Carter: Nicaraguan voting 'normal'

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Nicaraguans crowded the polls Sunday to choose between President Daniel Ortega's Sandinista Front and U.S.-backed opposition leader Violeta Chamorro in closely watched elections that could pave the way toward better relations with the United States.

Polls closed at 6 p.m. with the election receiving the endorsement of voting officials and international observers despite reports of minor irregularities.

"The election is proceeding in normal fashion," former President Jimmy Carter said after touring polling places and meeting election officials.

"In my opinion the vote will be counted properly and the results will be honored," said Carter, a prominent figure among several thousand observers closely monitoring the elections.

Leaders of Chamorro's National Opposition Union, known by the Spanish acronym UNO, also endorsed the voting process.

"We are totally satisfied, happy and optimistic with the way the Nicaraguan people have turned out today ... in spite of certain anomalies we feel obliged to report," said Roberto Urroz, a member of the 14-party UNO political council.

Mariano Fiallos, president of the Supreme Electoral Council, issued a late call for people to vote less than an hour before the polls closed.

Fiallos said the indelible ink used to mark the thumbs of voters at some polling stations had washed off too easily, but that this was not serious enough to affect the outcome. The ink is one of several measures to make sure people vote only once.

Tens of thousands of Nicaraguans lined up at polling stations in the capital before dawn, patiently waiting for the 7 a.m. start of voting.

Ortega was one of the first to vote, casting his ballot at voting station No. 166 in downtown Managua, just two blocks from the headquarters of Chamorro's National Opposition Union, or UNO.

After voting, Ortega reiterated a warning that anti-Sandinista Contra guerrillas had infiltrated Nicaragua from base camps in neighboring Honduras and might try to disrupt the voting process.

Students afraid to speak out, past and present leaders say

By Richard Hund

Students are more apathetic and student government has grown fearful of administration in the past 20 years, past and present student leaders from SIU-C said.

Leaders representing Undergraduate Student Government and the Graduate and Professional Student Council discussed the current and previous states of student government

Thursday night in Lawson 131.

Many student leaders fail to voice opinions that administration may dislike, Bill Hall, student trustee and USG president from 1988-89, said.

"We can do so much more than what we're doing now...but we don't believe we can," Hall said. "Sometimes that lack of self-confidence is due to fear. We're afraid to say something that might

Students to gain experience in University extern program

SIU-C students involved with the extern program will enhance their resumes instead of their tans this spring break.

The extern program matched 104 students this year, the largest number so far, from five colleges with Alumni and friends of SIU for week long internships. Three students were chosen from the College of Agriculture, 46 from the College of Business and Administration, 40 from the College of Communications and Fine Arts, one from the College of Liberal Arts, and 15 from the College of Science.

Students will work with and observe professionals whose careers parallel their own interests, according to a Student Alumni pamphlet.

Communists lose out in Lithuanian elections

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Lithuania's pro-secession opposition Sajudis organization swept to victory in most parliamentary races decided by Sunday as the Soviet republic's voters dealt a crushing blow to the Communist Party.

But Sajudis leader Vytautas Landsbergis cautioned that new, almost dictatorial powers sought by Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev may become the main obstacle to Lithuanian independence, and that military intervention from Moscow could not be ruled out.

"Gorbachev may get a wide scope of power," Landsbergis said. "They want to stop the collapse of the Soviet Union. The power may be aimed at blocking Lithuanian independence."

He said Sajudis representatives and Lithuanian Communist Party leader Algirdas Brazauskas would go to Moscow Sunday night to start talks with the Soviet leadership.

Brazauskas scored an overwhelming victory in the first official results announced by the election commission.

A likely presidential contender in any eventual free Lithuania, the popular leader, who withdrew most of his Lithuanian party organization from the nationwide Soviet Communist Party, won 91.7 percent of the votes in his district.

Other official results from Saturday's election were slow in coming, but unofficial results provided by the well-organized Sajudis umbrella organization said a landslide victory had been won.

"If it is not a landslide, I don't know what a landslide is," said Algimantas Kciuolis, member of Sajudis' 35-person Executive Council, who claimed independence from Moscow was "attainable this year."

Sajudis official Rupsyte Augonite said candidates backed by the organization had won 72 seats in the 142-member Parliament.

Jones powers SIU-C

The Salukis are within one game of winning the Missouri Valley championship after downing a spirited Illinois State team 85-79 Saturday at the Arena.

Saluki fans responded to the Dawgs title chances as 10,014 people packed the Arena. It was the Salukis' first sellout since Feb. 15, 1979 when the Larry Bird-led Indiana State Sycamores visited Carbondale.

SIU-C placed all five starters in double figures while improving to 23-6 overall with a 3-4 conference mark, tied for first with Creighton. Illinois State dropped out of first place after falling to 14-12 and 8-5 with their second straight Valley defeat.

SIU-C head coach Rich Herrin said his team responded in a must-win situation.

"If we didn't win this we were out of it," Herrin said. "If we hadn't won tonight (Saturday), there'd be no tomorrow. Only one thing that counts and we gotta win and we'll have the No. 1 seed if we can win Monday night."

The Salukis used a dominating inside attack from their frontline to keep the Redbirds at bay. Senior center Jerry Jones, junior forward Rick Shipley and freshman forward Ashraf Amaya out-rebounded the whole Illinois State team 29-24. The Salukis finished with 39 rebounds. The trio shot 71 percent from the field.

Amaya's 14 points and Shipley's 13 points helped keep the Redbirds from mounting a comeback.

"When you get down to a time like this, if you can't reach down and find a little extra, then you don't deserve to be the champion," Shipley said.

Jones was particularly brutal on the Redbirds. He scored 20 points and grabbed 15 rebounds — eight offensive. He responded whenever the Dew's needed a big bucket.

"I have to put everything on the line right now and do what I can to try and help the team because it's my last year," Jones said. "I wanted to win this game bad."

"He really hurt us with his offensive rebounding," said Redbird head coach Bob Bender. "They got the ball to him and he made big buckets. His offensive rebound there in the end was a big bucket."

Jones' tip-in with 3:10 to play pushed the Salukis' lead to 7

Saluki men's track captures MVC title

Many teams came to the first SIU-C-hosted Missouri Valley Conference indoor meet with hopes of leaving with the crown. They came, they saw, but that was all as the SIU-C men's track team proved itself the king of the hill indoors.

The final team results were: SIU first with 163 points, Indiana State second - 152 points, Illinois State third - 107 points, Drake fourth - 66 points, Wichita State - 61 points, Tulsa sixth - 6 points. Bradley finished in last place.

"It was a good team effort all the way across the board and we knew that was what we would have to have to win," men's head coach Bill Cornell said. "We were in fourth place after the first day and to begin the second day, Indiana State got 28 points in the weight throw."

Cornell was voted coach-of-the-year for the 1990 indoor track season. He was coach-of-the-year for the 1989 outdoor season.

Spearheading SIU's effort was Gerallt "Gaz" Owen. He was voted the Most Valuable Athlete of the meet. Owen, a freshman, had individual wins in the mile, 4:11.47 and in the 3000 meter, 8:22.7. He also was part of the winning 4 x 800 meter relay, 7:42.95, along with Nick Schwartz, Bernard Henry and Paul Burkinshaw.

"I'm very pleased with the MVP award," Owen said. Owen said he hopes to qualify for nationals next week in the mile at a last chance meet in Florida.

Right behind Owen, in Cornell's estimation, was Erick Pegues, a senior runner who won the 400 in 48.20. After taking the baton in second place, Pegues "walked" the runner before him to anchor the men's 4 x 400 victory, 3:16.07, along with John Stinson, Donnell Williams and Bernard Henry.

"I'm glad I won, and we won, but I was hoping to qualify for nationals," Pegues said. He will try to qualify in the 400 at the last chance meet in Florida.

Paul Burkinshaw came from behind in dramatic fashion to win the 1,000 meter run in an indoor conference record-time of 2:27.19. He also ran a leg in the 4 x 800.

"It's just really great to win,"

Illinois State nips SIU-C at Gateway track meet

By Dale Walker

With only four upperclassmen competing, SIU-C's women's track team made a valiant run to retain the Gateway Conference indoor title it had held for the last three years. The Salukis came up just three points short.

Illinois State took the victory from the Salukis in the last event of the track meet. The high jump netted 16 points for the Redbirds, while the Salukis could manage only four.

"We had a lot of super performances to get this close," women's head coach Don DeNoon said. "We only had four upperclassmen on the team. With the freshmen coming through like they did, there were a lot of great performances."

Illinois State won - 115 points, SIU-C was second - 112 points, Western Illinois was third - 109 points, Northern Iowa was fourth - 59 points. Finishing fifth through last were Indiana State, Southwest Missouri, Wichita State, Drake, Eastern Illinois and Bradley.

SIU-C was led by Angie Nunn, who tied her Gateway indoor conference record time of 55.82 for the 400 meter dash victory, and Michelle Williams, who won the long jump with a 18-11 1/4 leap. Williams also took third in the triple jump, 36-9 1/4.

"I'm coming around at the right time," Nunn said. "Next week I hope to qualify at a last chance meet."

Women swimmers take 2nd in two meets over weekend

By Eric Bugger

Swim or sink was the situation for the SIU-C women's swimming and diving team this weekend at the Gateway Conference and Midwest Invitational meets. If the Salukis were to win the championship, they were going to have to swim some of the best races of their lives.

SIU-C battled Illinois State for the top spot for three straight days before relinquishing the Gateway crown 662-657. ISU also captured the Midwest Invitational 855.5-806 over the Salukis.

The Gateway Conference meet was scored with just Gateway teams. Northern Illinois and Chicago were figured into the scoring for the Midwest Invitational.

"I knew going into the meet that we would have to do everything just about perfect to pull off a victory, but we made a couple of mistakes that really cost us," SIU-C swimming and diving coach Doug Ingram said.

After giving up a 15 point lead the first night of the meet, the Salukis swam even with Gateway Conference opponents are learning never to count the Saluki women's basketball team out.

The Salukis capped off a perfect week with a 70-59 victory over first-place Southwest Missouri Saturday at the Arena.

The Salukis received a test of character: after losing to Eastern Illinois Feb. 17 and finding out that they may be without All-American candidate Amy Rakers because of a flu virus.

But the always-tough Rakers battled back and so did the rest of the Salukis with victories over Wichita State Thursday and Southwest.

The Salukis' never-say-die attitude put them right back in the running for a conference championship. Saluki Coach Cindy Scott said her team is tough to figure out.

"Sometimes it doesn't look like they're doing things right — but they're always giving 100 percent," Scott said. "Now we're in a situation to win conference by winning our last two games. But if we lose both games, there's a chance we might not make the tournament."

The Salukis improved to 12-4 in the Gateway and 17-9 overall. The Bears fell to 13-4 in the Gateway and 18-7 overall.

Illinois State leads the Gateway with a 13-3 mark followed by Southwest and SIU-C. Bradley is fourth at 10-5 and fifth-place Eastern Illinois is 10-6.

"We have won more close games this season than I've seen," Scott said.

The Salukis won by an 11-point margin over Southwest, but the final score is no indication of how close the game was.

The Bears led 55-53 with 4:22 remaining. But Bears' guard Kristen Denmon fouled Collier Heimstead, and slammed the basketball on the court in disgust. A technical foul was tacked on.

The Salukis fashioned a well-balanced offensive attack. Rakers tallied 18 points and 9 rebounds Heimstead scored 17 points and was 9-for-10 at the free throw line. Alison Smith had 16 point and 4 assists, Deanna Kibelki had 8 points and 6 rebounds, and Kelly Frith had 8 points and rebounds.

Pro-democracy rallies attract thousands in Soviet Union

MOSCOW (UPI) — More than half a million people demonstrated in Moscow Sunday in the largest pro-democracy rally in Soviet history, and tens of thousands gathered in peaceful protests across 11 time zones from the Far East to the Volga River heartland of Russia. Columns of troops assigned to keep order appeared relaxed, smiling and taking souvenir photos of one another against the background of the throng and even snapping shots for tourists who requested mementos to take home.

Riot police put lid on protests in Kathmandu

KATHMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — Riot police Sunday beat and arrested an opposition leader and a former mayor of Kathmandu who attempted to lead a pro-democracy demonstration through the streets of the capital. Government officials confirmed that 12 people were killed in the first two days of the violent protests that have rocked Nepal since Feb. 18. Opposition leaders put the death toll at 29.

S. African bishops back de Klerk's reforms

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Anglican bishops of southern Africa urged Sunday that the African National Congress suspend its armed struggle against white rule, citing President Frederik de Klerk's reform initiatives. The bishops offered to de Klerk the prospect of their influential call on the international community for the lifting of economic sanctions against Pretoria once the path toward an apartheid-free South Africa becomes "irreversible."

Mexico pot-growing estimate jumps tenfold

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — New satellite surveillance by the CIA reveals that Mexico grows 10 times the marijuana previously estimated, lending credence to suspicions the Mexican government has understated the nation's role as a drug producer, it was reported Sunday. The findings, which establish Mexico as by far the world's top marijuana grower, are expected to inflame congressional sentiment to rebuke that country, despite administration plans to certify that Mexico has "cooperated fully" in anti-drug efforts and, therefore, remains eligible for foreign aid.

Governors endorse Bush's education goals

WASHINGTON (SHNS) — The nation's governors Sunday joined President Bush in setting ambitious goals for education. By unanimous voice vote, the National Governors Association meeting here ratified the six goals announced by Bush. The vote followed two days of wrangling over the wording of the resolution, which left liberal Democrats satisfied that they had put Bush on the spot to increase education spending and White House officials satisfied that there was no specific dollar commitment.

No-smoking lights flash on permanently

The "no smoking" signs stayed lit and tobacco-starved passengers on virtually all U.S. commercial aircraft were banned from lighting up Sunday as new federal restrictions went into effect. Airlines employees said most passengers were pleased to be breathing smoke-free jetliner air, but the prohibition left some cigarette-dependent travelers a bit frazzled by the time they reached their destinations.

New Orleans in Mardi Gras carnival frenzy

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Carnival countdown to Mardi Gras gained momentum Sunday among swelling crowds joined in an unbridled hedonistic jambalaya of spectacular parades, parties and dancing in the streets. The revelers will continue the nation's greatest street party until the big bacchanalian blowout on Tuesday when Mardi Gras, French for Fat Tuesday, is celebrated right up to midnight. Then begins the Christian penitential season of Lent, a period of self-denial and reflection that continues to Easter.

$52 million lottery jackpot to be shared by two players

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two players matched all six winning numbers from Saturday's $52 million Illinois Lotto drawing and will share the jackpot, the second largest in state history, officials said Sunday. Lottery Director Sharon Sharp said each winner would receive about $26 million in 20 annual installments, or about $1.3 million each per year. Sharp said the two winners had not come forward to claim their prizes.

Petty and the Heartbreakers play to receptive SIU crowd

By Stephanie Steiner
Staff Writer

Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers gave Carbondale exactly what it wanted—an excellent concert.

When the stage was set Friday night at the SIU-C Arena, Petty and his band were ready to play.

Throughout the concert, Petty energized the crowd by getting them to clap their hands and sing the chorus of almost every song.

The crowd really got excited when guitarist Mike Campbell played the powerful opening solo in "Breakdown" and Petty let the audience sing the lyrics for almost the entire song.

But when Petty cranked out the popular "Free Fallin'," the crowd's excitement was at its peak. An audience member, who obviously could not control himself during this song, rushed onto the stage to dance with Petty and was then quickly escorted off the stage by security.

After this song, Petty took time out to introduce the "authentic" Heartbreakers — Stan Lynch on drums, Benmont Tench on keyboards, Campbell on guitar and Howie Epstein on bass. Each one gave the audience a sampling of their musical talents.

Probably the most memorable song that Petty performed was "Don't Come Around Here No More," which Petty forewarned would be "a little weird."

When the lights dimmed and the background music began, Petty opened a large black box that was set on stage. When he lifted the lid, a burst of white light shot out and from the box he pulled out his hat. Petty placed the hat on his head and immediately began to sing.

When the song reached its climax, strobe lights hit the stage and the crowd's excitement grew. For the weird part, a suit of armor that was set on stage came alive and chased Petty. The crowd loved it, despite its weirdness.

Petty, who is an avid supporter of Green Peace, played "Get It Together" in tribute to the organization's main cause of saving the planet.

Petty and the Heartbreakers gave a great concert performance. Petty's voice never hit a bad note and the Heartbreakers music was right on the mark.

Kravitz loves flower children, but he's not stuck in the '60s

By Jeanne Bickler

Don't let the bell bottoms and beads fool you.

Although recording artist Lenny Kravitz sings about civil rights, loving your neighbor and is often compared to popular musicians of the 1960s, he is not a disciple of that generation. "I'm in the 1990s," Kravitz said, in an interview Friday at the arena.

Speaking softly and twisting a dreadlock on his forehead, Kravitz talked about life before fame.

"Before this album I was scrounging," he said, "trying to be a musician."

Apparently, he was doing better than modestly "trying" to be a musician.

Kravitz has been compared to such musical greats as Lou Reed, John Lennon and Prince. Obviously, this doesn't bother Kravitz a bit.

"I'm flattered by the comparisons, but I am just me," he said. "But I am flattered. I like to be in the same sentence with John Lennon."

Another great that has hooked on to Kravitz's appeal is Tom Petty. Kravitz was chosen by Petty to be the opening act for his "More Strange Behavior" tour.

Kravitz said this tour is the reason he is even thinner than usual. But it's not the expansion of energy that is making him thin out, it's the food.

Kravitz said he is very careful about what he puts into his body, and is especially careful of food laden with chemicals. But life on the road isn't great for someone who is picky about what he eats.

"I tell them what to stock my hotel room with, and then they give me 'Wonder Bread,'" he said, commenting on the preservative in the bread.

His music reflects his concern about the pollution of the world and the body.

Many of Kravitz's songs seem autobiographical. The main character in all the songs seems to be him, especially in a physical sense.

Kravitz sang six songs from his 1989 release, "Let Love Rule."

He opened the Friday night show with his song "Flower Children."

CHICAGO— The Daily Egyptian ranked third among college daily newspapers in Illinois and took home 14 advertising and news awards for excellence Saturday at the Illinois College Press Association convention.

The Daily Egyptian placed third behind the No. 1 Daily Illini of the University of Illinois at Champaign and the No. 2 Daily Northwestern of Northwestern University in Evanston.

"It's satisfying that we won that many awards," said acting managing editor Wanda Harris. "But I'm not going to be satisfied until we're No. 1."

The news department captured 10 awards including a first place for Jeff Griscar in the front page design category.

"A first place for our front page reflects a recognition of the importance of design in the business," Harris said. "Journalists are beginning to become more aware of the role design plays in the transfer of information."

The advertising department took three awards out of four categories of competition for advertising design.

Opinion & Commentary

Assessments vital to University health

WITH ALL the tests students must take to get in and get through college, the Illinois Board of Higher Education has mandated that colleges and universities implement yet another test.

The tests would assess how much knowledge students retain during their college careers.

WE AGREE that the assessment tests are important. After all, if SIU-C students perform well on the tests, the University's academic reputation will be greatly enhanced. With a better academic reputation, that old "party school" image would be but a bad memory.

However, there is the fear among the administration that students won't realize the importance of the program and not take it seriously.

UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS know their students too well. They are probably correct in assuming that if the tests have no effect on whether the students will graduate or carry a grade, there will be the tendency to just "blow it off."

To discourage the "blow off" syndrome, officials have proposed that the test results would be sent along with transcripts to students' prospective employers. This tactic would make a seemingly unimportant test suddenly very important to students' futures.

THE PROPOSAL is called incentive. But it could turn sour for students who feel they are already taking too many tests. In an impulsive decision to just "blow it off," a student's entire life could be ruined just because he or she didn't cooperate with the assessment program.

Officials have stated that the test results will not be used as penalties or rewards, but the incentive for taking the tests could be interpreted as just that.

THE ASSESSMENT program, which was mandated by the IBHE in 1987, is still in the preliminary stages.

Officials are studying procedures of administering the test. Possible procedures would include either tacking some extra questions onto final exams or having students take separate standardized tests.

THE USE of yet another standardized test is questionable, given the recent criticism of such tests. Then there is the question about when the tests would be scheduled and how officials would get students to show up and take the test.

Tacking some extra questions onto a final exam would seem to be the most effective procedure as far as getting students to take the test. The test-givers would have a captive audience, so to speak.

BUT THE incentive for taking the tests should be for students to realize they will be helping the University's image, as well as making that piece of paper they receive more valuable in their field.

Junket raises ethical dilemma

Remember when Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell was attacking President Bush last December for sending national security adviser Brent Scowcroft to China after the Chinese government had used troops and tanks to crush student demonstrations last June?

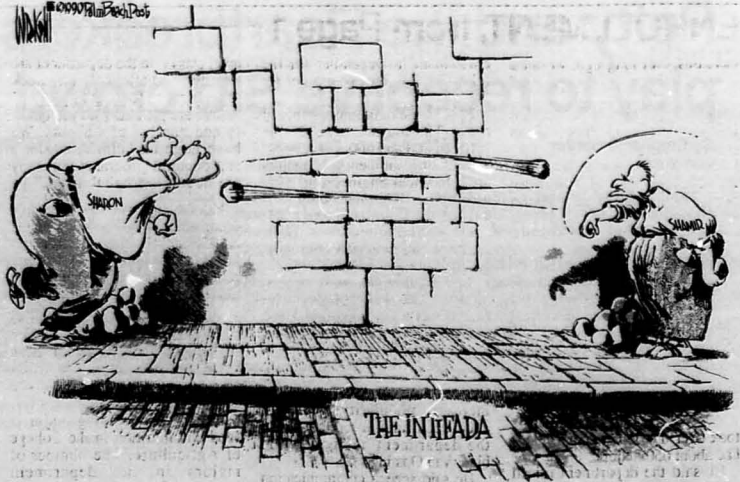

The Maine Democrat accused Bush of an "embarrassing kowtowing" to the Chinese government and said that the White House aide's visit made a "mockery" of U.S. concerns for human rights.

It turns out that one of Mitchell's own aides visited China in December at the same time Scowcroft was there. Several other congressional staffers also were along on the trip, which was paid for by the Chinese People's Institute, an organization funded by the Chinese government. Their visit included briefings by Chinese officials.

When asked about the apparent contradiction, a Mitchell spokesman said Scowcroft's visit was inappropriate because he is a policy-making aide, but the trip by the congressional aides was OK because they were engaged in "fact-finding for legislative purposes."

Beware of 900 number billing charges

Many years ago an individual by the name of P.T. Barnum, who some still consider to be the king of the con artists, made the infamous statement, "that there was a sucker born every minute"; and although much water has passed under the proverbial bridge since that truism of life was first uttered, the wisdom of Barnum's observation not only persists today, but has been greatly enhanced by some in corporate America.

For the benefit of those whose pockets have not as yet been legally picked by the 900 number Con game, let me repeat the ancient wisdom of, "let the buyer beware!" Don't dial any 900 number unless you are absolutely sure, in advance, of exactly how much that call is going to cost you; for in reality said call could end up costing anywhere from fifty cents to $35 for one minute of conversation.

The charge rendered when one dials a 900 number is not based on time or distance but rather on a flat per call basis that is set by the party or company being called; and although I have no concrete evidence to support my suspicions at this time, I have a strong gut feeling that both the phone company as well as the party using the 900 number service are actually involved in a rate participation agreement whereby each shares in a percentage of the net proceeds from such calls particularly where the charge involved is exorbitant.

Now, if you are one of those whose adrenaline flows faster, and who thrills to and thrives on reading about the misfortunes of others, let me excite you with the following real life drama of a friend of mine, who shall of course remain anonymous.

It seems that this friend received a letter from one of those companies that promotes magazine subscriptions, informing said friend of a wonderful trip that had been won to any one of three different vacation spots, the choice of which was optional.

However in order to receive all of the particulars involved in claiming this magnificent prize, one had to, of course, dial a 900 number.

Needless to say my poor uninformed friend not only discovered that the trip deal was not all that it was promoted to be, but in addition received a bill shortly thereafter in excess of $20.00 for 3 minutes of conversation, specifically listing the 900 number dialed as a billing reference.

Putting the aforementioned charge in its proper perspective, one could have directed dialed a phone number in West Germany on a Sunday and talked for 15 minutes for less money than was charged in this instance. But, like Barnum said, "there's one born every minute." —Dave Green, zoology department.

Congratulations Herrin and basketball Salukis

I am writing this letter to comment on an article that appeared in the Daily Egyptian on Feb 8, 1990, written by DE staff writer Kevin Simpson, entitled "Basketball Makes the Grade."

As the lone student member of the Advisory Selection Committee in the spring of 1985, it is a great pleasure to follow from afar the success of the Saluki Men's basketball program. At the time, the Salukis were losing the top six players from a .500 team (all had used up their eligibility without graduating) and were about to be placed on probation by the NCAA, the result of booster club members' illegal payments to a player.

With the committee meeting so late in the year, recruiting was shot. In fact, various members of the committee commented that if we hired Bobby Knight, we would be lucky to win six games.

I remember asking each one of the interviewees his view on the student part of the student-athlete equation, the graduation rate of the programs with which he had been affiliated and scholarship program plans for the student-athletes if hired.

Of the ten coaches interviewed by the committee in St. Louis—there were several: fine candidates and Benton High School Coach Rich Herrin, the third-winningest high school coach in Illinois history, stood out. Many fans and media people thought we were taking a big chance by picking a high school coach to head the men's basketball program. Coach Rich Herrin won eight games that first year, as I remember. More important was that two of the players he inherited who had used up their eligibility were given scholarship aid through graduation. And in this well-written article of Feb 8, I learned that 11 of the 11 players would graduate!

In each year, the won-lost record improved as did fan attendance, which is particularly important since men's basketball is the biggest revenue producer in the entire intercollegiate athletic program.

And now that the SIU Arena is filling up for the baal games, congratulations are due to Coach Herrin and his entire coaching staff, as well as President Guyon, for making the Saluki Basketball program a winner on and off the court, a worthy match to the consistent winner coach Cindy Scott has built in the women's program.

Best of luck in the Valley Tournament, and in the NCAA's!—Stephen G. Kanitsas, Ph.D., Higher Education, Miami-Dade Community College, Florida.

D.E. handles student death with insensitivity

Once again the Daily Egyptian has handled the death of a student with a lack of appropriateness and sensitivity. The editorial in the Feb. 15 issue entitled "Motorcycles Require Special Protection," expressed no sympathy or concern for the victims of the recent motorcycle accidents. Instead, it complains about the burden these victims place on taxpayers and the general insensitivity it is to watch out for motorcyclists. "Taxpayers continue paying for medical care for those stubborn enough to ignore the facts." What compassion!

Also, the picture on the front page of that very same issue is light-heartedly entitled "Born to be Wildflowers," and pictures two students on a motorcycle, one without a helmet. Yes, I agree that helmets should be required. And yes, taxpayers do pay for the misjudgements and misfortunes of others. But many students are still mourning the loss of good friends, and this was not the appropriate time to point out the "stubbornness" of mistakes of the victims. In the future please try to be more considerate of the students' and friends' feelings.—Diane Egly, graduate student, economics.

increases. Not long ago, we hit a low of about 190 majors," McHose said. "Our increase reflects in part the work of Tom Mitchell, who is in charge of the undergraduates."

Mitchell made some changes to the introductory psychology course and other faculty in the department voted for curricular changes. These changes made psychology a much more popular major, McHose said.

Radio-TV majors were third on the list, with 418 majors. The department dropped from second place with a decrease of 62 students from spring 1989.

Joe Foote, department chairman, said the decrease is part of a three-year attempt to decrease the number of radio-TV majors. He took over the department when it had about 650 majors.

He said the department raised admissions standards and the number of majors has declined.

"We required a higher ACT score (19) and class standing (top one-fourth) for incoming freshmen and a higher minimum grade point average (2.25) for transfer students," Foote said. "The past two years, we cut off enrollment in December for the following fall, but we did not for this fall."

He said the optimum number of radio-TV majors would be between 300 and 400.

Rounding out the top 10 majors are: electrical engineering, 405; accounting, 383; elementary education, 377; journalism, 355; speech communication, 337; computer science, 313; and cinema and photography, 307.

Speech communication department Chairman James Van Oosting said his department has experienced a dramatic increase in number of majors with mixed emotions.

"As pleased as we are with our increased popularity, there is a deep departmental concern that the department has gotten too big," Van Oosting said.

He said speech communication majors—about half of which are in public relations—are attracted to the field because of its wide appeal.

Unfortunately, there are not enough teachers to go around, Van Oosting said. Also, every 200-level class and some 300-level classes in the department are already filled after only one week of registration for next fall.

"We are pleased with the quality and number of students. We have large bachelor's, master's and doctoral programs, but they are becoming unbalanced," he

Van Oosting said that the maximum number of students should be 250 and the department voted last week to approve some entry requirements that will drop the number of majors to that level.

"We will be upping the minimum grade point average, adding the Language Skills Exam as an entry requirement and possibly requiring an interview in the application process," he said.

One up-and-coming major is food and nutrition in the College of Agriculture. The number of majors in the department increased from 154 to 218 since last year.

Donald Elkins, associate dean of instruction in the College of Agriculture, said the sudden interest in food and nutrition is resulting from a great demand in the job market for hotel, restaurant and travel administration.

be disagreeable with administrators."

Former SIU-C student trustee Stan Irvin said leaders need to "speak out no matter who's going to disagree."

"If a student leader doesn't have the courage to let his views known," he said, "they won't get the respect from the student body."

Irvin, Williamson County assistant state's attorney, said leaders should become more visible to other students to encourage participation.

A member of the audience said administrators encourage student apathy.

"It's not in (the administration's) interest to allow students to do what they want to do on this campus," Chris Wissman, junior in communications and fine arts, said.

He said the Daily Egyptian reflects the viewpoints of the administration instead of students. "It is reflected in the Daily Egyptian. It's a product of the journalism department; and therefore, it's going to express the viewpoint of the administration."

Mike O'Connor, eastside senator from GPSC, said students fail to provide feedback to student leaders.

USG President Tim Hildebrand said, "Sometimes I wonder if the students know what they want." He said students complained about parking, but again complained when USG proposed using part of Stehr Field to solve the problem.

Student government was "far more political" in the early 1970s, Doug Diggle, student body president from 1973-74 and current owner of Old Time Liquors, said.

Charlie Ramsey, GPSC president, said he has seen three types of student leaders: those for their constituency group, for administrators and for themselves.

"I think it's important the leader represent the group and present those views to administrators and the city," he said.

company they've externed with," said Shawn Eubanks, graduate assistant for the student Alumni council.

A reception was given Sunday at the Student Center for the students who were chosen as this year's externs.

"I want this program to be so good that students will come to SIU just to be involved with the extern program," said Joe Christer, chairman of the extern program and junior in civil engineering.

President John C. Guyon said the extern students are looked upon as magnificent ambassadors for the University.

"They will make the world know what talented people we have at this University," Guyon said.

At its inception in 1984, the SIU-C extern program accepted juniors and seniors in the College of Business and Administration. In 1986, the program was expanded to include the colleges of communications and fine arts, engineering and technology and science. The College of Agriculture was added this year.

The program will eventually expand to where the students in all the colleges will have a chance to benefit from this experience, Eubanks said.

Interested students must schedule an interview with extern personnel, and submit a resume application packet and a letter of recommendation from a faculty member, Eubanks said.

"The interview is a good opportunity for them to see what they'll be like when they get out into the real job world," Eubanks said.

Tiffany Kalva, a senior in radio and television, said she is excited about getting the chance to work as a production assistant on The Arsenio Hall Show as a part of the extern program.

"I'm not that nervous because I spent last summer in Los Angeles doing an internship for the Academy of Arts and Sciences," Kalva said.

Mary Ryan, senior in journalism, said the extern program should give her a good idea of what she will need to do when she gets out into the job market.

Christer said he views these students as the cream of the crop.

The SIU-C extern program is funded through the Student Alumni Council and, in part, by the SIU Alumni Association.

Agriculture students, clubs honored at annual banquet

By Phil Pearson
Staff Writer

"If you're going to be a taker all your life, you'll never know what direction you're going," Marvin Kleinau, dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts, told those attending the 39th Annual All-Ag Banquet. Kleinau, the keynote speaker, told the students they should take knowledge gathered in school and share it with others.

Marvin Kleinau, Dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts speaks at the 39th annual All-Ag Banquet.

He told the students, most of which were graduating seniors, that their time in school was the time to take from the energy of others, namely instructors. After graduation was the time to give and transfer energy to others.

Attended by about 250 students faculty and friends, the Friday night banquet in the Student Center was sponsored by the Agricultural Student Advisory Council.

In the awards portion of the banquet, Kim Harris, assistant professor in agribusiness economics, received the Faculty Service Award.

"This is what it is all about," Harris said. "If these students didn't come to this university, I wouldn't get out of bed in the morning. I appreciate you sending me a message that I'm doing something right."

Darrell Green, majoring in agribusiness economics, was honored as the outstanding senior of the year. Achieving a 4.0 grade-point average and involvement in various agricultural organizations, Green received a certificate and $100.

The Jerry Cobble award, named for a junior in plant and soil science who was killed in a 1964 automobile wreck, went to Eric Hager of Beardstown. Hager, a junior in the major, received a certificate and $50.

The Herb Oetjen award, named for a 1963 graduate killed in a 1967 automobile wreck, was taken by Dawn Brase, a junior in agribusiness economics from Edwardsville. She received a plaque and $75.

Mark Sherman, a 1975 graduate, who has since earned his doctorate, was recognized as the outstanding alumnus. He is a program leader and research scientist with Green Giant foods in Minneapolis, Minn.

The Service to Agriculture Award was garnered by William Tibertend, of Benton, for his work in soybean research and promotion. He received a certificate.

The collegiate Future Farmers of America was recognized as the outstanding club of the year.

Birth control could curb high fertility rates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If the world's spiraling population growth is to be slowed and stopped, 75 percent of the world's couples must use birth control instead of the current 50 percent, the Population Crisis Committee said Sunday.

The committee, in a new report, sets out for the first time a country-by-country plan for rapid population stabilization, including a price tag — $10.5 billion-a-year between now and 2000.

Currently, $3.2 billion a year is spent for family planning in developing countries, where virtually all population growth is occurring, said Sharon Camp, vice president of the the committee.

"To stop population growth, worldwide birth control use must grow from about 50 to 75 percent of couples and average family size must decrease from about four to two children," Camp said.

According to the study, if current birth and death rates were to continue unchanged, the 1990 world population of 5.3 billion people would double in 39 years and would reach a staggering 27 billion by the end of the next century.

But the report argues that if birth control becomes universal by the year 2000, world population can be stopped at about 9.3 billion people by 2095.

The report said that a 75 percent rate of contraceptive use among fertile couples by the year 2000 will produce a two-child family average worldwide, or "replacement level" fertility, in 2015, growing slowly to a stable 9.3 billion population in 2095.

"This is a preventable disaster," Camp said of the world's growing population. "We have what it would take — the financial resources and the know-how — to solve the problem."

Grinnell dies in California at age 93

By Brian Gross
Staff Writer

John E. Grinnell, SIU-C's first vice president of operations, died Feb. 12 in San Luis Obispo, Calif. He was 93.

Services were held Feb. 19 at the Mount Carmel Lutheran Church in San Luis Obispo, where Grinnell had lived since his retirement from SIU-C.

As vice president of operations for the Carbondale campus, Grinnell reported directly to SIU system president Delyte W. Morris from 1960 until Grinnell's retirement in 1964. Grinnell's position was similar to what President John C. Guyon's is today, Clark Davis, former director of student affairs, said.

"He led a team of people who helped develop the campus," Davis said.

From 1950 to 1951, Grinnell worked for the State Department and helped establish rural education programs in Panama under President Harry Truman's Point Four Program.

Grinnell came to the University in 1955 as dean of the College of Education. As dean he brought in several visiting professors who were world-renown leaders, Davis said.

"He helped the college of Education become nationally and internationally known," Davis said. "He was an outstanding educator and exceptional administrator with a high degree of intellectual curiosity."

Grinnell was born July 16, 1896, in North Dakota near the

John E. Grinnell

Canadian border to pioneer parents.

He married Swanhild Friswold of Cooperstown, N.D., in 1927. She survives.

Retired dean of CCFA dies at age 83

By Peter Zalewski

Charles Horton Talley, 83, a retired dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts, died at 10 p.m., Feb. 23, at St. Peters hospital in Lacey, Washington.

Talley was born in Tingley, Iowa. Survivors include his wife, Alice Parrish; one son, Melvin Robert Talley of San Antonio, Texas; one daughter, Sharon Kiriakos of Carbondale; one brother, Elbert A. Talley of Eugene, Ore.; 4 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

Talley came to SIU-C in 1948, and chaired the speech department of the former College of Vocations and Professions. In 1955, Talley became dean of the School of Communications, which was created in 1952.

The College of Communications and Fine Arts was created in 1970. Talley retired as dean of College of Communications and Fine Arts in 1972. He was the dean of the College of Liberal Arts at Nebraska Wesleyan University before coming to SIU-C.

Talley received his bachelor's degree from Simpson College in 1927, a master's degree from Northwestern University in 1931 and a doctoral degree from University of Iowa in 1936.

If taxes make you tremble, free clinic is the cure

By Peter Zaleski
Staff Writer

Free tax advice will be offered by a campus accounting organization working with the Internal Revenue Service today through April 9.

A free tax assistance program for low income students, elderly, non-English speaking and handicapped taxpayers is being offered through Volunteer Income Tax Assistance, Tracy Prather, student coordinator of VITA, said.

Taxpayers with questions concerning their federal and state income tax returns can receive free assistance from volunteer members of Beta Alpha Psi, an accounting organization, and the School of Law, who have passed a standardized IRS test, Prather said.

VITA, which is sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service and Beta Alpha Psi, will help students fill out Form 1040EZ, Form 1040A or a basic Form 1040, Prather said.

"Any firm that you hire is only responsible for the mathematical mistakes that are made, not on anything the customer forgets to tell them. If you go to an individual for help with your tax forms, make sure they sign the form as a tax preparer," Bart Basi, professor of tax, said.

In addition, people filing early make fewer mistakes and increase their chances of receiving a refund check within four to six weeks, the IRS said.

Students interested in VITA should bring this year's tax package, wage and earnings statements (W-2) from all employers, the interest statements received from banks (Form 1099), a copy of last year's tax return and any other relevant information concerning income and expenses to any of the free sessions, Prather said.

"It is important to check the savings account number and social security number on your bank interest statement at the end of the year," Basi said.

A W-2 form from all employers for 1989 should be attached to all returns. The IRS urges taxpayers to contact their offices soon in regard to any complications with each employer's W-2 form.

The VITA tax sessions will run every Monday, except March 12, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Student Center. Interested students can be advised on their tax questions, April 2 and 9 in Activity Room D, while the March 5, 19 and 26 sessions will be in Ballroom C.

'81 Lincoln fished from river

By Chris Walka
Staff Writer

A car reported stolen since Feb. 16 was retrieved Sunday from the Big Muddy River near Murphysboro.

Sgt. Donald Castlebery of the Murphysboro Police Department, said the car, a 1981 Lincoln, was reported stolen from the 2300 block of Division St. in Murphysboro. Castlebery said the car was valued at $5,000.

Castlebery said the car had been driven off the boat ramp at Riverside Park in Murphysboro. Apparently the thieves intended to sink the car, Castlebery said, because the windows had been left open.

Because of recent rains, the car was not discovered until Saturday, when an officer patrolling the park noticed the car's roof sticking out of the river.

Castlebery said the car is being estimated at a total loss. Castlebery said the department has not started to process the car for evidence because of the amount of mud and slime present in the car.

According to another department spokesman, the car took 35 to 40 minutes to retrieve from the river. Two wreckers were used to retrieve the car.

Police Blotter

Carbondale Police reported Friday the theft of a ferring, exhaust system and several other parts from a motorcycle owned by Bret hartung, 900 E. Park St., Carbondale.

Police said the theft occurred between Feb. 17 and Feb. 18. The stolen items were valued at $590.

Second City group performs creative improv

By Jeanne Bickler
Entertainment Editor

Oprah Winfrey, SIU-C police, tampon commercials, a tease and suckr 3 snot-up your nose. What in the world could these things possibly have in common?

They were all performed together in one improvisational skit by The Second City Touring Company Thursday night on the Shryock stage. The ideas for the above list came straight from the audience.

The show, "The Best of the Past 30 Years of Second City," incorporated short performance acts with improvisational pieces.

Although most of the prepared skits were hysterical, the creativity of the group really came through when they improvised.

As the opening list suggests, these performers were able to make funny connections with any material.

Another improvisational act was based on television evangelism, an idea from the audience. The two female performers, Nancy Schm'd and Aliza Shalowitz, became the devil and Nostradamus. They argued back and forth with the other performers, who were television evangelists.

This act ended with the group

A Review

singing a song called "Burn in Hell."

This was not the only song and dance number of the evening. All the cast members sang at some point in the show, proving that they were not only funny, but also musically inclined.

The cast was backed up by pianist Mark Levinson, who played music to set the scene for almost every part of the show.

Cast member Bob Fisher said the company owed much of its success to their stage manager, John Holston. The other cast members, Jimmy Doyle, John Theis and Richard Laible were all equal contributors to this fantastic show. The Second City Touring Company was brought to SIU-C by the Student Programming Council's Expressive Arts.

SIU-C's own Seth Henrikson warmed the crowd up for The Second City. Henrikson earned this honor by winning the comedy competition held at the Student Center earlier this month.

Nothing to burp about in production of 'Baby'

By Tracy Sargeant
Staff Writer

Theater Review

Get out the talcum powder, warm up the formula. There's a baby on the way.

"Baby," showing at McLeod Theater at 8 p.m. March 2 and 3, and 2 p.m. March 4, is an adaptation of Sybille Pearson's book of the same name. Originally a Broadway production, "Baby" brings a bright lights, big city production to Southern Illinois.

The musical follows three couples in various stages of becoming parents. In this version, the story is set on and around the SIU-C campus.

Danny and Lizzie, played by Darren Root and Elizabeth Ann Howerton, are young, unmarried students who decide to keep their unborn child but disagree about tying the knot.

Nick and Pam, played by John McGhee and Kelly Vogel, have tried unsuccessfully to conceive a child for several years. Their marriage suffers because of it.

Alan and Arlene, played by Bill Kirksey and Karen Driver, are an older couple in their 40s whose children have grown up and left home. Arlene discovers she is pregnant and is unsure if she wants to go through the process of being a mother again.

The scenery is magnificent. It is apparent that scene designer Ron Naversen and many other people put a lot of time, thought and effort into designing the backdrops and the changing of the props.

The lighting was perfectly coordinated with the scenery. There are many "light tricks" and special effects created by the lighting crew, headed by lighting designer Kerry Naversen. The blues, soft violet and burgundy colors on the background help set the mood of the scenes.

The costumes (designer Mark Parrott) and choreography (choreographer Amy Spies) added the finishing touches that made the musical come alive.

Several of the songs in "Baby" provoke strong emotions. From the sorrow of uncertainty, to the touching humor of parenthood, to the elation of having a baby, the music in "Baby" does it all.

Each of the numbers is solid in musical composition. Chords build, vibrate and ring throughout the theater. The live accompaniment from the chorus and five-piece band, directed by Timothy Fink, helps create a sense of joy.

The hour long epic account of the most powerful rebellion in history, the greatest love story in the universe, and most daring rescue plan ever conceived.

Junior Beverly Klett attempts a high jump Saturday at the Recreation Center. The Salukis finished second in the Gateway Conference meet. Illinois State placed first.

Burkshaw said, "As a team we did better than even our expectations."

Leonard Vance won the triple jump with a 50-8 3/4 inch effort. Vance also took third in the long jump with a 24-1 1/2 leap.

Bernard Henry, another freshman, helped the 4 x 400 and 4 x 800 relay teams to victories and garnered a second place in the 800 meter run.

Garret Hines did double duty for the Salukis, taking second in the 55 meter dash, 6:37, fourth in the 200 meter dash with a 22.19 time and fourth in the long jump with a 23-10 1/4 leap. Guy Sikora finished fourth in the 55 meter dash with a 6:54 time and sixth in the 200 meter, 22:40. Ed Williams placed fifth in the 200 with 22:24. Donnel Williams took third in the 400 meter dash, 49:19, and had a leg in the winning 4 x 400.

Mark Stuart was second in the mile, 4:14.70, third in the 5000 meter run with a 14:44.3 time and fourth in the 3000 meter in 8:29.95. John Stinson gave a gutty performance in the first leg of the 4 x 400 meter relay. He had injured his foot in the 800 meter run but managed to finish in sixth place. Stinson also took third in the 600 meter run, 1:20.52.

In the 55 meter hurdles Greg Hubbard took third, 7:61, and Landell Smith took fourth, 7:72. Doug Reed matched a personal best to take third in the high jump with a 6-10 jump.

Nick Schwartz took fourth in the 1,000 meter run with 2:28.95 and had a leg in the victorious 4 x 800 relay. Dave Beauchem took fifth in the mile with a 4:17.20 time. Mike Kershaw finished sixth in the 5000 meter, 14:52.6.

Eric Bomball, the Salukis' top thrower, battled the flu bug to take sixth place in both the shot put and the hammer throw. Vaughan Harry also had the flu, Cornell said.

Run a $3 million business sooner than you think

$3 million. It's a lot of responsibility. It's a lot of challenge. And it's where you can be in just 3-5 years with Walgreen. That's the average time it takes for our Management Trainees to be running their own operation with 25 employees and over $3 million in sales. And that's just the start, because there are plenty of ongoing opportunities available.

We're the nation's largest retail drugstore chain - a $5 billion company and an American retail success story. Over the last 5 years we've added 562 new stores and averaged over 16% annual growth. And our rapid pace of expansion continues unabated.

Take our growth, award winning management, plus an outstanding in-depth training program, and you've got the beginnings of a great future.

We're looking for talented individuals to become Management Trainees with opportunities nationwide.

points. With 1:16 remaining Jones converted a 3-point play to put the Dawgs up 81-75.

"Certainly his inside play had a lot to do with the ballgame," Bender said.

Junior point guard Sterling Mahan (15 points, five rebounds) threw a football pass to senior guard Freddie McSwain (15 points, four assists) who was all alone for a dunk to provide the final margin.

"They're a smart basketball team," Bender said. "They went to what they needed to do and capitalized."

The Salukis finished the game with 30-58 shooting from the field for 51 percent. More importantly, the Salukis shot 87 percent (20-23) from the free throw line. In their last three games, the Dawgs have connected on 85 percent of their charity tosses.

The Salukis never trailed from the opening tip to the ending horn. The Salukis jumped on top early with a Mahan 3-pointer and an Amaya slam for a 5-0 lead and opened it to 7 points on two occasions before the Redbirds knotted the score at 31. The Dawgs went into the locker room with a 45-40 halftime lead.

"I did my personal best for the second week in a row," Williams said. "We really showed the conference that we're a factor even though there are a lot of freshmen and sophomores on this team."

The Salukis' 4 x 400 relay team won in an indoor conference record-time of 3:49.90. Angie Nunn, Danielle Sciano, Michelle Sciano and Brandi Mock make up the 4 x 400 relay team.

Nacolia Moore had 24 points for the Salukis. She placed second in the 55 meter dash, 7:13, second in the triple jump, 37-7 1/2, third in the long jump, 18-1 3/4 and a leg in the second place finishing 4 x 200 relay.

The 4 x 200 relay team of Moore, Mock, Nunn and Theresa

Lyles was .01 off of the winning Western Illinois time of 1:41.59, which is a new indoor conference record.

Danielle Sciano took second in the 800 meter run, 2:13.15. Leann Conway placed third in the 1,000 meter run, 2:59.62, fourth in the mile, 5:05.8, and sixth in the 3,000 meter run, 10:21.26.

Theresa Lyles placed fourth in the 200 meter dash, 25.41. Beverly Klett was fourth in the high jump, 5-6 1/4. Shaunae Winfield garnered fourth place in the 600 meter run, 1:37.3.

Jennifer Bozue put the shot for fourth place, 42-0. Cheryl Evers was sixth in the shot, 41-4.

ISU. Although they won the majority of the events, ISU's depth continued to put points on the board and deny the Salukis a comeback.

SIU-C stole 56 points in the 100-yard freestyle when it finished first, second, and third in the championship heat Saturday night.

"When you finish first and second in an event they call it a 'sweep,' we had to devise a new name for finishing first, second and third," Ingram said. "We decided on 'super sweep.' It was a great event for us."

Steinbach also took firsts in the 50 freestyle (:24.09) and 200 freestyle (1:52.26).

Sophomore Julie Hosier broke the Midwest Invitational record in the 100 butterfly when she captured first with her time of :56.98. The old record was :57.62. Hosier also took seconds in the 200 individual medley (2:09.37) and 200 butterfly (2:07.43).

Salukis close regular season against red-hot Wichita State

By Kevin Simpson
Staff Writer

The only thing standing between SIU-C and at least a share of the Missouri Valley Conference crown is a game regular season ending game against Wichita State.

Tipoff is 7:35 tonight at the Arena.

Wichita State sports an overall record of 10-17, 6-7 in the Valley, but the Shockers are one of the hotter teams in the league and winners of three straight. The Salukis suffered a 79-72 upset loss on the Shockers' home floor Feb. 19.

"Whatever's going to happen Monday night is going to happen but you're going to see some guys give some great effort out there," Saluki head coach Rich Herrin said.

"All we're really concerned about is one basketball game — that's Wichita," Herrin said.
