SIU Researchers Encouraged By Results in Cancer Work

A promising new experimental approach to the treatment of breast cancer has been announced by an SIU research team.

Chemist Roger Beyler and endocrinologist George Gass say a group of hormone-based synthetics they have reproduced have apparently slowed down the growth of breast tumors in laboratory rats. The range of growth inhibition was 40 to 80 per cent when compared with an untreated group.

The compounds are known cancer producing or inhibiting hormones with a nitrogen mustard molecular grouping tacked on. The hypothesis was that the physiologically active hormone would "target" on a tumor site where the mustard agent would then work to slow or stop its growth. First returns seem to indicate that this does happen.

Confirmation tests of some synthetic compounds with various kinds of cancer will be done through the Cancer Chemotherapy National Service Center in Washington, Gass said.

While the same technique has been attempted by other researchers, Beyler has synthesized his compounds by substituting the nitrogen mustard group on a different part of the host molecule. The rearrangement doesn't interfere with the several main active chemical functions of the molecule.

While this process is laborious and the amounts produced are necessarily small, Beyler and his co-workers have synthesized 13 compounds with various hormonal base components.

All 13 components tested proved effective up some degree, a finding that Gass called "statistically remarkable." Gass, who has been working cancer research for the past 19 years both with the Food and Drug Administration and SIU, said "this is the most exciting thing I've ever run across in my studies. Thousands and thousands of chemical compounds have been screened in cancer research, with predictable misses. To come up with 13 straight hits, no matter how inconclusive at this stage, is unusual."

He cautioned that the limits of the study prevent any final evaluation of the technique right now. For one thing, because of the scarcity of the synthetics and of a special breed of rats required, no data has been gathered on response to various dose levels.

"We can't even say for sure what might be the toxic level," Gass said. "But the facts remain: the growth rate of breast tumors was drastically reduced in all our experiments."

Police Inquiry Uncovers Clues In Local Men's Store Looting

Police investigation of Tuesday night's burglary of Goldsmith's clothing store has turned up several "Definite leads," Carbondale Police Chief Jack Hazel said Thursday.

The men's furnishings store at 811 S. Illinois Ave. was entered sometime between 7 p.m. and 1:15 p.m. Tuesday. Jerry Barger, store manager, said about 180 suits were taken in the burglary.

A complete inventory of the store's stock is planned for Sunday, Barger said. He added that a cost estimate would be determined at that time.

Barger, who left the store at 7 p.m., said the burglary was discovered by a night watchman. Entry was made by forcing the front door.

Primary Election Slated Tuesday For City Hopefuls

Citizens of Carbondale will vote in a primary election Tuesday which promises to be the most lively in at least eight years.

There are four candidates for mayor and nine for city council.

Incumbent D. Blaney Miller will face his first declared opposition for mayor in David Keene, Thomas North and Jesse Groves.

Miller had only write-in opposition when he received 2,522 votes to 71 for B.D. Hudgens, in 1959, and 1,781 to 619 for Donald L. Ludlow in 1963.

The primary pits five candidates backed by the Citizens of Carbondale for Progress against the organization of Committee for Keene, Kirk and Nelson, and five independents.

Backed by the Progress group are Miller and City Council candidates A.E. Ramsey, Joseph Ragsdale, Sidney Schoen and Archie Jones. Ramsey and Ragsdale are incumbents.

Running on the same slate with Keene are Council candidates Frank Kirk, incumbent, and Randall Nelson.

Independents are North, Groves, and Council aspirants Kenneth Miller, Lynn Holder and William Eaton.

Citizens will vote for one candidate for mayor and four for Council. From these, the two highest vote-getters for mayor and the eight highest for Council will run in the April 18 general election. One ballot will be used.

The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Five judges will be on duty at each polling place in the 11 precincts.

The polling places for Tuesday's election are:

- Precinct 1, Swindell Motors, 608 N. Illinois Ave.; 2, Isoms Grocery, 821 N. Marion St.; 3, Vogler Motor Co., 301 N. Illinois Ave.; 4, 427 E. Willow St.; 5, Our Saviour Lutheran Church, 501 W. Main St.; 6, City Hall fire station, 222 E. Main St.; 7, West Side fire station, 300 S. Oakland Ave.; 8, Lantana Baptist Church education building, 413 S. Graham St.; 9, St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, 404 W. Mill St.; 10, 400 E. Stoker St.; 11, Student Christian Foundation, 913 W. Illinois Ave.

Voters need not be registered for Tuesday's election. They will be required to sign an affidavit swearing that they meet Illinois residence requirements of one year in the state, 90 days in the county, and 30 days in the precinct.

Experimental Program Examines the Thirties

Sixty-five of the University School junior class have turned the clock back about 30 years.

The group is in the final stages of a month-long experimental humanities program designed to outline remnants of the depression years which still influence culture of the sixties, according to Roger E. Robinson, principal of the school.

First ideas for the program came last spring when faculty members started discussing the need for a course which broke down barriers of subject matter, Robinson said.

Plans for just one course to handle the experiment gave way to an intensive four-week program. Members of the junior class were dismissed from their afternoon classes for a month to devote time to the program, he said.

Featured in the study of the 1930s were a trip to the St. Louis Art Gallery, lectures by University professors and presentation of student projects.

"The program gave students a lot of independence to develop projects dealing with morals, sciences, arts and humor of the period. Enthusiasm on the part of the staff and students has been phenomenal," according to Lawrence J. Dennis, research assistant for the program.

Projects included films with Mae West, Cary Grant and

The Rev. Mr. Gillespie will then speak on "The Religious Basis of Conscientious Objection," followed by a talk on "Some Responses of Conscientious Objectors to the Law," by William S. Minor, director of the Foundation for Creative Philosophy of Carbondale.

After a break for lunch, the conference will resume at 1 p.m. Stephen Wasby, assistant professor of government, will speak on "The Court's Interpretation of the Law." The meeting will conclude with Jack Hanley, chairman of the Jackson County Board of the Selective Service System, speaking on "The Local Board's Function."

Mr. Gillespie has served as unofficial campus adviser to conscientious objectors for the past four years and is registered with several national organizations which provide services for the "CO's."

Saturday's conference is being sponsored by the Inter-Faith Council and Student Government.

DRAFT CONFERENCE PLANNERS—Three speakers and three student participants in a conference on conscientious objectors and the draft met this week. Standing are Peter Aranson (left) and the Rev. Carbondale Needs University's Ideas

In a position statement released Friday Sidney R. Schoen, a candidate for the Carbondale City Council, said the biggest problem facing the city is the lack of understanding between the town and the University.

Schoen's solution to the lack of understanding between the two groups is, "It should be brought to the attention of the officials of the University that we (the city) do not need nor solicit interference in local, political and economic affairs not connected with the University."

It seems strange that Schoen thinks that communication between the two groups can be improved by telling the University to mind its own business and remove itself from the affairs of the town.

The number of students, faculty and staff members of the University equal the number of Carbondale residents.

The academic community has as much of a stake in the affairs of the community as any other group. This is especially true when the University provides the bulk of the economic base for Carbondale.

Since when does fair representation in the city's management constitute "interference?"

Schoen also stated that it is his desire to "protect the rights of the merchants, professional people, property owners and citizens at large of Carbondale against small pressure groups dedicated to selfish interests."

We wonder if this "small pressure group" is the 20,000 people connected with SIU. Who is to protect the student against substandard housing, unethical business practices, high rents, and rising prices?

Schoen said he didn't think the University should "invade fields of retailing (and) real estate."

Does this mean that the University should not provide dormitories or the campus book store?

Save for moving the Illinois Central station north of town, Schoen's platform is based on relegating the academic community to a position of having no voice in the direction of the community.

He has offered no positive proposals for elevation of community ills such as traffic, slum conditions, industrial development, tax and fiscal problems or community development.

Schoen's program would serve to drive the University and the city further apart. This is about the last thing Carbondale needs.

Letter to the Editor

Council Shows Indifferent Attitude Toward Citizens

To the editor:
Several times during the past two years residents of northeast Carbondale visited the city council to seek help and information on problems that have existed in their neighborhood for years. It was made clear to all present that the mayor and council would prefer to conduct their business without such unscheduled interruptions from the common citizenry.

In an effort to build a better neighborhood, over 80 residents from the northeast visited council meetings time after time. These citizens were seeking improved streets, street lighting, traffic signs, storm sewers, sidewalks and repair or demolition of dilapidated buildings. On only one of these occasions were the citizens treated with any courtesy. Presumably the issues mentioned above are legitimately city council business but the citizens were treated as if they were outsiders, unimportant, and wasting the valuable time of the council.

Some of the responses from the Honorable Mayor were:

1. In reference to dilapidated buildings, "... We can't start ... tomorrow ..."
2. In answer to one citizen's disagreement, "... we can't settle problems if you come up here with a chip on your shoulder ..."

3. In answer to why parking and maintenance, "... we can't do it ..."

of hearing that it takes time but it does take time ..."

On May 18, 1965 a letter to the council explained that the residents of northeast Carbondale were not asking for special treatment for the neighborhood, but for equal treatment. The Council and the mayor have yet to comment on this letter.

Then on Jan. 27 of this year a different group of citizens who opposed the council-manager form of government visited a Council meeting. This group, known as Citizens for Progress, visited not to discuss the usual city business, but to complain about something someone was supposed to have said. The issue at hand was no more substantive than gossip and the evidence presented was hearsay. The encounter was obviously a political maneuver of a particular group trying to obscure the fact that they had vigorously opposed the city manager form of government. This so-called discussion was allowed to continue at length without any attempt from the mayor to restore the meeting to relevant city business.

These events lead to the question, "Why the unequal treatment?" Is financial influence the factor that determines which citizens of Carbondale may take an active interest in their city government?

It is intended that this letter be read at the next City Council meeting.

Radicals, Yet!

To the editor:

A member of the Citizens for Progress slate has been reported as saying that a small group of radicals from the University is trying to do something dreadful in the upcoming primary election in Carbondale.

The absurdity of this reminded me of the scare-sheet put out by the Citizens for Progress a few days before the Council-Manager election last spring.

I suppose we can expect to be treated to another such denunciation of progress by the Citizens for Progress just before the primary on February 28th.

Card Burning Not Justified

A Court of Appeals decision, now left standing, is that burning draft cards and free speech are not the same thing. It is a reasonable decision, regardless of how one feels about the plight of young people facing conscription for a war they morally oppose. The law against burning draft cards in no way interferes with the right to speak out against the war.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Candidates' Opinions

The nine city council candidates who will be on the ballot in Carbondale's city primary election Tuesday have expressed a variety of opinions about the major problems facing the community.

The candidates were invited by letter to present their views to the Daily Egyptian. Their comments concerning issues facing the city are presented on this and the next page.

(Note: Candidate William Eaton was invited to submit a picture for publication on this page but did not have one available.)

Joseph Ragsdale

Incumbent Joseph R. Ragsdale Jr., a candidate for reelection to the City Council, says his experience on the city council and life-long residence in Carbondale are his main reasons for running for office.

Ragsdale sees as Carbondale's major problems traffic congestion, increasingly inadequate water and sewer facilities, need to depress the Illinois Central tracks, need for improved streets and an inadequate student-citizen for improved streets and an inadequate student-citizen relationship.

Ragsdale said the City Council is currently working on solutions to the first five problems listed above, and "these programs should be pushed through to a satisfactory completion."

He believes the council should initiate action to help the citizens-students relationships.

"It is my opinion that the city manager system can be proven to be very beneficial to the city of Carbondale over a long period of time," Ragsdale stated.

Commenting on traffic congestion, Ragsdale said he feels "we must accept the one-way couple system and perhaps the re-routing of the through traffic can come later."

Ragsdale said he believes the students "should be made to feel more welcome during their stay at SIU."

Ragsdale was born in DeSoto, is married, and has four children. He is a graduate of Carbondale Community High School and attended Kansas State University.

He is a veteran of World War II and was awarded the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart. He is a realtor with Area Realty Co.

Ragsdale is a member of St. Francis Xavier Church, several fraternal organizations and the Jackson County Housing Authority. He is a past member of the Board of Education of School District 165. He has served one term on the city council.

Randall H. Nelson

"Carbondale has an accumulation of problems respecting services which must be solved with limited revenue," according to City Council candidate Randall H. Nelson.

Other problems include "underemployment and inadequate housing for some of its people, . . . and a lack of leadership, knowledge, and imagination among some of the elected officials which has prevented coordinated efforts toward the solution of the city's problems," Nelson stated.

To solve these problems, Nelson would institute a long-range planning program, strive to bring in industry, and utilize resources of University, state and federal programs.

Nelson called the city manager system "the best solution to the city's administrative and financial problems." Nelson said construction of a limited access bypass around the city is "dependent on the availability of state highway funds." He advocates installation of one-way couples for the present.

Nelson proposes a "candid exchange" of opinions with students and a "mutual relationship" between the city and students. Nelson called for cooperation between the city and SIU, including better communication.

Nelson, a native of Mobile, is married and has two sons. He served as a captain in the Army and was awarded the Bronze Star and Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster.

He received a bachelor's, master's and doctoral degree from the University of Michigan. He is a professor of government at SIU and author of a textbook on American government.

William E. Eaton

William E. Eaton is running for re-election to the City Council "to see that our new form of government receives every chance to develop and achieve the success that is bound to come..." and "to see that our city administration is alert and sensitive to the needs of the community."

Eaton thinks that the "most obvious physical problem is the traffic congestion." To solve this problem, he proposed development of more cross-town connectors, completion of the one-way couples that are now proposed for University and Illinois Avenues and Main and Walnut Streets, relocation of railroad facilities, and on a long range basis re-routing of through traffic when the expense is justified.

"Another major problem facing this community is the need to broaden the economic base," Eaton added. "The city council can help to fill this need by keeping the capacity of utilities sufficient to meet the needs of industrial growth and to stimulate and encourage groups to solicit and encourage new industry."

Eaton traced friction between the University community and Carbondale to the period when SIU growth outstripped the city's ability to handle it. To remove this friction, Eaton believes formation of more advisory groups to the Council would increase cooperation and communication.

"The city manager system will become the best form of government for Carbondale," Eaton stated.

Eaton is a partner with Eugene Brown and operates the Eaton and Brown Appliance Center and the Southern Gas Inc. in Carbondale.

A native of Makanda, Eaton is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

He is a past president of the Lions Club and a member of the Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce. He has served two terms on the city council and is currently mayor pro-tempore.

Lynn C. Holder

Lynn C. Holder, candidate for City Council, said his candidacy is based on his "interest in the immediate and future needs of our community." Basic to meeting these needs is "the competency of . . . leadership."

Holder said the city manager form of government is the "best (means) of handling our varied problems and is "the best deterrent to special interest and special privilege-seeking groups."

The two most important issues, according to Holder, are traffic and parking problems and need for new sources of revenue. Means of solving these problems would be institution of one-way north-south and east-west couples and left turns, and attraction of industry.

Holder supports a plan for removal of facilities of the Illinois Central to yards north of Carbondale and depression of remaining tracks.

Holder pledges full support of and cooperation with SIU if elected. He opposes any additional taxes.

Goals he would work for include "sound handling and appropriate use of public funds; full utilization of state and federal funds available for the development of new industry; and proper evaluation and enforcement of zoning codes."

Holder, who has been a resident of Carbondale for 44 years, is varsity golf coach and assistant to the head of intercollegiate athletics at SIU.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Southern and a master's from Indiana University. He served as a lieutenant in the Navy and as assistant inspector general in the Illinois National Guard. He is married and has four sons.

Candidates' Views

Kenneth R. Miller

Kenneth R. Miller is running for the city council because "a large number of Carbondale private citizens and businessmen personally requested that I seek public office" and because election "would be an extension of my previous duties in Carbondale community activities."

Miller listed four basic problems facing Carbondale: insufficient revenue, need for "much improved traffic safety," need for improved communications between the University and the business community, and need for new industrial and business firms.

He named three approaches to solving these problems: "involving more citizens in planning; searching for additional sources of revenue; and receiving and increasing amount of leadership from the city administration."

Miller called the city manager system "a 'must' for this city at this time."

Miller advocated studying recommendations of traffic and highway engineers to determine if re-routing of through traffic is necessary and feasible.

Miller said three groups must be considered in improving relations: town, students and University administration. "The need is for regular meetings between representatives of these three groups, and these meetings should be held more often than they are now," Miller said. He said he feels "town-gown" relations have improved "a great deal over what they were when I arrived here nine years ago."

Miller, who has been a Carbondale resident since 1958, is a member of the First Presbyterian Church. He is married and has three children.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Ohio State University, a master's degree from Butler University and is working on a doctorate at Southern.

He is currently president of the Carbondale Park District and a member of the Citizens Advisory Council, the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce. His is presently director of the SIU Foundation.

Sidney R. Schoen

Candidate for City Council Sidney R. Schoen cites as Carbondale's major problem the lack of understanding between two groups.

He identifies one group as "the taxpayers, business and professional people of Carbondale, and most of the people employed by and associated with SIU." The other group is "a small vocal number of self-styled academicians that in (Schoen's) estimation border on the radical," according to Schoen.

"It should . . . be brought to the attention of officials of the University that we do not need nor solicit interference in local, political and economic affairs connected with the University," Schoen said.

"We do not establish or dictate curriculum, and by like token, I do not feel that radical men of science or letters are qualified in business," Schoen said.

Schoen called traffic congestion in downtown Carbondale the city's most neglected problem and said he advocates moving passenger, division office, freight and switching facilities of the IC to the yards north of town.

Schoen said he intends to give complete and sincere cooperation to the city manager as long as the city manager works "for the benefit of citizens of Carbondale."

Schoen said he advocates "a constructive approach with cooperative people to continue what I now consider a standard equal to or above average in community relations" with SIU.

Schoen, a native of St. Louis, is married and has two children. For the last 30 years I have been in oil, grain, real estate and banking," Schoen said.

Archie Jones

Archie Jones' "deep interest in the affairs of our city" and his concern for "a larger and more effective voice for the citizens" led him to file for election to the City Council.

Jones identified as major problems traffic congestion, caused in part by the Illinois Central tracks running through town, lack of employment for the unskilled, and need for more housing, sidewalks and wider streets in certain areas.

Other problems are "a need for better understanding between SIU and city problems," and "methods of receiving revenue," Jones said.

Jones said studies by engineers and other experts should be used to solve the traffic problems. One-way traffic on Main and Walnut and University and Illinois would help, he said. Depression of the IC tracks might be feasible and would definitely help solve traffic problems, Jones added.

Jones called the city manager form of government "the best form . . . for the operation of our city."

Frank A. Kirk

Incumbent Frank A. Kirk "would like to help... the new council-manager system... achieve its full potential" is he is successful in his bid for re-election to a City Council seat.

He identifies an inadequate tax base, poverty and poor housing, traffic congestion and need for comprehensive planning as Carbondale's major problems.

If elected, Kirk says he would attempt to solve them by attracting new industry, which he says would combat the poverty, housing and inadequate tax base.

A program to attract industry "should combine grass-roots support and professional skill," including University personnel, Kirk said.

Traffic problems can be solved by relocation of the IC's downtown facilities and depression of the tracks, with grade separated crossings all through town; installation of east-west feeder routes and east-west and north-south one-way streets.

Kirk also called for professional planning assistance for the Plan Commission and the city manager to provide long-range planning.

Kirk supports long-range plans for routing through traffic around Carbondale but said present needs are for feeder routes through town.

"There is far too much bad feeling" between Carbondale and SIU students, Kirk said, "caused in part by an almost complete absence of communication." He said the city should take the lead in opening a dialogue with students to air the problems, then try to find a more permanent solution.

Kirk, a native of Buffalo, is married and has two children. He is coordinator in the President's Office, SIU, and has served as regional director of the Illinois Board of Economic Development.

Kirk is chairman of the Citizen's Advisory Committee and of the Railroad Relocation Authority. He is a member of the Unitarian Fellowship.

Gene Ramsey

A.E. (Gene) Ramsey is running for re-election to the city council because he knows "the problems of the city and what the people would like to see done."

Ramsey believes traffic congestion is the most pressing problem facing the city. To relieve the congestion, Ramsey said plans which have been presented to the council "should be considered in all aspects before making any definite solutions." These include one-way couples north-south and east-west, left turn signals at intersections and relocation of the railroad facilities.

"I did not take any part, publicly, in the election for or against the city manager form of government," Ramsey stated. He pledged full cooperation with the city manager "to be sure that this form of government works in Carbondale."

Ramsey said he is not sure at this time whether bypasses are needed around the city. "... Less than 10 per cent of the traffic through downtown is through traffic," Ramsey said.

"I believe there has been a lack of communications and understanding between Carbondale and SIU students," Ramsey said. Expansion of city council contact with the SIU student government would help the situation, Ramsey added.

A major problem for SIU students is the high cost of rent, food and other services, Ramsey said. He believes this will change with the normal economic means of operations.

Ramsey has lived in Carbondale since 1949. He was an lighting engineer for Central Illinois Public Service Co. for 15 years and a partner in an electrical contracting firm for three years. At present he is an industrial development representative for Southern Illinois Power Cooperative, Inc.

Ramsey has been active in United Fund, Boy Scouts, YMCA and fraternal organizations. He is married and has two children. He has served on term on the city council.

Jones believes meetings of representatives of groups from SIU and the city should be held "to meet and discuss the problems facing each." Both sides "have rights and responsibilities that must be respected," Jones said.

Re-routing of through traffic depends on engineers' studies, cost and financing, Jones stated.

Jones was born in Saline County and was principal of the old Attucks Grade School in Carbondale. He served as an administrator of southern Illinois grade schools for 44 years before retiring.

He holds a bachelor's and a master's degree from SIU. He is a former justice of peace and is treasurer of Bethel AME Church and a board member of the Kiwanis Club.

Jones is a member of the Citizens Advisory Council, treasurer of the Community Council and of the Community Conservation Board, and a former member of the Plan Commission.

Independent Study of Thirties Ends Favorably at U-School

Laurel and Hardy, a radio newscast from 1937, a soap opera, a simulated post-depression newspaper, Franklin D. Roosevelt cartoons and a small band playing tunes from the thirties, Dennis said.

"Students were encouraged to start from a point of their own interest and expand. We didn't have a body of material to teach them; they made their own. It is more or less a pre-college situation."

Planning was left to the students.

"The boys who showed the Laurel and Hardy movie had to do everything from finding where they might get such a film to presenting it to the rest of the students, Dennis said.

"The leader of the band from the thirties was rather disturbed when I wouldn't tell him what tunes he might play. But he and the rest of the band did the necessary research and came up with a very good selection.

"Some of the tunes were 'Whispering,' and 'Dancing in the Dark.'"

Grades for the program will be submitted to the teachers of the classes the students would normally attend. The teachers may use the grades as they see fit.

"One advantage is that there is no standard the participants have to attain. Evaluation is based on their own merit and interest," Dennis said.

"As far as I know, no other school has come up with such a program," he added.

Dennis did not know whether the program, which ended this week, would be offered next year.

VISITING ARTIST---Robert Erickson, former staff member of the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, will be at SIU Feb. 27 through March 5 as visiting artist on the Department of Music.

ISN'T IT TRUE, Mayor Miller, that you didn't tell us all the facts?

Isn't it true that the population of Carbondale would have doubled in the last 15 years even if you hadn't been Mayor?

Isn't it true that you are claiming credit for new street lights, new garbage pick-up and disposal system, and new sidewalks when these were actually initiated within the City Council by Councilman Frank Kirk?

Isn't it true that Carbondale lost 4 to 5 hundred jobs when the Good Luck Glove Company closed its doors, and 2 hundred more jobs when the Kroger Company closed its district office?

Isn't it true that the real credit for bringing Technical Tape to Carbondale belongs to Congressman Kenneth Gray?

Isn't it true that most of the Industrial Park is lying vacant?

Isn't it true that the real leadership for the Council Manager referendum came from the Citizens Advisory Committee, the League of Women Voters, and the Southern Illinoisan?

Isn't it true that you were unwilling to take a public stand on the City Manager form of government and privately worked against it?

Isn't it true that as soon as the Council-Manager system was adopted by the voters you attempted to take the police chief and the fire chief out from under the supervision of the City Manager?

Isn't it true that the Carbondale Police Department is under the merit system only because it is required by state law?

Isn't it true that the street to Lewis School was not donated by the City but half paid for by the school system?

Isn't it true that you did not cooperate with the High School Board in its request for temporary sewer lines to the new high school?

Isn't it true that the City has for years refused to let the Park District use the water area of the city reservoir for recreational purposes?

Isn't it true that at first you agreed with the SIU administration to relocate the railroad tracks and then later shifted ground when that issue got too hot to handle?

Isn't it true that, as the liquor control commissioner, you have been consistently unable to learn enough of the facts to prosecute those who sell liquor to minors?

Isn't it true that the polls are open from 6:00 AM to 6:00 PM, not 6:30 AM to 6:00 PM?

The voters know the facts: It's time for a change! For honesty, competence, and pride in the government of this city

U. S. Troops, Jets Involved In Biggest Offense of War

SAIGON (AP)—About 45,000 U.S. troops and scores of jet bombers hammered against light sniper fire Thursday in the Viet Cong's main bailiwick, the jungled War Zone C, in the most massive offensive of the Vietnam war.

Infantrymen deployed to form a huge horseshoe-shaped trap, which American officers hoped would catch the Viet Cong's political leadership as well as hard-core military units that have ranged the area for 20 years.

More than 10 per cent of all the American servicemen in Vietnam were directly committed to the drive, centered 60 miles northwest of Saigon and encompassing a 250-square-mile area of Tay Ninh Province adjacent to neutralist Cambodia's frontier.

The drive, called Operation Junction City, was launched in secret before dawn Wednesday with the first American combat parachute jump since the Korean War. The biggest previous offensive in Vietnam was Operation Cedar Falls, in which 30,000 Americans combed the Viet Cong's Iron Triangle north of Saigon in January.

The full scope of the new operation, the third in four months within War Zone C, came to light on a day that also saw:

Disclosure that more American and Communist troops were killed in combat last week than in any week since the bloody battle of the Ia Drang Valley Nov. 14-20, 1965. U.S. headquarters said 172 Americans and 2,029 of the enemy were killed, compared to the record for the 1965 period, 246 Americans and 2,262 Communists.

Return of two U.S. soldiers who the Viet Cong announced were released Feb. 7. Reported in fair condition though suffering from malnutrition, Sgt. Sammie W. Womack of Farmville, Va., and Pfc. Charles Earle Crafts of North Jay, Maine, showed up at an American post 35 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said both were taken immediately to a medical facility for treatment.

A report by U.S. headquarters of a single-day record of 575 sorties by American tactical bombers over South Vietnam Wednesday, including War Zone C strikes. The previous high for such single combat flights was 565 on Feb. 5. Other planes flew 79 missions over North Vietnam. Pilots said they destroyed three storage buildings and set several fires at the Vinh Yen ammunition depot, 80 miles west of Hanoi.

U.S. B52 jet Stratofortresses paved the way for Operation Junction City with four raids in quick succession earlier this week and added another Thursday. Lighter planes dumped hundreds of tons of explosives in 416 sorties Wednesday and Thursday.

The first man out in the parachute jump Wednesday was Brig. Gen. John R. Deane Jr., San Francisco, commander of the 173rd Airborne Brigade. He led a battalion of 750 of the brigade's paratroopers tumbling from C130 transports to form a blocking force at Katum, less than five miles from the Cambodian frontier. Field guns were parachuted to earth for their support.

"Initial enemy opposition was scattered and U.S. casualties were very light," the U.S. Command announced.

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL

25th Amendment Certified by LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson hailed Thursday the end of 180 years of uncertainty over how to keep the government functioning when the president becomes disabled.

He spoke at a White House ceremony in which he witnessed the certification of the 25th Amendment to the Constitution, establishing procedures for dealing with presidential disability and for filling a vacancy in the office of vice president.

Johnson recalled that the founding fathers, in the closing days of the Constitutional Convention, debated the question of presidential disability. He said John Dickinson of Delaware asked, "What is the extent of the term 'disability' and who is to be the judge of it?"

"No one replied," Johnson said. "It is hard to believe that until last week, the Constitution provided no clear answer. Now, at last, the 25th Amendment clarifies the crucial clause that provides for succession to the presidency and for filling a vice-presidential vacancy."

'Powell Should Be Seated, Fined $40,000'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A select House committee accused Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Thursday of "gross misconduct" and recommended that he be seated, censured and required to pay $40,000.

The money would be for funds the committee said Powell has "wrongfully and willfully appropriated" over the past three years.

In a report signed by all nine members, the committee also proposed that the controversial New York Democrat be shorn of his entire 22 years of House seniority.

The committee's report will be laid before the House next Wednesday. If approved, it would require Powell to take the oath of office by March 13 or else his seat would be declared vacant.

The committee found that Powell meets constitutional qualifications of age, citizenship and inhumanity in New York and therefore is entitled to the seat from which he has been barred since Jan. 10, when the House voted 364 to 64 to require him to stand aside pending an investigation of charges that he misused government travel funds.

The report said Powell's refusal to cooperate with the select committee was "contemptuous and was conduct unworthy of a member."

Although all members signed the report, a statement noted that Rep. Claude Pepper, D - Fla., "feels strongly that Mr. Powell should not be a member of the House," and that Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., "believes that punishment of Mr. Powell beyond severe censure is improper."

KAREN BEDWELL

Angel Flight Queen Faces Busy Year

By Dan Van Atta

A busy year is in store for Karen Bedwell, the 1967-68 Angel Flight queen.

Miss Bedwell, who was born in Chicago but has lived most of her life in Carbondale, is a sophomore in her second year with the Angel Flight. As queen, she will represent the AFROTC in many capacities during the next year.

This spring Miss Bedwell will head the annual AFROTC Awards Ceremony and formally present awards to each of this year's outstanding cadets.

In March, Miss Bedwell will represent the corps at the regional convention at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. She will also represent SIU at the Angel Flight national convention in Miami, Fla., in April.

In the fall, Miss Bedwell will serve as Angel Flight executive officer. As such she will be responsible for training the incoming pledges.

"Any girl can become an Angel Flight pledge," she said. "But the most important criteria by which we judge the pledges are talent, poise, personality and general appearance."

"When I say talent," she explained, "I mean that all of the girls must be able to sing, dance, or play a musical instrument." Although about 200 girls try out each fall, she said, only about 30 are selected.

Miss Bedwell performs with the Anglaires, the chorus of the Angel Flight, before campus events, civic clubs, and local radio and television.

Students Form Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental Society

About 40 students have organized a society seeking insights and study of various aspects of the field of medicine and dentistry.

The Pre-Medical and Pre-Dental Society was formed officially in August of 1966 and has become an active group for student planning to enter the medical field.

About 300 students on campus are eligible for membership in the society, Franklin

A. Phillips, president of the group, said.

Monthly meetings are scheduled in which area doctors, dentists and specialists inform students of their particular areas of medicine. Alternate monthly meetings are also scheduled for discussion, question and answer, and project sessions.

A. W. Richardson, professor of physiology, is the society sponsor. Officers in addition to Phillips are William Leonard, vice president; Fred H. Schmidt, treasurer; John H. Sauper, secretary of medical information; Mike Richter, secretary of dental information; and Linda L. Busenbark, corresponding secretary.

Phillips said students seeking a premedical or pre dental background are invited to attend the next meeting on March 7 or contact him for information at 549-5137.

Dr. Hugh D. McGowan, Carbondale obstetrician, will speak at the March 7 meeting at 7 p.m. in French Auditorium of the Life Science Building.

In addition to providing speakers and discussion sessions, Phillips said advisory functions in planning a medical career are offered by the society.

For Heart Fund Drive

Phi Sig's to Solicit Funds

The annual Heart Fund Drive sponsored by the Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity will be held Saturday on the corner of Main Street and Illinois Avenue.

Bob Neader, a senior from Riverdale, was appointed by the fraternity as chairman.

All proceeds that are collected go to the Regional Heart Association Fund in Carbondale. Wayne Quick from the regional office in Carbondale said the money is used for research and the cure of heart diseases.

"One million people in the United States die each year from different heart ailments," he said, and "over 35 million dollars was collected by volunteer workers throughout the U.S. last year."

The Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity has been donating its services for the past five years and it is the goal of the members to surpass the $600 mark that was collected last year.

Record Stands at 7-5

Evansville Freshmen Defeat SIU Yearlings by 4 Points

The Saluki freshmen dropped their fifth game of the year Wednesday night to Evansville's undefeated frosh squad 74-70.

The Salukis, who now own a 7-5 record, pulled into an early lead in the game and took a three-point advantage into the dressing room, but some sharp shooting by the aces' Rex Morgan pulled Evansville out in the final moments.

Morgan scored 25 points on the night and pulled down 11 rebounds. Evansville's other big gun was Larry Holmes, who grabbed 15 rebounds and scored 18 points.

The Salukis' Burce Butchko scored 21 from his pivot position, moving a step closer to the freshman scoring record. Butchko moved to within 18 points of this goal with his performance Wednesday. He has three games to crack this and three other scoring marks: the field goal mark of 133, the free-throw mark and the average points a game record.

Three of these four standards are presently held by Walt Frazier. Butchko also has an outside shot at the total rebound record.

The freshmen's remaining three games are against Bradley, Kentucky Wesleyan and St. Louis University.

Southern plays Bradley's freshmen tonight at 8 in the Arena. Admission price is 25 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Bradley carried a 7-3 into Wednesday night's game against Cincinnati. The Braves have defeated St. Louis, which took the measure of the Saluki freshmen earlier, and Drake, among others. They have lost to Canton Junior College 77-76, Illinois Valley Junior College 74-68 and Kaskaskia Junior College.

NIT Selects Six But Not Southern

By Tom Wood

Officials of New York's National Invitational Tournament announced Thursday that they had extended invitations to six teams.

SIU was not included in this group, made up of Syracuse, Rutgers, Providence, St. Peter's of New Jersey, Memphis State and Marquette.

The NIT will name eight more teams to complete its 14 team field for the tourney, which begins Mar. 9. It is not known when the final announcements will be made, since officials must await several conference races. They invite several conference runners-up annually. Although there was no word, Athletic Director Donald N. Boydston said that he felt fairly optimistic about the situation. He said that he hoped to know of any decisions by today and felt that this would probably be the case.

At the Arena, most people are staying close to a phone or someone likely to be a source of information. The Salukis will not go to the NCAA College Division, because of having their bid withdrawn.

All the marbles are in one sack now and the drawstring is controlled by a group of men in New York City. With them rests Southern's post season basketball aspirations for 1967.

Syracuse has a 19-2 record, one of the tops among Eastern independents, and is coached by Fred Lewis, a former SIU basketball assistant.

Providence has a 16-5 record and Jimmy Walker, the most talked-about guard in college ball this year. Walker is second in the nation in scoring, being behind Lew Alcindor of UCLA. St. Peter's record is 18-2 with defeats over Seton Hall, NYU, Niagara and Georgetown to name a few.

Rutgers is 16-5, and like Providence, has one of the big names in collegiate basketball in Bob Lloyd, the fifth ranked scorer in the country and the nation's leading foul shooter.

Memphis State is a Missouri Valley member, but did not play for the basketball title this year. It has a 17-7 record and lost earlier in the year to St. Louis by 19 points. The Salukis defeated St. Louis by 10 in their second game of the year.

Marquette, a surprise selection to many because of its mediocre 16-7 record, has lost to Villanova, Toledo, South Carolina, Dayton, Loyola, Detroit and DePaul.

Hartzog Rates Team 3rd For Central Collegiate

SIU's track team will compete in the Central Collegiate championship meet Saturday at the University of Notre Dame field house.

Saluki coach Lew Hartzog believes that the host team and Western Michigan University will be the two teams to beat. He rates the Salukis as a good bet to place third.

Hartzog has given the first place nod to Ross Mackenzie in the 440-yard dash, Al Ackman in the 880-yard run, Jeff Duxbury in the 1,000-yard run, Oscar Moore in the 2-mile run, Mitch Livingston in the high jump and Ian Sharpe in the long jump. Hartzog also stated that the mile relay team of John Quillen, Dale Gardner, Robin Coventry and Mackenzie has an outside chance of winning.

Coventry is the meet's defending champion in the 300-yard dash.

The Central Collegiate Conference is made up of Bowling Green, Central Michigan, De Paul, Drake, Kent State, Kentucky State, Loyola, Marquette, Michigan State, Notre Dame, Wayne State, Western Michigan, Wheaton and SIU.

The other entries for the Salukis in this meet include Coventry and Quillen, 60-yard dash and 300-yard dash; Frank Whitman, 70-yard high and low hurdles; Dale Gardner, 600-yard run; Dave Chisholm, 2-mile run; Ray Gluss and Rich Ellison, pole vault; Joe Janczic, high jump; and Ralph Galloway, shot put.

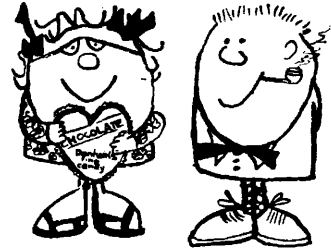

The freshman mile relay team of Al Deppe, Jim Thomas, Rich Campbell and Thel Jeffries will also compete. Freshman Burch Holman and Gordon Raines are centered in the mile. They will not compete for team points.

Alcindor Slips to 4th In Scoring Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—UCLA's Lew Alcindor isn't shooting often, but he's shooting accurately.

Alcindor took only 20 shots in two games last week and slipped to fourth place in the college basketball's scoring race. But he hit 15 of them and remained on top in the field goal accuracy department.

According to statistics released Thursday by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, the 7-foot-1 star is averaging 28.2 points a game, which puts him behind Mal Gramam of New York U., Jim Walker of Providence and Houston's Elvin Hayes.
