Patchett says salesman a real Contra

By David Sheets
Staff Writer

The two candidates for the 22nd Congressional District race are not seeing eye to eye on the identity of a reputed Nicaraguan Contra rebel who helped raise the curtain on one candidate's campaign.

U.S. Rep. Ken Gray alleges that Leonel Teller, the man his opponent, Randy Patchett, brought to Marion to help Patchett unveil his campaign April 3 is not a Contra but a shoe salesman in Washington, D.C.

"Teller is no Nicaraguan freedom fighter," Gray said in a telephone interview from his Washington, D.C. office. "The only freedom he's fighting for is freedom from D.C. rush hour traffic."

Patchett, former Williamson County District Attorney, introduced Teller in Marion as Contra rebel and Teller described himself as an assistant commander to Eden Pastora, leader of the rebel forces in southern Nicaragua trying to topple that nation's ruling Sandinista government.

But Gray, a Democrat from West Frankfort, said Teller is "living a life of luxury here in the United States" as a salesman of athletic shoes in a Washington, D.C. suburb.

"How could he be a Contra? He hasn't been out of D.C. since 1981 and the Contras were organized in 1983," Gray said.

Patchett, in a telephone interview from his law office in Marion, defended Teller as a "legal representative of Pastora recognized by both the U.S. State and Defense departments"

"Gray knows the man is here legally," Patchett said, adding that Gray created the furor over Teller "because Gray is worried about his vote against federal aid to the Contras."

Patchett, a Republican, said he sought a representative of the Contra rebels to show voters that the Contras are not the criminals some people make them out to be.

Teller told the Marion audience of roughly 100 in April that all the Contras are asking for "is that you give us the money, you give us the means, so that your children do not have to fight tomorrow."

Patchett said he asked a number of Republicans who he could get as a Contra representative and was given Teller's name.

Patchett added that the choice of Teller was more appealing because of Teller's close ties to Pastora, a Sandinista who helped overthrow

S. Africa repeals 'pass law'

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — The white-minority government Wednesday announced it was dismantling a major pillar of racial discrimination — the 73-year-old "pass law" restrictions controlling some movements of blacks.

As the announcement outlining changes in the bitterly resented pass laws was made in Parliament, unrest erupted in a black township near Johannesburg. At least nine blacks were killed.

Under the reforms, the government said blacks no longer would have to carry an identity document known as a "pass" and would be free to settle anywhere they could find accommodation in areas zoned for black residence.

Previously, blacks had to receive permission to move even in areas zoned for blacks. Under the reforms, blacks would still not be permitted to live in white areas.

The reform measures mean that blacks, who number about 25 million as against nearly 5 million whites in the country, would no longer be arrested for being without a pass and could mean freedom for an estimated 1,000 black prisoners held for violating the old pass law.

A new common identity document will be issued to all

Philosopher says thinking is needed in nuclear age

By Paula Buckner
Staff Writer

Thinking has always been dangerous and because of it, Socrates lost his life, says philosopher Paul A. Schilpp.

Thinking is still dangerous today, he said, yet it especially is needed in this age of technological and nuclear advances.

Schilpp delivered the inaugural University Honors Series Emeritus Lecture Wednesday titled "Thinking in the Nuclear and Computer Age." He invited those assembled in the Morris Library Auditorium to engage in serious thinking about current world topics.

"Behold a generation which has been told by each of its last six presidents that a nuclear war cannot be won," he said,

"that deterrence not only enhances the likelihood of a nuclear confrontation but even speeds its arrival."

The government insists on continuing the arms race, Schilpp said, even against military advice. The American people not only approve this "insane endeavor" but go to the ballot box and vote to continue the present government administration for another four years and watch the national deficit double.

"I come close to the conclusion of the late H.G. Wells that we have nationally gone insane and that it would be wise if humanity were not to survive," Schilpp said.

Schilpp said meetings between President Reagan

Reagan: Eliminate Khadafy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, warning that terrorism undeterred "will deflect the winds of freedom," urged the Arab world and U.S. allies Wednesday to "eliminate this scourge of civilization" embodied by Col. Moammar Khadafy.

Reagan later expanded his threats of using military retaliation against terrorism to Syria and Iran, CBS News reported.

Reagan said that "if he had evidence that either Syria or Iran carried out terrorist acts against Americans, he would be willing to bomb their cities, Damascus and Tehran, as he bombed Tripoli last week," CBS reported.

Senior officials stressed Wednesday that Syria and Iran remain on a U.S. list of countries that sponsor terrorism and are not excluded from possible retaliation if evidence emerged linking them to attacks against Americans.

"As we proved last week, no one can kill Americans and brag about it — no one," Reagan said in a speech to the International Forum of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. "We bear the people of Libya no ill will, but if their government continues its campaign of terror against Americans, we will act again."

Reagan's comments came amid other reports that Khadafy may "well seek revenge on a very personal level" against Reagan in retaliation for the U.S. attack.

ABC News reported that Secretary of State George Shultz, "in a confidential assessment," said Khadafy "may go after members of President Reagan's immediate family."

White House officials were not immediately available to comment on the report.

Officials said earlier, however, that security for the first family would be very strict.

Reagan extended his call to reluctant U.S. allies for unified action against Khadafy with a plea that Arab solidarity should not stand in the way of efforts to combat terrorism.

The overture came in a speech intended to set the stage for the seven-nation economic summit May 4-6 in Tokyo.

City loosens residency rule for employees

By Jim McBride
Staff Writer

Some city workers will no longer be required to reside within the city's limits as a result of recent City Council action.

The council Monday narrowly voted to ease residency requirements for "non-executive" city employees hired after 1979.

The new residency rule permits "non-executive" personnel to live within an approximate nine-mile radius of the intersection of Main Street and Illinois Avenue.

City employees hired before 1979 are exempted from the ordinance and may live where they choose unless promoted to an "executive" position.

The rule also requires all "executive" personnel, except those currently residing outside the city, to live within the city limits.

Some employees had complained that the old ordinance, which required city employees to live in Carbondale, denied them the right to live where they wished and also forced lower-paid city workers to compete with University students for housing.

Councilman Keith Tuxhorn said he was concerned that some city employees would "try to pull a fast one" by moving outside the city to establish an out-of-town residence before the new rule takes effect May 1.

Tuxhorn also suggested that the rule be amended to prevent city employees from establishing out-of-town residences before the ordinance takes effect. He later withdrew the suggestion and the new rule was approved by the council unamended.

Stevenson files lawsuit challenging election law

CHICAGO (UPI) — Adlai E. Stevenson III sued the State Board of Elections Wednesday in an attempt to run for governor as an independent due to the upset primary election of two extremists to the Democratic Party ticket. A lawsuit filed in U.S. District Court challenges an election board rule that required independents in the March 18 primary to file their candidacies by last Dec. 16. The 15-page suit contends the rule that independent candidates for statewide office file nominating petitions 92 days before the primary is unconstitutional.

Libya asks foreign journalists to leave

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — Libya asked foreign journalists to leave Wednesday, saying "your mission is finished," but denied they were being expelled from the country. Some journalists departed immediately, but indications later in the day were that most intended to stay despite the government's request. Meanwhile, western diplomats and Libyan officials said Col. Moammar Khadafi was still firmly in power and discounted reports that a five-man committee was ruling the North African country.

British hostage killed by Pro-Libyan captors

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Pro-Libyan terrorists said Wednesday they hanged British hostage Alec Collett in revenge for British support of the U.S. attack on Libya. They released a videotape that showed him dangling from the gallows to back their claim. The Revolutionary Organization of Socialist Moslems also urged other groups holding Americans and Britons to kill their hostages in revenge for the April 15 U.S. air raids on Tripoli and Benghazi, and British support for the attack.

U.S. to boost Philippine aid by $150 million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House, promising a concrete show of support for democratic change in the Philippines, announced steps Wednesday to provide an additional $150 million in U.S. aid to the government of Corazon Aquino. The package includes a request that Congress approve the redirection of Defense Department funds for an additional $100 million in economic aid and $50 million in military assistance for the current fiscal year.

Supreme Court hears debate on budget law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress violated the Constitution when it gave an unelected government official the power to cut federal spending under the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law, the Supreme Court was told Wednesday. Yet those supporting the historic measure warned the court, expected to rule on the case by July, that overturning the law would upset a delicate compromise aimed at putting an end to record-breaking deficits that threaten the national economy.

Senate revamps Reagan budget proposals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate rejected President Reagan's proposal to kill 44 federal programs Wednesday and voted to pump $300 million more into education in the opening salvo of the fiscal 1987 budget battle. The Senate easily rejected 83-14 a challenge to adopt the administration's plan for wholesale termination of programs, at a savings of $4 billion, and then approved 60-38, an amendment providing additional money for elementary, secondary and higher education.

Stockman derides his part in Reaganomics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former budget director David Stockman said Wednesday he made a "damn fool" of himself defending an invalid administration economic plan, but said he did so for four years while trying — and failing — to change President Reagan's mind. And he said in an interview with UPI that while he used various methods to postpone or obscure specific budget cuts that were needed to carry out Reagan's plan, he never was "deceitful or duplicitous."

Graphic photos of shuttle explosion released

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The space agency released dramatic new pictures Wednesday that show Challenger's nose section, including the shuttle crew cabin, appearing to tumble away from the disintegrating spaceship relatively intact. The space agency has not said how pathologists believe the seven astronauts onboard the shuttle may have died or how long they may have been alive after the explosion.

U.S. pride needed for jobs overseas, professionals say

By Nola Cowser
Staff Writer

Strong interpersonal communication skills, ability to speak a foreign language and entrepreneurial flair are three characteristics that set people interested in international business apart, said Robert Kotler.

Kotler, manager in the Loan and Business Development section of Mitsubishi Bank Ltd. in Chicago, spoke along with three other professionals in international business Tuesday in conjunction with International Business Day.

The morning session of the conference, sponsored by the International Business Association, was geared toward business students wanting to get involved in international business.

THE TOPIC of Kotler's speech was "International Banking: Who Gets the Jobs and Why." After finding the kind of job the student wants, Kotler said the student must develop skills necessary to the job through coursework and work experience in that area.

The other speakers were Clyde Wendel, vice-president and manager, International Banking Group, Center Bank, St. Louis; Robert Wilson, International Executive Placement, Heidrick and Struggles, Chicago; and John Luard, president, OPICO, exporters of agriculture equipment.

Mobile, Ala.

Wilson, whose company handles the international placement of executives, said that international business is one activity for people who have pride in the United States and want to make it look better to the rest of the world.

FOUR WAYS to get involved in international business are working for the international group of a U.S. company in the United States, working for the international group of a U.S. company outside the United States, working for a foreign company in the United States or a foreign company outside the United States.

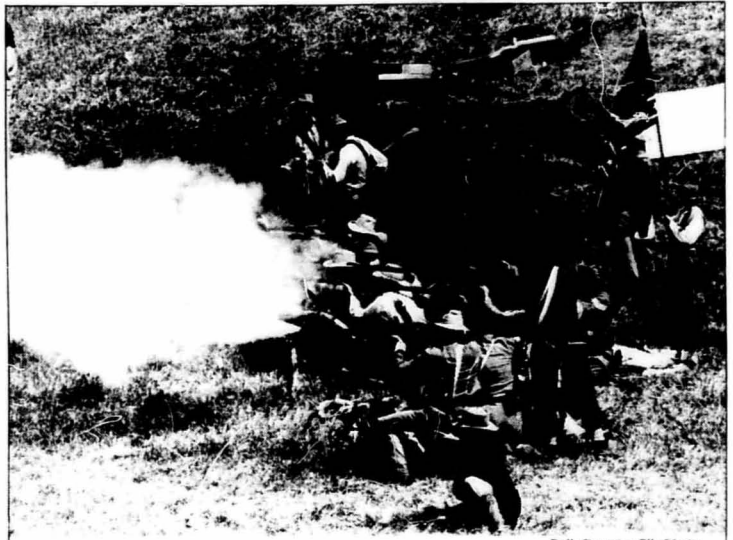

Wilson said it is important to realize that perspectives may be different in other countries. "What may seem unethical to you may be completely above the board to them," Wilson said.

Luard's company, OPICO, represents about 25 small- and medium-sized manufacturers of farm equipment.

LUARD SAID that his customers are foreign and that they think, talk and act differently. When hiring employees, Luard said he looks for "someone who can understand what the customer is saying and why he is thinking what he is."

Luard said he also wants the potential employee to act and Confederate soldiers fired upon the enemy during the Civil War re-enactment two years ago. The event is set for Sunday at 1 p.m. at the intersection of U.S. 51 and Makanda Road. Craft demonstrations, food, music and souvenirs will be available.

Civil War re-enactment slated

With a heart-rending blast, a cannon launches its projectile toward the advancing enemy. Blue- and gray-clad soldiers, bayonets poised, close in on each other, working their way across the smoke-filled battle field.

Such is the drama that will be played out during the "Civil War" weekend set for Saturday and Sunday in Makanda, which includes a re-enactment of a battle between Confederate and Union troops.

An arts and crafts fair at the H.B. Hartline Farm will feature craftsmen and artists from Illinois and surrounding states. Craft demonstrations, food, souvenirs and music will be offered throughout the event, which will be held at the intersection of U.S. 51 and Makanda Road.

A flag-raising ceremony and a pancake breakfast at 7 a.m. Saturday will open the festivities. A drill competition, camp and a tactical skirmish will be staged at 2 p.m.

The Battle of Champion Hill, Miss., fought May 16, 1863, will be re-enacted at 1 p.m. Sunday by Company C of the 31st Regiment Illinois Volunteers Infantry and Battery B of the 2nd Illinois Light Artillery.

All battle events during the weekend are free of charge, but a $2 per car admission fee will be charged.

Support clean air; it's only natural

A NEW ROUND of argument on the issue of smokers' versus nonsmokers' rights is under way, for a bill has been proposed in the Illinois House to ban smoking in public places, except in designated areas.

Rep. Robert Terzich, D-Chicago, sponsored the bill because he agrees with representatives of the American Cancer Society that research has shown that secondhand smoke poses definite health hazards. Terzich wants to protect people from this threat in government buildings, schools, hospitals, restaurants, stores, libraries and indoor theaters. If the bill becomes law, the maximum penalty for smoking where it is banned would be a $500 fine.

THE TOBACCO INDUSTRY, of course, opposes the bill. It claims there is no proven link between breathing secondhand smoke and contracting a lung disease or cancer. Some retailers say the bill tells them how to run their businesses. Other people will say the proposed law presents yet another encroachment on their "rights," much like the seat-belt law.

First of all, the bill does not entirely outlaw smokers — it would allow smoking in some areas of public places. And smokers can still smoke in their homes, their cars, and outdoors. Retailers shouldn't be hurt too much, if at all, for it is unlikely that all smokers will stay away from all restaurants, stores, and theaters because they can't smoke there. In many municipalities, smoking in such places is forbidden already, but people who smoke go there anyway.

REGULATING WHERE AND when smokers can smoke would not make the state government into "Big Brother." Government would be performing a proper role as arbiter in a dispute between people. There are people who want to smoke, and people who do not like to breathe such smoke. Whether the latter do not like to breathe such smoke out of a concern for avoiding lung cancer and lung diseases, or "merely" because it irritates them, does not matter. Smoking is not a natural activity, like breathing or eating. Smokers made a choice to smoke — but their choice interferes with the natural right of everyone to breathe unadulterated air in areas where people gather for public activities.

It is unfortunate that people can't come to some sort of polite personal compromise, without needing government assistance. But when the dispute progresses to the point where the state is asked to decide, it should favor the right that is non-offensive and positively healthy — the right to breathe smoke-free air.

Short Shots

Since leaving Ronald Reagan's employ, where he made a mere $70,000 annually, former deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver has emerged as the paradigm of the Washington opportunist, cashing in on his White House connections as a lobbyist for major corporations and several foreign governments. His clients include CBS, TWA, South Korea, Singapore and Canada. According to Time (magazine), Canada alone pays Mr. Deaver $105,000 just to provide access to the right people in the Reagan administration. His take-home pay has risen to the vicinity of $400,000. — from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Health covered for breaks

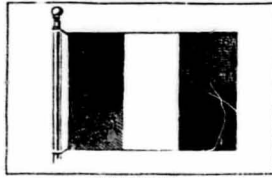

During the semester, if you get sick or hurt, what do you do? You go to the Health Service. If it is after 4:30 p.m., you call Dial-a-Nurse, who will give you advice and tell you if you should go to the hospital. But what do you do if you get sick or hurt during break?

You are still covered. The coverage is 75 percent excess to any other health insurance you may have, and there are policy exclusions. Your Health Program insurance covers you for emergency room care, and ambulance and in-patient care.

The hospital gives you the bill, but before you pay it ask if the bill can be sent to the SIU Student Health Program Insurance Office. If they prefer to bill you, be sure to bring your itemized bill to the insurance office in Kesnar Hall after you receive it.

Leaders that used to be terrorists

This letter is in response to Stephan Trubitt's rebuttal of my previous letter. The terrorists of yesterday are today's prime ministers. Shimon Peres, who succeeded Menachem Begin as the leader of the Herut Party, has now also succeeded him as the prime minister of the Zionist state of Israel. Begin's resignation as prime minister of Israel only gave way to another sadistic killer. Begin and Peres symbolize the ruthless Zionist Jew. Jachubite mentality is the force that induces the callousness and conniving that is seen in Israeli policies.

I said that Israel is the cause of terrorism and you say they aren't. Let me give you, and any other reader who wants to argue the fact, a few facts about Israel and what other more knowledgeable people had to say about Israel.

Mahatma Gandhi said, "Palestine belongs to the Palestinians in the same sense that England belongs to the English, or France to French. It is wrong and inhuman to impose the Jews on the Arabs (Palestinians). What is going on in Palestine today cannot be justified by any moral code of conduct." (Tendulkar, Mahatma Vol. IV, 1938, p.312).

Lord Sydenham of the House of Lords said on June 21, 1922, "Palestine is not the original home of the Jews. It was acquired by them after a ruthless conquest, and they (Jews) have no valid claim to Palestine. If we are going to admit claims based on conquest thousands of years ago, the whole world will have to be turned upside down."

Mr. Trubitt, I deeply respect your position. You stated that Jewish people throughout history have been suppressed, and that six million Jews were murdered during World War II. Does that justify them having a homeland? If it does, then what about the Afro-American? We lost more people in the slave trade than the Jews did in Nazi Germany, and we are just as suppressed as the Jews. According to your line of reasoning blacks deserve a homeland.

Maybe if President Reagan would kick all of the white Americans out of the state of Illinois and give it to the blacks, then maybe some Americans would begin to understand the Palestinian cause. There is always a cause and effect relationship. The establishment of the state of Israel is the cause and terrorism is the effect of an unjust state called Israel! — Don Smith, junior, Administration of Justice.

University Studies change stinks

As a graduate of the University Studies degree program of Southern Illinois University, it was with great distress that I returned to campus for a visit and read your article (DE, April 8) concerning the ouster of the program's fine director, Marie Kilker, and the proposed relocation of the program under pre-major advisement.

Although I am not fully knowledgeable of the various political maneuverings going on behind the scenes in this case, I have no doubt that whoever is championing these proposed changes has not done their homework, either in assessing the effectiveness of the present University Studies emphasis, or in evaluating the extreme worth of Marie Kilker to the program.

The University Studies program as it has been is extremely valuable in helping adult students such as myself gain an education and prepare for graduate work or entry into the work place. In addition, it allows this kind of preparation and study without the often strangling effects of too much specialization. It allows a student to go on in life with a well-founded broad-based knowledge in several fields as opposed to one or two fields!

As for Marie Kilker, I can say with confidence that there is not a finer adviser to be found throughout the University. She is genuinely concerned for the people she helps, and assists in every way possible in an effort to see that the students under the University Studies program get the best education the University has to offer. She is there to help at all times.

One only need look as far as the record books to see the value of the University Studies program and of Marie Kilker to the program. The program has graduated a considerable number of students; students with good grade points, with good study habits, and with healthy backgrounds to go on in future endeavors, and perhaps most importantly, students who have gone on to be successful contributors to society.

Let's not tear this program down. Let's assist Marie Kilker in making this program even better in the days and years to come — David S. Smith, Alumnus, University Studies.

Freedom isn't very cheap

Mr. Loganathan, in your April 17 letter, I agree that I know very little about Libya and its people, but I do know that I and other American citizens have been threatened with death by Libya's leader Moammar Khadafy. If you call an attack on military targets an act of terrorism, then what do you call the bombing of a civilian nightclub or the machine gun attacks on civilians in public airports?

Everyone in the world has the right to travel without the fear of being killed while in some airport or plane. Travel without fear is called freedom. Freedom doesn't come cheap and the American people know it. It is paid for with the blood of those Americans who have given their lives to defend it, both in the past and the present.

When you speak of the world bending over backwards to serve us, maybe you should think about the hundreds of millions of dollars that America spends on foreign aid. Money that could be used to feed Americans here at home, or help reduce our national debt. How much money does Singapore, your home, owe to the United States?

Before you call the United States a bully, you better check our record. We have tried negotiating with Libya and that didn't work. Then we tried economic sanctions, but that only works if we have combined cooperation from our allies, but they were interested more in money.

Might is not always right, but America will defend her citizens no matter where they are. Except for a few allies and international leaders, the majority of our allies' populations have condemned us for the attack on Libya. In this fight we might stand alone in the world, but we stand united. — Marty Loy, senior, Avionic Tech.

Khadafy started the fight with U.S.

Ramesh, I'm glad you're not my roommate! In your letter to the editor (April 17), you said that the United States was a bully. How could you honestly say that? I think you have an overbiased opinion, and that you really don't know the entire situation with Libya.

I believe Khadafy had his forces attack our American ships with six of his missiles in the first place. His forces were the ones that shot into neutral waters, not ours. Are you actually supporting this type of terrorism? Come on! Our actions have been justified ever since this little display of ignorance on Khadafy's part. The United States shouldn't be pushed around anymore by acts of terrorism.

There is no room for terrorism anywhere in this world, and I feel it should somehow be stopped before every country becomes leery of the next. The United States' actions were justified because they were merely trying to put an end to terrorism.

Maybe now there won't be so many American planes being hijacked to Libya and Cuba.

I just don't understand why Ramesh Loganathan could stick up for an individual named Moammar Khadafy. After all, this display of warfare by Khadafy isn't getting him anywhere, except maybe closer to a funeral director! — Brad Nemsick, junior, Radio and Television.

Freedom fighters need our support

Mr. Griffin's comparison of Nicaragua to Vietnam is inadequate. Granted, we shouldn't have sent troops in, but we should have supplied arms and aid to South Vietnam especially in light of Soviet arms supplies to the north.

The same situation applies to Nicaragua. How can something be "legal" when it was stolen? Ask the Cubans about stolen revolutions. Nixon was right in withdrawing the troops and promised South Vietnam all the arms and supplies they needed.

Congress sold out South Vietnam as they did the Cuban "contras" in 1961. The results: America flooded with refugees (a military tactic, ask Pakistan and Florida), the fourth largest army in the world and now a Soviet bloc, Soviet backfire bombers and battleships at Cam Ron Bay and Da Nang paid for with 58,000 GI's. The dominoes fell!

Apologists for the Soviet-Cuban war by proxy seem to be reluctant to recognize Soviet global strategy for world dominance of Marxism-Leninism.

After the betrayal of Poland in 1946 they haven't stopped their murderous quest in accordance with the teachings of Vladimir Lenin. Now with a 10,000 foot runway being built at Punta Huete airfield and the dredging of the Corinto Port facility in Nicaragua leads me to believe we are strategically being choked.

We must support anti-Soviet liberation movements everywhere we can. — Jeff Thomason, Murphysboro.

Most didn't want part in Jeans day

This letter is written in response to Jim Shields' letter (DE, April 16). Your comment that I wrote that people weren't aware of Blue Jeans Day, and that you abused people, is way off base. Read my letter again. I stated that your organization abused the institution of blue jeans, and obviously people were aware of Blue Jeans Day, or I wouldn't have commented on the fact that many people chose not to wear jeans Friday.

I am opposed to the intimidation that arose as a result of your choice to use blue jeans as a symbol for your cause. Choosing such a common article of clothing, especially for college students, is hitting too close to home. Did you ever consider that many people didn't want to be involved in this farce? And just because they wore their everyday clothing, they were involved.

You hoped that people would realize what it is like for gay and lesbian people to hide their homosexuality every day, because society regards this behavior as taboo. I find it truly sad that you are so insecure that you hide your feelings every day. What are you afraid of? Maybe you aren't so sure of your sexuality after all.

I realize that the purpose of your Blue Jeans Day was to let heterosexuals experience the pressures that homosexuals do. Thanks all the same, Mr. Shields, but if I wanted to feel like a homosexual, I would be one. — Cathy Sullivan, sophomore, Journalism.

No sympathy for gays

So April 12 was Blue Jeans Day. Big deal. As a heterosexual that feels quite comfortable with the lifestyle that I have chosen, I couldn't care less if homosexuals feel threatened, intimidated or harassed by society.

I also deeply resent the special attention and minority status that they receive. The minority status that they claim is totally by choice.

The hostility homosexuals perceive is the consequence of their choice. If you want to be homosexual, fine. Just don't expect me or anyone else to be supportive or accept you. That's my choice. — Daniel Winn, graduate student, Chemistry.

Gays don't have same rights

Well, Mark Czmyrd, if Cathy Sullivan can miss the boat, so can you. For all of your ranting and raving about heterosexual rights, you seem to have forgotten a basic point: No one is saying being heterosexual is wrong, not even gays. The reverse is not so for gays in this predominately heterosexual society.

I find it comforting to know that all heterosexuals don't share your viewpoint. I find it most disturbing that you're a Political Science major. — Cheryl Broadie, graduate student, Cinema & Photography.

Alton Telegraph editor named year's top journalism alumnus

D.G. Schumacher, executive editor of the Alton Telegraph, has been named Journalism Alumnus of the Year for 1986.

He'll be honored during a joint banquet of the School of Journalism and the Southern Illinois Editorial Association scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Ramada Inn in Carbondale.

Schumacher was introduced to newspaper work at an early age by his father, C.E. Schumacher, who worked at and later was part-owner of the Pana News-Palladium.

As executive editor, Schumacher handles planning and supervision of news coverage for the Telegraph, a 37,000-circulation daily.

Schumacher graduated from SIU-C in 1963 with a bachelor's degree in journalism. He earned his master's degree in journalism at Northwestern University in 1965.

While attending SIU-C, he

worked part time for the Daily Egyptian and the University News Service. He also worked for the Southern Illinoisan. He met his wife, the former Rita Brake of Mount Vernon, while the two were student workers at the News Service.

He was an Associated Press reporter for a year, and from 1965 to 1968, he served as city editor, news editor and managing editor at the Southern Illinoisan. He assumed his current job in 1976.

Schumacher is the president of the Illinois Associated Press Editors Association, a position he held once before from 1971 to 1972. He has been director and chairman of the Mid-America Press Institute and is a member of the Fair Trial-Free Press Committee of the Illinois State Bar Association.

He and his wife have two sons, Scott, a freshman at SIU-C, and Todd, a sophomore at Alton High School.

Featured speaker at the presentation will be Bill D. Jackson, editor of The Evansville (Ind.) Courier.

react to how and what the customer thinks. He added that the employee must have or develop a trusting relationship with the customer.

Luard said the whole hiring process begins with the applicant's resume. He said he wants the resume to capture his attention with "wonderful qualities and hard-earned degrees." Experience in travelling, being an exchange student in a foreign country and knowing a foreign language are important qualifications, he said.

LUARD SAID an understanding of the foreign country's culture is important. He said most countries are not used to aggressive practices of the United States and workers in many foreign countries work to live, as opposed to American workers, who commonly live to work.

"Lastly," Luard said, "you need the desire to travel and relocate if necessary." He said that this sounds exotic, but it usually is not. He said disadvantages are culture shock and disruption to marriages or other relationships.

Luard said a job applicant must convince him that he or she is aware of all this. "I can't afford to train" someone for two years "to find out that it doesn't fit" their lifestyle, Luard said.

THE CONFERENCE'S afternoon session geared itself toward businesses interested in breaking into overseas markets through exporting or setting up a business in a foreign country.

Luard said that companies wanting to set up an overseas business should first "test the waters" by exporting their goods to the countries they are interested in. This can be done by contracting with an export management company, such as Luard's company, OPICO.

OPICO operates by gaining ownership of a company's goods to be exported and then delivering those goods. "We aren't a charitable organization, we do make money off of it," Luard said. His company usually profits five to 50 percent on export sales. Luard warned businesses interested in contracting an export management company to stay away from commission-type EMCs. He said, "They will take a finder's fee, but leave all the work to you."

LUARD SAID interested businesses should obtain a listing of EMCs in the area and look at companies that export goods along the same lines as theirs. When looking for an EMC, Luard said the business should find out if the EMC exports the kind of goods they want to export and should check their track record and credit and trade references.

Wilson said that success, not to mention survival, of companies depends on looking at the economy on a global basis rather than a national basis. He said important characteristics for a future in international business include intelligence, creative ability, competitiveness, willingness to take a risk, ability to negotiate and ability to communicate.

THE TOPIC of Kotler's speech was "Can a Foreign Bank Help You Find Overseas Opportunities?" According to Kotler, a foreign bank can help by giving a basic understanding of a foreign country's economy, discussing distribution and product availability in a foreign country and by naming other sources available in the United States.

Kotler said, "This doesn't mean you should skip the American bank." He said the local bank is closer to home and more interested in the American business, adding that the foreign bank should complement the local bank.

Kotler also suggested that a business get involved internationally first through exporting. He said that exporting is less risky than going in to a foreign country and starting a new business.

Man charged in liquor mart burglary

Carbondale police arrested a man breaking into the ABC Liquor Mart early Wednesday morning after a silent burglar alarm alerted police, said Carbondale detective Art Wright.

Police arrested Kerry B. Powell, of Carbondale, after receiving a silent alarm call at 2:44 a.m. when the window on the south side of the building was broken, Wright said.

Damage to the window is over $300, according to the police report.

Powell was charged with burglary and taken to Jackson County Jail.

Correction

In Wednesday's Daily Egyptian, David Vitoff, Illinois Education Association-NEA organizer said that some tenured faculty have been switched to term contracts and are being set up for dismissal.

The word "tenured" should have been "tenure track" — a classification of those University faculty seeking permanent academic rank, not faculty members already tenured.

Blues disk jockey uses film to aid 'American art form'

By Ellen Cook
Student Writer

If Carbondale residents want the blues, Bob Bernacchi will be glad to give it to them.

Bernacchi hosts WIDB's blues program from midnight to 2 a.m. Mondays. His format consists of newer blues artists mixed with some well-established veterans. Bernacchi enjoys playing the music and hopes that there is an audience for his show, but his interest in the blues doesn't stop with his radio program.

Last semester, Bernacchi made a 16mm film about Chicago bluesman Sugar Blue, who will perform at Springfest at 5 p.m. Saturday. The film, titled "Sugar Blue," shows Sugar Blue and his band performing and discussing the impact of the blues on modern music.

THE FILM will be shown in the Student Center Auditorium Sunday and Monday before the Student Programming Council's scheduled feature. The film also has been aired on WIDB's "New Frontier" video show and WSUI.

Bernacchi has long been interested in the blues and decided to make a film about the music. He met Sugar Blue through friends in Chicago and asked the bluesman if he was interested in the project.

"I decided that I wanted to do a film on a current blues performer, someone who was young and up and coming," Bernacchi said.

SUGAR BLUE fit the description. He has performed on four Rolling Stones' albums and he and his band won a Grammy Award last year for their contribution to a blues album that was recorded in Montreux, Switzerland.

Bernacchi and Sugar Blue agree that the blues have influenced every modern form of modern music, from gospel to country and western to jazz to rock 'n' roll.

"Without a doubt, all rock 'n' roll is derived from the blues," Bernacchi said. He named such groups as the Beatles, the Rolling Stones and Led Zeppelin as bands having deep roots in the blues. Even a hard-rock band like Van Halen can be seen as having blues roots, he said.

THEY'RE a rock 'n' roll blues band," Bernacchi said. "The things that Eddie Van Halen does on his guitar are blues progressions." Bernacchi mentioned such songs as "Ice Cream Man" and "Good Rockin' Tonight" as examples of Van Halen's blues roots.

Although bands from every nation have been influenced by the blues, the music was made in America. "It is an American art form, an American creation completely," Bernacchi said.

With the resurgence of nationalism in America, the blues may find a broader audience. Bernacchi hopes that it will.

"THE BEST THING that I can do is to get people to buy blues records, because it doesn't get the support that it deserves," he said.

One reason why the blues doesn't have a large audience may be its background. Bernacchi said the blues began as an expression of hardships faced by Africans brought to America during the heyday of slavery, and because it has an unpleasant past, some people may not want to listen to the blues.

"Even blacks, to some extent, I think, look at it as a part of their history that is better left behind," Bernacchi said, "and it really isn't. It's a high point in American culture."

ANOTHER REASON may be a misunderstanding of the purpose of the blues.

"A real big misconception is that the blues is so pessimistic," Bernacchi said. "To me, that's not what the blues is at all."

"The blues is optimism at its best. They take the worst situations and take an optimistic look on them. That's why it's called the blues, because it deals with those blue periods in your life," he said.

Aquino appeals for additional time to stabilize Filipino government

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino, beset by pro-Marcos protests, labor unrest and a stubborn Communist insurgency, appealed to the Filipino people Wednesday to "give us time" to stabilize the new government.

In a nationally televised interview with a Philippine newspaper editor Wednesday night, Aquino said there had been "too many criticisms" of her 2-month-old government and appealed for "time to get everything together."

"It's only been two months — not even two months," said Aquino, swept to power Feb. 25 in a civilian-backed military revolt that forced former President Ferdinand Marcos into exile.

Earlier Wednesday, in a move to restore political normalcy after abolishing the National Assembly and the Marcos-tailored 1973 constitution last month, Aquino enacted a law governing a commission that will draft a new charter and create a new legislature.

It calls on the commission to "endeavor" to complete the charter on or before Sept. 2 and says a plebiscite for its ratification will be held within 60 days. Justice Minister Neptali Gonzales said local and national elections could be held immediately after its approval.

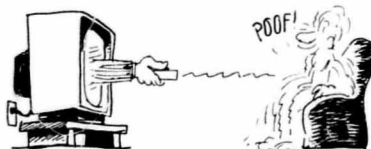

Aquino has not yet named the members of the commission to be composed of as many as 50 Filipinos of "national standing" from each of the archipelago's 13 regions, including representatives of labor, business and the ethnic minorities. Aquino's television appearance coincided with mounting problems for the new government, including a small but noisy movement by Marcos loyalists pressing for his return to power.

Communist rebels spurning her calls for national reconciliation have inflicted heavy casualties on military forces and a group of Filipinos in the strife-torn southern Philippines has announced plans to declare the creation of a separate republic.

Armed forces chief Gen. Fidel Ramos, who co-led the February revolt, Wednesday ordered the arrest of the leaders of the movement if they sign a constitution in a ceremony scheduled in the southern city of Cagayan de Oro Friday.

the government of former Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza in 1979.

Teller, a member of the 1980 Nicaraguan Olympic Team, also works at a store selling athletic shoes and equipment in the Washington, D.C., suburb of Georgetown, Patchett said.

Teller could not be reached for comment.

Teller "is proud of the fact that he is working in this country" and not receiving financial support from the Central Intelligence Agency.

Gray said Teller has no Nicaraguan passport "because the Immigration Department told me so" and that "he has to be registered as a foreign agent with the U.S. Department of Justice to lobby here for Pastora, but he isn't registered."

"Teller is causing himself trouble," Gray continued. "If he doesn't register, he is in violation of federal law."

"How can a guy work six to seven days a week in D.C. and be a freedom fighter in Honduras?" Gray asked.

Patchett said, "Gray is lying. He knows very well who Mr. Teller is," a real Contra rebel.

Gray visited Central America in March and said most of the "authentic" Contra rebels are there "shooting across the border at Nicaragua."

He said that if Teller was a legitimate freedom fighter "he'd be in Honduras now fighting the Sandinistas."

"I don't want this man telling my constituency deceptions," Gray said. "He was just there in Marion to instill fear in everyone, telling them that the Sandinistas were cutting off people's ears and stuff like that."

Patchett said he has not spoken to Teller since March and has no idea how to get in touch with him, "but Ken Gray apparently does."

South Africans, the government said.

The government said the changes in the pass laws were effective immediately. It was not known whether any prisoners had yet been released.

Government ministers made it clear, however, that the second major pillar of apartheid — the segregation of housing, hospitals and schools — would not be affected.

And Chris Heunis, the white minister of constitutional development, warned that "freedom of movement should not be seen as a free-for-all and a no-holds-barred opportunity to settle anywhere at any time."

"People in our rural areas should not live under the false impression that the grass will be greener and that the lights will be brighter in the cities," he said.

The independent Institute of Race Relations hailed the announcement in Parliament as "the most important reform in South Africa since World War II."

Jan Steyn, chairman of the Urban Foundation, said businessmen and churchmen affiliated with the non-government research group believed "a major pillar of apartheid and racial discrimination" had been toppled.

At the United Nations,

Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar praised the action as "encouraging development."

But Beuhla Rolnick, of the Black Sash civil rights movement, predicted that the abolition of the pass laws would not result in greater freedom of movement for blacks as the government said.

The government outlined its policy changes in a white paper presented to Parliament listing 34 race laws that would be repealed or amended this year in what would be the most fundamental move away from apartheid since President Pieter Botha's white National Party came to power in 1948.

and Mikhail Gorbachev, apparently held for arms reductions, "are a joke. Nobody believes that either side is seriously willing even to consider an arms reduction."

The world's peoples want a reduction in nuclear arms, he said, "but despite our endlessly repeated commitment to personal freedom and democracy, what governments pay attention to the people?" Schilpp asked.

Schilpp defined philosophy as serious, comprehensive and systematic, reflective thinking about human experience. "But serious comprehensive thinking has to begin with facts," he said.

Schilpp said the nation's deficit has become alarming and dangerously large. Reagan vowed to balance the budget and instead doubled it, he said.

"The present national budget is first and foremost for military, secondly for well-to-do and finally at the expense of youth, of the poor and of the elderly," Schilpp said.

More than a year ago, the Department of Defense said that the United States had enough operable warheads to wipe out humanity 25 times over, Schilpp said. "With humanity already successfully annihilated the first time around and with no one alive anymore, who the hell is going to do it?" he asked.

He said the two superpowers

"still insist on talking nonsense" about deterrence. Reagan, he added, is trying to mislead the American public by talking about "Star Wars" as if it existed or ever could.

Reagan has also committed himself to an ever-increasing arms race as his first priority, Schilpp said.

During the State of the Union speech, Schilpp said, Reagan did not mention the plight of America's farmers, the trade deficit of $150 billion or that the United States has become the greatest debtor nation in the last 25 years.

"He said, 'America marches on' but failed to say it marches straight toward Armageddon and death," Schilpp said.

Schilpp said that America has had some positive experiences, including the establishment of Medicare and Social Security, the United States' participation in the founding of the United Nations in 1945 and former President Nixon's visit to mainland China in 1972.

However, the recent successful nominations of two followers of extremist Lyndon LaRouche to the positions of lieutenant governor and secretary of state is unparalleled in either the state or nation, Schilpp said.

"Yet it is the workings of democracy and the freedom of choice which have brought us to this unfortunate and serious, dangerous and almost hopelessly political situation," he said.

Hacker-Pschorr MÜNCHEN

Introducing a new beer that's 569 years old.

One of the oldest and most respected beers of Munich is finally available throughout America.

Introducing Hacker-Pschorr. (Pronounced Hocker-Shore.) First brewed in Munich in 1417, our beer has changed little in five centuries. We still make it in strict accordance with the Bavarian Purity Law of 1516. Only the finest barley malt, Bavarian hops and pure water from the Alps are used, to produce a beer of unmatched smoothness, character and quality. Ask for Hacker-Pschorr, regular or dark, wherever fine beers are sold. And taste the way beer was originally meant to taste.

Hacker-Pschorr

Munich's best beer since 1417.

Distributed by Southern Illinois Wholesale, Carterville, Illinois.
Now available at surrounding liquor stores.

Teachers swayed to read anthology, book editor says

By Darci Allen
Staff Writer

Teachers are prisoners of an anthology, said Nina Baym, co-editor of the second edition of the nationally acclaimed "Norton Anthology of American Literature."

Baym, an English professor and the director of the School of Humanities at the University of Illinois, spoke at the Harry T. Moore Memorial Lecture in Morris Auditorium Tuesday to about 75 people. The lecture was sponsored by the English Department, Women's Studies and the College of Liberal Arts.

The part of the Norton Anthology that Baym edited is a collection of the works of major authors from 1914 to 1945.

"The word 'major' is a rhetorical term," Baym said.

It is an attempt to persuade you that these are the authors to read, she said. But, she added, when you look at how the inclusions of authors in the anthology are justified, you can see it hasn't been done in any systematic way.

The presence of other anthologies is the spur in the side of someone trying to make a new anthology, Baym said.

"Innovations grow around the margins of previously written text," she said.

"Consensus rules what goes in to an anthology."

The previous editor felt that women authors had to have justification for being in the anthology, she said.

In the introductions, she continued, there was more reference to women's love lives than to men's, and men had more credentials listed. Men were also referred to by their last name and women by their first, she added.

"There were also physical descriptions of women," she said.

Baym said she rewrote the introductions to take out such discriminatory references.

She said she also made the women's section longer.

The qualitative assessment of an author is made by the quantity of space he or she fills, she said.

Baym said that as she began to edit the Norton Anthology, she realized space becomes the primary restraint.

Foster to get research award

A SIU-C forester has been honored by his peers for outstanding research.

James S. Fralish, associate professor of forestry in the School of Agriculture, has been given the Association of Southeastern Biologists' $500 Faculty Research Award.

He won for a technical paper entitled "A Site-Specific Approach to Predicting Potential Stand Composition in the Shawnee Hills Forest of Illinois."

The group is made up of scientists in the Southeastern United States.

Saluki trackster Ron Harrer positions himself to throw the discus. Harrer was the Saluki's leading scorer in the outdoor season, tallying 79 points.

Trackster shows strength after 1st stages of struggle

By Steve Koulos
Staff Writer

For someone who wasn't good enough to compete as a freshman, Ron Harrer has come a long way in three years as a member of the SIU-C men's track team.

Harrer, who described himself as "worthless and weak" when he tried out for the team as a walk-on in the fall of 1983, has demonstrated his strength this season.

Harrer, the Salukis' leading scorer in the outdoor season with 79 points, is ranked No. 1 in the Missouri Valley Conference in the discus (184-9) and the hammer (169-8). Harrer's personal best of 184-9 in the discus also places him second on the all-time school list.

EVEN THOUGH Harrer has had a solid season this spring, he says he isn't satisfied with what he has accomplished.

"If you told me before the season started that I was going to set those personal bests in the discus and the hammer, I would have been happy," Harrer said.

"But now I feel I should be throwing farther. I want to qualify for nationals and I won't get total satisfaction until I qualify," he said.

In order for Harrer to qualify for nationals in the discus, he needs a throw of 190 feet.

TWO FACTORS which Harrer attributes to his success is the coaching he receives from former Saluki All-Americans John and Tom Smith and an extensive weightlifting program.

"John Smith has helped me out a lot in the discus and the shot put and Tom Smith has helped me out a lot in weightlifting and in the hammer," Harrer said. "Tom has helped me out more than anything, in a mental capacity by helping me get up for meets."

HARRER SAID he has benefited from weightlifting. When he came to SIU-C, he could bench press 220, but now he can bench 375.

Harrer, who also throws the javelin and the shot put, has competed in as many as four events this season. But in comparison to the discus, Harrer labels himself as "average" in the three other throwing events.

"My technique is decent in the discus because I've been throwing it since high school," Harrer said. "But I never competed in the hammer, javelin, and shot put until I got down here."

THE 6-FOOT, 220-pound Harrer prepped at Arthur High School, which is located 45 miles south of Champaign.

A four-sport athlete at Arthur, Harrer finished fourth in the 1983 IHSA Class A state meet in the discus during his senior year. But with a personal best of 163-0 in the discus, college recruiters weren't exactly knocking on Harrer's door.

Harrer said he decided to enroll at SIU-C because of the school's engineering program.

"I came here because of my major, I didn't come here just to compete on the track team," he said.

HARRER SAID he has no regrets about his redshirt year.

"It made no sense to waste a year of eligibility," he said. "They had solid throwers in every event and I had no business trying to throw against those guys during my first year."

As a freshman last year, Harrer put together one of his strongest performances of the season in the MVC outdoor meet by finishing second in the discus, third in the javelin and fifth in the hammer.

"I WAS HAPPY with my freshman year," Harrer said. "I threw the discus 175 feet, I scored points in events that I just started learning and I accomplished a lot of things that nobody expected, including myself."

Saluki men's track coach Bill Cornell says he wishes he had more athletes on the team like Harrer.

"He's very dedicated and very professional about his particular events and has a super all-around attitude," Cornell said. "If our other athletes had the same attitude, we would have a pretty good team."

IN ADDITION to being a good athlete, Harrer excels in the classroom. The engineering mechanics major has a 3.25 grade point average.

"School is a constant drain," Harrer said. "I don't have much time outside of school and track for a social life."

"It's just like Coach Cornell says: school comes first, then track, then a social life. But the moral support I've received from my girlfriend (Susan Howard) and my parents (John and Carol Harrer) have really helped me out a lot."

the seventh to make a diving catch to end a possible SEMO rally. Saluki coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said it was one of the best catches she's ever seen.

Brechtelsbauer, who has been sidelined this week after getting hit in the face during practice by a ball, said the split with SEMO exemplified the good pitching the Salukis have had all year.

"Our pitching has been our strong suit all year," she said. "It's the best pitching I've seen in my 19-year career."

Exactly one week ago, the Salukis traveled to Cape Girardeau, Mo., and swept SEMO in a two-night doubleheader. SEMO, a Division II school, has been ranked as high as ninth in the nation this year, making them a formidable opponent even though a smaller school.

The Salukis now stand at 6-4 in Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference play and 17-15 overall.

Hovering near the top of the GCAC pack with a 6-2 record before getting swept in a twinbill at Eastern Illinois earlier this week, the 6-4 GCAC record now makes the remaining conference games vital for the Salukis.

Brechtelsbauer said this weekend's games at conference leader Illinois State and Indiana State are very important if the Salukis want to remain near the top of the Gateway crowd.

Frisbee team wants 1st win at weekend sectional meet

By M.J. Starshak
Staff Writer

Full Tilt, SIU-C's ultimate frisbee team, started slow this year with a 0-3 record but will try to improve this showing by hosting a nine-team sectional tournament this weekend on the playing fields behind Abe Martin Field. The journey will begin Saturday morning at 9:30 and will finish up on Sunday with the finals at 2 p.m.

The University of Illinois' Tiny Livestock is seeded first in this year's tournament, while defending champion Full Tilt is seeded second. Other teams in this weekend's competition include the Mad Platters of Western Illinois, the Wizards of Ball State, Earlham College, Situation Normal DNA of Illinois State, Housierrama? of Indiana State, B Attitudes of Purdue and the University of Chicago. The top three teams in the sectionals advance to regional competition in Champaign, Ill., May 10-11.

Ultimate frisbee consists of two seven-member teams and the object is to score goals, each worth one point. Games are played to 15 points, except for finals competitions, in which games are played to 21.

Ultimate is similar to football in that both sports have quarterbacks, passes can be intercepted, and the object is to score goals. It is dissimilar to football in that each team has three quarterbacks instead of one, there are no officials, and the playing field is longer — 120 yards long compared to the 100 for football.

Ultimate frisbee can be one of the most physically demanding sports, according to Full Tilt's president Mike Richardson. The frisbee-thrower cannot take any steps, but only pivot, so accuracy and endurance are musts. Richardson said that he has had good experience with some new players and said that they will be "the force behind our winning our games."

The fact that there are no officials is an important aspect of the game that sets it apart from other sports, said Richardson. Ultimate frisbee relies on the sportsmanship of its participants to maintain fair play and adhere to the rules.

Basic etiquette is also a factor which sets ultimate frisbee apart, according to Richardson. Intentional fouling, dangerous aggression and other "win-at-all-costs" behavior are avoided. Playing the game is a learning experience, said Richardson, because if an inexperienced player makes a bad play, he is given another chance at the play.

GCAC tourney a challenge for young women netters

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

The SIU-C women's tennis team travels to Terre Haute, Ind., this weekend in an attempt to capture their third Gateway Conference title in four years.

Winning the title won't be as easy this year, however, as coach Judy Auld says the field of conference teams is balanced depth-wise.

"The conference is really well-balanced this year," Auld said. "The title could go to anyone."

Auld said she could think of five teams that could win and expects the front-runners to be Wichita State, Drake, Western Illinois or Bradley, "but I'd hate to have to pick a winner this year," she added.

The tournament format consists of three flights for doubles and six for singles competition. Singles wins will be worth two points for team standings; wins in the consolation bracket will be one point each with a two-point team maximum.

Auld said that seeding and draws for the tournament would make a lot of difference, and SIU-C's dismal 3-14 spring record will make it more difficult to get good seedings for the Salukis.

Adding to the difficulty is the youth of Auld's squad, which consists of five freshman and four sophomores. SIU-C has never finished lower than third, though, and Auld says the team goal is to win or at least finish in the top half of the 10 conference teams.

Appearing to have the best chances for strong showings are No. 2 singles player Dana (pronounced Donna) Cheribetiu and No. 5 singles player Maria Coch.

Cheribetiu, a native of Romania and first-semester freshman, has a 12-11 record this spring for the only winning record on the squad.

"Dana is a very physical player with overpowering strokes and a great topspin forehand," Auld said. "I think she can win her flight if she plays smart and consistent, but she'll have to be mentally tough."

Coch, a freshman from Bogota, Columbia, has a spring record of 10-12 but has won nine of her last 12 matches since returning from spring break.

Auld said that the No. 1 singles team of Ellen Moellering and Cheribetiu may "pull off some surprises" if they manage to get a decent seeding in the No. 1 doubles flight. The two have combined for a 6-15 record this spring.

Conference honors landed by freshman softball hurler

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

Freshman hurler Lori Day of the Saluki softball team is the Gateway Conference Player of the Week for the week of April 14-21.

Day was awarded the honor for her three-win performance during the span, in which she collected her second no-hitter of the season.

In the 1-0 no-hitter against Northern Iowa, Day also was credited with driving in the winning run with a two-out double. She went two-for-two against Southeast Missouri and also hurled a three-hitter against Drake to pick up another 1-0 decision.

Day came to SIU-C from Bloomington Community High School with impressive stats; the 5-10 righthander racked up a career record of 52-9 with a 0.36 ERA, 569 strikeouts in 404 innings and 15 no-hitters. Saluki coach Kay Brechtelsbauer said Day is still learning new pitches and will continue to get better with collegiate experience.

In the fall, Day came through with a 0.46 ERA and a 3-1 record in her first four games at the college level.

This season, Day has an 8-8 record and has completed all 16 of her starts. She leads the team in strikeouts with 76 and has allowed just 12 earned runs in 112 innings pitched. All of this with two no-hitters and four shutouts add up to 0.750 ERA.

Day is getting experience at pitching in pressure situations; the freshman has pitched in 11 one-run games, including a 1-0 decision on Wednesday to SEMO, and has compiled a record of 7-4 in the one-run affairs.

Brechtelsbauer said her attitude and eagerness to learn make her a highly-coachable player who can also help the team with her bat.

Intramural swimmer sets record

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

An SIU-C student set a national intramural record in the recent swim meet sponsored by the Office of Intramural-Recreational Sports.

Brenda Freeman set the record in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 24.45 seconds. Freeman, a senior in microbiology, said Wednesday she was "very surprised" that she performed so well.

"I only have a chance to work out three or four days a week now," she said. "I was working out every day of the week before."

Freeman was a member of the Saluki women's swim team her freshman year. The time she achieved in the intramural meet was only 0.2 second short of her all-time personal best in the 50-yard freestyle, she said.

A new SIU-C intramural record was also set in the meet. The record was set by Theresa Pöhlmann in the 50-yard backstroke with a time of 31.33.

In other meet results:

— The Casual Floaters took first place in the men's 200-yard medley relay with a time of one minute, 55.46 seconds; Scott Nicholas took first place in the 500- (5:33.89) and 100-yard (53.81) freestyles; George Brabson took first in the 50-yard butterfly (26.66), the 50-yard backstroke (27.81) and the 100-yard individual medley (1:00.17); Todd Hampel took first in the 50-yard freestyle (24.82); Tom Czechorski took first in the 50-yard breaststroke (29.30); and the SIU Water Polo Club took first place in the 200-yard freestyle relay (1:44.05).

— The SIU Water Polo Club came in first among men's teams with 109 points, followed by the Beached Whales, 69 points; the Casual Floaters, 62 points; and the Splash, 36 points.

— Mal-Practice came in first in the women's 100-yard medley relay with a time of 1:08.08; Jan Suchomski took first in the 200-yard freestyle (2:20.89) and the 100-yard individual medley (1:13.00); Freeman took first in the 50-yard butterfly (30.30); Pöhlmann took first in the 50-yard breaststroke (38.53); and the Splash took first in the 100-yard freestyle relay (1:02.06).

— Mal-Practice came in first in women's team competition with 81 points, followed by the Splash with 42 points.

— The Guard Squad came in first in the corec 200-yard medley relay (2:05.72) and the 200-yard freestyle relay (1:47.06); the Splash "B" team came in first in the 250-yard diminishing relay (2:32.76); the Splash "A" team came in first in the 100-yard ping pong relay (1:49.01); and the Splash "C" team came in first in the 100-yard inerttube relay (1:39.02).

Trackster 7th in heptathlon

Saluki trackster Sue Anderson Wednesday finished seventh in the heptathlon with 4656 points and three personal bests at the Drake Relays in Des Moines, Iowa.

The individual winner, Cathy Tyree from Purdue, tallied 5458 points.

Although falling short of her overall best score of 4683, set

April 5 at the SEMotion relays, Anderson was only eight points shy of the fifth-place finisher, evidencing the tightness of competition.

A junior from Streamwood, Anderson set personal marks in the javelin (110-7); the 800-meter dash (2:24.50) and the high jump (5-7 and one-quarter).

Draft pick decision has Bears thinking

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — Holding the last pick in the first round and two former defensive starters as bait, the Super Bowl champion Chicago Bears are thinking about trading up before Tuesday's NFL draft.

The Bears, who ran roughshod over the NFL in going 19-1 last season, say they are interested in moving up and are offering free agent defensive holdouts Al Harris and Todd Bell. Harris and Bell were starters in 1984 but sat out last season in contract disputes.

"We've been actively talking to a lot of teams, but right now it is in the exploratory stage," Bears' general manager Jerry Vainisi said. "Actually, you don't make trades in the NFL like this until right up to the moment the draft starts."

Two key members of the Bears' championship club — cornerback Leslie Frazier and wide receiver Dennis McKinnon — are expected to miss the entire 1986 season. Frazier injured his leg on a freak play on a punt return in the Super Bowl. McKinnon aggravated a knee injury in the final half of the regular season.

As a result, instead of shoring up some weak spots on the bench, the Bears must turn to looking for possible starters from the college ranks to replace both Frazier and McKinnon. Philadelphia, with former Chicago defensive coordinator Buddy Ryan now at the helm, has openly courted the Bears for the services of both Bell and Harris. Whether Philadelphia would be willing to give up a wide receiver, cornerback or high draft choice in the first or second round may hold the key to whether the two teams can work out a trade before draft day.

In addition, Bell's agent, Howard Blusher, says he won't talk contract with the Eagles until a trade has been made, throwing some cold water on a possible pre-draft deal.

Bears coach Mike Ditka also hinted this week Chicago might be interested in a running back as a replacement down the road for Walter Payton. A trade with Tampa Bay would have to be completed to work out that scenario.

"If you're asking me would we be interested in that, yes," Ditka said. "We would talk about that. That wouldn't be out of the question."

The Bears aren't in a desperate situation, Vainisi insisted, so there is no certainty the club will make a deal. He also said Chicago is anxious to maintain its own pick in the draft rather than swapping selections.

Softball team splits doubleheader with SEMO

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

The Saluki softball team seems to be playing in streaks these days.

After winning seven in a row, the Salukis suffered three-consecutive 1-0 losses before winning the second game of a Wednesday twinbill with Southeast Missouri.

Despite a five-hit pitching performance by freshman Lori Day, SIU-C lost to SEMO as the Saluki offense could muster only three hits in the 1-0 loss. The loss dropped Day's record to 8-8 for the season.

Sophomore hurler Lisa Peterson, however, came back to win the second game on a four-hit, 3-0 shutout in what the Salukis hope to be the start of another winning streak. Peterson stands at 9-6 for the season with the victory.

The Salukis waited a full 13 innings before scoring in the twinbill, and finally tallied runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Cindy Espeland and Peterson got one-out singles and were replaced with speedy pinch-runners Amy Bishel and Kim Hassinger. Dana Ridel followed with a single that scored Bishel while Hassinger scored on a passed ball. The third run of the inning scored on centerfielder Rhonda Snow's run-scoring single.

Saluki bats silent in rout; game 2 ends locked at 2-2

By Ron Warnick

After beating St. Louis by 14 runs Tuesday, the baseball Salukis received a massive dose of their own medicine Wednesday as they were thrashed 15-1 in the first game against Eastern Illinois.

The Salukis came from behind to tie EIU 2-2, but the game was called after the ninth because of darkness for SIU-C's second tie this season, giving the Salukis a 29-17-2 record.

"They just beat us to death in the first game," coach Richard "Itchy" Jones said. "They wanted the ball game a little more than we did."

With the Panthers stinging his pitches in the first two innings, it was obvious Saluki starter Shane Gooden wouldn't last long. EIU thrower Dave Goodhue, who would win his fifth game, allowed just an RBI double by Jay Burch in the first and consistently jammed Saluki hitters.

After Gooden allowed three runs in the third, coach Richard "Itchy" Jones yanked the freshman for Mark Scheibal.

Scattering pitches everywhere but over the plate, Scheibal walked three straight batters on 13 pitches for another run. Jones quickly pulled Scheibal for submarine pitcher Jay Hammond.

As if the plate had a mysterious hex, Hammond walked two consecutive batters in the inning, making the score 9-1. Hammond finally ended the inning on a ground out.

By the seventh inning, four pitchers had been spent, and with no chance for a win, Jones had to find someone to pitch the final inning.

The one he chose was second baseman Chuck Verschoore. He allowed four hits and three walks, but was victimized by six unearned runs when shortstop Burch dropped Verschoore's throw on a double play grounder for his 21st error.

"I don't think I'll see any more pitching action this year," Verschoore said, grinning.

"I told pitching coach Kirk Champion that if he needed a pitcher in an emergency, I could throw and hope to get some outs and save some pitchers' arms," he explained.

Frustrated by Burch's error, Jones played freshman third baseman Joe Hall at shortstop, a position he played for a few innings against St. Louis.

The Panthers scored once in the first and third innings off starter Rob Fleming. Robert Jones responded with an RBI single in the fourth, his 59th RBI single of the year, tying Jim Adduci's 1980 record. The Salukis tied the game in the seventh with Verschoore's RBI double in right field gap.

SIU-C couldn't score in the eighth and ninth, and reliever Larry Beattie shut out the Panthers until the game was called.

Cubs blank Cards 6-0; Sanderson sparkles

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ryne Sandberg had three hits, scored two runs and drove in another to back the five-hit pitching of Scott Sanderson and help the Chicago Cubs to a 6-0 victory Wednesday over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Keith Moreland added two hits and an RBI to help hand St. Louis its third straight loss and allow the New York Mets to move into first place in the National League East by one-half game.

Sanderson, 1-1, had a perfect game going through the first 15 batters before Jack Clark led off with a single in the fifth. He struck out seven and walked one in pitching Chicago's first complete game of the season. It was Sanderson's first shutout since he blanked Pittsburgh on Sept. 18, 1981.

Chicago took a 1-0 lead in the first off starter and loser Rick Ownbey, 1-1. Sandberg doubled off right fielder Andy Van Slyke's glove and scored on Moreland's RBI single to center.

In the fourth, Sandberg led off with a double off the left field wall, went to third on Durham's ground out and scored on Durham's single to center.

Chicago stretched its lead to 4-0 in the fifth. Shawn Dunston belted the first pitch for a two-out homer over the left field bleachers. Davey Lopes walked, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Sandberg's single to left.

The Cubs added a single run in the sixth. Moreland greeted relief pitcher Pat Perry with a lead off double to center and went to third on Durham's infield out. Matthews was intentionally walked and Davis followed with a RBI single to left, scoring Moreland. Davis had another RBI single in the eighth to make it 6-0.

Men netters down Pacers, extend streak to 7

By Martin Folan
Staff Writer

The Saluki men's tennis team extended its winning streak to seven Wednesday afternoon by defeating the University of Tennessee-Martin 6-3 at the Arena courts.

Saluki coach Dick LeFevre moved his third through sixth singles players up one position each to place Rollie Oliquino, No. 2 doubles player, at No. 6 singles because Chris Visconti, No. 2 singles player, sat out with a sore wrist.

The Pacers won at three of the five positions the Salukis shifted the roster.

Saluki No. 3 singles player Lars Nilsson said he expected to play somebody who was not as good as his opponent, Brian Amero. As a result, Amero beat Nilsson, 6-3, 6-3.

The Pacers' Nos. 5 and 6 singles players Jeff Aranda and Rikand Ekstrand brought UTM closer to victory by defeating Juan Martinez and Oliquino, 7-5, 6-3 and 6-3, 6-2.

The Salukis won at Nos. 1, 2 and 4 singles in three well-played matches, LeFevre said.

Fabiano Ramos played at No. 4 singles to overpower UTM's Richard Blond, 6-4, 6-4.

"Fabiano was playing out of his mind," LeFevre said, enthused with Ramos' performance. "Today he was playing flat, tough tennis."

Having won eight-straight matches at No. 3 singles, Jairo Aldana charted his ninth at No. 2 singles by hammering UTM's Phil Treen, 6-1, 6-2.

Per Wadmark, SIU-C's top ace, added another win to his record, (11-15), by beating Martin Bromfield, 6-1, 7-5.

Wadmark and Nilsson faced heavy statistics when Bromfield and Treen stepped onto the court for the No. 1 doubles match.

Bromfield and Treen put their 17-2 record up against the Swedish connection, but couldn't withstand the serves and lobs of Wadmark and Nilsson, hence losing 7-6, 6-2.

"We thought we played fairly well," Nilsson said.

Wildness, fun aplenty await you at Springfest

By Patricia Edwards
Staff Writer

There is something for everyone where the wild things are.

Wild animals, wild music, and wacky competitions are in the schedule for Springfest '86. While the Great Cardboard Boat Regatta gets plenty of attention, the festival has something wild for just about everyone.

The Piranha Brothers kick off the festivities at the mainstage on the steps of Shryock Auditorium at 11 a.m. Saturday. The rock 'n' roll, rhythm-and-blues band is just one of the five bands scheduled to perform.

Carnival rides, Gamma Phi Circus from Illinois State University, and elephant rides will amuse you all day long. Nearly everything is free of charge.

The craft shop will make the most bashful person into a wild thing with a little jungle face paint.

Rude Guest, which fires up the mainstage at 2 p.m., plays reggae and ska, an upbeat form of reggae.

Kick back to the blues of Sugar Blue on the mainstage at 5 p.m.

The hot mix dance stage between Anthony and Parkinson Halls will feature a hot mix record spin by D.J. Inc. at 5 p.m. At 7:30 Mellow Pleasures will play some tunes to dance the night away.

Don't forget to take time out to enter some of the crazy competitions in the Free Forum area. The hospital bed race is scheduled for noon to 1 p.m. Then test your skill at the greased vine climb, 1-2 p.m. Get giddy with the dizzy stick competition from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The winners of the hot air balloon contest will be announced at 2:30 at the mainstage. Contestants must be present to win.

The third annual John Henry Cockroach race is slated from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Don't forget, it's BYOC.

Competition for the Hawaiian Tropic suntan contest at the sidestage, between Anthony and Parkinson halls, is at 3 p.m. If you don't think you qualify for that one, try the untanned legs competition, 3 to 4 p.m., in the Free Forum area.

Afraid to show your legs at all? Don't fear. There is still a contest for you. The Hawaiian Tropic beastly legs competition judges on the most ferocious-looking legs at the sidestage at 3 p.m. Maybe disguise them in a pair of wild boxer shorts and enter the Hawaiian Tropic boxer shorts competition.

Slipping Manners, a band that plays dance music and Reggae, will perform on the sidestage at 1 p.m. The Little Egyptian Dancers will delight the audience with a Tahitian dance.

Gamma Phi will perform at 2:15 on the sidestage in addition to roving throughout the fest all day. At 3:15 Jim Pierce, an SIU-C student, will perform a juggling act.

A Tarzan and Jane jungle call contest will be held at 3:30 p.m. Hawaiian dancers are scheduled for 3:50. Six SIU-C students comprise T-Lark, an improvisational comedy group to perform at 4 p.m.

WIDB will hold a pathological liars' contest in a booth on the Old Main Mall. Prizes will be given for the best lie, most outrageous lie and most believable lie, among others.

Student Center Food Service will provide concessions from noon to 6 p.m.

Other special events in the Free Forum area include an all-day coconut hunt, in which prizes are awarded for finding coconuts hidden throughout the Old Main Mall. Those who wish can make an impromptu moron movie. The best videotapes will be shown on Beatvision next semester.

The Tradition Goes On!

Ahoy, mate! It's regatta time again

By Wm. Bryan DeVasher
Entertainment Editor

They come in all shapes and sizes, from Viking ships to aircraft carriers to aquatic "doughnuts."

But this odd collection of "boats" all have one thing in common — they are made of cardboard.

Skippers from as far away as Chicago will converge on Campus Lake Saturday as the 13th Annual Great Cardboard Boat Regatta takes to the waves.

Registration begins at 10 a.m. Saturday, and races begin at noon.

What began in 1974 as a project for a design class taught by Richard Archer, Design Department faculty member, has grown into a contest that attracts more than 1,000 people to Campus Lake and is covered by newspapers and television stations across the country.

The object of the regatta is simple: entrants must build a people-powered cardboard boat capable of running four heats — quarterfinals, semifinals and finals included — around a 220-yard, triangular course on Campus Lake.

Anyone may enter the competition in one of three categories: boats powered by some sort of paddle; boats powered by paddle wheels, propellers or sails; and boats designed and built by spectators-turned-participants.

In keeping with regatta tradition, a number of kits will be available the day of the race to those spectators who would like to build a boat on the spot and enter. Racers in the "instant boat" class are provided materials and tools on site two hours before race time.

Although Archer is unable to determine the number of boats that will enter this year's regatta, he said that 200 entries "would not surprise me."

Archer said contestants ranged in age from 8 to 58 in last year's races.

Landlubbers, too, have a regatta

By Toby Eckert
Staff Writer

Afraid of the water? Couldn't find the time to build a cardboard yacht? Then the Landlubber Boat Regatta could be for you.

The landlubber regatta will get underway at 1 p.m. Saturday on dry land in front of Altgeld Hall in Old Main Mall. According to Jim Drnek, travel and recreation chairman for the Student Programming Council and coordinator of the landlubber regatta, the event will be "a friendly spoof" on the real Cardboard Boat Regatta, which will be held on Campus Lake the same day.

The event will consist of teams of two pulling a flat-bottomed fishing boat equipped with wheels through an obstacle course laid out in front of Altgeld. Racers will be judged on the basis of how long it takes them to get their boats through the obstacle course.

Prizes will be given to the teams

The prizes have not as yet been finalized.

Those wishing to participate in the landlubber regatta can enter the day of the event, Drnek said.

Asked if the landlubber regatta would become a regular event at Springfest, Drnek said, "If it goes over well this year it will probably be done again. Like the cockroach races it becomes kind of traditional."

having the first-, second- and third-best times in the event, Drnek said.

Entries in the regatta come in all shapes and sizes. There have been Viking ships, aircraft carriers, barges and propeller-driven vessels, as well as the ever-popular streamlined kayak.

One "boat," Archer said, was called "Dave's Doughnut" and was cardboard wheel in which the operator stood in the center and powered the "boat" with a walking motion. The contraption would have been a prize-winner, he said, except for one unforeseen flaw.

"It worked great," Archer said, "but there was no way to turn it. It ended up on Thompson Point."

Archer said that the regatta has helped foster a friendly rivalry between the Design Department and the College of Engineering. The two departments attempt to outdo each other, often using "secret weapons" such as new-fangled water-proofing chemicals, experimental designs and special mechanical devices.

This year, the Design Department has a new weapon as Archer received a $1,000 grant from the Michelman Chemical Corp. for the Design Department to test a new water-proofing chemical in the regatta. "It's the Design Department's secret go-go juice," he said.

But there's no sure-fire way to build a winner, Archer said.

"High-tech doesn't cut it. A professional package designer built a boat (last year) and watched it sink," he said. "Usually the boat that wins has followed what I call the 'KISS' principle, 'Keep it Simple, Stupid.'"

Also competing in the regatta this year will be a number of high school students, Archer said. Local high schoolers first began competing in the regatta a few years ago, and Archer said that Engineering Mechanics Department students were surprised last year when they were defeated by a team from DuQuoin High School.

After the regular races are run, the best high schoolers battle it out in the "high school grudge race."

Archer says he's already gone through 5,000 copies of the rules, with application blanks attached. The first official entry came from the Gazette Democrat, a weekly newspaper from Anna. Archer, a former auto racer, said the event has been "blown out of proportion" during the past few years into an event that is too competitive.

"It's not that I don't like competitive sports," Archer said. "I used to play football. It's just that I hope people don't come out expecting" a highly-competitive race, he said.

"It's not what it's all about," he said, stressing that the regatta was started as a "fun" event.

Another problem of the regatta in recent years has been the number of dollars that have been sunk into the boats. Contestants have reinforced boats with metal pipes, plywood and various other illegal materials, and Archer said that a technical crew will be looking for such discrepancies.

"These boats shouldn't be just a bunch of money held together with cardboard," Archer said. This year, more boat parts — such as seats, which have traditionally been made of materials like fiberglass — must be made of cardboard, he said.

"The main thing we are trying to do is make the boats cheaper to build," Archer said of the new rules.

Boat designers may use non-cardboard material for steering and propulsion systems, but the crafts themselves must still be made of cardboard.

The regatta has become one of SIUC's most well-known traditions, Archer said, adding that alumni return every year to see who will win the "Pride of the Regatta," given to the ship with the most original design, or the "Titanic" award, where contestants vie for the honor of having the most spectacular sinking. In addition, the "Vogue" award is given to the most artistic boat entry and a team award goes to the most spirited team entry.

"It's unique to this school," Archer said of the regatta, which will coincide with Springfest. "Indiana, for example, has the Little 500. We have the Cardboard Boat Regatta."

There's still time to enter the Regatta. Contestants may drop by the Design Department in the blue barracks off East Grand or call 453-5761 to arrange for receiving an entry blank and regatta rules.

They know about paper boats in Sheboygan and down under

By University News Service

An event spawned on the SIUC campus over a decade ago is on the verge of becoming a new national pastime as imitations of the Great Cardboard Boat Regatta spring up across the nation and around the world, says C. Thomas Busch, acting executive director of Alumni Services.

The 13th running of the regatta — for human-powered boats made of corrugated cardboard — is the flagship of Saturday's Springfest activities. Two-hundred boats and up to 10,000 spectators are estimates being banded about.

But the SIUC spring tradition is busting far beyond its Carbondale birthplace.

Coming up in June is the second America's Cardboard Cup Regatta in Crystal Lake, an event patterned after SIUC's. It's billed as being similar to the world-famous America's Cup yachting classic, won for the first time ever by Australia in 1983. Sure enough, a team of Australian boaters will fly to Crystal Lake to compete for the cardboard equivalent.

As part of its July Fourth celebration this summer, Sheboygan, Wis., is going to throw a cardboard boat race. Sponsors are the National Endowment for the Arts and the Kohler Arts Center.

500 expected to compete in annual Special Olympics

By Martin Folan
Staff Writer

Five hundred mentally handicapped men, women and children will meet at 9 a.m. Thursday at McAndrew Stadium to compete in at the 17th annual Special Olympics Track and Field Competition.

Registered as Special Olympics Athletes with the Illinois Special Olympic Committee at Bloomington, all athletes are members of various agencies, such as mental health centers, rehabilitation centers and shelter care workshops, among others, said Sally Erickson, Special Olympics area coordinator.

From among eight different events in running, jumping and throwing, athletes will participate in two events of their choice and one relay race. Events include the 50-, 100-, 200-meter dashes and the 400-meter relay, the high jump and the standing long jump, a softball throw and wheelchair races.

Winners of the events in each of the five age groups will qualify for the state meet at Bloomington. All athletes will receive awards for participating.

Approximately 600 volunteers from the Student Recreation Center, the Intramural and Recreational Sports Department and other campus-based organizations will officiate the events, which begin after the opening ceremonies at 9 a.m. The events will last until 3:30 p.m., Erickson said.

The Carbondale Park District, in cooperation with SIU-C, sponsors the Olympics each year "to provide athletic competition for the mentally handicapped in Southern Illinois," she said.

Burgers, dogs highlight menu of festival fare

The menu for Springfest 1986 may not be as extensive as in years past, but food will still be available for festival-goers who have incurable munchies.

Throughout the day, three separate tents will provide food and beverages.

From 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., a Pepsi trailer will be set up to sell 16-ounce drinks for 75 cents.

From noon to 6 p.m., a sandwich and beverage tent will offer hamburgers, cheeseburgers, foot-long hot dogs, bratwurst and 16-ounce beverages.

The hot dogs, cheeseburgers and bratwurst will sell for $1.50. Hamburgers will go for $1.25 and the drinks for 75 cents.

From 1 to 6 p.m., another Pepsi trailer will sell drinks and hot dogs for the same prices.

Illinois State's acrobats to liven Springfest scene

By Elizabeth Cochran
Staff Writer

The circus is coming to Springfest. Gamma Phi Circus of Illinois State University "is the oldest and largest collegiate circus," says Jerry Polacek, director. It is 59 people strong and 25 to 30 of them will be performing Saturday.

The group is very popular at ISU and some of its members have performed on Bozo's Circus and at Disney World, Polacek said.

They will perform about 10 of their 26 acts, including the usual cast of clowns, fire eating and teeter board "if the weather permits," vaulting, unicycles, sport acrobatics, adagio, tumbling, gymn wheel, rolling globe and the perch pole.

The vaulting is not the typical gymnastics vaulting. Instead of a standard spring board, the acrobats use a rain-trampoline. It helps the vaulters propel themselves 10 to 15 feet into the air and do flips "over, under and all-around" other acrobats, Polacek said.

Sport acrobatics are balance and flexibility stunts. Some of the balances include up to 6 people doing handstands and poses in formation together. One woman, "who has a very flexible back," becomes a human jump rope — they hold her by her hands and feet and twirl her around, he said.

The perch pole is 20 feet high and balanced on a man's shoulders while a woman "shrimies to the top of it" and does balancing maneuvers. The adagio act consists of balancing stunts in pairs.

The gymn wheel is 6.5 feet in diameter and someone stands inside of it and rolls around, turning all directions. The four rolling globes range from 24 inches to 36 inches in diameter. The acrobats climb stairs and ramps on the globes while they juggle.

The teeter board is set on a fulcrum, with one person standing on one end. Another person jumps on the other end, hurling the first into the air to do flips and other stunts.

Clifford "Pop" Horton began the circus in 1929. He came from Ohio Wesleyan University and brought the idea to ISU. It started with 12 men performing tumbling and vaulting exhibitions until women were allowed in the fraternity during World War II because of the shortage of men.

Gamma Phi added circus acts in the 1930s. Bloomington-Normal was a winter quartering house for circus people from the 1930s to the 1960s and the fraternity adopted the circus acts and some equipment from them.

There will be a jungle republic craft sale, a jungle cartoon tent and sidewalk chalk drawing to be offered all day long. The landlubber boat regatta, 1 to 3 p.m., is for those who wish not to get wet in the cardboard boat regatta.

Take a Mr. Bubble slip-n-slide ride from 2 to 3 p.m., or a chance at a prize in the quicksand grab for 25 cents, 2 to 4 p.m.

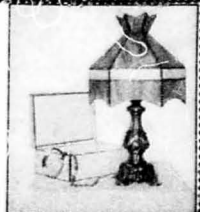

The Tarzan Trojan toss is scheduled

3-4 p.m. Crab soccer, played with a giant beachball, and the pogo stick race are scheduled from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Pictures of the elephant rides will be available for $1.50.

Springfest information booths will be in front of Shryock, where T-shirts and buttons will be on sale. A first aid station will be set up in front of Davies Gym and restrooms are inside Davies. Rain location is in the Student Center and Shryock.

Spackman triathlon to put athletes to a rigorous test

Athletes from across Southern Illinois will test their endurance in the Third Annual "Doc" Spackman Memorial Triathlon Saturday at SIU-C.

About 90 contestants are already registered for the event, which combines a quarter-mile swim, a five-mile bicycle ride and a two-mile run. Competition is in and around Campus Lake.

The event honors the late Robert "Doc" Spackman, longtime athletics trainer at SIU-C and nationally known expert on physical fitness.

The race begins at 8 a.m. at Campus

Beach. Participants must sign in between 6:30 and 7:30 a.m. and are responsible for providing their own equipment. Swim caps will be provided.

The deadline for pre-registration, fee $6, is 5 p.m. Friday. Those registering late will be charged $10. A part of the registration fee goes to support the "Doc" Spackman Scholarship Fund. The field will be limited to the first 300 entrants. Contestants must be at least 18 years old.

Prizes will be given to the top three male and female finishers in six age groups.

The anxious musical hit since it opened last year, this humorous, yet reverent story is retold by a group of professional actors and musicians. The music, performed by The Special Consensus Branson Band, is the last composed work of singer-songwriter Harry Chapin and considered to be "his best." All major church denominations have hailed this liberal adaptation of the legend. Dr. Clarence Jordan's Cotton Patch knowers of Matthew and John into one of the best family, stage entertainments to come along in years.

Saluki coach Ray Dorr will get a chance to evaluate his gridders during the annual Maroon-White game Saturday.

Maroon-White game tops springtime action

By Steve Merritt
Sports Editor

At 10 a.m. Saturday morning, the Saluki football squad will have a chance to leave impressions — impressions that will linger in the minds of coach Ray Dorr and his staff all summer long.

Needless to say, Dorr wants to improve on last year's 2-3 record in the inaugural Gateway Conference football season, and the 4-7 overall mark. And getting the jump on building a better program begins long before autumn, when fans fill the hillside or McAndrew Stadium with anticipation of thrilling Saluki outings.

As the final scrimmage of the spring practice season, Saturday's annual Maroon-and-White football scrimmage will let players prove their skills before returning in the fall to two-a-day practices.

After the scrimmage, Dorr has two days of practice scheduled that will be "slowed down," allowing Dorr and staff to make tips and pointers for the players to work on through summer.

Grading the team through their first 18 practices and first three scrimmages, Dorr said he is pleased with the team's progress even though the offense hasn't been as productive as he'd like to see.

"The defense is ahead of the offense at this point," Dorr said. "The No. 1 defense has really stymied the No. 1 offense so far this spring."

Dorr said that this was probably normal, since the offense had three key players at new positions and since the defense sees pretty much the same offense every day.

The total defensive picture looks good for Dorr, who lost two starters (defensive ends Sterling Haywood and Frank Carr) but will return eight from last year's starting defense.

The Salukis will use a four-man front in 1986, with three different front line formations to pick from in an attempt to keep the offense guessing. Added to the new front alignments are more stunting plays, all of which are designed to help against the run.

Dorr said he is very pleased with the performance of the three top linebackers (senior John Edwards, and juniors Rick Spielman and Ezell Shelton), adding that the trio should allow the "reduction defense" — letting one linebacker rove and move towards the ball — to be played effectively.

Defensive moves include junior Charles Bell from strong safety to outside linebacker and senior Anthony Woods to defensive end. Dorr said that although both seem to be good moves, Bell could be doing better.

"He's playing very well but he still isn't playing up to his potential," Dorr said of Bell. "I think both could turn out to be excellent moves, though."

Dorr said he was also pleased with the play of Ron Kirk, a red-shirt freshman making his mark in the spring showings. Dorr said Kirk was a strong candidate for the "rush end," a new concept to be tried this fall that gives the defensive end more freedom to hit the runner by lessening his pass defense responsibilities.

"We'll be tougher against the run, but we may not be as good against the pass," Dorr said. "We have a few new coverages and learning them can be somewhat difficult. We'll have a better picture of what's happening defensively in the fall."

On offense, the 1986 Salukis will use the same option offense that was installed last year, when Dorr decided to drop the I-formation. Dorr and staff

Pat King, who was second-string quarterback most of last season, will try to earn the starting job through his performance Saturday.

looked over such traditional option teams as Air Force, Washington State, Colorado and Arkansas to get some pointers and one should expect to see some new wrinkles on the offensive side.

With eight starters from last year's club returning, Dorr has a good starting place in forming the offense for next fall.

Last will be star center Tom Baugh and All-Conference guard Tim Redman, which has caused some shuffling in the offensive unit. Dorr said he likes the possibilities, though, and is not as concerned about offensive productivity as he was year ago at this time.

Major moves include Bruce Phibbs from running back — where he ground out 673 yards last season as the team's second leading rusher — to tight end, which frees Bobby Sloan from the end position he played last year and allows him to get back to his natural position at wide receiver.

"Phibbs is going to be a very good move," Dorr said. "He adds speed to the tight end position and he has the ability to make the catch in the clutch."

"Sloan has made several good plays in practice and I think both are going to be good moves for us," Dorr said.

One player getting attention after limited practice time is Anthony Vaughn, a redshirt freshman from Kirkwood, Mo. Vaughn, who also pitches for the junior varsity baseball team. He has been splitting his time between football and baseball but still managed to get the season's longest run from scrimmage — 60 yards — during last week's scrimmage.

Dorr said that sophomore Kevin Brown is the squad's No. 1 quarterback but added that Pat King is making good progress and will continue to pressure Brown for the starting role.

In another battle for a high-scoring position, senior Ron Miller is getting stiff competition from John Brda, who came to the Salukis when Drake dropped to Division III football.

Dorr will have 30 new faces (including recruits and walk-ons) reporting in the fall, when recruits and junior college transfers arrive for their first practices as Salukis.

Once things get back in swing, will be swamped during the first few weeks of the fall semester, as he organizes and plans for the upcoming season. Then he will prepare for the 11-game schedule that kicks off Aug. 30 at always-tough Arkansas State.

Van Halen, BTO slated for Saturday blowout

By Wm. Bryan DeVasher
Entertainment Editor

Van Halen and opening act Bachman Turner Overdrive will bring a taste of the old and new to cap off Springfest '86 at 8 p.m. in the Arena.

Van Halen has been riding a wave of popularity since its latest album, "5150," was released last month. The record has already spawned a hit single with "Why Can't This Be Love," and the band, with new frontman Sammy Hagar, has once again returned to the charts.

Hagar replaced David Lee Roth, the band's lead bad boy, whose departure from the group about eight months ago was a "mutual decision," Roth says.

Hagar has forged a very lucrative rock 'n' roll career on his own — first as a member of Montrose and later as a solo artist — and has numerous hits and platinum albums under his musical belt. The "Red Rocker," as Hagar is commonly called, is known for such barn-burning hits as "I Can't Drive 55," "Red," "Rock 'n' Roll Weekend" and "Three Lock Box," among others.

Van Halen and Hagar fans alike will be delighted to know that the band is performing songs from both performers' earlier material as part of the "5150" tour.

Van Halen has charted their own success in the music world ever since their first album, "Van Halen," was released in 1978. Led by guitarist Eddie Van Halen's unique "brown sound" guitar attack, the band has plotted a course to superstardom via hits like "Running with the Devil," "Jump," "Panama," "Hot for Teacher" and a remake of Roy Orbison's classic single, "Pretty Woman."

The band — augmented by drummer Alex Van Halen, whose skin pounding is among the best in rock 'n' roll today, and bassist Michael Anthony, who attacks the bass guitar much in the same way as the United States attacked Libya — has become one of today's most popular rock acts.

Hagar's addition to the group has aided Van Halen, allowing Eddie Van Halen to perform with and play off of another guitarist and to increase the use of keyboards in the band's musical melee. Hagar's addition is a musical blessing — not a curse, as many believe.

Opening the show will be Bachman Turner Overdrive, the hard rock thumpers who describe their music as "blue-collar rock 'n' roll." The band is on the comeback trail, having disbanded for a number of years before reassembling last year.

Fitness craze catches on in Senior Olympics

By Martin Folan
Staff Writer

With the fitness craze sweeping the country, the nation's elderly population wants to be sure it's involved.

Athletes 55 years of age and older will travel into Carbondale from all across the United States and Canada to take part in the second annual Southern Illinois Senior Olympic Games Friday and Saturday the SIU-C campus.

Participants will compete in track-and-field events, swimming, bicycling, bowling, court sports and accuracy events.

"It's fun competition," said Sally

Erickson, Senior Olympics area coordinator. "Many seniors are getting involved in physical fitness, and this gives them an opportunity to compete with others who are the same age."

Seventy participants from the North America continent are scheduled to compete in this year's Senior Olympic Games, Erickson said. "Anyone can participate. Last year we had a fella who was 95 years old."

Awards are given to first-, second- and third-place finishers in each event.

"Illinois has five Senior Olympics," she said. "In 1987, the National Senior Olympics will be held in St. Louis, Mo."

Don't be a dumbo and miss a chance for elephant rides

By Patricia Edwards
Staff Writer

Only a dumbo would fail to take advantage of the rare opportunity to perch atop an 8-foot-tall Indian elephant to discover the mysteries of the jungle, where the wild things are.

The Student Programming Council has managed to secure the kindly beast, a process which took nearly a year, to give rides at this year's Springfest, said Connie LeBeau, SPC organizer who booked the elephant.

The rides are free to the public and will be offered from 1 to 5 p.m.

Saturday in the Old Main Mall.

The 18-year-old elephant, which weighs about 18,000 pounds, will sport a decorated chair that can hold four to five adults or eight to 10 children at a time.

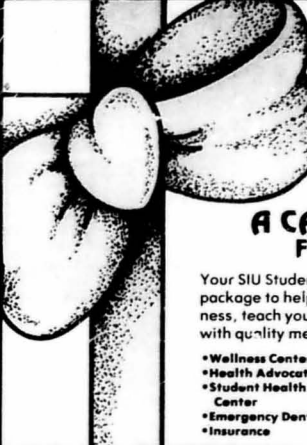

The elephant which has no name, and has been traveling the fair circuit all its life. It's in Chattanooga, Tenn, patiently awaiting its chance to ferry about festive or daring sorts at Springfest.

Poloroid pictures will be offered to capture the moment for 50 cents.

The Piranha Brothers will open things up with their mainstream rock style and collection of original tunes.

A virtuoso on the harmonica, award-winning bluesmaster Sugar Blue will close out the Miller Mainstage concerts.

Hot Chicago rockers to heat up Springfest

Three of the hottest bands out of Chicago will take over the steps of Shryock Auditorium Saturday at Springfest '86.

The Piranha Bros. will bring their brand of traditional rock'n'roll to the Miller Main Stage on the steps of Shryock Auditorium at 11 a.m. Saturday. They will perform until 1:15 p.m.

The Piranha Bros. played at SIU-C last summer during the Sunset Concert series. The band performs music ranging from covers of 1960s tunes to the works of Elvis Costello, as well as some of their original material.

From 1:45 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Rude Guest takes over where the Piranha Bros. leave off. Springfest marks the first Carbondale appearance of the ska-reggae group, which features guitarist Daryl Thompson. Thompson has played with reggae legend with Peter Tosh and has won a Grammy award for the album "Anthem," which he did with Black Uhuru.

Rude Guest has performed on college campuses across the country, and the band has toured in tandem with Fishbone, another ska-reggae band, and Yellowman.

Sugar Blue wraps up the Springfest concert schedule, performing on the main stage from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Sugar Blue is an internationally known harmonica player who blends jazz, rock and traditional blues into his own unique form of music. He has made guest appearances on albums by such rock'n'roll acts as the Rolling Stones, and he has provided harmonica backing for Texas' own neo-blues king Stevie Ray Vaughn. Sugar Blue also has earned the moniker of being possible the best harmonica player in the world because of his superb harp style.

Sugar Blue has also made award-winning music, and last year he walked away with a Grammy for Best Traditional Blues Performance at the annual music ceremony.

Rude Guest will bring their reggae-ska style to the Shryock steps as the second group of performers.
