ICAC Meets To Consider Athletic Probe

The Council on Intercollegiate Athletics will meet at 10 a.m. today in one of the President's Conference Rooms to consider the Student Council's request that it look into policy and practices of the Athletic Department.

Dean Arthur Lean, secretary of the Council, said the meeting would be closed to the public.

Last week, the Student Council requested the ICAC to conduct an investigation into policy and practices in the area of financial aid, scholastic requirements and recruiting of athletes.

So far, no signed complaints have been given by the Student Government to the ICAC. Student President Bill Fenwick, however, said he would make available the information he has.

Fenwick said the ICAC has received the Council's request to conduct an investigation and his own statement which was read to the Council.

Additional statements which may be presented to the ICAC have been drawn up by Frank and Patrick Coniglio, former wrestlers.

Both read statements last week at the Council meeting, and the two brothers said that copies were to be run off by the Athletic Department.

The original statements of the two brothers criticized the Athletic Department on a number of points, whereas their present revised statement concentrates on their feeling that athletes here are misled by the term "full scholarship."

Campus Lake To Open

Due to the unexpectedly warm weather, the Lake-on-the-Campus will be open for swimming this weekend from 1-5 p.m. The opening had been scheduled for May 11-12.

The beach will be open again next weekend if the weather holds.

250 Illinois Scientists Open 3-Day Meeting Here Tonight

An estimated 250 scientists from throughout the state are expected on campus today for a three-day meeting of the Illinois State Academy of Science.

The 56th annual meeting of the organization will open with a council dinner and meeting in the Missouri Room of the University Center at 6 p.m. A full day of general and sectional meetings is set Friday, with a field trip planned Saturday morning.

City Council Report:

Propose Meters On University From College To Mill Streets

A proposal to install parking meters on South University Avenue between College and Mill streets is under consideration by the Carbondale City Council.

Councilman James Wallace made the proposal at Tuesday's Council meeting. It will come up for a vote at next week's meeting.

"There are six new businesses going up in the vicinity and unrestricted parking would pose a problem," Wallace said.

"The parking meters would be of the four-hour type," he added.

The business places will be in a recently constructed building just north of Mill Street on the east side of University. It is owned by Bob Gray.

They include a beauty shop to be operated by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Crawshaw; a men's clothing store to be operated by Bob Lavender; a restaurant to be operated by Rocco Colletti; and an evening gown shop operated by Betty Miller, the mayor's wife. Upstairs part of the building will be leased for offices.

Speaking in behalf of the proposal, Mayor D. Blaney Miller said that many SIU students "store their cars" on the streets permanently in this area.

Councilman William Eaton commented that there was a restriction on overnight parking, although it is not strictly enforced.

In other action, the council agreed to lease a strip of land for 99 years for installation of a 750,000 gallon water tank to be used jointly by SIU and Carbondale. SIU is to pay one-third of the cost of the tower.

A question was raised by Mayor Miller as to wording in the lease on rates to be charged to Southern by the city.

"The manner of operation seems to make them (SIU) immune to rate change,"

Sky Diver Will Open Two-Day Convention

Intercollegiate fliers, now estimated at 275 from 24 U.S. universities and colleges, will be arriving at the SIU Airport today. By noon, an expected 75 planes will have landed.

The SIU Flying Salukis are hosting an annual air meet Friday and Saturday. All the contestants are members of far-flung chapters of the National Intercollegiate Flying Association.

Erected especially for the flying meet is an FFA control tower. A big red and white checkerboard tent, loaned by the Purina Company in St. Louis to serve breakfasts and be useful to spectators, has also been set up.

Kerner Requests $56 Million For SIU

Gov. Otto Kerner's record budget request yesterday included $56.4 million to operate SIU during 1963-65, which is the amount approved by the State Board of Higher Education.

SIU's share of the $3.8 billion budget request is $6.9 million less than its original request. If approved though, it would be a $14.1 million increase over the previous two-year operational fund.

The amount recommended by Kerner includes $2.4 million for salary increases for faculty and staff and $46.7 million for capital improvements.

A "Sky Queen" candidate has been nominated from the SIU chapter of the NIFA. She is Martha Coker of Harrisburg, a member of the Flying Salukis.

The air meet and conference will open with a sky dive Friday at 8 a.m. The AFROTC band is expected to be on hand for the official opening and the women in Angel Flight will help with official welcoming.

Bill Roberts, an SIU student and an amateur parachutist, will team up with an Army paratrooper from Fort Campbell, Ky., to jump with the American flag. The band will play the Star Spangled Banner.

About 30 trophies will be awarded to winners in the two-day competition, according to Al Goodwin, secretary-treasurer of the host club. These will be presented largely by representatives of the commercial aviation companies offering them.

The awards dinner will be held Saturday night. Approximately 350 are expected. President Delyte W. Morris will speak briefly and the AFROTC Singing Squadron will entertain.

Roy O. Mertes of United Air Lines will be master of ceremonies at the banquet. Six members of the Flying Salukis are officially entered in the three-event competition including power-on spot landing, power-off spot landing and a bomb drop event.

Contestants are Tom Stewart, Dick Anderson, Donald Langa, vice president of the Flying Salukis, Al Goodwin, treasurer of the local club, Tome Crone and Warren Widdles.

Saturday's events in addition to the official competition, will include demonstrations by state police, forestry control and cropdusting plane.

SIU students who want to see some of the events can get a University bus leaving the Center at 10 a.m. Saturday and again at 2 p.m. Buses will be returning at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

University And Chamber Choirs On Today's Convocation

The University Choir and Chamber Choir, directed by Robert Kingsbury, will be on the program for Thursday's convocations at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Peter Spurbeck, will assist the choirs with two cello solos, "Tocatta" by Frescobaldi and "The Swan."

Spurbeck will be accompanied by Ann Spurbeck, his wife.

The Chamber Choir, consisting of the top 23 members of the University Choir, will present "All Breathing Life" by Bach.

The University Choir will perform "Hodie," by Sweelinck, "Vinea Mea Electa" by Poulenc, "Alleluia" by Thompson, and "In Praise of Music" by Hindemith featuring Jim McHaney as soloist.

Also on the program will be "Ain't That Good News" by Dawson, "Song of Galilee" arranged by Kingsbury, and "Roll, Chariot" by Cain.

A Box Full Of Bright Ideas

By Mike Harris

College students are full of ideas -- ranging from the academic-ridiculous to the collegiate-sublime.

And if there's any doubt in your mind here's a sample of the ideas that showed up recently in the dilapidated blue "Idea Box" at the information desk in the University Center.

One student suggested that a lady be assigned to show people where the empty seats are in the cafeteria.

"In this way I won't have to stand there like an idiot looking for an empty seat," he commented.

Someone suggested that a cigarette machine be placed in the south end of the Center.

Still another queried, "What ever happened to that paper back contest that was held annually in March.... and what ever became of the pocket book exchange? Couldn't it be put in a different place?"

"How about putting a crossword puzzle in the Daily Egyptian maybe once a week," a crossword devotee suggested.

Swimming seemed to be of interest to several idea droppers. "They should have longer hours for swimming and we should be able to swim on Saturday night." THIS IS A MUST," advocated this beach buff.

"Get a new box," was scribbled on a piece of note book paper and dropped in the box.

A "Mr. Sincerely Yours" stated, "When having a dance in the Roman Room why not have a few less tables and chairs and a little more room to dance. After all, what's a dance if you don't have a place to dance."

A student worker wondered if there was a chance that a bus could make the downtown run about 3:30 p.m., five days a week, so a few people working on campus could ride at that time of day.

"It would be a big help to a few of us working the day shift," this individual said.

Apparently someone from the University of Iowa was visiting SIU and spied the Idea Box in the Center. This person said that "the student body should make an effort to dress better." The same person added, "The students here do have good school spirit."

Another had this short, sweet and to-the-point suggestion: "Make the Rumpus Room larger."

And one of the wildest but perhaps most popular ideas proposed obviously by a student was a turnabout day where the students would teach the profs.

The Young Republican Club will hold a meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Library Lounge. The meeting will be devoted to the election of officers.

WENDELL O'NEAL

JOHN HUCK

O'Neal, Huck Seek Top Student Offices

Wendell O'Neal, a junior from Carbondale, is the first person to announce his candidacy for student body president in the upcoming campus elections.

John Huck, a sophomore from Chicago, has announced he will be a candidate for student body vice-president. Both persons are now circulating their petitions and plan to file them soon.

The annual student body elections are scheduled for Wednesday, May 8. Petitions must be turned in at the Student Government Office before 5 p.m. May 6, according to Chuck Novak, election commissioner.

O'Neal, a chemistry (pre-med) major, is currently serving as out-in-town senator on the Student Council. He is past president of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's honorary, and a member of Phi Mu Alpha music fraternity. A member of the Marching Salukis for the past three years, O'Neal also served as new Student Week Leader for two years. He is chairman of the Student Non-Violent Freedom Committee and has been leader of a professional dance band, "The Impromptu," for the past year.

Huck is a mathematics major and is minoring in psychology. He is a member of the Campus Judicial Board, vice-president of the Thompson Point Judicial Board, and a member of the University Fund advisory board.

Currently the president of Warren Hall 2nd Floor, Huck was a member of the SIU Debate Team for one year. He also is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensics fraternity, the Association for Computing Machinery, a professional organization, and has done work in theater with the Southern Players.

In addition to the positions of student body president and vice-president, Student Council senator posts will be filled in the elections. There will also be voting for most popular faculty member and next fall's homecoming chairman.

Associated Press News Roundup:

CIA Agents Among Released Cuban Prisoners

WASHINGTON

Congressional sources said Wednesday that three of the 21 prisoners recently released by Cuba's Fidel Castro in an exchange for four held in the United States were Central Intelligence Agency agents.

Members of Congress familiar with the situation said New York attorney James B. Donovan was acting under government orders in arranging the pact.

Castro was reported to be aware that some of the prisoners were CIA agents - but that he didn't necessarily know their identities.

A New York World-Telegram and Sun dispatch said the U.S. agreed to the unusual prisoner "swap" primarily to free the captured CIA agents, who were held in Castro dungeons along with American adventurers and soldiers of fortune, the dispatch said, adding:

"In return, the government agreed to release four Cubans held in this country - a convicted murderer and three alleged saboteurs awaiting trial for plotting to blow up defense installations."

The CIA had no comment on the story.

WASHINGTON

The United States will send two battle groups, one of Army infantry and one of paratroopers, plus jet fighters into Communist threatened Thailand next month, the Defense Department announced yesterday.

Although planning for the move has been under way for months, the arrival of these U.S. forces will serve as a show of strength at a time when Communists are threatening to take over neighboring Laos.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

The Illinois House-Senate Conference yesterday failed to break the deadlock over the $47.1 million emergency public aid appropriation, thus killing it.

However, there are two other IPAC appropriation bills on the calendar. Either could be acted on to tide over the commission through May and June if agreement is reached on the disputed question of ceilings on individual aid grants.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

The Illinois Senate has confirmed Gov. Kerner's appointment of Arnold H. Maremont, controversial chairman of the Illinois Public Aid Commission. Vote was 35 to 7.

Commercial air lines have come up with a supply of travel poster dance programs, small planes attached, for all the girls who attend the dance. The Dawn Capris will furnish the music from 8-12 p.m. in the Roman Room.

In addition to the favors, baggage checks will be distributed and holders of lucky numbers will be given flight bags by the air lines.

Topping off the evening's fun will be coronation of the 1963 NIFA Sky Queen, Miss Martha Coker is the SIU candidate.

SIU Coed Slugged On Rawlings Street

Carbondale police said an unidentified man attempted to rape an SIU coed about 10 a.m. Tuesday in the 700 block of South Rawlings Street.

The coed told police a man grabbed her and threw her to the ground as she was walking home from school. She said she screamed and the man ran south on South Rawlings Street.

The man was described as tall, having dark, wavy hair and wearing a tan jacket.

A charge of illegal purchase of liquor against a 19-year-old SIU coed was dropped yesterday during her appearance in Police Magistrate court. A similar charge against another coed arrested at the same time was dropped earlier.

“Build Thee More Stately Mansions ...”

Fourth In A Series

The small, overcrowded, awkwardly partitioned rooms of the Advisement and Sectioning Center scarcely constitute a “stately mansion”. In fact Oliver Wendell Holmes’ chambered nautilus was probably better off!

Typewriters, telephones, and countless conversations blend into the chaotic din. Students crowd and push, tensions mount, mistakes occur, and tempers flare. The weary student is left to cry “There must be a better way!”

stories in the University Center? Couldn’t at least a small portion of this space be utilized to house the sectioning center?

New offices for various administration officials have appeared in the last year or so. With all the new building plans in action, couldn’t something be devised for this significant campus department?

Southern is growing in astounding numbers, and it has long since outgrown the inadequate facilities of its Advisement and Sectioning Center. It’s time for a change!

On a campus where everything from dormitories to dome houses spring up almost overnight it would seem that some provision could be made to move one of the most used and most important functional units on campus to roomier quarters.

A radio announcer, emcee for a campus variety show, once quipped, “You have such a beautiful student center—four stories on the outside, and two stories on the in!” What about those two extra

Most students need not be reminded of the worn-out stairways, the narrow hallways, and the crudely partitioned cubbyholes of the center. Most of the “offices” consist of almost wall-to-wall desks and standing room only conditions. In warm weather advisement is a “suffocating” experience. When temperatures drop, students are found either standing in freezing lines outside or piled three and four deep in the winding passages of the building.

Youth Hostels

An organization that has quite a bit more than come of age is American Youth Hostels, of which the West Tisbury hostel, one of the prides of the entire group, is a local unit. Despite years of observation of hostellers going about the Island, or at the hostel in between travels, there are many Vineyarders and visitors who are vague about the plan and its administration.

land”, a need more and more difficult to satisfy in the built-up, urban, industrialized world of today.

Specifically, American Youth Hostels is non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political, and it is designed to help all, “especially young people, gain a greater understanding of the world and its people, through outdoor activities, educational and recreational travel, and related programs”. Affiliation is maintained with many recognized associations in the field of recreation, health, student travel, and so on.

The national council of American Youth Hostels had its twenty-ninth annual meeting a couple of months back in an atmosphere of maturity and growing success. It is directed toward satisfying that basic need of all mankind, in the words of Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall, “to test himself against the Outdoor travel, usually on bicycles, in their own country and in foreign countries, the leaders and members believe, helps develop fit, self-reliant and well-informed citizens. The youth hostels provide simple overnight accommodations in “scenic, historic, and cultural areas”. One may think of the Vineyard as all three.

The demand for ease and comfort is not a youthful one,” says the American Youth Hostel president. “It is a middle aged tiredness which youth only reflects.”

So on with the hosteling, and the cyclists of the program one will see on Island roads from the coming spring until fall are to be envied their adventuring.

Letter To The Editor:

Average American Student Shows Lack Of Interest In Foreign Colleagues

As foreign student advisors from the country’s universities and colleges commence their week-long conference in Pasadena, California, today, I thought it would be worthwhile to look into student international relations in SIU. My observations and opinions on the subject follow:

Relations between SIU’s American students and international students are nil and distant due primarily to the indifference of the former. Direly missing in the local scene are the likes of the animated conversation between French, Tunisian, and Vietnamese students on Boulevard St., Michel’s sidewalk cafes, the fascinated interest of Italian “studenti” in the foreign, or the gay camaraderie among Spanish and Latin American “universitarios.”

It appears that SIU’s international students are gaining more friends outside the campus among families and more mature individuals who have developed an interest in and appreciate international friendships. Why can’t the American student follow the example of his elders? Perhaps, the following may help explain the situation:

1. The average American student lacks a healthy curiosity or sufficient interest in the culture, way of life, the country, etc., of other peoples.

Come As You Are?

Last Sunday about 58 students were refused admittance to the Smorgasbord held in the Roman Room of the University Center. Why? For the simple reason that they were not attired properly. The majority of the 58 students were clad in Bermudas. Rules are rules. . . . But each of those students was willing to pay $1.56 to eat there. Let me see. . . . that’s about $90.48 which the University Center forfeited for some simple, inane regulation. It was 85 degrees plus last Sunday. I, for one, would like to know why shorts are not considered proper attire at the Sunday Smorgasbord when the temp is in the mid 80’s.

Mike Harris

2. He hasn’t yet fully grasped the significance of “internationalism.” “We in America”. . . a Peace Corps leader in Asia stated, “need also to cast off our insular traditions, to recognize that most of the world’s population are not of white skin, do not adhere to the Protestant religion, and speak languages other than English. Our insularity has been even more psychological than physical.”;

3. His self-sufficiency and quasi-sophistication inhibits him from making a move towards getting to know the other’s fellow. The fear of being an “eager beaver.”

While it is true to a considerable extent that many international students have a natural reserve and are timid, there’s always a way to draw them out of their “shell.” But not until the host first breaks down his wall of apathy and develops an attitude between that of the hand-shaking politico and of the inquisitive, uninhibited child can he get across to and increase relations between him and his visitor.

It was the second consecutive year that Mitchell and Orlofsky have received such honors.

Orlofsky received his second team berth on the basis of his second place finish in the all-around event at the NCAA Championships where SIU finished second for the third straight year.

Wolf was named to the second team for his second place high bar finish.

Hladik finished third in the long horse event to gain a third team berth on the All-American squad.

Mitchell was named to both the second and third teams by virtue of his second place tumbling finish and third place free exercise finish.

Golfers, Netmen Seek Additional Wins This Week

SIU's unbeaten tennis team and twice-defeated golf team will be on the road this week-end seeking additional laurels. Coach Dick LaFevre's tennis squad, riding an 11-match winning streak following victories over Wisconsin and Lamar Tech last weekend, will be competing against Oklahoma State, Kansas and Wichita in a quadrangular meet Saturday at Kansas City, Mo. Salukis golfers, meanwhile, are scheduled to meet Memphis State Friday afternoon and the University of Mississippi in a dual match Saturday.

Freshman Baseball Squad Drops Two Games

SIU's freshman baseball team dropped both ends of Tuesday's double header to Belleville Junior College. Belleville won the first game 4-0 and the second game in eight innings 4-3. "Our pitching was good," Dave Tosh and Bob Hardcastle, SIU coaches, said after the games. "Belleville simply capitalized on our physical and mental errors." "We simply could not generate any offense against the Belleville pitchers," the coaches added. "We managed only six hits in both games and you can't expect to win many games with that kind of hitting." Josh Lain was the Salukis losing pitcher in the first game. He struck out six and walked two in the game. He permitted the winners only five hits. In the second game SIU led 3-2 until the last half of the seventh inning when Belleville tied the score. Belleville scored a single run in the eighth inning to win the night-cap 4-3. Ed Oleneo started the second game for the Salukis and permitted Belleville only two hits. He left the game in the fifth inning with a 3-1 lead. Steve Bisbikis replaced Oleneo with the bases loaded and one out. He retired Belleville with only one more run scoring giving the Salukis a 3-2 lead and setting the stage for the junior college's late inning rally. Bisbikis was the losing pitcher despite pitching what the coaches called "a good job."
