual winner, was then summoned from the bullpen to face Blumhorst. Heck, 10-4, intentionally walked Blumhorst to fill the bases before retiring Robert Jones on a ground ball.

Cheisa then tied it in the seventh, sending the Aces on their way to an extra-inning, 8-7
