Graduation Statistics Measure Up Growth

By George Kne Meyer

The growth of Southern can be seen in many ways, but none is more illustrative than the graduation statistics.

From the first graduating class of five in 1876 to the some 1,900 graduates in last year's commencement, the growth can be readily seen.

Going back to the first graduating class of five when Southern Illinois Normal University was only a two-year college, four of them received their degrees in English, while the other received hers in Latin. The four in English were John W. Brown, Beverly C. Caldwell, John C. Hawthorn and George C. Ross. The degree in Latin was given to Mary Wright.

In the four years following the 1876 graduating class, four graduated in 1877, none in 1878, 17 in 1879 and 10 in 1880.

Taking a sample from graduating classes at 15 year intervals, we find 23 graduated in 1896, 26 in 1911, 55 in 1926, 255 in 1941, 586 in 1956. It should be pointed out, though, that until 1912, the graduates from University High School were included with the graduates of Southern Illinois State Normal University, as it was then called. In fact, 25 per cent of the graduates listed from 1876.

In the graduating class of 1908, the first under the four-year program, there were two graduates listed by the Registrar's Office, but on the commencement program only one was listed.

He was George Dorrit Wham, who at the time was an associate professor of pedagogy and training at SIU. He received a bachelors of education. Prior to this he had received an associate degree in German from SIU in 1896. There have been a total of 20,569 bachelors degrees given since the inception of the four year program.

The first masters degrees were given out in 1949, and were received by Arthur Madison Smith and Lewis Elbert Etherton, both in science and education. Since 1961 there have been 4,961 master degrees given. Of these, 1,040 have been masters of art degrees.

The first doctorate degree was given to Paul Hamilton Roosevelt in 1959. He received his Ph.D. in Speech Correction. Since that time there have been 181 doctorates given at SIU.

The growth of Southern in recent years can be shown in this last statistic.

Since 1961 there have over 13,000 degrees given with 8,490 of these being bachelors degrees.

All of the graduates from 1908 until 1951 could be put into the graduating classes from 1961 until the present.

Eating Lake's Fish May Have Ill Effect

William H. Lewis, director of Fisheries Research Laboratory, warned today that the eating of fish from the Lake - on - the - Campus may cause ill effects until Saturday.

The lake is scheduled to be closed from Wednesday until Saturday while a chemical weed killer is being applied.

Lewis said the possibility is very slight that anyone will become ill from eating the fish because the proportion of chemical used is very small. Nevertheless, the possibility still exists, he said.

Athletics, Coleman Report

Trustees' Agenda Lacking Chief Student-Interest Items

Neither the Coleman report on student rights and the role of the University in society nor the Athletic Commission report is slated to be discussed at the Board of Trustees meeting Friday, according to the official agenda.

The Board will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday in Edwardsville.

Paul Morrill, assistant to the President, said last week that he expected both the Coleman report and the Athletic Commission report to be discussed at the meeting, at least informally.

Neither report was listed on the agenda. The official agenda, can be revised anytime up until two hours before the Board meets, however.

Listed on the agenda now are changes in faculty administrative payroll, naming of the University auditors for next year, a statement on conditions concerning departmental allocations, and a technical statement concerning the completion of the University Park residence halls.

Winning Contests Routine For Beauty Queen Since 16

By Dan Van Atta

Becky Hindman, a 20-year-old resident of Neely Hall, will represent "Little Egypt" in the Miss Illinois contest July 9 in Peoria.

She will go as Miss Southern Illinois, a title she won recently.

Beauty contests are no novelty to Miss Hindman. At age 16 she became Miss Union County (Illinois). A year later she was selected the queen of Illinois Fruit Growers. As queen she traveled throughout the Midwest making television commercials and personal appearances promoting Illinois fruit. Last year she became Miss Woody Hall and was a finalist in the Miss Southern contest.

Miss Hindman, a lively five-foot-five, blue-eyed blonde from Anna, Ill., is a sophomore majoring in music. She displayed her musical ability,

Staff Member Seeks Return Of Stolen Files

An SIU faculty member is appealing for the return of material stolen from his files.

He is John Utgaard, assistant professor in geology, whose files were rifled sometime after midnight Saturday.

Utgaard, whose office is in geology barracks H-8, said his class notes, transparencies and student lab papers had been taken from the files. He said no exams were taken; these were probably the objective of the thieves.

The thieves made entry into his office by breaking a window, Utgaard said.

Utgaard said the items taken are very important to him in his work. He has made an appeal to whoever has taken his material "to please put it in a box or envelope and send it through the campus mail."

in the talent competition, by singing her own arrangement of the Academy Award winner "Born Free," and playing the accompaniment on the piano. The sweetheart of Phi Mu Epsilon, honorary music sorority, she went away from the contest with both the Miss Talent and Miss Swimsuit awards.

Five coeds from SIU's Neely Hall were entered in the contest, and all five became semifinalists. Cathy Craig, from Herrin, was voted Miss Congeniality, and Linda Sparks, Miss Hindman's roommate, became the third runner-up.

Recount Holds Up Election Decision

Senate consideration of the election commission's disqualification of recent student body elections was postponed last night until the commission could recount the ballots.

Following the recount, the commission began its presentation as the Daily Egyptian went to press at 11 p.m.

In earlier action, the senate amended the student government constitution to require election ballots to be presented to the senate for approval at least one week prior to future elections.

Johanna Verkaman resigned from the senate. In a letter she said she felt that the job should be left to the men of the university and that "among student government associates, I have also realized an obvious lack of sophistication of which I do not wish to be a part."

Applications Due

Deadline for applications for Ka editor for next year is 10 a.m. today in the student government office.

Verification of receipt of the applications will also be made today. If a student applies and does not receive verification, he should contact Bob Drinan.

Holiday Tuesday Classes To Meet Monday

Classes will be held Monday, May 29, the day before the Memorial Day holiday, the vice-president's office has announced.

Classes are held Monday through Saturday every week of the quarter except for legal holidays, according to Faye Oelheim, secretary to vice-president for academic affairs.

Only one day is taken off no matter what day of the week the holiday falls on, she said.

Student emotions on the issue are mixed.

"I feel classes should be held. Memorial Day is so close to finals and the lecture time should not be missed," according to Jane Kane, sophomore from Chicago.

Dan Lane goes along with Miss Kane.

"Since it's so close to the end of the quarter and it's only one day, I say go ahead and have school," said the army veteran from Marion who is majoring in education.

Most students interviewed took the other side.

"It doesn't make much sense to have a day off in the middle of the week, as it disrupt class procedure. Attendance will probably be very poor anyway," said Ronald K. Mitchell, sophomore from New York City who is majoring in radio-television.

Mrs. Dee Ann Miller, senior elementary education major from Valmeyer, feels most students will cut anyway. With a lot of the students gone, classes will suffer; if students must be back for classes on Monday, it will hardly give them a chance to get home for the holiday, she said.

James W. Nachreiner, sophomore from Lombard who is majoring in business, asked, "What can a class accomplish if most of the students will cut anyway? I know that if I didn't have five classes Monday I wouldn't be here."

Jeff Smith summed it all up. "It really doesn't matter because students are going to go if they want to, and if not, they are going to cut. It really doesn't make any difference if they have classes or not," the sophomore from Roxana who is majoring in English education, said.

Arab Students Ask Neutrality In Mid-East

The U.S. should enforce a hands-off policy toward the Middle East crisis, according to an informal survey conducted by the Organization of Arab Students at SIU.

The poll sounded out members on the question of U.S. intervention in the conflict between the Arab nations and Israel.

"It's about time the U.S. changed its policy because any intervention against the Arabs will cost the U.S. a permanent loss of Arab friendship," said Shucri Sahuri, senior from Jordan who is majoring in chemistry.

Samir Tahmas, senior from Iraq who is majoring in engineering, called U.S. involvement in the Middle East "sheer aggression against the Arabs."

"U.S. involvement will increase the chances of war, since Israel will not start an attack without U.S. backing," Hussam Sirri, senior from Iraq who is majoring in government, said.

Maan Abbass, senior from Iraq who is majoring in philosophy, warned that if "no justifiable and just solution is found to the problem of Palestine, a war in the near or far future is inevitable."

Another member of the organization, Tawfig Hallawa, senior from Jordan who is majoring in marketing, said, "The United Arab Republic is within its right to restore the Gulf of Aquba; the U.S. has no right to interfere in the internal affairs of Egypt."

Bids Due June 1 For Campus Road

Construction bids for extending SIU's campus loop road will be received June 1 at SIU.

The road will be extended eastward from its junction at Mill Street to the existing University School entrance off Mill. It will parallel Mill, traversing the sites of recently demolished houses along the south side of the street.

A new entrance road to University School will be constructed at a point south of the Poplar-Mill intersection.

Willard Hart, campus architect, said the project will include 1,445 feet of 40-foot wide bituminous pavement, curb and gutter, sidewalks and grading. It will be done in two phases, the first covering that part of the extension from the present loop terminus to Poplar. Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. in the Agriculture Building Seminar Room.

Automobiles for transporting students' personal property home after the spring quarter will not be permitted on campus until after the last final examination has been taken, the Student Affairs office has reminded undergraduates.

Joseph Zaleski, assistant dean for undergraduate housing and motor vehicles, said the students will not be granted special permission to bring cars on campus before the day of their last final.

Seaborg, who discovered numerous radioactive chemical elements and was a co-winner of the Nobel Prize in chemistry in 1951, holds a total of 26 honorary doctoral degrees from colleges and universities around the nation.

He has headed the AEC since 1961. He was named by President Truman to the AEC's first General Advisory Committee in 1950 and served from 1959 to 1961 on President Eisenhower's Science Advisory Committee.

Guests at the program will include members of SIU's Board of Trustees who will hold their regular monthly meeting during the morning.

President Delyte W. Morris will introduce Governor Otto Kerner.

Issue of Academic Freedom Gains Strength World-Wide

In universities right around the globe the issue of academic freedom is simmering. In some institutions it has come to a boil. Frequently, students and faculty are lined up against administrators and trustees. At times, the administration closes ranks with students and professors to resist government interference and dictation.

The government of Argentina has adopted a major new law designed to curb student political action. Whether this goal can be accomplished without interfering with academic freedom remains to be seen. After last summer's violent government-ordered police attack on students and faculty at the University of Buenos Aires, the burden of proof is on the government.

In Alabama there exists a less serious but similarly tense situation involving government and the universities. Alabama legislators threaten to pass a law banning Communists, or anyone who has invoked the Fifth Amendment, from speaking at state-supported institutions. The passage of such legislation will jeopardize the accreditation of these institutions, even as a similar law did in North Carolina until that state's Legislature sensibly repealed it.

About a month ago, some 3,000 students from throughout Britain marched in London in support of a round-the-clock sit-in by students at London School of Economics. The students were demanding greater participation in the affairs of the university and protesting administrative heavy-handedness. Reforms were instituted and suspension of student leaders lifted.

The recent student and faculty walkout at Catholic University in Washington, following dismissal of a professor of theology, provides yet another example of the stir within the universities. The upshot of the protest was reinstatement and promotion of the theologian, an outspoken liberal in his views on birth control. Faculty members thereupon announced they would press for increased participation in determining university policy.

Where trustees and administrators have pulled the reins too tight, they are going to have to loosen them. And when government attempts to restrict academic freedom, it can succeed only for a season. For there is abundant evidence that in the face of coercion and oppression the human spirit will continue to reassert its thirst for liberty.

Dismissed Catholic Teacher Signs for Edwardsville Post

The chairman of the striking United Federation of Teachers chapter at St. John's University in New York, the Rev. Peter O'Reilly, has accepted a position teaching philosophy at the Edwardsville Campus.

Father O'Reilly, a member of the Chicago Diocese, said he will begin teaching in September if his appointment is approved by the SIU Board of Trustees when they meet on the Edwardsville Campus May 26.

Father O'Reilly, on loan to the nation's largest Roman Catholic University, was one of 31 faculty members summarily dismissed in December of 1965 from St. John's in a dispute between the union and the school administration over academic freedom.

The union went on strike the following month in the first teachers' union strike against an American university. Father O'Reilly said there had been "atrocious violations of academic freedom" at St. John's, and that the union presently has four lawsuits pending against the school.

Last week, a St. Louis newspaper reported that Father O'Reilly, in accepting the SIU Post, had rejected a request from Chicago Archbishop John P. Cody to give up teaching philosophy and become an assistant parish priest.

A Washington Post News Service story reportedly pointed out that by accepting the position, he was on a collision course with the Archbishop.

But Father O'Reilly, contacted in New York, said "it's not true I've refused anything." He said Archbishop Cody "invited me last August, if I cared to, to come in and ask for the position."

Asked if the Archbishop was opposed to the SIU position, Father O'Reilly said, "I've not talked with him about it."

He said reports that he and Archbishop Cody are on a collision course were only an attempt at "predicting the future."

A brief statement issued by the Chicago chancery said only, "The archbishop knows nothing of Father O'Reilly's plans; Father O'Reilly has been working outside the archdiocese for some 23 years."

Since his dismissal, Father O'Reilly has retained his union chairmanship in New York. A spokesman for St. John's said Father O'Reilly will continue to draw pay from the university until his contract expires June 30. —Aleste, Edwardsville

'Official Stand' Sounds Weak

Under more normal circumstances, the statement by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler Jr., chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, would be a reassuring one.

Gen. Wheeler said that although American troops have moved into the Demilitarized Zone of South Vietnam, "We have no intention of invading North Vietnam," not even in "hot pursuit" of the enemy. North Vietnam, of course, called the move into the DMZ "an extremely serious step of war escalation," and we countered by saying it was "continuing pressure" which will be applied "in varying ways and in varying degrees according to the military situation at the time."

There's the rub. The "military situation at the time" has gotten us into the mess we're now in. We can recall President Kennedy's denial of any intent to escalate. We can remember President Johnson's promise that American boys wouldn't be called upon to do what Asian boys ought to be doing for themselves.

We can remember his saying in 1964 that his political opponent wanted to defoliate the jungle and bomb the oil storage depots of Hanoi and Haiphong, but he didn't think either was a good idea. Both, in fact, were dangerous.

So now we have bombed North Vietnam with more intensity than we bombed Europe in World War II. We have sent in some 430,000 troops, have taken over first the military operations and then the pacification program from the South Vietnamese, and are continuing to increase our strength.—Detroit Free Press

Letters to the Editor

Bad Cartoon

To the Editor:

Is Shoemaker of the Chicago American a favorite of the Editorial Committee, are the reprints of his cartoons cheap, is there eloquent irony beneath the no-comment reprinting, is tacit approval the position of the Editor? Or what?

The cartoon showing the resemblance between a bearded, long-haired hippy holding a "Get Out of Vietnam!" sign and Trotsky is low and crawly; if you don't say you don't believe it and do like it. I think you should not believe it and you should not like it; the most superficial and trivial characteristics aren't intended to damage or crush.

Why not a picture of Santa Claus? He has long hair and a beard. Or Uncle Sam (although they are older men)? I don't have a beard (I've never had one), don't even have much hair, but I might hold up a "Get Out of Vietnam!" sign. And if Shoemaker drew his cartoon with the Praesidium of the Communist Party, over my shoulder, there'd be at least one who I'd look like. Bet?

Weak Leadership

To the Editor:

I am tired of other people telling me I am apathetic. I am not. The student leaders have not lead the student.

The Action Party has done little to aid students, while the Dynamic Party has done nothing.

When I came here last year, I heard a lot about the "Drinan Rebellion," but I can truthfully say that the "Drinan Rebellion" was truly revolting.

I feel the leadership which starts at the top is not there. The Action Party has done more than any other student organization could do. The Dynamic Party has proved itself to be a "do nothing" party. They stand in the way of student opinion. They shout that the Action Party is corrupted. But when they are voted into office, they do nothing but what the person sitting next to them tells them to do. There is no unity in the Dynamic Party.

This year, the Action Party organized the district system. What has the Dynamic Party done? Well, every election they print a thousand "it's time to change" signs, then when they are elected just what do they do?

Other students such as Stuart Sweetow are wrong. Sweetow's running mate, Gary Krisher, is right. Student leaders are lacking leadership.

President Drinan did foul up the election. Election laws were not enforced. The petitions for those wanting to run for office were handed out the day after students could legally start campaigning.

If Drinan forces the election to be held over again, I feel students should again elect

Ray Lenzi over Aminarsala. Aminarsala is connected with the Dynamic Party.

Some Justice

To the Editor:

Just read the article by the Organization of Arab Students praising Nassar for his fine work in a never-ending battle to drive the Jews out of Israel in the name of justice and dignity.

How little these Arabs remember or want to remember that this little strip of land, now called Israel, was once a barren waste land 2,500 years ago. Through many years of hardships, the Hebrew people built up the land only to have it ruthlessly taken away, time and time again by the Holy Crusaders, Moslems, Turks and Arabs. The Jews had little to say when they were persecuted and driven from their land.

Only in 1948 did the Zionists finally have their wish come true of establishing their original homeland, the state of Israel by the United Nations Peace Keeping Committee, and this was at a cost of many, many lives.

From that year on the Arabs have continuously tried to drive the Jews out of their homeland. Yet in the face of all this, Lawrence of Arabia and his band of Arab students have called it a Zionist menace to peace. If Sam the Sham wants to tell jokes, Ed Sullivan is always looking for good comedians.

'America Break' A Moment Away From 600 m.p.h Rush to Grave

By Jenkin Lloyd Jones
(General Features Corp.)

YAKIMA, Wash.—When a man with a credit card has awkward appointments in Prescott, Ariz., Sheridan, Wyo., and Yakima, each separated by three days, he can conscientiously jet back and forth to the home office to get in a couple of days of work, or he can take an American break.

An America break is like a coffee break, except you go out for rocks, rills and templed hills. I didn't find the decision difficult.

In the orange sunrise the feeder line plane climbs above the green pines on the flat plateau bordering the Grand Canyon airport. At 600 feet the altitude suddenly changes to 5,600 feet. The earth crust's greatest gash glows in the morning, the white, pink and ruby rocks alive with sunlight and shadow. At the bottom is a trickily of milk chocolate—the Colorado.

The plane crosses the North Rim. In a few moments the river reappears between the vertical walls of Marble Canyon. Then the plane glides down over Glen Canyon Dam, banks over the blue waters of deep near Lake Powell.

The Japanese gentleman who has been leaping from side to side in the cabin sits down and waves his hands in resignation.

"I am out of film," he says. "Will there be anything else?"

"Only Bryce Canyon, the Cedar Breaks, the Wasatch range and the Great Salt Lake," says a man in a western hat.

The Japanese looks uncomfortable.

In the Mormon Temple square in Salt Lake City the young Swiss carrying the ski boots looks puzzled.

"I do not understand the statue of the man pulling the little cart," he says.

"That's how a lot of Mormons got here—they pulled their stuff in carts."

"From where?"

"From the Mississippi River—place called Nauvoo."

"Perhaps I misunderstand you," says the Swiss. "You don't mean..."

The Grand Tetons gleam in fresh powdered snow and ice dams still choke the Snake River. Jackson and Yellowstone Lakes are innocent of boats and the road across Beartooth Pass is buried in 20 feet of snow.

Soon the plows will come and after them two million tourists, bumper-to-bumper their way between the geysers, leaving a spoor of film packages, disposable diapers and pop bottles. The woodchucks scold gently under the pine needles. Tomorrow it will be "Mama, make Peter quit hitting me!" followed by louder scolding.

Eugene Spotted Tail, the young Crow, is my hitchhiker. I picked him up near Lodge Grass and will carry him into Hardin.

"I'm a Cat-skinner," he says, proudly. "Dozer, drag-line, back-hoe—I run'em all. Before I got heavy I was a jockey. I ran quarter horses at Great Falls, Denver, everywhere. My cousin is really crazy. He rides rodeo bulls. In the old days the Crows were great horsemen—the best. We don't like to farm much, but we love anything that moves."

Northern Pacific Train No. 1 labors up the 2.2 per cent grade out of Helena, the throttle notched way over at No. 8 and the speed 28 miles an hour. It is 20 miles to Mullan Pass where the 15-lb. gold nugget was found 102 years ago.

My hosts in the cab are Fireman Ed Simmons and Engineer Ed Ogle. Simmons is full of hair-raising tales of his days as an army security guard while the Russians were trying to take over Berlin.

"Russian is an interesting language," says Ogle, quietly. "Once you master the Cyrillic alphabet, it is quite easy."

"How do you know?"

"I've had five semesters of it at the University of Montana in Missoula. Every so often I take a switching job in town and squeeze in another semester. I'm 47, but I'm going to get that degree."

A red fox lopes across the track ahead. Herons and magpies rise from the marsh grass. White-tailed deer on the hillside, alarmed at our green roaring snare, dash for the fir forest.

"Minute and six seconds late at the last milepost," says Engineer Ogle, snapping shut his watch. "It's silly, but I get a kick out of playing games of precision."

The broad, beautiful, infinitely-varied land. The great people who are the guts and sinews of that land.

Tomorrow I'll be on the jet for home, surrounded by conscientious businessmen rushing toward their offices and their graves at 600 miles an hour. Most of them don't have time for America breaks.

Education Group Risks Commie Label on Vote

By Senator Paul Simon

A difficult choice frequently facing legislators comes when bills carry labels—and a good example is one of the "anti-Communist" bills which recently was defeated in the Senate Education Committee.

I am confident that every member of the Illinois General Assembly is a loyal American and opposed to Communism. But last week a majority of us on the Senate Education Committee defeated a measure which had been labeled as "anti-Communist," knowing full well that we will receive mail from people who wonder how we could ever have voted against such a bill.

Present Illinois law bans Communist speakers from the University of Illinois—but no other state from all campuses.

If no further explanation were given, public sentiment would be overwhelmingly for the measure.

But it is a little more complicated.

For example, since the legislature has been in session, only one state university has had a Communist speaker on its campus: the University of Illinois, the only university where it is banned. Why? Because there is a law against it—and some wanted to test the law. In this instance, if there had been no law against having a Communist speaker, there would have been no Communist speaker.

Sometimes when you go out of your way to stop something, you simply invite it. If, for example, the legislature passed a law that no student at Northern Illinois University could eat bananas, there would probably be the greatest sale of bananas at grocery stores and fruit stands in the history of DeKalb. There is something in human nature that wants to do what is banned. Every parent knows that.

In addition—and much more important—our system of government is based on the free flow of ideas. This is our great strength. Communist and other dictators believe that you can throw an idea into jail.

There are two ways to stop a bad idea: suppress it or hold it up to the open light. My own observation over the years is that Communism can thrive if it plays the martyr's roll, but it cannot stand the open light of day. There its weaknesses become apparent to everyone.

By a vote of 7-6 the Senate Education Committee decided that on the basis of our experience, we would only be aiding the Communist by suppressing them, that the best way of treating the problem is by following our American traditions of free speech.

It was a close vote and those who voted to kill the bill run the risk of being labeled for having voted against an "anti-Communist" bill. Particularly showing courage in his vote against the measure was Senator John Gilbert, Republican of Carbonale and chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

Both sides were completely sincere in their positions, but in my opinion if we had voted favorably on the measure, we would have received credit for having voted for an "anti-Communist" measure—but passing it would have played right into their hands and at the same time denied something fundamental in our concept of government.

Can a Married Couple Be Happy If She's Governor?

By Arthur Hoppe
(San Francisco Chronicle)

Good morning, friends in televisionland. It's time for another chapter of "I Love Lurleen," that rollicking situation comedy which asks the question: Can an improbable married couple achieve a happy state? If the wife governs it?

As we join Governor Lurleen this morning she's at breakfast. That's her husband, George, going through the mail. George is unemployed.

George (triumphantly holding up a letter): Look at that! It says I can count on their generous, secret financial support if only I'll carry out my threat to run against that no-good LBJ for President.

Lurleen: Why, that's right fine, dear. Who's it from, the Republican National Committee? George: Nope, the Democratic National Committee. Seems the polls show I'd drain off the Republican vote and make that no-good LBJ a shoo-in.

Lurleen (squeezing his hand): Don't you fret, dear. I'll support you, win or lose.

George (angrily): What do you mean you'll support me if I lose? Is that a crack?

Lurleen: Heavens, no, dear. I just meant that as Governor, I'll always need a man who's handy around the State. You know, somebody to pass out bouquets to the poor folks and make awards to schoolteachers and maybe beautify the highways.

George (furious): Handyman! Now don't you go forgetting who brought this State into our marriage. And just because I let you run it for a spell...What's this? A bill for two new freeways and a molasses cracking plant? I don't recollect you asking me if you could buy any new freeways.

Lurleen (nervously): Well, dear, you were off making speeches up North. And I thought it would be nice if I fixed up the State a little, kind of as a surprise...

George: Surprise? If you think a woman spending money is a surprise...

Lurleen (near tears): Oh, I don't know what to do. I work night and day trying to make this a nice little State for you to come home to, a warm, secure power base...And I was going to let you cut the ribbons.

George (mollified): Cut the ribbons? Well, I do like cutting ribbons. There, there, I reckon I should stay home more and help you around the State. Now, let's see, why don't you run off to the schoolhouse and stand in the door and after that...

Lurleen (nodding glumly as George rattles off several dozen instructions): Yes, dear. No, dear. Yes, dear. Is that all, dear? Well, now, don't you worry any more about me. You just run along for President and I'll be praying night and day that you win.

George (pleased as he goes out the door): I can tell somehow, honey, that you really mean it. When I'm in the White House, I'll write you every day. With detailed instructions.

Lurleen (pouring herself a second cup of coffee with a sigh of relief): There's no nicer time of day than when you get your husband off and you got the whole state to yourself.

Well, tune in again, friends. Meantime, men, remember that nothing will make your marriage a happy one like you running for President. Or any place else that's far away.

Senior Blazes Home Ec Trail In Apparel

James Cash, Palatine, is blazing a new trail at SIU. The SIU senior is the first male student to specialize in apparel merchandising in the School of Home Economics. He will complete studies for his degree in December.

Cash would like to start work as a buyer, then move up to management, but he also wants to create fashions.

He has already had clothing construction, draping and flat pattern dress design, textiles, and will next take tailoring. Heretofore, most of his work has been on women's clothing, but the department of clothing and textiles has now acquired a male "form" so that he and his successors can undertake the designing and construction of men's clothing.

He finds nothing un-masculine about being a home economics major, he said, although last summer when he was enrolled in a clothing construction course, "I did get a bit of razzing at the fraternity house when I'd take a piece of sewing home to do." Cash is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa social fraternity.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cash of 760 E. Morris Drive, Palatine.

Foundation Director to Be Honored

An open house and dinner honoring the Rev. Malcolm Gillespie, director of the Student Christian Foundation, will be held from 4 to 7:30 p.m. June 4 at the Student Christian Foundation.

The Rev. Mr. Gillespie has served as director for the past 10 years. He will be leaving the last of August for Wilberforce (Ohio) University where he will serve as chaplain.

The open house will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. and the dinner will begin at 6.

Reservations are limited to the first 80 requests received on or before May 29.

Temperature Hits 86

Wednesday's warm temperature of 86 degrees was 11 degrees below the record for May 24; on that date in 1911 the temperature soared to a sizzling 97 degrees.

The record low for May 24 is 42 degrees recorded in 1951.

The 86 degree temperature was warmer than the average for May in this area. The average high for the month of May in Carbondale is 78.6 degrees and the average low is 54.4.

The hottest day on record in Carbondale was 113 degrees on Aug. 9, 1930. The hottest day for the month of May was 101 degrees set on May 28, 1911.

The record low for May was 30 degrees on May 1, 1963.

U.S. Has Tiny Force In Aqaba

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has only a tiny "show the flag" naval force in the Red Sea in position to challenge Egypt's announced blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

This force currently is made up of a single destroyer, verted seaplane tender, the Valcour, which serves as a flagship.

A second destroyer, the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., was last reported down around Malagasy Republic and may be moving up to the Red Sea.

The only way the warships of the big U.S. 6th Fleet can reach the crisis area from the Mediterranean—short of circling all of Africa—would be to pass through the Suez Canal. Egypt might dispute such passage with shore guns.

However, the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba is only about 500 miles from where the aircraft carrier Saratoga was last reported steaming off the island of Crete in the Mediterranean.

In an emergency, planes from the Saratoga could reach the scene in less than an hour. The mouth of the gulf is well within the combat radius of the F4, A4 and A3 jets aboard the carrier.

Military sources said the 6th Fleet has not yet received any special alert orders, although at least part of the fleet of 50 ships is always maintained in a state of readiness.

The carrier America was reported in the western Mediterranean, off Spain.

Normally, the 6th Fleet has two attack carriers, but it just so happens that a third carrier, the Intrepid, is now in the area.

U.S. Army Major Gets Cuban Asylum

HAVANA, CUBA (AP) — The Cuban government announced it had granted asylum to U.S. Army Maj. Richard Harwood Pearce, a Vietnam war hero cleared for top secret and his 4 1/2-year-old son.

The Communist party newspaper Granma published a note over Pearce's signature that said he left the United States "for reasons of conscience."

Pearce, 36, a senior aide to Lt. Gen. Thomas W. Dunn, 4th Army commander at Ft. Sam Houston, San Antonio, Tex., became the object of an air search after he took off from Key West, Fla., Sunday.

The Cuban government said Pearce and his son, Richard Jr., in a light Cessna plane Pearce bought a week ago, landed at Liberty Airport on the outskirts of Havana Sunday.

Pearce, who won decorations for valor in Vietnam, had been on a 13-day leave from his Army post.

Airport officials in Key West said he acted strangely before taking off Sunday on what he said was a one-hour sightseeing flight.

Tuesday in Houston, Pearce's former wife, now Sandra Mitchell, said Pearce picked up Richard Jr. last Friday.

He told me they were going on vacation. "They were to be back in a week," Mrs. Mitchell said. "He didn't say where they were going or anything."

Planes Hit Hanoi Rail Yard Push Raid on DMZ Border

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. planes struck an important rail yard north of Hanoi Wednesday and pressed a resumption of the air war with other raids all the way down to North Vietnam's southern border.

As the 24-hour truce for Buddha's birthday ended, a sharp clash broke out in the central highlands, where U.S. forces believe North Vietnamese regulars may be readying an offensive. Five U.S. soldiers were killed and 14 wounded.

The chief target of the raids on North Vietnam was the Thai Nguyen rail yard, 37 miles north of Hanoi. The yard, hit repeatedly in the past, is a vital link with a power plant and steel mill in that area.

There was no immediate report of results of the raid. All was quiet in the demilitarized zone and the only fighting of any significance came in the central highlands.

Lord Wilfred Brown

British Peer To Address 1967 Class

A British peer who will speak at SIU's Commencement June 10 will be making his second appearance on campus.

He is Lord Wilfred Brown, former minister of state for England's Board of Trade. Lord Brown, who will also receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from Southern is chairman of the board of Glacier Metal Co. in England and pioneered the Glacier Project, a system of work measurement now being adopted by U.S. industries.

The "Glacier Concept" was described at the first international seminar on Work Measurement at SIU in 1965, with Lord Brown as a guest. SIU has since become the U.S. center for work measurement studies based on the theory.

Brown, 59, was born in Scotland and joined the Glacier firm in 1931. He was made a member of the Order of the British Empire in 1943. He entered the House of Lords in 1964 after being made life peer.

Lord Brown was one of the founders of the Commonwealth Party in Great Britain in 1946. The party was concerned with advancing social development in England, but was subsequently dissolved.

He has been a member of government committees on technology, science and education, natural resources and docks modernization. He was educated at Rossall School, Lancashire, and is now pro-chancellor of Brunel University, an advanced technology school.

NIT Films Slated for Trueblood

Films of the National Invitation Tournament, which the basketball Salukis won in mid-March, will be shown to-night at 8 p.m. in Trueblood Hall of University Park.

Proceeds from the small admission charge will go towards providing transportation to basketball games away from Carbondale next season.

Road games already lined up or in the discussion phase for next season include Iowa, St. Louis, Kentucky Wesleyan, Michigan State, St. Peter's (another SIU NIT opponent), and trips to Chicago Stadium and the new Madison Square Garden.

The Activities Programming Board and Spirit Council are sponsoring the showings. Basketball Coach Jack Hartman will comment on the films, which show the Salukis in action against Duke and Rutgers.

Ten Torch Carriers

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP)—Ten Manitoba Indian teenagers will take part in an eight-day, 500-mile run carrying the official torch that will be used to open the Pan-American Games on July 23.

Gov. Harold LeVander of Minnesota will hand the torch to the first youth July 17 on the steps of the State Capital at St. Paul.

Frazier to Confer

Walt Frazier's attorney has said that there have been no further negotiations with the New York Knicks but that a meeting is being planned with Denver of the ABA.

The Duke game was considered by many the best game of the tournament. It was one of the closest contests.

The largest margin enjoyed by either team, until the Salukis broke away with 1:39 remaining in the game, was four points.

The game was tied 12 times and the lead changed hands 11 times.

Balanced scoring was the key to Saluki success in this game. Dick Garrett led SIU scorers with 18 points. Ralph Johnson and Walt Frazier scored 17 apiece and Ed Zastrow had nine.

The Salukis gave up several inches in height to the Devils but managed to outbounce them by seven after pulling them away from the boards with some accurate outside shooting.

The Salukis fell behind Rutgers by as much as 10 points in the first half and trailed by eight at the intermission. Largely responsible for the deficit were two of the country's outstanding guards, Rutgers' Bob Lloyd and Jim Valvano.

Valvano sank nine of his 10 shots in the first half. Most of them were from 20 to 25 feet from the basket. Lloyd had 16 points in the first stanza. The Scarle Knights went into the dressing room at intermission with a 60 per cent shooting percentage.

But in the second half Southern went into a zone defense and stymied both Valvano and Lloyd, holding the torrid guards to four points apiece.

Frazier poured in 26 points, 16 in the second period, and Garrett had 22. Clarence Smith scored his tourney high of 15 in this game. Frazier also grabbed 18 rebounds.

Once again Southern outbounded a taller opponent, this time by 21 stray shots. The victories were both nine point margins and constituted Southern's 17th and 18th straight triumphs of the year.

Western Michigan, SIU Leadoff

Pitching Figures as Tournament Focal Point

By Bill Kindt

SIU's baseball team will begin its quest for the District 4 championship in the NCAA tournament today following the 1 p.m. opener at the SIU field.

Today's opponents, Western Michigan University, has fashioned a won-lost record of 15-3 and has some eye-popping statistics to show.

The Bronco pitching staff has an earned run average of 0.99. This means that they are giving up less than one earned run per game. The leader of this staff is southpaw Jim Johnson.

Johnson has a won-lost record of 6-0 with five complete games and four shutouts to his credit. He has shown remarkable control, with 71 strike outs and only 17 walks. The lefty has given up only one earned run in 53 innings this season for an ERA of 0.16.

John Mayer, another left-hander, is the No. 2 starter for the Broncos. Mayer is 2-0 for the season with an ERA of 0.72. The third starter is Chuck Mestek, a right-hander with a record of 2-1 and an ERA of 0.90.

Western Michigan can also score runs, as the .283 team batting average indicates. Four regulars are hitting .300 or better and one starter close to it.

Second baseman — center-fielder Pat Locanto leads the Bronco attack with .362. Jim Redmon, who splits his time between left field and shortstop, is next in average with .329 and leads the team in runs-batted-in with 16.

Johnson, who plays center field when not pitching, is hitting .320 with 13 RBIs.

Third baseman Rick Trudeau is the last of the Bronco .300 hitters with a .302 norm. Chuck Koselke, the Western Michigan first baseman, is hitting .297.

Ohio State's defending NCAA champion Buckeyes will rate as co-favorites with Western Michigan. The Bucs went through the Big Ten season with a mark of 13-5 and an overall mark of 22-17-3.

Like the Broncos, the Buckeyes figure to have a better than average pitching staff by Joe Sadelfeld who had a record of 7-4 and an ERA of 2.05. He also fanned 94 batters in 70 innings. One of his seven wins was a one hit shutout over SIU.

Ohio State will throw three .300 hitters at Valparaiso at 1 p.m. today. Bo Rein, the Buckeye shortstop, is the leading hitter with an average of .358. Outfielders Ray Sharp and Jeff Morehead are next in line with norms of .309 and .304.

Since pitching seems to be the focus of this tournament, Valparaiso has two hurlers of note. Dick Dorsch went through the season for the Indiana Collegiate Conference champions with a record of 6-2 and an ERA of 2.82. Dick Jones backed up Dorsch's pitching with a record of 5-2 and an ERA of 2.95.

The Vikings' hitting attack is led by third baseman Bruce Gehrle who hit at an average of .385.

Saluki Coach Joe Lutz came up with somewhat of a surprise earlier in the week when he announced that Skip Pitlock will pitch today's game against Western Michigan.

Pitlock has a record of 6-1 with an ERA of 3.24, but it was expected that Lutz would go with his ace Don Kirkland, who is now 9-3 with a 1.54 ERA.

The Salukis finished the season with a record of 28-6-1 and a trip to Omaha for the NCAA College World series would come as a fitting climax. While Lutz recognizes the competition will be rough, he doesn't count his team out. "We've got an outside chance. Western Michigan has to be somewhat the favorite though," commented Lutz.

Baseball Tournament Schedule

Golf Clubs Adopt Uniform Code

NEW YORK (AP) - The rulers of golf moved Wednesday to outlaw bizarre putting methods, including the popular croquet style, and to speed up the game.

The U.S. Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews announced jointly that negotiating committees of the two governing bodies had agreed on a uniform code which would make playing standards the same throughout the world.

A prohibition would be slapped on unconventional styles of putting and putting sticks. The R&A would conform with the USGA rules covering the unattended flagstick and the penalty for unplayable lies: one stroke instead of two.

Action Party to Petition Frazier

A petition sponsored by the Action Party to urge Walt Frazier, SIU's star basketball player and NIT Most Valuable Player, to stay at SIU next year is still in the planning stages according to a spokesman for the Action Party.

Tables were set up Wednesday in the University Center for the purpose of establishing signing places for these petitions, but the tables were taken down when the Action Party found that the petitions didn't bear their name as sponsors. This made the petitions that were out on the table illegal.

It is not known at this time when, if ever, the Action Party will get their name attached to the petitions as sponsors and place the papers in the University Center.
